P. T. Barnum's museum in New York City, was totally destroyed by fire last week. Loss estimated at $1,000,000. This is the third time Mr. Barnum's museum has been destroyed by the devouring elements. He is irrepressible.

One Charlemange Towers, a wealthy lawyer, of Schuylkill County Pa., has entered the lists and will contest for a seat in the United States Senate, with Simon Cameron. Both are republicans. The contest promises to be fierce, money being used without stint to win.

Old Honesty has at the special request and solicitation of the Radical managers and schemers that hovers around the State capitol permitted the disfranchising act to become law without his approval. In refusing to approve these acts, he has incurred the displeasure of those party hacks, and in failing to give expression to his well known opinion as to the injustice and iniquity of all the apportionment bills, by a strong veto message, he has lost the respect, which to a greater extent perhaps, that any other Radical officeholder in the State, has been accorded him by the opposition.

The New York Tribune matter, has at length been settled, and Whitelaw Reid having purchased a controling interest in the paper has become the editor-in-chief. In his salutotary he says it will be the ambition of the associates of the late chief to make the Tribune of the future what Horace Greeley would have made it had he been spared—a frank and fearless newspaper; speaking its mind freely on all questions of public concern, detesting neutrality in politics, the refuge of the weak minded and timid, but keeping indipendence as the best title to honor and usefulness. Mr. Reid has been managing editor of that paper for many years and the confidential friend of Mr. Greeley.

The United States houses of representatives, by a vote of 118 to 54, has lately passed a bill giving land warrents to soldiers and soldiers' families which it is calculated to satisfy, will only take from us 430,000,000 of acres of land! It is not made necessary that they should go and occupy the land, as few if any, would do. They would sell their land warrants or certificates and in a few months the whole 430,000,000 of acres would be in the hands of speculators and land sharks, who would largely advance the government price and hold in against those who, but for this bill, could get cheap homes in the far west.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Such a bill, unless proper provisions are made to carry it out, will work to the injury not only of the soldier, but to the country at large. When we reflect that the foreigner can after a brief time enter and occupy land as his own without any special service to the Government, we believe that every soldier ought to be entitled to the same, without the necessity of setling thereon.—But a bill that contains no provision in his favor, that will prevent speculators to get hold of this land by cheap purchases, ought never to be passed, and many would prefer that rather than this be the case, they will be content without this grant from the government.

We believe a bill can and should be passed, granting land to each soldier, providing a way for the protection of each, whether he may desire it or not, by making the title not transferable, until a certain lapse of time, and by requiring each soldier to make his own entry, with special provisions for widows and orphans. We think the smell and semblance of a job which seems to cling around the present proposed bill would be allayed, and speculators would be compelled to take a back seat

Another conflagration in New York this week, consumed the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and also damaged the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The loss is near 390,000.

The Cincinnati Gazette concedes a point in the following short article and draws it as mildly as circumstances will permit:

It is not pleasant to write about the Credit Mobiler. After taking an active part during the campaign in circulating all the denials that were made, of what was then believed here to be slander undiluted, and without even the foundation of distorted truth to rest upon; after ransacking the Globe for evidence that charges of even the slightest complicity could not be true; after writing, by direct authority from those interested, two of the denials so widely published; after a full belief, founded upon such information as could be obtained here, that the denials were all true, in the unqualified sense in which the public received them, it was very far from pleasant to know that "the Committee of Investigation had scarcely got the matter in hand, before the whole fabric of denial fell, and every one whose name appeared on the Oakes Ames list was found to be in greater or less degree involved. There is no intention of asserting here that all were disreputably involved; but in the very mildest form in which the matter can be stated, all are in a very embarrassing position.

There are several laws before Congress, brought by members of the dominant party, to this effect.

1. To purchase and run the telegraph, as a Government institution.
2. To assume jurisdiction over, and regulate the fares on the railroads.
3. To pass a National election law, and supervise and control the elections of the country.
4. To seize upon and exercise control of all the Common Schools in the different States.
5. To enter upon and condemn property in the States for the Federal government without the consent of the State Legislatures, or even against their remonstrance.
6. In addition a Federal Judge in Louisana, assumes to decide who are State Canvasser, of Votes, and thus foists upon the people a Governor, Legis'ature, &c.
7. The Washington Administration with the bayonets of the soldiers, sustains the Judge in this proposition.

Can anybody doubt where this policy is tending.

SMOLANDER'S
EXT. BUCHU,
The Great Diuretic Compound,

Is a sure, quick remedy for all diseases of the Kidney, Bladder, and Urinary Organs, existing either in male or female. As Irritation, Inflammation, or Ulceration of the Kidney and Bladder, Gravel, Stone in Bladder, Reddish or Brick dust Sediment in Urine, Thick, Cloudy, or Ropy Urine, Painful Urinating, Bedwetting, Mucous and Involuntary Discharges, Morbid Irritation of Bladder and Urethra, Chronic Catarrh of Bladder, Suppression, Retention, or Incontinence of Urine, Diabetes, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, and all Chronic Maladies of the Urinary and Sexual Organs.

Thousands can attest to its wonderful curative properties in these diseases.

For Nervous Debility, with its gloomy attendants, Dizziness, Loss of Memory, Low Spirits, &c., it is a sovereign remedy.

SMOLANDER'S BUCHU buoys up the enervated system, imparting new life and vigorous action, the whole system becoming strengthened and invigorated.

Be sure and ask for SMOLANDER'S BUCHU,
Insist upon having it, and take no other.
PRICE $1.00. SIX BOTTLES, $5.00.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

FOUTZ'S
CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

DAVID E. FOUTZ, Proprietor,
BALTIMORE, Md.
For sale by Druggists and Storekeepers throughout the United States, Canadas and South America.

Davenport & Co., Agt's.

Subscribe for the COURIER at the begining of the year.

J. A. BOOZER. E. B. SLATTNER.

BOOZER AND BLATNER
Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.
Waterloo, Ind.
Have now opened for the
FALL & WINTER
TRADE
those Fashionable styles of
Dress Goods
Such as:

Areola Cloth, Queen's Own,
Brittanna " Brocades, Balerno " Siik Stripes, Turko, " Corded Maca

Also
Ottoman Scarfs
And
SHAWLS in Endless Variety!
Brown and Bleached
Cotton Flanels
CARPETS & VANDYKES
Boots & Shoes,
And the latest styles of
HATS and CAPS,

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER.

J. C WICOFF,
Auctioneer
Waterloo, Ind.

Holds himself in readiness to Auctioneer, Sell or Trade Propertp at any time Headquarters at Leas' Livery Stable. 3m. Dec. 5

SELLING
OFF at COST.
S. W. RALSTON.

A am desirious of Closing out my entire stock of

Dry Goods

as soon as posible. I will offer my entire Stock at greatly reduced prices, which consists of

Dry Goods!
of every variety,
CLOTHING
QUEENSWRE,
GROCERIES!

and all other goods kept in a country Store. All kind of Country Produce

taken in exchange for goods, for which the Highest Prices will be paid. all and see me

---

Fruit House!
BULLETIN
Prices for the Holidays!
GREAT REDUCTION ON
Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	30, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	8 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 50, and 95c

Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquoy double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	35 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old '76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Diquor	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, in all different kinds	25c

Wax Candles for Christmas Trees.

All different sizes, from 1½c to 3c each. All kinds of goods for Santa Claus, at one half the usual Price.

Fine Fresh Oysters,
AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.
Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

People's Convention

Everybody's Ticket!
The People's Choice.
The Mother's Help.
The Children's Friend.
MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great
PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Blothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

CHEAP, CHEAPER, CHEAPEST.
Save Your Money and Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnithing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,
No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

XC—N. Y. S.—XC.

FALL TRADE
1872.
ROOT & Co.,

Prepared for a Vigorous

CAMPAIGN!!

The Popular and well known

New York Store!

The Great "Headquarters for

Cheap dry Goods

Buying and Selling
Strictly for CASH!

Combined with the advantages York Buyer, enables us to offer our patrons, at all times, the largest and most attractive stock of both

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC

DRY GOODS!

At Lower Prices than any competing house in the Trade.

Now Opening

New Fall Dress Goods,
New fall Shawls,
New fall Calicos,
New stock Black Silks,
New line Black Alpacas,
New Lot Fancy Silks.

Also full lines of Blankets, Flannels clots, cassimeres, jeans, woolen yarns, colored and white carpet chain, cotton yarns, battings, &c.

Also, our usual large and complete stock of domestic cotton goods, including all the popular brands, at

Very Low Prices!

ROOT & CO's

Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

Pianos AND Organs
WATCHES and JEWELRY!
Silver and Plated Ware,

Spectacles and gold pens,
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated

JEWELRY

Fancy Toilet Sets.,
Opera guard & vest chains,

AT

ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!

Also a full line of toys for

THE HOLIDAYS!
CLOCKS

Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,

Piano, Organ,
and all kinds of Instruction Books!
Watches & Clocks,
Abright & Shepherd

McDOUGAL'S

CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,

75 Columbia street

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Hen fruit is high.

Moan snow last Sabbath.

Sleighing magnificent.

Packing ice is now season.

Dance at Corunna, to-night.

The Farmer Almanac on hand at Davenport's drug store.

The Omaha Lottery has been postponed to March 31, 1873.

C. H. Sargent, Agent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, gave us a call last week.

Piederman at Fort Wayne, says he is now giving goods away. Go and see.

The first and most complete restaurant in Fort Wayne is the St. Nicholas.

We have lots of premises from many of wood, but it has not come yet. Bring it now.

I. Lauferty & Son, call attention of our readers to their new advertisement.—Special inducements offered.

Wood.—Now that the roads are good we do hope that somebody will bring us some good, dry wood. Don't fail.

Last year there was a great fatality among the old pioneers of the county.—This year they hold their own quite well.

Accident.—Mrs. Dills, lost her footing while walking in the garden near the house last Saturday night, fell and broke the small bone of her wrist.

S. Lauferty, our extensive clothing merchant, is supplying himself with an immense stock, and, and now if you want good clothing, give him a call.

A train on the Saginaw road killed a fine two year old colt, north of Waterloo, one evening last week. It was the property of J. D. Kelly, Esq, and was worth 85 dollars.

Messrs. Smith & Hare, have sold out to S. U. Tarney. While we regret to loose these gentlemen as grocers, we are pleased to know that as excellent a gentleman succeeds them.

The stock of the Auburn Building Loan and Savings Association is coming up rapidly. Application made inside of the next two months for the few share left, will be found advantageous.

Edwin Adams, the great tragedian appears at Colerick's Opera House, Jan. 15, being next Wednesday evening. Mr. Adams, in his "Enoch Arden" is like Jefferson in Rip Van Winkle, never to be excelled.

Notice to Subscribers of Stock.

Notice is hereby given to all subscribers of stock to the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad that they can obtain their certificates of the same by making application to Guy Plum, at his office in the Court House.

Messrs. Wood & Teters, our butter and egg merchants, have shipped during the last year, over twenty thousand dollars worth of that commodity. They are the principal packers in the place, and contemplate building a fine two story brick next season for their trade.

A dog broke a large pane of glass in the door of Basset's jewelry store, at Waterloo last Monday, and he was tied to a post outside to discover whose property he was. As the damage he had done amounted to about five dollars, no owner could be found.

Several business men having been seeking store room to commence business here, but as yet there is none. Had a little more energy been displayed in the building of the new block, five more store rooms might have been supplied with occupants.

The Lent House, at Waterloo, has changed hands, E. H. Cowles, Esq., of Ohio having recently taken charge. Under the auspices of this gentlemanly host there is every indication that this house will rise higher than ever before in the estimation of the public.

We are again at our post, after a brief visit to Stark Co., Ohio, our former home. A week of relaxation spent in riding over the fleecy snow, which now covers its beautiful valleys, to the music of the bells is an enjoyment only heightened by those glorious association of youth, which ever and anon force their presence upon us.

Bee Tree.—Peter Helwig, Esq., informs us that while felling trees on the farm of Peter Bachtel, in Troy township the other day, in company with the owner, they cut a large oak, which being hollow at the top, split open, disclosing a large bee from which they gathered about two gallons of strained honey. A great deal was lost before it could be secured.

Judge Sinclair, of the Common Pleas Court, married his first couple Saturday afternoon, and it is said done the work up to perfection, bachelor though he be. It is inferred by the Gazette that he is probably not guilty of the soft impeachment though entitled to the privilege of kissing the bride.—Ft. Wayne Sun.

Election.—The following officers were installed as officers for the ensuing year in Auburn Lodge No. 116 I. O. O. F. last Wednesday evening:

T. D. Gross, N. G.
F. E. Davenport, V. G.
W. McIntyre, R. S.
A. Robbins, P. S.
S. L. Yandes, Treas.

Lost.—Last Tuesday evening between Auburn and Newville, a collar box, tied in a handkerchief, containing Gold Necklace, pair of Bracelets, set of Ear-rings and breast-pin, two scarlet bows and a collar. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at this office.

One of our sentimental youths got under the window of his lady love, the other night, in the snow and was singing in one of those inharimonious strains:

So ft be thy-y slumber-ers
He-ude cares depar-art, when a good sized dog in an adjoining lot scrambled over the fence, and our young amateur departed in a jiffy.

Notice is hereby given to the members of Auburn Lodge, No. 116, I. O. O.F. that at the regular meeting Jan 15 '73 there will be elected, three Trustees to serve one year, or until their successors in office are elected and qualified.

By order of the lodge.
F. E. Davenport, Sec'y.

A large sleighing party went to Newville last Tuesday evening, where they met a similar party from Hicksville. Both being accompanied with good bands the fine Hall, adjoining the hotel, was made ready, and many joined in the mazy dance The hotel though large for the place, was over-crowded, but the new landlord, A. C Comparet, who has recently taken charge done all in his power to accommodate those present He keeps a good house, charges reasonable, and seems to be meeting with the success he deserves.

Furniture for Everybody.—Messrs. Lockhart & Vanfleet, the popular and extensive furniture dealers of Waterloo, are dealing in that line of business much more largely than the public generally would perhaps suppose. We were shown the bills of sale of this establishment for the last year, the other day, and were surprised to find that they exceeded one hundred thousand dollars. This we regard as an immense trade, and can only account for it in the enterprise and energy always displayed by these gentlemen in their calling Always courteous and agreeable, with a large and varied stock constantly on hand they deserve this generous patronage: It is not necessary to go to other places to buy good furniture, as a visit to their establishment will soon convince.

Stockholders Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the North-East Indiana Agricultural society was held at Waterloo, last Monday. On motion a dividend of twenty five per cent was declared upon all stock subscribed for before the 15th of October and paid in on or before Jan. 6th, 1873.

The following persons were elected Directors for the ensuing year.

Wm. Whiteford, of Noble county, O. C. Clark, of Butler tp., C. Sheets, Jackson; David Grats, Concord; B. F. Greenwood Stafford; Moses B. Willis, Richland; J. D. Kelly, Cyrus Bowman, Smithfield; John Buchanan, Fairfield; Miles Waterman, Franklin; David Gaylord, Steuben co.; I. D. G. Nelson, Fort Wayne; G. W McConnell, Angola; Hon. W. M. Clapp, Albion; J. N. Chamberlain, B. B. Long, R. Wes. McBride, C. A. O. McClellan, Waterloo; T. C Mays, Auburn.

At a meeting of the Directors the following offices were elected.

J. N. Chamberlain, President.
T. C. Mays, Vice President.
R. Wes. McBride, Secretary.
B B. Long, Treasurer.
Ex-Com. C. A. O. McClellan,
John Lease, Jr., J. N. Chamberlain,
Cyrus Bowman, A. S. Lease.

Railroad Matinee.—Quite a lively overture came off on the train just before starting from Fort Wayne, notherward the other evening. A pretty good kind of a well meaning chap from New Era, had been visiting the city and had met Ben several times. You know Ben—Benzine, a liquid chap, that stings like an asp. Well the meeting seems to have been mutual—in fact Ben got on the right side to make mischief—the inside—brewed considerable trouble for our usually good-natured friend. He arrived at the depot as happy as a lord, and boarded the train like a bold volunteer. Cursing the passenger car as not being just the thing, he sallied forward to the baggage department. By this time he had grown largely and the muscles on his arms looked like a stuffed pillow case—from his stand point. He assumed a war-like appearance, and threatened the destruction of six mortal men. We were so alarmed that we involuntarily grasped our tooth-pick. Others done the same. At length a torrent of vile words belched forth and we knew that Ben was talking.

Such beautiful sentiments as are usually indulged in by gentleman of the canal boat and bull whacker professions were discounted in no time, and our friend became so obstrepegous, that he actually ran against the fist of a fellow laborer in the cause of humanity, until the blood trickled down over his face. And then peace followed, and our friend went home a wiser, and it is hoped, a better man. If he had left whisky alone, he would have enjoyed a better Christmas gift; at least he would have been in the enjoyment of a better conscience and a bright and more cheerful face,

Some of Those Who Pay.

The following persons have paid the amount set opposite their names as subscription the Courier:

John McClellan	$2.00	J. C. Jackson	4.00
Fred Kelly	2.00	R. J. Lent	4.00
Geo Wolf	4.00	Best & McClellan	2.00
W. Teeters	1.00	John Ralston	4.00
Geo Apple	1.00	G. Killinger	4.00
S. B. Long	4.00	Ann U. Burdick	4.00
Peter Miser	1.25	J. McAntarfer	5.00
G. B. McGowan	3 00	John Bemenderfer	.00
A. J. Adams	50	Henry Becker	2.00
John Sommers	2.00	G. J. Patterson	2.00
J. J. Hoffman	2.00	J. G. Lowhead	2.00
Dry Haughton	1.00	Arnold Blodgett	2.00
A. B. Mathews	2.00	J L Ferguson	50
J. B. Hoffman	2.00	O C Neidig	2.50
M. Sheets	1.00	Jonas Wildason	2,00
Jas McCrum	2.00	O C Walter	1.00
J. H. Duncan	4.00	W. H Keeran	2.00
R. Ashly	2.00	W King	1.00
M. F. Gengnagle	2.00	Henry Lindurfer	2.00
R. Eldridge	2.00	C M Dawson	2.00
J. P. Widney	1.00	S C Evans	2.00
Wm. Richmond	2 00	W V B Spencer	2.00
F. Barclay	1.00	W. H Meyers	2 00
R Wes McBride	2.00	David Walborn	2.00
Jacob Kahn	2.00	H C Rohm	2.00
R M Lockhart	2.00	T Miller	2.00
T J McCormick	2.00	S K Ensor	2,00
Eli Wildasin	2.00	A Durbin	3.00
W H Zern	2.00	J O Brand	6.00
J B Frothingham	4.00	Wm Brand	4.00
J Beuret	2.00	A P Meyer	50
R S S Reed	1.00	C B Kagey	1.00
Conrad Miller	1.00	G W Rowe	2.00
T J Bennett	4.00	John Miser	2.00
A P Edgerton	2.00	John Morris	4.00
E R Shoemaker	2.00	P Helwig	4.00

Prominent Local Events of 1872.

January—The location of steam mill south part of town. Death of John Zimmerman, veteran of the war of 1812. Opening of Matson & Waterman's new store at Waterloo. Correspondence between Mr. J. P. Widney and Rev. A. W. Lamport. Revival at Leuthran church Fairfield Center, and German Methodist at Auburn.

February.—Baltimore & Ohio Railroad adopt the Auburn line. Scandal affair in Troy township. Grand fox hunt and fizzle. Explosion in Gettles' store at New Era. Musical Convention by Prof Straub Large donation to Methodist pastor at Butler. Anti-masonic lecture at Waterloo. Death of Daniel Moody and Jacob Shugars, pioneer citizens. Canada Southern runs a line in north part of county.—Organization of Sunday school at German church, Auburn. Closes exercises at the Academy Revival at M. E. Church.

March—A son of Danial Lyge killed by a falling tree. Grand concert by the Musical Convention. Grand festival at Butler by the I. O. O. F's. A man by the name of Brown killed near Waterloo by railroad. Visit of the agents of the New York & Chicago Air Line.

April.—Organization of the Auburn, Building Loan and Savings Association. Engineers on the B. & O. line.

May.—Advent of the small-pox. Candidates for Congress plenty. Mysterious death of Schelhorn's children, near Spencerville. Sudden death of Jacob Snyder Sabbath School Convention at Corunna. T. Baldock looses a thumb at the Machine Shop.

June—Small-pox played out. Work commenced on the Odd Fellows' Hall.—Female fight at Spencerville.—Organisation of the M. E. Indiana Agricultural Society at Waterloo. Preparing to celebrate the Fourth. Two boys shot while playing Ingua at Waterloo. Erection of Mock Bros scroll work factory. Republican County Convention.

July—Celebration at Auburn. Post-office robbed. The Ensley block commenced. Robbery at Corunna, of a dry goods store. Circus and balloon ascension at Waterloo.

August—Gov. Hendricks at Auburn.—Grand balloon ascension. Democratic County Convention. Post-office robbery at Newville. Grant club formed.

September—Sad and sudden death of Master Chas. Kleis. Commencement of the new brick hotel, and the Snyder building. Senatorial Convention. Destruction of the Odd Fellows' Hall by storm.—Morton at Waterloo.

October—Trumbull at Butler. Fair at Waterloo.

November—Death of C. S. Hare. Right-of-way wanted for the B. & M. Road. Teachers' Institute at Waterloo. The horse disease makes its appearance. Baptist church dedicated.

December—Temperance meeting at the M. E. Church. Enlargement of the Courier. Excitement on the license question. The amateurs perform. Fire a the Poor Farm. Auburn Silver Cornet Band organized.

A Representative House.

Among the multitude of different branches of trade in Fort Wayne, none are of more importance than the boot and shoe trade. This branch is well represented; prominent among them all is the shoe house of Markley, Schrader & Co. They came to Fort Wayne in 1866, and by their gentlemanly deportment and close attention to business, they have acquired a trade perhaps not excelled by any house in their line. Not satisfied with bargains given their customers heretofore, they propose to do still better for them in the future. Their stock is very large, being a full line of everything needed for mens, boys and youths, women, Misses and children's wear. They are giving great bargains; one cannot know how cheap they are selling, unless they call. Examine the goods and learn prices, We advise all in want of boots, shoes or rubbers to give them a call. tf.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of Rebeca Nugen, deceased, will offer for sale at public out-cry at the late residence of the deceased in Jackson township DeKalb county, Indiana, on Saturday, January 25, 1873, the personal property of said estate, consisting of horses, cows hogs, wagon, fanning-mill, and other farming utensils, corn and kitchen and household furniture. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Terms, all sums of $3 and under cash, over $3 a credit of nine months will be given by purchaser giving note with interest and approved security, waiving valuation or appraisement laws. If not paid when due ten per cent from date. No goods allowed to be removed until above conditions are complied with.

Dec. 30. 1872. JOHN COY. Adm'r.

The following is the rank in population of the ten most populous States

1. New York.	6. Indiana.
2. Pennsylvania.	7. Massachusetts.
3. Ohio.	8. Kentucky.
4. Illinois.	9. Tennessee.
5. Missouri.	10. Virginia.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein the Merchants National Bank of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is Plaintiff and Thomas D. Gross and William H. Dills are defendants requiring me to make the sums of one hundred and sixty-three dollars and sixty-three cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit: Lots No. eight, 8, nine, 9, ten, 10, nineteen, 19, twenty, 20, and twenty-one, 21, in Gross and Dills' addition to the town or Auburn, in DeKalb county, Indiana.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 25th, 1873,

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and cost I will at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

Wm. L. Meese, Sheriff.
H. E. Altenburg, Dep'y.
Guy Plum, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the Estate of Ruth Chapman, late of said county, deceased. Said Estate is supposed to solvent.

Dec. 14, 1874. JOHN BEMENDERFER, Adm'r.

Notice to Heirs of Petition to Sell real Estate.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County, }

Noice is hereby given, that George Barney, executor of the will of Jacob Mourer, deceased, has filed his petition to sell the real estate of the decedent, his personal property being insufficient to pay his debts; and that said petition will be heard at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas of said county.

Attest, J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

A Great Offer

Horace Waters, 481 Broadway, N. Y. will dispose of New Pianos, Melodeons and Organs, of six first-class makers, including waters', at very low prices for cash, or part cash, and balance in small monthly instalments,—New 7 octave first-class Piates, modern improvements, for $275 cash Now ready a Concerto Parlor Organ, the most beautiful style and perfect tone ever make. Illustrated Catalogues mailed Sheet Music and Music Merchandise.

$20,000

[Twenty thousand Dollars] in Premiums, for Distribution among the $2.00 subscribers of the

CINCINNATI
Weekly Enquirer.
In April, 1873.

The number of premiums are always increased when the number of names exceed the number calculated upon. We offer the following:

1 Cash Premium of	$1,000
20 Cash Premiums of $100 Each	2,000
60 Stem-winding watch 80 each	4,800
100 Cash Premiums of 20 each	2,000
200 Cash Premiums of 10 each	2,000
100 Cash Premiums of 5 each	500
100 Cash Premiums of 3 each	300
100 Cash Premiums of 2 each	200
1319 Miscellaneous Pre., 2 to 10 Each	7,200

Making a total of Two Thousand Premiums, worth Twenty Thousand Dollars.

Every subscriber who remits $2 00 for a year's subscription will have his name registered, and will be furnished by return mail a receipt giving the date and number being represented by a duplicate in the distribution.

Agents sending 10 names and $20.00 at one time receive a free paper one year and have their names registered as participants for premiums. Specimen Copies Posters, Premiums, Pamphlet and Subscription Blanks sent free to persons desiring them. Address

FARAN & McLEAN, Cincinnati, O.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT
AND SALOON.

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

No. 89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana
CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the estate of Rebecca Nugent, late of DeKalb county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent

John Coy, Adm'r.

Auction Sale.

I. Lauferty & Son.

South-east corner of Columdia and Calhoun Streets.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Will commence selling at Auction their entire stock of Fashionable Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods on SATURDAY, JAN. 11th 8873.

at 10 o'clock a. m., and from day to day thereafter until the entire stock is sold

WE QUIT THE BUSINESS!

Now is your time to buy

GOOD GOODS!

at your own prices. Remember on Saturday morning Jan. 11th. Call soon as they will go fast.

I LAUFERTY & SON.

ARE YOU GOING WEST.

If so take our advice, and purchase your ticket over the old reliable Missouri Pacific Railroad, which is positively the only line that runs three daily express trains from St. Louis to Kansas City and is the only line which runs Pullman's Palace Sleepers and fine Day Coaches especially for movers] equipped with Millers Safety Platform and the patent steam brake, from St. Louis to Kansas City, Fort Scott, etc., without change. For information in regard to time tables, rates, etc., to any point, call upon or address I. G. WHEELER, Agent, Missouri Pacific R. R. 72 Lloyd St. Buffalo, N. Y., or E. A. FORD, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. No trouble to answer questions.

EXTRORDINARY SLAUGHTER

—OF—

DRY GOODS,

—AT—

C. ORFF & CO'S.

We will offer for sale for 60 days some of the greatest

BARGAIN!

Ever Offered in FORT WAYNE.

BARGAINS IN DRESS GOODS!

We have just received a splendid line of new Dress Goods, such as Cashmeres in all new shades, Empress, Satins, Serges, all wool Diagonals, Albanian Cloths in shades, etc., which, by having purchased late in the season, we can afford to sell for less than they were sold in New York City four weeks ago by the Jobbers; and we have marked all of our other Dress Goods to correspond with these prices.

Cashmere, all the new shades, 1¼ yards wide, reduce to $1.25, which is less than they have ever been sol for

All-wool Diagonals, for [illegible]5 cents;		worth $1.00 to 125
New Sades in Albanian Cloths,	75,	1.00 to 1·25
Silks and Wool Velours,	1.00	1.50
20 pieces Irish Poplins,	1·35	1.75
20 pieces 28-inch Velours,	1.35	150 to 175
Satins in new shades,	1.00	125
	75	1.00
	50	75
100 pieces Japanese Stripes at	30	40 to 50

We have picked out a large lot of Dress Goods which we will sell for 25 cents per yard. Amongst which will be the cheapest lot of Dress Goods ever in Ft. Wayne.

GREAT REDUCTION IN

Black and Colored Silks!

We have made a reduction of 20 to 30 per cent. on our stack of Silks

Shawl, Cloak and Fur Department!

We have in this department the largest stock of the above goods of any house in the city, and we have the greatest bargains in Cloaks, Shawls and furs ever seen in the city.

New Ottoman Shawls!

At	$9.00,	worth	$12.00
At	8.00,	worth	11.00
At	7.50,	worth	10.00
At	4.00,	worth	6.00

Plaid Shawls long and square, in immense quantities, and at prices less than before the war.

Once more, we have BARGAINS for you in every Department, and mean what we say.

You want the Goods and we want the Money; so give us a call.

C. ORFF & CO.,
No. 5 and 7 COLUMBIA St., FORT WAYNE, IND

THE PIONEER

STROE!

HARDWARE!

FOR EVERYBODY.

Reapers & Mowers

FOR EVERYBODY!

PLOWS

FOR EVERYBODY!

STOVES

FOR EVERYBODY!

Building Material for Everybody!

Go to
JOHN L. DAVIS,

NI THE BRICK BLOCK,

Another Explosion

IN

High Prices

Messrs. WOOD & WILLIAMS

Want the people of DeKalb and surrounding counties to know that they have now the largest, finest and most extensive assortment of

Dry Goods,

GROCERIES,

HATS and CAPS!

BOOTS & SHOES

&c., ever exhibited in Auburn. Also

Dress Goods,

of all kinds, at the lowest figures

FOR CASH.

Call at Case's old stand, and see a fine display. No trouble to show goods. Produce taken at the highest market price.

WOOD & W

J. J. WOOD, Ashland, Ohio.
R. E. WILLIAMS, Ashland,

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

P. T. BARNUM's loss by the destruction of his museum and menagerie, in New York, is upward of $250,000. Among the animals lost are several of the most rare in the country, which it will be difficult if not impossible to [illegible] third time the great American showman has been burned out—the first time in July, 1865, and again in March, 1868....Cathcart Taylor, city editor of the Philadelphia Press, has been convicted of libel.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY and thirteen other females who voted at the late election at Rochester, N. Y., have been bound over for trial before the United States District Court....It is now known that seven persons perished in the fire in Centre street, New York, on Christmas eve....The roof of a car-wheel factory fell in Philadelphia during the recent snow storm, burying a number of workmen, of whom three were killed outright and several others badly maimed....During the services in the Seventh Ward Baptist Church in Williamsport, Pa., on Christmas, the floor and ceiling gave way, precipitating 500 people into the basement below. Fourteen persons were killed outright and forty more injured, some of them seriously and probably fatally....In a wrestling match at New York, recently, for $500, between Harry Grace and Homer Lane, the former was victorious, and was declared champion of America.

NEW YORK CITY has decided to issue $5,000,000 worth of city bonds for the purchase of land for the Riverside Park.....In the Stokes trial at New York, the other day, the accused testified in his own behalf. He admitted that he shot Fisk, but did not intend to kill him, and said the shooting was in self-defense, Fisk having drawn his pistol first....The people of New York have been somewhat agitated of late over what they claim to be evidence of a concerted plan for the destruction of the city by the Internationalists. Many Communists, expelled from Paris, are lurking around, and their movements have excited much suspicion. The recent epidemic of fires they are unable to account for except on the theory of incendiarism. Extra men have been engaged by the fire department, and additional engines ordered; insurance managers are alarmed, and a further advance in insurance rates is hinted at; vigilance committees are talked about; and there is a probability of a vigorous movement for the suppression of the International Societies in New York and vicinity....The late snowstorm in New York was the heaviest experienced for twenty years.

STATE TREASURER MACKEY has purchased, for $100,000, a controlling interest in the Pittsburgh Commercial....New York had 45 fires for the week ending Dec. 28, involving a loss of $1,157,600....The source of the money that put the New York Tribune back in the hands of Whitelaw Reid is Hon. William Walter Phelps, a recently-elected Administration Congressman from New Jersey. He is a warm personal friend of the present editor of the Tribune, and is immensely rich. He has a banking-house on Wall street.

SAMUEL SINCLAIR has retired from the position of publisher of the New York Tribune. ....THE stockholders of the Ætna Fire Insurance Company, at a meeting last week, unanimously voted to reduce the capital stock from $3,000,000 to $2,000,000, and afterward voted to increase to the original amount, and assess the stockholders 33⅓ per cent.

THE highest price of gold in New York in 1872 was 115¼, and the lowest 108....John A. Brown, an old and wealthy banker of Philadelphia, is dead, aged 85....The buildings of Colt's Willow Ware Manufacturing Company, at Hartford, Ct., were recently burned. Loss, $75,000....Susan B. Anthony refuses to seek release from imprisonment by giving bail, and has been sent back to jail. Her companions gave the bail asked, and are at liberty until their trial for voting begins at Albany....In New York, during 1872, there were 8,445 marriages, and 11,898 births of living children. The deaths exceed the births by nearly 11,000. The total death roll is 22,941, being 6,000 in excess of last year....The new scheme for the Rapid Transit road in New York proposes to make the building thereof the province of the city. The road is expected to cost $36,000,000. ....The loss by the burning of Daly's Fifth Avenue Theater, in New York, on New Year's day, will reach $200,000. For a time the Fifth Avenue Hotel, adjoining, was in imminent danger, and a wild panic seized the guests and employes, who rushed helter-skelter in every direction; but by the strenuous exertions of the firemen the flames were restricted to the theater building, which was consumed in an incredibly short time.

The West.

MR. WILLIAM E. CRAMER, the veteran editor of the Milwaukee Wisconsin, made the hearts of the newsboys of that city exceeding glad on Christmas day, by tendering them a sumptuous dinner at the Newhall House.

THE Chicago, Millington and Western Railway Company, for the purpose of constructing a railroad from Chicago to Muscatine, Iowa, has been organized....The Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad was recently sold at auction to George L. Schuyler, of New York, for $5,000....Twelve persons were recently buried by a snow-slide at Little Cottonwood, Utah....The heirs of John Bostwick, of Madison county, Ill., have brought suit in the Superior Court, at Chicago, for the recovery of the ownership of $2,000,000 worth of real estate in the southern suburbs of that city.

THE St. Louis Democrat publishes a list of disasters on the Western rivers during the year just closed. The pecuniary loss is set down at $3,225,200. Fifty-eight lives were lost by explosions, and 365 by falling overboard.... Mack Milligan, of Colorado, is the latest lunatic who claims to have discovered perpetual motion....Large deposits of coal have been discovered in the vicinity of Puget Sound, Oregon, near the western terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad....As an aid to the efforts of those who are working to get Colorado Territory admitted into the Union, it has been proposed to increase its population to an approximate standard by annexing to it the most thickly settled portion of Wyoming Territory. The Wyoming people have taken great alarm at this, and are sending to Washington indignant protests against such dismemberment. ....The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad has been completed to the west line of Kansas. This company has built 362 miles of road since March last. In August 50 miles of track were laid—the largest month's work ever done on any railroad in this country. The entire length of the road, including branches, is 470 miles, all graded, ironed, and equipped since 1869 ....The Ohio and Mississippi railroad is negotiating for the purchase of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad.

ELEVEN persons were buried by the recent snow-slide at Little Cottonwood, Utah....A letter from Arizona says that the Lee family, circus performers, eight persons well known on the Pacific coast, were all murdered by Apaches while on their way to Mexico through Arizona. ....Mrs. Christina Mack, an aged widow of 73, and the survivor of ten husbands, was burned to death in her shanty, near La Salle, Ill., recently.

A FIRE at Galesburg, Ill., recently, destroyed an entire block of buildings, involving a loss of $100,000....The damage to steamboats and barges at Cincinnati, by the breaking of the ice gorge is estimated at $200,000....Milwaukee shipped, last year, wheat and flour to the amount of 17,532,821 bushels. Its manufactures are claimed to foot up $20,000,000, of which iron and lager beer are the largest, the former yielding $4,000,000; the other, $3,000,000.

THE works of the Northwestern Fertilizing Company, in South Chicago, were destroyed by fire recently, involving a loss of $175,000.

THE Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad [illegible] Denison, Texas, the southern terminus of the line.

FIVE colored women were shot in Memphis on Christmas day—two (fatally) by their husbands, and the other two by colored admirers. [illegible] in St. Louis [illegible] riot which occurred [illegible]....By the b[illegible] Memphis, last week, a number of steamers and coal barges were sunk, involving a loss of over a quarter of a million of dollars.

[illegible], one of the notorious Lowrey gang of outlaws, was recently killed near Scuffletown, N. C. The only villain of the band now alive is Steve Lowrey....Ten thousand Chinamen are at work on the Texas Pacific railroad in Upshur county, Texas.

A FERRYBOAT, with seven persons on board, was sunk by the breaking of the ice-gorge at Memphis, the other day. All were lost..... The publication of the New Orleans Times has been resumed.

ALL the prisoners confined in the Frankfort, Ky., jail recently escaped by cutting through the roof....Alexandria, Va., had a $100,000 blaze on New Year's eve.

Two passenger trains collided near Augusta, Ga., on the 2d instant. Eight persons, all colored, were killed, and ten or twelve injured. The Carlotta Patti concert troupe were on board. They lost their piano and a portion of their wardrobe.

Washington.

IT is said that a scheme is on foot at the capital to establish a National Bureau of Naturalization.

THE President has signed the bill to reduce the offices and expenses of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and the work of putting the new law into practical operation will be commenced at once.

IT is stated that the Government will decide in favor of Council Bluffs as the terminus of the Union Pacific railroad....It is believed there is no hope for the admission of Colorado as a State during the present session of Congress....The Washington Republican says a project will soon be brought forward in the House for the annexation of San Domingo.... Gen. Francis A. Walker has resigned the Commissionership of Indian Affairs.

Judge McArthur, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, decides that dogs are not property, but that at common law they are simply nuisances.

It is rumored that Judge Settle, of North Carolina, will succeed Mr. Creswell as Postmaster General.

A pamphlet is now in course of preparation, intended to be laid before members of Congress, which reviews the workings of the telegraph lines, in the Territories and elsewhere, constructed by the Government, and which are worked under Government control. The animus of the document will tend to sustain the project of bringing all the telegraphs of the country under the control of the National Government.

The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Assistant Treasurer at New York to buy $1,000,000 in bonds and sell $1,000,000 in coin each week during the month of January.

JUDGE MCARTHUR, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, decides that dogs are not property, but that at common law they are simply nuisances....It is rumored that Judge Settle, of North Carolina, will succeed Mr. Creswell as Postmaster General....A pamphlet is now in course of preparation, intended to be laid before members of Congress, which reviews the workings of the telegraph lines, in the Territories and elsewhere, constructed by the Government, and which are worked under Government control. The animus of the document will tend to sustain the project of bringing all the telegraphs of the country under the control of the National Government....The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Assistant Treasurer at New York to buy $1,000,000 in bonds and sell $1,000,000 in coin each week during the month of January.

IT is "positively" announced that Secretary Boutwell will retire from the Treasury Department in February. Assistant Secretary Richardson, Henry Clews and Gov. Morgan are prominently mentioned as his successors. Per contra, it is announced with equal "positiveness" that Mr. Boutwell will not resign in February. "You pays your money and takes your choice."....Notwithstanding Secretary Boutwell's policy of disposing of two hundred millions of the five per cent. funded loan bonds to the Syndicate headed by Jay Cooke & Co. has met with much criticism, there is ample authority for saying that the Secretary intends to dispose of the remainder of the loan by the same process, he believing that a higher price is obtained for the bonds in this way than by offering them through a number of banks.... Speaker Blaine's friends have made a pretty thorough canvass of the next House of Representatives, and say that he will be re-elected by over a two-thirds vote. Many Southern members will give complimentary votes to Horace Maynard.

THE receipts from the internal revenue during the present fiscal year to Jan. 1, are over sixty-one millions....Gen. Thomas O. Osborne, of Chicago, will be appointed a member of the Commission to investigate the Mexican depredations on the Rio Grande....A Washington dispatch says there will undoubtedly be three vacancies in the Cabinet on the 4th of March—the State, Treasury, and Attorney-Generalship.

THE following is the December public debt statement:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,242,084,150
Five per cent. bonds	414,566,300
Total coin bonds	$1,756,651,450
Lawful money debt	$ 17,458,000
Matured debt	4,084,220
Legal tender notes	358,642,294
Certificates of deposit	25,370,000
Fractional currency	45,722,061
Coin certificates	23,263,000
Total without interest	$ 452,997,356
Total debt	$2,281,191,026
Total interest	$ 40,667,161
Cash in the Treasury, coin	$ 74,359,275
Currency	9,876,573
Special deposit held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as prescribed by law	25,370,000
Total in the Treasury	$ 109,605,849
Debt less cash in Treasury	2,162,252,338
Increase during the month	$ 1,684,307
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railroad Companies, interest payable in lawful money, principal outstanding	64,623,512
Interest accrued and not yet paid	1,938,705
Interest paid by United States	16,570,575
Interest repaid by transportation of mails, etc	4,006,002
Balance of interest paid by United States	12,564,573

There was an increase of $1,684,307 in the public debt last month. In explanation, it is stated that, when the Treasury accounts are completed by the returns from distant banks and Custom Houses, this apparent addition to our indebtedness will be transformed into a decrease of some millions.

Foreign.

BY the terms of the bill introduced into the Spanish Cortes for the emancipation of slavery in Porto Rico, all slaves are to be free within four months from the passage of the measure, and their owners are to be remunerated for the human property thus confiscated....The King of the Sandwich Islands died Dec. 11.... The horse-disease, which has of late been ravaging the United States with such havoc, [illegible] appearance recently in Havana. Correspondents writing from that city state that the mortality is much greater there than in the United States, owing to the miserable stables, even the wealthiest residents having but very poorly ventilated places for the keeping of horses.

THE cable announces that hostilities have commenced between Russia and Khiva, and that 9,000 Khivese troops are besieging the Russian forts on the Euerba river. Another force of 10,000 Khivese are depredating on the Russian fisheries at the mouth of the Euerba.... Diplomatic relations between the Swiss Government and the Vatican have been broken off.

FRANCE will pay Germany 200,000,000 francs of her war indemnity on the 15th of January, and will continue to pay the same amount until May next....During the counting of the votes for municipal officers at Tampico, Mexico, recently, a row occurred, resulting in the killing of five or six persons....The French Minister to the Papal Court has resigned....The Austrian, French, and Prussian newspapers are engaged in a lively controversy over the disclosures made by Duke de Grammont in regard to the origin of the late war. The Duke brings documentary evidence to support the truth of his assertion that Austria promised to assist France in case of war with Prussia. He publishes an Austrian dispatch to the French Government, in which a pledge is given in the following words: "Your cause is ours. We will contribute to the success of the French arms."

THE Prussian Government threatens with immediate confiscation all Catholic journals in that country, if they publish the insulting references to Germany in the recent Papal allocution....The Czarovitch of Russia has recovered from his recent dangerous illness.

A RUMOR comes from London that a large Russian loan is about to be placed upon the market. This information will tend to confirm the belief that the Czar has determined to prosecute an aggressive policy in Asia upon a formidable scale....The revenue receipts fo Great Britain for the year ending Dec. 31 amounted to $78,000,000....Prosecutions have been instituted in Germany against the Roman Catholic journals which published the recent Papal allocution. The excitement on this subject is increasing throughout the empire.... Gen. Von Roon has been specially appointed as President of the Prussian Council of Ministers.

RUSSIA, in order to allay British uneasiness as to the possible reach of her Asiatic movements, and to gain for them a clear field, offers to lay her plans before the English Government, and even consents that English officers be allowed to accompany her expeditions.... A citizen of the United States has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Hungary for talking disrespectfully of the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. An Englishman, who was traveling with him and resisted arrest, has been committed for three months.... Cuban news reports several fights, in all of which the insurgents have been whipped; but it is to be remembered that these accounts may be colored by the censorship under which they pass. The insurgents are certainly busy, and their activity has compelled the withdrawal of all regular troops from Havana for service in the field. In order to infuse a still greater vigor into the conduct of their affairs, the revolutionists propose to make Agramonte President at the next election, instead of Cespedes, their present chief.

General.

CHRISTMAS week was unusually prolific of railroad smashups and the slaughter of human life. A train on the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburgh railroad was thrown down an embankment. The cars falling upside down, they immediately took fire, and, there being no means of egress, twenty-one persons were literally roasted to death. Many others were seriously wounded. A train on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago railroad was thrown from the track by a broken rail and twenty persons injured, of which at least three will die. A similar accident occurred to a passenger train near Cincinnati, resulting in the death of several persons. At Newton, Kansas, a train, imbedded in a snow-drift, was run into by a freight train, by which two lives were lost. By an accident to the through train from Washington to Philadelphia, near Baltimore, many persons were injured, two of them fatally. Men and animals were frozen to death on a train blocked up in Indiana by a lack of water, which had congealed all along the line of the road. Still other trains were frozen up elsewhere, and steamers were damaged by the rise of the water in the Ohio river. Many cases of death by exposure were reported, and from all parts of the country come the intelligence of misfortunes, constituting altogether the most unwelcome Christmas present within the memory of man.

JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE, the English historian, has sailed for home....Ten more Ku-Klux from the South arrived at the Albany Penitentiary last week—among them a Baptist clergyman from South Carolina....The epizootic has broken out among the cattle in some parts of the Island of Cuba.

SENATOR SUMNER's condition is said to be growing worse....It is stated that George Francis Train is thoroughly conversant with all the mysteries of the Credit Mobilier scandal, and a strong effort is being made to induce him to tell what he knows about the matter....So far he has maintained a cunning reticence.

MONTREAL was visited by a destructive fire on New Year's eve. The loss is estimated at $500,000....The public are likely to be accommodated with another sensation in the way of what is called watering stocks. It is understood, says the New York World, that Commodore Vanderbilt intends selling New York Central stock to the extent of $40,000,000, instead of wasting further time in trying to negotiate the bonds in Europe....New York and North Carolina each celebrated New Year's day by inaugurating a new Governor—Gen. Dix in the former, and Judge Caldwell in the latter.

BY the 4th of March the army will be clothed in their new uniform, which is very like that of the Prussian army....A New York Court has decided that the United States cannot tax the salaries of State Judges.

Winter Clothing.

In his experiments to determine the heat conducting power of linen, cotton, wool, and silk, Sir Humphrey Davy found not only that materials conducted heat in the order above given, linen being the best, but that also the tightness or looseness possessed an important influence. It is therefore evident that in the selection of winter clothing, and especially of that to be worn next to the skin, the material of the least conducting power, as wool and silk, should be chosen, and the fabrics should be woven loosely. As regards the external garments the same rules apply with equal force, but in this case care should be taken to remove overcoats and shawls when in a warm room; especially should this be observed in the instance of furs worn by ladies. The habit of wearing these articles for hours in succession, while shopping and visiting, often so weakens the power of resistance in the wearers that they become the ready victims of inflammation of the throat and ungs.

"MEET me at the gate, love," has been changed to "Meet me at the grate."

Miscellaneous.

KANSAS is getting up an anti-tobacco colony.

THE most obstinate pig in the world—Pig-iron.

[illegible] United States.

INDIANA is raising two and a half millions of hogs.

A NEW evening paper, the Ledger, is to be published in St. Louis.

UNCLE SAM requires $301,705,036.99 to meet his expenses for 1873.

DUBUQUE boasts of a bridge that has borne a train of 87 loaded cars all at once.

THE heathen Chinee is taking the place of the colored laborer on the Texas railroads.

HARVARD COLLEGE proposes to abolish compulsory attendance at recitations and prayers, thus throwing the responsibility of scholarship and education upon the students themselves.

THE number of marriages in Chicago in the year since the fire have been greater, and the number of divorces less than ever before, the same being called by moralists a purification by fire.

BARNUM'S show collided with John Robinson's at Columbus, Ga., and Barnum rather got the best of the row, whereupon Robinson brought suit against Barnum for $3,000 damages.

THE only building left standing in the Boston burnt district, says the Advertiser, has a Mansard roof. So has the house of Mahlon D. Ogden, the only house left standing in the North Side burnt district of Chicago.

THE "Woolwich infants," those gentle pieces of English artillery, which weigh 35 tons apiece, have been delivered from the bottom of the sea, where they sank with the vessel Marlborough, and are doing as well as could be expected.

A SPRINGFIELD, Mass., negro has just invented an improved steam valve for locomotives, by means of which the steam pressure is removed from the top of the valve, and the wear and tear of the machinery is greatly reduced.

IT is believed the wheat which California will send abroad the present year will exceed in value that of the gold which the State will produce during the same period. The wheat crop will bring the State from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

THE New York man who invented a portable iron safe to carry under the clothing fell off a Hudson steamboat the other day, in full armor. The machine held his body firmly on the bottom of the river, and his heirs consider it a great success.

AN enterprising thief in Oil City lately stole over one hundred pounds of nitro-glycerine, and secreted it in his house just behind a roaring fire. It was discovered by the police, and thus the great labor of picking up the widely-scattered remains of the thief and his wife and seven small children was avoided. He was blown up by the Judge, however, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

THE Bostonian glass-blowers are manufacturing relics of the great fire. They blow bottles and other vessels into all sorts of shapes, resembling the result of intense heat, while the inside is ingeniously filled with all sorts of liquids, from cheap whisky to castor oil. Corks are inserted showing every degree of burning, from a slight scorch to half-consumption, while the contents have the appearance of having remained intact. These relics sell readily for from twenty-five cents upward.

The Iron Mines of Missouri.

The iron wealth of Missouri is generally supposed to be confined to Iron, Pilot Knob, and Shepherd mountains, but this is a great mistake. At the recent St. Louis fair, iron ores were exhibited from more than two hundred localities, in different counties of the State. Rich deposits of iron ore are found throughout the southeastern and southwestern sections, and are flanked by coal fields in Western Illinois and Western Missouri. The demand for Missouri iron is enormous and fast increasing, and the mountain supply is inadequate in consequence of the limitation of facilities of transportation. It is repeatedly asserted, without denial, that less than one hundred miles of railroad westwardly from Iron Mountain would develop a region of iron, copper, etc., far richer than that of Lake Superior, which now produces a million tons of iron ore annually. We have thus the uncontradicted statement that within one hundred and fifty miles of St. Louis lies a territory capable of yielding a million tons of ore yearly. The labor and transportation involved would call for an annual and profitable expenditure of seven million dollars. To work the ore would require five million tons of coal, more than double the present coal consumption of St. Louis; and, at three dollars per ton for coal mining and carriage, a business of fifteen millions more would be created. One million tons of ore would make 600,000 tons of pig iron, worth now at least thirty millions of dollars, or, made into rails and bars, over fifty million dollars, besides the increased value from the product of labor in every shape in which it is afterwards used. It may readily be shown that the earnings of labor from the iron ore in the bowels of the earth in Missouri can be made larger than all the other products of the State—more than double the gold of California.

A Young Lady Scalped.

In Baltimore, the other day, a man carrying an umbrella under his arm in a promiscuous manner, went rushing down the street. In passing a bevy of elegantly dressed ladies, the handle of the rain shedder caught in the head-gear of one of the fair ones. She gave a little scream of astonishment and alarm, but neither this nor the tension of the umbrella could check the headlong career of the hasty individual, and as the umbrella would not yield, both the bonnet and the whole elaborately arranged curls and other fixtures on the lady's head were pulled completely off, and she stood the very image of desolation and bereavement. Apology under such circumstances would only have been an insult, so the gentleman hurried away, and the lady, gathering as promptly as possible her scattered adornments, also retired from the scene of disaster.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Horror.

A letter from Erie, Pa., gives the following harrowing details of the recent terrible railroad accident at Prospect Station, Pa.:

The immediate cause of the accident at Prospect Station was a broken flange on the tender wheel. About 60 rods west of the station is a trestle work some 30 feet high, over which the locomotive and tender of the eastern bound train passed in safety, but the baggage and passenger cars, only two coaches being on the train, were thrown from the trestle, fell 30 feet, and struck top downward. The weight of the trucks crushed in the cars, closing up the windows, and to render the situation even more terrible, the passenger coach was partially tilted upon its side, so that for the occupants of that side there were no means of escape. Almost immediately the cars took fire, the passenger coach burning at both ends.

Some half a dozen persons waiting at the station were soon at the scene of the accident, but they worked at an immense disadvantage. No water could be had, and the snow that was scraped up had but little effect in staying the flames. Only two axes were available, and the wood work of the cars was bolted together so firmly and intricately that but little headway could be made with them.

All the time that these efforts were being put forth the flames were steadily gaining, and the shrieks of the imprisoned victims, as the scorching heat enveloped them, was appalling to the stoutest heart. Now and then a rope was put through a cornice, fastened to a form, and the sufferer pulled out by main strength. Sometimes it would be a lifeless body, and the charred arms, legs, or head would drop off in the struggle. In three or four instances the head was thus separated from the trunk, and in as many more cases the body was bereft of its limbs. The body of a lady was thus rescued from the flames, the head and one arm snapping off like a piece of charcoal, while the other arm remained untouched, a dainty kid glove covering the hand, and her fingers wearing their jeweled ornaments. The body will doubtless be recognized with the aid of the rings; but for these it would have been impossible to identify it. The bodies of three other ladies were taken out, neither of which can be recognized by their friends.

Adding these to the number of injured that will die, it is estimated that the total number of lives lost will not fall short of thirty, the whole number of persons in the two cars at the time of the accident being about 45.

Frank Taylor, of Corry, was leaning against some object, and seeing an acquaintance passing called him by name. The friend turned around and saw Taylor, apparently uninjured, but suddenly he said, "tell my wife," and fell over dead. He must have died from some internal injury. The inmates of the burning cars were crying for aid, and Mr. Taylor's friend did not see him again until his corpse was brought in and placed with the others.

After the groans of the dying were stilled in death, the stench arising from the burning bodies was sickening. With no means of extinguishing the flames, and the heat being too intense to admit of all the bodies being extricated, nothing could be done by the spectators but to stand quietly by and see the remains slowly consumed.

Believe in Yourself.

It is said that when John C. Calhoun was in Yale College he was ridiculed by his fellow-students for his intense application to study. "Why, sirs," said he, "I am forced to make the most of my time that I may acquit myself creditably when in Congress." A laugh followed, when he exclaimed, "Do you doubt it? I assure you if I were not convinced of my ability to reach the national capital as a Representative within the next three years, I would leave college this very day!" Let every young man thus have faith in himself and earnestly take hold of life, scorning all props and buttresses, all crutches and life-preservers. Let him believe, with Pestalozzi, that no man on God's earth is either willing or able to help any other man. Let him strive to be a creator, rather than to borrow. Instead of yielding the rusted sword of valorous forefathers, let him forge his own weapons, and, conscious of the God in him and the Providence over him, let him fight his own battles with his own good lance. Instead of sighing for an education, capital, or friends, and declaring that "if he only had these, he would be somebody," let him remember that, as Horace Greeley said, he is looking ing the wrong end of the telescope; that if he only were somebody, he would speedily have all the boons whose absence he is bewailing. Instead of being one of the foiled potentialities, of which the world is so full—one of the subjunctive heroes, who always might, could, would, or should do great things, but whose not doing great things is what nobody can understand—let him be in the imperative mood, and do that of which his talents are indicative. This lesson of self-reliance once learned and acted on, and every man will discover within himself, under God, the elements and capacities of usefulness and honor. —Getting On in the World.

Can a Woman Stand It?

George William Curtis has been lecturing on "Woman's Opportunities" before the Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of New York city. Talking of the co-education of the sexes, and alluding to the fact that public educational institutions of the higher grade are opening their doors to women, he says: "If anybody asks the question, 'Can a woman endure a college course of study?' it is a woman herself who replies, 'I would like you to take 300 young men, lace them up and hang 10 or 20 pounds of clothes on their waists, perch them upon high, narrow heels, cover their heads with rats and mice, and stick 10,000 hair pins into their heads, and, if they can stand all this, as the women do, they will stand a college education.' [Laughter.] All the highest authorities on this subject in this country agree that co-education is better for both sexes. Already the bolts of prejudice are softly sliding back to admit a nobler, because a juster, future in the persons of women."

ONE can always find a sheet of water in the bed of the ocean.

Personal.

CALIFORNIA has an editor named Bushyhead.

OLIVE LOGAN (SYKES) is to retire permanently from the lecture field this [illegible] reside in Paris.

MRS. F[illegible] is described as having grown stout and gray, and never, in the days of her girlish beauty, was so fascinating as at the present time.

It is a [illegible] with the newspapers in printing the advertisement of Booth's Theater to print the name of the proprietor in small type, and not in capital letters.

THE "Aunty Lampson," whose name has become familiar to the American people in connection with Mr. Greeley's last days, is Miss Susan H. Lampson, of East Poultney, Vt.

THESE are in the refreshing Western style of personals: "Mr. Waggoner found fault with the beef at a Memphis hotel, the other morning, and the Coroner made $3 on him." "Peter Ink, an old citizen of Knox county, Ohio, was blotted out the other day, age 75."

IT is so nice of William Finn to be 107 years old, live in Bowling Green, and make wooden bowls for a living, for it gives his biographer an opportunity to say that he has doubtless resisted the tempting and "flowing bowl," and having worked at the trade for over seventy-five years, ought to Finn-ish the business.

THEY tell a good story of Col. Davidson, Adjutant-General of Texas. He received a bogus dispatch from Bell county, indicating his election to the State Senate, whereupon he promptly resigned his Adjutant's office, and his resignation was promptly accepted. If he had to do it again he would probably wait for the official returns.

STATEMENTS are current respecting two well-known humorists. One accounts for the orthography of Josh Billings, saying that he "did not write a line for publication until he was more than 45 years of age, when it was too late for him to learn to spell." The other mentions that "many who heard the Rev. Petroleum V. Nasby tell the story of Hannah Jane now have an additional horror of Locke-jaw."

THERE is said to have been a man at Port Jervis, lately, who was regarded as a curiosity even in that place of human monstrosities. He had the power to move his heart to any part of his body at will, and to stop its pulsations for a time altogether. He also rejoiced in an extra set of ribs, which he could shut down over the lower part of his body. He has a cousin who can change the relative position of his two hips. This story comes direct from Port Jervis, and may be regarded as among the best that it can produce.

HON. HENRY WILSON is the eleventh Senator who has been elected Vice-President. The others were Burr, Calhoun, R. M. Johnson, Van Buren, Tyler, Dallas, King, Breckinridge, Hamlin, and Andrew Johnson. Of these, Van Buren, Tyler and A. Johnson became Presidents, as did Senators Monroe, J. Q. Adams, Harrison and Pierce. The Vice-Presidents who became Presidents were John Adams, Jefferson, Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore and A. Johnson, the last three succeeding to the office by the death of the Presidents with whom they were elected Vice-Presidents. Only one Vice-President has been elected as his own successor. This was Daniel D. Tompkins, who served during the two terms of President Monroe.

Foreign.

A FRENCHMAN boasts that he is prepared to establish a system of transportation of 14,000,000 tons a day around the earth by means of balloons. He requires a capital of only $4,000,000.

A GENERAL WAR is being waged against the use of slates in the schools of Germany. There is scarcely any sound more offensive to the human ear than the grating of the pencil on the slate, and when this is multiplied by numbers in the school, the effect is said to be extremely injurious to the nerves of many children, and to leave evil influences in life. In addition to this, the use of slates is attended with many other disadvantages.

EVERY DAY a new surprise is created by the Japanese to the world at large. Their progress is marvelous. Late news from that wonderful people is to the effect that the Government has ordered the organization of eight colleges and two hundred and fifty-six high schools. In addition to this, it is in contemplation to establish over fifty-three thousand public schools, in which the attendance of all children over six years of age shall be compulsory.

M. PAUL JANET, a French writer, has shown that since the year 1789 there have been twelve different governments in France, the average duration of which has been from seven to eight years. What is curious in this connection is that none of these governments has been the expression of the free will of the people, but all have been usurped. Every eight years, therefore, force in France overthrows the regular authority and creates a regime of violence which is itself better destroyed in time by the same weapons that raised it. Whether the Government of M. Thiers will survive the allotted eight years remains to be seen.

GAILLARD, Sr., one of the leaders of La Commune who contrived to escape recently, said: "When we shall return to Paris our first business will be to make reprisals for the wrongs done our friends. We have already resolved that 1,000 rich men shall be shot for each one of our friends shot on Satory plain. No rich man shall be allowed to vote. No rich man's child shall be allowed to attend school; poor men's children alone will have a right to be educated. All those who have hitherto hunted because they owned land, or rented shootings, or were able to pay for shooting licenses shall be interdicted shooting; this shall be reserved exclusively for poor men."

OF the workers in the first issue of the Tribune but two remain. These are the present foreman of the paper, Thomas L. Rooker, and McElrath, the publisher. Rooker was at the time referred to a poor printer just arrived from Albany, where he had learned the trade.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

The Manure Heap.

The prudent farmer will not permit the manure that is made through the winter season to go to waste, and if he is very wise he will not be content with simply hauling out a half dozen loads, when if it is carefully saved he might have 20 loads or more to put on his land.

Until one tries the experiment, it seems astonishing that so much manure could be saved as we have seen hauled out from one barn during a single winter. The secret of a large manure heap consists simply in cleaning out the stalls, stables, and pens every day, instead of once a week or once a month. By frequent additions, the value of the heap for fertilizing purposes is also greatly increased. When the manure has accumulated so as to be in the way, the better plan is to haul it at once to the field.

Practically, every load of manure hauled to the field, this winter, will add a load of corn to the crib. We believe that the good farmer can just as well get one hundred bushels of corn to the acre in Kansas, as to be getting but forty or fifty; and we belidve this result is to be obtained chiefly by using manure.

No matter whether the ground has been long in cultivation or not; no matter if it is the second year's ground; a good coat of manure will increase the yield of grain. Upon the Agricultural College farm we saw the effect of manure on new ground. We saw that the portion manured was nearly as high again (in June), and the stalks much larger and stronger, and the color better than upon an adjoining place that was not manured. We have not heard the difference in bushels of grain, but we will guarantee that the manure counted in the crib in proportion to its looks in the field.

We are satisfied that clover is a much cheaper fertilizer for our large Western farms, and our peculiar style of farming, than is stable manure, or, indeed, any other fertilizer; but this is no reason why we should waste the manure. Therefore, improve any leisure hours by distributing the manure—not one or two loads only, but twenty, thirty or fifty loads. It will pay.—Kansas Farmer.

To Prevent Sows Destroying Their Young.

Recently a correspondent inquired for a remedy in cases where sows ate their young. We find the following in a monthly report of the Department of Agriculture, which, although it does not seem to furnish a remedy likely to be generally applied, we give for what it is worth. No one but the breeder who had the misfortune to see a fine litter of pigs destroyed by their dam—herself perhaps the best sow in his pen—can have a realizing sense of the annoyance and bitter disappointment such an occurrence involves. The report says:

It is well known that sows not unfrequently attack and destroy their young; or, if prevented from this, will not let down their milk, so that the young pigs necessarily die from want of nourishment. When this condition of things is not caused by a diseased condition of the uterus, it is said that the sow can be brought to terms by pouring a mixture of ten to twenty grains of the spirits of camphor with one to three of the tincture of opium, into the ear. The sow will immediately lie down on the side of the ear to which the application was made, and remain quiet in this position for several hours without interfering with her pigs; and on recovery from the stupor will have lost her irritability in regard to them. The experiment has been tried in Germany hundreds of times, according to one of the agricultural journals, without any injurious effects. It is also said that the eating of pigs by the parent sow can be readily prevented by rubbing them all over with brandy, and making the same application about the nose of the sow herself.

Brood Sows.

Special attention should be paid to those sows that farrow in winter. A warm, sheltered bed is necessary to save the pigs; and if not already done, a pen should be constructed, and the sow placed in it, and supplied with abundance of straw or leaves. In building the pen, it is a good plan to fasten a six or eight inch board against the side of the pen, and about six inches from the floor, so that the sow cannot overlie the pigs. This board serves to keep the sow from the side of the pen, and enables the young ones to get under it, if in danger of being laid on.

If the sow is fed with turnips or potatoes, either cooked or raw, for a few days before farrowing, it will increase the flow of milk, and relieve constipation, with which they are often troubled at this season of the year.

The pen in which young pigs are confined should by all means be covered, to keep out both rain and snow; and they should be early taught to drink milk and slop. The pig is very easily stunted, and if once set back in its growth, it takes months to recover them.

While suckling, from the time of farrowing forward, the sow should be frequently given charcoal and salt, as these serve in a great measure to remove the morbid appetite that causes them to eat their pigs.

Agricultural Patents.

The total number of agricultural implements for which patents were granted during the year 1871 is 1,200, subdivided into classes as follows: Bee-hives, 73; churns, butter and cheese-making implements, 90; corn-huskers, 13; corn-shellers, 15; cotton-pickers, scrapers, cleaners, choppers, etc., 16; cultivators, 90; diggers, 21; egg-carriers, hatchers, detectors, etc., 10; feed and straw cutters, 30; forks, hay, manure, etc., 20; fruit-gatherers, 12; flower-stands, pots, etc., 10; harrows and rollers, 40; harvesters and attachments, reapers and mowers, 160; hay-tedders, loaders, etc., 25; hoes, 11; milk cans, coolers, stools, cow-milkers, 24; planters, drills, seeders, etc., 177; plows and attachments, 160; pruning implements, 20; racks, feed, hay, etc., 5; rakes, 36; thrashers, separators, and cleaners, 72; miscellaneous, 70; total, 1,200. Among the miscellaneous patents are coops, cattle-ties, flax-pullers, garden implements, grafting-tools, hog-snouters, hedge-trimmers, hair-clippers, insect-destroyers, pokes, root-cutters, sap-collectors, tree-protectors, transplanters, vases, vine-trellises, etc.

Feeding Swine.

The New England Farmer says: Feed regularly. Perhaps three times each twenty-four hours is better than twice. When fed only once or twice, they eat too ravenously, and crowd the system so as to impair digestion and make themselves uncomfortable. They will not grow fast, or fat fast, while in this condition. Never add fresh food to any that may be left in the trough from a former meal. If worth preserving, take it out, work it up with the fresh food, and clean out the trough with cold water and an old broom. This will not seem so painstaking to persons of methodical habits, and is the true course by which to make money on the animals fed. Add a little salt frequently to the food, and in warm days give them as much pure cold water as they want.

Desperate Encounter with a Panther.

A professional hunter, named Repzs, was out hunting this week on Martin's Island, down the Columbia. The hunter was accompanied by a young hound only, which started some animal a little distance away in the dense brush. Repzs ran from the thick timber in which he was standing toward the edge of the water. A clear space of several rods divided the brush and the river margin. On reaching the bank, Repzs halted and placed himself in an attitude of defense. In a few minutes, the hound emerged from the timber, and came running toward its master. Immediately following the dog, and in hot pursuit, a large and ferocious panther bounded in sight. Repzs raised his gun to his shoulder and fired. The ball took effect in the jaws of the animal, but did not inflict any serious injury, nor retard its advance toward the hunter. On firing, Repzs retreated into the water up to his arm-pits. The wounded and infuriated animal sprang after, and "tackled" the hunter. The dog came to the rescue of his master, and made it so warm for the panther that it abandoned Repzs and turned on the hound. Repzs waded out toward the bank, turned around and fired the second barrel of his gun at the panther. The load was large buckshot, and took effect in the panther's side. The wound was very severe, but did not entirely disable the animal, which was getting the best of the dog. Seeing that the hound would soon be drowned, Rep s resolved to rescue it, if possible. He had discharged both barrels of his gun, and cast aside his large bowie-knife in the edge of the timber when he started to retreat to the water. No time, however, was to be lost, and Repzs sprang into the river to save his dog. By this time the panther had lost much blood and was growing weak from exhaustion. The hunter, who was a powerful man, seized hold of the panther's head, and after a fierce "tussel," broke its hold on the hound. The panther now turned on Repzs. A long and desperate encounter ensued between the hunter, panther, and dog. At last Repzs succeeeed in keeping the animal's nose under water until it was quite dead, after which he drew the body to the shore, and fainted from his wounds and exhaustion. The hunter was severely lacerated in the conflict, and has scarcely been able to leave his bed since. The hound is also badly torn.—Portland Oregonian.

About Authors and Artists.

Homer trudged all over Greece to recite his poems.

Byron wrote his best poems while grinding his teeth over his deformed foot.

Savage was spurred to extraordinary efforts to gain renown because of his dubious origin.

Miss Landon, in her best days, never had two dresses at a time that were fit to wear.

The poet Gray often threw away fine verses because they failed to please his exacting genius.

The Patti family has made its mark in the musical world, for several generations.

For her last novel George Sand received forty gold dollars per page.

In one year Prescott once received $21,000 from his books.

The late Fanny Fern once received $100 per column for a newspaper story.

Most book manuscripts are bought for $25, $50 and $100 each.

Sir James Hannah expresses great admiration for John S. Clarke, the American comedian.

John S. Clarke, the comedian, is the husband of Edwin Booth's sister Asia. Hence he has not married "the prettiest actress on the London stage," as has been reported.

Lucca's husband has petitioned for a divorce on the ground of desertion.

"H. G." and the Beggars.

Horace Greeley was, until the last day of his life, the victim of impecunious cheats. He was opposed on principle to giving them a penny, and yet in practice he was a perpetual purveyor to their imaginary needs. For many years I doubt if any energetic applicant for a loan ever left the presence of the great journalist without carrying his point. During the last twenty-five years of his life Mr. Greeley must have lent to entirely irresponsible persons, without the slightest expectation of getting anything back, not far from $50,000. Every week he would berate himself for his encouragement of such "confounded loafers," as he styled them, and express his determination to reform his loose and lavish habit. But with the new week would be resumed the open-handed generosity, from the impossibilisy of saying "no," even to the most transparent impostor.

While entering the Tribune office, the editor would often notice a borrower lying in wait, and tell him beforehand there was no use of asking for money; that he could not get another penny under any circumstances. The cozener, however, knowing his man, would follow him into his sanctum, and, in less than a minute, Mr. Greeley would be seen opening his pocket-book, and be heard to say, "Now, take that, and don't come here any more; for I'm going to turn over a new leaf." Of course, the new leaf was never turned over, unless in a backward direction. The journalist's reputation as a succorer of suckers was so firmly established that he drew them from every quarter, and could not shake them off.—New York Letter.

EDWIN FORREST.

Some Interesting Reminiscences and Anecdotes of the Great Tragedian.

A writer in the St. Louis Democrat has the following pleasant gossip about the late Edwin Forrest:

BETTER TO WEAR OUT THAN RUST OUT.

I knew Mr. Forrest only for a short time. On my way to Washington, about five years ago, I stopped at Columbus, Ohio, and while there, was introduced to him. Next morning I met him at the depot. The trains were all snow-bound and late, and the weather was cold and gloomy. He was on his way to fulfill an engagement. "It seems to me," said I, "that a man as famous and as wealthy as you are ought to be able to keep out of these big storms and enjoy himself at home." "Yes," said Forrest, "I know a great many people think I am old enough and rich enough to retire from the stage; but I shall never retire until I retire into the grave. I have known a great many successful merchants to retire from business at sixty years of age, when they had a competence; but I was counting up, the other day, and found their average life of retirement was not five years. They might have lived to eighty in active business, but they all seem to rust out in a few years when they attempt to lie by—just like a ship—she'll last twice as long on the ocean as she will at the docks."

HIS BAD TEMPER.

Probably no star actor was ever as unpopular among secondaries and subordinates as Forrest. This was because of his bad temper and haughty disposition. He would curse men and women alike at rehearsal if they failed in his ideal of their parts—tell Desdemona she was a fool, and Iago that he was more fit for a bricklayer than an actor. He was conscious of this grave fault, but said he could not control it, and finally, more on this account than any other, he abandoned rehearsals altogether, and sent his agent to take his place at them. Even during the performance he would frequently let his bad temper get the better of him, and often cursed an actor in an undertone while holding a dialogue with him before a large audience, or get into a towering rage while waiting for his cue at the sides. Even to his friends in social life he was a man of curious moods. I believe it was at Peoria that he told a calling party of citizens, who sent up their cards to his room at the hotel, "to go to h—ll"—that he couldn't see anybody, and didn't want any courtesies.

HIS OPINION OF HIS OWN "LEAR."

He was playing at St. Louis about a year ago. You could tell from his humor at the breakfast table whether he had had a good audience and good support the night before. I met him at his coffee one morning, after he had played Othello the night before. "How did you like it?" said he. I replied that I thought he deserved unusual credit for having so good an Othello to such a poor Desdemona. "Yes," said he, "did you ever see such an abominable farce as she made of it? She gave the lie to the whole thing; she made Othello a laughing-stock for being jealous of such a creature as she? And I felt, all the way through, that I was making a fool of myself in trying to make it appear that I loved her. Othello has always been a very peculiar play to me, and I generally refuse to play it except to some Desdemona who comes near to what we all suppose the original was."

WHAT HE KNEW ABOUT MADMEN.

Forrest was great in many characters, but toward the close of his life he was greater in Lear than in anything else. In private conversation he was quite egotistical on the subject, and did not hesitate to say that he could play Lear better than any other living man. "I have made a special study of madness for twenty years," he said. "I have visited every great lunatic asylum in the world, and I know more about madmen than any other doctor or actor in America." He said he had seen a great many criticisms of his Lear, but he had never seen what he considered a just one. "Some of them talk of me being too loud and strong in the mad act. I used to think so myself until a madman, who was naturally older and weaker than Lear, threw me over his shoulder as he would toss an old broom. It was in an asylum in Paris. I was visiting there, and the superintendent showed me an old, white-headed man, who had been a soldier of the old Napoleon. He seemed to be perfectly quiet and peaceable. I talked to him for some time on a green sward behind the building, where he had been airing himself. He consented to all I said on general topics, and told me his life and history. I began to talk about French politics, and said something against old Napoleon, when suddenly he seized me and threw me into the air. He might have killed me if the keeper hadn't interfered to quiet him. He weighed less than 120 pounds, and was more than seventy years old, and I weighed 180 pounds and was young and active. Ten minutes before or ten minutes afterwards, a child could have knocked him down, but in the ecstasy of his madness he was a giant, and had a giant's strengto. From that day to this I have laughed at these mild and quiet Lears we hear about. They are untrue and unnatural."

SOME QUEER LUNATICS.

"What do you think," said Mr. Forrest, "of my speech in the fourth act, beginning, 'Aye, every inch a king?' I borrowed the make-up and conduct of that act from my observations in European asylums. I have seen, during my travels, at least a dozen madmen whose special mania was a belief that they had been unjustly deprived of a kingship. I saw a man in London who believed he was the rightful George III., and a man in Paris who believed he was Louis XVI. I have also seen a son of Henry Clay's, in Lexington, who believed himself to be a George Washington." "But," said I, "Theodore Clay became insane from disappointed love with a then beautiful young woman, who is now the second wife of a Pennsylvania politician, and why should he know anything about Kings or Presidents?" "Well, he does," said Mr. Forrest. "When once this idea of thwarted ambition gets into their heads, they all act alike, and you would be astonished to see how much a crazy George Washington resembles a crazy George III. I have seen them in the asylums and heard them talk by the hour, and I made up a great deal of my Lear from them by imitating them as closely as I could. I was only afraid at one time that in studying them so closely I would get crazy myself."

The Death Roll—Necrology for 1872.

The year just closed has been remarkable over most of its immediate predecessors for the number of persons who have died in it who were of unusual prominence before the world. A review of the death roll of 1872 would be interesting at this time. It would certainly recall many mournful thoughts inspired during the year, by the sudden taking off of this or that conspicuous public character, and which in the hurry and whirl of our busy lives were necessarily transitory. The great names which naturally occur to us the moment we begin to think of death's doings for the past twelve months are those of Greeley, Seward and Morse. These were our own countrymen, and it is worthy of notice that the old world had no losses of equal value and distinction. It is a curious coincidence that the founders of three leading metropolitan journals should die within five months of each other—Greeley of the Tribune; Bennett of the Herald; and Spalding of the World. A celebrated French journalist, Adolph Gueroult, editor of the Paris Nationale, and a well known American editor, Edward A. Pollard, formerly of the Richmond Examiner, also passed away. Among the distinguished soldiers who passed away were Major-Generals Meade and Halleck, of the regular army, both of them very conspicuous commanders in the late war. Lieutenant-Generals Ewell and Patten Anderson, of the Confederate army; Marshal Forey, of the French army, the man who beat the Austrians at Montebello; Field-Marshal Sir George Pollock, K.C.B., Constable of the Tower, a veteran of the Indian wars, and General Pennefather, another British soldier of renown. Among American statesmen were Seward, ex-Postmaster-General Randall, ex-Minister to Russia Ingersoll; Humphrey Marshall, the rotund and jovial Kentucky Congressman; ex-Senators Wall, of New Jersey; Grimes, of Iowa; Walker, of Wisconsin; Bragg, of North Carolina; Van Winkle, of West Virginia; and Senator Garrett Davis, of Kentucky, over whom eulogies were pronounced last week in the Senate. On the roll of foreign statesmen were Juarez, the President of Mexico; Earl Mayo, Governor-General of India, who was assassinated by a native religious fanatic in that country; Joseph Mazzini, the famous Italian agitator, who was planning another revolution when death quieted his restless brain; the Duke of Persigny, the Third Napoleon's favorite and right-hand man; Sir Henry Bulwer, formerly British Minister at Washington, and recently created Baron Dalling, and Bulwer, brother of the novelist; Lord Lonsdale, late Postmaster-General, and the Duke of Bedford. Royalty suffered in the loss of King Charles XV. of Sweden, a wise and industrious monarch; the Archduke Albrecht of Austria, known in history as "The Victor of Cusbozza;" the Duke of Guise, one of the the younger members of the Orleans family, and Don Angel Itubirde, the son of the first Emperor of Mexico. Among the noted writers of books were Charles Lever, author of "Charles O'Malley" and a host of other Irish novels which have given delight to millions of readers in both hemispheres; D'Aubigne, the famous author of the "History of the Reformation;" Theophile Gautier, the popular Parisian feuilletonist; Professor Halley, of Yale, the Greek and Oriental scholar; Sir John Bowring, who wrote on reform; "Fanny Fern" Parton; Norman McLeod, the theoligical author, and Fullom and Horace Mayhew, the English novelists. In the departments of science and philosophy deaths have been of the illustrious Prof. Morse, inventor of the magnetic telegraph; Feuerbach, the German philosopher; Babinet, the French scientist, and Dr. Francis Lieber, of our own country. Divinity has parted with the Roman Catholic prelates Cardinal Amat, Archbishop Spalding, of Baltimore, and Bishop McGill, of Richmond; the Episcopal, Dr. Francis Vinton, Rector of Trinity church in this city, and the eccentric Methodist, Peter Cartwright Among the actors who have died are, Forrest, the "Nestor" of the American stage; Hackett, the greatest of Falstaffs; Miss O'Neil, the greatest tragic actress in England fifty years ago, who died Lady Wrixon Beecher; Eliza Logan, McKean Buchanan and William H. (Sedley) Smith. Two eminent German tragedians, Bogumil Dawison and Emil Devrient, died in Dresden during the year; the former visited this country in 1869. Among the artists were Westmacott, the English sculptor; Kensett, Sully, Ames and T. Buchanan Reed, who was also celebrated as a poet. The dead lawyers were David Paul Brown, of Philadelphia; Gen. Howard, author of "Howard's United States Supreme Court Reports;" and James R. Whiting, Robert James Dillon, and John H. McCunn, of this city. The composers of music were Lowell Mason and Henry G. Chorley. The millionaires and speculators, James Fisk, Jr., Samuel N. Pike, Erastus Corning, John A. Griswold, and Joseph H. Scranton, the founder of Scranton, Pa. Last and not least among the useful members of society were two great hotel proprietors—Paran Stevens and Simeon Leland.

Localities of Silver.

Experienced miners know very well that silver mines of much value are only found in mountainous regions where the indications of the geologist are beyond a doubt. Volcanic agencies have in some remote period been exerted on a gigantic scale. Thus in Mexico and in the rich silver leads of Utah, the evidences of an upheaval force that elevated extensive ranges of frightfully rugged mountain ridges from profound depths, are so possible as to be admitted at sight, even by those who have no scientific qualifications for guiding them in that conclusion.

It seems that silver is thrown up from a vast depth in the earth, where, from the quantity commingled with rocks in a condition of liquefaction the quantity from which that on the surface was derived must be in great abundance in its primitive state below.

Scarcely more than superficial scratchings characterize silver mining in the West. The deeper the excavations the richer will probably be the product. For thousands of years to come, those bold, hard, bleak Utah mountains will be scenes of human industry and skill in pursuit of that which will make commerce thrive over the whole world.

Partridges are tame enough in Illinois to eat from the hand—when properly cooked.

Curiosities of the Census.

It has already been mentioned in commenting on the census that the six New England States with a white population of 3,445,043 have but 5,421 churches, while the six Southern States upon the Atlantic, with a white population of 3,450,903, or virtually the same, have 11,567 churches; but apart from this amazing revelation there are other items of interesting ecclesiastical information to be gathered from the report. The population of the thirty-seven States is 38,115,641, and the total number of churches for this multitude is 62,522, with 21,395,542 sittings, leaving 16,720,099 of our people apparently unprovided for. The truth is, however, that the population of ten years of age and over amounts to 27,899,535, which leaves but 6,503,993 persons of church age, so to speak, who could find no accommodation should every man, woman, and 10-year old child in the Union be simultaneously moved of a bright Sunday morning to attend religious worship. Still that as many as 6,503,993 persons, or about one-sixth of our entire population, have no church accommodation, is a pregnant reflection for divines. The aggregate value of the church property is $349,619,780. In the Territories and the District of Columbia there are 560 churches, with 269,520 sittings, and a church property worth $4,863,801.

Coming to particular denominations, the disciples of Wesley and Whitefield tower, in point of numbers, above all; the Baptists come next, the Presbyterians next, then the Catholics, the Christians (or Campbellites), the Lutherans, the Congregationalists, the Episcopalians, and the German Reformed, in the order named. The number of churches of these and some other less prominent denominations in 1870, 1860 and 1850 are as follows:

Denominations.	Churches. 1870.	1860.	1850.
Methodist	21,337	19,883	13,302
Baptist	13,962	12,150	9,563
Presbyterian	7,071	6,406	4,858
Catholic	3,806	2,550	1,222
Christian	2,822	2,068	875
Lutheran	2,776	2,128	1,231
Congregational	2,715	2,234	1,725
Episcopal	2,601	2,145	1,459
German Reformed	1,145	676	341
Friends	662	726	726
Universalist	602	664	530
Unitarian	310	264	245
Mormon	171	24	16
Jewish	152	77	36

The several rates of increase or decrease for the two decades are as follows:

	1850-60.	1860-70.
Methodist	.50	.07
Baptist	.27	.15
Presbyterian	.32	.10
Catholic	1.09	.49
Christian	1.36	.36
Lutheran	.73	.30
Congregational	.29	.22
Episcopal	.40	.21
German Reformed	.98	.69
Friends	dec.	.09
Universalist	.25 dec.	.09
Unitarian	.06	.17
Mormon	.50	5.29
Jewish	1.14	.97

It will be seen that none of these denominations, except the Mormon and Unitarian, maintain in the last census decade the rate of increase shown in the one prior. The falling off in the case of the Methodists, the leading denomination in point of numbers in the country, is particularly great—as notable, in fact, as the portentous growth of Mormonism. The wealth of the leading denominations compares as follows:

Denominations.	Churches.	Value.
Methodist	21,337	$69,854,121
Catholic	3,806	60,985,566
Presbyterian	7,071	53,265,256
Baptist	13,962	41,608,198
Episcopal	2,601	36,514,549
Congregational	2,715	25,069,698

It is a comforting deduction from the census that, while we may not build as many churches in proportion as we once did, they are every way more costly and respectable-looking edifices. The plain brick Ebenezer seems giving way to a more ornate structure. The number of churches in 1870 is not yet double the number in 18[illegible] the value of church property no[illegible]mes greater than it was twent[illegible]

Coming [illegible]ect of avocation, the census [illegible] some rare imaginings. Its d[illegible] body forth before us 12,335,17[illegible] women, boys and girls, worki[illegible] dear life at every imaginable [illegible]ion the country through. Two-thirds of the population of the United States are drones, according to the census, for whom the other third toils. How it toils can only be seen in its bewildering completeness in the serried columns of the census report, but here and there a fact—sometimes pathetic, sometimes humorous, but always suggestive—appears even to the hasty glance. One-half of the entire working population is engaged in agricultural pursuits, and of the 2,885,996 agricultural labors 373,332 are women, the brawny helpmates of the Scandinavian settlers of the Northwest or the Southern negress who has not yet laid down the shovel and the hoe to disport at the heels of her sooty lord in the halls of legislation. Among other curious avocations we find forty-five female stock-herders (how savage a calling none know but those who have seen the Texas "cow-boy" dash like lightning here and there through droves of half-wild cattle like a dragon in a charge), 6 female apprentices to barbers, 24 women dentists, 2 female hostlers, 2 female professional hunters and trappers, 5 she-lawyers, 525 she-physicians and surgeons, 67 female clergymen, 2 women scavengers, 7 female sextons, 10 female "canalmen," 196 women draymen, 1 female pilot, 6 female guano laborers, 4 she-gas-stokers, 33 women gunsmiths, 7 female gunpowder makers, and 16 female ship-riggers. Among the men appear 2,512,664 agricultural laborers, 2,995,030 farmers and planters, 1,046 florists, 22,756 barbers, 43,807 clergymen, 40,731 lawyers (an ecclesiastical preponderance sufficient to keep the legal mind down), 61,858 physicians, 1,976 undertakers, 1,144 sextons, 141,774 blacksmiths, 161,485 shoemakers, 152,061 miners, and so on by the army corps ad infinitum.—New York World.

The Catholics.

There are eight counties in Pennsylvania which do not contain a Roman Catholic church edifice. In the whole country there are but 3,806 of these edifices, but they will seat 1,999,515 persons. The Catholic increase for the last ten years is less than that of the preceding ten years. In 1850 there were reported 1,222 edifices, with room for 667,863 persons. In 1860 the numbers were 2,550 edifices and 1,404,437 sittings—more than double in each column. But in 1870 the increase was only a little over one-half in the number of buildings (up to 3,806) and a little over one-third in the accommodations (up to 1,999,515). Nor has there been any greater advance in the value of the properties.

The Lost Diamond.

The brilliants of the jewelers' shops give little or no notion of the appearance of diamonds in the rough. A few specimens are found that are by nature's own hand polished to a degree that shows something of their real beauty, but the majority of these stones are, when found in their native earth, covered with an uninviting crust which obscures their real character.

The diamonds of Brazil were for years thrown away by the gold-miners, who had no idea of what they were losing until taught by a traveler who had visited the diamond mines of India.

So, in the gold mines of Georgia, it is highly probable that many diamonds were found which were prized only as pretty pebbles, and consequently thrown away, or kept only for a time as curiosities. It is said that a few stones found when the mines were in full operation, some twenty or more years ago, were actually proved to be diamonds, and there is every reason to believe that the statement is true; not merely because of the frequent associations of diamonds with gold, but from the fact that in the Georgia gold region an immense ledge of itacolumite has been discovered. This itacolunite is a sort of elastic sandstone, which is recognized as the matrix of the diamond. But to our story:

A gentleman who was employed as overseer in a mine near Gainesville fre[illegible]ntly noticed "pretty stones" or peb[illegible] in the sands of the pannings for gold. When the day's work was over, he w[illegible] take some of these home to his wife, [illegible] in turn gave them to the children [illegible]ythings, and they were thus genera[illegible]t. Some of the larger ones were sa[illegible] for the time being, but no value was attached to them, and, as the sequel shows, they ultimately shared the fate of the others. The largest one of these stones was found in one of the pits by the same gentleman, who was working in the place of a sick hand, and no sooner found than lost. Being hard pushed to keep the wheelbarrows filled with the gold-gravel, so as to furnish constant work for the washers, he laid the stone on the bank by a gum-tree, intending to take it home at night, as being the largest of the "pretty stones" yet found. When night came, tired and hurried, he forgot all about it, and the stone was lost before he thought of looking for it again.

Soon after this occurrence, the mining operations at that place were discontinued, his family were separated by the death of his wife, and he went into business in a Southern city.

In about twelve years from that time he was shown a rough diamond, and at once decided that the stones he had found at the Gainesville gold mine were the same precious mineral. He sought his daughter, who had become possessed of the household effects which were brought from the mining district, but she had no knowledge of the stones that had been gathered. They were gone. He went to the mine, and looked long and anxiously for the stone by the gum-tree. No tree was there. The ground had been cleared and cultivated in corn for ten years. In vain he looked for any sign of the place. All traces of the spot he sought had vanished. For weeks and months he searched; he dug, and scraped, and washed the gravel, but to no purpose; the stone could not again be found.

From his description of its character, there are strong probabilities that this stone was a diamond, and, being as he said, about as large as a "guinea-egg," would, if perfect, have been valued, if the old rules should have been followed, at about $10,000,000.—Appleton's Journal.

Historical Items.

The first steamship that ever crossed the Atlantic was the Savannah, from Savannah, Ga., to Liverpool, in 1819. She sailed from Savannah on May 12, but her fuel having been consumed in ten days, she did not reach Liverpool until June 22. On April 23, 1828, the English steam packets, Great Western and Sirius, arrived in New York, commencing a new and expeditious mode of intercourse between England and America. The Great Western, measuring 1,340 tons, made the passage in fourteen days and a half, against head wind and a rough sea. Each of the three vessels above named were paddle or side-wheelers. The fastest passage from New York to Queenstown was made by the Cunard vessel Russia, the time a little short of eight days. The best time from Queenstown to New York was by the White Star vessel Adriatic, in seven days, eighteen hours, and fifty-five minutes. The vessels are generally timed to Queenstown and Liverpool.

The Jews have been long settled in England. There is mention of them as early as A. D. 750. William the Conqueror encouraged them to settle in the land of his conquest. Numbers of Jews resided at Oxford, A. D. 1076. They enjoyed considerable favor under the first three Norman kings, during which period they doubtless laid the foundation of their subsequent wealth. After the reign of King John they suffered much persecution, and were eventually banished from the country in 1294. They continued in legal exile for 357 years; but Cromwell allowed them to return in 1655, and in the same year erected their first synagogue in King-street, Duke's Place, London, and in 1664 founded a school called "The Tree of Life."

Thanksgiving Day in this country came in with the Puritans, who brought it from England, although it may be said to have originated among the Jews. It is quite apparent in the song of Moses and the dancing of Miriam, recorded in the 15th chapter of Exodus. The Psalms are suggestive of thanksgivings. But among the Puritans thanksgivings were ordered upon every small success, so that they became exceedingly common.

Recent discoveries in the South African Republic of Transvaal have led to the supposition that at one time the east coast of South Africa was inhabited by a race of men who were in the enjoyment of great wealth and far advanced in the arts of civilization. The ruins of several buried cities, which have been discovered and partially explored, have yielded specimens of ancient architecture which were evidently the work of a civilized and refined people.

LIST OF DELINQUENT TAXES,
Lands and Town Lots
WITHIN THE
COUNTY OF DeKALB AND STATE OF IND'A.

Returned Delinquent by the Treasurer thereof, for the Taxes of the year 1871 including the Interest and Penalty thereon, and also the Taxes for the year 1872.

BUTLER TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Bell Jacob, heirs of	w. pt of s. e. qr.	7	33	12	100	00	880	880	15 60	9 32	45	25 37
Carnahan Clara L.	s. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	19	33	12	40	78	200	200	3 29	2 12	45	5 86
Feagler Henry	in n. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	12	33	12	3	00	80	80	1 28	84	45	2 57
Fair Wm. H.	pt. of e. ½ of s. e. qr.	14	33	12	78	72	831	831	8 24	8 80	45	17 49
Leister Lefanus	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	12	74	76	704	704	11 59	7 46	45	19 50
Simon Peter	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	33	33	12	80	00	840	840	13 84	8 90	45	23 19
Wyant J. P.	in s. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	16	33	12	2	50	307	307	13 89	8 55	45	22 89
same	pt. of s. e. qr.	16	33	12	154	64	1250	1250	20 61	13 25	45	34 31

JACKSON TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Bowser J. C.	w. pt. [illegible] ½ of s. e. qr.	31	33	13	25	00	40	40	61	48	45	1 54
same	s. e. ¼ [illegible] n. e. qr.	31	33	13	40	00	120	120	1 87	1 44	45	3 76
Bison W. H.	e. ½ of s. e. qr	11	33	13	80	00	400	400	6 36	4 80	45	11 61
Feagler Henry	n. end of w. ½ of n. e. qr	7	33	13	17	68	1864	1864	4 43	22 36	45	27 24
George John	[illegible] of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	33	13	73	25	1570	1570	13 68	18 84	45	32 97
Hanna Oliver S.	[illegible] ½ of s. e. qr.	11	33	13	40	00	160	160	2 58	1 92	45	4 90
same	[illegible] ½ of n. w. ¼	14	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 92	45	4 25
Hanna Wm. W.	[illegible] w. ½ of n. e. qr.	22	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 44	45	3 77
Jones Sarah	[illegible] e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	3	33	13	40	00	80	80	1 26	96	45	2 67
McClellan Wm.	[illegible] ½ of n. e. qr.	3	33	13	80	00	1218	1218	20 24	16 86	45	37 55
Porter Wm. O.	und ½ of n. w. qr.	27	33	13	160	00	960	960	7 51	11 52	90	19 98
same	und ½ of s. w. qr.
Porter Daniel W.	und 1-3 of n. w. qr.
same	und 1-3 of s. w. qr.	27	33	13	80	00	480	480	4 29	5 76	10	40 95

CONCORD TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Dawson John W.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	20	33	14	80	00	567	567	10 30	8 56	45	19 31
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	33	33	14	71	10	671	671	12 20	10 13	45	22 78
same	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	21	33	14	80	00	710	710	12 91	10 72	45	24 08
Hanna Horace H.	s fracnl of s. w. qr	12	33	14	7	85	20	20	76	30	45	1 51
Hewey Thomas H.	n. w. ¼ of n. w. qr,	20	33	14	40	00	332	332	1 60	5 0	45	7 06
Johnson Thomas	w. ½ ol s. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	14	40	00	277	277	97	4 18	45	5 60
Mease John	n. ½ of n. w. qr	3	33	14	73	20	440	440	4 34	6 64	45	11 43
same	n. ½ of n. e. qr.	4	33	14	73	93	430	430	4 25	6 49	45	11 19
Place Susan	in s. e. cor. of s. ½ of s. e. qr.	1	33	14	1	00	20	20	76	30	45	1 51
Rex Joseph M.	pt. e. ½ of n. e. qr.	13	33	14	73	00	1654	1654	26 48	24 97	45	51 90

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Andrew J. A.	n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	40	923	923	21 25	13 01	45	34 71
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	33	15	78	50	1560	1560	33 59	21 99	45	56 03
same	n. w. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	00	600	600	12 94	8 46	45	21 85
Bally & Smith	n. fracnl of n. e. qr.	5	33	15	69	50	620	620	13 37	8 74	45	22 56
Bartlett Silas H.	s. pt. of s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr.	6	33	15		70	410	410	58 56	5 78	45	64 7
Hodge Mary P.	s. side of mid 1-3	4	33	15	26	09	227	227	4 89	3 20	45	8 59
Hawkins Wm. H.	n. pt. of mid. 1-3 of sec.	4	33	15	50	00	653	653	13 56	9 20	45	23 24
Johnson Sarah E.	in s. w. qr.	6	33	15		67	28	28	59	39	45	1 41
Kirkbirde G. W.	in s. ½ of n. w. fracnl qr.	6	33	15	3	00	20	20	33 38	28	45	34 13
McGonigal Susan	in section	6	33	15		86	170	170	19 22	2 39	45	22 01
Mogie Simon heirs of	in n. e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	6	33	15		15	50	50	1 06	70	45	2 26

STAFFORD TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Coats & Petty	s. w. cor. of s. w. qr.	28	34	15	20	08	1900	1900	16 20	25 84	45	42 49
Loveland John P.	n. ½ of s. e. qr.	31	34	15	79	00	954	954	15 16	12 97	45	28 58
Richmond Wm.	off n. side of n. ½ of s. e. qr.	18	34	15	40	00	1351	1351	13 86	19 37	45	33 68
Stoy Levi	n. w. ¼ of s. w qr.	17	34	15	40	00	615	615	7 18	8 36	45	15 96

WILMINGTON TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Aldrich Jason D.	pt of s. e. qr.	3	34	14		20	105	105	2 96	1 58	45	4 99
Allen Wm.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	34	34	14	80	00	1168	1168	69 76	19 13	45	89 34
same	pt. of n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	34	34	14	20	00	78	78	9 66	1 17	45	11 30
Blackwell Catharine	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	80	80	5 51	1 20	45	7 16
Blaker Wm.	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	30	80	13 97	45	45	14 87
Buchanan Frederick T.	in s. w. qr.	12	34	14		20	220	220	51	4 82	45	5 78
Brown Wm.	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	31	34	14	76	00	873	873	2 18	13 27	45	15 90
Cutting David	in s. w. qr.	1	34	14		32	55	55	97	83	45	2 25
Casebeer George	in n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	512	512	18 63	9 23	45	28 31
Coats Noyes	e. ½ of s. e. qr.	45	34	14	80	00	1519	1510	15 50	22 80	45	38 75
Drake C. M.	s. w. qr.	7	34	14	140	00	420	420	11 90	6 34	45	18 69
Fosdick E. W.	pt. of s. w. qr.	1	34	14		40	110	110	3 67	1 66	45	5 78
Freeborn J. H.	off s. side of s. e. qr.	24	34	14	60	00	730	730	32 92	11 03	45	44 39
Franks David	in n. w. qr.	28	34	14	55	00	565	565	40 60	8 53	45	49 58
Gingrish Samuel	mid pt of e. ½ of n. w. qr.	18	34	14	15	00	90	60	8 76	90	45	10 11
Huffman John A.	in n. e. cor. of n. w. qr.	12	34	14	3	00	105	105	36 69	1 58	45	38 72
Hale Marshall	in n. w. cor of n. e. ½ n. w. qr	12	34	14	1	00	300	300	19 47	4 53	45	24 45
Hoopingarner John J.	pt of s. e. qr.	2	34	14		20	270	270	24 05	4 07	45	28 57
Hale D. C.	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	29	34	14	80	00	820	820	23 24	12 38	45	36 07
Hunter Jefferson	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	30	34	14	80	00	900	900	35 48	18 00	45	54 62
Jones Wm. I.	pt of n. e. ¼ of n. w. qr,	12	34	14	15	00	361	361	8 62	6 96	45	16 02
John Asa	s. w. ¼ of n. w. qr.	20	34	14	40	00	260	260	15 60	3 92	45	19 97
Jaques Warren	s. e. ¼ of n. e. qr.	10	34	14	40	00	1027	1027	6 05	17 50	45	24 00
Kester Alonzo A.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	29	34	14	80	00	308	308	8 73	4 65	45	13 83
Kaliner Charles	s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr.	25	34	14	40	00	413	413	10 68	7 73	45	18 86
Linderfer Henry	pt of s. w. qr	1	34	14	2	40	709	709	34 73	13 20	45	48 38
Lower Wm. S.	s. e. ¼ of s. w. qr	24	34	14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	460	11 34	6 04	45	17 83
Lackey John A.	s. [illegible] pt of n. w. qr	11	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1012	3 65	16 79	45	20 89
Leonard Eugene	in [illegible] qr	12	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1130	34 02	17 06	45	51 53
Mosier & Hopkins	in [illegible] of s. w. qr	1	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	70	13 09	1 05	45	14 59
Monghler George	in s. e. cor of n. e. ¼ of n. e. qr	10	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	15	17 00	22	45	17 67
Monghler Jacob	n. w. pt of s. w. qr	13	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1704	44 54	27 23	45	72 22
same	s. w. pt of s. w. qr.	13	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	200	5 67	3 02	45	9 14
Moore Aaron D.	pt of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	528	14 97	7 97	45	23 39
Mease John	pt of e. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1315	14 97	19 85	45	35 27
Mease Laura E.	pt of e. side of w ½ of sw qr	25	34	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	385	10 91	5 81	45	17 17
Norford James M.	in s. e. qr	2	34	14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	738	5 94	13 64	45	20 03
Norris Susan	n. e ¼ of n. e. qr	10	34	14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	306	8 67	4 62	45	13 74
Nelson Levi,	s. ½ of e. ½ of n. w. qr	19	34	14	[illegible]	[illegible]	245	245	6 93	3 69	45	11 07
Reese Hambright	s. w. pt of n. w. ¼ of n. w qr	12	34	14		60	313	213	5 67	4 21	45	10 33
Scott Abraham	in s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	60	60	1 60	90	45	3 04
same	in n. e. ¼ of n. w. qr	12	34	14		20	200	200	5 68	3 02	45	9 15
Smith John	in s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	515	515	16	9 27	45	9 88
Shaffer Isaac	s. w. ¼ of n. w. qr	17	34	14	40	00	398	398	17 13	7 50	45	25 08
Unknown owner	n. w. cor of n. w. ¼ of s. w qr	35	34	14	3	75	16	16	1 59	24	45	2 28
Weil Sylvanus	pt of s. w. q.	1	34	14		20	110	110	27	1 66	45	2 38
Wilson Wm. C.	in s ½ of s. e. qr	2	34	14		32	15	15	97	22	45	1 64
Whitman Adam	pt of n. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	35	34	14	36	25	280	280	1 27	4 22	45	5 94
Weiss Gottfried	s. e. ¼ of s. e qr	26	34	14	40	00	790	790	16 72	11 92	45	29 09
Young George W. & Co.	pt of s. w. qr	1	34	14		20	90	90	6 14	1 35	45	7 94

UNION TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Bassett Sanford	in section	4	34	13	26	22	2103	2103	41 00	31 15	45	73 06
same	pt of s. e. qr	4	34	13
Bemanderfer John	pt of s. e. qr	4	34	13	4	00	70	70	1 97	98	45	3 40
Brandon Jacob	in mid pt of s. w. qr	32	34	13	20	00	820	820	1 69	11 56	45	13 70
Colvin O. H.	in mid pt of n w ¼ s w qr	3	34	13		25	62	62	1 74	87	45	3 06
Clutter George W.	pt of n ½ of s e qr	5	34	13	60	00	842	842	23 46	13 37	45	37 28
Cross Susannah	in n e cor of s e ¼ of s e qr	5	34	13	1	00	20	20	1 54	28	45	2 27
Grate Isaac	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	00	103	103	11 01	1 45	45	12 91
Gloyd & Bowser	s e ½ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	240	240	6 80	3 38	45	10 63
same	n ½ of n e qr	13	34	13	80	00	640	640	18 14	9 02	45	27 61
Hale & Berry	in s w qr	3	34	13		40	1366	1366	205 66	19 26	45	225 37
Hamilton Arthur	in mid pt of s e ¼ of s e qr	3	34	13		25	108	108	1 63	1 52	45	3 60
Hanna Charles	s w ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	n e ¼ of s e qr	22	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
same	e ½ of s w qr	23	34	13	80	00	560	560	15 87	7 89	45	24 21
same	s w ¼ of s w qr	23	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Hanna Hugh T.	n e ¼ of n e qr	24	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Jarvis & Crane	w side of w ½ of sw ¼ of se qr	3	34	13	13	60	1700	1700	16 77	23 97	45	41 19
Johnson & Davis	in s e pt of s e ¼ of n w qr	15	34	13	3	50	1035	1035	29 83	14 59	45	44 37
Kester A. A.	in mid of s e qr	4	34	13	1	00	41	41	6 99	57	45	8 01
Kryder Fred.	s e ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
Kuhlman George	n pt of s w qr.	21	34	13	66	00	528	528	14 96	7 44	45	22 85
same	s ½ of n w qr	24	34	13	80	00	660	660	18 71	9 30	45	28 46
Killing Henry	in e mid pt of w ¼ of sec qr	32	34	13		20	110	110	3 11	1 55	45	5 11
Lock Thomas	n e ¼ of s e qr	12	34	13	40	00	370	370	10 48	5 21	45	16 14
Mason L. S.	in n e ¼ of s e qr	4	34	13		50	233	233	19 08	3 28	45	22 81
Patterson Wm.	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	3	00	36	36	1 52	50	45	2 47
Roby A. & P. A.	s w pt of n e qr	3	34	13		20	228	228	6 46	3 21	45	10 12
Randall Hiram T.	mid pt of s ½ of s e qr	22	34	13	17	78	136	136	11 03	1 91	45	13 39
Smith Isaiah	in s w cor of s e qr	3	34	13		50	43	43	7 26	60	45	8 31
Smith John L.	in s e qr	4	34	13		50	87	87	14 91	1 22	45	16 58
Shaffer Jacob B.	pt of s e qr	4	34	13	2	00	178	178	4 44	2 50	45	7 39
Shirts Albert B.	in n w qr	4	34	13	2	00	81	81	7 45	2 64	45	10 54
Trout Geo. W.	in section	4	34	13		50					45
same	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	25	133	133	3 76	1 70	90	6 53

RICHLAND TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Dove Cornelia M.	n w ¼ of s w qr	33	34	12	40	00	160	160	2 40	2 25	45	5 10
Earl Robert J.	off w end of e ½ of n e qr	4	34	12		50	30	30	1 57	42	45	2 44
Farrington A. S.	in s e ¼ of n e qr	2	34	12	2	75	40	40	60	65	45	1 70
Hosler Caroline	n e pt of s w ¼ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	50	150	150	9 54	2 11	45	12 10
Hornburger Isaac	in w side of n e qr	4	34	12		50	140	140	2 45	1 97	45	4 87
Helmer John W.	in n ½ of n w qr	4	34	12		15	10	10	1 45	14	45	2 04
Hughes Elizabeth	off n end of e ½ of s e qr	32	34	12	60	00	286	286	9 19	4 03	45	13 67
Kryder and Earl	in n e cor of s ½ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	00	65	65	40 21	91	45	41 57
Miller Peter	pt of s e ¼ of n e qr	2	34	12	17	00	289	289	5 08	4 07	45	9 60
Mohler Doratha M.	pt of n w qr	4	34	12		64	140	140	11 24	1 97	45	13 66
same	in s w cor of n e qr	4	34	12		75	140	140	5 77	1 97	45	8 19
Powell Levi B.	e ½ of e ½ of n w qr	27	34	12	40	00	702	702	7 68	12 39	45	20 52
Randall Milton	in w ½ of n w qr	1	34	12	1	00	55	55	2 05	77	45	3 27
Tompkins Alvira	in s e ¼ of of n w qr	4	34	12		20	15	15	2 16	21	45	2 82
Wagnts Jacob	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	12	40	00	170	170	7 74	2 39	45	10 58

FAIRFIELD TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Hanna Wm. W.	s w ¼ of n w qr	8	35	12	40	00	80	80	1 43	93	45	2 8
Howser Samuel	s end of w ½ of s w qr	14	35	12	30	00	205	205	3 81	2 37	45	6 60
Hardman Leonard	in n pt of s w qr	26	35	12	20	50	38	38	68	44	45	1 58
Klaber Henry	n e cor of n w qr	22	35	12		20	55	55	4 31	63	45	5 37
Miller Josiah & Barbara	pt of s ½ of n w qr	5	35	12	75	40	1000	1000	18 19	11 60	45	30 24
Myers Eli	und 2-3 of n e ½ of s w qr	20	35	12	26	60	290	290	5 36	3 36	45	9 06
Reynolds Jerome	n w cor of n e qr	22	35	12		25	278	278	10 08	4 22	45	14 75
Row Jacob G.	pt of n ½ of n e qr	26	35	12	70	00	730	730	13 34	9 46	45	23 25
Reinoehl Jacob	in n e qr	27	35	12	80	00	1200	1200	47 02	15 18	45	62 65
Reinoehl Wm. W.	e ½ of n e ¼ of n e qr	27	35	12	30	00	250	250	4 54	2 90	45	7 89
Row Isaiah	in s e cor of n e ½ of n e qr	26	35	12	10	00	45	65	2 30	75	45	3 50
Short A. W.	in w ½ of n e qr	[illegible]	[illegible]	12	73	00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible] 11	[illegible] 23	45	[illegible] 79 same	n e ½ of s w qr	[illegible]	[illegible]	12	40	00	420	420	7 64	4 87	45	13 [illegible]
same	und [illegible] of e ½ of n w qr	[illegible]	[illegible]	12	80	00	500	500	9 08	5 80	45	15 34
same	s e pt of s e qr	[illegible]	[illegible]	12		25	[illegible]	165	2 98	1 91	45	5 34
Van [illegible]	e ½ of n e qr	[illegible]	[illegible]	12	80	00	[illegible]	[illegible]	11 34	12 17	45	24 16

SMITHFIELD TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Easley Frederick	in s w cor of n w qr	8	35	13	4	00	1042	1042	11 [illegible]	15 17	45	27 42
Ellinwood Joseph	s w ¼ of s w qr	36	35	13	40	00	593	593	19 97	8 06	45	28 48
Gramling Peter	n e ¼ of n w qr	10	35	13	40	00	536	536	11 13	8 28	45	19 86
Hanna Samuel S.	s e ¼ of s e qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of s w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	w ½ of n e qr	12	35	13	80	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
Hanna Hugh T.	s w ¼ of n w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s w ¼ of n e qr	12	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of n w qr	12	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
Hanna Eliza	s e qr	12	35	13	160	00	320	320	5 45	4 35	45	10 25
same	n ½ of n w qr	13	35	13	80	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
same	s e ¼ of s e qr	14	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of n w qr	18	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 08	45	2 88
Mead Harlan P.	in s w cor of n w qr	23	35	13	68	80	974	974	4 08	15 24	45	19 77

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Albright Margaret	mid pt of s e qr	31	35	14	34	00	516	516	7 95	7 27	45	15 67
Clark Edward	s e ½ of n e	12	35	14	40	00	744	744	13 68	11 49	45	25 52
Hanna Henry C.	w ½ of n w qr	7	35	14	62	82	180	180	2 39	2 25	45	5 09
Loutzenhiser Isaac	pt of w ½ of s w qr	5	35	14	60	60	288	288	5 67	4 06	45	10 18
Robinson John S.	pt of s w cor of s w ¼ of s e qr	1	35	14	2	58	189	189	6 40	5 16	45	12 01
Rohrabaugh Adam	e ½ of n w qr	31	35	14	80	00	1016	1016	14 81	14 22	45	29 68
same	s w ¼ of s w qr	21	35	14	40	00	320	320	5 75	4 51	45	10 71
Slentz John R.	s e cor of s w ¼ of s e qr	1	35	14	5	24	90	90	2 62	2 76	45	5 83

TROY TOWNSHIP.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinqu'nt tax penalty & in't.	Amount of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
Zull John	s ½ of n w qr	9	35	15	63	47	267	267	4 69	2 96	45	8 10

Town Lots.

NEW ERA.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Wyant John P.	2				110	110	1 93	1 16	45	3 54

ORANGEVILLE.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Andrew W. P. & J. A.	112				35	35	63	52	45	1 60
Andrews, Hamilton & Co	110
same	111
same	114
same	115
same	116
same	117				3030	3030	18 37	45 75	2 70	66 82

SPENCERVILLE.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Monroe Wm.	33 s. ¼	O. P.			56	56	1 01	84	45	2 30
same	34 s. ¼	O. P.			96	96	1 75	1 44	45	3 64

VIENNA.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Bartlett Silas H.	61				10	118	3 13	3 34	45	6 92
Bartlett Alvira A.	27				70	70	33	98	45	1 76
same	26				60	60	1 50	84	45	2 79
same	28				16	16	1 27	22	45	1 94
Miller John N.	63 n pt				90	149	2 38	2 10	45	4 88
Newville Hotel Co	60				415	415	8 94	5 85	45	15 24
same	61 s e ½ of				40	40	85	56	45	1 86
Rex Joseph	14				110	110	2 37	1 55	45	4 37
same	47 pt of				500	500	10 76	7 05	45	18 26
Thompson J. F.	51 n w ½				9	305	4 52	6 05	45	11 02
same	58				160	160	3 44	2 25	45	6 14
Yeagley A. J.	83 s pt of				106	106	9 43	1 49	45	11 37
same	87 s pt of				3	3	2 44	04	45	2 93

BUTLER.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Aldrich Jacob	84	R. A.			250	250	18 01	4 15	45	22 61
Arford Robert	81	R. A.			165	155	8 90	2 57	45	11 92
Boon J. H.	68 e pt of	R. A.			100	182	50 41	4 77	45	55 63
Blaker John	38	R. A.			100	415	7 68	9 63	45	17 76
Barnett J. S.	69	R. A.			220	1160	7 04	22 00	45	29 49
Boyer Daniel H.	2 n ½	D. A.			75	638	12 40	12 25	45	25 10
same	3	D. A.			450	450	12 78	7 47	45	20 70
Carpenter Geo. W.	148	R. 2d A.			400	525	11 34	8 71	45	20 50
Carr John, sen.	17	D. A.			30	30	84	49	45	1 78
same	16 s pt	D. A.			100	125	3 53	2 07	45	6 05
Carpenter Catharine A.	147	R 2d A			330	330	11 33	5 47	45	17 25
Champion John T.	79	R 2d A			90	164	6 11	4 47	45	11 03
Duel John L.	66	n w pt D A			200	200	19 83	3 32	45	23 60
Fisher Isaac	107	R. A.			115	159	2 03	5 38	45	7 86
Farrier Andrew	4 s pt	D. A.			230	239	6 51	3 81	45	10 77
Freburn John H.	59	D. A.			40	40	1 61	66	45	2 72
same	60	D. A.			205	205	6 80	3 40	45	10 65
Fanning F. W.	1	T. A.		8	310	619	13 03	12 02	45	25 50
Gordon M. B.	14 s pt	N. A.			220	230	6 23	3 73	45	10 41
Hall John	8	T. A.		1	180	396	13 02	6 57	45	20 04
Keefer Sarah J.	88	D. A.			140	555	4 94	9 21	45	14 60
Killmyer Chas	Out Lot				85	85	5 05	1 41	45	6 91
Kenon Michael	116	R. A.			30	30	7 69	49	45	8 63
Knisaley Ruhana	3	T. A.		4	260	260	7 38	4 31	45	12 12
Maxwell Geo. W.	57	D. A.			410	630	14 16	13 20	45	27 81
same	56	D. A.			40	40	1 68	66	45	2 79
McNall John	117	R. 2d A.			30	30	84	49	45	1 78
Madden John A.	39	D. A.			150	263	8 90	4 36	45	13 71
M. S. & N. I. R. R.	59	W pt	O. P.		30	30	45	49	45	1 39
same	127		O. P.		162	162	33	2 68	45	3 46
McIntyre Wm.	119 e ½	R. A.			20	20	3 11	33	45	3 89
same	120	R. A.			35	35	2 54	58	45	3 57
same	121	R. A.			115	212	7 38	5 26	45	13 09
Noel Nicholas	13 pt of n A.				70	70	1 97	1 16	45	3 58
Oberlin R.	61	D. A.			340	396	14 43	8 32	45	23 20
Oberlin Philip	74	R. A.			210	432	12 89	8 92	45	22 26
Plumley Alfred R.	1 mid pt	T. A.			65	165	1 83	4 48	45	6 76
Peck Carrie N.	130 R. 2d	A.			75	75	2 11	1 24	45	3 80
Pillsbury Nehemiah	8	P. A.			22	64	2 24	3 81	45	6 50
Prosser Wm. S.	Out Lot				225	262	10 75	6 09	45	17 29
Plotner Samuel B.	41	D. A.			105	105	4 13	1 74	45	6 32
Shoaff Daniel W.	110	R. A.			135	135	3 90	2 24	45	6 59
Stephens Lyda A.	93	R. A.			85	110	2 40	1 82	45	4 67
Strow Menerva J.	14	D. A.			175	175	4 95	2 90	45	8 30
Snively J. R.	88	R. D.			100	249	14 15	5 88	45	20 48
Thomas Wm. H.	7	T. A.		4	100	100	8 30	1 66	45	10 41
Tegardner A. W.	8 mid pt	D. E.			200	200	12 55	3 32	45	16 32
Tomlinson W. W.	3 mid pt	T. A.		1	230	265	26 91	7 14	45	34 50
Weiss Charles	Out Lot				55	485	4 66	9 80	45	14 91
Wells W. S.	Out Lot				120	120	3 40	1 99	45	5 84
Wyckoff Peter Q	10 n pt	D. A.			375	375	23 13	6 22	45	29 80

AUBURN.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Beck Wm.	191	O. P			30	30	2 55	42	45	3 42
same	209	O. P			20	20	1 90	28	45	2 63
Buss Christian, heirs of	73	W A			150	150	3 65	2 11	45	6 21
same	74	W A			60	60	1 44	84	45	2 73
same	9	W A			400	400	7 93	5 64	45	14 02
Bum Margaret	13	R. A			20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
same	14	R. A			20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
Ellis W. P.	206	O. P			10	10	1 66	14	45	2 25
Eckenburg John	160	O. P.			160	175	3 89	2 46	45	6 80
same	225	O. P.			25	25	60	35	45	1 40
Fair Christena	93 n ½	O. P.			240	932	5 83	13 14	45	19 42
same	140 n ½ lf w ½	O. P.			70	70	1 69	98	45	3 12
Gestenslager Mary C.	33	R. A.			110	110	23	1 55	45	2 23
Lowry Wm. A.	46	O. P.			250	325	8 17	6 08	45	14 70
Long Michael	226	O. P.			10	10	1 63	14	45	2 22
Lung Noah	4	O. P.			30	30	71	42	45	1 58
Lauferty Samuel	17	R. A.			220	2335	48	35 42	45	36 35
Moore John	152	W A.			25	39	22 75	54	45	23 74
Park W.	199	O. P.			20	20	13 43	23	45	14 16
Showalter Jacob	9	K A.			20	30	1 38	1 92	45	3 75
Weaver David	45	W A.			30	30	2 55	42	45	3 41
Zern Abraham	120 00	O. P.			300	322	7 72	5 54	45	13 72

WATERLOO.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Anthony Mary	119	Hor 1st A.			250	250	10 23	3 90	45	14 58
same	155 n ½	Hor. 1st A.			85	85	2 48	1 32	45	4 25
Aldrich M. R.	75	O. P.			308	308	13 75	4 80	45	19 00
Bell & Emerson	218	Hor. A.			25	25	74 00	39	45	74 84
Blattner Adolphus W.	30 n 1-3	O. P.			1583	1583	83 64	24 69	45	108 78
Berry James L.	27 n ½	O. P.			278	292	3 06	6 30	45	9 81
Best James I.	35	L. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	36	L. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	37	L. A.			533	533	16 00	8 31	45	24 76
Corbett Artemon	71	O. P.			320	320	14 60	4 99	45	20 04
Cassner Elijah S.	47	Hop. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Cole Sarah A.	37	J. F. & C. A.			41	41	5 15	63	45	6 23
Fisher John	24	Hop. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Hamil Mary	60	O. P.			366	427	10 99	6 66	45	18 10
Henning Jennie	250	Hor. 2d A.			24	24	1 09	37	45	1 91
Jarvis & Frothingham	35	O. P.			200	200	6 00	3 12	45	9 57
same	2	F. 2d A.			133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Kennedy Josiah	33	F 1st A.			175	175	5 25	2 73	45	8 43
Lockhart Mary E.	22	L 1st A.			350	350	10 51	5 46	45	16 42
Lonutezenhiser R	23	L 1st A.			233	259	9 74	5 79	45	15 98
Lock Thomas	6	Hop. A.			350	475	9 39	7 41	45	17 25
same	7	Hop. A			66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
same	15	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	16	pt of hop. a.			8	8	97	12	45	1 54
same	22	Hop. A.			70	70	2 09	1 09	45	3 63
same	190	Hor. 2d A.			91	91	7 22	1 41	45	9 08
same	8	Hop. A.			50	50	1 49	78	45	2 30
Leavitt	14	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 72
same	17	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	23	Hop B.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
McClary Laura E	206	Hor. 1st A.			66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
Miller Lydia A.	109	s pt Hor. 1st A			208	208	14 43	3 24	45	18 12
same	110	und ½ Hor. 1st A			266	266	9 60	4 14	45	14 19
McBride Emily L.	13	B. & M. A			129	129	3 87	2 01	45	6 33
Moody Mary E.	232	Hor. 3d A.			50	50	13 00	78	45	14 23
Middleton Wm.	203	Hor. 2d A			50	50	1 49	78	45	2 72
Mason Elmira C,	9	F. & J. A.			320	320	9 61	4 99	45	15 05
Miller Oliver	198	Hor. 2d A.			103	103	6 41	1 60	45	8 46
Radcliff Mary F.	1	Haw. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
Walker James I.	34 w ½	O. P.			133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Williamson Norris	216	Hor. 2d A.			33	33	6 99	51	45	7 95
Zwilling Henry	197	Hor. 2d A.			266	266	7 98	4 14	45	12 57

UNION TOWN.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Colegrove M. D.	11	O. P.			26	26	77	40	45	1 62
same	12	O. P.			114	114	3 42	1 77	45	5 64
Long B. B.	28	O. P.			31	21	92	48	45	1 85
Wareham George	10	O. P.			88	121	5 50	3 63	45	9 58

LAWRENCE.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Alleman Samuel M.	72	O. P.			240	474	4 77	8 18	45	12 80
Brandt Jane C.	65	O. P.			115	118	4 83	1 82	45	6 89
Green Lyman	[illegible]	O. P.			240	240	15 55	3 38	45	19 38

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Miller Peter	29 w ½	J. A.			50	50	87	70	45	2 02
same	30	J. A.			300	381	9 09	8 37	45	[illegible] 91
same	19	J. A.			30	30	49	42	45	1 36
same	35	J. A.			30	30	51	42	45	[illegible] 38
Odell James	57	O. P.			15	220	2 83	3 10	45	6 39

CORUNNA.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax or the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
Bartlett & Bartlett	Mill Lot				1600	1630	60 94	22 56	45	83 95
Boughman Henry A	5	Orrs A.			115	115	2 01	1 62	45	4 08
Beaty Samuel	3	"			80	80	66 39	42	45	67 26
Depew Joseph	1 n pt	Mc 1st A			200	200	11 93	2 82	45	15 20
Earnest Henry N.	67	O. P.			75	277	7 68	5 40	45	13 54
Earl Robert J.	1 pt of	Mc 1st A			15	15	2 32	21	45	2 99
Fisher Esther A.	4	O. P.			130	130	8 07	3 11	45	11 63
Harding & Smith	4	O. P.			36	36	60	49	45	1 54
Heckathorn H. L.	9 w pt	T. A.			215	215	3 78	3 03	45	7 26
Hammond, Brant & Co.	2	O. P.			810	810	50 70	11 42	45	62 57
same	3	O. P.			10	10	2 37	14	45	2 96
same	4	O. P.			10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	5	O. P.			10	10	2 16	14	45	2 75
same	6	O. P.			10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	7	O. P.			10	10	2 16	14	45	2 75
same	8	O. P.			10	10	77 62	14	45	78 21
same	76	O. P.			75	75	13 99	1 05	45	15 45
Marsh Chauncy G.	1	Orrs A			670	670	70 89	9 44	45	80 78
Masters Moses B.	4	Orrs A			155	155	2 72	2 18	45	5 35
Smith Geo W. A	30	O. P.			115	115	2 01	1 62	45	4 08
Steward Maria	12	M 2d A			95	95	3 69	1 33	45	5 47
Shook Martin	3	M 3d A			75	75	15 13	1 05	45	16 63
Tarney Nathan	3	Top A			530	530	9 32	7 47	45	17 24
Waters Cyntha E.	4	Mc 2d A.			105	105	16 95	1 48	45	18 88
same	5	Mc 3d A.			95	25	15 77	35	45	16 57
Ward David	18	Mc 1st A			125	125	2 19	1 76	45	4 40
Williams Lucy A	17	Mc 1st A			150	150	5 69	2 11	45	8 25

STATE OF INDIANA,
DeKalb County, } ss

I, WILLIAM McINTYRE, Auditor in and for said county of DeKalb do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full and complete list of all the Lands and Town Lots in said county, returned delinquent for the tax of the year 1871 with the Delinquent tax, Penalty and Interest, and also the taxes of the current year, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given, that so much of the foregoing lands and town lots as may be necessary to discharge the taxes, interest penalty and charges due thereon, or due from the owner thereof at the time of sale, will be sold at public auction, at the Court House, in the town of Auburn, in said county, on the second Monday of February A. D. 1873 (the same being the tenth day of said month) unless such taxes, penalty interest and charges are previously paid. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock A. M. on said day.

Wm. McINTYRE, Auditor.

Auditor's Office, Auburn, Indiana, December 13th, 1872.

HATCH, HOLBROOK & CO.
DEALERS IN
Hardwood Lumber!
265 Archer Ave.,
CHIC'GO.
Ash, Oak, Hickory,
Blackwalnut, Butternut
Chery, Maple and
WHITE WOOD LUMBER.

We are now receiving shipments of Hardwood Lumber, and are ready to contract for delivery by rail at any time during this fall or winter.

We pay cash and the highest market rates for ☞ Parties having any of the above for sale will find it to their advantage to write us before shipping elsewhere.

Nov. 21,—3m

WISHART
PINE TREE!
Tar Cordial,
NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY
FOR
Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood.

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE
The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,
GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,
—AND—
Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

L. Q. C. Wishart, M.D
No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.
PHILADELPHIA.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!
LIFE
Insurance Company,
OF
Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a

Home Company!
Inasmuch as the
ENTIRE NET RECEIPTS!
Of Indiana are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

INDIANA
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC!
BURGESS BLOCK,
Corner of Main & Court-sts., Fort Wayne, Indiana.
J. C. BARTLETT, Secretary.
REFERENCES:

Hon. F P Randall, Dr. W S Woodworth, H Burgess
Hon. P Hoagland, Dr B S Brown, A S Evans,
Hon C E Gorham, Dr. Th. Heuchling, Chas Hanna,
Chas McCulloch, M Sweetzer, A Oppenheimer,
H C Hartman, C L Hill, Fred Nirdlinger,
Rev S Wagenhals, J O Williams, Jas B McDonald,
Chas D Bond, John Gilbert, S J Beeler,
Rev A Marine, M Graff, John Hayden,
Rev J B Fairbank, W L Carnahan,

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.
Piano and Organ

Prof S B Morse—From Conservatory of Music Berlin.
Prof Albert Joost—Pupil of the celebrated Pianist Tivendel,
Prof Wm A Hodgdon—Late Director of Music in the Public Schools of St. Louis, Mo., and Ft Wayne

Vocal Culture, Singing and Music Theory.

Prof Wm A Hodgdon.
Prof J C Bartlett—Tenor Vocalist, Graduate of New England Conservatory of Music, Pupil of Dr. H R Streeter, Boston' Mass.

☞ Send for Circular ☜

P. O. BOX, 1850. Nov. 6, 1872.

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO.

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN.

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October, November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Teachers come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law, as no special License given. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Teachers do not commence their schools without license.

J. [illegible]

J. FLEDDERMAN
No 27, East Main Street,
FORT WAYNE, IND
Has the largest and finest stock of
CLOTHS,
Coatings, Cheviots, and
CASSIMERES!
IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of
Made up Clothing!
ever shown in Fort Wayne
Youths' and Children's Clothing!
Furnishing Goods, &c.
Merchant Tailoring
In all the late styles properly attended to. Give us a call. [illegible]

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, January 16, 1873. No. 3.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 00
Three Months	50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	20 00
½ Column	10 00	13 00	30 00	40 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind.

Br. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public Auburn, Ind., Recorder's office. Will practice in all the courts of the State.

J. W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. 124, 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent [illegible] Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Morris, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 3-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
[illegible] L. BEST. 3-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description. Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 3-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.

LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS.
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keystone Block,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of

BALTIMORE,
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificent day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianoplis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 39
Waterloo	10 33		8 18
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 53		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 53		6 18
Jonesville	8 35	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	4 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 40
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 48	8 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 a m	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 08	8 38
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 55
Angola	8 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 13		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R.R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P M	[illegible] "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,08 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,14 "
Crest- ar	8,20 "	4,22 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line ...lv	9,40 "	5,00 A M	6,09 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2.40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4.45 "	2,35 P. M	2,65 "	5,05 "
Chicago	7.50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC, E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M.	5.30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	8,55 "	12,50 A. M
Ft Wayne	12,20 P M	1,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4,07 "	1,18 A. M.	5,15 "
Forest	4,00 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crest-	[illegible]	6,00 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	11,20 A M	6,50 "	4.15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,19 "	4,48 "	8,55 "
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,08 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	8,25 "	1,10 P M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A M.	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	3,20	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,
AND
DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 00p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 35	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 18a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Indianapolis	3 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Denver	12 30 a.m	9 25	10 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 38 p.m	5 40
Waterloo	4 43	12 50	5 13
Summit	4 45	1 08	5 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Bankers	7 05	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.
Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:18 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p m	4 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 38
Bluffton	3 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Fort Wayne Lve	12 20 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 25	6 10
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	5 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. [illegible], Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

together with a number of first-class Livery horse respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.
PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!
AND
EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE
EAGLE MILLS.
AUBURN, IND'A.

Having effected new arrangements for the accommotion of the public, we are now prepared to modaet all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK!

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand
ON MAN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,

FOR CASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,
Becker & Bond,
ACHITETS

BUILDING
CONTRACTORS,

AND DEALERS IN

Building Stone
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
GRANITE.
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,
Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF
HardwareE,
NAILS, GLASS & PUTTY.
QUEENSWARE!
Willow-ware, Glass-ware,
Choice Groceries & Provisions!
—AT—
MARTIN & SONS,
Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

THE INDIANAPOLIS SENTINEL FOR 1873.

Press and pulpit; these are the powers of the present, these are the arbiters of man's best advancement. In this thought, and in the purpose to answer fully every legitimate expectation of a fair, free independent newspaper, the Indianapolis Sentinel appeals to the public for countenance and support. With the inauguration of the Liberal movement a new inpulse and a wider scope came to Journalism, and among a number of other journals the Sentinel saw the chance and seized it. In the adoption of this broader field the Sentinel has resolved to work out its salvation as a medium of news on a strictly business principle. We shall offer the consumer as perfect an article as the market affords, and all men irrespective of party or sect, can pay their money and take their choice. To this end the proprietors have set the machinery in motion for the production of a complete, trustworthy, newspaper which can be depended on to present from day to day the current events by mail and telegraph, as celarly and intelligibly as money and mind can collect and collate them.

Nothing that can interest or in any way aid the business man to the more intelligent understanding of the problems presented in his daily duty; nothing can lighten the burden of toil, or smooth the way of the teacher, political or scholastic shall be omitted in the Sentinel's columns

In being independent, the Sentinel is by no means neutral, It revives and maintains the ennobling truths, affirmed at Cincinnati, and in the maintenance of those truths, and their propogation and perpetuity, it pledges its best energies until the people shall be again called on to decide the question, unembarrassed by the outside issues which impeded the late campaign. To the party which has always supported it and which alone embodys its principles, it will maintain a cordial alliance, but not as the organ of any men or set of men, whose course is in opposition to the public advantage.

Literature, Science, Art, Religion—all shall have equal treatment in its columns and all shall have the best thought of the best minds in their presentation to the Sentinel's teaders.

Correspondence, varied and extended shall be presented fully and succinctly from all parts of the Union and from abrad, written by the most careful and trustworthy men and women that can be obtained. Telegraphic correspondence from the great cities shall be used to anticipate the leading points of vital news and every reader of this journal will find, [illegible] concerning such special emergency arising from time to time. The Sentinel, typographically, will be kept up to the best product of the printers art, printed on excellent paper and in such convenient shape, that its most valuable contributions, of a special nature may be preserved for reference.

With the begining of the New Year the Sentinel is desirous of extending its useful, and to that end offers the completest paper issued in the State for ten dollars a year, cheaper by two dollars than any first-class paper published in the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois or Indiana. Some inducements of an advantageous kind are offered to clubs!

TERMS OF THE DAILY SENTINEL.

By mail, one year	$10.00
" six months	5.00
" three months	3.00
" one month	1.00
By the week, delivered by carier	20
One year, payable every 6 months	10.00

THE WEEKLY SENTINEL.

The Indiana State Sentinel, carefully edited and with a reference to the home circle of the farmer, is the largest, cheapest and most complete journal of its class in the West. In it the reader distant from the post office and railroad will find careful written reviews of the events of the week, agricultural miscellany, and a comprehensive abstract of the week's affairs put in the most readable fashion.—Full market reports from every business center in the country; intelligent review of home markets, and ample telegraphic supplements thereto make the Weekly Sentinel a fair epitome of the six issues of the Daily Sentinel, and admirably sufficient, when a daily paper cannot be procured.

Special terms and liberal inducements are offered for the new year.

To advertisers, the Weekly Sentinel, read as it is by the thoughtful home people of the rural districts, is a peculiarly advantageous channel for making known their wares. So well is this appreciated, that the New York Tribune's Weekly, which has a greater circulation than any other similar journal, demands and recives for a single line of space almost three times as much as the cost of the paper a year.

TERMS OF THE WEEKLY SENTINEL.

Single copy, one year	$1.50
" six months	1.00

Ten per cent commission, in cash, will be paid agents on all money sent for subscriptions.

Specimen copies of the Weekly Sentinel sent free, to application. Address,

THE SENTINEL CO.,
Indianapolis, Ind.

Within the next 20 days there will be 30 State Legislatures in session—all the States in the Union except New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, California, and Oregon. Laws will be ground out by the cart load.

The National debt is not decreasing as fast as it was before the election, but, on the contrary the Treasury statement on the first of January, showed a quite a handsome increase. Treasurer Boutwell thinks the increase will not stop here, but will be augmented in the future, under the liberal appropriations of Congress.

Indiana News.

Sullivan county has a scalper who practices upon his mother-in-law with a butcher knife.

Indiana has four thousand miles of rail way, worth one hundred millions, upon which only $10,000 annual taxes are paid

Lagrange county bankers after $80,000 stock in the New York and Chicago Air Line Railway. The matter will be submitted to a vote of the people on the 25th inst

Thomas Catton and wife, of Elkhart county, returned home from a visit to White Pigeon, and found their home in ashes and their entire household effects destroyed. It is supposed to have taken fire accidently, and the children being at school, it was discovered until too late to save it. What wheat they had to bread the family was in the house and was destroyed.

A very amusing incident occurred in Vincennes a short time since. A gentleman coming home unexpectedly one night noticed that one of the windows of his wife's bed-room was opened, notwithstanding the cold weather. He was some what suspicious, and examining the premises found a man outside. He pointed his revolver at him, and ordered him to take position on the portico, and kept him there until daylight did appear, and then he allowed him to steal silently away.—All husbands are not so lenient.

The Sullivan county Union says: Our old friend Samuel Debann, Esq., of Fair banks township, informs us that on Christ mas eve, as a man and woman were passing his house on foot, the woman was taken into his house, a child was born. It appears that the man and his wife had walked from Kentucky, a distance of some two hundred miles, to go to some friends in the northern part of this State, and had been hurrying along as rapidly as possible every day, until the wife was taken sick. They were entirely destitute and the man in feeble health."

The price of grain is down. So is that of pork, beef and farm stock generally. But the price of necessary supplies are not down. Bonds are not down. Taxes are not down. Interest is not down. National credit, in citizens' hands as money, is worth 87½ cents on the dollar, and it is for that the surplus of the State is exchanged, but credit in a different form, in the hands of capitalists is worth from $112 to $120, and pays no taxes besides. It makes a great difference in the minds of our rulers whether money was made by industry, or used for speculation.—The laws made to favor one side are also used to plunder the other. But then, the pe[illegible] i[illegible]! Reforms are [illegible].

A co[illegible] as follows: While [illegible] Mr. Hebberd, [illegible]ennessee co., who s[illegible] his famous [illegible] thirty or for[illegible] years ago. [illegible] says that jump day [illegible] a great day in Rochester. The people gathered in for miles around to see this intermittent American jumper as he preformed his last feat, Sam Patch had previously jumped over Niagara. Then saying "some things could be done as well as others,' he slashed around like Sergeant Bates through the Western part of the State to back up this proverb. Before his last jump he bought a big black bear of a circus man, and led him over the turnpipe to Rochestor.

The morning of the day came. Sam had arrived in town with his bear, and the crowd rushed into Rochester for miles around. Twelve o'clock was the hour to jump—to jump a hundred feet down the terrible fall, into the boiling cauldron below. A Staging had been built over the water, and Sam appeared on the staging dressed in a sailer's fancy jacket.

His friends now took up a collection on shore, whille Sam swung his hat and said that after jumping himself, he would return and throw the bear over. Then, amid a death-like stillness, he ran a few steps and gave one leap, and fell, cutting the mist like a lead sinker, two hundred feet into the seething whirlpool. As he left the staging his body assumed an oblique position, his head foremost, but above his feet. As he struck the water there was a dreadful silence, while the populace waited with choking breath his reappearance. One minute, two minutes, three minutes, and no signs of the daring jumper. The people set up a loud wail.

This was the end of Sam Patch

They say he had been drinking during the morning, and had failed to keep his feet together, and to keep his body perpendicular, as on previous occasions. So, when he struck the water the breath left his body, and he was knocked senseless. A month or so afterward, they discovered his body way down below Rochester, drifting upon the rocks.

Gen. Frank Blair, is a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate from Missouri. Some doubt is expressed as to his election.

Blood and Molasses.

(Chicago Tribune Washington letter.)

At great expense I have obtained a complete narrative of the celebrated fight between the Hon. Zach Chandler of Michigan, and Mr. Hannegan of Indiana, son of Ex-Senator Hannegan who was Minister in Prusia. It happened at the National Hotel at meal time. Zach took advantage of the fortuitous concourse of several persons [illegible]use Voorhees loudly while in his [illegible]nce. His remarks resounded all o[illegible] the dining room such as "Traitor" "S[illegible]l," etc, plentifully consorted wit[illegible]

'D[illegible] Hannegan 'I wouldn't stand [illegible] foul mouthed vituperation.

'I won't," said Dan, and he walked over to Chandler and struck him a back-handed blow, which resounded like a whipcrack.

Chandler, who had got up wrong end foremost, immediately struck out at Voorhees, and Mr. Hannegan interposing remarked:

"Gentlemen, this is not the place for personal collision—a dining room, where you disturb other people. Think of your positions, and do not disgrace your constituents.

'Who in h—ll are you?' exclaimed Chandler and with that he struck Mr Hannegan with all his force on the side of his face.

Hannegan was stunned by the blow, which he had not expected, being a peacemaker and not a fighter; but he picked up a molasses pitcher, and brought it down on Zach.'s forehead, so that he was covered by blood and molasses, which strange as it may appear seemed to improve his appearance. He took up the nearest jug he could find to strike Hannegan with it; but Zach. struck an entirely harmless person in the abdomen who forthwith got the cramps, and walked out of the room on his belly. Hannegan said that he now understood that Zach. meant business; so, forthwith he took that great patriot by the top-not, and pushing his head down towards the floor, draged him along, planting blows all over his frontispiece, and nearly making an intelligent countenance out of the Senator. Much-spent gasping and frothing, Zachariah followed his hair across the floor, and several ladies rushing in, cried:

"Oh! don't kill that man.'

"No, ladies," said Hannegan, I just want to keep him from injuring me, and if you will take care of him, I shall let him go.

With this Hannegan gave him a last shot, which effectually finished him, and the Michigan Ajax rolled over on his back and was wheelborrowed away by some of the servants.

According to the statistical report of the Secretary of State of Ohio, there is twenty-three thousand million tons of coal available in that State. Great Britain mines one hundred million tons annually. Ohio could mine that amount for two hundred and thirty-five years. At the rate her coal is now being mined three million tons annually, it will last ten thousand four hundred years.

Congress re-assembled again last week The holiday spree is over.

Columbus, and Dayton Ohio, were slightly shook up by an earthquake recently.

The damage to shipping by the break up of the ice, in the Ohio and Mississippi river, has been very great.

Cabinet speculations continue to disturb political circles at Washington. Who will go out, and who will come in, is the question?

An affray occurred on Thursday of last week, near Huntington, Whitley county, between James Barker and Samuel Carpenter, about a game of cards, when Barker attacked his brother-in-law Carpenter with an ax, and so cut and injured him that his life is despaired of. Baker was arrested and now in jail awaiting trial

THINGS are getting to be terrible in Iowa. The other day an old lady spanked a young man until he was red in the face, and only because he did'nt want to marry the old girl's daughter. What a mother-in-law she would make.

Those skeptical of the virtue of Smolander's Buchu for the positive cure of kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, mental and physical debility loss of vigor diabetes, gravel, lack of nervous energy, female complaints and maladies of the urine-genital organs, incontinence and retention of urine, have but to administer a few doses of this valuable vegetable medicine and their doubts will vanish.

THE CUCKOO.

BY C. S. CALVERLEY.

Forth I wandered, [illegible] ago,
When the summer sun was low,
And the forest all aglow
With his light;
'Twas a day of cloudless [illegible]
When the trout declines to rise,
And in vain the angler sighs
For a bite.

And the cuckoo piped away—
How I love his simple lay,
O'er the cowslip fields of May
As it floats!
May was over, and of course
He was just a little hoarse,
And appeared to me to force
Certain notes.

Since mid-April, men averred,
People's pulses, inly stirred
By the music of the bird,
Had upleapt:
It was now the close of June;
I reflected that he'd soon
Sing entirely out of tune,
And I wept.

Looking up, I marked a maid
Float moon-like o'er the glade,
Casting evermore a staid
Glance around;
And I thrilled with sweet surprise
When she dropt, all virgin-wise,
First a courtesy, then her eyes
To the ground.

Others' eyes have p'raps to you
Seemed ethereally blue,
But, you see, you never knew
Kate Adair.
What a mien she had! Her hat
With with what dignity it sat
On the mystery, or mat,
Of her hair!

We were neighbors. I had doffed
Cap and hat to her so oft
That the latter had grown soft
In the brim;
I had gone out of my way
To bid e'en her sire good day,
Though I wasn't, I may say,
Fond of him.

And we'd met, in streets and [illegible]
But by rill or mazy copse,
Where your speech abrupt[illegible]
And you get
Incoherent ere you know it
Where, though nothing of a poet,
You intuitively go it,
Never yet.

So my love had ne'er been told!
Till the day when forth I strolled,
And the jolly cuckoo trolled
Out his song,
Naught had passed betwixt us two,
Save a bashful "How d'ye do?"
And a blushing "How do you Get along?"

But that eve—how swift it passed—
Words that burned flew from me fast
For the first time and the last
In my life.
Low and lower dropped her chin,
As I murmured how I'd skin
Or behead myself to win
Such a wife.

There we stood. The squirrel leaped
Overhead; the throstle peeped
Through the leaves all sunshine steeped,
Of the lime.
There we stood alone; a third
Would have made the thing absurd;
And she scarcely spoke a word
All the time.

. . . .

We've a little Kate, a dear!
She's attained her thirteenth year,
And declares she feels a queer
Sort of shock—
Not unpleasant, though, at all—
When she hears a cuckoo call;
So I've purchased her a small Cuckoo-clock. —Scribner's.

WHY BANGS HATED DOGS.

"Get out!"

"Bangs, that is my dog!"

"Yes, I know it. Get, you brute!" And he shied at him an iron paper-weight.

My face flushed. "Bangs," said I, "excuse me, but I've an affection for that dog."

"Excuse me, Pills, but I've an antipathy against all dogs. Get out, varmint!" And he gave my pet black-and-tan a vicious kick, that sent him howling into the corridor. Bangs shut the door, locked it, and put the key in his pocket.

"I wish, Pills, the next time you come to my office you would leave that brute behind. I've a most unconquerable antipathy against all canines, and—"

Bangs might have said more, but the look on my face must have convinced him that I was seriously angry.

"Suppose we let this pass," he said. "I was wrong, I'll admit; I ought not to have kicked your pup, but you don't know how I hate 'em, big and little. Sit down, Pills, and let me tell you something that heretofore has been a secret with me—a secret hidden from the gaze of the cold, unsympathizing world. I feel that now some explanation is proper for me to make, in the hopes that it may prevent a misunderstanding between two such firm friends as we have been in the past, and, I hope will be in the future."

I sat down in the chair Bangs pointed to, and said, "Go on!"

"I do not know," continued Bangs, "that I ever had any particular dislike to dogs previous to the circumstances which I am about to relate. Do you remember the spring I took a trip into the country?"

"Very well," I replied.

"That was some six years ago. I have confined myself very closely to business ever since my admittance to the bar, and I thought a month in the country would would freshen me up considerably."

"It did not seem to, if I remember rightfully," I said.

"You'll not wonder at it, Pills, when I tell you all about the facts. I went down to a little seaside resort, called San Marino—ever been there?"

"Never."

"Well, it's a queer sort of a place. There is a very fine stream of water courses down from the mountains and empties into the sea about half a mile from the town; although there is no town there, only a little hotel and blacksmith's shop. The stream empties into the sea in winter, during the heavy rains, but in the summer time the surf banks up the mouth with sand and forms quite a lake or lagoon. 'Laguna la Puritas' is the Spanish name. The proprietor of the hotel had a few little sail boats fitted up, and they were in constant use by his guests. Game is plenty in the hills about there, deer and quail; the creek is full of speckled trout, and the hotel is just far enough from the sea to render the climate delightful. The San Marino House was filled to its utmost capacity that season. It was a curious kind of a crowd gathered there. City sportsmen, with dogs, guns, fishing tackle, etc.; superannuated old women, and, for the benefit of the sea breeze, young boys fourteen or fifteen years old, making their first trip from home alone—two or three grass widows—a somewhat fast clergyman—rode down from the city on his velocipede—and three or four young ladies and a dozen frisky school girls. On the whole it was as jolly a crew as ever gathered together. With horseback riding, boating, fishing and hunting, the time passed rapidly enough. I said there were three or four young ladies, but, so far as I was concerned, there was only one, Miss Tootie Tusby—excuse me, Pills, but I cannot speak that name, even now, without emotion"—and Bangs drew forth his handkerchief and wiped his eyes vigorously.

"I cannot describe all of her charms; but Pills, if ever there was an angel in this world she was one. I devoted myself to her from the first. When Miss Tootie rode I rode, if she walked I walked; when she went fishing Bangs went fishing. If she sailed on the lake, Bangs was there also.—Pills, I loved that girl—and when I think of what separated us, you'll excuse me, but"—there the handkerchief again came into requisition, and Bangs' voice failed him completely.

"Did you propose?" I asked.

"No, Pills, no. Ah! if I only had; if I only had!"

"What prevented?"

"Well, nothing but my own folly. I was faint-hearted when it came to that. I had it in my mouth a dozen times, but my tongue failed me. There was another fellow there, too, that made me terrible jealous. She didn't show him any particular favors, but he was a great admirer of her, any one could see, and really I wasn't certain in my mind which she preferred. She might, in time, perhaps, have shown some preference and my doubts been dispelled had it not been for the affair that happened which I am about to relate, and which blighted all my future life."

"Bad as that?" I said.

"Pills, you never was in love; you never lost the one heaven assigned for you—you don't know anything at all about it."

"That is so; go on."

"There was a party at the San Marino House one evening, a soiree dansante, or something like that, they called it. They sent up to the city for music, and went in for a gay time. I was counted out somewhat, for you know I don't dance. The other fellow did. More than that, he danced with Tootie nearly all the time. Pills, you don't know anything at all about it; you never had the girl you love dancing with your rival all the evening right before your eyes, while you sit in a corner like a knot on a log—see him in the quadrilles, when all the rest of the couples simply take each other's hands and promenade, see that fellow just put his arm around that girl and then go waltzing or polkaing all about the room, every time right in front of you, and that cussed fellow treading on your corns every chance he can get—you don't know anything about it."

I admitted my ignorance.

"Well, I couldn't stand it; it was too much. I rushed out and started off toward the sea. I don't know as I had any intentions of suicide, but I was in a desperate mood. The path to the beach led along by the side of the lagoon, and by the time I had gone a hundred yards I changed my mind, and thought I would go down to the beach, but would take a swim in the lake. That is about all the accomplishment I possess, and one can't show that off before the ladies, you know—not in the same way you can dancing.

"I disrobed under the branches of a huge alder, or sycamore, or some such tree, and struck out for the other side of the lake. The moon was shining brightly, and the water was warm and delightful. I grew cool, and soon was enjoying to the utmost the luxury of the situation. I almost forgot for the time the Miss Tusby and her admirer. Having crossed to the opposite side, I swam along in the dark shadow of the alders until I came to the sea beach. Then I noticed that the moon was getting low. I must return soon, before I was missed at the party. After a sh[illegible] I plunged in again, and st[illegible] the place where I left m[illegible]ould find it easily by the [illegible] there. In fifteen m[illegible], and, Pills, I tell [illegible] things about that [illegible]

"How's th[illegible]

"I couldn[illegible] Gone, sir! every artic[illegible] rushed round[illegible] nettles, and poi[illegible] a se[illegible] after a quail. Jerusalem! Whew! [illegible] tell you I got a dose that lasted me for a month. Not a rag of clothing could I find. At length I happened to look up at the path to the hotel. What do you suppose I saw? A cursed greyhound that belonged to my rival, with my white vest, tossing it upon his nose, and dragging it about amongst the dirt and tar weed as though it had been an old dishcloth. The situation flashed upon me in an instant. The dog had stolen my clothes in sport, and there I was, out there in the night air, with no possible show of getting into the house without discovery. Pleasant, wasn't it?"

"Decidedly!"

"You don't know anything at all about it, sir. That was nothing to what followed. Just as I was wondering how in the dickens I was to get out of the scrape, I looked up toward the hotel again, and I saw something that fairly made my blood freeze in my veins. I saw three persons coming down the path, and I at once recognized them as my rival, Wilkins, Miss Tootie and another young lady. They met the dog when about half way between the lake and the hotel. I saw by their actions that the discovery of the vest had alarmed them. They all came hurriedly down the path toward the very spot where I stood. Pills, that was a situation I hope never to be placed in again!"

"Undoubtedly! Did you take to the water?"

"I dare not do it, but it would have been better if I had. You see I had been in the water too long already. I was in an awful shiver—goose-flesh all over me. There wasn't time to deliberate long. My first thought was to spring up into the tree, and I did so. They came rushing down to the water's edge, under the tree, just beneath me. I could hear their voices quite plainly. They were discussing the probability of my being drowned.

"I was roosted up there on a limb, shivering like sin, nothing on but my plug hat, you know.

"By and by they began to talk about going back to the hotel and giving the alarm. I could hear one of the young ladies weeping; but hang me if I could tell which one. I was anxious to know, of course, for if it was Miss Tootie, the fact would be significant, at least. In my anxiety to discover which one was crying, I crept noiselessly out a few feet further on the limb. I didn't stop to consider that the sycamore is a very brittle tree. Stretching my neck to the utmost, I peered down through the leaves, and crash!"

"The limb broke!"

"Yes, sir; and I found myself stretched out at full length on the sand, right in the midst of them. O Jupiter Ammon! Pills, you don't know anything at all about it! I prayed for an earthquake to open the earth and swallow me up; but it didn't."

"Well, the denouement?"

"The girls looked at me in astonishment a moment, and there was a tremendous fluttering of white dresses as they ran back toward the hotel. Wilkins burst into a roar of laughter and kept it up until I sprang up, collared him, and told him as he valued his life to go to the hotel and bring me my valise, which contained an extra suit of clothing. I made him promise to keep mum, too, until I was clear of the place. He was glad to do that, for if I left he would have the whole field to himself. He brought the valise as he promised, and I walked eight miles that night to the next hotel. The next day I took the stage for the city. Miss Tusby married Wilkins, and I never have seen her since that fatal night."

"And therefore you hate dogs?"

"And who wouldn't? If it hadn't been for that dog, I never should have met with that accident. I might have won Miss Tusby, I might now have been the father of a large and flourishing family, instead of a misanthropic bachelor. I might"—

Here Bangs was interrupted by some one rapping at his office door. He unlocked it, and ushered in a disconsolate looking fellow, who, on seeing me, intimated a wish to consult him privately. Bangs' private office is separated from his reception room by sliding doors. Bangs invited his visitor in there and closed the door, as he thought. But it happened that the track on which they run was out of order, and the doors slid open about three inches. Unavoidably I listened to the whole conversation.

"You are lawyer Bangs, are you not?" said the stranger.

"Yes, sir. Can I do anything for you?"

"I think so. I am unhappy in my marriage relations."

"Ah! that's bad. Thinking of a divorce?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ah! Perhaps it is best, where two cannot live together happily. Personally, I have always thought the marriage state the only happy one for a man in the world."

"You are not married?"

"Oh, no, sir; no, sir; might have been, possibly, had it not been for an unfortunate accident I once—"

"You ought to think yourself lucky, sir," interrupted the stranger.

"Perhaps so. But let us attend to this business of yours. On what grounds do you intend to proceed?"

"Incompatibility of temper, first."

"Can't agree, eh?"

"No, sir; could as soon agree with the devil."

"Anything else?"

"Yes, sir; deception. She claimed to be a maiden lady."

"Wasn't she?"

"She had been married three times, and was the mother of three children."

"That was bad."

"Her reputation, I now know, is not good. She was nothing but an adventuress."

"Let us get this thing in shape. I will take down your statements"—and immediately I could hear Bangs scratching away with his pen.

"Your name?"

"John Badger."

"Wife's name?"

"Susan Badger."

"Name when you married her?"

"Susan Tinkham. Tinkham committed suicide six months after their marriage?"

"Name before she married Tinkham?"

"Plunket. Plunket ran away and left her, and she got a divorce from him."

"Ah, ha! She's one of 'em, isn't she? What was her name before she married Plunket?"

"Wilkins. He lived with her about a year, when he got a divorce."

"Wilkins; name sounds familiar. Do you know her name before she married him?"

"Yes, sir. It was Tusby—Susan Tusby, or Tootie Tusby, as she was called."

I heard a dull thud on the floor, a cry of dismay from the stranger, and, throwing open the doors, I rushed in.

Bangs had fainted.

The Emerald Isle.

A traveler in Ireland says that of course he had known that Ireland was called the "Emerald Isle" because of its greenness, but says it had never entered his imagination that there was anywhere in the world such a verdure as charms all eyes in the rural districts of Ireland. The slopes, the knolls, the dells, fields of young grain, over which the breezes creep like playful spirits of the beautiful; the pastures, dotted with white sheep of the purest wool; the hillsides, rising up into mist-shrouded mountains, are all covered with thick carpets of smooth, velvet green. The same traveler says that Ireland can all be called the Flowery Isle. There is not a spot in the land, he thinks, where Nature can find an excuse for putting a flower, but she has put one—not only in the gardens and in the meadows, but upon the very walls and the crags of the sea, from the great blooming rhododendron down to the smallest flower that modestly peeps forth from its grassy cover. The Irish furze, so rich a yellow, covers all places that might otherwise be barren; the silk-worm delights everywhere, from thousands of trees, to drop its "web of gold;" the blooming hawthorn, with its sweet scent of pink, and especially the white, adorns the landscapes and the gardens; wild flowers of every hue and variety, clamber to hide the harshness of the mural supports; the beetling cliffs of the North Sea are fringed and softened with lovely flowers; and if you kneel anywhere almost on the yielding, velvety carpet, you will find little, well-nigh invisible flowerets—red, white, blue and yellow—wrought into the very woof and texture. Ireland ought to be called the Beautiful Isle. The spirit of the beautiful hovers over and touches to living loveliness every point.

VICE-PRESIDENT WILSON resembles a Roman Senator, more or less.

Miscellaneous.

LAKE ERIE is one vast icy mirror.

EVERY 47th Indianian is a Baptist.

THE whipping-post flourishes in Canada.

LOUISVILLE has 25,000 colored people.

A HOT-WATER gun is the latest invention.

PENSYLVANIA had a crazy Governor in 1817.

CHICAGO has had 100 murders in seven years.

NEAR-SIGHTED people are mostly great talkers.

APPLE-JACK distilleries are liable to explosion.

THE season for skating in air-holes is at hand.

TO KNOW how to wait is the secret of success.

CHLORAL, it is said, will cure delirium tremens.

THE California farmers are poisoning squirrels.

OPEN cellar windows keep the whole house cool.

THE original man had long arms and dumpy legs.

CHICAGO brews 200,000 barrels of lager beer annually.

THERE are 4,835,109 negroes in the United States.

THERE are 2,620,531 Methodists in the United States.

A GREAT many prominent people are in feeble health.

RED and blue are the stylish colors for noses this winter.

PETROLEUM was discovered in Pennsylvania in 1859.

PEANUT culture is pronounced a success in Michigan.

OVER $9,000,000 are invested in beer breweries in Chicago.

CALIFORNIA has a youthful negro who speaks five languages.

THE city of Mexico has ordered a $40,000 statue of Columbus.

TEA from an earthenware pot is more fragrant than any other.

CHICAGO boasts the largest water-pumping engine in the word.

A CHARITON, Iowa, hen is bringing up a kitten with marked success.

CANADA has 50,000 Presbyterians, and 308 ministers of that denomination.

SOUTH CAROLINA has less than 8,000 foreign-born persons among her 706,000 population.

THE clerks in the Pension Office at Washington yearly receive a Christmas present of a pen-knife from the Commissioner.

THE once dreaded horse-disease is now oozing out its strength upon the borders, and will soon be heard of no more; but what a revelation of gross public carelessness it has made! The horse interest is worth millions, and yet there is not a respectable veterinary college in the country.

THEY have compulsory education in Texas. The law requires that all persons under the age of 15 shall attend school. A married lady in Houston, who has not yet reached the age that would entitle her to exemption, attends school regularly and carries her baby with her.

How Jay Gould Captured $5,000,000 in London.

A New York paper says: A new leaf of Erie manipulation in the English market has just been developed, which exhibits a remarkably successful speculation on the part of Jay Gould in the London Stock Exchange. For several days past European cable dispatches have announced numerous failures among the speculators there, who have been selling calls on Erie stocks, which is equal to selling stock short for a decline. One large London house is announced to have failed on 40,000 shares. It turns out Jay Gould, just previous to the Boston fire, sent a prominent Broad street speculator to London with letters of credit to a large amount, with orders to quietly buy calls upon an immense number of shares. The stock in New York had been depressed by Gould about 10 per cent., and was made to look very weak, to induce the English speculators to sell calls at cheap rates. No dispatches were sent by cable for fear of the operation leaking out, and the market for Erie was kept down until the return of the New York agent two weeks ago, when the calls were all secured, the trap was sprung, and Erie shares ran up 10 per cent. within two days. Gould's profits in the London market are estimated at $5,000,000.

LOVE OF MONEY.—Lord Chancellor Hardwick, when worth $4,000,000, was as saving of half a crown as when worth only one hundred pounds. The celebrated Duke of Marlborough, in the last stage of life, walked in a dark, cold night to his lodgings at Bath to save sixpence, leaving more than a million and a half pounds sterling to a scapegrace relative who had always been an enemy. Sir James Lowther, whose income was $240,000 a year, old, lame, and infirm, went some way back to a coffee-house for a better half penny than had been given him in change. He looked about for an heir. Sir William Smith, of Bedfordshire, a vastly rich Englishman, totally blind, agreed to give an oculist sixty guineas if he restored his vision. The operation was successful, but the old miser pretended it was not exactly perfect, although he ever after could read and write; he got off with thirty. A rich New Yorker, not many years in the grave, who left a reputed fortune of sixteen millions of dollars, was in the habit of buying a single muffin for breakfast, which he carried home from the baker's in a bit of newspaper.

BERGH ON THE WAR PATH.—On the day of the great snow-storm in New York Mr. Bergh made his way through the town like a warrior. At dusk, when the storm was at its height, he decided that all horses should be relieved, and so with his aids he bore down upon drivers indiscriminately on Broadway, and ordered them to drop business and make their way direct to the stables.

Death of the Ex-Emperor Napoleon.

The news of the death of the Emperor Louis Napoleon, though not wholly unexpected, will startle a world which had not ceased to consider the probability of his restoration to the Imperial throne as the natural sequence to the agitation through which France has lately been passing. The Imperial exile died at Camden House, Chiselhurst, England, at 10.45 o'clock a. m. on Thursday, Jan. 9, even while his physicians were preparing for a third operation, in the hope of relieving him from the painful disease under which he suffered. A London dispatch gives the following particulars of the sad event:

The sudden death of ex-Emperor Napoleon took everybody at Chiselhurst, as well as London, by surprise. The Empress, relatives, attendants and household, even the physicians were unprepared for it. The Emperor had passed a comparatively comfortable night. His strength seemed undiminished, and at a consultation early in the morning it was thought he could bear a third operation, which was finally determined upon. So great was the confidence felt in the patient's condition that the Prince Imperial was permitted to return to Woolwich to resume his studies. Dr. Gull went to London yesterday, and many of the Emperor's personal friends, who hastened to Chiselhurst at the first alarm, had returned to their homes.

There was no reason whatever to apprehend a fatal turn in the case up to 9 a. m., when new and dangerous symptoms suddenly set in. The Emperor's vital forces seemed to leave him all at once, and he commenced to sink with alarming rapidty. A telegram was instantly dispatched to Woolwich for the Prince. Dr. Gull was summoned from London, and Father Goddard, the Emperor's spiritual adviser, was sent for in the greatest haste to administer the last sacrament of the church. The Emperor's private chaplain was also informed of the danger, and started for Chiselhurst. All arrived too late. The Prince was not to see his father again alive. Dr. Gull and the clergyman just reached the park gates as the Emperor expired.

The Empress, who has been most constant in her attendance, was at his bedside to the last hour. The medical advisers, Sir Henry Thompson and Drs. Corvisart and Corer, the Emperor's friend, Dr. Conneau, and several members of the household were also present.

Since the Emperor's death the residence at Chiselhurst has been strictly closed to all but his nearest friends and relatives.

The physicians state that his death resulted from causes independent of the surgical operations to which the patient was subjected.

The event produces a deep impression in London, where the Emperor was always personally very popular with the masses. The evening journals publish long obituaries full of expressions of mourning.

The Empress Eugenie weeps continually, and refuses consolation. Louis, the Prince Imperial, who arrived after his father died, is prostrated with grief.

The Emperor's death was caused by embolism. It was so sudden that the last sacraments were not administered, the priest arriving after all was over. The body will be interred at Chiselhurst until it can be removed to France. Universal sorrow prevails in London.

HOW THE NEWS IS RECEIVED IN PARIS.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The news of the Emperor's death was received at a late hour this afternoon. It is not yet possible to estimate the effect here. The Imperialists, of course, are profoundly affected, and appear to regard the event as a final blow to their hopes. The only evening journal which has any editorial on the subject is the Messager de Paris, an influential finance organ. It closes a brief article with the following tribute: "The disasters which have made a shipwreck of the Empire will not cause to be forgotten the great services Napoleon has rendered to the nation in re-establishing order, and developing the prosperity of the country."

Changes in Population.

The full returns of population and social statistics have been completed and are printed. The changes are as follows in population and rank as States:

	1870.		1860.
State.	Population.	Rank.	Population.	Rank.
Alabama	996,992	16	964,201	13
Arkansas	484,471	26	435,450	25
California	560,247	24	379,994	26
Connecticut	537,454	25	460,147	24
Delaware	125,015	34	112,216	32
Florida	187,748	33	140,124	31
Georgia	184,109	12	1,057,286	11
Illinois	2,539,891	4	1,711,951	4
Indiana	1,680,637,	6	1,350,428	6
Iowa	1,194,020	11	674,913	20
Kansas	364,399	29	107,206	33
Kentucky	1,155,684	8	1,321,011	9
Louisiana	726,915	21	708,001	17
Maine	626,915	23	628,279	22
Maryland	790,894	20	687,049	19
Massachusetts	1,457,351	7	1,231,066	7
Michigan	1,184,059	13	749,113	16
Minnesota	439,706	28	172,023	30
Mississippi	827,922	18	791,305	14
Missouri	1,721,295	5	1,182,012	8
New Hampshire.	318,300	31	326,073	27
New Jersey	906,096	17	672,035	21
New York	4,382,759	1	3,880,735	1
North Carolina	1,071,361	14	992,622	12
Ohio	2,665,260	3	2,339,511	3
Oregon	90,923	36	52,465	34
Pennsylvania	3,521,951	2	2,906,215	2
Rhode Island	217,353	32	174,620	29
South Carolina	705,606	22	703,708	18
Tennessee	1,258,520	9	1,109,801	10
Texas	818,579	19	604,515	23
Vermont	330,551	30	315,098	28
*Virginia	1,225,163	10	1,596,318	5
Wisconsin	1,054,670	15	775,881	15
West Virginia	442,014	..	......	..
Nebraska	122,993	..	......	..
Nevada	42,491	..	......	..

*Divided since the census of 1860.

PROPAGATION OF SOUND.—A locust may be heard one-sixteenth of a mile; a wren, weighing half an ounce—and a middling-sized man would be as heavy as 4,000 of them—could be heard about as far. But, if the voice of either bore a proportion to the mass of matter employed in its production, a man could be heard 1,000 miles, favored by a brisk wind.

A vessel at sea a few years since, 160 miles from land, heard distinctly the thrilling music of a band playing on shore. There must have been a peculiar condition of the atmosphere at the time, while the broad surface of the sails were equivalent to a great external ear to arrest and converge the aerial undulations.

A YOUNG lady writes to an exchange giving a recipe for having fun. She says, invite half a dozen boys and girls to your house when your pa and ma are away; put a half-dollar silver piece in a dish with molasses an inch deep in it, and offer it to the boy who gets it with his mouth. The more boys who try to get it, the more fun there will be. That girl surely deserves a diploma.

MY BALD HEAD.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

I.

Good friends!—pray listen, if you please,
To Pleasure's licensed preacher:
Hold fast to Liberty and Ease;
So sage your reverend teacher,
To laugh at Care, be gay and free,
Her precepts I advise;
I'm bald because I'm sage you see,
So, listen to the wise!

II.

Good friends! when care assails a man,
To vex his soul and body,
I think it much the wisest plan
To drown it—in a toddy!
Nay not too much!—the glass should be
Of very dainty size;
I'm bald because I'm sage you see;
So listen to the wise!

III.

Good friends!—these hints will stand the test;
And shouldn't be neglected;
But what's the good of all the rest,
If Beauty is rejected?
Young love—true love must ever be
The richest earthly prize;
I'm bald because I'm sage you see;
So, listen to the wise!

IV.

Good friends!—believe me, only so
We save Life's truest treasures;
By just consenting, as they flow,
Youth's evanescent pleasures.
My sermon's done; who lists to me
The power of fate defies;
I'm bald because I'm sage you see;
So listen to the wise!

Humorous.

DE MEWER—The cat.

A SEA-SAW—The sword-fish.

GRAVE subjects—Tombstones.

CAPITAL affairs—National loans.

BROGUE Anns come from Ireland.

THE present day—Your birthday.

BELLE mettle—A young lady's temper.

CHURCH belles—The rector's daughters.

A LAZY cook—One that "fritters away her time.

WHEN "doctors differ" they're very apt to lose their patients.

WHY is the letter Y like a young lady? Because it makes pa pay.

A KANGAROO is a curious chap: when it's wide awake it's leaping.

THE worst kind of education—To be brought up by a policeman.

THE Phœnix was raised in a hot bed, and that's what made him soar.

AN Irish gentleman speaks of the Mississippi as "the father of McWaters."

A LITTLE girl at Dubuque amended the Lord's Prayer by asking for her daily gingerbread.

WHY is the alphabet like cutting the first teeth? Because it is taught yer (torture) when young.

WHEN a naughty little boy breaks a window he should be punished on the principle that pains and penalties go together.

MEN are frequently like tea: the real strength and goodness are not properly drawn out of them until they have been for a short time in hot water.

THE News says a guileless Danbury man saw a beautiful chromo advertised "for fifty cents," and sent on the money and received the jack of clubs.

SOMEBODY inquiring at the Springfield, Ill., postoffice for a letter for Mike Howe, received the gruff answer that there was no letter there for anybody's cow.

M. PRUDHOMME, in the decline of life, was talking with his nephew, to whom he related stories of his youth. "But, uncle," suddenly exclaimed the young man, "what struck you most during your life?" "My dear boy, it was your aunt!"

THE Memphis Appeal tells of an Irishman who got laughed at for making faces over some persimmons, and who retorted thus: "Ye may grin, ye mutton-headed idiots! but I can lather the sowl out uv the man that spilt vinegar over thim plums.

AGONY.

Wheezing, sneezing all the day;
Eyes watery and streaming;
Coughing in a shatt'ring way;
Poor nose red and poor cheeks gray;
Now voiceless and now screaming.

Pains and aches in every limb;
Poor features sadly puffy;
Hearing gone and eyesight dim;
Sad, dejected, solemn, grim;
Head heavy, hot, stuffy.

To feel all this, and then be told,
"My dear, you're only got a cold."

A Test Case.

It will be remembered that the barn in which Wilkes Booth was captured was destroyed with its contents. The owner, Mr. R. H. Garrett, presents a claim of several thousand dollars to Congress for the loss he sustained on that occasion. The claim committee have decided that the Government cannot be responsible for the claim if the property was destroyed by the lawless acts of soldiers, or if its destruction was ordered by officers commanding troops. In the former case the circumstances were beyond the control of the Government, and in the latter the loss was one of the unavoidable casualties of the war. The committee substantially say, by this decision, that the only claims of this nature for which the Government is responsible are those in which the property is sold and the money paid into the treasury. This special claim was in itself unimportant, but in its decision it was intended to make it a precedent for a great mass of similar claims for destruction of property by military operations in the Southern States during the war.

Co-operation in England.

Co-operation is making rapid progress in England. Its most recent application has been to farming. Conservatives and Radicals have joined hands in forwarding the work of co-operative tillage, which is enlisting the attention of the best and wealthiest men of the realm. Sir John Pakington, Earl Nelson, the Earl of Carnarvon, and Mr. Walter Morrison, a member of Parliament, have all announced their intention of working their lands on this principle. Mr. Morrison has purchased one of the finest farms in the United Kingdom, and has actually begun operations; so that the results of co-operative farming, tested with special advantages for making it profitable, will be given to the world within a comparatively short time.

A PUBLIC benefactor at La Crosse, Wis., has invented a gun that is warranted not to go off by accident.

A Burglar Robs a Long-Lost Brother's House.

Some ten years ago two brothers left their home in Illinois and came to California. The elder was a man of the most steady habits, who had received a thorough business education in his native State, and who had made up his mind to prosper in the new country he had chosen. The other was inclined to be dissipated, and had figured in so many scrapes at home that he stood in very bad odor in his village. The brothers lived together for some time in San Francisco, while both looked for situations. The younger brother fell into bad company and bad habits, and after a few months they separated by mutual consent. The elder obtained a situation in a wholesale store as porter, and by his diligence and steadiness soon worked himself into the confidence of his employers. Of his brother he saw little. One day a note reached him from his wild relative, who was confined in the city prison on a charge of petit larceny. He bailed him out and employed counsel to defend him. Though circumstantially evident that the prisoner had committed the crime alleged, yet the actual proof was so meager that in his trial at the Municipal Court he was acquitted. The elder brother now renounced the criminal altogether, and until Christmas eve they had not met for nearly ten years. Advancing rapidly in the esteem of his employers the industrious young man soon found himself in the receipt of a good salary, and gradually rose to a partnership in the firm which he had entered as store-porter. He purchased a house on Bush street, married a lady with a considerable fortune of her own, and on last Christmas he saw three beautiful children around him to enjoy the wonders of the Christmas tree. That night the family retired about midnight. Toward 2 o'clock in the morning the gentleman heard a noise below stairs, and moving quietly out of bed, stood at the head of the stairs to assure himself that his suspicions of burglars being in the house were correct. The gleam of a candle in the parlor assured him, and returning to his bedroom and arming himself, he crept down stairs to capture the thief. He had proceeded so cautiously that the burglar was not aware of any one stirring in the household, and when he reached the parlor door he saw a man endeavoring to pry open the buffet where he kept his silver. Leveling his revolver at the thief, he shouted, "Stop, or you are a dead man," and he had the burglar completely at his mercy.

The "jimmy" dropped from his nervous hands, and the gentleman was advancing to secure him, when to his infinite horror he perceived that it was his younger brother whom he had thus detected in the act of crime. Both stood motionless for a moment, and then the unfortunate wretch, dropping on his knees, cried out: "As God is my judge, Robert, I did not know that you lived here!" The other believed him, and bidding him sit down, asked him what could have led to the commission of such a crime. 'Twas the old story. Liquor and evil companions. That night the would-be burglar slept under the roof of his forgiving brother, who, when he told this strange story to our reporter, declared with tears in his eyes that he intended to save him, if possible, and was going to give him employment in his own store. He said if he could only reclaim his erring brother it would be the best and dearest Christmas present he could expect. The reckless man appears to be truly penitent, and this extraordinary meeting may be the means of saving him from the State's prison or even the gallows.—San Francisco Bulletin.

The Presidential Election.

In the following table is given the actual vote for Grant and Greeley Presidential Electors in all the States in the Union. The highest vote cast on each ticket has been taken wherever attainable. In Georgia and a few other States the average vote is given. Under the head of "Scattering" are included the votes of O'Conor and Black, the straight-out Democratic and Temperance candidates. Their vote, however, has not been returned from all the States. In the cases of Louisiana the vote is given as declared by the Lynch-Longstreet Returning Board. The figures as declared by Warmoth's Returning Board, were: For Grant Electors, 58,352; Greeley Electors, 66,267:

	Grant.	Greeley.	Scattering.
Alabama	90,272	79,441	....
Arkansas	41,296	38,448	....
California	54,044	40,749	1,068
Connecticut	50,638	45,880	429
Delaware	11,146	10,208	....
Florida	17,765	15,428	8
Georgia	62,712	76,278	4,000
Illinois	241,248	184,770	3,058
Indiana	186,144	163,637	1,417
Iowa	131,233	71,119	2,202
Kansas	66,942	32,970	721
Kentucky	88,970	100,208	2,374
Louisiana	71,663	57,029	....
Maine	61,422	29,087	....
Maryland	66,760	67,687	....
Massachusetts	144,472	59,260	....
Michigan	138,455	78,355	4,144
Minnesota	54,558	34,327	94
Mississippi	82,403	47,287	....
Missouri	119,196	151,433	2,429
Nebraska	18,245	7,705	....
Nevada	8,413	6,236	....
New Hampshire	37,184	31,421	308
New Jersey	91,661	76,801	606
New York	440,719	387,279	1,655
North Carolina	94,304	69,494	....
Ohio	281,852	244,321	3,425
Oregon	11,813	7,745	587
Pennsylvania	349,689	211,901	....
Rhode Island	13,665	5,329	5
South Carolina	72,290	22,703	224
Tennessee	83,655	94,391	....
Texas	47,406	66,500	2,580
Vermont	41,480	10,926	553
Virginia	92,953	91,424	42
West Virginia	32,323	29,533	600
Wisconsin	104,993	86,477	834
Totals	3,592,984	2,833,847	23,293
Grant's majority	759,137

Loss of Life on the Lakes.—From the statistics of the loss of life upon the great lakes during the present season, it appears that 189 persons were drowned, and of this number 113 were lost with the vessels upon which they were engaged. The other 76 cases were those of sailors who fell overboard and were washed off by heavy seas. This loss of life seems sufficiently large, but the total number of such casualties is 61 less than during the previous year. As we stated the other day, there were 863 disasters to vessels upon the lakes during the year, and this fact, taken in connection with the loss of life, shows that the navigation of the lakes is not less hazardous than that of the ocean. When the warnings of the Signal Service Bureau come to be more generally established and heeded at the lake ports, we may hope for a large reduction in this annual destruction of life and property. —N. Y. Times.

Methodism and Its Branches.

The Northwestern, in an article on "Thirty Methodist Branches are Too Many," gives the latest statistics of Methodism throughout the world:

Churches.	Ministers.	Mem. and Prob.
IN THE UNITED STATES.
Methodist Episcopal	9,790	1,422,000
Methodist Episcopal, South	3,000	631,000
Methodist Episcopal, Colored	100	13,000
Evangelical Association	624	73,000
Methodist	694	68,000
Methodist Protestant	423	70,000
American Wesleyan	250	20,000
Free Methodist	90	6,000
African Methodist	20	2,000
African Methodist Episcopal	620	200,000
African Methodist Zion	700	164,000
Eleven churches	16,161	2,647,000
IN THE CANADAS AND BRITISH AMERICA.
Wesleyan Methodist	600	69,600
Western Methodist East British America	170	16,120
Methodist Episcopal	280	21,500
New Connection Methodist	90	8,200
Primitive Methodist	70	7,100
Bible Christian	....	....
Methodist Episcopal of British America	....	....
Independent Methodist Episcopal	....	....
Eight churches	1,100	122,520
ENGLAND, IRELAND, SCOTLAND, ETC.
Wesleyan, England and Scotland	1,700	367,000
Wesleyan, Ireland	180	21,000
Wesleyan Missions	340	78,500
Primitive Methodist	373	162,000
United Free Methodist	390	67,000
New Connection	240	32,000
Reform Union	600	8,000
Bible Christian	250	27,000
Christian Methodist, Ireland	....	9,000
Seven Churches	4,673	771,500
AUSTRALIA, POLYNESIA, ETC.
Wesleyan	350	67,500
United Free Methodist	12	700
New Connection	15	200
Three churches	377	68,400

Or, in the aggregate, there are not far from 30 Methodist divisions, literally dividing the services of 22,361 ministers and 3,609,420 members.

Editorial Opinions.—An advertisement is, as a general rule, an elaborate eulogium on the merits of something which the advertiser desires to sell. The editors and publishers of the paper in which it aspears are not responsible for its statements. Sometimes, however, highly important discoveries or inventions, announced to the world through the business department of the press, seem to demand a few words of editorial commendation. We have no hesitation in saying that the excellent medicine introduced by Dr. Joseph Walker, of California, under the name of Vinegar Bitters, belongs to this category, and has a just claim to a favorable notice. There can be no doubt as to its utility as a tonic, stomachic and alterative. We are cognizant of many instances in which it has cured cases of chronic dyspepsia, supposed to be incurable, and know that the estimation in which it is held as a remedy for bilious and nervous disorders, intermittent and remittent fevers, rheumatism and general debility, is founded on experience and well deserved. The testimony of "a cloud of witnesses" goes to show that it is eminently useful in a large majority of the disorders to which the human family are subject. The fact that it contains no alcohol commends it to the confidence of that large and increasing class of the community who insist that all spirituous stimulants are active poisons.—[Com.

High Living in Prison.—A New York paper says: Though G. F. Train is testing the regular prison fare at the Tombs, the murderers are found by visitors to be continually becoming more luxurious. The cells of Stokes, Scannell, and Sharkey are handsomely carpeted, papared, and provided with rugs. Stokes has a French set of furniture, dressing-case, library, and canary bird. Scannell and Sharkey, also, have libraries and rich furniture. All smoke the best cigars, and converse all day long through the gratings with their visitors. King's and Foster's rooms are not so imposing as the other salons, though they have carpets and library. Simmons is having a "Tombs parlor" fitted up, which will eclipse all others in luxury. The meals of this elite of murderers are supplied by the choicest caterers in the neighborhood.

The purest and sweetest Cod Liver Oil in the world is Hazard & Caswell's, made on the sea-shore, from fresh, selected livers, by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in the market.—[Com.

We were pleased to see, not long since, in one of our exchanges, some pretty severe remarks addressed to several persons who, during an interesting lecture by Rev. Jno. S. C. Abbott, kept a continuous coughing, which prevented many from hearing. People who cannot refrain from coughing had better stay away from such places, or else take a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment with them.—[Com.

The importance of giving Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders to horses that have been out in the cold rain, stood in cold wind, or drank too much cold water, cannot be over estimated; no man should be without them who owns a good horse.—[Com.

"You can't scold people out of their sins," but it is no trouble to coax gentlemen to wear the Elmwood Collar, for they all like it.—[Com.

Experience will teach any man that it is advantageous to patronize those who advertise in newspapers.

A Talk About Tonics.

The object of a tonic is to increase the elasticity and strength of the muscular fiber, and to invigorate the general system. As a means of accomplishing these ends, it is expected to improve the appetite and the digestive power of the stomach. These are certainly important considerations; but to cure dyspepsia, bilious affections, chronic debility, intermittent fever, and other complaints involving derangements of the liver, the bowels, the nerves, and the secretive organs generally, something more than a mere tonic is required. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be safely pronounced the best and most wholesome invigorant extant, but the other special medical properties which belong to this remarkable vegetable restorative have as much to do with the wonderful results it produces as its tonic virtues. For example, it has certain alterative qualities which literally change the habit or constitution, re-establishing the healthy functions of the body without causing any undue evacuation by perspiration, vomiting or purging. Its entire effect is to put the whole machinery of life in perfect order, to purify all the fluids, including the blood and the bile, and not only to operate as an antidote to disease, where it exists, but so to strengthen, regulate and otherwise improve the condition of the system as to render it proof against vicissitudes of temperature, change of water, infected air, and other predisposing causes of liver and bowel disturbances and epidemic disorders. Hence it is a medicine for all seasons and climes—useful alike to the traveler and the resident in an unhealthy region, and an invaluable safeguard against the physical disturbances which accrue from cold, damp, inclement weather, as well as against the mental depression which is apt to overwhelm the weak and nervous at this somewhat gloomy period of the year.

THE WEEKLY SUN.

Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

The Best Family Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Agricultural Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Political Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Newspaper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Has All the News.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Story Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Fashion Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Market Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Cattle Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Paper in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

Pints and Quarts of filthy catarrhal discharges. Where does it all come from? The mucous membrane lining of the chambers of the nose and its little glands are diseased, so they draw from the blood its liquid and exposure to the air changes it to corruption. This life-liquid was to build up the system, but it is extracted and the system is weakened by the loss. To cure, gain flesh and strength by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which also acts directly upon these glands, correcting them. Also apply Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, the only method of reaching the upper cavities where the discharge accumulates and comes from. The instrument and two medicines sold for $3 by all druggists.—[Com.

Poisonous Bites.—Prof. "Anderson's Dermador" instantly cures Bee Stings, Wasp Stings and Mosquito Bites. It neutralizes the poison and removes the Pain and Swelling in a few moments. It should be applied at once. The writer has used it many times without a single failure. It will be equally effectual in neutralizing and extracting the Poison from the Bites of all Venomous Insects or Reptiles. No one traveling in the woods should be without it.

See advertisement in this paper.—[Com.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" which would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, often attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief.—[Com.

"The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion, is prepared from the prescription of a well known Physician.—[Com

The worst tax of all—Attacks of gout.

A CHALLENGE

Is extended to the world to place before the public a better cough or lung remedy than ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

Verily it Hath No Equal.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ!

Would you cure that distressing cough, and bring back that healthy vigor till lately planted in your cheek? If you would, do not delay; for, ere you are aware, it will be too late.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

Is your hope. It has been tried by thousands such as you, who have been cured; many, in their gratitude, have lent their names to us, that suffering humanity can read their evidence and believe. Don't experiment with new and untried mixtures—you cannot afford it—but try at once this invaluable article. It is warranted to break up the most troublesome cough in a few hours, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction in all cases of lung and throat difficulties.

UNSOLICITED EVIDENCE OF ITS MERITS.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

WHAT WELL-KNOWN DRUGGISTS SAY ABOUT ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

Springfield, Tenn., Sept. 11, 1872.

Gentlemen: Ship us six dozen Allen's Lung Balsam at once. We have not a bottle left in our store. It has more reputation than any cough medicine we have ever sold, and we have been in the drug business twenty-seven years; we mean just what we say about the Balsam.

Very truly yours,

HURT & TANNER.

AGAIN READ THE EVIDENCE from a Druggist who was cured by use of the Balsam, and now sells it largely:

L. C. Cottrell, Druggist at Marine City, Michigan, writes, Sept. 12, 1872: "I am out of Allen's Lung Balsam. Send me half a gross as soon as you can; I would rather be out of any other medicine in my store. The Lung Balsam never fails to do good for those afflicted with a cough."

It is harmless to the most delicate child.

It contains no opium in any form.

It is sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Do not be deceived. Call for ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and take no other.

Directions accompany each bottle.

J. N. HARRIS & CO, Cincinnati, O.,

Proprietors.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

To let a Cold have its own way is to assist in laying the foundation of Consumption. To cure the most stubborn Cough or Cold you have only to use judiciously Dr. Jayne's Expectorant.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.

Beeves—Good to Prime	12 @	13½
Common	9 @	11
Hogs—Dressed	5½@	6¼
Cotton—Middling Upland	20⅞@	..
Flour—Superfine Western	5 75 @	6 25
Wheat—No. 2 Chicago	1 58 @	1 60
Barley—No. 2 Western	1 05 @	..
Corn	64 @	66
Oats	45 @	51
Pork—Mess	13 50 @	..
Lard	7½@	8½

CHICAGO.

Beeves—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 00 @	5 50
Medium	4 50 @	4 75
Common	3 00 @	4 00
Inferior	1 75 @	2 50
Hogs	3 55 @	3 85
Flour—White Winter Extra	7 50 @	9 50
Red Winter Extra	6 50 @	7 55
Wheat—No. 1 Spring	1 24½@	1 25
No. 2 Spring	1 20½@	1 22
Corn—No. 2	35½@	36
Oats—No. 2	24½@	25
Rye—No. 2	67 @	68
Barley—No. 2	64½@	65
Butter—Choice	25 @	28
Eggs—Fresh	28 @	30
Pork—Mess	11 00 @	11 40
Lard	7 @	7¼

ST. LOUIS.

Flour—Extra	5 50 @	5 75
Wheat—No. 2 Spring	1 24 @	1 25
Corn	31 @	35
Oats	26½@	27
Rye	75 @	..
Barley	70 @	..
Hogs	3 30 @	3 70

CINCINNATI.

Pork—Mess	12 00 @	..
Lard	7½@	7¾
Hogs	3 75 @	3 90

MILWAUKEE.

Wheat—No. 1	1 30 @	..
No. 2	1 22 @	..
Oats—No. 2	26 @	..
Corn—No. 2	33½@	..
Rye—No. 1	70 @	..
Barley—No. 2	70 @	..

CLEVELAND.

Wheat—No. 1 Red Winter	1 70 @	..
Corn—Mixed	45 @	46
Oats—No. 1 State	36 @	37

TOLEDO.

Wheat—No. 1 Red	1 68½@	..
No. 2 Red	1 63 @	..
Corn	37½ @	38
Oats	32 @	33

Mike McCoole, the pugilist, who in 1868 was married in a magnificent manner to Miss Mary Ann Naughton, is now seeking a divorce in a St. Louis court. He alleges that Mary Ann has been unfaithful.

What Next? "The January number of this sprightly juvenile magazine is crowded with excellent things that the young folks will like, and parents will approve. 30 cents a year, with a beautiful $1.00 chromo to each subscriber. A boy or girl is wanted in every neighborhood to raise a club. Specimen 3 cents. John B. Alden, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.—[Com.

DOOLEY'S THE YEAST BEST POWDER

TRY IT. SOLD BY GROCERS

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents. Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

Write for large Illustrated Descriptive Price List of Double, Single, Muzzle and Breech-Loading Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Pistols, etc., of every kind, for men or boys, at very low prices. Guns, $3 to $300; Pistols, $1 to $25.

Agents Wanted. $75 to $250 per month, everywhere, male and female, to introduce the GENUINE IMPROVED COMMON SENSE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. This Machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, quilt, cord, bind, braid and embroider in a most superior manner. Price only $15. Fully licensed and warranted for five years. We will pay $1000 for any machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful, or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the "Elastic Lock Stitch." Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay Agents from $75 to $250 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made. Address SECOMB & CO., Boston, Mass.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; or St. Louis, Mo.

BOOK AGENTS, and other Canvassers now at work, can learn how to increase their income $18 a week (sure), without interfering with their regular Canvassing, by addressing F. N. REED, 139 Eighth-st., N. Y.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

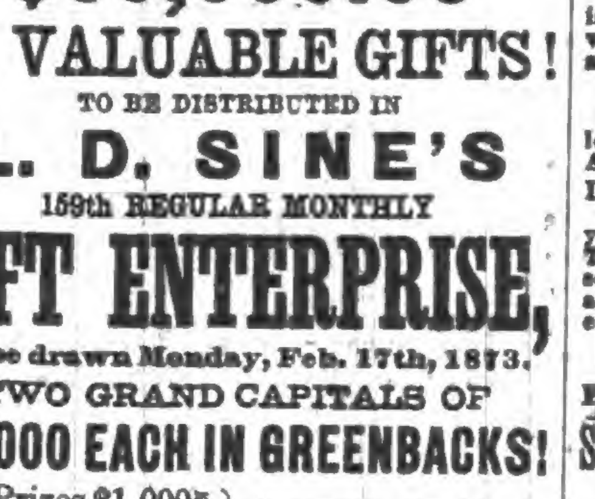
263 RECEIPTS WHICH COST $135

Sent on receipt of 10 cents.

Address HY. BENJAMIN, St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED for the New Illustrated Book WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST. 30 years of adventures among the Indians, &c. Thrillingly interesting and fast selling. For terms, Address F. A. HUTCHINSON, Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 260 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.



GIFT ENTERPRISE

The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!

$60,000.00

IN VALUABLE GIFTS!

TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN

L. D. SINE'S

159th REGULAR MONTHLY

GIFT ENTERPRISE,

To be drawn Monday, Feb. 17th, 1873.

TWO GRAND CAPITALS OF

$5,000 EACH IN GREENBACKS!

Two Prizes $1,000 EACH } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500
Ten Prizes $100

One Horse and Buggy, with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $600! One fine-toned Rosewood Piano, worth $500! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! Five Gold Watches and Chains, worth $300 each! Five Gold American Hunting Watches, worth $125 each! Ten Ladies' Gold Hunting Watches, worth $75 each! 800 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches (in all) worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.

Whole number Gifts 6,500. Tickets limited to 60,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.

Single Tickets, $1; Six Tickets, $5; Twelve Tickets, $10; Twenty-five Tickets, $20.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other Information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to

MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.

A NOBLE CHARITY.

OMAHA LOTTERY

TO ERECT THE

NEBRASKA STATE ORPHAN ASYLUM.

To be Drawn in Public, March 31st, 1873.

Tickets $1 Each, or Six for $5.

Tickets sent by Express, C. O. D., if desired.

1 Cash Prize $75,000 | 1 Cash Prize $25,000
1 Cash Prize $15,000 | 1 Cash Prize $10,000
1 Cash Prize $5,000 | 1 Cash Prize $4,000

For balance of Prizes send for Circular.

This Legal Enterprise is indorsed by his Excellency Gov. W. H. James, and the best business men of the State.

The limited number of Tickets on hand will be furnished to those who apply first.

AGENTS WANTED. For full particulars, address

J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Omaha, Neb.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Throat and Lung Difficulties.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, 194 Penn street, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

PROF. ANDERSON'S

DERMADOR.

Good for Man.—Inflammation of all kinds, Diphtheria, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Sprains, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Swelling of the Glands, Inflammation of the Eyes, Broken Breast, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Piles, Bee Stings, and all Sores.

Good for Beast.—Fresh Wounds, Galls, Poll Evil, Sprains, Bruises, Cracked Heels, Ring Bone, Wind Galls, Spavins, Sweeney, Founder, Lameness, Sand Cracks, Scratches, or Grease, Mange, Horse Distemper.

This truly wonderful Liniment was discovered by HOMER ANDERSON, A.M., late Professor of Chemistry and Mathematics in the Clinton Liberal Institute, of Oneida County, N.Y. In experimenting for the purpose of making Prussic Acid, by uniting the independent gaseous bodies of which it is composed, a residuum was left, which, on being applied to bruises and inflamed parts, by the students of the Institute, was found to possess the remarkable property of cooling down and carrying off the inflammation and soreness at once, and restoring the parts to soundness and health in a few hours without pain or irritation.

It is not a heating Liniment, but acts by its peculiar specific or chemical qualities in dissolving and scattering the soreness and inflammation of the injured part. By a free application, the red surface soon becomes cool, moist and natural, and is restored to natural health without suppuration or destruction.

As a Liniment for Horse Flesh, for the cure of all the ailments named above, we challenge the world to find its equal.

Price 25 & 50 cents per bottle.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Propr's,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

See notice in local column.

MERCHANT'S

GARGLING OIL

IS GOOD FOR

Burns and Scalds,	Rheumatism,
Chilblains,	Hemorrhoids or Piles,
Sprains and Bruises,	Sore Nipples,
Chapped Hands,	Caked Breasts,
Flesh Wounds,	Fistula, Mange,
Frost Bites,	Spavins, Sweeny,
External Poisons,	Scratches, or Grease,
Sand Cracks,	Stringhalt, Windgalls,
Galls of All Kinds,	Foundered Feet,
Sitfast, Ringbone,	Cracked Heels,
Poll Evil,	Foot Rot in Sheep,
Animal & Insect Bites,	Roup in Poultry,
Toothache, &c., &c.	Lame Back, &c., &c.

Large Size $1.00; Medium 50c.; Small 25c.

The Gargling Oil has been in use as a Liniment since 1833. All we ask is a fair trial, but be sure and follow directions.

Ask your nearest Druggist or dealer in Patent Medicines for one of our Almanacs and read what the people say about the Oil.

The Gargling Oil is for sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other countries.

Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present, and are unsolicited. Use the Gargling Oil, and tell your neighbors what good it has done. We also manufacture

"MERCHANT'S WORM TABLETS."

We deal fair and liberal with all, and defy contradiction. Write for an Almanac.

Manufactured at Lockport, N. Y., by

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL COMP'Y

JOHN HODGE, Secretary.

[illegible] er with [illegible] olden [illegible] hould be [illegible] system, [illegible] cifically, [illegible] d lining [illegible] unicating [illegible] uld be ap- [illegible] Douche, [illegible] yet invented [illegible] ch fluid medicine can be carried high up [illegible] rfectly applied to all parts of the affected passages and chambers in which sores and ulcers exist, and from which the discharge generally proceeds.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven, that the proprietor offers $500 Reward for a case of "Cold in Head" Ozena or Catarrh which he cannot cure. The two medicines with instrument, for $2, by all druggists.

THE QUEEN'S TOILET,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion, and removing

Tan, Sunburn, Freckles and all Eruptions on the Skin

This preparation is the only one of its class which is prepared from a Physician's Prescription, and of which a bona-fide analysis accompanies each bottle as a guarantee of its

PURITY AND GENUINENESS.

Printed on the wrapper of every bottle is the following certificate from Prof. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer and Chemist for Massachusetts.

Drs. S. S. Fitch & Son:

Gentlemen: "The Queen's Toilet" received from you has been analyzed with the following results: This is a purely vegetable preparation, free from poisonous metals or injurious substances of any kind; and it is composed of ingredients having known emolient and healing properties. Respectfully,

S. DANA HAYES,
20 State street, Boston.

Price $1 per Bottle. Sold by all Druggists

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

These are the only Medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck, of Philadelphia, has been in constant practice for over thirty years, continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines, if properly taken, will cure Consumption. His Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach and aids digestion. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion. For sale by all druggists.

GOOD PAY FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

Subscribers wanted for

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.
THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

$3.00 per Annum, in Advance, including

"The Gleaners," a beautiful Chromo (17½x23½).

Send for Circular and Specimen copy.

JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE,
Rev. Wm. Ormiston, D. D.,
Rev. John Hall, D. D.,
T. Adolphus Trollope,

And other eminent persons write for

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

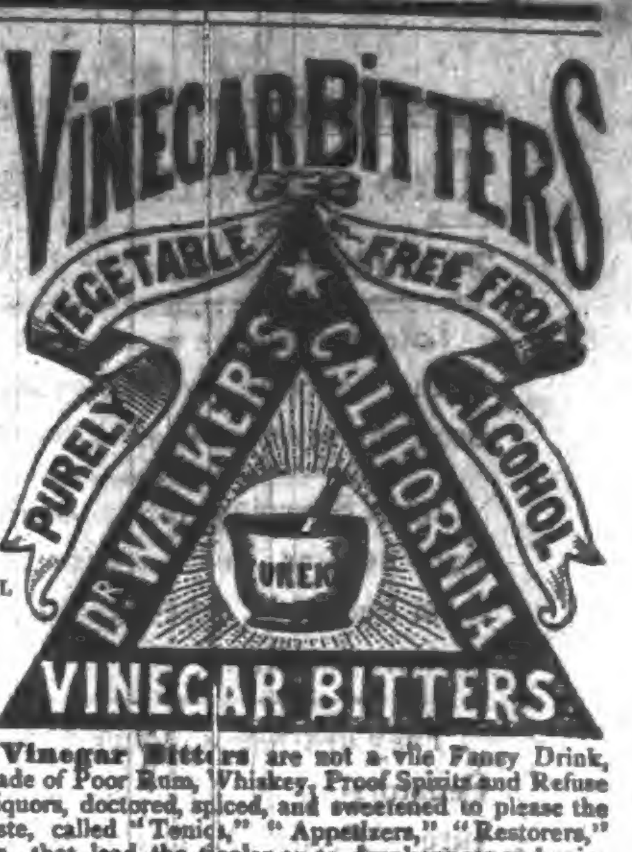
6 New Church-st., cor. Fulton, New York.

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, D. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.



Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it [illegible] equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

[illegible] Female Complaints, in young or old, [illegible] or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the tu[illegible] these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influen[illegible] marked improvement is soon perceptible.

Fo[illegible]atory and Chronic Rheuma[illegible]t, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remitte[illegible]mittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, [illegible] and Bladder, these Bitters have been most [illegible] Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blo[illegible] is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, [illegible], etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Dis[illegible]s, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their [illegible] curative powers in the most obstinate and intract[illegible]cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

THE NEW SCALE

HAINES
HAINES BRO'S

27 Union Square, N. Y.

Undoubtedly the best Square Piano made.

Send for Circular with Illustrations.

Prices ranging from 350 to 700 dollars.

Every Piano WARRANTED for Five Years.

SEND 10 cts. for sample copy and prospectus of the Matrimonial News. P. O. Box 807, Chicago, Ill.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

$50—VALUABLE—Send three-cent stamp for particulars. DOBSON, HAYNES & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier
Thursday, January 16, 1873

Late dispatches say that the winter in the extreme northern States has been the severest ever known.

Lyde Sherman, for poisoning only eight persons, in Connecticut, three of them husbands, was sentenced to penitentiary for life.

They are having a hot figh. over the Senatorship in the Missouri Legislature. Frank Blair is a candidate for re-election, but everything don't seem to be in his favor.

A statement of the public debt for December has been made which shows an increase of 1,364,000. Now since the election is over, the debt is increasing, though it was claimed all through the campaign that it was gradually decreasing. The fact is, that, now that there it nothing to gain by misrepresentation, the truth is giv[illegible]d the matter wears a different[illegible]lexion than it did before. W[illegible]at if the truth was known, th[illegible] be found in a worse state [illegible]erally imagined.

Charles Lewis Napoleon Bonaparte, died at Chiselhurst England, last Thursday. The remains laid in State until Wednesday, when they were buried with becoming pomp, Like his uncle he died an exile on English soil. But it was in the book of fate that, like Napoleon 1., he should die an exile. The coincidence between him and his uncle was extraordinary, and may well have caused him to believe that he was the heir of destiny Both were second sons of their father. One was 45 years old when he lost the Imperial Crown, and the other was 45 when he gained it. Both were elected Cheif Magistrate for France, for a term of years, then for life, and then were made Emporers. Both were married and had one child each by their marriage, and that child a son. It was on the second of December that the First Napoleon was declared Emperor, and that same day of the month, the Third Napoleon struck the blow that eventually gave him the Crown. The First Napoleon had an exile of one year and an imprisonment of six years after he lost the throne. The third Napoleon was also exiled for a year and imprisoned for six years, before he entered upon his imperial destiny.

How he was Caught.

Mr. Schuyler Colfax, is by all [illegible] the most remarkable of our pu[illegible] By an industrious cultivatio[illegible] art to please, he has cut a qu[illegible] pectable figure, in national politic[illegible]— Whenever a charge has been preferred against Colfax, that reflected upon his honor as a man or honesty as an official he had but to come among his old "neighbors and friends' in the 'Bloody IX,' with his hand upon his heart and that smile more of heaven than of earth, deny the soft impeachment, and there was an end of it. Indeed, so blandly did Mr, Colfax exorcise the evil spirit that was playing havoc with his reputation, that most of people were ashamed that they had ever entertained any doubt as to the good man's purity of heart, and rectitude of intentions. He was always serene—as 'child like and bland,' as Mr. Nye's Heathen Chinee. Mr Colfax repeated his old role of injured innocence, last summer at South Bend after it had been charged upon him that he was a holder of stocks in the Credit Mobiler. How he waved away the insinuation of dishonesty and was so ingenious in his statement, that the public, who were not up to the tricks of Mr. Colfax's rhetoric, imagined that he was laying bear his heart, and their eyes were reading all its inner workings. But there never was a prettier deception, It was so after the Colfax school of political jugglery, that it was easily recognized under the varnish of plausibility that was given the reputation of the Credit Mobiler scandal. Unfortunately for Mr. Colfax, a committee of Congress has been investigating this matter, and they find the charges made against him are true in substance and in fact, notwithstanding he turned his eyes towards Heaven and with his hand upon his heart, solemnly denied them at South Bend, last summer. He' has not been guilty of sharing the plunder of guilty men but lied like a villain in denying it.—But then his pious lie was "good enough Morgan, until after election," and this is what it was told for.—Pharos.

The telegraph informs us that there is no prospects for the passage of a Postal Telegraph bill this session of Congress. This may or may not be so.

Secretary Boutwell, of the Treasury department, is a candidate for the United States Senator, before the Massachusetts Legislature. It is thought he will be elected.

WASHINGTON January 3d.—The annual report of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, made public to-day, says that the pressure of trade from the Northwest has constantly shown the desirableness and necesity of a line of railway, entirely under the control of the Baltimore and Ohio Road, from Chicago and through the extensive and fertile intermediate regions, to Baltimore. For the purpose of effecting this connection, with the least practical delay, it has been determined to construct a road from a point about ninety miles north of Newark, on the Lake Erie Division to Chicago a distance of 260 miles. The line has been located with low grades, and is singularly direct. It is expected that the entire road will be placed under construction, within a brief period, and thus through this extension, in connection with the Lake Erie and Central Ohio, Divisions, and the Baltimore and Ohio Road, an admirable, economical, and effective line from Chicago only 811 miles to Baltimore, and by the Metropolitan Branch but 784 miles to the city of Washington, can be built and in use, in 18 months. The point of divergence of this road from the Lake Erie Division, has also been selected as the proper location for a junction, of a proposed line from Pittsburg, Washington and Baltimore Railroad, and between Wheeling and Pittsburg and Chicago, and the North west will ultimately be concentrated upon this route,

The Largest

CLOTHING

HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

S. Lauferty

[illegible]

R[illegible]DE

[illegible]

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

A large assortment always on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

Davenport & Co.,
DEALERS IN
Drugs, Medicines,
CHEMICALS.
TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES
Perfumery, Soaps,
Brushes, Patent Medicines
School and Blank Books.
Slates, Writing Paper
Envelopes,
Wall and Window Paper,
Tin'ed, Guilt and Embossed Paper,
Oiled, slate and Linen
Window Shades!
and all kind of Shade Fixtures.
PURE WINES and LIQUORS,
for Medical Purposes.
Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.
F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

J. A. BOOZER. E. S. BLATTNER.

BOOZER AND BLATNER
Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.
Waterloo, Ind.
Have now opened for the
FALL & WINTER
TRADE
those Fashionable styles of
Dress Goods
Such as:

Areola Cloth,	Queen's Own,
Brittanna "	Brocades,
Balerno "	Silk Stripes,
Turko, "	Corded Maca

Also
Ottoman Scarfs
And
SHAWLS in Endless Variety!
Brown and Bleached
Cotton Flanels
CARPETS & VANDYKES
Boots & Shoes,
And the latest styles of
HATS and CAPS,
We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.
BOOZER & BLATTNER

Another Explosion
IN High Prices

Messrs. WOOD & WILLIAMS

Want the people of DeKalb and surrounding counties to know that they have now the largest, finest and most extensive assortment of

Dry Goods
GROCERIES,
HATS and CAPS!
BOOPS & SHOES
&c., ever exhibited in Auburn. Also
Dress Goods,
of all kinds, at the lowest figures,
FOR CASH.
Call at Case's old stand, and see the fine display. No trouble to show you goods. Produce taken at the highest market price.
WOOD & WILLIMS.
J. J. WOOD, Ada, Ohio.
E. E. WILLIAMS, Ashland, Ohio.

Fruit House!
BULLETIN
Prices for the Holidays!

GREAT REDUCTION ON
Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits ot the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	30, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.
At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	9 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 50, and 95c
Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.
10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquey double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	35 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old '76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Diquor	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, in all different kinds	25c

Wax Candles for Christmas Trees.

All different sizes, from 1½c to 3c each. All kinds of goods for Santa Claus, at one half the usual Price.

Fine Fresh Oysters,
AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.
Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box
You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the
FRUIT HOUSE.

EXTRAORDINARY SLAUGHTER
—OF—
DRY GOODS,
—AT—
C. ORFF & CO'S.

We will offer for sale for 60 days some of the greatest
BARGAIN!
Ever Offered in FORT WAYNE.

BARGAINS IN DRESS GOODS!

We have just received a splendid line of new Dress Goods, such as Cashmeres in all new shades, Empress. Satins, Serges, all wool Dia[illegible]nals, Albanian Cloths in shades, etc., which, by having purchased late in the seasson, we can afford [illegible] sell for less than they were sold in New York City four weeks ago by the Jobbers; and we have m[illegible]ked all of our other Dress Goods to correspend with these pricef.

Cashme[illegible], all the new shades, 1¼ yards wide, reduce to $1.25 Pic h is less than they have ever been sol for

All-wool gonals, for 75 cents;	worth	$1.00 to 125
New Sades in Albanian Cloths,	75,	1.00 to 1·25
Silks and Wool Velours,	1.00	1.50
20 pieces Irish Poplins,	1·35	1.75
20pieces 28-inch Velours,	1.35	150 to 175
Satins in new shades,	1.00	125
	75	1.00
	50	75
100 pieces Japanese Stripes at	30	40 to 50

We have picked out a large lot of Dress Goods which we will sell for 25 cents per yard. Amongst which will be the cheapest lot of Dress Goods ever in Ft. Wayne.

GREAT REDUCTION IN
Black and Colored SilKs!

We have made a reduction of 20 to 30 per cent. on our stack of Silks

Shawl, Cloak and Fur Departmnt!

We have in this department the largest stock of the above goods of any house in the city, and we have the greatest bargains in Cloaks, Shawls and furs ever seen in the city.

New Ottoman Shawls!

At	$9.00,	worth $12.00
At	8.00,	worth 11.00
At	7.50,	worth 10.00
At	4.00,	worth 6.00

Plaid Shawls long and square, in immense quantities and at prices less than before the war.

☞Once more, we have BARGAINS for you in every Department, and mean what we say.

You want the Goods and we want the Money; so give us a call.

C. ORFF & CO.,
No. 5 and 7 COLUMBIA-St., FORT WAYNE, IND

XC—N. Y. S.—XC.
FALL TRADE
1872.
ROOT & Co.,
Prepared for a Vigorous
CAMPAIGN!!
The Popular and well known
New York Store!
The Great "Headquarters for
Cheap dry Goods

Buying and Selling Strictly for CASH!

Combined with the advantages [illegible] York Buyer, enables us to offer our patrons, at all times, the largest and most attractive stock of be

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC
DRY GOODS!
At Lower Prices than any competing house in the Trade.

Now Opening
New Fall Dress Goods,
New fall Shawls,
New fall Calicos,
New stock Black Silks,
New line Black Alpacas,
New Lot Fancy Silks.

Also full lines of Blankets, Flannels clots, cassimeres, jeans, woolen yarns, colored and white carpet chain, cotton yarns, battings, &c.

Also, our usual large and complete stock of domestic cotton goods, including all the popular brands, at

Very Low Prices!

ROOT & CO's
Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

Pianos AND ORGANS
WATCHES and JEWELRY!
Silver and Plated Ware,
Spectacles and gold pens,
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated
JEWELRY
Fancy Toilet Sets.,
Opera guard & vest chains,
—AT—
ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!
Also a full line of toys for
THE HOLIDAYS!
CLOCKS
Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Base Viol Strings, Piano, Organ,
and all kinds of Instruction Books!
Watches & Clocks,
Abright & Shepherd

McDOUGAL'S
CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

The snow has left us.

Daylight is increasing.

Go to Bill's for a good shave.

The weather, last week, was very cold.

Live porkers plenty last week and this week.

Tax sales will be valid five years according to the new law.

Hon. Wm. Williams has our thanks for valuable public documents.

Protracted meeting is now going on at the M. E. Church, in this place.

Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks was inaugurated Govenor of Indiana last Monday.

From the stuff in some of our exchanges not very far off, we would suppose that locals were scarce.

The sleighing has been splendid for four weeks back. Little mercy was shown toward horses last Sunday.

The drifting snow caused some little delay on the trains of the Saginaw road last Thursday, for the first time this year.

Auburn has only one saloon. We dont believe there is a county seat in the State but what can beat that, doubtless to their discredit.

The Methodists are holding a protracted meeting at this place. Owing to the illness of Rev. Mr. Cone, for several days past, no special progress has been made.

Jacob Hibler, charged with shooting his wife, and whose trial has been in progress during the last two weeks at Fort Wayne, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

There is to be a grand fox hunt in Huntington county next week. We wish them as much success, at least, as we had in this county last winter—plenty of hunt, but no foxes.

The State Teachers Association at Logansport, last week, seems to have been largely attended, and though but little direct action was taken, the session was no doubt prolific of much good to all in attendance.

The dance at Corunna, last week, was not very largely attended, and resulted in what is commonly called a failure. But several of the Auburnites were there, which, no doubt, accounts for its poor success.

The Common Pleas Court will convene next Monday, Judge Clapp presiding. We hope that those of our subscribers who intend being present, will give us a call with a dollar or two, for there's nothing so handy as a dollar or two.

Maj. Sprott and Son have purchased the boot and shoe establishment lately owned by C. S. Hare, deceased. As the Major is well known in this part of the country, there is little doubt that he will receive a large and profitable trade.

A series of meetings is now going on at Sedan. Last Sabbath eve., while the church was thronged with people, sleighs could be seen coming from every direction.—The good feeling that prevails in this place will certainly result in great good.

A little daughter of Mr. Kime, of Ligonier, was burned to death a week ago.—The Banner says the little girl had gathered some shavings in her apron, and in attempting to place them in the stove, fire was communicated to her clothing.

Some of our subscribers complain about the greatest bore of our community, the paper borrower. We hope they will read this and then reflect that a paper worth reading is worth paying for, and step up and subscribe, and be an independent American citizen.

Justices of the peace should bear in mind that the law requires them on the first Monday of January and July of each year to pay into the county treasury, all fines collected by them. Those who have neglected this duty will perhaps save cost by attending to it before the next meeting of the county commissioners.

Edwin Adams, the great tragedian appears at Colericks Opera House, Thursday evening Jan. 16th. In the great play of Enoch Arden he stands unrivalled, and those of our citizens who want to see something grand in the way of acting, far above the ordinary, will find this the greatest treat of the season. Quite a number intend to be present.

Notice is hereby given to the members of Way Lodge, No. 238, I. O. G. T. that at the regular meeting Jan. 27th. '73, there will be elected three trustees to serve one year, or until their successors in office are elected and qualified.

By Order of the Lodge,
C. M. Browne, Sec'y.

A fellow was recently seen to get off the cars in this city, and appeared to be in a healthy condition. In a short time he was seen tying up his legs and otherwise disguising himself, as an unfortunate cripple. After arming himself with crutches, he sallied around town begging for money, and showing his unfortunate condition, by exhibiting his bandaged legs. He was finally detected and made to leave town. Laporte Argus.

A. E. Touzalin, Esq., one of the most efficient railroad men in the country, and for some years General Passenger Agent of the popular Burlington route, has been appointed to the position of General Manager of the Land Department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, with headquarters at Topeka.

Bryne's Dramatic Company have engaged the Good Templar Hall, for three nights, and will open next Saturday evening with Tennyson's admirable production of "Dora." The company is highly spoken of wherever they have exhibited, and all lovers of the drama will be pleased to know that we are to have a first-class entertainment

And now comes Mrs. Shultz and certifies that she is the wife of a shoemaker on Wayne street, in Fort Wayne, and there upon she is inflicted with $180,000 in gold. from the old country. Shultz, her husband, married her for the house and lot she had and see his reward. Boys, go for houses and lots—and ten to one you'll never get a cent in gold, like poor Mr Shultz.

S. U. Tarney has been installed as the successor of Smith & Hare in the grocery business, and is making new and extensive arrangements for an increased trad We think Mr. Tarney just the man for the business, and it wont be long before he will make things hum. This is the only store that does an exclusive grocery business, and we believe it can be made a feature of the place.

The Indianapolis Sentinel the best paper now published in the State, comes to us, with a new head and dress, and presenting a typographical appearace not surpassed by any in the country. The Sentenel is an advocate of principles more than party, and has taken an independent stand politically as will be seen by prospectus in another column. We are glad to see this journal take the highest position in the State in the newspaper line

NOTICE.

After a brief absence, I have returned to settle permanently in the flourishing town of Auburn, to be one of her citizens in prosperity or adversity, hoping I may receive a fair share of the social and professional considerations of the people. I will say: any and all reposing professional confidence in me will receive prompt and earnest attention.

J. J. Littlefield, M. D.
Auburn, Ind., Jan. 14, '73.

It is a very difficult matter to change the old fogy notions of many of our people. They have always held it a sacred duty they owe themselves, not to exhibit the least public enterprise or do a single act that would not directly benefit themselves, hence they allow the snow and ice to remain on the sidewalks in front of their houses for no other cause than that their forefathers did the same.

The Index, a God-forsaken paper, published at Toledo, ask the country press to help it in spreading the following:

We demand that all laws directly or indirectly enforcing the observation of Sunday as the Sabbath shall be repealed.

We demand that the employment of chaplains in Congress, in State Legislatures in the navy and militia, and in prisons, asylums, and all other institutions supported by public money, shall be discontinued,

And several others equally absurd.—When such ideas as the above are advanced by men of good standing, brains, who have the common respect of their fellow beings, we may have more reason than at present for doing so. Selah.

Glorious good sleighing. Fun, enjoyment and good cheer every where. Sleigh and sled are brought into requsition, and load after load sallies forth to seek that which we have and yet know it not. The cold weather has a compressing effect, and how the girls do like it. Think of a dozen or more of both sexes huddled into a space of an ordinary wagon box all a giggling and fidgeting, each covered with a buffalo robe, hair side out, and you have the pleasant side of sleighing. Imagine a fellow sitting on a log in Cedar Creek for two hours with his feet in the water and you have the other. But there's fun in sleighing; oh yes, who cares for Zero or any other man, as long as we are told there's fun in sleighriding.

The Press, last week, says that the Commissioners feed us. If it is fair to say that the laborer, working hard every day, is fed by his employer, then are we fed. We work for a compensation, the same as any other person. This dodge, however, does not prevent all from seeing the very small hole which our neighbor has crawled into relative to their misrepresentations. The illiberal, bigoted and absurd ideas of the editors of that paper upon anything pertaining to respectability, especially when these interfere with the jealously which they have tried to work up between the two places, have become so proverbial that very little importance is attached to them. They actually imagine themselves four fifths of the county, according to the last paper, and now say that a Court House built under the Administration of their party, not ten years ago, is not fit to have a good fence around it. We would prefer the decision of a mind free of prejudice and disease, with a strength of a little more than that of a puking babe, not gangrened with jealousy, possessing an intelligence indicative of its training in a higher order of beings than that of a Choctaw Indian, and located in a trunk not so much resembling that of a Jackass, Selah.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

One of Our Citizens Killed.

Last Sabbath, Robt Hall in company with his sister and another lady, visited the town of Butler in a sleigh, driving a spirited animal, the property of Mr. Grimes of this place. In crossing the railroad track at that place, the grating of the sleigh upon the iron caused the horse to run throwing Mr. Hall out, but he still held on to the lines and was dragged the width of the street, when his head struck a post near the pavement. He lived but about three hours. The horse ran nearly a square when the girls were thrown out but in such a way to receive little injury.

Robert was a young man, the partner of Mr. Martin in the harness trade, of this place, a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, with a good reputation for honesty and sobriety so that his sudden demise is largely regretted, and all sympathize with the relatives of the decease in the terror of this sudden bereavement.

From the Logansport Pharos.

The Detroit, Eel River & Illinois R. R.

This important line is now in successful operation, and the business men of our city are reaping a rich reward in the way of trade from the fine country in opens up. The road bed is in excellent condition for a new road, and first-class rolling stock is being put on the track almost daily. Several new engines have been ordered and will be in operation in a few days. The road from Auburn, to Logansport, was built by D. L. Quirk & Co., of Detroit. They also built the Detroit, Hillsdale & Indiana road, which is run in connection with D. E. & I. road.—The work is done in a most substantial manner. In short, the road was not built to sell, and the firm of Quirk & Co. are largely interested in operating it. Next year the firm will build a road from Aubur to Saline, Michigan, which will give them a direct line, and will greatly lessen the distance between this point and Detroit. It is already the shortest line to Detroit by about fifteen miles. The D. & E. R., via Great Western and Erie & North Shore is as short as any other route from Logansport to New York, and the passengers have the pleasure of crossing Suspension Bridge.

The towns and villages along the line of the road are already showing signs of new life. New buildings are being erected and the surrounding country is rapidly improving. The first station of importance, east of Logansport, is Mexico.—Large quantities of lumber, stock, and all kinds of produce, are shipped from this point. Roan, eleven miles east of Mexico is also a good shipping point. North Manchester, ten miles east of Roan, is the largest town between Logansport and Columbia City. Its population is about fifteen hundred, and it is a lively place for business. It is growing rapidly, and a good class of buildings are being erected Columbia city, 56 miles east of Logansport, is the county seat of Whitley Co. It has a population of three thousand, and is in the midst of a rich, fertile farming Co. Many substantial brick business houses have been built during the past two years, and preparations are making for extensive building next season. There are some fine church edifices and good school buildings in the city.

Auburn, the present terminus of the D., E. R. & I. road, is a pleasant, thriving town. The population is over two thousand, and a large number of first-class business and dwelling houses have been built during the past year. Its population is increasing rapidly and it will soon be numbered among the important cities of northeastern Indiana.

Good passenger depots and freight houses have been built at Auburn, Columbia City, North Manchester, Roan, Denver and all the points along the entire line except Mexico, Adamsborough and Logansport. Good buildings will erected at the latter points early in the spring.

The officers of the road are experienced railroad men, well fitted for their respective positions. H. C. Goodell is Superintendent—headquarters at Detroit. J. J. Grafton, Assistant Superintendent—head quarters at Denver. F. Milligan is general freight agent, and Robert Rills general ticket agent; both located at Detroit. C. B. Mattoon is ticket and freight agent at this point, with R. H. Davidson, assistant; office in Dolan's Opera House.

The completion of this important line, after years of patient waiting marks a new era in the history of our growing city. Nineteen years ago the road was projected and several miles graded. Work was suspended during the dark days of the Indiana free banking system, and was not resumed until recently when the enterprising firm of D. L. Quirk & Co. contracted the road to Logansport. James S. Collins, the Presidenhas worked zealously for its completion, and the citizens of the Eel River Valley owe him a debt of gratitude for his valuable services which they will not soon forget.

The papers that are published on the credit plan, are sending up their periodical howl for their debtors to settle up.—They beg for wood, they beg for pay in anything, but usually get nothing, and generally suspend for the want of support The only safe and satisfactory way is to sell your paper for cash, and pay cash for what you get. This makes it nice and satisfactory all around.—Ligonier Banner

Truer words were never spoken. The, credit system in the newspaper business has ruined many a deserving and qualified man. No "city" publication has been printed on that plan for years—then why should country publishers persist in so damaging a system.—Indianian.

Yes, but how consistent it is for publishers to pretend to adhere to the advance system, and credit just as much as others who make no such pretention. We know of such an instance, not a thousand miles from this county.—Kendallville standard.

You are right, Meyers. Many publishers claim the cash system when they actually credit as much as those who do not make such claims. In fact our system is as much a cash system as their's. We give our subscribers any time during the year to pay. Some have fooled us and a very few have run two years. We propose to drop these and put their accounts in good hands for collection. But we have a large proportion of as fine gentlemanly and honorable subscribers as we could wish and we are determined to have none but that kind hereafter.

Chromo.—Every subscriber to the Fireside Favorite for 1873, paying $1.00, will be entitled to a fine Chromo of Whittier's Barefooted Boy, that retails for $3.50—as a preium. The favorite is an eight page family paper. For specimen copies send to John P. Peabody, Salem, Massachusetts Agents wanted.

The Credit Mobiler job is being ventilated by a Committe of Congress. It did not amount to much before the election, but it assumes fearful proportion now.

A Representative House.

Among the multitude of different branches of trade in Fort Wayne, none are of more importance than the boot and shoe trade. This branch is well represented; prominent among them all is the shoe house of Markley, Schrader & Co. They came to Fort Wayne in 1866, and by their gentlemanly deportment and close attention to business, they have acquired a trade perhaps not excelled by any house in their line. Not satisfied with bargains given their customers heretofore, they propose to do still better for them in the future. Their stock is very large, being a full line of everything needed for mens, boys and youths, women, Misses and childrens wear. They are giving great bargains; one cannot know how cheap they are selling, unless they call. Examine the goods and learn prices, We advise all in want of boots, shoes or rubbers to give them a call. tf.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of Rebeca Nugen, deceased, will offer for sale at public out-cry at the late residence of the deceased in Jackson township DeKalb county, Indiana, on Saturday, January 25, 1873, the personal property of said estate, consisting of horses, cows hogs, wagon, fanning-mill, and other farming utensils. corn and kitchen and household furniture. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Terms, all sums of $3 and under cash, over $3 a credit of nine months will be given by purchaser giving note with interest and approved security, waiving valuation or appraisement laws. If not paid when due ten per cent from date No goods allowed to be removed until above conditions are complied with.

JOHN COY. Adm'r.
Dec. 20. 1872.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein the Merchants National Bank of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is Plaintiff and Thomas D. Gross and William H. Dills are defendants requiring me to make the sume of one hundred and sixty-three dollars and sixty-three cents., with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following reel estate, to-wit: Lots No. eight, 8, nine, 9, ten, 10, nineteen, 19, twenty, 20, and twen ty-one, 21, in Gross and Dills' addition to the town or Auburn, in DeKalb county, Indiana.

SATURDAY, JANURARY 25th, 1873.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and cost I will at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs. Sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

Wm. L. Meese, Sheriff.
H. E. Altenburg, Dep'y.
Guy Plum, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO,

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN.

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 10'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law, as no special License can be given Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Tachers do not commence their schools without license

J. A. BARNS, Exam'r

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT
AND SALOON.

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

No. 89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana.
CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

J. C WICOFF,

Auctioneer
Waterloo, Ind.

Holds himself in readiness to Auctioneer, Sell or Trade Propertp at any time Headquarters at Leas' Livery Stable. 3m. Dec. 5

Auction Sale.

I. Lauferty & Son.

South-east corner of Columdia and Calhoun Streets.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Will commence selling at Auction their entire stock of Fashionable Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods on SATURDAY, JAN. 11th 8873.

at 10 o'clock a. m., and from day to day thereafter until the entire stock is sold

WE QUIT THE BUSINESS!

Now is your time to buy

GOOD GOODS!

at your own prices. Remember on Saturday morning Jan. 11th. Call soon as they will go fast.

I LAUFERTY & SON.

People's Convention

Everybody's Ticket!

The People's Choice.

CHEAP, CHEAPFR, CHEAPEST.

Save Your Money and Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnithing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,

No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

The Mother's Help.

The Childen's Friend.

MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great

PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Blothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

DRY GOODS

GEO. DeWALD & CO.

WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS

—IN—

Dry Goods or Notions,

CALL AT THE STORE OF

Geo. DeWald & Co.

No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WYNE,

Where can be found a large assortment of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

which will be sold LOW for cash.

ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET

The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introuuce, we are offering

ONE DOLLAR

THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

A sure and permanent cure for Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Imperfect Digestion, and all diseases arising from a disordered state of the Liver and Blood.

LIVER STIMULANT AND CATHARTIC

It acts directly on the Liver, increasing the flow of bile into the stomach and bowels, and by its cathartic properties purges the system of all diseased matter. As a family medicine, it has no equal.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Price $1.00 per Bottle.

PREPARED BY
W. B. HURD & CO.,
NASHUA, N. H.

FOUTZ'S
CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

DAVID E. FOUTZ, Proprietor,
BALTIMORE, Md.

For sale by Druggists and Storekeepers throughout the United States, Canadas and South America.

Davenport & Co., Agt's.

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

A passenger train on the Pittsburgh and Erie railroad ran off the track near Moravia, Pa., the other day, and was precipitated down an embankment thirty feet high. Two of the coaches were burned, but all the passengers succeeded in getting out alive. Twenty of them were injured, but none seriously.

The trial of Stokes for the murder of James Fisk, Jr., was brought to a close in New York on the 4th inst., and resulted in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. On retiring, the jury stood ten for murder and two for manslaughter. They were absent three hours. On the announcement of the verdict the prisoner was visibly affected. He turned ghastly pale, and threw his arms in the air with a gesture of utter despair....Financial advices from New York and the East express the belief that the ruling monetary stringency must soon give way to an easier feeling.

Stokes was brought into the New York Court of Oyer and Terminer, the other day, to receive his sentence. The prisoner was asked what he had to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him. Stokes said that he had not violated the law intentionally; that the testimony upon which he was convicted was manufactured and perjured. Judge Boardman, then, in a feeling address, in which he alluded to the prisoner's youth and social surroundings, sentenced him to be hanged on Friday, the 28th day of February next, being the longest time that could be legally allowed the convicted man. The drisoner looked gentlemanly, and bore the scrutinizing gaze of the thousands of spectators led by morbid curiosity. He was ashy pale. The sympathy of most of the spectators was with Stokes, and it is believed that Gen. Dix will exert executive clemency.

A bitter and exciting journalistic war is raging in New York. A dispatch of the 9th inst. says: All the papers in the suit of the Tribune against the Times and the Brooklyn Union have been served, and the Tribune will press for trial as early as possible. There is a prospect of a lively row among the newspapers in the next few weeks. The Tribune and the World are making common cause against the Times, and savage compliments are exchanged daily. The Herald is not in the fight at present, but will probably take a hand on the side of the Tribune and World. The Journal of Commerce approves the Tribune's course in bringing the libel suit, and intimates that it has suffered from stories similar to that which causes the present row....Deaths in Brooklyn the past year numbered 12,648....Mrs. Sophia M. Hiltsman and William J. N. Sheppard were foully murdered at Moravia, N. Y., by John Hiltsman, husband of the former. ....Stokes has been taken from his luxurious quarters in the Tombs, and confined in the murderer's cell. One ground on which the verdict will be attacked by Stokes' counsel is the remark said to have been made by one of the jurors, between the first and second trials, that he would be "juror next time; then you will see what will happen to Stokes."

The Democrats of New Hampshire have nominated James A. Weston for Governor.... It is said the Erie Railway Company is about to sue Drew and Vanderbilt for the restitution of money of which it is claimed they defrauded the company....Henry C. Bowen, of the Brooklyn Union, has sued the New York Tribune for a large amount because the Tribune copied from the Brooklyn Eagle an article alleging that Bowen was responsible for the scandal about Rev. Henry Ward Beecher in regard to the Woodhull-Claflin publication against him. ....Stokes, the murderer, has been removed to his old cell. It is said this is the first instance in 31 years in which a prisoner, confined in the Tombs and convicted of murder, has been allowed to occupy any but a condemned cell.... A diabolical attempt at wholesale incendiarism was discovered and frustrated in New York the other day. A twine merchant named Kidd had carefully prepared a train of fuse connecting his premises with adjoining buildings, whereby they could be set on fire. He was arrested, and his office boy testified to seeing him making the fuses. Three large warehouses were involved in this attempt, and but for the discovery a heavy conflagration would have ensued, as trains of fuse were nearly all laid in the upper stories and from roof to roof.... A meeting of old soldiers of the war of 1812 was held in Philadelphia on the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans. Only twelve answered to roll-call.

Petitions are circulating in New York for signatures, praying Congress to annex the Sandwich Islands to the United States....The war among the New York newspapers waxes warmer daily, and some sanguine persons are anticipating duels in consequence. It is said the Times is about to bring a libel suit against the World, for a recent publication in which the private life of parties connected with the Times is freely ventilated. Mr. Bowen, of the Brooklyn Union, threatens half a dozen suits against the Tribune.... The compositors of the New York Tribune, at a meeting the other day, approved the proposition that the printing offices in the United States give one or more pounds of old type each for the purpose of making a statue of Horace Greeley, to be erected over his grave in Greenwood, and ask the compositors of the country to give the proceeds of 1,000 ems, set up on February 3 next, the sixty-second anniversary of the birth of Mr. Greeley, the money to be forwarded to the President of the New York Typographical Union No. 6, at 22 Duane street, New York, of which Union Mr. Greeley was the first President.... The billiard match for the championship of America, played at New York on the 9th inst., between Cyrille Dion and Maurice Daly, was won by the former, by a score of 1,500 to 1,147. Largest runs: Dion, 156, 141, 125 and 105; Daly, 159, 153, 117, 124 and 108. Fifty-nine innings were played....Napoleon, it is said, made several investments in New York during the past year, and owned nearly a million dollars' worth of property in that city....Mrs. Carr and her three children were burned to death, in Delaware county, Pa., last week, by the explosion of a lamp.

The West.

The fine residence of ex-Gov. Dewey, at Cassville, Wis., was burned recently. Loss, $75,000....The coal-miners' strike at Springfield, Ill., has ended, the workmen having accepted the old rates....Two brothers, named William and David Clarkson, both butchers, aged respectively 69 and 71, were found frozen to death in their beds in Pike county, Ill., recently. They were known to be extremely miserly, and it seems that, notwithstanding they were wealthy—being worth $20,000, had money in their pockets, and an abundant supply of coal at hand—they froze to death because they were too stingy to burn their wood. These deaths were certainly most extraordinary....A Morgan county, Ill., farmer, has brought suit for $10,000 damages against the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company, for communicating the Texas cattle fever to his stock....Frederick Rupp, editor of the Belleville (Ill.) Zeitung, recently committed suicide by hanging himself in the doorway of his office....Decatur, Ill., has been excited over an attempt of some fiend to poison a family by putting arsenic in the well. All the family, consisting of seven persons, partook of coffee made from the poisoned water, and were only saved by the arrival of prompt medical aid.... Delphi, Ind., has had her little blaze, for which she pays $25,000....The officers of the Masonic Lodges of Omaha publish a card repudiating the gift concert scheme advertised in that city "to aid in building a Masonic Temple."....Two steamboats, a ferryboat and several coal barges were sunk by the ice at Madison, Ind. Loss, $75,000.

The town of Wadena, Clayton county, Iowa, was recently the scene of a horrible murder. A party of young men, while under the influence of liquor, seized a youth of 17 years, named [illegible] Durland, and, procuring a horse, they tied him, Mazeppa-like, on the back of the beast and galloped him up and down the streets of the village. Having satisfied their spirit of deviltry, the fiends finally cut the thongs that bound the now unconscious boy to the horse, and left him at a house near by. The next morning he was found dead, with blood and froth standing on his lips.

Utah last year shipped 10,957 tons of ore, 5,653½ tons of base bullion, and silver bars to the value of $6,000,000....A cattle disease has made its appearance in Western Ohio, which proves fatal in a very few minutes....Chicago has been the scene of another cold-blooded murder, the victim being an inoffensive Swede named Lars G. Larsen, who was assailed by a mob of roughs while quietly walking the street, and stabbed to the heart....A train was thrown from the track of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, near Peoria, last week, by which a number of persons were seriously injured.

The Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad employes, disapproving of a ten per cent. reduction of their wages, recently went on a strike and locked up all the switches of the road.

Two children were scalded to death at Decatur, Ill., recently, by one of them pulling over a coffee-pot filled with the boiling fluid. ....Four persons were recently killed by the explosion of the boiler of a steam mill, in Hillsdale county, Mich....Advices from Arizona state that Gen. Crook is waging a war of extermination against the murderous Apaches.

The South.

New Orleans and Nashville each had a $75,000 fire on the 3d inst....Hon. A. O. P. Nicholson fell on the slippery pavement at Nashville, the other day, and was seriously injured.

The best portion of the town of Carlisle, Ky., has been destroyed by fire....The Arkansas State Reform Convention met at Little Rock on the 7th, and adjourned over to the 14th. The State House was closely guarded by Federal troops, on account of threats made by some of the Reformers to take possession of the building....The trial of Mrs. Wharton, for the murder of Eugene Van Ness, was commenced at Baltimore last week....The "Arkansas troubles" seem to have occasioned no trouble whatever so far as the inauguration of the Governor was concerned. The election returns were canvassed by the Legislature, and Baxter, the Republican nominee, declared elected and sworn in. Brooks, the opposition candidate who claims to have been elected, has brought suit to contest the election, and the question is left wholly to peaceful settlement by the law....The Fusion or anti-Pinchback Legislature assembled in New Orleans on the 6th, and, contrary to general expectation, their coming together was unproductive of riot and bloodshed. This result was due to the fact that Gen. Emory had received orders from Washington to notify Pinchback (who had threatened to disperse the Fusionists at the point of the bayonet) that no Federal troops would be furnished to break up any body of men claiming to be a Legislature, or otherwise assembling peaceably. An immense concourse of citizens, estimated as high as 30,000, assembled around Odd-Fellows' Hall, the place of meeting. The crowd were peaceable and orderly, but firm and determined. Troops were quartered in close proximity to quell any outbreak.

Col. William M. Grosvenor has retired from the chair editorial of the St. Louis Dispatch....The entire Republican State ticket has been declared elected in Arkansas, and the new officers have been sworn in....A New Orleans telegram of the 8th inst. says: "The city is very quiet. The Pinchback Legislature was in joint session, counting the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. In the House of the People's Legislature there were fifty-eight members and a quorum present. In the Senate there was no quorum."

New Orleans' oldest has just died—Andrew McDonald—age 104—native of Ireland.

Washington.

It is now generally believed at the capital that Hon. William M. Evarts will assume the portfolio of the State Department on the 4th of March....The President has intimated to Secretary Belknap that his presence in the Cabinet will be entirely acceptable after the 4th of March....Gen. Cowan will ask for a full investigation of the alleged Teton Sioux swindle....The Postmaster-General has decided that families, firms, or companies cannot combine to rent postoffice boxes concertly, but that the box rent must be collected for each firm, family or company enjoying such facilities....The internal revenue receipts for the last quarter of 1872 were $26,330,025.

A Washington dispatch says: "The President has directed the Secretary of State to prepare immediately an executive order in effect prohibiting persons holding United States commissions from occupying office under State authority."....It is stated that Secretary Boutwell adheres to his former opinion that Congress last year made too large a reduction in taxation, and that he expects further increases of the public debt hereafter....The President authorizes a contradiction of the statement relative to the proposed retirement of Secretary Fish and the appointment of Mr. Evarts as his successor....President Grant has pardoned two more Ku-Klux out of the Albany Penitentiary....A Washington correspondent says well-informed members of both houses of Congress express the opinion that there is no hope for the passage of the Postal Telegraph bill during this session.

Hon. Charles Sumner's health continues to decline, and his friends are becoming apprehensive. He is not able to take his seat in the Senate, nor to take part in public affairs. His chief trouble, as in the case of Mr. Greeley, appears to be sleeplessness....The President has expressed his intention of not calling an extra session of the Senate for executive business after the 4th of March, unless something of importance requiring it should transpire before that time.

The House Commerce Committee are busily engaged in perfecting Shellabarger's bill for the revival of American commerce....The House Committee on Public Lands have agreed to Ketchum's bill prohibiting the sale of public lands within the limits of any railroad grant at less than $2.50 per acre....A bill has been introduced into the House, providing for the issue of $25,000,000 of National Bank notes in addition to the amount authorized heretofore. These notes are to be distributed to banks in States and Territories which failed to receive their due proportion of currency under previous apportionments....The Finance Committee of the Senate has been instructed to report whether Secretary Boutwell has the right to issue legal-tender notes in place of the forty-five millions of bank notes cancelled by the act of 1866.

Foreign.

Randolph Stewart, ninth Earl of Galloway, died in London recently, aged 72....The coast of England has been visited by another violent tempest....Kaiser William has conferred the order of the Black Eagle upon Bismarck....It is stated that an understanding has been arrived at between England and Russia with regard to the war against Khiva, the Czar assuring the English Government that he has no hostile designs on Afghanistan.

John F. Pawson & Co., of London, dealers in Manchester goods, have failed for $15,000,000. It is feared other failures will follow

The British Government declines to aid the Royal Geographical Society in sending out an Arctic expedition....Greece has consented to submit the question of the Laurium mines to arbitration....The new census of France shows the population to be 36,102,921, a decrease of 366,935 since 1866....The commercial treaty between France and Great Britain has been finally concluded....The irrepressible Carlists are growing more troublesome in Spain.... The city of Bogota, in South America, has recently suffered a disastrous inundation, caused by the overflow of two small rivers.

President Morrales, of Bolivia, was shot dead by his nephew, on the 5th inst., on account, apparently, of political differences. A successor was at once elected by the Bolivian Congress....Louis Napoleon's condition is improving....Several Internationalists, with Orsini bombs in their possession, have been arrested at Paris....The French Assembly has ordered the prosecution of a Deputy for acting as second in a duel.

While Sir Charles Dilke was addressing a meeting in Derby, England, a few nights ago, a mob attempted to disperse the meeting. The adherents of Dilke resisted, and a severe struggle ensued, in which several persons were injured, and many windows broken, the fighting lasting over an hour. Great excitement prevailed. Order was at length restored, and the meeting brought to a close. A large crowd arrived with sticks and bludgeons, and escorted the speaker and his wife to their hotel....A dispatch from Chiselhurst, England, of Jan. 9, says: "The announcement that the ex-Emperor Napoleon is worse creates much alarm among the adherents of the family. His sufferings are acute, but his strength and endurance great."....It is said that M. Riviere will soon present his final report of the preliminary investigation in the case of Marshal Bazaine to the French Assembly. The conclusions arrived at by the investigating committee are decidedly unfavorable to the Marshal. His trial has, for political reasons, been postponed until the German troops have completely evacuated French territory....The Vienna Post contradicts the report that the Austrian Government is about to dispense with the services of Count Von Beust....The pioneer Protestant Church of Rome has just been consecrated in that city. Seven American clergymen took part in the ceremonies.

General.

Heavy snow-storms prevailed in Kansas and Missouri on the 3d, and in Kentucky and Tennessee on the 4th, being the heaviest snow-falls known in those regions for many years.

A bill to deal with murderous insanity has been brought before the Legislature of Ohio. It is similar to the bills prepared for the New York and Illinois Legislatures, in providing for the imprisonment of persons who escape conviction for murder on the plea of insanity.... Gen. Humphreys, Chief of Engineers, informs Congress that $2,887,462 has so far been spent on the canal around the Falls of the Ohio, and $2,769,200 on that around the Des Moines Rapids. The ship canal talked of to connect the Mississippi above the Delta with the deep waters of the Gulf will cost $7,500,000.... Senator Buckingham's bill, introduced into the United States Senate last week, adds another to the countless schemes for improving our currency. He proposes that banking be made free; that no interest be allowed on deposits; that banks may make United States bonds a part of their reserves, and may redeem their notes in coin, legal tenders, or National Bank notes. The bill further provides for the reciprocal convertibility of bonds and greenbacks.

The international pigeon-shooting match between Ira E. Payne, of New York, and James Ward, of Toronto, came off at Buffalo last week, and was won by Paine by three birds, he killing 43 out of 50....A horrible story of suffering at sea comes to us by way of New Orleans. Mr. Saville, first officer of the wrecked ship Golden Head, arrived in that city last week from Rio. The vessel was wrecked on the west coast of Patagonia in June last, and fourteen of the crew spent forty-eight days in two open boats in the Straits of Magellan. They were compelled, to save themselves from starvation, to devour the bodies of five of their companions who died from privation and exposure.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

Monday, Jan. 6.—Senate.—Sherman offered a resolution directing the Committee on Elections to inquire into the election troubles of Louisiana and Arkansas, with a view of determining who were chosen as Electors....Morton offered a resolution directing the same committee to report at the next session the most practicable mode of choosing a President and Vice-President of the United States. ....A resolution was adopted directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the propriety of repealing the National Bankrupt law, from and after Jan. 1, 1874....Ferry introduced a bill to set apart a portion of the Island of Mackinac as a National Park.

House.—Bills introduced: Hawley (Ill.), for a canal connecting the waters of Lake Michigan and the Illinois, Mississippi and Rock rivers; Parker (Mo.), to give the officers of the Missouri militia three months' pay; also, to pension the widows and orphans of soldiers murdered in Missouri in 1864; Orr, making Sioux City, Iowa, a port of entry; Hooper, providing for the convertibility of United States notes into coin after May 1, 1874....Wilson (Ind.) offered a resolution providing for a secret committee of five to inquire whether any stockholders of the Credit Mobilier hold bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, whether they obtained them for valuable consideration, etc. Adopted....Smith (N. Y.) offered a resolution for the erection of a monument at Washington in commemoration of the Geneva peace arbitration. Rejected....Sargent offered a resolution calling for information as to the suitability of the White House for the President's official and family residence. Adopted....A resolution was passed providing for public sessions of the Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee.

Tuesday, Jan. 7.—Senate.—Bills introduced: By Buckingham, to amend the National Currency act so as to allow free banking, and provides that United States bonds be counted in making up the legal reserve, and that banks may redeem their notes in bonds at par with accrued interest; it also provides for the redemption of Treasury notes in coin or with currency bonds bearing 3 65-100 per cent. coin interest, said bonds to be payable on demand; by Anthony, for improvement of overflowed lands of the Navy Yard at Brooklyn....Frelinghuysen offered a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the settlement of contests as to the election of Presidential Electors by the Supreme Court of the United States. ....Sherman's resolution of inquiry as to the late elections in Louisiana and Arkansas was adopted.

House.—The House Appropriation bill appropriating $18,884,933 was reported and made the special order for Saturday....House went into Committee of the Whole on the General Appropriation bill.... The Speaker announced the following select committee on the Credit Mobilier and Union Pacific railroad questions: Wilson (Ind.), Shellabarger, Hoar, Swann and Slocum.

Wednesday, Jan. 8.—Senate.—Bills were passed for the erection of public buildings at Evansville, Ind., and Grand Rapids, Mich.....A resolution was passed appropriating $20,000 to defray the expenses of the investigation into the Louisiana and Arkansas elections....A resolution was passed instructing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to the Modoc Indian troubles in Oregon.

House.—Bills passed: To readjust the western boundary of Dakota; to transfer to the Territories the control of the Territorial penitentiaries....Butler introduced an amendment to the Bankrupt act, excepting State corporations from its operation....Sargent offered an amendment to the Executive Appropriation bill increasing the President's salary from $25,000 to $50,000. Holman objected that the amendment was out of order, as it repealed a law. The Speaker overruled the objection, but on appeal to the House the ruling was sustained, and the amendment was lost.

Thursday, Jan. 9.—Senate.—Bills introduced: To raise the salaries of bureau officers in the Executive Department at Washington; to authorize the sale of the reservation of the Ute Indians in Kansas and Nebraska, and of that portion of the reservation of the Sacs and Foxes lying in Kansas; to incorporate the North Central Railway Company of Minnesota, and granting the right of way for its construction; to incorporate the European and American Land and Emigration Company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000; also, a number of other bills of minor importance....A bill was passed to prevent United States officers from practicing as attorneys in the United States Courts....Ramsey, from the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, reported the House bill for the abolition of the franking privilege; also, a bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at Lexington, Mo.

House.—A bill was passed for the admission of Colorado as a State....An amendment was offered providing for the admission of Utah, which was rejected....The bill to establish a Bureau of Emigration was referred to the Committee of the Whole, practically killing it.

The latest mooted project in the interest of navigation is the construction of a ship canal across Southern Michigan, following the course of the Kalamazoo river. This enterprise is advocated by a Chicago paper, which asserts that Chicago capitalists are equal to the undertaking. It is estimated that the project can be accomplished at a cost of $3,000,000.

There are thirteen newspapers in the country edited and published by negroes in the interests of their race.

A NEW YEAR HORROR.

Scenes at the Center Street Ruins—Identifying the Bodies by Parents and Friends—Terrible Condition of the Remains.

Five bodies were found in the ruins of the Center street fire yesterday. At 7:30 a. m. Capt. Kennedy put seventy-five men to work. A few moments later they dug up the remains of a human foot, the bones of a hand held together by shreds of muscles, and a pair of thick-soled women's gaiters burned to a crisp. These were carefully wrapped up and taken to the Franklin street police station. Their discovery seemed to corroborate the theory that the intensity of the fire had completely destroyed the bodies. Two hours later Sergeant Joseph Douglass unearthed the remains of a human body. It was burned almost to a crisp, had lost every vestige of the human form, and was only recognizable by the putrid smell which it emitted. At that time probably two thousand persons were in the immediate neighborhood of the ruins. The majority were attracted mainly by curiosity, but among the most anxious appeared the relatives and friends of the missing girls. As soon as the announcement was made that a body had been found, the crowd attempted to penetrate to the midst of the workmen, and it required the most strenuous exertions of the police to keep them back. A stretcher was procured, and the remains, carefully covered with a blanket, were reverently carried to the station. It was then ten minutes to 10 o'clock. Within the two hours which followed, three more bodies were found and carried to the station, where they were visited by crowds of people, who examined them in the vain hope of being able to identify a familiar feature of some recognizable article of dress.

At noon the men ceased work for dinner—all except Sergeant Douglass and a few police officers. They worked incessantly until they discovered another body, making five in all. The same stretcher was used, the same blanket covered the remains, and the same stir was created when the march towards the police station was begun. By this time the news that the bodies had been found had been telegraphed all over the city by Capt. Kennedy, and as it become generally known, an immense concourse of people collected about the station and the ruins of the fire. The scene in the men's lodging room of the Franklin street police station was a thrilling one. Amid the crowds who thronged that room and gazed with horror upon the ill-shaped masses were the almost heart-broken relatives of the dead girls, searching among the remnants of charred clothing which still adhered to the bodies for some familiar garment by which the remains might be identified sufficiently to justify them in giving decent burial to the ones they mourned. Suddenly the air became rent with shrieks as an aged woman threw herself on her knees at the side of one of the bodies, and, making the signs of the cross, prayed that God might take her soul and join it with that of her dead daughter.

"I know her," she cried, "by this cloth sack. See this scapular, (tearing it from the dead girl's bosom), I put it on my child's neck when she was baptized. I have seen the vision of my darling girl burning in the flames. Oh, Bridget, what a Christmas that was for you! Oh, God! is this my New Year's?"

It was Mrs. McGrath, who had identified her daughter. She had to be removed by main force, and for nearly an hour afterward the poor woman raved with anguish, until she was taken home by her son, the devoted brother who had spent seven days in the ruins searching for his mothers's darling. And what a sad sight it was for that grief-stricken mother and brother to look upon those remains. Both thighs and arms were completely burned away, one half the skull was gone, the brains had become baked and blackened by the fire, the skin was wasted, and on many parts of the body the calcined ribs protruded. And yet the shapeless, almost headless trunk was identified as all that remained of Bridget McGrath, who, one short week ago, was the life of a happy little household at 331 First avenue.

The heart-rending incident was soon followed by another equally as mournful. Mrs. Donohue, accompanied by her crippled son and a male friend, was frantically searching among the corpses for her daughters, Margaret and Mary, aged respectively 16 and 14 years, two beautiful girls who had been their mother's sole support ever since the death of her husband, who fell from a scaffold two years ago and was almost instantly killed. "I want my children," the almost insane mother cried. "I know they are here. I made their clothes and can tell them. Oh, God! let me see them once that I may die to be buried with them. Have I lived so long to die childless? Must I now beg my bread and cry over my children's graves? Take pity, oh, Lord, on a poor widow who mourns her children. Good Lord, I'll die with them," and the poor woman swooned away. When taken into the open air she revived. Her only words were: "Take me home that I may die."

The body of Margaret Donohue, the elder, had been roasted until it resembled a huge lump of charcoal. Both legs were burned off below the knee, both hands had been broken off, but still hung on by shreds of burned flesh, which looked like leather thongs, the skin was blackened, the extremities of the bones were denuded of all flesh, and the top of the skull was gone. Neither flesh nor hair was to be found. The teeth, even, were blackened by the smoke, the sockets left eyeless, the mouth tongueless, and the face without a nose, all indicative of the fierce nature of the flames.

Mary Donohue's body was still more repulsive. The knees were drawn up until they almost reached the stomach; the right arm, almost fleshless, blackened and burned, was apparently struck lifeless while trying to keep off the scorching flames and the blinding smoke from the face, and the left arm was turned back, as though the poor child had been reaching backward to catch the hand of one of her companions in hopes of escaping the inevitable fate of destruction. Shreds of clothing stuck to the few remaining particles of flesh which had not been burned away, and coiled about the tiny bones were the wires of a hoop-skirt, which had apparently been melted and become part of the carcass.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Bell, of 337 East Ninth street, recognized the remains of Margaret and Charlotte Bell, also by their clothing, and the latter was more fully identified by the absence of a false tooth, which she usually wore next the eye tooth on the right side of the upper jaw. The cavity was there, but the tooth had dropped out. Mr. Bell had worked hard and constantly in the search for the remains of his only sisters. He spoke of them as children, though both were his seniors in years. He said they were devoted to each other in life, and he felt that they would not be found separated in death. And his prediction proved true. The sisters, when found by Sergeant Douglass, were clasped in each other's arms some distance from the other bodies. They, as well as the others, had doubtless attempted to descend the stairs. There, being cut off by the flames and the ascending smoke, they had tried to reach the fire escape. Then, probably blinded by the dense smoke and awed by the near and rapid approach of the flames, they embraced each other, and thus, as they had lived united, they died united. When separated, the elder, Margaret, had her left arm twisted over the back part of her head, and the right arm was doubled up, as though it had clafped her sister around the waist. Both feet had been burned away, but portions of the breast which had without doubt been in contact with her sister's breast, were only slightly discolored with smoke. The extremities of the body were blackened and charred, and a mass of crinoline almost surrounded the body. Charlotte Bell had lost both hands and the right leg. The trunk was a mass of blackened flesh and bone almost ground to powder. The skull was fractured into a hundred pieces and crumbled into dust when touched. Brain matter was effused through the fissures of the fractured skull, and the whole emitted a sickening odor. Its identification was considered impossible until Mr. Bell claimed it as the body of his youngest sister.

The charred and disfigured bodies of the victims were place in neat rosewood coffins, stvdded with silver nails. The remains of the Donohue sisters and of the Bell sisters were then removed to Mr. Kennedy's, 470 Pearl street.—New York Sun, Jan. 2.

Ease in Society.

"I'd rather thrash in the barn all day," said Reuben Riley to his sister, as he adjusted an uncomfortable collar about his neck, "than go to the pesky party. I never know what to do with myself, stuck up in the parlor all the evening. If the fellows would pull their coats off and go out and chop wood on a match, there'd be some sense in it."

"Well, I hate it as bad as you do, Reub," said sister Lucy. "The fact is, we never go nowhere, nor see anybody, and no wonder we feel so awkward when we happen to stir out."

The remarks of his brother and sister were but the echoes of the sentiment of many other farmers' boys and girls when invited out to spend a social evening. But poor Lucy had not hit the true cause of the difficulty. It was not because they seldom went to any place, but because there was home and company manners. The true way to feel at ease in any garb is to wear it often. If the pleasing garb of good manners is only put on upon rare occasions, it will never fit well and seem comfortable.

Learn to behave properly at home, to cultivate yourself. Do not sit or stand or lounge about in an ungainly attitude, but acquire a manly, erect bearing. I have never seen such vigorous, hardy manhood in any class as among cultivated farmers' sons. Let table manners be especially looked after. If you are so unfortunate as to have a mother who is careless in this regard, you must do the best you can to remedy the early defects in your home training. Note carefully how well-bred people behave, and do your best to imitate them. It is noble to be an imitator of that which is good and beautiful. Above all, if you wish to be at home in society, fill your brain with ideas. Set your mind at work. Wake it out of the sluggishness it would naturally sink into if you were only a plodder and nothing more, by good, stirring thought. Take the newspapers and read them thoroughly. Knowledge is a power in more senses than one. If you go into society with something in your mind worth talking about, you will not fail to find listeners who will treat you with respect; and where you are well received, you will not fail very soon to find yourself at ease.—Country Gentleman.

Growth of Liverpool.

If Liverpool continues to increase as a port at its present rate, it will soon be the largest in the world, and there can be little doubt that this will be the case, for the growth of American commerce means also the increase of every species of commercial activity in Liverpool. The very large scheme of dock extension which will probably be decided upon soon, has greater interest for others than the owners of ships who trade to and from the Mersey. It is a question whether application shall be made to Parliament to carry out all of three plans for the enlargement of the docks, or whether one, and if only one, then which, of the schemes that are known in Liverpool as the north, east, and south extensions. All three will have ultimately to be adopted for the increase of shipping making use of the docks is at present 236,000 tons per annum. With this very considerable annual increase, and a gross revenue which last year amounted to more than one million sterling, with enlarged accommodation bringing larger receipts, the Liverpool Dock Board are in a position to undertake quite as large an extension of their dock system as is designed. History presents few, if any, more wonderful examples of commercial growth than that of the port of Liverpool. In 1757 the dock dues amounted to only £336 15s; in 1850, very nearly a century later, they had reached £242,989 14s 9d, and now, in the year 1872, the great necessity is still for accommodation. The need will become greater as the colonies and independent States of the East and West continue to develop their latent resources.

The members of Congress from Wisconsin are moving in the important matter of returning the roving bands of Winnebago Indians to their reservations.

Why is a volume of Shakespeare bound in old calf like the rock of Gibraltar? Because it is bound to last.

Personal.

Moncure D. Conway is lecturing in Scotland on "The Devil."

[illegible] Greeley said to Tilton: "My great ambition is death."

Senator Alcorn, of Mississippi, has had twenty children and been twice married.

W. F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," has resigned his position as member of the Legislature.

J. N., the wandering philosopher, was fined in Eufala, Ala., the other day, for drunkenness.

Bret Harte, in his lecture on the Argonauts of '49, says that stealing and civilization came together.

An Indiana man has five children, named Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Alex. Hemster, a negro barber of Portsmouth, O., has come out as a sculptor, and threatens to rival Edmonia Lewis.

Archbishop Bayley, the recently elevated successor to Archbishop Spaulding, of Baltimore, is dying of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Fort Scott, Kan., wanted a church, and Tim Jackson, a leading gambler, turned in $2,000 toward the project, and will give more if they want it.

Rev. Dr. Haight declined the Bishopric of Massachusetts in obedience to medical advice warning him that his delicate health at his age—67 years—would fail under the labor and responsibility.

"Ned Buntline" has sweetly sold the morning press of St. Louis by procuring himself to be arrested on the stage. His profits are at least $1,000 of tip-top advertising, as all the papers worked the arrest into about three columns of sensation and bloody history.

Among the persons arrested in the recent raid on the leading gambling houses of Boston on Christmas eve were a number of prominent citizens, besides merchants, manufacturers, one prominent bank president of Boston and a clergyman of a neighboring city.

The Saturday Review thinks that Alexander H. Stephens is a very great man—for an American. It is further of the opinion that "there are not half a dozen men in the whole North who have the learning and ability necessary to give them a fair chance against such an adversary."

John M. Barclay, Journal Clerk of the House of Representatives, at Washington, has celebrated his twenty-fifth official anniversary, having first been appointed clerk on the 20th of December, 1847, when Robert C. Winthrop was Speaker, and T. C. Campbell, of Tennessee, Clerk of the House.

Foreign Items.

Russia has only 34 daily newspapers.

There are 1,300,766 Methodists in England.

Queen Victoria has $50,000 worth of horse flesh.

All the monarchs of Europe have promised to be in Vienna on the 15th of next July.

The King of Saxony is the author of eleven books. What a hold his enemies have upon him.

A religious census of Paris developed the fact that only two persons were willing to declare themselves "Freethinkers."

Warsaw, in Poland, has a larger Jewish population than any other city in the world—86,685. Vienna comes next, with 60,000 Jews.

The Queen of Holland is a good French scholar, a successful writer, a hater of the Germans, and a strong supporter of the Bonapartes.

Nine human beings drank themselves to death from sundry casks of liquor washed ashore near Portland, England, from the wreck of the Royal Adelaide.

Siberia constitutes perhaps one-half of the area of the Czar's domain, and contains no small fraction of his subjects; yet no member of the imperial family has ever set foot within that territory.

A Grab for a Hundred Millions.—A party of New York capitalists, lately arrived in this city, have in view the acquisition of the public lands of the District of Columbia. This scheme involves the plunder of property on and around this city, upon which the nation has already expended millions of money. They propose to carry out, at their own expense, all the improvements contemplated according to the plan of the Board of Public Works, the cost of which is estimated at about seven million dollars, if in return Congress donate them public lands worth a hundred millions. They argue that Congress has been tardy and reluctant to make the necessary appropriations, that the work is therefore going on slowly, while they would carry out all the improvements within the shortest time possible. They say they are prepared to spend $2,000,000 to beautify the city, in order to raise the value of the lands, if donated to them. They count as nothing the loss of all this property to the city and the nation, which would thus have spent millions of money upon the lands in order to give them away as at present. This is the outline of one of the most stupendous jobs ever conceived by audacious schemers.—Washington Letter.

Where Are They?—Where is the railway passenger who, when he leaves the train, is so uncommonly polite as to shut the door after him?

Where is the public orator who can ever keep his promise to "say a few words only"?

Where is the builder who never lets his bill exceed his given estimate?

Where are they born, the people who say cowcumber, hospitable, nayther, and advertisement?

Where is the organ-fiend who will move off from your door without your fetching a policeman?

Where is the barber who can manage to content himself by cutting your hair simply, without making any cutting observation on its scantiness?

And lastly—where is the young lady who can pack up her own boxes and not leave half her "things behind her"?

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Roots in Cellars.

Every farmer knows, or thinks he knows, how to take care of potatoes for winter use, but we will describe briefly our methods. Dig the potatoes, if possible, when the ground is dry; but if this cannot or has not been done, they should be allowed to dry on a barn floor, the adhering soil removed, and then the roots may be carrid to the cellar. We provide large boxes which will hold about twenty bushels each (cast-off tree boxes), raise them a few inches from the cement floor by cross-pieces of scantling, and then fill them with the clean and dry potatoes. A lid excludes them from the light. If there happens to be a few wide cracks in the bottom of the box the ventilation will be better; and if the tubers are clean and the cellar cool there will be little of the rot.

Beets, turnips, carrots, and parsnips will not keep fresh in this way, as they have not the impervious skin of the potato. Our plan is to pack them in barrels, or goods boxes procured from the country stores. They will shrivel and spoil if the moisture is not retained in them by some substance to pack them in or to fill interstices. Finely broken and moderately damp moss is best for this purpose; but in its absence, sawdust answers quite well. At this season of the year, there is a great deal of this material in the ice-house, after the removal of the ice, that is quite damp enough for use. Put in a layer or two of the roots; then scatter enough of the sawdust over them to fill the interstices, then another layer, and so on. In barrels, more roots may be put in at a time, the sawdust being shaken among them by rocking the barrels. Packed in this way, we have seen beets taken out one full year after they were put in as fresh as the day they were lifted from the soil; while those which were placed uncovered on the cellar bottom were spoiled in a month by drying up.

Cheap Gate.

A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer says: I take five pieces of inch boards, each ten feet long, one-eighth inches wide for the bottom strip, and each of the others four inches wide. I then take one piece four inches wide for one end upright, and one piece eight inches wide for the end piece where the hinges ought to be. These strips are four feet long, that being high enough for any gate for ordinary purposes. Now lay down your pieces, then place the eight inch wide and ten feet long strip for the bottom; nail it at each end to the upright with wrought nails; now take three of the four inch wide strips and lay them on parallel with the bottom one, dividing the spaces so as to leave four inches between the lower two boards, and six inches each space between the upper ones; nail as before. Now turn the gate over, and take the remaining strip, lay it an angle from the bottom, at the hinge end, to the top of the latch end; cut it so that it will fit in and lay close to the long strips; nail it on, and hang gate with strong hinges.

Dry Food for Horses.

The Spirit of the Times says: "We never have believed and never shall believe that chopped hay and cornmeal, saturated with water, is proper for a working horse as a general diet. We firmly believe that the food of a working horse who cannot be pastured should be good sound oats and sweet hay for at least five days a week. Look at the South, where the common run of working horses are fed on corn. What is found there? Why, the big-head, a terrible and almost incurable complaint. We also think that wet cornmeal is the very worst way of feeding corn to a horse that ever was practiced. And the chopped wet hay is not half so good as fine, bright timothy from the mow. We like to hear the horse grinding up his good timothy hay like a grist mill, after he has finished his oats. A nice mash once in a while is good, and a very different thing from almost constant soft diet."

Leguminous Plants.

Leguminous crops, such as peas, beans, vetches, saintfoin, clover, etc., partake of the character of the pea, which may be accepted as the type of this family of plants. The prevailing mineral constituent of these plants is lime; for this reason they are sometimes called "lime plants." As we might for this reason expect, these plants flourish luxriantly on lime soils, and are cultivated most successfully in limestone districts. For the same reason, the addition of lime to soils containing but little of this substance greatly favors the growth of these crops. Another mineral constituent required by these plants is sulphur; hence, the addition of some combination of sulphur is generally attended with benefit to a crop of this description. A substance well fitted for purpose is gypsum, or plaster of Paris. This compound, as already noticed, contains sulphuric acid and lime, and on this account may be regarded as a special manure for leguminous plants.

Stock in Winter.

The Rural Home says: An experienced farmer can tell very quickly by glancing over his flock of sheep whether any are drooping, and if they are he will have them removed to a separate yard where they can have better nursing. Cattle should be fed in such a way that the strong ones cannot drive the weak away from their fodder and water. Stock should always have a plenty of clean, dry bedding to lie upon at night. It is perfectly cruel to allow a live animal to sleep at night upon a hard, cold plank, or upon wet, filthy straw. Dry straw, besides being soft to lie upon, is a poor conductor of heat, and consequently keeps within the animal his own heat.

Bots.

A correspondent of the Journal of the Farm says, in regard to bots:

Just as son as you discover that your horse is troubled with bots, commence to work on his stomach and bowels; get a live chicken, kill it, and drench the animal with the warm blood and entrails. The bots will let go their hold on the intestines, and commence to feed on the more attractive food. A few minutes after drenching administer a proper dose of castor oil, which will work off the bots.

Rural Brevities.

THE hog crop in Indiana is estimated at 1,500,000 head.

THE corn crop of McLean county, Ill., for the last season is estimated at upward of 10,000,000 bushels.

IN Nova Scotia the farmers yoke their oxen by the horns.

BEET SUGAR cultivation is regarded as a fixed success in California.

A SMALL farm well cultivated is better than a large one badly worked.

PAINESVILLE, Ohio, has the champion calf—seven months old and weighs 740 pounds.

IT will require 24,000,000 bushels of corn to winter the 300,000 Texas cattle now in Kansas.

MANY Kansas farmers are saving their wood-piles and burning corn.

THE Alvarado, Cal., beet sugar factory daily uses sixty tons of beets. Six thousand tons will be used this season.

ENGLISH history records that out of every thirty colts from thoroughbred stock, but one proves extra fast.

CORN is a legal tender in the drinking saloons of Chetopa, Kansas. A bushel of corn for a drink of whisky is the rate of exchange.

A cow in litigation at Charleston, S. C., has cost $1,200 already, and neither party has her yet.

A FARMER in Gage county, Neb., recently cut and hauled to a lumber mill a cottonwood tree, the first 12-feet cut of which made 108 feet of lumber. This is remarkable only in connection with the fact that he planted the seed of the tree but eight years ago.

A PAXTON, Ill., farmer recently shipped 160 bushels of potatoes to Chicago for sale on commission, and received "cash to balance $10.24," or about sixpence per bushel net, $44.96 having vanished in freight and commission, besides a shortage of 22 bushels. It takes, therefore, five bushels of Paxton potatoes to get the sixth bushel to the Chicago market.

Five Hundred Counterfeiters on Trial at Once.

In the whole history of criminal jurisprudence there has probably never been anything equal to the gigantic trial which was concluded at Moscow, in Russia, on the 21st of November, and in which was arraigned five hundred prisoners, upward of two hundred of whom were convicted and sentenced to cruel penalties. Among the accused were persons of every station in life—gray-haired men and youths, men and women; among the latter some highly accomplished and prepossessing in appearance. All the prisoners were charged with one of the gravest offenses in the criminal code of Russia—that of counterfeiting. That code says: "The person that counterfeits the coin or currency of the Imperial Government shall suffer death." Notwithstanding this rigorous provision Russia has been flooded for several years past with well-executed counterfeits of the Government treasury notes. The prompt execution of several who were caught in passing the spurious currency did not check the evil, and for the last three years it became so great that the Minister of Finance was almost in despair. Offers of the largest rewards did not lead to the detection of the guilty parties. Changes in the appearance of the treasury notes did not do so much good either, for so vast is the extent of the Russian Empire that it takes the Imperial Government six months to communicate its decrees to the remotest parts of the country.

At length, in last July, a curious accident gave the Government the long-looked-for clue, which led to the discovery of an association of criminals of both sexes, banded together for the purpose of circulating spurious currency, and which extended from the bleak and frozen shores of the White Sea to the Volga and the Black Sea. In the course of the two following months 3,000 men and women were arrested, but after a preliminary examination 2,500 of them were discharged, and about 500 were held for trial. Among the latter were six Frenchmen, of St. Petersburg, who had been caught printing the counterfeit notes, and a comparatively large number of women. The prisoners were all conveyed to Moscow, where they were confined in the vast vaults underneath the Kremlin Palace. Criminal law in Russia is barbarous at the best, and the male prisoners were herded together like as many dogs. They received the coarsest of fare, and straw was their only couch. The women were treated but little better.

On the 20th of October the trial opened in the large hall of the Kremlin, which holds nearly five thousand persons. The proceedings were protracted for a month, and the prosecution succeeded in establishing the guilt of nearly one-third of the accused. Two hundred and three of them were found guilty, among them about fifty women. Sentence of death was passed upon the six French printers, and the other convicted parties were condemned to hard labor in the gold mines of the Ural Mountains for life, or for ten years. The doomed men and women burst into piercing shrieks and howls, and well they might, for, in case of the former, the sentence included barbarous flogging and branding on the forehead with red-hot iron; while the women, some of whom were of refined descent, shuddered at the idea of having to do the most menial work for life or ten years at the station house. In their despair some of the unfortunates threw themselves upon the ground, and their piercing cries, mingled with the clanking of their chains, produced a truly horrible effect. The excitement and frenzy of the condemned grew from minute to minute more intense, and the Judges, in order to restore quietude, had to call in the soldiers, who, with their kantschubs, beat the prisoners right and left, and then dragged them back to the vaults of the Kremlin.

MORE than 10,000,000 pounds of india rubber gum are used in one year in the 150 india rubber manufactories of America and Europe.

THERE are in the country 3,806 Catholic church edifices, with a seating capacity of 1,999,515 persons.

Associated Habitual Movements in the Lower Animals.

Dogs, when they wish to go to sleep on a carpet or other hard surface, generally turn round and round and scratch the ground with their forepaws in a senseless manner, as if they intended to trample down the grass and scoop out a hollow, as no doubt their wild parents did, when they lived on open grassy plains or in the woods. Jackals, fennecs, and other allied animals in the Zoological Gardens, treat their straw in this manner; but it is a rather odd circumstance that the keepers, after observing for some months, have never seen the wolves thus behave. A semi-idiotic dog—and an animal in this condition would be particularly liable to follow a senseless habit—was observed by a friend to turn completely round on a carpet thirteen times before going to sleep.

Many carnivorous animals, as they crawl toward their prey and prepare to rush or spring on it, lower their heads and crouch, partly, as it would appear, to hide themselves, and partly to get ready for their rush; and this habit in an exaggerated form has become hereditary in our pointers and setters. Now, I have noticed scores of times that, when two strange dogs meet on an open road, the one which first sees the other, though at the distance of one or two hundred yards, after the first glance always lowers its head, generally crouched a little, or even lies down; that is, he takes the proper attitude for concealing himself and for making a rush or spring, although the road is quite open and the distance great. Again, dogs of all kinds, when intently watching and slowly approaching their prey, frequently keep one of their fore-legs doubled up for the next cautious step; and this is eminently characteristic of the pointer. But from habit they behave in exactly the same manner when their attention is aroused. I have seen a dog at the foot of a high wall, listening attentively to a sound on the opposite side, with one leg doubled up; and in this there could have been no intention of making a cautious approach.

Dogs scratch themselves by a rapid movement of one of their hind feet; and, when their backs are rubbed with a stick, so strong is the habit that they cannot help rapidly scratching the air or the ground in a useless and ludicrous manner.

Horses scratch themselves by nibbling those parts of their bodies which they can reach with their teeth; but more commonly one horse shows another where he wants to be scratched, and they then nibble each other. A friend whose attention I had called to the subject observed that when he rubbed his horse's neck the animal protruded his head, uncovered his teeth and moved his jaws, exactly as if nibbling another horse's neck, for he could never have nibbled his own neck. If a horse is much tickled, as when currycombed, his wish to bite something becomes so intolerably strong that he will clatter his teeth together, and, though not vicious, bite his groom. At the same time, from habit, he closely depresses his ears, so as to protect them from being bitten, as if he were fighting with another horse.

A horse, when eager to start on a journey, makes the nearest approach which he can to the habitual movement of progression by pawing the ground. Now, when horses in their stalls are about to be fed and are eager for their corn, they paw the pavement or the straw. Two of my horses thus behave when they see or hear the corn given to their neighbors. But here we have what may almost be called a true expression, as pawing the ground is universally recognized as a sign of eagerness.—Darwin's "Expression of the Emotions of Man and the Lower Animals."

How to Preserve Dead Bodies.

In the course of investigating the destroying elements that affect dead bodies, Mr. Peter Craig, undertaker, perceived that oxygen was the element that causes decomposition; it struck him that if the element could be removed from the coffin where the body was incased, that preservation would be certain. How to accomplish this at first rather puzzled Mr. Craig, but, not to be baffled by trifles, he gave the subject great consideration; and knowing that combustion was caused by the union of the carbon of the material and the oxygen of the air, he tried the experiment of using up the oxygen in the casket by the aid of a lighted candle. He had an air-tight casket made, and placed a burning candle therein; he screwed down the lid perfectly air-tight. The candle continued to burn for eight hours, and then having consumed all the oxygen in the interior was extinguished. This proved he theory—and satified him that he had made an excellent discovery; but to carry out his ideas effectively he obtained the body of a dead man from the Coroner and placed it in the coffin, with the lighted candle, as before screwing down the lid, etc. In this case the candle burned for five hours and a half, and then became extinguished as before. To test the case Mr. Craig had the body removed to a back room, where it remained for three weeks in a perfect state of preservation. This satisfied him beyond a doubt that he had succeeded in discovering a new art, whereby bodies could be embalmed without the aid of chemicals,. After having succeeded so well with his invention, he drew the attention of Dr. Edwin Bently to the process, and that gentleman expressed his firm belief in its success. The new process is to be fully tested to-day, with the body of Mr. Gowenback, who died in this city on last Thursday, and whose body has been preserved in this manner. It is the intention of this gentleman's relatives to hae vhis remains taken to Scotland. This will test the process, and, should it prove satisfactory, which is not doubted, Mr. Craig will have added a new process of preserving bodies to science.—San Francisco Alta.

A MUCH MARRIED YOUTH.—The young Emperor of China, who is about to ascend the throne, recently took to himself four wives in one day, and they are only the advance guard of a small army of wives that are soon to follow. Only one, however, bears the title of Empress, and she is the beautiful Aluta, daughter of a doctor of the Imperial Academy. Great preparations were made for the wedding, and her trousseau is said to have cost $500,000. The bridegroom is but 17, and seems to be getting into difficulties at a very early age.

The Meeting of Stanley and Livingstone.

Descending the western slope of the mountain, the port of Ujiji lay below, embowered in palms.

"Unfurl your flags and load your guns!" cried Stanley.

"Ay wallaw, ay wallah, bana!" eagerly responded the men.

"One, two, three,"—and a volley from fifty muskets woke up the peaceful village below. The Kirangozi raised the American flag once more; the men stepped out bravely, as the crowds of villagers came flocking around them, shouting "Bindera Mintkami!" an American flag.

Suddenly Stanley heard a voice on his right say in English, "Good morning, sir."

The blood leaped fiercely to his heart. Was it then true? Livingstone was near at hand!

A black man, dressed in a long white shirt, announced himself to the young adventurer as "Susi, the servant of Dr. Livingstone."

"What? Is Dr. Livingstone here?"

"Yes, sir."

"In this village?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you sure?"

"Sure, sure, sir. Why I leave him just now.

Then another servant introduced himself; the crowds flocked around anew; Stanley scourged himself to keep down his furious emotions; and finally, at the head of his caravan, arrived before a semicircle of Arab magnates, in front of whom stood an old white man with a gray beard.

As Stanley advanced toward him he noticed that he was pale, looked wearied, had on his head a bluish cap, with a faded gold band around it, a red-sleeved waistcoat, and a pair of gray tweed trowsers. He would have run to him, but he remembered the traditional coldness of the English race; and so he walked deliberately to him, took off his hat, and said:

"Dr. Livingstone, I presume?"

"Yes," said he, with a kind smile, lifting his cap slightly.

Then they clasped hands, and, after the necessary formalities with the Arab magnates, Mr. Stanley explained himself and his mission.

It was a great day for the old explorer. There were letters from his children! "Ah," he said, "patiently I have waited years for letters." There was a whole epic of pathos in his voice.

And you may picture for yourselves that strangely-met pair, seated in the explorer's house, Livingstone hearing for the first time of the great changes in Europe, and Stanley offering a brimming goblet of champagne, brought all the way from the Jesuit mission at Bagamoyo! They sat long together, with their faces, turning eastward, noting the dark shadows creeping up above the grove of palms beyond the village, and the rampart of mountains, listening to the sonorous thunder of the surf of the Tanganyika, and to the dreamy chorus which the night insects sang. When Livingstone bade Stanley "Good night," he added, "God bless you."

Mr. Stanley remained four months in the company of Dr. Livingstone, during which time an intimate and rich friendship grew up between the two men. Stanley brought youth, impulse, generous freedom of expression and long experience of travel to the veteran; Dr. Livingstone gave a deep gratitude, a thorough Christian love, and the wisdom of age to the companionship.—Scribner's for January.

King Cotton.

The United States annually produce 400,000 bales of cotton for the European market, or 120,000,000 of pounds, which sells at an average price of one franc per pound. Europe thus pays to the United States 120,000,000 of francs every year, simply for cotton, and the 120,000,000 pounds of cotton is spun by 500,000 of spinning jennies and wove by 625,000 looms. In the process of manufacture there is a waste of twenty-five per cent.; hence 120,000,000 pounds of raw material give only 90,000,000 pounds of manufactured cotton goods, worth two and one half francs per pound, being a total of about 225,000,000 francs. The process of manufacturing, therefore, does not even double the value of the raw material.

If, now, we estimate the number of workmen engaged in the cotton manufacture from beginning to end, on the basis of six workmen to every 160 spinning-jennies, we shall have 18,750 hands so employed. Add to these the number of those employed in raising the cotton crop, and the crews of the ships which bring it to Europe, and it will be no exaggeration if we estimate the number of employes at 3,000,000, and the amount of capital at 300,000 francs. No other industry can compare with this for magnitude, and the epithet of King Cotton is well deserved. If we do not take care, this industry will prove the ruin of Europe, whence it annually drains 120,000,000 francs, without making any return. Cotton alone is answerable for the ever-increasing wealth of the United States, and the relative misery of European countries. It is full time to put an end to this state of affairs, by compelling the manufacturers hereafter to produce only firm and durable textures. But, inasmuch as the State can scarcely interfere in such questions, it remains for individuals to apply the remedy. It is in the power of the consumer to apply this remedy, as he alone is accountable for the present painful crisis in the cotton-manufacturing industries of Europe.—Popular Science Monthly.

CIDER AND PICKLES FOR FEVER.—Some two months ago a resident of Detroit named Broef was taken ill with some sort of a fever, and for two weeks there was little hope of saving his life. He continued to sink, in spite of all the physicians could do, and they finally gave him up. All through his sickness the man had continually asked for pickles and cider, and when he had got so low that his death was considered only a question of a few hours, Mrs. Broef decided to gratify his wishes. A glass of sweet cider was given him, and he declared himself much better for it. More was given through the night, in place of medicine, and the next morning the doctor declared that almost favorable change had taken place. Some strong pickles were procured and given him, and he began to call for gruel and broth. To be brief, he is now able to move around the house, and everybody in the neighborhood, as well as the physician, gives the cider and pickles the credit of performing the cure.

Rather Exciting.

There is absolutely no safe way to carry a pistol except to carry it without a charge. A young man lost a wife recently by trusting to the directions of a friend who told him how he could carry a pistol without danger. His Mary Jane resided some distance from the city, and he had a great horror of dogs, so he put his revolver in the hip pocket of his Sunday clothes one evening when he started to see her. The prospective mother-in-law met him at the door and told him to take the rocking-chair, and as he did so, the report of fire-arms caused the old lady to scream and fall to the floor, while a fire in the rear claimed Charles Henry's attention and consumed a portion of his best doeskin "smalls." The old lady swooned, the girl ran in, forgetting her disordered hair and dress, and followed her mother's example. The old man and his double-fisted boys ran in, and, seeing mother and daughter lying on the floor, went for the young man, and he went through the window, carrying sash and glass with him as he went. A big dog, aroused by the noise, made for the fugitive, who in his turn made for the city, about a mile and a half or two miles distant, emptying his revolver at the dog as he went. The dog was dead for that young man in more than one sense, for he dare not approach the house now lest the old man may revenge the loss of his dog on him. Had he only shot the old woman he would have been forgiven, but the old man says he will never forgive the murderer of his dog. If any one asks that young man how he likes Amanda Jane, he says that her nerves are too delicate for a country girl, and betrays an anxiety to drop the subject, but he confided to a friend that in sitting down the hammer of his revolver caught on the arm of the rocker, and it was in that way discharged, whereupon that house and his clothes became too hot for him.—Evansville Journal.

Strange Scene in Church.

A New York paper of Tuesday says: The Rev. Mr. Mathews, pastor of the Free Methodist Church at Third avenue and Twenty-first street, Brooklyn, in his sermon last Sunday even described the mystic brotherhood of the square and compass as "hay, wood and stubble." Some of the congregation responded "Amen!" while others hitched uneasily in their seats. Encouraged by the stir he had created the pastor thundered anther anathema against Masonry. At this juncture a gentleman in the body of the house arose, and, addressing the pastor said, "Sir, that is false." Several ladies and two gentlemen, who seemed to be in sympathy with the bold challenger, arose, and following him, walked out of the church. Instantly there was a stir all over the congregation. The chorister was awakened from sleep by the shuffling, and, thinking the meeting had been dismissed, was about to strike up the doxology. Others who had been drowsy began pulling on their overshoes proparatory to retiring. In the midst of this disorder the pastor raised his voice and said exultantly:

"My dear brethren and sisters, I have driven the devils from the church, and I am glad of it."

Order was then restored; a sweet and holy calm pervaded the building, and the chorister went to sleep again. The gentleman who interrupted the pastor and insinuated that his language was conspicuously inexact, is the Rev. Mr. Willbridge, a Baptist clergyman of Chicopee, Mass., who is tarrying with friends in Brooklyn.

Curious Facts About India.

Strange as it may appear, India, which has been described as a country "where vegetation grows with tropical luxuriance, and where a few months' neglect causes land to be covered with impenetrable jungle, many feet in height," has a scarcity of timber for building vessels and houses, and does not, even in most parts of the country, produce enough fuel for warming houses and for cooking, the inhabitants resort to the use of dried dung, the same as the people of Northern Africa do. In the northwestern portions of the country it is said to be the chief occupation of the native peasant housewife, "after she has drawn the water and kneaded the dough, to make the cow-dung into pats and spread them to dry in the sun." It is subsequently stacked, or placed in long piles, and if not wanted for some considerable time, it is coated with mud made from clay, to preserve it from the wet. Tons of it, thus prepared, are sold in the large towns in the interior, where it forms the principal fuel of the masses. In cold weather, when a fire at night or in the morning is necessary, every available bit of horse, sheep, or goat dung is gathered up and placed on the fire. This destruction of nearly all the droppings of every kind of stock is said to result in impoverishing the land very greatly, and it is affirmed that this waste is one of the principai drawbacks to the successful cultivation of the plant in India.

TALKING TO HORSES AND MULES.—Mules seem to possess a superiority over horses in learning a language. Nothing is more common on the levee in New Orleans, than to see stalwart mules, harnessed in drays, that understand both French and English. If the driver speaks Spanish, or German, or French, and the animal has been long enough with him, it is quite evident he understands when told to do this or that in either tongue, by instant obedience. Even donkeys manifest a peculiar aptitude for accomplishing themselves in the same way, if reared with drivers speaking two or three dialects. A splendid opportunity offers for instituting experiments to determine how much a horse might be taught of a language—no severity would be necessary. Their innate approbativeness affords an unerring key-note to their cerebral powers. A gentleman of New York, two years ago, was in the habit of talking with his beautiful horse as he did with his friends, and promised a lump of sugar if he traveled when he rode out, which was invariably given on returning to the stable. When the sagacious quadruped had exerted himself in a particularly satisfactory manner, he had a way of expressing his consciousness of it to his owner, who acknowledged the hint by giving him two lumps.—Spirit of the Times.

Mr. Greeley as a Lover of Poetry and the Drama.

The London Era—theatrical journal publishes the subjoined letter, addressed to the editor of that paper:

"SIR: A great and good man,—nay, I may say in virtue a second "Cato"—has left us for another and a better world; died of a broken heart. I am sure that it will be of some interest to this profession, especially to those who strive after higher aims, to hear that he was one of the staunchest supporters of the legitimate drama. His political duties, and arduous labors as editor of the Tribune, left him little time to visit the theaters as often as he wished, but he gave them his fullest support. His critics were always experienced and highly educated literary men, and the New York Tribune was looked upon as the oracle in theatrical matters. Justice was there for every one, and none dreaded its opinion except the impostor and the charlatan. Mr. Greeley's sound and poetic views upon Shakspeare's heroes often astonished me. You could learn more in a short conversation with him than days of study and meditation could reveal. I never spent an hour in his presence without gaining some profound and beneficial information.

Mr. Greeley was a great reader and lover of poetry; his special delight was "Byron;" he revealed more in the beauty of his language and rhythm than in his philosophy. In fact, it was "rhythm and beauty of language" that he first looked to in every poet. Swinburne's verses he greatly admired; so did he Heinrich Heine's. One evening at one of the receptions of his beloved sister, Mrs. Cleveland, he read from an old folio a translation of Schiller's "Semele," a poem seldom read even in Germany. I was delighted and much astonished at it, for I doubt, with the exception of Bayard Taylor, that any one else in the room knew of its existence; and yet it gave pleasure to all, for he had a sweet voice, and, with his child-like, innocent face, crowned with his silver hair, he looked a regular truly God-like man. Peace to his ashes. Not only has America suffered a great loss in him, but the entire world. I admired and loved him dearly, and cannot refrain from paying this simple tribute to his memory, for he was "e'en as just a man as e'er my conversation coped withal." Yours truly,

DANIEL E. BANDMANN.

Puzzling a Doctor.

Dr. M., an army surgeon, was fond of a joke (unless perpetrated at his own expense), and had, moreover, a great contempt for citizen soldiers who were more renowned for their courage than their scholarship. One day at mess, after the decanter had performed sundry perambulations of the table, Capt. S., a brave and accomplished officer and a great wag, remarked to the Doctor, who had been somewhat severe in his remarks on the literary deficiencies of some of the new officers:

"Dr. M., are you acquainted with Capt. G.?"

"Yes, I know him well," replied the Doctor, "he is one of the new set. But what of him?"

"Nothing in particular; I have just received a letter from him, and I will wager you a dozen old port that you cannot guess in six guesses how he spells cat."

"Done! It's a wager."

"Well, commence guessing," said Capt. S.

"K, a, double t."

"No."

"K, a, double t, e."

"No."

"K, a, t, e,'

"No! Try again."

"C, a, double t, e."

"No, you have missed it again."

"Well then," returned the Doctor, "C, a, double t."

"No, that's not the way; try again—it's your last guess."

"C, a, g, h, t."

"No, that's not the way. You've lost your wager."

"Well," said the Doctor, with much petulance of manner, "how does he spell it?"

"Why, he spells it c, a, t," replied S., with the utmost gravity of manner, amid the roar of the mess; and almost choking with rage the Doctor sprang to his feet, exclaiming very harshly:

"Capt. S., I am too old a man to be trifled with in this manner!"

Railway Securities.

In a review of the financial record of 1872, the New York Express says, the Stock Exchange has grown wonderfully, and is now one of the greatest speculative marts in the world. A few of the leading operators who now occasionally combine, represent securities worth five hundred millions of dollars. Another feature of the year has been the disposition of the managers of the old railways to increase the volume of securities to double-track, extend and otherwise improve their lines. This assumed the form of a mania during the closing months of the year. New York Central authorized the issue of $40,000,000 bonds to lay another double track from New York to Buffalo. The Chicago and Northwestern authorized the issue of $45,000,000 consolidated mortgage bonds, of which $35,000,000 is reserved to take up outstanding mortgages, and $10,000,000 for new work, such as the completion of branch lines, which will give to the parent company valuable land grants. The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Company is now marketing $60,000,000 sinking fund bonds for improvement. The Milwaukee and St. Paul Company has issued about $4,000,000 new bonds and $15,000,000 common stock, and has also recently given notice of a new issue of $2,000,000 common stock and $2,500,000 scrip preferred. The Chicago and Rock Island Company, a short time since, announced a new issue of $6,000,000 stock. The Hannibal and St. Joseph Company has issued $5,000,000 new stock during the year. The Erie Company authorized a large consolidated mortgage which increases the bonded debt, and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company sold $2,700,000 at par which had been in the treasury a long time. The above list comprises only the leading companies which have increased their securities.

JEROME B. STILLSON, who succeeds Croly as manager of the New York World, is said to be the youngest managing editor and the handsomest man in the metropolitan press.

LIST OF

DELINQUENT TAXES,

Lands and Town Lots

WITHIN THE

COUNTY OF DeKALB AND STATE OF IND'A.

Returned Delinquent by the Treasurer thereof, for the Taxes of the year 1871 including the Interest and Penalty thereon, and also the Taxes for the year 1872.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinq't tax penalty & in'st.	Am'nt of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due
BUTLER TOWNSHIP.
Bell Jacob, heirs of	w. pt of s. e. qr.	7	33	12	100	00	860	880	15 60	9 32	45	25 37
Carnahan Clara L.	s. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	19	33	12	40	70	200	200	3 29	2 12	45	5 86
Feagler Henry	in n. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	13	33	12	3	00	80	80	1 28	84	45	2 57
Fair Wm. H.	pt. of e. ½ of s. e. qr.	14	33	12	78	72	831	831	8 34	8 80	45	17 49
Leister Lefanus	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	12	74	76	704	704	11 50	7 46	45	19 50
Simon Peter	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	23	33	12	80	00	840	840	18 84	8 90	45	28 19
Wyant J. P.	in n. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	16	33	12	2	50	807	807	13 89	8 55	45	22 89
same	pt. of s. e. qr.	16	33	12	154	64	1250	1250	20 61	13 25	45	34 31
JACKSON TOWNSHIP.
Bowser J. O.	w. pt. of n. ½ of s. e. qr.	31	33	13	25	00	40	40	61	48	45	1 54 same	s. e. ¼ of n. e. qr.	31	33	13	40	00	120	120	1 87	1 44	45	3 76
Elson W. H.	e. ½ of s. e. qr	11	33	13	80	00	400	400	6 36	4 80	45	11 61
Feagler Henry	n. end of w. ½ of n.e.qr	7	33	13	17	68	1864	1864	4 43	22 36	45	27 24
George John	s. pt. of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	34	13	73	25	1570	1570	13 68	18 84	45	32 97
Hanna Oliver S.	n. w. ¼ of s. e. qr.	11	33	13	40	00	160	160	2 53	1 92	45	4 90
same	n. e. ¼ of n. w. ¼	14	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 92	45	4 25
Hanna Wm. W.	n. w. ¼ of n. e. qr.	23	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 44	45	3 77
Jones Sarah	n. e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	3	33	13	40	00	80	80	1 26	96	45	2 67
McClellan Wm.	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	3	33	13	80	00	1216	1216	20 24	16 86	45	37 55
Porter Wm. O.	und ⅔ of n. w. qr.	27	33	13	160	00	960	960	7 51	11 52	90	19 93
same	und ⅔ of s. w. qr.
Porter Daniel W.	und 1-3 of n. w. qr.
same	und 1-3 of s. w. qr.	27	33	13	80	00	480	480	4 29	5 76	10	40 95
CONCORD TOWNSHIP.
Dawson John W.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	20	33	14	80	00	567	567	10 30	8 56	45	19 31
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	23	33	14	71	10	671	671	12 20	10 13	45	22 78
same	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	21	33	14	80	00	710	710	12 91	10 72	45	24 08
Hanna Horace H.	s fracnl of s. w. qr	12	33	14	7	85	20	20	76	30	45	1 51
Hewey Thomas H.	n. w. ¼ of n. w. qr.	20	33	14	40	00	332	332	1 60	5 0	45	7 06
Johnson Thomas	w. ½ of s. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	14	40	00	277	277	97	4 18	45	5 60
Meese John	n. ½ of n. w. qr	3	33	14	73	20	440	440	4 34	6 64	45	11 43
same	n. ½ of n. e. qr.	4	33	14	73	93	430	430	4 25	6 49	45	11 19
Place Susan	in s. e. cor. of s. ½ of s. e. qr.	1	33	14	1	00	20	20	76	30	45	1 51
Rex Joseph M.	pt. e. ½ of n. e. qr.	13	33	14	78	00	1654	1654	26 48	24 97	45	51 90
NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP.
Andrew J. A.	n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	40	923	923	21 25	13 01	45	34 71
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	33	15	78	50	1560	1560	33 59	21 99	45	56 03
same	n. w. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	00	600	600	12 94	8 46	45	21 85
Baily & Smith	n. fracnl of n. e. qr.	5	33	15	69	50	620	620	13 37	8 74	45	22 56
Bartlett Silas H.	s. pt. of s. w. ¼ of s.w. qr.	6	33	15		79	410	410	58 56	5 78	45	64 79
Hodge Mary P.	s. side of mid 1-3	4	33	15	26	00	227	227	4 89	3 20	45	8 59
Hawkins Wm. H.	n. pt. of mid. 1-3 of sec.	4	33	15	50	00	653	653	13 59	9 20	45	23 24
Johnson Sarah S.	in s. w. qr.	6	33	15		67	28	28	59	39	45	1 41
Kirkbirde G. W.	in e. ½ of n. w. fracnl qr.	6	33	15	2	00	20	20	33 38	28	45	34 13
McGonigal Susan	in section	6	33	15		56	170	170	19 22	2 39	45	22 07
Mogie Simon heirs of	in n. e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	6	33	15		15	50	50	1 06	70	45	2 26
STAFFORD TOWNSHIP.
Coats & Petty	s. w. cor. of s. w. qr.	28	34	15	20	08	1900	1900	16 20	25 84	45	42 49
Loveland John F.	n. ½ of s. e. qr.	31	34	15	79	00	954	954	15 16	12 97	45	28 58
Richmond Wm.	off n. side of n. ½ of s.e.qr.	18	34	15	40	00	1351	1351	13 86	19 37	45	33 68
Stoy Levi	n. w. ¼ of s. w qr.	17	34	15	40	00	615	615	7 16	8 36	45	15 96
WILMINGTON TOWNSHIP.
Aldrich Jason D.	pt of s. e. qr.	3	34	14		20	105	105	2 96	1 58	45	4 99
Allen Wm.	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	34	34	14	80	00	1168	1168	69 76	19 13	45	89 34
same	pt. of n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	34	34	14	20	00	78	78	9 68	1 17	45	11 30
Blackwell Catharine	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	90	90	5 51	1 20	45	7 16
Blaker Wm.	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	30	30	13 97	45	45	14 87
Buchanan Frederick T.	in n. w. qr.	12	34	14		20	220	220	51	4 22	45	5 78
Brown Wm.	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	31	34	14	78	00	879	879	2 18	13 27	45	15 90
Cutting David	in s. w. qr.	1	34	14		32	56	56	97	83	45	2 25
Casebeer George	in n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	512	512	18 68	9 22	45	28 31
Coats Noyes	e. ½ of s. e. qr.	46	34	14	80	00	1519	1510	15 50	22 80	45	38 75
Drake C. M.	s. w. qr.	7	34	14	140	00	420	420	11 90	6 24	45	18 69
Fosdick R. W.	pt. of s. w. qr.	1	34	14		40	116	110	3 67	1 66	45	5 78
Freeborn J. E.	off s. side of s. e. qr.	34	34	14	60	00	780	730	33 92	11 02	45	44 39
Franks David	in n. w. qr.	30	34	14	55	00	565	835	40 60	8 53	45	49 58
Gingrich Samuel	mid pt of e. ½ of n.w. qr.	18	34	14	15	00	60	60	8 76	90	45	10 11
Huffman John A.	in n. e. cor. of n. w. qr.	12	34	14	3	00	105	105	36 69	1 58	45	38 72
Hale Marshall	in n.w.cor of n.e.¼ n.w.qr	12	34	14	1	00	300	300	19 47	4 53	45	24 45
Hoopingarner John J.	pt of s. e. qr.	2	34	14		20	270	270	24 05	4 07	45	28 57
Hale D. C.	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	29	34	14	80	00	820	820	23 94	12 28	45	36 67
Hunter Jefferson	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	30	34	14	80	00	980	980	35 48	18 09	45	54 02
Jones Wm. I.	pt of n. e. ¼ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14	15	00	361	361	8 62	6 95	45	16 02
John Asa	s. w. ¼ of n. w. qr.	29	34	14	40	00	280	280	15 60	3 92	45	19 97
Jaques Warren	s. e. ¼ of n. e. qr.	10	34	14	40	00	1027	1027	6 05	17 50	45	24 00
Kester Alonzo A.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	29	34	14	80	00	308	308	8 73	4 65	45	13 83
Kallner Charles	s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr.	25	34	14	40	00	413	413	10 68	7 73	45	18 86
Linderfer Henry	pt of s. w. q r	1	34	14	2	40	709	709	34 73	13 20	45	48 38
Lower Wm. S.	s. e. ¼ of s. w. qr	24	34	14	40	00	400	400	11 34	6 04	45	17 83
Lackey John A.	s. w. pt of n. w. qr	11	34	14	50	00	1013	1013	3 65	16 79	45	20 89
Leonard Eugene	in n. w. qr	12	34	14		80	1130	1130	34 02	17 06	45	51 53
Mosier & Hopkins	in w. ½ of s. w. qr	1	34	14	1	64	70	70	13 09	1 05	45	14 59
Moughler George	in s. e. cor of n.e.¼ of n.e.qr	10	34	14	1	50	15	15	17 00	22	45	17 67
Moughler Jacob	n. w. pt of s. w. qr	13	34	14	94	00	1704	1704	44 54	27 23	45	72 22
same	s. w. pt of s. w. qr.	13	34	14	25	90	200	200	5 67	3 02	45	9 14
Moore Aaron D.	pt of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	14	75	00	528	528	14 97	7 97	45	23 39
Meese John	pt of e. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	14	73	50	1215	1215	14 97	19 95	45	35 37
Meese Laura B.	pt of e. side of w½ of swqr	28	34	14	50	00	385	385	10 91	5 81	45	17 17
Norford James M.	in s. e. qr	3	34	14		40	738	738	5 94	13 64	45	20 03
Norris Susan	n. e ¼ of n. e. qr	10	34	14	38	00	306	306	8 67	4 62	45	13 74
Nelson Levi	s. ½ of e. ½ of n. w. qr	19	34	14	38	50	245	245	6 93	3 69	45	11 07
Reese Hambright	s.w. pt of n.w.¼ of n.wqr	12	34	14		80	313	313	5 67	4 21	45	10 33
Scott Abraham	in s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	60	60	1 69	90	45	3 04
same	in n. e. ¼ of n. w. qr	12	34	14		20	200	200	5 68	3 02	45	9 15
Smith John	in s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	515	515	16	9 27	45	9 88
Shaffer Isaac	s. w. ½ of n. w. qr	17	34	14	40	00	398	398	17 13	7 50	45	25 08
Unknown owner	n.w. cor of n.w.¼ of s.wqr	35	34	14	3	75	16	16	1 59	24	45	2 28
Well Sylvanus	pt of s. w. q.	1	34	14		20	110	110	27	1 66	45	2 38
Wilson Wm. C.	in s. ½ of s. e. qr	2	34	14		32	15	15	97	22	45	1 64
Whitman Adam	pt of n. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	35	34	14	35	36	280	280	1 27	4 22	45	5 94
Weiss Gottfried	s. e. ¼ of s. e qr	26	34	14	40	00	790	790	16 72	11 92	45	29 09
Young George W. & Co.	pt of s. w. qr	1	34	14		20	90	90	6 14	1 35	45	7 94
UNION TOWNSHIP.
Bassett Sanford	in section	4	34	13	26	22	2103	2103	41 00	31 15	45	72 60
same	pt of s. e. qr	4	34	13
Bemanderfer John	pt of s. e. qr	4	34	13	4	00	70	70	1 97	98	45	3 40
Brandon Jacob	in mid pt of s. w. qr	32	34	13	20	00	820	820	1 69	11 56	45	13 70
Colvin O. H.	in mid pt of n w ¼ s w qr	3	34	13		25	62	62	1 74	87	45	3 06
Clutter George W.	pt of n ½ of s e qr	5	34	13	60	00	842	842	23 46	13 37	45	37 28
Cross Susannah	in n e cor of s e ¼ of s e qr	5	34	13	1	00	20	20	1 54	28	45	2 27
Grate Isaac	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	00	103	103	11 01	1 45	45	12 91
Gloyd & Bowser	s e ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	240	240	6 80	3 38	45	10 63
same	n ½ of n e qr	18	34	13	80	00	640	640	18 14	9 02	45	27 61
Hale & Berry	in s w qr	3	34	13		40	1366	1366	205 66	19 26	45	225 37
Hamilton Arthur	in mid pt of s e ¼ of s e qr	3	34	13		25	108	108	1 63	1 52	45	3 60
Hanna Charles	s w ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	n e ¼ of s e qr	23	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
same	e ½ of s w qr	23	34	13	80	00	560	560	15 87	7 89	45	24 21
same	s w ¼ of s w qr	23	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Hanna Hugh T.	n e ¼ of n e qr	24	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Jarvis & Crane	w side of w ½ of sw ¼ of se qr	3	34	13	12	50	1700	1700	16 77	23 97	45	41 19
Johnson & Davis	in s e pt of s e ¼ of n w qr	15	34	13	3	50	1035	1035	29 33	14 59	45	44 37
Kester A. A.	in mid of s e qr	4	34	13	1	00	41	41	6 99	57	45	8 01
Kryder Fred	s e ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
Kuhlman George	n pt of s w qr.	24	34	13	66	00	528	528	14 96	7 44	45	22 85
same	s ½ of n w qr	24	34	13	80	00	660	660	18 71	9 30	45	28 46
Killing Henry	in e mid pt of w¼ of seqr	32	34	13		20	110	110	3 11	1 55	45	5 11
Lock Thomas	n e ¼ of s e qr	12	34	13	40	00	370	370	10 48	5 21	45	16 14
Mason L. S.	in n e ¼ of s e qr	4	34	13		50	233	233	19 08	3 28	45	22 81
Patterson Wm.	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	3	00	36	36	1 52	50	45	2 47
Roby A. & P. A.	s w pt of n e qr	3	34	13		20	226	226	6 46	3 21	45	10 12
Randall Hiram T.	mid pt of s ½ of s e qr	32	34	13	17	78	136	136	11 03	1 91	45	13 39
Smith Isaiah	in s w cor of s e qr	3	34	13		50	43	43	7 26	60	45	8 31
Smith John L.	in s e qr	4	34	13		50	87	87	14 91	1 22	45	16 58
Shaffer Jacob B.	pt of s e qr	4	34	13	2	00	178	178	4 44	2 50	45	7 39
Shirts Albert B.	in n w qr	4	34	13	2	00	81	81	7 45	2 64	45	10 54
Trout Geo. W.	in section	4	34	13		50					45
same	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	26	133	133	3 76	1 70	90	6 52
RICHLAND TOWNSHIP.
Dove Cornelia M.	n w ¼ of s w qr	33	34	12	40	00	160	160	2 40	2 25	45	5 10
Earl Robert J.	off w end of s½ of n e qr	4	34	12		50	30	30	1 57	42	45	2 44
Farrington A. S.	in s e ¼ of n e qr	3	34	12	2	75	40	40	60	65	45	1 70
Hosler Caroline	n e pt of s w ¼ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	50	150	150	9 54	2 11	45	12 10
Hornbarger Isaac	in w side of n e qr	4	34	12		50	140	140	2 45	1 97	45	4 87
Helmer John W.	in n ½ of n w qr	4	34	12		15	10	10	1 45	14	45	2 04
Hughes Elizabeth	off n end of e ½ of s e qr	32	34	12	50	00	286	286	9 19	4 03	45	13 67
Kryder and Earl	in n e cor of s ½ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	00	65	65	40 21	91	45	41 57
Miller Peter	pt of s e ¼ of n e qr	3	34	12	17	00	289	289	5 08	4 07	45	9 60
Mohler Dorotha M.	pt of n w qr	4	34	12		64	140	140	11 24	1 97	45	13 66
same	in s w cor of n e qr	4	34	12		75	140	140	5 77	1 97	45	8 19
Powell Levi B.	e ½ of e ½ of n w qr	27	34	12	40	00	702	702	7 68	12 39	45	20 52
Randall Milton	in w ½ of n w qr	1	34	12	1	60	55	55	2 05	77	45	3 27
Tompkins Alvira	in s e ¼ of of n w qr	4	34	12		20	15	15	3 16	21	45	3 82
Wernitz Jacob	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	12	40	00	170	170	7 74	2 39	45	10 58
FAIRFIELD TOWNSHIP,
Hanna Wm. W.	s w ¼ of n w qr	8	35	12	40	00	80	80	1 43	92	45	2 8
Hower Samuel	s end of w ½ of s w qr	14	35	12	20	00	205	205	3 81	2 37	45	6 60
Hartman Leonard	in n pt of s w qr	38	35	12	20	50	38	38	65	44	45	1 54
Klaber Henry	n e cor of n w qr	21	35	12		20	55	55	4 51	63	45	5 57
Miller Josiah & Barbara	pt of s ½ of n w qr	5	35	12	75	40	1000	1000	18 19	11 60	45	30 24
Myers Eli	und 2-3 of n e ¼ of s w qr	28	35	12	26	60	290	290	5 26	3 36	45	9 08
Reynolds Jerome	s w cor of n e qr	12	35	12		25	278	278	10 08	4 22	45	14 75
Row Jacob G.	pt of n ½ of n e qr	36	35	12	70	00	730	730	13 34	8 46	45	22 25
Reinoehl Jacob	in n e qr	37	35	12	[illegible]	[illegible]	1300	1300	67 03	[illegible]	45	[illegible]
Reinoehl Wm. W.	e ½ of n e ¼ of n e qr	37	35	12	20	00	250	250	4 54	2 90	45	7 89
Row Isaiah	in s e cor of n e ¼ of n e qr	28	35	12	10	00	65	65	2 30	75	45	3 50
Short A. W.	in w ½ of n e qr	[illegible]	35	12	75	00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	45	[illegible] same	n e ¼ of s w qr	28	35	12	40	00	480	480	7 64	4 87	45	12 96
same	und 3-4 of s ½ of n w qr	28	35	12	60	00	500	500	9 08	5 80	45	15 34
same	n e pt of s e qr	22	35	12		25	165	165	2 98	1 91	45	5 34
Vian Rees	e ½ of n e qr	25	35	12	80	00	960	960	11 54	12 17	45	24 16
SMITHFIELD TOWNSHIP.
Easley Frederick	in s w cor of n w qr	6	35	13	3	00	1042	1042	11 80	15 17	45	27 42
Ellinwood Joseph	s w ¼ of n w qr	30	35	13	40	00	[illegible]	[illegible]	10 97	8 06	45	19 48
Gramling Peter	n e ¼ of s w qr	10	35	13	40	00	636	636	11 13	8 26	45	19 85
Hanna Samuel S.	s e ¼ of s e qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of s w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	w ½ of n e qr	18	35	13	80	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
Hanna Hugh T.	s w ¼ of n w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s w ¼ of n e qr	13	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of n w qr	13	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
Hanna Eliza	s e qr	12	35	13	160	00	320	320	5 45	4 35	45	10 25
same	n ½ of n w qr	13	35	13	80	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
same	s e ¼ of s e qr	14	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
same	s e ¼ of n w qr	18	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 35	1 08	45	2 88
Mead Harlan P.	in n w cor of n w qr	26	35	13	86	20	974	974	6 68	15 24	45	[illegible]
FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.
Albright Margaret	mid pt of s e qr	21	35	14	84	00	516	516	7 95	7 27	45	15 67
Clark Edward	s e ¼ of n e	13	35	14	40	00	744	744	13 58	11 49	45	25 52
Hanna Henry C.	w ½ of n w qr	7	35	14	68	82	160	160	2 80	2 23	45	5 48
Loutzenhiser Isaac	pt of w ½ of s w qr	6	35	14	90	00	258	258	5 67	4 06	45	10 18
Robinson John S.	pt of s w cor of s w ¼ of s e qr	1	35	14	2	56	180	180	6 40	5 16	45	12 01
Rohrabaugh Adam	e ½ of n w qr	21	35	14	80	00	1016	1016	14 91	14 32	45	29 68
same	s w ¼ of s w qr	21	35	14	40	00	330	330	5 75	4 51	45	10 71
Slentz John R.	s e cor of s w ¼ of s e qr	1	35	14	5	24	90	90	2 62	2 76	45	5 83
TROY TOWNSHIP.
Zull John	n ½ of n w qr	9	35	15	30	47	267	267	4 69	2 96	45	8 10

Town Lots.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division		In-Lots.	Value of Lots and improvements.	total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & inte's.	Amount of Tax for the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
NEW ERA.
Wyant John P.	8				110	110	1 93	1 16	45	3 54
ORANGEVILLE.
Andrew W. P. & J. A.	112				25	25	63	52	45	1 60
Andrews, Hamilton & Co	110
same	111
same	114
same	115
same	116
same	117				5080	5080	18 37	44 75	270	66 82
SPENCERVILLE.
Monroe Wm.	33 s. ½	O. P.			56	56	1 01	84	45	2 30
same	34 s. ½	O. P.			96	96	1 75	1 44	45	3 64
VIENNA.
Bartlett Silas H.	61				10	118	3 13	3 34	45	6 92
Bartlett Alvira A.	27				70	70	33	98	45	1 76
same	26				60	60	1 50	84	45	2 79
same	23				16	16	1 27	22	45	1 94
Miller John N.	82 n pt				90	140	2 33	2 10	45	4 88
Newville Hotel Co	50				415	415	8 94	5 85	45	15 24
same	51 s e ½ of				40	40	85	56	45	1 86
Rex Joseph	14				110	110	2 37	1 55	45	4 37
same	47 pt of				500	500	10 78	7 05	45	18 28
Thompson J. F.	51 n w ½				9	305	4 52	6 05	45	11 02
same	56				160	160	3 44	2 25	45	6 14
Yeagley A. J.	83 s pt of				106	106	9 43	1 49	45	11 37
same	87 s pt of				3	3	2 44	04	45	2 93
BUTLER.
Aldrich Jacob	94	B. A.			250	250	18 01	4 15	45	22 61
Arford Robert	81	B. A.			155	155	8 90	2 57	45	11 92
Boon J. H.	63 e pt of	B. A.			100	182	50 41	4 77	45	55 63
Blaker John	25	B. A.			100	415	7 68	9 63	45	17 76
Barnett J. S.	69	B. A.			220	1160	7 04	22 00	45	29 49
Boyer Daniel H.	2 n ½	D. A.			75	638	12 40	12 25	45	25 10
same	3	D. A.			450	450	12 78	7 47	45	20 70
Carpenter Geo. W.	146	B. 2d A.			490	535	11 34	8 71	45	20 50
Carr John, sen.	17	D. A.			30	30	84	49	45	1 78
same	16 s pt	D. A.			100	125	3 53	2 07	45	6 05
Carpenter Catharine A.	147	B 2d A			380	330	11 33	5 47	45	17 25
Champion John T.	78	B 2d A			90	164	6 11	4 47	45	11 03
Duel John L.	66	n w pt D A			200	200	19 83	3 32	45	23 60
Fisher Isaac	107	B. A.			115	159	2 03	5 38	45	7 86
Farrier Andrew	4 e pt	D. A.			230	239	6 51	3 81	45	10 77
Freburn John B.	50	D. A.			40	40	1 61	66	45	2 72
same	60	D. A.			205	205	6 80	3 40	45	10 65
Fanning F. W.	1	T. A.		8	310	619	13 03	12 02	45	25 50
Gordon M. B.	14 s pt	N. A.			230	230	6 22	3 78	45	10 41
Hall John	6	T. A.		1	180	386	13 02	6 57	45	20 04
Keefer Sarah J.	53	D. A.			140	555	4 94	9 21	45	14 60
Killmyer Chas	Out Lot				85	85	5 05	1 41	45	6 91
Kenan Michael	110	B. A.			30	30	7 69	49	45	8 63
Kniseley Ruhana	3	T. A.		4	260	260	7 36	4 31	45	12 12
Maxwell Geo. W.	57	D. A.			410	630	14 16	13 20	45	27 81
same	58	D. A.			40	40	1 68	66	45	2 79
McNall John	117	B. 2d A.			30	30	84	49	45	1 78
Madden John A.	29	D. A.			150	263	8 90	4 36	45	13 71
M. S. & N. I. R. R.	59	W pt	O. P.		30	30	45	49	45	1 39
same	127		O. P.		162	162	33	2 68	45	3 46
McIntyre Wm.	119 e ½	B. A.			20	20	3 11	33	45	3 89
same	120	B. A.			35	35	2 54	58	45	3 57
same	121	B. A.			115	212	7 38	5 26	45	13 09
Neel Nicholas	13 pt of n A.				70	70	1 97	1 16	45	3 58
Oberlin B.	61	D. A.			340	396	14 43	8 32	45	23 20
Oberlin Philip	74	B. A.			210	482	12 89	8 92	45	22 26
Plumley Alfred B.	1 mid pt	T. A.			65	165	1 83	4 48	45	6 76
Peck Carrie N.	139 B. 2d	A.			75	75	2 11	1 24	45	3 80
Pillsbury Nehemiah	8	P. A.			22	64	2 24	3 81	45	6 50
Prosser Wm. S.	Out Lot				225	262	10 75	6 09	45	17 29
Plotner Samuel B.	41	D. A.			100	105	4 13	1 74	45	6 32
Shoaff Daniel W.	110	B. A.			135	135	3 90	2 24	45	6 59
Stephens Lyda A.	95	B. A.			85	110	2 40	1 82	45	4 67
Strew Menerva J.	14	D. A.			175	175	4 95	2 90	45	8 30
Snively J. R.	85	B. D.			100	240	14 15	5 88	45	20 48
Thomas Wm. H.	7	T. A.		4	100	100	8 30	1 66	45	10 41
Tegardner A. W.	6 mid pt	D. B.			200	200	12 65	3 32	45	16 32
Tomlinson W. W.	3 mid pt	T. A.		1	380	265	26 91	7 14	45	34 50
Weiss Charles	Out Lot				85	485	4 66	9 80	45	14 91
Wells W. S.	Out Lot				190	190	3 40	1 99	45	5 84
Wyckoff Peter Q	10 n pt	D. A.			875	375	23 18	6 23	45	29 80
AUBURN.
Beck Wm.	101	O. P			30	30	2 55	42	45	3 42
same	200	O. P			20	20	1 90	28	45	2 63
Buss Christian, heirs of	73	W A			150	150	3 65	2 11	45	6 21
same	74	W A			60	60	1 44	84	45	2 73
same	6	W A			400	400	7 93	5 64	45	14 02
Buss Margaret	13	B. A			20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
same	14	B. A			20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
Ellis E. P.	206	O. P			10	10	1 66	14	45	2 25
Eckenburg John	160	O. P.			160	175	3 89	2 46	45	6 80
same	225	O. P.			25	25	60	35	45	1 40
Fair Christena	28 n ½	O. P.			240	932	5 83	13 14	45	19 42
same	140 s ½ 1f w ½	O. P.			70	70	1 69	98	45	3 12
Gestenslager Mary C.	28	E. A.			110	110	23	1 55	45	2 23
Lowry Wm. A.	46	O. P.			240	325	8 17	5 08	45	14 70
Long Michael	236	O. P.			10	10	1 63	14	45	2 22
Lung Noah	4	O. P.			30	30	71	42	45	1 58
Lauferty Samuel	17	B. A.			220	2385	48	35 42	45	36 35
Moore John	168	W A.			95	39	22 75	54	45	23 74
Park W.	190	O. P.			20	20	13 43	28	45	14 16
Showalter Jacob	8	E A.			30	30	1 36	1 92	45	3 75
Weaver David	45	W A.			30	30	2 54	42	45	3 41
Zern Abraham	120 00	O. P.			300	332	7 72	5 54	45	13 72
WATERLOO.
Anthony Mary	110	Hor 1st A.			250	250	10 23	3 90	45	14 58
same	158 n ½	Hor. 1st A.			85	88	2 48	1 32	45	4 25
Aldrich M. R.	78	O. P.			808	808	13 75	4 80	45	19 00
Bell & Emerson	218	Hor. A.			25	25	74 00	39	45	74 84
Blattner Adolphus W.	30 n 1-3	O. P.			1583	1583	83 64	24 69	45	108 78
Berry James L.	27 n ½	O. P.			278	292	5 06	4 30	45	9 81
Best James I.	25	L. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	26	L. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	27	L. A.			583	583	16 00	8 31	45	24 76
Corbett Artemen	71	O. P.			320	320	14 60	4 99	45	20 04
Cassner Elijah S.	67	Hop. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Cole Sarah A.	37	J. F. & G. A.			41	41	5 15	63	45	6 23
Fisher John	36	Hop. A.			33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Hamil Mary	60	O. P.			266	427	10 99	6 66	45	18 10
Henning Jennie	250	Hor. 2d A.			24	24	1 09	37	45	1 91
Jarvis & Frothingham	25	O. P.			200	200	6 00	3 12	45	9 57
same	3	F. 2d A.			133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Kennedy Josiah	26	F 1st A.			175	175	5 25	2 73	45	8 43
Lockhart Mary B.	22	L 1st A.			350	350	10 51	5 46	45	16 42
Lonutesenhiser B	23	L 1st A.			233	259	9 74	5 79	45	15 98
Lock Thomas	6	Hop. A.			350	475	9 39	7 41	45	17 25
same	7	Hop. A			66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
same	14	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	16	pt of hop. a.			8	8	97	12	45	1 54
same	38	Hop. A.			70	70	2 00	1 09	45	3 53
same	100	Hor. 2d A.			91	91	7 22	1 41	45	9 08
same	8	Hop. A.			50	50	1 49	78	45	2 30
					41	41	1 22	63	45	2 72
Leavitt	14	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	17	Hop. A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	22	Hop. B.			66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
McClary Laura B	206	Hor. 1st A.			208	208	14 43	3 24	45	18 12
Miller Lydia A.	109	s pt Hor. 1st A			266	266	9 60	4 14	45	14 19
same	110	und ½ Hor. 1st A			129	129	3 87	2 01	45	6 33
McBride Emily L.	13	B. & H. A			50	50	13 00	78	45	14 23
Moody Mary E.	253	Hor. 3d A.			50	50	1 49	78	45	2 72
Middleton Wm.	203	Hor. 2d A			320	320	9 61	4 99	45	15 05
Mason Elmira C.	9	F. & J. A.			103	103	6 41	1 60	45	8 46
Miller Oliver	198	Hor. 2d A.			41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
Radcliff Mary F.	1	Haw. A.			133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Walker James I.	24 w ½	O. P.			33	33	6 99	51	45	7 95
Williamson Norris	216	Hor. 2d A.			266	266	7 98	4 14	45	12 57
Zwilling Henry	197	Hor. 2d A.
UNION TOWN.
Colegrove M. D.	11	O. P.			26	26	77	40	45	1 62
same	12	O. P.			114	114	3 42	1 77	45	5 64
Long R. R.	23	O. P.			31	31	92	48	45	1 85
Wareham George	10	O. P.			88	131	6 80	2 03	45	9 53
LAWRENCE.
Alleman Samuel M.	73	O. P.			240	474	4 17	8 18	45	12 80
Brandt Jane G.	55	O. P.			118	118	4 82	1 62	45	6 89
Green Lyman	36	O. P.			240	250	15 55	3 36	45	19 36
Miller Peter	39 w ½	J. A.			40	60	87	70	45	2 02
same	30	J. A.			300	381	8 09	5 37	45	13 91
same	20	J. A.			20	30	49	42	45	1 36
same	25	J. A.			30	30	51	42	45	1 38
Odell James	57	O. P.			115	220	2 83	3 10	45	6 38
CORUNNA.
Bartlett & Bartlett	Mill Lot				1630	1630	60 94	22 56	45	83 95
Boughman Henry A	5	Orrs A.			115	115	2 01	1 62	45	4 08
Beaty Samuel	3	"			30	30	66 39	42	45	67 26
Depew Joseph	1 n pt	Mc 1st A			200	200	11 96	2 88	45	15 29
Barnest Henry N.	57	O. P.			75	277	7 99	5 40	45	13 84
Earl Robert J.	1 pt of	Mc 1st A			16	16	2 33	21	45	2 99
Fisher Esther A.	4	O. P.			150	150	9 07	2 11	45	11 63
Harding & Smith	4	O. P.			35	35	60	49	45	1 54
Heckathorn H. L.	9 w pt	T. A.			215	215	3 78	3 03	45	7 26
Hammond, Brant & Co.	2	O. P.			810	810	60 70	11 42	45	72 57
same	3	O. P.			10	10	2 37	14	45	2 96
same	4	O. P.			10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	5	O. P.			10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	6	O. P.			10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	7	O. P.			10	10	2 16	14	45	2 75
same	8	O. P.			10	10	77 62	14	45	78 21
same	76	O. P.			75	75	13 90	1 05	45	15 40
Marsh Chauncy G.	1	Orrs A			670	670	70 80	9 44	45	80 69
Masters Moses B.	4	Orrs A			155	155	2 72	2 18	45	5 35
Smith Geo W. A.	30	O. P.			115	115	2 01	1 62	45	4 08
Steward Maria	12	M 2d A			95	95	3 69	1 33	45	5 47
Shook Martin	3	M 3d A			75	75	15 13	1 05	45	16 63
Tarney Nathan	3	Top A			530	530	9 32	7 47	45	17 24
Waters Cyntha E.	4	Mc 2d A.			105	105	16 95	1 48	45	18 88
same	5	Mc 2d A.			25	25	15 77	35	45	16 57
Ward David	18	Mc 1st A			125	125	2 19	1 76	45	4 40
Williams Lucy A	17	Mc 1st A			150	150	5 60	2 11	45	8 16

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County, } ss

I, WILLIAM McINTYRE, Auditor in and for said county of DeKalb do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full and complete list of all the Lands and Town Lots in said county, returned delinquent for the tax of the year 1871 with the Delinquent tax, Penalty and Interest, and also the taxes of the current year, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given, that so much of the foregoing lands and town lots as may be necessary to discharge the taxes, interest penalty and charges due thereon, or due from the owner thereof at the time of sale, will be sold at public auction, at the Court House, in the town of Auburn, in said county, on the second Monday of February A. D. 1873 (the same being the tenth day of said month) unless such taxes, penalty interest and charges are previously paid. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock A. M. on said day.

Wm. McINTYRE, Auditor.

Auditor's Office, Auburn, Indiana, December 13th, 1872.

HATCH, HOLBROOK & CO.
DEALERS IN
Hardwood Lumber!
265 Archer Ave.,
CHIC'GO.
Ash, Oak, Hickory,
Blackwalnut, Butternut
Chery, Maple and
WHITE WOOD LUMBER.

We are now receiving shipments of Hardwood Lumber, and are ready to contract for delivery by rail at any time during this fall or winter.

We pay cash and the highest market rates for ☞Parties having any of the above for sale will find it to their advantage to write us before shipping elsewhere.

Nov. 21,—3m

WISHART
PINE TREE!
Tar Cordial,
NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY
FOR
Throat and Lungs.

☞ ☞ ☞

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE
The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,
GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,
—AND—
Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

☞ ☞ ☞ ☞

L. Q. C. Wishart, M.D
No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.
PHILADELPHIA.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!
LIFE
Insurance Company,
OF
Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a

Home Company!

Inasmuch as the

ENTIRE NET RECEIPTS!

Of Indiana, are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. F. LEDDERMAN
No 27, East Main Street,
FORT WAYNE, IND
as the largest and finest stock of
CLOTHS,
Coatings, Cheviots, and
CASSIMERES!
IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of
Made up Clothing!
ever shown in Fort Wayne
Youths' and Children's Clothing!
Furnishing Goods, etc.
Merchant Tailoring

In all the late styles properly attended to. Give us a large See

ORGANS.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the

ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN

a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county

Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.

Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.

For the present and until further notice, enqu at Gedorn's Gallery.

GEO. H. HOFFMAN.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1872.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER
DOORS, BLINDS
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Ballusters and Brackets
North of Canal West of Gas House,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby
SHOEMAKER,
Auburn, Indiana.

Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swineford's hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public in all work in his line.—Call and see.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, January 23, 1873. No. 4.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By

THOMAS C. MAYS

Editor and Proprietor.

Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year....$2 00
Six Months.... 1 00
Three Months.... 50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	1 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J, J LITTLEFIELD, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY
Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Mars' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, B. M. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. 124, 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE Ind. Miller & Martin, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 3-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. J. E. BEST. 3-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, a all times. 3-28

GEO. W: LOAG. J. D. BROWN.
LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS,
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keyst eBlock,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK
BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.
Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of
BALTIMORE,
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.
At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificent day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, with out change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.
L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianapolis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave,	11 34a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 38
Waterloo	10 33		8 18
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 58		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 58		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 30
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 35 a.m	6 45p.m	8 38
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 30
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 48	6 48
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 a.m	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 00	8 39
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 35
Angola	3 50		6.08
Pleasant	8 33		5 52
Waterloo	8 13		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 35p.m

Wm.A. Ernst, Sup

J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R.R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P M	,28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,15 "
Crest- ar	9.20 "	4,29 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line ..lv	9,40 "	5,00 A M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,06 "	6,10 "	7,36 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2.40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,46 "	2,85 P. M	2,65 "	4,56 "
Chicago	7.50 "	6,50 "	6,50 "	8,30 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC, E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M.	5.30 A. M.	9.30 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	8,56 "	12,50 A. M
Ft Wayne	12,70 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,38 "
Lima	2,45 "	4.07 "	1,18 A. M.	5,15 "
Forest	4,00 "	5,08 "	2,27 "	6,02 "
Crest- ar	5,35 "	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	[illegible]	[illegible]	4,15 "	[illegible]
Mansfield	6,05 P M	7,19 "	4,43 "	8,55 "
Orrville	2,18 "	9.20 "	6.87 "	11,08 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	8,25 "	1,10 P. M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A M.	11,42 "	3,30 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20	11,45 A. M.	4,3 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,

AND

DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS

RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872. trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 60p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 24	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 08	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 48	4 45
Summit	11 44	1 28	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	2 40	8 40
Auburn	12 12a.m	1 58	11 18
Denver	8 16	8 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 18

Eastward.

	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 30 a.m
Denver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 35 p.m	5 50
Waterloo	4 43	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 45	1 28	6 40
Angola	5 48	1 48	7 70
Bankers	7 08	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:16 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	1:28 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:43 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:30 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Corunna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:06 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 36	7 38
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve.	12 30 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 10
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 35	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WORTHINGTON, Sup't.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLE!
F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of
Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc
together with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.
PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!
AND
EATING HOUSE
Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.
BAKER BROS.

THE
EAGLE MILLS.
UBUR, IN A.

Having effected new arrangements for the accommodation of the public, we are now prepared to accommodate all demands made upon us in the way of
CUSTOM WORK!
We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.
Mill Feed
kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for
WHEAT!
THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS
Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his
Old Stand
ON MAN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA
Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,
FOR CASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!
as he has concluded not to do any more
Credit Business

Sutermeister,
Becker & Bond,
ACHITET S
BUILDING
CONTRACTORS,
AND DEALERS IN Building Stone
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
GRANITE.
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTHLS,
GRATES, &C.,
Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF
HardwareE,
NAILS. GLASS & PUTTY.
QUEENSWARE!
Willow-ware, Glass-ware,
Choice Groceries & Provisions!
—AT—
MARTIN & SONS,
Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

Inaugural Address

OF

GOV. HENDRICKS

The Welfare of the People—The Ballot Box—Representative Reform.

An Able Document.

—Gentlemen of the Senate, and House of Representatives:

In assuming the duties of the office to which I have been chosen, I invoke God's blessing upon our people and State.

It is primary among our obligations to see that every duty which the State owes to the United States is faithfully discharged, and that the rights and powers of the state are maintained and upheld. Between the rightful authorities of the State and the power of the United States, there should be no conflict, and if they be asserted and exercised in the spirit of the Constitution, and with a proper appreciation, of their relations, there will be none.—Under the Constitution, each State, and the United States, are so related that support to one is fidelity to both, and hostility to either is hostility to both. The exercise of unwarranted authority of either provokes collision, and is a public wrong.

THE FEDERAL POWER

has become so great, the area of its operations so extended, and the allurements to its services so seductive, that our most watchful care is necessary, to preserve the proper dignity and just influence of the State. It should attract attention and excite serious concern, when local troubles and controvercies, growing out of matters wholy of State concern, was made the pretext for the interposition of Federal authority, and the [illegible] of national [illegible]. Surely you will agree with me that Indiana is so great a commonwealth, and her people are so entirely capable of self-government, that every question and controversy connected with her policy, or growing out of her action, and within the sphere of her reserved sovereignity of a State of the Union, must be settled and adjusted according to her pleasure, and by her authority.

My conduct upon all questions that touch the relations between the State and the United States, shall be governed by an earnest desire, to preserv the legitimate authority of both, and to maintain the most eincere harmony.

By the prompt and full discharge of every duty, and the exercise of a fraternal community I will labor to promote a cordial and enduring friendship between all the states.

THE WELLFARE OF THE PEOPLE

requires that there be harmony between the Legistative and the Executive departments of the State. For the recommendations I may make to you pursuent to the constitutional requirement, I ask your respeqtful consideration; and I assure you that when the result of your labor shall be presented for my examination, your judgement will have its proper weight and influence upon my action, and I will take care that the laws you may pass shall be faithfully executed in the spirit of their enactment, and of the Constitution.

It is not expected of me upon this occasion to consider, with any degree of particularity, the subjects of legislation, that may ocupy your attention at the present session. That duty has been discharged by my predecessor.—But I cannot avoid a reference to some subjects of special interest and importance.

EQUAL AND JUST REPRESENTATION

and the integrity of the popular vote lie at the foundation of public authority; and the perversion of one, or the corruption of the other, tends to the desstruction of republican and free institutions. The preservation of both is among the most sacred obligations of the Legislature.

The laws regulating our

ELECTIONS

requires your special attention. They do not restrain the corrupt, nor protect the votes of the people. Our elections must not become a reprorch. Their result must express the will of the people. Our system must eb made so efficient as to guarantee purity in the conduct and management of the elections, and also to inspire and establish public confidence. When the people know that a political result has been fairly brought about, all discontent disappears; they cheerfully acquiesce, and yield entire obedience, to the authority thereby established. I cannot new attempt to suggest all the provisions that may be essential to an efficient system,

BUT WITHOUT THE FOLLOWING

no system will prove efficient:

2. A fair and reasonable representation upon the board of election officers of all political parties, having candidates to be voted for.

2. Voting places so numerous, and the presinct so small, in respect to the voting population, that all who offer to vote, may be known by the people of the neighborhood, as well as by the officers.

3. A reasonable period of residence in the election presinct, as a qualification to vote so that persons may not pretend a residence not real, in fraud of the law.

You will find an amendment of the second article of the necessary to enable the Legislature to prescribe such period of residence.—The constitution wisely provides for its own amendments, by a convenient and economical proceeding, which rendres it unnecessary to throw upon the people the expence of a convention, and avoids the possibility of changes, not desired by the...

CONSTITUTION

4. The exclusion of money as an influence and power from the election. If, in the contest for power, money shall become stronger than the people, we will have the worst government possible. It will be a reproach to us all, when wealth can buy what the loftiest talent and the purest virtue cannot attain.

In this connection I call attention to the subject of which, during the last ten years, have been advocated by some of the best minds, both in Europe and in this country, and is now undergoing the test of experience. I desire to make this the more emphatic, because in this State it seems yet to be regarded as right and proper, for the majority to deny to the minority even that representation, which an apportionment based upon population, and contiguity of counties would give. Representative reform rests upon the proposition that should have a representatson as nearly in proportion to numbers, as may be practicable. All the citizens contribute to the burdens of government and should yield obedience to the laws and it is just equal and fair that all should be represented. One of the ablest of English statesmen, in the debate in the House of Lords, on the reform bill of 1867, suggested this illustration: "Suppose a representative district, has ten thousand voters and six thousand are of one side in politics, and four thousand of the other, would not that district be bettor represented if both the six thousand and the four thousand were represented, than if the votes of either be wholly rejected and without influence or power?"—He added "I can well understand men who are extremely intolerent, and exclusive in politics, objecting to give any voice to those whose political views, are distasteful to them; but I cannot understand such an objection being urged by those who are in favor of having public opinion fairly represented.

REPRESENTATIVE REFORM

MINORITIES OF CONSTITUENCIES

The advantages of this reform are obvious. Political affairs would be modified; local satisfaction would be produced; the temptation to bribery and corruption, at elections would be greatly removed; and security and permanency would be given to the influence and power of the minority thus securing a check upon the majority, should it become arrogant and unscrupulous, so that legislation would proceed more for the people, and less for party.

This constituted a striking feature in the great reform measure of 1867 in England, a measure which greatly increased the powers and fortified the rights af the industrial classes in that country; it was particularly adopted in the selection of delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1867, in New York; it is recognized in the selection of jury commissioners and election officers in Pennsylvania; and is an important provision in the new Constitution of the great State of Illinois. This reform has also been the subject of careful consideration in Congress. On the 2d of March, 1869, Mr. Senator Wade, from a select committee reported a bill providing for its adoption in the election of Members of Congress. I will not undertake an examination of the different propositions whereby representation reform may be attained; that will be carefully considered by the Legislature, should a constitutional amendment on the subject be submitted to the people; but as a practical illustration of one of the modes, I quote the bill as reported to the Senate by Mr. Senater Wade, 'A bill to amend the representation of the people in Congress. Be it enacted, etc. That in the elections for the choice of Representatives to the Congress of the United States, whenever more than one Representative is to be chosen from a State, each electer of such State, duly qualified, shall be entitled to a number of votes equal to the number of Representatives to be chosen from the State, and may give all such votes to one candidate, or may distribute them equally or unequally, among a greater number of candidates, and the candidates highest in vote upon the return shall be declared elected.

The people expect at your hands substantial reforms in the civil service of the State. The Legislature of 1871 attempted the correction of many abuses, by the act of the 21st of February of that year, but that legislation has failed to accomplish most of the purposes of its enactment. Many of the courts have held important provisions invalid, for want of constitutional sanction. Extortion and constructive fees and charges should be prohibited and prevented. Complete reform will require the abandonment, in a large degree, of the system of fees and perquisites as a mode of compensating public officers. As far as may be practical, fixed salaries should be established, and all other compensation prohibited. Thereby the temptation to make questionable and unlawful charges will be removed. The compensation which you may allow should be sufficient to secure the best ability and the highest qualifications, but not large enough to promote corruption in the contests for the offices.

I cordially concur in the recommendation of my predecessor of a liberal increase in the salaries of the judges of the supreme court; and I also recommend an increase in the compensation of the other Judges of the State. The welfare of society is involved, in the character of the judiciary. The people do not desire or can they well afford, the economy of cheap judges.—Causes delayed, with accumulating cost; the time of jurors, parties, and witnesses wasted; increased appeals to the Supreme Court; and the wrong done to private rights all forbid it—The judicial districts and circuits, have in many instances, been increased beyend the demands of the public interest It is becoming an embarrassment in the way of providing proper compensation for an adequate number of judges.

Personal and local importunity ought not to prevail over the public good.—This evil should be corrected.

Unnecessary circuits and Districts should be stricken out, and those that remain so adjusted, as to give full employment to competent judges, and to apportion the labor equally among them It this be thoroughly and intelligently, done upon a basis of population or business the judiciary may be strengthened and elevated the necessary number of judges may be well paid, and at small, if any, increase of cost to the people.

I am not prepared to say that our present judical system is inherently defective. Many of the evils complained of result from the legislation enlarging the jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas, and thereby confusing the jurisdictions of that court and the Circuit Court; and perhaps the evils may be removed by your investigation and action. But if it be your judgment that a general revision and modification of the system is neccessary, then I recommend that a commission of men eminent in the law be provided, who shall report a plan of reform at the next session of the Legislature.

I recommend that provision be made for the more secure keeping of public moneys. It is not just to require public officers to retain a personal custody thereof, and to denounce degrading penalties against them if they fail therein, and at the same time to leave them without adequate protection.—But in no financial policy whatever, should the officers be allowed to make again to themselves out of the use of public money. That tends to corruption and the insecurity of the treasury.

I need not urge you to extend a protecting and fostering hand over our free schools, and to guard with anxious care the funds that support them Coming as you do from among the people, you cannot be indifferent to an influence so important to their welfare, add to the true dignity and strength of the State.

I trust the laws you may enact will promote the moral, intellectual and material welfare of the people.

THOMAS A. HENDRICKS.

At Pekin China, a barber will cut your hair, shampoo you, shave, cut your nails, wash your feet and brush your clothes, all for a cent. But you must make your cent before you go to Pekin.

Sleighing is splendid as yet, and we may be thankful for it.

THE WOODEN WEDDING.

[illegible]

When earth was filled with fairy clans,
And every mirth was wrought in fable,
When every shady grove was Pan's,
Ere Persian Cyrus laid his plans,
Or Yankee Cyrus laid his cable,

"About these days," as Beckwith says,
The Wooden Wedding doubtless dated,
And if we trace the thread with care,
We may find how, and when, and where
The pretty thought originated.

Young Cupid, tired of petty art,
One day sought frolic more diverting;
And, aiming at Apollo's heart
A silver-tipped and dainty dart,
Cried, [illegible] strung!"

The shaft struck home; the urchin drew
A leaden arrow from his quiver,
And shot the maiden, Daphne, through.
Just then, Apollo came in view—
She shrieked and fled towards the river.

The glimpse of loveliness complete,
Urged the impassioned god to follow;
With wings of fear upon her feet
Poor Daphne fled; but still more fleet
Came rushing down mad Apollo.

Her wailing filled the startling air;
With amorous arms the lover sought her;
But old Peneus heard her prayer,
And changed into a laurel there,
As quick as flash, his frightened daughter.

No Daphne fair the wooer found;
Her arms were branches, shadow-laden;
Her white feet turned beneath the ground,
And shot their fibrant roots around—
A very ligneous sort of maiden.

Within rough bark the damsel shrunk,
Her waterfall to foliage spreading;
She had to make her lonely bunk,
Ginevra-like, within her trunk—
For her is held the Wooden Wedding.

Heroic Daphne, who avows
She'd rather be the tree she's gone to,
And see thoughtless asses browse,
And sheep take shelter 'neath her boughs,
Than wed a god she doesn't want to!

Though he is rich and fair, she grieves
When Love impels the god to follow,
And in the garb that Nature weaves
Politely makes her boughs, and leaves,
And says, "I'd rather not, Apollo."

How many, because Cupid's dart
Is gilded, marry when they shouldn't!
Brave Daphne played the better part,
Nor gave her hand without her heart—
Her wooden wedding was wouldn't!

Our sisters take us when they go
To don the fascinating fetter;
A gracious fate has fixed it so,
That if they wed at all, you know,
They cannot well do any better.

That's where we have 'em! What a muss
'Twould make through all the realms of Nature,
O, brothers! if the girls we buss,
Instead of taking clods like us,
Could marry some celestial creature!

Five years of happy wedded life!
Ah, in this era of divorces,
When many a luckless wight and wife,
Involved in hymenial strife,
Are seized by centrifugal forces;

When, unlike dame and Johnny Sprat
Or lured by some Utopian vision,
Pairs are unyoked for this, and that,
For absence, and for incompat-
Ibility of disposition;

How wise, in such an age, again
To meet and tie the silken tether,
And tell the friends who crowd amain
With goodly greetings, that the twain
Are still resolved to live together!

No need to wish them, for their sake,
A life of joy, unmixed with sorrow;
A stream of love no ripples break,
A bark that trails within its wake;
Only the raptures of to-morrow.

No faithful soul will seek to shun
The discipline of self-denial;
But may they, as the seasons run,
Be truer for each duty done,
And stronger for each hour of trial!

May every luster brighter be,
And full of summers warm and golden,
Till smaller craft shall crowd the sea,
And cluster on the sunny lea,
And wooden wedding grow to golden.

When Faith shall sink beneath the tide,
And Hope shall near the shining portal,
Then may the bridegroom and the bride
Pass on together, side by side,
Where love shall sing and soar immortal!

THE PIONEER STEAMSHIP AND ITS NAVIGATORS.

The noble fleet of steamships that every Saturday leaves our city wharves for nearly all the great ports of the world, naturally directs the mind to the origin of ocean steam-navigation, and will render interesting an account of the pioneer steamship and its navigators.

After the great principle of the application of steam to the propelling of vessels had been established by Robert Fulton, a few small steamers were built for coast-navigation, but the State of New York excluded them from her waters, upon the ground that she had the exclusive right of that kind of navigation. For the right to build the Walk-in-the-water, for the navigation of the Great Lakes—the first of the kind ever built—New York claimed and received the sum of five hundred dollars, but the Supreme Court promptly disposed of this claim, and steam-navigation in our waters became open to the world.

The navigation of the ocean by steam now became an important question; and, notwithstanding the disheartening prophecies of Dr. Lardner, there were people in this country who took a more hopeful view of the subject. In 1818 there flourished in Savannah, Ga., the wealthy and enterprising commercial house of Scarborough & Isaacs. The head of the house had great confidence that, at no distant day, the ocean would be navigated by steam. He went to New York and purchased a ship of about three hundred and fifty tons, then on the stocks, and, as a deserved compliment to his State and city, named her the Savannah, and determined, with her, to try the experiment of crossing the ocean without sails. In casting about for the right kind of men to assist him, he fixed upon Capt. Moses Rogers, a person of great mechanical skill and ingenuity, who had been familiar and identified with the experiments of Fulton, but he was not a sea-navigator. A thorough, experienced, and practical sailor was now wanted, and just such a man was found in the person of Capt. Stevens Rogers, the brother of Moses. After having been furnished with an engine by Stephen Vail, of Morristown, conjointly with Daniel Dodd, of Elizabethtown, the Savannah was placed under the command of the two Captains Rogers—the one to superintend and direct her machinery, the other to act as sailing-master. They were two as intrepid and able men as the country contained at that time, and, under their direction, the ship sailed for Savannah on the 29th of March, 1819. The trial-trip was highly successful. The vessel then proceeded to Charleston, and, after being lionized there for a short time, took James Monroe, the President of the United States, to Savannah. On the 26th of May she sailed direct for Liverpool, making the passage in twenty-two days, eighteen of which were under steam, some economy of fuel having been deemed advisable lest the supply should be exhausted.

During the voyage across the Atlantic several amusing incidents occurred, but we have room only for the two following, obtained directly from the officers in command.

When the ship was approaching Cape Clear under steam, she was discovered by the officers of the telegraph station, and was reported to the Admiral in command at Cork as a ship on fire. The Admiral at once dispatched a fast cutter, well manned, to her relief; but great was their wonder at their total inability, under all sail and with a good breeze, to come up with the ship under bare poles. After several shots had been fired from the cutter, the engine of the ship was stopped, and the cutter permitted to approach, when her officers were invited on board to examine and admire the new invention.

Soon after dropping her anchor in the harbor of Liverpool, a boat, manned with sailors in naval uniform, commanded by a lieutenant, came alongside, and the officer, in a tone more authoritative than pleasing, demanded of the first man he saw:

"Where's your master?"

"I have no master," replied the American.

"Where's your captain, then, sir?"

"He is below, sir," was the reply.

On reaching the deck, Capt. Rogers asked the Englishman what he wanted.

The officer replied:

"My commander wants to know by what authority you wear that pennant, sir?" pointing with his sword to a coach-whip pennant flying at the main-mast head.

To this the captain replied:

"By the authority of my Government, which is republican, and permits me to do so."

The officer then remarked that his commander considered it as an insult to him, and, commanding the American to haul down the pennant, intimated that if it was not quickly done, he would be supplied with help.

This was a little too much for Yankee spirit to endure, and Rogers instantly gave the order to haul down the coach-whip, and supply its place with a broad blue pennant, such as were worn by the commanders of squadrons in our own navy, and ranking with the highest grade in that of the British, and then, in a loud tone of voice, so that he might be heard by the English, he directed the engineer to get the hot-water pipes ready. This had the desired effect, although there was no such apparatus on board, and the gallant lieutenant and his crew pulled for dear life. The hot-water jeers, which were subsequently leveled at the British officers, caused them to start upon an early cruise.

The Savannah attracted great attention at Liverpool; was visited by the authorities, and, as her fame spread to London, the crown-officers, noblemen, and many leading merchants visited her. The officers were very anxious to ascertain her speed, her errand, and her destination. It was suspected by some that her design was to rescue Napoleon Bonaparte, then a prisoner at St. Helena, his brother Jerome having offered for that purpose a large sum. She was carefully watched by the British Government, and ships-of-war were stationed at certain points for that purpose, which, for a time, prevented her departure from Liverpool.

She finally proceeded to Copenhagen, where she excited great manifestations of wonder and curiosity. Thence she proceeded to Stockholm, where she was visited by the royal family, ministers of state, and naval officers, who, by invitation, dined on board, and took an excursion among the neighboring islands, with which all were delighted. She then proceeded to St. Petersburg, having on board, as passenger, one Lord Lyndock, who was so much pleased with the performance of the steamship, that he presented to each of her officers some token of his esteem. To her sailing-master was presented an elegant snuff-box of pure and massive gold, on the cover of which, inlaid with platina, was a representation of Peter the Great asleep upon his horse, standing on the rock from which he viewed the Swedish army, with the serpent biting the heel of the horse, which awoke him in time to successfully attack the Swedes. At the bottom of the box was this inscription: "Presented by Sir Thomas Graham, Lord Lyndock, to Stevens Rogers, sailing-master of the steamship Savannah, at St. Petersburg, October 10, 1819." Lord Lyndock had taken passage on the steamer by invitation of Christopher Hughes, then American Minister to Sweden. Upon her arrival at St. Petersburg, the vessel was visited by the entire court, who tested her qualities by a trip to Cronstadt; and so well pleased was the Emperor that he caused the officers to be treated with marked attention. They were invited to be present at a review of eighty thousand troops by the Emperor in person; and a frigate of the largest class was launched on the "Camels," and taken down to Cronstadt as an exhibition of the progress of the arts in Russia. The Emperor solicited Capt. Stevens Rogers to remain in the Russian seas with his steamer, offering him the protection of the Government and the exclusive navigation of the Black and Baltic Seas for a number of years; and to Capt. Moses Rogers the Emperor presented a handsome silver tea-kettle. From St. Petersburg the Savannah sailed for Arendel, in Norway, and thence to Savannah, making the passage in twenty-five days. Thus ended the first voyage ever made across the Atlantic by a steamship. That was about fifty years ago, and the history of ocean steam-navigation during that eventful period will form one of the most important and interesting chapters in our annals of prosperity. With regard to Capt. Moses Rogers, he died many years ago.

The chart used by Capt. Rogers during his voyage, and the log-book of the Savannah, were solicited by the Navy Department about the year 1848, and it is believed that they are now in the safe keeping of the department in Washington. Having been unfortunate in losing much of their property by fire, the owners of the Savannah sent her to New York, where she was sold. Her engine was purchased and taken out by the proprietors of the Allaire Works, and, on the opening of the Crystal Palace in New York, her cylinder was presented by them for exhibition, and it remained until the place was consumed by fire, although a fac-simile of the cylinder and an engraving of the ship are in existence, which remained in the hands of the captain of the Savannah until his death.

Capt. Stevens Rogers was born in 1788, and resided, during the latter part of his life, in New London, Conn. He was a fine specimen of the old-fashioned type of ship-masters—some six feet in height, and of stalwart proportions; a most exemplary and excellent man, and universally respected and esteemed. When quite young, he was imprisoned by a British man-of-war, and, on being released, he determined afterward to have his credentials of citizenship always with him, so he had his name imprinted on his arm, the date and place of his birth, and the figure of a hand pointing to the American flag. These credentials were indelible, and remained until his strong arm was overcome by death in 1868. He died in New London, leaving behind him an unblemished reputation. —Appletons' Journal.

Foreign.

Street railroads are being rapidly constructed at Calcutta.

One is obliged to secure rooms at Nice a month in advance of his arrival.

The new swinging bell in the Cologne Cathedral weighs twenty-five tons.

Whenever an American is seen in Berlin hackmen fight to see who shall secure him.

The Parliament of Great Britain has 180 applications for railroad charters to consider.

It is rumored that Louis Napoleon and Eugenie will visit the United States next spring.

Stump is the very appropriate name of the principal manufacturer of wooden legs in London.

The fourth-rate cars in Germany have no seats, and passengers are huddled together like cattle.

Provisions are so scarce in Corea that the natives willingly pay two young women for a bushel of grain.

There are in Rome 126 monasteries and ninety-two nunneries, whose united net revenue is £2,978,408 per year.

England has built a steel steamboat ninety feet long, and drawing only twelve inches of water, for one of the rivers of Brazil.

Archbishop Dennison, who lately recommended the horse-pond as a remedy for discontent among English laborers, has been served by his parishioners with a pelting of stale eggs.

The peat deposits of Italy cover an area of about 100,000 acres. She pays $8,000,000 annually to other nations for fuel, and is now endeavoring to economise by using compressed peat.

The Paris Figaro attributes to M. Thiers the following mot: "The efforts of the Rights against the Republic resemble those of an infant who attempts to upset a railway train with a pin."

An English joint stock company, which proposes practically to realize Bessemer's antidote against sea-sickness by the construction of two steamers for the channel trade, has been organized in London.

The Khedive of Egypt has ordered the wedding outfit of his daughter to be made in Paris. One of the items of the order is flounce point d'Alencon at $800 a yard, and $30,000 worth of other laces are to be added.

At the Morgue in Paris there is always a detective in plain clothes, whose business it is to observe the impression which the sight of the bodies makes upon the spectators. Many murderers have thus been discovered.

A Paris publishing house having announced that it will speedily issue "The Letters of Eugenie de Montijo Prior to Her Marriage to Louis Napoleon," the Prefect of Police has prohibited the publication of the work.

Mlle. Berdon, a French dressmaker, tired of oppression, plunged into the Seine, with the words: "We have no liberties." When she was promptly pulled out she finished the idea: "They don't even allow us to drown ourselves."

The British Parliament, which meets next month at London, is four years old, having been summoned on the 10th of December, 1868. Since it assembled at Westminister, eighty-four peers and forty members of the House have died.

Terrible Encounter With a Deer.

The Litchfield (Minn.) Ledger says: About two weeks ago a Swede by the name of Torgilerson, who resides in Swift county, was proceeding to a neighbor's, some three miles distant from his own home, carrying a shovel on his shoulder, which he was returning to his neighbor, from whom he had borrowed it. He had accomplished about half his journey, and was passing through a small grove, when he heard a crashing in the underbrush, and, turning round, saw a stalwart deer of the buck persuasion making for him with every demonstration of hostile intentions.

There was but one course to pursue, and that was to fight for his life, and being a powerfully made man, he anticipated an easy conquest. Mistaken man! The deer charged with antlers lowered, even as an enraged bull would lower his head when dashing at his foes. Nels grasped his shovel and stood stoutly on the defensive. He aimed a desperate blow with his shovel full at his head.

It struck one of his antlers with such force as to break it, but the concussion was so strong that it forced Nels back several feet, and hurled him breathless against a tree. Just how the fight went after that Nels don't remember, but he knows that he fought with all the strength of desperation, and at last the deer and himself both fell to the ground, and Nels lost all consciousness for a time.

When he came "round to his soul again," the deer was lying stark dead near by him, and he could barely crawl away. His clothes were in rags, his left cheek torn open, a gash on the right side, where the deer had inserted one of the prongs of his antlers, and three fingers of his left hand jammed up. The shovel was a total wreck, and the carcass of the dear was pretty well hashed around the head and shoulders.

The blow that caused the animal's deathwas inflicted by a sharp corner of the shovel remaining on the handle after most of the blade had been broken off. The wounded man succeeded in crawling back to his home, which he reached in a terrible exhausted condition. It is thought that hewill survive his wounds.

Hurled Into a Gorge—A Horrible Execution.

One of the most shocking executions which ever took place in modern times, perhaps, was that of a handsome young girl who was put to death, on the 10th of December last, at San Marino, in Italy, for the murder of her new-born babe.

For nearly fifty years no murder had been committed in San Marino. So much the greater, then, was the horror of the people of the little republic, when, on the morning of the 10th of November last, they learned that the corpse of a child, which, to all appearances, was but a week old, had been found, covered with some rubbish, in a ditch near the Court-House, and its throat cut from ear to ear.

An investigation was at once set on foot by the presiding elder of the republic (such is his title), and in the course of a few hours it was discovered that a young girl named Felicita Pallavicini had probably committed the foul murder, and that the unfortunate and innocent victim of the fearful crime was her own little daughter.

Felicita was a tall, dark-haired and dark-eyed beauty of twenty-two years. Her features were as faultless as those of one of Raphael's Madonnas, and, although her parents, both of whom had died while she was still a child, were very poor, her hands and feet were as small as those of a duchess.

Felicita was at once arrested, and the remains of the murdered child were shown to her. She appeared greatly dejected, and said the child was hers, but refused to confess that she had taken its life. Vainly did the aged elder of the republic, who was also the presiding judge of San Marino, urge the wretched woman to atone, at least in a small part, for the fearful deed she had committed. She hung her head and refused to say anything. Absolute despair seemed to have seized her, and when she was formally tried for her offense, on the 19th of November, she appeared to be perfectly indifferent to what was going on.

Then he told her to stand up, and addressed her as follows:

"Felicita Pallavicini, you are a cruel murderess. Not only have you been guilty of the vilest of crimes, and heaped disgrace on our native country, but you have taken a human life, and, moreover, that of your of own offspring. Cruel, unnatural mother, you shall suffer death for your murderous deed. Prepare for your doom. Your last hour has come!"

The last sartling words aroused the prisoner from her torpor. She started up in dismay, as if thunderstruck by what she had heard.

"Your last hour has come!" repeated the presiding judge in a solemn tone.

And then the wretched Felicita realized her position at length, and she broke into wild screams.

"Oh, mercy, mercy!" she cried, "I was crazy when I did it; mercy, mercy!"

But the judges shook their heads, and the two officers of the court approached the prisoner upon a motion from the old judge.

"Take her to the gorge of Feri!" he said to them.

Felicita, who was a very strong woman, resisted the officers despreratety when they tried to tie her. She threw herself on the floor; she bit them and scratched them, but they soon mastered her, and a few minutes afterward she was bound so securely that she was as helpless as a child.

Then a priest was sent for to administer the last religious consolation to her, but she refused to listen to him, and uttered the most opprobrious sentiments, until it was finally found necessary to gag her.

And now she was carried out and placed on a litter, which the two officers took up. When they started for the scene where the last horror was to take place, the priest walked by the side of the helpless woman, holding up the crucifix to the face of her whose features were distorted with unbounded terror. A few citizens accompanied him. A more mournful procession could not be imagined.

At last they were close to the fatal precipice.

"May God have mercy on your poor soul," said the priest, fervently, and pressed the crucifix a last time to her face.

Then the two officials lifted her, and raising her up, hurled her into the depth.

Everybody shuddered when a second afterward they heard the body striking hard against the bottom of the gorge. Let us hope that death was instantaneous.

A Lead Pencil Run Through a Man's Body.

A remarkable accident occurred on New Year's night, one the narration of which would not be believed only that reliable parties tell the story, and the man hurt has been seen and interviewed. It appears that on the evening of the day mentioned, Wm. Lautier, driver of 5 engine, Jersey City Fire Department, started for supper, his residence being on Sixth street, near Coles street. When near home he slipped upon a piece of ice, falling backward, and the flesh near the shoulder blade was penetrated by the point of a well sharpened lead pencil, which stood upright imbedded in the hard incrusted snow. The pointed wooden dagger pierced through his two coats, under clothing, and then through the whole body, coming slightly out—the end—in his breast, near the armpit. He ate his supper and did not feel much pain until two hours later—though he thought he felt a little sore. He went back to the engine house, and there and then he said he though the had broken a bone in a fall. His coats were stripped off, and then his friends saw the sharp point of a pencil protruding slightly, the other and unsharpened end being imbedded in his back. All who saw the sight were astonished, as well they might be. Dr. Reeves was immediately sent for, and he and Foreman Hogan had to take pincers and cut and slash at the flesh before they could get a good hold of the pencil so as to pull it out. The job of extracting it was difficult. Lautier now lies at home, weak in condition, though he will recover. This must be set down as the most remarkable case of stabbing and of "pencilings by the way" on record.—Jersey City Journal.

An old bachelor compares life to a shirt button, because it so often hangs by a thread.

The Killing of Andrew Strong.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Journal gives the following particulars of the slaying of Andrew Strong, the last but one of the notorious band of outlaws known as the "Swamp Angels" that have so long infested Robeson county in that State:

One by one the band of Robeson county outlaws have dwindled down until there is now but one left of the entire formidable gang. For some time past Andrew Strong and Stephen Lowery have escaped the vengeance of the law, and have reigned unmolested over Scuffletown, but at length the former has been killed, and Stephen Lowery is the only one left of the entire gang.

At Eureka, a small station on the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford railroad, in the heart of the Scuffletown region, and about eighty miles from the city, there was a considerable Christmas gathering of the clans of the outlaws on Thursday. Steve Lowery was absent, but Andrew Strong was there with a number of his friends. About 2 o'clock of that day, while a number of negroes were in a store at the station, one of them stole a number of locks and secreted them in his pocket. He was charged with the theft by a young man by the name of Wm. Wilson, a clerk in the store, but he denied having taken them. Mr. Wilson then put his hand into the man's pocket and drew forth the locks. The crowd soon afterward left the store. About an hour after this Andrew Strong, who had evidently been drinking, came into the store and ordered Mr. Wilson to leave the county, swearing that if he did not he would kill him. The young man informed him that he would do so, when he (Strong) left the store. About 5 o'clock he returned, more intoxicated than before, and repeated his command, telling Mr. Wilson that if he found him there at 6 o'clock next morning he would certainly kill him. After saying this Strong turned to leave the store, and as he did so Wilson raised a double-barreled shot gun that was at hand and discharged one barrel at the outlaw, planting eighteen buckshot in his neck and head. Strong fell with scarcely a groan, and expired at once. The fall of the outlaw at once spread consternation and dismay throughout the group of his dusky followers, but no attempt was made to interfere with Mr. Wilson. Had Steve Lowery been there it might have been different, but he was absent, and no attempt was made to rescue the body. Rhoda Lowery, the widow of Henry Berry Lowery, the defunct outlaw leader, and sister to Andrew Strong, sent in a deputation requesting that the body might be delivered up to her, but this was, of course, refused, intelligence being conveyed, at the same time, by Mr. Wilson, that he would shoot the first man that dared to touch the body. Nevertheless, for fear that rescue might possibly be attempted, Mr. Wilson and a number of other gentlemen placed the body in a wagon and conveyed it to Lumberton, arriving at that town about 2 oclock, a. m. The body was at once surrendered to Sheriff McMillan, and was yesterday fully identified, whereupon the Sheriff paid over to the fortunate young man $1,000, the reward offered by the county for each of the outlaws, dead or alive. Besides this, $5,000 is to be paid by the State, as the reward offered by the Governor under authority of the Legislature, which can be obtained on application.

Mr. Wilson is quite a yong man, but of much nerve and determination. He is from the western part of the State, and has been clerking at Eureka for some time past. The rewards which he obtains for the killing of the outlaw will amount to quite a small fortune.

Insanity in Great Men.

The sad end of Horace Greeley should be a warning to friends in the treatment of premonitory symptoms of insanity in great men. When the late Hon. Preston King was stricken with a temporary mental malady, in 1839, his friends took him to an asylum at Hartford, Conn., and when he recovered, a short time after, he was so chagrined at the thought of having been confined in a lunatic asylum that he refused to return home till an old friend went and labored with him. Mr. K. always regarded this as a clog to his political preferment. When overworked in the New York Custom House his friends, supposing that they foresaw the return of the malady, made arrangements to take him to a private institution. But the man who had always been brooding over the confinement prefered death, and at the hour designated for his removal he made the fatal plunge from the North river ferry, having first taken the precaution to load himself with shot, so that he could not return within reach of a rescuing hand.

When Mr. Greeley's friends, with the kindliest motives, determined to take him to Pleasantville, they committed a grave error, and when he turned to Mr. Johnson and with tears streaming down his cheeks imploringly said, "Don't let them take me away! don't! don't!" he knew that the door which shut Horace Greeley into an insane asylum quenched the light of earthly hopes. He might have revived with quiet at his own friend's fireside, but the thought that he was adjudged a fit case for an asylum was unendurable.—Ogdensburg Journal.

For Boys.—It is not necessary that a boy who learns a trade is compelled to follow it all his life. Gov. Palmer, of Illinois, was a country blacksmith once, and began his political career as a constable in Macoupin county. A circuit judge in the central part of Illinois was once a tailor. Thomas Hoyne, a rich and eminent lawyer of Illinois, was once a bookbinder. Erastus Corning, of New York, was too lame to do hard labor, and commenced as a shop boy in Albany; when he applied for employment first, he was asked, "Why, my little boy, what can you do?" "Can do what I am bid," was the answer that secured him a place. Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, was a shoemaker. Thurlow Weed was a canal boat driver. Ex-Gov. Stone, of Iowa, was a cabinet-maker, which trade the late Stephen A. Douglas also worked at in his youth. Large numbers of men of prominence now living have risen from humble life by dint of industry, without which talent is as useless as a gold coin on a barren island. Work alone makes men bright, and it does not alone depend on the kind of work you have to do whether you rise or not. It depends on how you do it.

AN ECHO SONG.

"If I address the Echo yonder
What will the answer be, I wonder?"
"I wonder!"

"Oh, wondrous Echo! Tell me, bless'ee, Am I for marriage or celibacy?"
"Silly Bessy!"

"If then to win the maid I try Shall I find her a property?"
"A proper tie!"

"If neither being grave nor funny
Will win this maid to matrimony?"
"Try money!"

"If I should try to gain her heart, Shall I go plain, or rather smart?"
"Smart!"

"She mayn't love dress, and I again, then,
May come too smart, and she'll complain then."
"Come plain then."

"Then if to marry me I tease her,
What will she say if that should please her?"
"Please, sir!"

"When cross nor good words can appease her,
What if such naughty whims should seize her?'
"You'd see, sir!"

"When wed she'll change, for Love's no sticker,
And love her husband less than liquor!"
"Then lick her!"

"To leave me then I can't compel her, Though every woman else excel her!"
"Sell her!"

Humorous.

Cloth for a baker—Dough-skin.

A thrilling tale—The rattlesnake's.

Forgers to be encouraged—Blacksmiths.

Spots on the sun—Freckles on your boy's face.

The best liquid—Liquidation of the public debt.

Corn-fields that require neither plowing nor sowing—The feet.

The next worst thing to raining pitchforks—Hailing omnibuses.

Why are religious people fit subjects for entomologists? Because they are in-sects.

"I want to know," said a creditor, fiercely, "when you are going to pay me what you owe me?" "When I'm going to pay? Why, you're a pretty fellow! Do you take me for a prophet?"

Another victim, snatched away in the prime of a useful life, is to be charged to the abominable vice of tobacco-using. He was a Virginian, and after smoking and chewing for 110 years, was finally fine-cut off at the tender age of 118.

A chemist announces his ability and readiness to convert the remains of any, dear departed at once into a powder, which may be used to dry up ink in writing. Droll idea to be able to dredge away a mother-in-law in daily correspondence.

"Get out of my way! What are you good for?" said a cross old man to a bright-eyed urchin who happened to be standing in the way. The little fellow, as he stepped one side, replied very gently: "They make men of such things as we are."

George W. Maley, a famous Methodist preacher, once in addressing himself especially to the colored people of his congregation, cried out: "You, my dear black brethren, God bless your black, greasy hides, when you get to heaven you will be japanned all over with glory!"

Personal.

George Ripley, of the New York Tribune, is seeing his 71st winter.

Stokes was sentenced to death just one year to a day from the time he shot Fisk.

Chief Justice Chase has five grandchildren—three little Spragues and two little Hoyts.

An autograph letter from Washington to his step-son's preceptor sold in London for $125.

It is thought in Salt Lake City that Brigham Young will never pass another summer above ground.

A biographical memoir of the late Edwin Forrest is in preparation by the Rev. W. Alger, of Boston.

Six of the signers of Jeff Davis' bail bond are dead, but Gerrit Smith, who headed the list, still lives.

Creswell says that he will not be satisfied until a letter can be sent to any part of the United States for a penny.

Two boys have been expelled from the Normal School at Brockport, N. Y., for cutting a curl of hair from a young lady's head.

Ebenezer Childs, of Farmington, Me., was wounded by a bayonet in 1814, and has since drawn $13,380 in pension money.

A Pennsylvania Dutchman has inscribed his name on the roll of fame by erecting a sausage of over two tons weight.

Maggie Mitchell crossed the Mississippi at Belmont in a skiff, in order to be at Memphis Christmas eve. She was just in time.

It is rumored that Rosa Bonheur is coming to America to make original sketches of the buffalo, the mustang, and the coyote.

Oakey Hall, retiring from the office of Mayor of New York, closed twenty-one years of official service, and resumes the practice of the law.

A Strange Fertilizer.—The Scientific American describes a strange fertilizer. At Stratford, Conn., where mosquitoes are as thick as a fog, lives an ingenious Yankee, so they say—believe it who may—who puts these insects to profitable uses. He has invented a large revolving scoop-net, covered with lace, which is put in motion by a windmill, water-power, or steam. The lower half of the scoop is placed in water. The upper half moves through the atmosphere, and at each rotation draws an immense number of the "squitoes" down into the water, where they drown and sink to the bottom. Every revolution draws in an ounce of mosquitoes, or a ton for 32,000 turns of the machine. The mosquitoes thus collected make a splendid manure for the land, worth $40 a ton.

Charles Fenno Hoffman, once a very popular song-writer and litterateur, is supposed to have been dead for some years. He would better have been, for he has long been an inmate of a lunatic asylum in Pennsylvania, and is unquestionably incurable.

Billings' Wit and Wisdom.

Kind Fortune, teach thi servant humility, but let no sneak of an upstart outshine him in things that are stylish.

Giv unto me morality copious; and may mi shirt kollars be stiffer than china and whiter than snowballs in winter.

Smile, thou goddess dear, at mi mustash, and may mi wisdom be grate—even like unto Solaman's.

Grant that i may a pattern be, worthy of all imitashun, and that i able may be tew wear a boot number 5 on these number 10 feet ov mine.

Fill up mi kup tew the brim's very top with honor and honesty, and make mi neckties mine enemies tew smite with sorrow and confushion.

Take away from me all vanity, but grant that my Sunday panterloons may fit me even as korn fitteth the kob.

Remove far from me, O gentle Fortune! all pride and vain ostentashun, but grant that my name amung wimmen may ever be spoken in acksents of gladness.

Make mi heart tew glisten with charity, but teach mi taylor and shumaker how tew wait for their munny and be happy.

Let mi heart feast on the truth, but smile thou upon mi kork leg and periwig nobby.

Remove far from me all gluttony, but preserve mi appetite for toast with a quail on it in all its original buty.

Teach me tew shun all decepshun, but help me tew marry a big pile at last, making sum maiden or young widdo happy.

Take away from mi heart all envy, but grant, kind Fortune, that mi hat kant be beat, nor the lavender tint ov my gloves be exceeded.

Fill me with courage true and reddy, but if enny man offers tew smote me, giv tew me the fleetness ov venison and mi legs the speed of the roebuck.

Remove all affektashun far from me, but enable me tew keep up appearance, if i hav tew cheat a little tew do it.

Take away out ov mi site all kinds ov kunning, but teach me tew keep a sekret, the grocer who sells me mi hair di.

Above all things with modesty shower me. Yes! make me all dripping wet, but don't let me looze a good chance mi nu koat to spread before the eyes of men filled with envy.

Make me at all times of the poor heathen thoughtful, at church not forgetting the plaiter to annoint with a 10 cent plaster.

Remove from me all gra hares and pimples, all bunyans and korn pestiverous, and grant that mi calfs still fatten on saw durst, and mi cheeks feed on plumpers, and mi harte ever bubble and bile over with mersy.

Teach me mi kane tew whirl so peculiar, and mi mustash tew twist into such long drawn out sweetness that all the people shall kall me "Yung Purity."

Smile thou! upon all hatters and barbers, all shirt-makers and gloviers, all perfumers and dentists, all wash wimmen and shu blaks, and forgive them the dets i may owe them, and kauze me tew weep over man and hiz menny misfortins.

Bless all maids ov estate, all widdo's with munny, all mothers ov fashion with daughters tew marry, all good matches laying around loose, but chiefly giv me a conshience full ov aroma.

Lengthen out, kind Fortune, the days ov mi unkle, but should he happen tew slip away sudden, bow me down with sorrow bekuming.

Listen! dear Fortune, listen!—giv me the style of heart breaking Adonis, let the virtews all seek mi acquaintanse, and feed with nu fires exquisit the soltaire that burns on mi buzzom.

I will raize thee an altar, kind Fortune, an altar az hi az a lamp post, if theze mi prayers are answered—farewell far the present—don't go back on Beau Bennett, the beautiful.

Road Etiquette.

Perhaps there is good reason in deposing some of the rules of etiquette imposed by fashionable society. If a man wishes to eat his mashed potatoes with his knife, or prefers to pour his hot coffee into a saucer rather than burn his throat, we are willing he should have his liberty. But there are some things that no man has a right to do, and that no well-bred man will wish to do. No man will wish to put his fork into another man's plate, or drink from another person's cup. If two men sleep in the same bed, and one of them crowds the other to the rail, he is called a hog.

Now, there are certain rules of good breeding that apply to the road as well as at the table or at the fireside. We are not talking about any laws of common sense and good breeding. When two teams meet, good breeding requires that each give half the road. Yet we often meet teamsters who refuse to obey this simple rule, because they have the advantage at the time. A man with a heavy lumber wagon has no more right to crowd a light carriage into the ruts or bushes, than a burly lubber would have to force his weaker bed-fellow to sleep on the rail. If some peculiarity in his load requires him to keep the track, he can stop his team, and politely ask for it, and thank the other for giving it.

When one teamster wishes to pass another on a dusty road, he should ask the privilege of doing so, especially if there is a lady in the forward wagon. When the forward team finds that his own team travels slower than the other, he should hold his horses to their slowest pace till the other passes. A man has no more right, under these circumstances, to whip up his slow team just enough to keep the other in the rear, than he has to build a fence across the road, or do any ill-mannered, vulgar thing.

We suppose there are statute laws to regulate the conduct of teamsters, but we have not felt it necessary to refer to them; for we think a little attention on the part of teamsters to the simple rules of good breeding will do as much to prevent accidents and secure comfort and good feeling on the road as any set of laws that could be enacted.

The Moscow Gazette publishes statistics of literature and education in Russia that are by no means flattering. Of the entire population only nine per cent. know how to read. In Russia, outside of Moscow and St. Petersburg, there are 349 book-shops and 236 libraries—585 collections of books among a population of 55,000,000.

His Holiness the Pope has just lost two hundred thousand dollars—"Peter's Pence"—by the failure of the Brussels banking house of Jacob Freres & Co.

Enmity Between Swans and Geese.

Touching this enmity between the swans and the geese, it is curious to see how the long feud varies. In the spring the swans are victorious. The male plunges through the water at the geese directly they appear, and, single-handed, sends them all flying off with screams. Moreover, it will follow them far ashore, hunting them some 200 yards up the common, which pasture retains the name it had before inclosure. Some two years ago, I had not been home for twelve months. Before I left there had been great contests between the swan and the gander out on the grass, and on arriving in by the gate at the top of the common on my return after a year's absence, there they were on the same place, pounding and flapping at one another, as if they had not stopped since I saw them last. Nor do I suppose that there had been more than a short truce, which generally arrives in the severest part of the winter. Then all, friends and foes, come up to the house to be fed. In the autumn, the war does not cease, though the tables are turned. Then the gander gets a temporary pre-eminence. For a time, the efforts of the swan to drive off the geese grow fainter. He will come plunging up to the fleet of geese, which evade him, and swim further out. Presently they all set up a war-scream, and the old gander, with his neck as straight as a ruler, sallies out, challenging the swan to single combat. That is accepted. The other day—I write in September—I saw such a duel. The birds laid hold of each other by the throat, and there was a tremendious splashing and pother. The gander drew off after some three or four minutes of this intimate wrestle. But, if he follows the precedent of former years, he will soon win a victory, as thus: He will get on the swan's back, between his wings, and peg away at the nap, of his neck, the swan swimming away furiously all the time, until at last Mr. Gander gets off, returns to his flock, which set up a monstrous chorus of rejoicing, and congratulates himself on the first victory of the period in which he remains the master.—Chambers' Journal.

Killed by a Falsehood.—"He is dead," said a friend of ours the other day, in answer to an inquiry after the health of a mutual acquaintance. "Dead! you don't say so. Of what did he die?" "Of credulity," was the reply; "he believed in a patent medicine of which the chief ingredient was forty-rod rum, and it proved the death of him." This was true; the unfortunate man had taken for liver complaint a compound of fiery alcohol and root juice, and it killed him. Now, did that misguided invalid require a tonic? He did; but not a spirituous excitant. The writer of this brief statement is confident, from his own experience, that if the Martyr to Drugged Alcohol had resorted to Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, instead of to the poison with a medical name which proved fatal to him, he would to-day be in the land of the living. The justly popular vegetable specific contains no destructive element. It is a tonic that does not excite, a cathartic that does not weaken, an antiseptic that neutralizes the seeds of disease in the blood and other fluids of the body, and a general alterative which arrests diseased action in the secretive organs, and restores the functional regularity indispensable to health and vigor. We are no friend of indiscriminate praise, and believe that many patent medicines are merely poison, but the experience of thousands has proved the Vinegar Bitters to be all they claim.—[Com.

Our Food.—There is no country where there is so much dyspepsia as in America, because our people pay so little attention to food, and eat too much meat for the exercise they take. If one has mental labor, fish every second day at least is requisite. Soup sets all the glands at work, and prepares the stomach for the more important functions of digestion, and, therefore, should be taken at dinner every day. Beef broth is to the old what milk is to the young. Cookery, properly attended, keeps a man in health. If the stomach is out of order, the brain is affected. We should eat more fruit, vegetables, soup and fish. Good and well prepared food beautifies the physique, the same as good and well directed education beautifies the mind. Wrinkles are produced by want of the variety of food. The man who does not use his brain to select and prepare his food is not above the brutes, which take it in the raw state.—Hearth and Home.

Miss Alcott recives $10,000 copyright on her works.

A CHALLENGE

Is extended to the world to place before the public a better cough or lung remedy than ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

Verily it Hath No Equal.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ!

Would you cure that distressing cough, and bring back that healthy vigor till lately planted in your cheek? If you would, do not delay; for, ere you are aware, it will be too late.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

Is your hope. It has been tried by thousands such as you, who have been cured; many, in their gratitude, have lent their names to us, that suffering humanity can read their evidence and believe. Don't experiment with new and untried mixtures—you cannot afford it—but try at once this invaluable article. It is warranted to break up the most troublesome cough in a few hours, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction in all cases of lung and throat difficulties.

UNSOLICITED EVIDENCE OF ITS MERITS.

READ THE FOLLOWING

WHAT WELL-KNOWN DRUGGISTS SAY ABOUT ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

Springfield, Tenn., Sept. 11, 1872.

Gentlemen: Ship us six dozen Allen's Lung Balsam at once. We have not a bottle left in our store. It has more reputation than any cough medicine we have ever sold, and we have been in the drug business twenty-seven years; we mean just what we say about the Balsam.

Very truly yours,
HURT & TANNER.

AGAIN READ THE EVIDENCE from a Druggist who was cured by use of the Balsam, and now sells it largely:

L. C. Cottrell, Druggist at Marine City, Michigan, writes, Sept. 12, 1872: "I am out of Allen's Lung Balsam. Send me half a gross as soon as you can; I would rather be out of any other medicine in my store. The Lung Balsam never fails to do good for those afflicted with a cough."

It is harmless to the most delicate child.
It contains no opium in any form.
It is sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Do not be deceived. Call for ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and take no other.
Directions accompany each bottle.

J. N. HARRIS & CO, Cincinnati, O.,
Proprietors.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

THE WEEKLY SUN.
Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

The Best Family Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Agricultural Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Political Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Newspaper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Has All the News.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Story Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Fashion Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Market Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Cattle Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Paper in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN. New York City.

Seventeen members of a pleasant brotherhood, calling itself "Bequillard's Assommeurs," have recently been arrested in Paris. They went about in side streets pretending to be soldiers maimed at Solferino, and begging for alms. When the victim felt in his pocket for money, the beggars would step behind him, slip off their wooden legs, and stun him with them so as to get all his valuables.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough in one-half the time necessary to cure it with any other medicine, and it does it, not by drying it up, but by removing the cause—subduing the irritation and healing the affected parts. For all cases of Laryngitis, Hoarseness, Suppression or Loss of Voice, Bronchitis, Severe Chronic or Lingering Coughs, it will be found to surpass any medicine that has ever before been offered to the public. Sold by druggists.—[Com.

When is a soldier like a fired-off musket? When he is discharged.

For Throat Diseases and Affections of the Chest, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are of value. For Coughs, Irritation of the Throat caused by cold, or Unusual Exertion of the Vocal Organs, in speaking in public, or singing, they produce beneficial results.—[Com.

For Dyspepsia.—Indigestion, depression of spirits, and general debility in their various forms; also, as a preventive against fever and ague, and other intermittent fevers, the "Ferro-Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya," made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic, and as a tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it has no equal.—[Com.

If we can benefit the readers of this paper any by recommending Parsons' Purgative Pills to be the best anti-bilious medicine in the country, we are willing to do so. We have had about as good a chance to know as any one.—[Com.

To have elegant light Biscuits, Rolls, Buckwheat Cakes, Fruit Dumplings, &c., you should use Dooley's Yeast Powder. Ask your Grocer for it. It is a pure Baking Powder.—[Com.

A nice present for Christmas! A bottle of "The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion!—[Com.

The only genuine folded edge Collars are the Elmwood and Warwick. They are the best collars ever made.—[Com.

Shaken Constitutions.

General debility, and the despondency by which it is invariably accompanied, are often regarded as the symptoms of incurable physical decay. Of persons thus afflicted it is often said that their constitutions are undermined; that they have nothing left to fall back upon; that they are hopeless cases. This, in at least eight instances out of ten, is a false conclusion. A constitution may be shaken without being undermined; and even if undermined may be propped and strengthened; and in many so-called hopeless cases there are reserves of vitality and latent vigor in the system that only require stimulating and developing to render them equal to the work of repair. The best and surest stimulant and invigorant that can be given as a remedy for decay of the vital powers, whether natural or casual, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If the faltering physique can be roused into healthy activity by any human means, this regenerating vegetable cordial will accomplish that object. Its effect upon the appetite, the digestion, the nervous system, the secretive organs and the bowels is most salutary. It not only acts directly upon the solids and fluids of the body, but indirectly upon the constitution itself. Persons left by fever in such a deplorably helpless condition that it would seem as if they could never recover, may be completely built up—it might almost be said, re-built—by this mighty, this well-nigh infallible, vegetable restorative. At this season of inclement winds and chilling damps the Bitters should be taken as a protective medicine.

Vegetine is not a stimulating bitters which creates a fictitious appetite, but a gentle tonic which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

It is Altogether Wrong to trifle with a Bad Cough or Cold, when the risk is so great and a remedy so sure, prompt and thorough as Dr. Jayne's Expectorant can be readily found.

The Markets.

NEW YORK
Beeves—Good to Prime	12 @	13½
Common	9 @	11
Hogs—Dressed	5½@	6
Cotton—Middling Upland	20½@	..
Flour—Superfine Western	5 95 @	6 50
Wheat—No. 2 Chicago	1 58 @	1 60
Barley—No. 2 Western	1 05 @	..
Corn	64 @	67
Oats	46 @	58
Pork—Mess	13 75 @	14 00
Lard	7½@	8½
CHICAGO.
Beeves—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 00 @	5 50
Medium	4 50 @	4 75
Common	3 00 @	4 50
Inferior	1 75 @	2 50
Hogs	3 75 @	4 10
Flour—White Winter Extra	7 50 @	9 75
Red Winter Extra	6 50 @	7 50
Wheat—No. 1 Spring	1 25 @	1 26
No. 2 Spring	1 21 @	1 21½
Corn—No. 2	30½@	30¾
Oats—No. 2	25 @	25½
Rye—No. 2	67 @	68
Barley—No. 2	65 @	66
Butter—Choice	25 @	28
Eggs—Fresh	28 @	29
Pork—Mess	11 80 @	11 85
Lard	7½@	7¾
ST. LOUIS.
Corn	31 @	38
Oats	27½@	28
Rye	73 @	74
Barley	69 @	71
Hogs	3 60 @	4 00
Cattle	3 25 @	3 50
CINCINNATI.
Pork—Mess	12 50 @	12 75
Lard	7½@	7¾
Hogs	4 00 @	4 20
MILWAUKEE.
Wheat—No 1	1 28½@	..
No. 2	1 21½@	..
Oats—No. 2	26½@	..
Corn—No. 2	33½@	..
Rye—No. 1	67 @	..
Barley—No. 2	72½@	..
CLEVELAND.
Wheat—No. 1	1 72 @	..
No. 2	1 68 @	..
Corn—Mixed	45 @	46
Oats	35 @	37
TOLEDO.
Wheat—No. 1 Red	1 70 @	..
No. 2 Red	1 68 @	..
Corn	37 @	39½
Oats	33 @	33

The other day a citizen of Hartford went to a dentist, accompanied by a friend, to have a tooth extracted. His power of endurance not being of the strongest character, he took ether. After the operation was performed, and he was beginning to regain consciousness, he asked his friend, "Where am I?" "You're in jail for killing your wife." "In jail for killing my wife? I always thought it would come to that!"

Worthy of Note.—An exchange says there is scarcely a day passes that we do not hear, either from persons coming into our office or in some other way, of the success of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment in the cure of coughs and colds, so prevalent about town just now.—[Com.

10,000 PRAIRIE FARMS,
16 hours from Chicago—with no change of cars—all in the
"MIDDLE REGION of WESTERN IOWA."

A rich, well-drained prairie soil of natural meadow and plow land, evenly distributed; pure running water abundant; climate unsurpassed (fever and ague being unknown). Compact bodies of land to be had to any desirable extent.

1,700,000 ACRES OF RAILROAD LANDS,

Free from mortgage, granted to build, and all adjacent to the Iowa lines of the Chicago and North-western, Illinois Central and S. C. & P. Railways, for sale in tracts to suit purchasers, by the IOWA RAILROAD LAND CO. Lands of the best quality, and near stations, only cost from $7 to $10 per acre, the more distant $4 to $6, on time, with 6 per cent. interest.

Agents at Railroad Stations are provided with plats, prices and teams to show lands, free to purchasers. Land Exploring Tickets, receivable for land purchased, can be had at the Chicago Branch Office, 65 S. Canal-st.; at the Railroad offices in Clinton and Dubuque; and at our main office as below. Land buyers should call or send and obtain a guide. It costs nothing, and gives descriptions, locations, prices, terms, and all needful information. County maps, showing lands for sale, also sent free. Call on or address,

JOHN B. CALHOUN,
Land Commissioner, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

THE Mason & Hamlin
ORGAN CO.

Respectfully announce that they have opened

Their Own Warerooms
IN CHICAGO

Which for the present (until the completion of a new building) will be at

281 Wabash-av., corner Van Buren-st.,

In premises lately occupied by Messrs. Root & Cady.

It is the intention of the Company to keep in Chicago, for the direct supply of the Northwestern Trade and the Public, the

LARGEST STOCK OF ORGANS IN TH COUNTRY.

TERMS AND PRICES WILL BE THE SAME IN BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

Every purchaser of a Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organ may be sure that he is getting, according to its size, capacity, style and price, the best instrument which it is possible in the present state of the art to construct. The manufacturers are willing to Warrant all their work as up to even this high standard.

A large stock of Organs now on the way to Chicago, including a number of NEW AND VERY DESIRABLE STYLES.

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES AND TESTIMONIAL CIRCULARS FREE.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.
Boston, New York & Chicago.

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents, Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

THEA-NECTAR
IS A
PURE BLACK TEA
with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

$50—VALUABLE—Send three-cent stamp for particulars. DOBSON, HAYNES & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

EVERGREENS (6 to 15 Inches) Transplanted. $2 to $5 for 100. Send stamp for descriptive list to BARNES & CO., Young America, Ill.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 260 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

L.D.SINE'S
ESTABLISHED 1854.

GIFT ENTERPRISE
The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!

$60,000.00
IN VALUABLE GIFTS!
TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN
L. D. SINE'S
159th REGULAR MONTHLY
GIFT ENTERPRISE,
To be drawn Monday, Feb. 17th, 1873.
TWO GRAND CAPITALS OF
$5,000 EACH IN GREENBACKS!

Two Prizes $1,000 each } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500 each }
Ten Prizes $100 each }

One Horse and Buggy, with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $600! One fine-toned Rosewood Piano, worth $500! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! Five Gold American Hunting Watches, worth $300 each! Five Gold American Hunting Watches, worth $125 each! Ten Ladies' Gold Hunting Watches, worth $75 each! 800 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches (in all) worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.

Whole number Gifts 6,500. Tickets limited to 60,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.

Single Tickets, $1; Six Tickets, $5; Twelve Tickets, $10; Twenty-five Tickets, $20.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to

MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.

A NOBLE CHARITY.
OMAHA LOTTERY
TO ERECT THE
NEBRASKA STATE ORPHAN ASYLUM.
To be Drawn in Public, March 31st, 1873.
Tickets $1 Each, or Six for $5.

Tickets sent by Express, C. O. D., if desired.

1 Cash Prize	$75,000	1 Cash Prize	$20,000
1 Cash Prize	$15,000	1 Cash Prize	$10,000
1 Cash Prize	$5,000	1 Cash Prize	$4,000

For balance of Prizes send for Circular.

This Legal Enterprise is indorsed by his Excellency Gov. W. H. James, and the best business men of the State.

The limited number of Tickets on hand will be furnished to those who apply first.

Agents Wanted. For full particulars, address J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Omaha, Neb.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Throat and Lung Difficulties.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, 194 Penn street, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

R. R. R.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
Cures the Worst Pains
IN FROM
ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.
NOT ONE HOUR,
AFTER READING THIS ADVERTISEMENT,
Need any one Suffer with Pain.

Radway's Ready Relief is a Cure for every Pain.

IT WAS THE FIRST AND IS THE ONLY PAIN REMEDY

that instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays Inflammations, and cures Congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands or organs, by one application.

IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES,

no matter how violent or excruciating the pain the RHEUMATIC, Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
WILL AFFORD INSTANT EASE.

Inflammation of the Kidneys,
Inflammation of the Bladder,
Inflammation of the Bowels,
Congestion of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, Difficult Breathing,
Palpitation of the Heart,
Hysterics, Croup, Diphtheria,
Catarrh, Influenza,
Headache, Toothache,
Neuralgia, Rheumatism,
Cold Chills, Ague Chills.

The application of the READY RELIEF to the part or parts where the pain or difficulty exists will afford ease and comfort.

Twenty drops in half a tumbler of water will in a few moments cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic, Wind in the Bowels, and all Internal Pains.

Travelers should always carry a bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy or Bitters as a stimulant.

FEVER AND AGUE.

FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in this world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other Malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow, and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS) so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.

Fifty Cents per Bottle.

HEALTH. BEAUTY.
STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Has made the most astonishing Cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the Body undergoes, under the influence of this truly Wonderful Medicine, that

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the Sarsaparillian Resolvent excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints,

Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick-dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by RADWAY'S RESOLVENT.

PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

DR. RADWAY'S
Perfect Purgative and Regulating Pills,

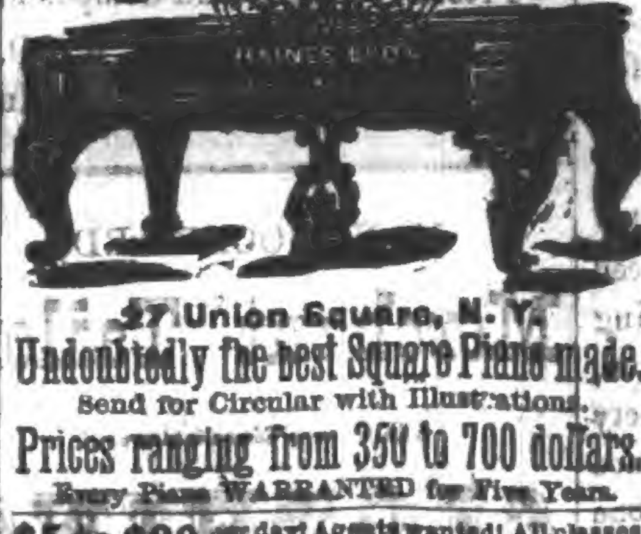
perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. RADWAY'S PILLS, for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious, Typhus and Typhoid Fevers, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely Vegetable, containing no mercury, minerals, or deleterious drugs.

☞ Observe the following symptoms resulting from disorders of the Digestive Organs:

Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness of the Blood in the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust of Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructation, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs, and sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh. A few doses of RADWAY'S PILLS will free the system from all the above named disorders. Price 25 cents per Box. Sold by Druggists.

READ "FALSE AND TRUE." Send one letter stamp to RADWAY & CO., No. 32 Warren St., N. Y. Information worth thousands will be sent you

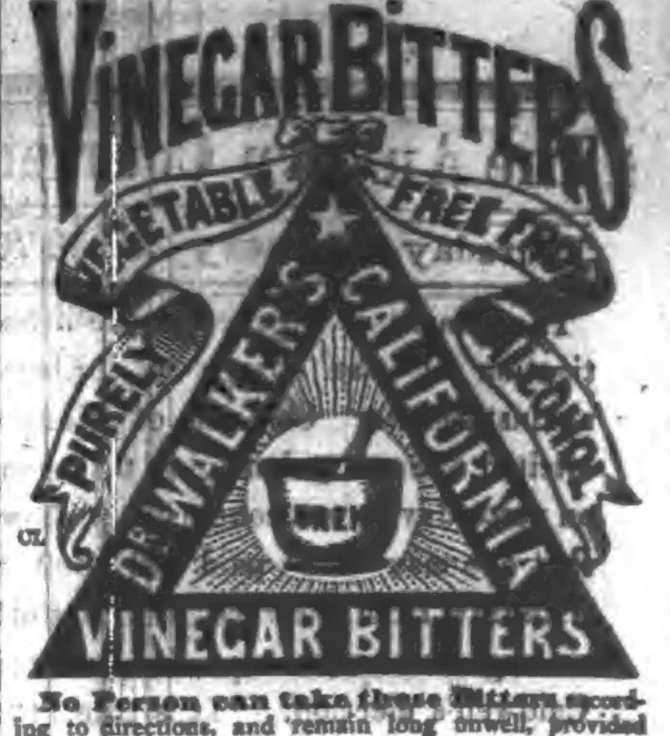
THE NEW SCALE



27 Union Square, N. Y.
Undoubtedly the best Square Piano made.
Send for Circular with Illustrations.
Prices ranging from 350 to 700 dollars.
Every Piano WARRANTED for Five Years.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.
Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.



No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

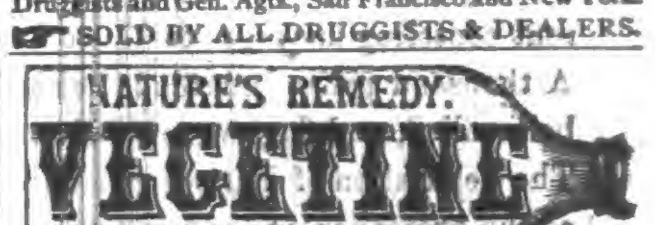
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.



NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Everyone Speaks Favorably.

East Marshfield, Aug. 31, 1870.

Mr. Stevens:

Dear Sir—I have been troubled with canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I tried your Vegetine. After taking a few doses, I found it relieved the faintness of the stomach that always accompanies canker humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle, my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and everyone speaks favorably of its good effect.

Yours truly, F. S. SHERMAN.

Would Not be Without
Vegetine
FOR TEN TIMES ITS COST!

The great benefit I have received from the use of Dr. Cumming's Vegetine induces me to give my testimony in its favor. I believe it to be not only of great value for restoring the health, but a preventive of disease peculiar to the spring and summer seasons.

I would not be without it for ten times its cost.

EDWIN TILDEN,
Attorney, and General Agent for Massachusetts of the Craftsmen's Life Assurance Company, No. 40 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

Prepared by H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass. Price $1.25. Sold by all Druggists.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

Agents Wanted. $75 to $250 per month, everywhere, male and female, to introduce the GENUINE IMPROVED COMMON SENSE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. This Machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, quilt, cord, bind, braid and embroider in a most superior manner. Price only $15. Fully licensed and warranted for five years. We will pay $1000 for any machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful, or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the "Elastic Lock Stitch." Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay Agents from $75 to $250 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made. Address SECOMB & CO., Boston, Mass.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; or St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED for the New Illustrated Book WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST. 30 years of adventures among the Indians, &c. Thrillingly interesting and fast selling. For terms address F. A. HUTCHINSON, Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis.

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.
THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.
CHURCHES wanting an ORGAN or COMMUNION SERVICE,
Should send for
"Special" Circular.

Among the regular Contributors are:
Rev. JOHN HALL, D. D., T. ADOLPHUS TROLLOPE,
JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE,
Rev. Wm. ORMISTON, D. D.,
Rev. T. W. CHAMBERS, D. D., Prof. TAYLER LEWIS, and others.

Terms, $3.00 per Annum, in advance.
6 New Church-st., New York.

THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.
THE CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

263 RECEIPTS WHICH COST $135
Sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address HY. BENJAMIN, St. Louis, Mo.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

C. N. U. No. 3.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, January 23, 1873

The committee engaged in the investigation of the charge of bribery, against Senator Caldwell, of Kansas, elicited some very damaging testimony on yesterday, it was conclusively shown that one man was paid $15,000 to withdraw from the race, and that other large sums were expended to secure Caldwell's election. It is true that this is only one side of the case; but it seems hardly possible that Caldwell will be able to meet the testimony which has been given in—to say nothing of what is said to be in reserve—especially as much of it as has been the testimony of his personal friends, and who are unwilling witnesses. While he asserts that he will be able to clear himself, an impression prevails that he will be forced to resign or be expelled.

* * *

The funeral of ex-Emporor, Napoleon, took place on Wednesday last.—The remains were dressed in the uniform of a Field Marshal, the same the Emporer wore at Sedan. Queen Victoria was represented at the funeral by Viscount Sidney, Lord Chamberlain. The Sheriffs of London and Edinburg, sent consoling messages to Eugenie.—A thousand police guarded the roads, bells tolled, and flags were at half mast. The deputation of Paris workmen headed the procession and wore immortelles in their coats, and carried wreaths of yellow flowers. On both sides of the hearse, were the Imperial Arms, surmounted by the letter "N."

The procession started from the chapel at 11 o'clock. It was very long. The hearse was at the chapel before the end of the cortege had left the family mansion. The Prince Imperial and Prince Napoleon returned from the chapel in one carriage. They were cheered by a crowd of 30,000 who witnessed the procession.

* * *

One of the most prevalent, of modern vices is drunkenness, and to this source many of the offenses against the laws can be traced. Another vice threatening the direct consequences upon unborn generations, is the public prostitution of females. For the mitigation of this crime, early marriages should be generally encouraged, and our legislators ought to pass laws which would equally punish the male and the female delinquents. Perhaps a general enforcement of the marriage law in this State, as interpeted by some of our judges, would be the most effectual remedy, and, let any single woman, irrespective of moral character, who can prove that a single man has cohibited with her be allowed to claim that man as her husband and if he refuses to live with her let her be entitled to alimony; but if the crime is adultry, in a community that pays any respect to morals, it should certainly be treated as the next highest crime to deliberate murder, and be punished with commensurate severity. That the public now regards it in this light, is now proven, by the frequent and almost general acquittal of men charged with killing the destroyers of their domestic happiness.—In connection with this question of female chastity, might also be mentioned the disinclination of married women to become the mothers of children. In these cases, where murder is proven, whatever punishment we attach to murder, should be vigorously executed, for the offence is one which is sapping our vitals, and might grow to such an extent, as to threaten the depopulation of the nation.

* * *

Baltimore Pittsburg and Chicago R. W

The Baltimore Sun of the 11th inst. has the following in regard to the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railway: "This new road projected under the auspices, of the Baltimore & Ohio Company, with the view of securing a short direct and independent connection for our seaboard city with the great lake city of Chicago, is evidently being pushed earnestly and rapidly. Only some two months ago, we announced the contracts for 87 miles commencing at a point on the Lake Erie Division, of the Baltimore & Ohio Road, ninety miles from Newark and running thence west to Defiance and now another one hundred and twenty miles are offered for contract from Defiance to Walker's Station, Indiana, on the Indianapolis, Peru & Chicago Railroad. Proposals are to be received for this work, at Camden Station, Baltimore, until the 1st of Febuary. This leaves only sixty-two miles more to carry the road into Chicago, the whole length of the new road, as surveyed, being two hundred and sixty-nine miles, of which the Chief Engineer, Mr. J. L. Randolph, says the aggregate of the curved portions will not exceed fifteen miles. He also states that in the two hundred and fifty-five miles, from the Lake Erie Division, to the point where the line turns up north around, the end of Lake Michigan, the located line is but two and a half miles longer than an air line, while eighty miles of the line is level, and thirty miles with 26 feet grade per mile, and the rest less than 20 feet grade.

The Largest

CLOTHING

HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

S. Lauferty

WILL SELL

READY MADE

CLOTHING

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

e assortment always on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES

Perfumery, Soaps,

Brushes, Patent Medicines

School and Blank Books,

Slates, Writing Paper

Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,

Oiled, slate and Linen

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes.

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,

Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind's

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

J. A. BOOZER. E. B. BLATTNER.

BOOZER AND BLATTNER

Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as:

Arcola Cloth, Queen's Own,

Brittanna " Brocades,

Balerne " Silk Stripes,

Turko, " Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes,

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS,

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER

Another Explosion

IN

High Prices

Messrs. WOOD & WILLIAMS

Want the people of DeKalb and surrounding counties to know that they have now the largest, finest and most extensive assortment of

Dry Goods

G OCERIES,

HATS and CAPS!

BOOPS & SHOES

&c., ever exhibited in Auburn. Also

Dress Goods,

of all kinds, at the lowest figures,

FOR CASH.

Call at Case's old stand, and see the fine display. No trouble to show you goods. Produce taken at the highest market price.

WOOD & WILLIMS.

J. J. WOOD, Ada, Ohio.
E. E. WILLIAMS, Ashland, Ohio.

Fruit House!

BULLETIN

Prices for the Holidays!

GREAT REDUCTION ON

Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits or the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	50, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	60, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	9 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 50, and 95c
Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquey double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	35 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old '76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Diquor	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquers are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, in all different kinds	25c

Wax Candles for Christmas Trees.

All different sizes, from 1½c to 3c each. All kinds of goods for Santa Claus, at one half the usual Price.

Fine Fresh Oysters, AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.

Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

EXTRORDINARY SLAUGHTER

OF

DRY GOODS,

AT

C. ORFF & CO'S.

We will offer for sale for 60 days some of the greatest

BARGAIN!

Ever Offered in FORT WAYNE.

BARGAINS IN DRESS GOODS!

We have just received a splendid line of new Dress Goods, such as Cashmeres in all new shades, Empress, Satins, Serges, all wool Diagonals, Albanian Cloths in shades, etc., which, by having purchased late in the season, we can afford to sell for less than they were sold in New York City four weeks ago by the Jobbers; and we have marked all of our other Dress Goods to correspond with these pricef.

Cashmere, all the new shades, 1¼ yards wide, reduce to $1.25 Dich is less than they have ever been sol for

All-wool gonals, for	75 cents;	worth $1 00 to 125
New Sades in Albanian Cloths,	75,	1.00 to 1.25
Silks and Wool Velours,	1.00	1.50
20 pieces Irish Peplins,	1.35	1.75
20pieces 28-inch Velours,	1.35	150 to 175
Satins in new shades,	1.00	125
	75	1.00
	50	75
100 pieces Japanese Stripes at	30	40 to 50

We have picked out a large lot of Dress Goods which we will sell for 25 cents per yard. Amongst which will be the cheapest lot of Dress Goods ever in Ft. Wayne.

GREAT REDUCTION IN

Black and Colored SilKs!

We have made a reduction of 20 to 30 per cent. on our stack of Silks

Shawl, Cloak and Fur Departmnt!

We have in this department the largest stock of the above goods of any house in the city, and we have the greatest bargains in Cloaks, Shawls and furs ever seen in the city.

New Ottoman Shawls!

At	$9.00,	worth $12.00
At	8.00,	worth 11.00
At	7.50,	worth 10.00
At	4.00,	worth 6.00

Plaid Shawls long and square, in immense quantities and at prices less than before the war.

☞ Once more, we have BARGAINS for you in every Department, and mean what we say.

You want the Goods and we want the Money; so give us a call.

C. ORFF & CO.,

No. 5 and 7 COLUMBIA-St., FORT WAYNE, IND

THE

New York Store!

Until Feb. 1st.

ROOT & Co.,

Will offer the entire balance of their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of

DRY GOODS!

AT A

Great Reduction!

In Price.

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

Reduced Prices
On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices
On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices
On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices
On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices
On rich winter dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices
On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices
On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices
On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices
On fine woolen SKIRTS

Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and

Secure a Bargain!

ROOT & CO's

Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Pianos AND ORGANS

WATCHES and JEWELRY!

Silver and Plated Ware,

Spectacles and gold pens,
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated

JEWELRY

Fancy Toilet Sets.
Opera guard & vest chains,

AT

ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!

Also a full line of toys for

THE HOLIDAYS!

CLOCKS

Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,

Piano, Organ,

and all kinds of Instruction Books!

Watches & Clocks,

Abright & Shepherd

McDOUGAL'S

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,

75 Columbia street.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Sleighing parties plenty.

The streets are crowed to-day.

Saw logs are coming in rapidly.

Last Saturday was a very busy day in town.

Coal oil 30 cents per gallon at Davenport & Co's.

The New Era published at Albion has been enlarged.

Moonlight rambles have been postponed indefinitely.

Corunna has a dance club, and Auburn has the material for one—that's all.

Any person finding a gold pen will be rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Wm. Zern left our place on last Monday morning, for a tramp northwardly.—Adieu!

We came very near indulging in the luxury of a genuine January thaw. Old Boreas came, however, in time to save us.

The bill giving soldiers one hundred and sixty acres of land, has passed the House but has not yet passed the Senate.

There are 132 cases on the docket for the present term of the Common Pleas Court; and an unusal number of criminal case.

Is the inside material, such as. window frames, doors, sash, etc., ready for those buildings which were not completed last fall?

M. B. Hascall is now sole editor and preprietor of the Goshen Democrat. Mr. H. is getting up a splendid paper, and deserves every success.

The Indiana Conservatory of music, Ft. wayne, is said to be the finest institution of the kind, in this section of the west.—The Spring Term will commence Febuary 3d.

The Opera Hall was very much crawded the night that Rip Van Winkle was played. And it takes the Breyer troupe to draw a crowd, after their first night.

Sheriff Meese has done a good thing in cleaning out the filth, and dirt, which had so largely accummulated in the Court room. It looks clean and smells sweet, and all will enjoy the change.

The Hoosier Schoolmaster, a splendid story illustrative of the life of early doings in this State, and the difficulties surmounted in order to train the young idea how to shoot, now for sale at Davenport & Co's.

The Angola Times has been recusitated by its former proprietor, Mr. Weaver.—That county ought to support one good paper and as the Times promises to fill to the bill, we hope Mr. W. will meet with all success.

That Bond Case.—The "celebrated" Bond Case has had a hearing before the Supreme Court of the State, and the decision of Judge Clapp in regard to the bail, has been set aside. So much for a "vigorous prosecution."

A farmer named Thomas Chard, living near Benton, met with an accident while hauling logs. The team which he was driving ran away throwing him against a log, producing injuries from which he died last Sunday week.

Dekalb County Teachers Association

The teachers of DeKalb County are requested to meet at the school house in Auburn, on Saturday February 1st, 1873. at 9 o'clock a. m: Let us have a full attendance. J. A. Barns, Pres.

A very large crowd of people visited our place last Tuesday. The Court room was crowded, the streets were crowded and presented the appearance of a Donnybrook fair. The sleighing is splendid and the fine weather makes it convenient and pleasant for all to be out.

The Royal Yeddo, Japanese troupe are to be at the Opera House Fort Wayne next Thurday and Friday evenings, Jan. 23 and 24. They give the best performance to be seen in their line, in the country. They got immense houses on their last visit there, some two months ago.

We always thought Reub Williams, of the Indianian, a pretty fair kind of a fellow, but when he says that he cannot see how the bill redistructing the State could be much more fairly constructed he looses an independence politically that we always give him credit for.

We are in regular receipt of the Minerva Commercial, a crisp and spicy paper from the Buckye State. A short visit the other week convinced us of the enterprise and energy of its management, and with the recent addition of steam we look for it to rank among the first papers of that State.

A sleighing party from town surprised our excellent friend James McCrum and his estimable lady with a visit last Friday evening, and indulged in the home comforts so appreciable at this time of the year. A hearty welcome, and a good supper add largely, as was realized in this case, to the enjoyment of these occasions.

Several marriages took place last week on Wednesday, in this vicinity. We know of another one to come off shortly providing the "gal" will consent. It was told us confidential, that the professional gent. is sparing no time nor money to win her, and if this is the case she will more than likely "go up"—or he will.

Prof. Penfield, the gentleman who it will be remembered delivered the Oration, here on the Fourth of July, became so favorably impressed with our place that he has now permanently located here, and has formed a copartnership with D. D. Moody, Esq., in the legal business. These gentlemen are now ready to attend promptly to all calls in their profession.

Ligonier has been visited by a disastrous fire. The Conrad block, Helmer house, and other property to the amount of about $15,000 was destroyed. The Banner says without the rubber buckets and hooks and ladders it would have been impossible to save the adjoining buildings. Had we not better organize a company of that kind in Auburn. Now is the time.

Personal.—H. W. Bond, Esq., of the firm of Sutermeister, Becker & Bond gave us a call last week. H. W. is one of those pleant, agreeable fellows that all like to see.

Hon. W. H. Withers, also gave us a short visit last Tuesday. The law firm of Morris & Withers have a large practice at our courts.

We have entered upon the third volume of the Courier, with great encouragement. Many of our subscribers are coming in and paying up their arrearages.—When all do this we will be happy. We presume there are a few scalawags that never intend to pay up. If they will send in their names we will send a receipt in full.

We politely inform the fat men of the Press that we will insert whatever public documents we please in the Courier, all dictation of the'r's to the contrary notwithstanding, and display our advertisements to suit our taste rather than adopt the disgusting style of the genius of that great paper, all published in the county.

Change of Time.—The Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw railroad have changed the time of the express train, leaving Jackson heretofore at 4:40 p. m. It will now leave at 5:10 so that persons leaving Detroit at 1:40 p. m. can make connections at Jackson, and arrive in Ft. Wayne the same evening. This arragement does not change the time of this train on this end of the road.

Some years ago, a young woman in the city of New York wore $50,000 worth of diamonds at her wedding, and to-day we find a poor sewing woman in New Orleans, who supports a disabled husband and a large family and pays rent by making sixteen pairs of pantaloons a week for only four dollars. However, the young woman who was married in New York is not the poor woman who lives in New Orleans.

A woman by the name of Clancey was frozen to death last week in Logansport. The Pharos says it was from want and attention. She left three small children.—And yet the rich and well-to-do, the christain, and moralist, will enjoy the comforts of an easy life, look out their French plate windows, see the howling storm, and say, God have mercy on the poor!

Proposals.—As will be seen in another column proposals will be received by the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad Company, at Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masony and cross ties of this line from Defiance to Walkerton, this State, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles. The proposals must be sent in by the First of February. This looks like business and those that have had doubts as to the building of this line ought now to be convinced.

A Colored man by the name of Hinton has been elected Canal Commissioner of this State by the Legislature. Now, if Hinton had more brains, and was a decent intelligent, well-behaved colored man, we would have no objection. But he is represented as just the opposite, a loungey barber, of Indianapolis, full of impidence and ignoranse, and therefore qualified to be the leader of the colored troop in elections. This is the promised civil service reform so loudly spoken of by the Radicals in the late campaign.

Incendiarism.—Another case of incendiarism has occurred at Sedan in this county. It has not been long since Dr. Sebring was burnt out of house and home, and now Royal Grate, a wagon maker, has suffered the loss of his work shop in the same way. Last Tuesday evening the building was discovered to be on fire and was entirely consumed. Shavings had been used, we learn, to ignite the building and there is no doubt but that some fiend in human shape resides close to this locality. Let every effort be made to discover the villian.

One of the most remarkable remedial agents, either of ancient or modern times, is Smolander's Buchu. It should be in every household. It removes or counteracts kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, diabetes, gravel, mental and physical debility, loss of vigor caused by youthful indiscretions, all female complaints, and buoys up an enervated nervous system.

THEATER.

Bryer's excellent company has been playing to crowded houses for several nights. The troupe is far the best now on the road. The engagement opened with "Dora," with Miss Mary Bryer in the title role. Mr. Bryer as Farmer Allen was a fine effort.

Monday night Rip Van Winkle was presented, but not having the necessary room to give the proper scenery, this attractive feature of the play had to be omitted, and though the leading characters were good, it did not give as much satisfaction as the programme of the evening before.

Tuesday evening, the Hidden Hand was presented, and was by far the finest performance yet given. Miss Mary, as Capitola was superb, while Old Hurricane in the person of Mr. Bryer, exceeded all expectations. The other characters were well represented.

To-night, Wednesday, the splendid nautical play of "Black Eyed Susan, will be presented with a good cast, and one of Shakespear's Comedies as an afterpiece.

Thursday evening the great temperance play of "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" will be given with fire cast of characters.

The contract for the B. & O. Extension east of Tiffin was let last week. Gen. Gibson was awarded the thirty miles directly east of the city. The company, in the contracts, reserved the right to change the point of junction with the Newark & Sundusky road to Centreville or to New Haven—this matter to be determined by April. Centreville is five miles south of Havana and New Haven ten—the latter being near Richland county line. This reservation and uncertainty of present terminus, when determined, may also settle what route—whether by Canton or Akron—will be selected for the line through Eastern Ohio.—Defiance Democrat.

MARRIAGES.

DILLS—OLDS—At the residence of the bride's father, in Spencerville, Thursday evening, January 16th, by the Rev. D. W. Moffett, of Fort Wayne John W. Dills, Esq., and Miss Mollie Olds, eldest daughter of S. N. Olds, Esq.

We congratulate our friend Jack on the result he has just consummated, and trust that the happy couple may never grow old and that newer additions may be added from time to time.

LOWER—GROGG—By Rev. H. Bair, Thursday, Jan. 16, 1873, at the residence of Mr. Jacob Grogg's Mr. David Lower, of Wawaka Noble, Co. Ind. to Mrs. Emily Grogg, of Auburn.

Wednesday Evening

The Popular Nautical Drama

Black Eyed Susan

To conclude with Shakespeare's Comedy of

CATHARINE AND PETRUCHIO.

Thursday Evening

The great Temperance play of

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM

To conclude with the farce of

THE GHOST!

FRIDAY EVENI'G

The Comedy of

TAMING A WIFE

To conclude with the farce of

The Funny Father.

Saturday Evening

The capital play of Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Positively the Last Night.

A Representative House.

Among the multitude of different branches of trade in Fort Wayne, none are of more importance than the boot and shoe trade. This branch is well represented; prominent among them all is the shoe house of Markley, Schrader & Co. They came to Fort Wayne in 1866, and by their gentlemanly deportment and close attention to business, they have aequired a trade perhaps not excelled by any house in their line. Not satisfied with bargains given their customers heretofore, they propose to do still better for them in the future. Their stock is very large, being a full line of everything needed for mens, boys and youths, women, Misses and children's wear. They are giving great bargains; one cannot know how cheap they are selling, unless they call. Examine the goods and learn prices, We advise all in want of boots, shoes or rubbers to give them a call. tf.

Best Thing in the West

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.

Lands

THREE MILLION ACRES

Situated in and near the Arkansas Valley, the Finest Portion of Kansas!

Eleven years' Credit, Seven per Cent. Interest. 22½ per cent. reduction to setlers who improve.

A FREE PASS TO BUYERS.

THE FACTS about this Giant are—Low Prices, Long Credit, and a Rebate to settlers of nearly one fourth; a Rich Soil and Splendid Climate; short and mild Winters; early planting, and no wintering of stock; plenty of Rainfall, and just at the right season: Coal, Stone and Brick on the line; Cheap Rates on Lumber, Coal, &c.; no lands owned by Speculators; Homestead and Pre-emptions now abundent; a first-class Railroad on the line of a great Through Route; Products will pay for Land and Improvements.

It is the best opportunity ever offered to the public, through the recent completion of the Road. For Circulars and general information, address A. E. TOUZALIN, Manager Land Dep't. 3m TOPEKA, KAN.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, of the estate of David Sollenberger, late of said county, deceased.—Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JACOB SOLLENBERGER, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

In the Common Pleas Court May Term, 1873.

James Hamilton vs Sam Rice and George Rice } Complaint No.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by Best & McClellan his attorneys and files his complaint herein together with an affidavit that said Defendants Sam Rice and George Rice are not residennts of the State of Indiana.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given said defendan that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of May a. d. 1873, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 17th day of January 1873.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R. Company—Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad Company, for the election of officers, will be held at the office of the President of the company, in the city of Jackson, in the State of Michigan, on the second Tuesday, being the 11 day of February, a. d. 1873, at one o'clock p. m. on the Tuesday preceding such election, and remain closed until after the final adjournment of such annual meeting.

Dated at Jackson, January 9, 1873.

EUGENE PRINGLE, Sec'y.

NOTICE

—TO—

Contractors

Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago R. R.

Engineer's Office B. & O. R. R., Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10, 1873

Proposals will be received until the 1st day of February next, at Camden Station, Baltimore, Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masonry and Cross Ties of the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, from Defiance to Walkerton, Ind., on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago Railway, 120 sections, of one mile each.

Plans, profiles and specifications can be seen at Defiance, for the line between Defiance and Syracuse, 73 miles, and at Laporte for the line between Syracuse, and Walkertown, 47 miles.

Proposals for cross ties will state price for each kind of timber, and number of each kind proposed for.

Payments monthly in cash, retaining 20 per cent as security for completion

The Company retains the right to reject any and all proposals. James L. Randolph, Chief Enginneer, Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis, over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Missippi, and its connections with roads farther West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed and passengers are offered a first class, all-rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps time tables, information as to rates, &c., we refer our readers to S. H. Thompson, Eastern Passenger Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered!

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200 000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all Climate, soil, timber, mineral wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT

AND SALOON.

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

No. 89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana.

CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

J. C WICOFF,

Auctioneer

Waterloo, Ind.

Holds himself in readiness to Auctioneer, Sell or Trade Propertp at any time Headquarters at Leas' Livery Stable. 3m. Dec. 5.

Auction Sale.

I. Lauferty & Son.

South-east corner of Columdia and Calhoun Streets.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Will commence selling at Auction their entire stock of Fashionable Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods on SATURDAY, JAN. 11th 8873.

at 10 o'clock a. m., and from day to day thereafter until the entire stock is sold

WE QUIT THE BUSINESS!

Now is your time to buy

GOOD GOODS!

at your own prices. Remember on Saturday morning Jan. 11th. Call soon as they will go fast.

I LAUFERTY & SON.

People's Convention

Everybody's Ticket!

The People's Choice.

CHEAP, CHEAPFR, CHEAPEST.

Save Your Money nd Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnithing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,

No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

The Mother's Help.

The Childen's F iend.

MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great

PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Blothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

DRY GOODS

GEO. DeWALD & CO.

WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS

—IN—

Dry Goods or Notions,

CALL AT THE STORE OF

Geo. DeWald & Co.,

No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WYNE,

Where can be found a large assortment of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

which will be sold LOW for cash.

ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET

The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introuuce, we are offering

ONE DOLLAR

THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

A sure and permanent cure for Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Imperfect

LIVER

STIMULANT

Digestion, and all diseases arising from a disordered state of the Liver and Blood.

AND

It acts directly on the Liver, increasing the flow of bile into the stomach and bowels, and by its cathartic properties purges the system of all diseased matter. As a family medicine, it has no equal.

CATHARTIC

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Price $1.00 per Bottle.

PREPARED BY

W. B. HURD & CO.,

NASHUA, N.H.

FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

DAVID E. FOUTZ, Proprietor,

BALTIMORE, Md.

For sale by Druggists and Storekeepers throughout the United States, Canadas and South America.

Davenport & Co.,

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

WOODHULL AND CLAFLIN have again been confined in jail at New York, in default of bail.... The statistics of enormous dealings on the New York Stock Exchange last year have been published. The registered sales of the twenty-seven most prominent stocks amounted to 55,000,000 shares, valued at nearly double the bonded debt of the United States. The largest transactions were in Pacific Mail, their extent covering fifty-five times the amount of its capital stock.

THOMAS C. DURANT, in behalf of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, has commenced suit in New York against Oakes Ames and James Brooks to recover shares of Credit Mobilier stock alleged to have been fraudulently obtained.... The debt of New York city increased $7,250,000 last year.... Ex-Mayor Daniel C. Kingsland, of New York, is dead, aged 85 years. ....The trial of William M. Tweed is in progress in New York. The "Boss" expresses himself confident of acquittal.... The widow of ex-President John Tyler is about to sell her estate on Staten Island, and repurchase the old Tyler estate in Virginia.

THE New Hampshire Republicans have nominated Gov. Straw for re-election.... The Directors of the Erie Railroad Company have authorized the issue of $10,000,000 seven per cent. convertible bonds, for the purpose of laying a double track along the line of the road.

MATILDA HERON, the once celebrated actress, is almost hopelessly demented. She is being treated in a New York hospital.... The New York Typographical Society has indorsed the proposition to erect a monument to Horace Greeley, of type metal, and requested printers to contribute the pay of 1,000 ems each, on the 3d of February.... All the conductors on the Harlem railroad have resigned, consequent upon being obliged to use books with coupons for tickets, to which they contend no person with manhood can submit.... A large force of laborers is engaged on the New York underground railroad.... B. C. Galvin, a New York banker, has commenced suit against Mr. Boutwell, Secretary of the Treasury, to recover $2,000,000 alleged to be due to plaintiff for certain plans furnished the Secretary for the purpose of enabling him to equalize the price of gold and paper currency.

THE Mechanics' Bank, of Lancaster, Pa., was recently robbed of $46,000.

The West.

JOSEPH ROGERS, of Hazel Green, Wis., was recently blown to atoms by the explosion of a can of nitro-glycerine, which he was carelessly handling.... The Home Woolen Mills, at Jacksonville, Ill., were recently destroyed by fire. Loss, $100,000.... Charles Ducharme, one of the most prominent and active business men of Detroit, is dead, aged 54.

ADVICES from Arizona state that a battle had been fought between the command of Maj. Brown and a band of Apache Indians, lasting five hours. Fifty-seven of the red devils were sent to their happy hunting grounds, and twenty-three captured. Maj. Brown's only loss was one Lima Indian.... An explosion of gas which had leaked and filled the space between the ground floor and plastering below the office of the Western Union Telegraph, in Cincinnati, occurred the other day, tearing up the floor, extinguishing the lights, and creating a wild panic among the operators, who rushed pell-mell into the street.... Hibler, the Fort Wayne, Ind., wife-murderer, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life.

IN the battle of the companies of the 5th cavalry with the Apaches in Arizona, Dec. 29, near Salt river, not a warrior escaped. All the band were killed, and twenty-five women and children were captured.... A singular accident occurred at the Wisconsin State Normal School, in Oshkosh, the other day. Prof. H. C. Bowen was demonstrating the theory to the class in chemistry of using the compound blow-pipe. The magic-lantern was lighted with a calcium light and illuminating gas, and by some means fire was communicated to the gas, causing a terrific explosion, which was heard for a distance of two miles, sounding like an earthquake. Every window on one side of the school building was torn out, sash and all. Prof. Bowen and 15 students were badly injured. Bowen's clothes and boots were torn into fragments, stripping him completely naked. Several of the students were more or less injured, and all in the room were rendered entirely deaf. The door was torn off and forced through a window, and shivered into fragments; the plastering was torn off, furniture destroyed, floor ripped up, and the rooms looked as if they had been visited by an earthquake. All the injured will doubtless recover.... Leo Canman, a Chicago Postoffice clerk, has been convicted of robbing the mails.

THE accumulating reports of fatalities by the recent storm in Northern Minnesota, says the Chicago Times, intensify the horror of the dread calamity. The storm seems to have been unprecedented in its suddenness as well as severity, and for travelers who encountered it death seems to have been the rule and escape the exception, very few of the luckless wayfarers surviving to tell the story of their sufferings. Whole sleighing parties frozen to death upon the road, the horses standing stark upon their legs and the drivers sitting bolt upright; the farmer dying while hurrying to the succor of his stock; a husband, leaving his wife in the agonies of childbirth, dying by the roadside while hastening for assistance, the mother consigning the new-born infant to the icy grasp of death only to follow the husband and child—these are among the harrowing recitals. Death has few shapes more horrible. Similar reports come from all parts of the State, and the statement that the loss to life and property exceeds that by the Sioux massacre of 1862 is probably not an exaggeration.

GOV. HENDRICKS, in his message to the Indiana Legislature, advocates proportional representation.... A New York jeweler was robbed of $20,000 worth of jewelry while stopping at the Tremont House, in Chicago, last week.

CHICAGO is building the finest Turner Hall in the country.... The First Congregational Church, one of the finest and most costly church edifices in Chicago, has been destroyed by fire. Loss, $170,000; insured for $118,000. ....Perteet, the Chicago colored wife murderer, has been found guilty, on his second trial, and again sentenced to be hanged.

The South.

THE "People's" Legislature of Louisiana has elected Gen. W. McMullin United States Senator. For the same position the Kellogg Legislature has elected P. B. S. Pinchback.... The Arkansas Legislature has passed a resolution doing away with the disfranchising clause of the State Constitution. It will be submitted to a vote of the people.... Louis V. Bogy, of St. Louis, has been elected to succeed Frank P. Blair in the Senate from Missouri.

Washington.

The health of Senator Sumner is slowly improving. His suffering is like that which followed the injuries by Preston S. Brooks, and is said to be from the same cause.... The dinner to Henry M. Stanley by the Washington journalists, which came off last week, was a brilliant affair.... The Senate Committee on elections have decided not to send a commission to either Arkansas or Louisiana to investigate the election muddles in those States, but to summon witnesses to the capital, where the investigations will be conducted.... The Senate Finance Committee have decided that Secretary Boutwell has no authority for issuing any portion of the $44,000,000 legal-tenders, which he claims as a legal reserve fund. This leaves the Treasury with but $4,500,000 available currency.

THE question of the construction of iron ship-building yards is to be revived during the present session of Congress.... It is understood that the charges of bribery and corruption in connection with the election of John J. Patterson as Senator from South Carolina have become so general that he will not be allowed to take his seat until the matter is rigidly investigated.... It has been decided to erect a new building, 400 by 120 feet, in the rear of the City Hall, capable of holding six thousand persons, in which to hold the inauguration ball.... North Carolinians are pressing the name of ex-Senator Poole for a Cabinet position.... The Judiciary Committee of the House have been instructed to inquire into the conduct of Judge Durell, of Louisiana, and to report articles of impeachment if they think them called for.

IT is said the House Military Committee will report in favor of giving bronze cannon for a monument to Gen. Thomas.

THE College Land Endowment bill, just passed the Senate, gives 500,000 acres of the public domain to each State and Territory which establishes agricultural or industrial schools in compliance with its provisions.

THE bill regulating the pay of Territorial officers, and limiting the duration of the sessions of the Legislatures to forty days, has passed the Senate, and only awaits the President's approval to become a law. The members of the Territorial Legislatures are to receive $6 per day and the present rate of mileage. The salary of Governors of the Territories is to be $3,500, and Secretaries $2,500.... A Washington telegram states that the Government has determined to institute suit against the Union Pacific railroad for the unpaid interest, unless prevented by legislation before the close of the investigation of the committees now in session.... Senators Wilson and Patterson, and Representatives Bingham, Scofield, and Kelley were before the Credit Mobilier Committee on the 16th. Wilson says that he bought twenty shares of the stock with his wife's money, on Ames' guarantee that it should pay 10 per cent., and his assurance that the company was not coming to Congress for aid. When he heard of the Pennsylvania litigation he returned the stock to Ames. He adds that all his property, exclusive of his home, does not amount to $3,500. Bingham gave Ames $2,000 to invest for him in Credit Mobilier and other stock, which he never asked to have delivered to him. He made $6,500. Scofield wanted some of the stock, but the negotiations failed and he did not get any. He voted against the act of 1864 giving the Pacific railroad first mortgage bonds preference over those of the United States. Kelley contracted with Ames for some of the stock, but afterwards declined to receive it. Senator Patterson was not in Congress when subsidies were granted to the Pacific railroad, but voted for the act of 1864. He never owned any Credit Mobilier stock. Each of these gentlemen expressed his opinion that transactions of this nature on the part of Congressmen were irreproachable.

Foreign.

THE Independence Belge, of Brussels, publishes a letter from Count Von Beust in answer to the assertions of the Duke de Grammont. The Count shows that Austria tried to dissuade France from going to war with Prussia, and explicitly reserved her right to remain neutral. France, after war was declared, asked for an alliance, and Austria refused.... The question which arose concerning the manner in which foreign representatives should enter the presence of the Emperor of China has been settled, the Chinese officials yielding to the demands of the foreigners.... Mori, the Japanese Minister at Washington, is in receipt of information from his Government, to the effect that the Western calendar has been adopted in Japan, beginning with the 1st of January.

A TELEGRAM from Chiselhurst, dated Jan. 12, says: "The Empress is overwhelmed with sorrow, and her prostration is so great as to alarm her attendants. The Prince Imperial does all in his power to comfort her. Although none but relations and intimate friends of the deceased are admitted, Chiselhurst is crowded with visitors. Benedetti arrived to-day at Chiselhurst, and was received by the Empress. M. Ollivier and Marshal McMahon are expected there to-morrow. The Princess Murat and suite arrived this afternoon. Great numbers of people from France are expected to come to the funeral. The Southeastern and Northern railways of France have reduced the rates of fare for the poorer classes attending the funeral. It is reported that the Prince Imperial has already assumed the title of Napoleon IV. This report is doubtless incorrect, but it is true that the Prince is now addressed as 'Sire' by all visitors at Chiselhurst. The impression is gaining ground that the Emperor died from the effects of chloroform, administered to assuage pain.".... It is said the French Government will permit the final interment of Napoleon's remains in France if the funeral is made strictly private, and the deceased buried as ex-Emperor, not as Emperor. The ceremonies must be simply of a religious character.... The will of Napoleon appoints the Empress, Cardinal Bonaparte and M. Rouher guardians of the Prince, now Napoleon IV.... Napoleon left two wills—one in London and one in Paris.... There is no truth in the report that Eugenie was about to issue a proclamation assuming the regency during the minority of the Prince Imperial.... No French officers were permitted to attend the funeral of Napoleon except those formerly connected with the Emperor's household.... Subscriptions have been opened in Milan, Italy, for a monument to Louis Napoleon.... One hundred and sixty-four thousand emigrants left Liverpool for America during 1872.... The failure of several Manchester cotton-spinners is announced.... The trial of the Tichborne claimant for perjury commences April 23.... Madrid has just been the scene of a great popular demonstration in favor of the abolition of slavery in Porto Rico. ....The Carlist troubles in the north of Spain still continue.

A DISPATCH from Bombay says that a report has reached that city that a terrible earthquake occurred at Soongubur, a town of India, 114 miles north of Bombay, and 1,500 persons are said to have been killed in the town alone. Nothing has been heard from the surrounding country, but it is feared that there is much additional loss of life.... Spain promises to early effect emancipation in Cuba.... Another detachment of troops recently left Madrid for Havana.

THE London Telegraph publishes a letter from Duke de Grammont announcing an early refutation of Count Von Beust's statements as to Austria's policy towards France at the beginning of the Franco-German war. The Duke says he will prove that Austria, after the declaration of war, promised France material support. She only required time to arm herself, and find a pretext for hostilities with Prussia.... A London letter says that the retirement of Bismarck from the Prussian Cabinet is really due to the differences arising between him and the Emperor William on the Church question. The Kaiser became alarmed at Bismarck's course toward the Catholics, and declined to further follow the Prince in his policy.... The Shah of Persia will leave Teheran next April on a European tour. He will visit St. Petersburg, Berlin, Vienna, London, Paris, and Constantinople.

THE funeral obsequies of the ex-Emperor Napoleon took place at Chiselhurst, England, on Wednesday, the 15th of January. A London dispatch of that date gives the following particulars of the imposing ceremonies: Although the funeral procession was to move at 10 o'clock this morning, the hearse was half an hour late in reaching the residence of the ex-Emperor. A deputation of Paris workmen, who were to head the procession, arrived at the same time. They wore immortelles in their coats, and carried wreaths of yellow flowers. On both sides of the hearse were the Imperial arms, surmounted by the letter "N." A great crowd surrounded the hearse. The funeral procession started for the chapel at 11 o'clock, and moved in the following order: A man bearing a tri-color, borne on an ash stick, cut at the last moment before the cortege moved. A deputation of workingmen from Paris. The chaplain of the family, bearing a golden crucifix. The hearse, drawn by eight horses, and, lastly, the mourners, who numbered 300 in all, including the Prince Imperial, uncovered; Prince Jerome Napoleon, Prince Joachim, Prince Achille, Rouher, and many distinguished Imperialists, English noblemen, Paris priests and others. The Prince Imperial was very pale. The Empress Eugenie was too ill to attend the funeral. The coffin was covered with immortelles and violets. There was no sermon at the chapel. The Bishop of Southwark sang the requiem mass, assisted by Father Goddard and all the chaplains at the Tuileries during the reign of Napoleon. The remains were deposited in the sacristy, which has been formed into a mortuary chapel until the removal of the body to France. The procession was very long. The hearse was at the chapel before the end of the cortege had left the family mansion. All carriages and pedestrians moved three abreast. The Prince Imperial and Prince Napoleon returned from chapel in one carriage. They were cheered by crowds. Thirty thousand people witnessed the procession.... One of the persons who went from France to attend the funeral of Napoleon took with him some soil dug from the garden of the Tuileries, which he strewed over the coffin after it was deposited in the sacristy of the chapel at Chiselhurst.... The steamer Colorado, which recently arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong, furnishes an interesting batch of news. The Japanese Government has notified actors and wrestlers that they can pursue their professions for three years longer, after which they must follow more useful and honorable employment. The male Japs have been informed that they are no longer required to shave their heads, but the top-knot must be retained. Native Japanese merchants and capitalists have received the necessary permission from the Government, and are going actively into the business of constructing railroads and telegraph lines. The reforms in the Judicial and Police Departments are being pushed forward rapidly. The new Mexican dollar has been officially adopted at Canton. The Chinese Emperor contemplates an internal journey throughout the Empire. The report is widely spread that he was greatly incensed against the foreigners, and the story is told that on the Imperial wedding day a foreigner at Pekin presented the Emperor with two enormous red candles. Suspicion being aroused, the Emperor ordered the candles to be cut open, and they were found to be full of bullets and powder. Another version is that the candles were experimented on in the open air, when one of them exploded, causing the death of many by-standers.... Eleven persons were instantly killed and a large number wounded by a boiler explosion in Brussels, last week.... The ship Chillingham Castle was recently wrecked while on a voyage from Shields to Malta, and 26 persons drowned.

NEWS from Livingstone, dated Nov. 30, states that the last train of supplies sent out had reached him, and that he has begun another march into the interior of Africa.... It is estimated that over 60,000 persons witnessed the funeral ceremonies of the ex-Emperor Napoleon. While the Prince Imperial was returning from the chapel, he was saluted with a cry of "Vive l'Empereur!" The Prince exclaimed, "The Emperor is dead! Vive la France!" ....Advices from London and Paris state that the Imperialists are confident of a speedy restoration of the Empire, with the Empress as Regent.... The Italian Senate has approved the bill forbidding theological instruction in the public schools.... A report comes from Rome that the bodies of the Apostles Philip and James have been discovered in the Church of the Apostles.

General.

ANOTHER filibustering expedition has been successfully landed on the Island of Cuba.... The ship Tuscarora, from Mobile, loaded with cotton, recently foundered off Gibraltar. Eleven lives were lost.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

FRIDAY, Jan. 10.—SENATE.—Bills introduced: By Wilson, providing for a commission on prohibitory liquor legislation; Ames, to abolish all distinctions of race, color, etc., in the army.... The Senate resumed consideration of the Indian Appropriation bill. The appropriation for the Yankton Sioux was reduced from $1,000,000 to $900,000, and the bill passed.

HOUSE.—On motion of Niblack, the Credit Mobilier Committee was granted permission to sit during the sessions of the House.... The remainder of the day's session was devoted, in Committee of the Whole, to the consideration of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bills.

SATURDAY, Jan. 11.—SENATE.—The Senate held no session to-day.

HOUSE.—A number of private bills were acted upon.... A bill was passed authorizing the sale of the cemetery grounds at the Fort Gratiot (Mich.) military reservation.... The remainder of the day's session was devoted to the consideration, (in Committee of the Whole) of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill—the pending question being the amendment forbidding the payment of any claims for cotton captured prior to June, 1865, except by special appropriation. The amendment, after a long debate, was rejected.

MONDAY, Jan. 13.—SENATE.—A bill was introduced to except mineral lands in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota from the operation of the mining act of 1872.... The Agricultural College bill, appropriating the proceeds of 500,000 acres of land at $1.25 per acre to each State to institute agricultural colleges, was taken up. An amendment was offered to apply the money to the support of common schools. Lost.... Pending the discussion of the bill the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Bills introduced: To authorize the Postmaster-General to establish post routes without requiring action of Congress; to reorganize the Treasury Department, fix salaries therein, and establish a system of civil service appointments; proposing an amendment to the Constitution for consolidation of the public debt and payment thereof; to provide for an increase of National Bank circulation; to abolish the tax of ten per cent. on circulation of State banks. ....A resolution was adopted instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the conduct of Judge Durell, of the United States District Court of Louisiana.... Hibbard, of New Hampshire, offered a bill repealing the section of the Army Appropriation bill of 1871, requiring the payment to the Pacific railroads of one-half their charges for transportation of mails, Government supplies, etc., instead of allowing a deduction for the whole against payment of interest on bonds loaned.... A motion to suspend the rules to pass a bill repealing the iron-clad oath was lost.

TUESDAY, Jan. 14.—SENATE.—Bills passed: To amend the National Currency act; (it allows National Banks to loan ten per cent. upon their surplus profits, as well as upon their original capital;) the Agricultural and Industrial Arts College bill.... Memorials of soldiers were presented urging the passage of the House bill granting 160 acres of land to honorably discharged soldiers. It is said the bill would require 120,000,000 acres of land.... The Judiciary Committee was directed to inquire into the power of Congress over the subject of railroads between the States.

HOUSE.—A bill was passed extending the time for the completion of the Portage Lake and Lake Superior ship canal.... The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative, Executive and Judical Appropriation bill. The pending question was the amendment offered by Randall to repeal the 9th section of the Army Appropriation bill of 1871, which requires the Secretary of the Treasury to continue to pay the Pacific railroads in money one-half of the amount due them for transportation, and not withhold all of it for interest due the Government on the second mortgage bonds. After a long and spirited debate the amendment was adopted by a vote of 86 to 76.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 15.—SENATE.—Bills introduced: To amend the patent and copyright laws; to authorize the Secretary of War to settle claims of the Government against Southern railroad companies; to require National Banks to restore their capital.

HOUSE.—The Postoffice Appropriation bill was reported. It appropriates $32,500,000, including $500,000 increased compensation to railroads, giving the Postmaster General authority to adjust the compensation.... A bill passed relieving State insurance companies from operation of the National Bankrupt act, where proceedings in bankruptcy are taken in State courts, under State laws.... A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a special Credit Mobilier committee to inquire whether moneys were paid Congressmen as counsel, or were paid or solicited from the Union Pacific or Credit Mobilier to aid the election of Congressmen.... The Army Appropriation bill was taken up, and the amendment to the 9th section of the act of 1871, in reference to payments for transportation to the Pacific roads, was agreed to.

THURSDAY, Jan. 16.—SENATE.—Logan introduced a bill authorizing the erection of a monument to the memory of the soldiers buried at Salisbury, N. C.... The bill was passed appropriating $200,000 for the representation of this country at the Vienna Exposition.... Sherman called up Buckingham's bill for the resumption of specie payment, offering a substitute therefor, which was ordered printed.... House bill incorporating the Loomis Aerial Telegraph Company was passed.... Morton's resolution instructing the Committee on Elections to inquire whether there is a legal Government in Louisiana, and if so, by whom constituted, was adopted.

HOUSE.—The House debated, without action, the bill for the admission of Colorado.... The bill creating the Territory of Oklahoma was killed—93 to 45.... The Senate's amendments to the Agricultural College bill were concurred in, and the bill passed.

Death of the Ex-Emperor Napoleon.

The news of the death of the Emperor Louis Napoleon, though not wholly unexpected, will startle a world which had not ceased to consider the probability of his restoration to the Imperial throne as the natural sequence to the agitation through which France has lately been passing. The Imperial exile died at Camden House, Chiselhurst, England, at 10.45 o'clock a. m. on Thursday, Jan. 9, even while his physicians were preparing for a third operation, in the hope of relieving him from the painful disease under which he suffered. A London dispatch gives the following particulars of the sad event:

The sudden death of ex-Emperor Napoleon took everybody at Chiselhurst, as well as London, by surprise. The Empress, relatives, attendants and household, even the physicians, were unprepared for it. The Emperor had passed a comparatively comfortable night. His strength seemed undiminished, and at a consultation early in the morning it was thought he could bear a third operation, which was finally determined upon. So great was the confidence felt in the patient's condition that the Prince Imperial was permitted to return to Woolwich to resume his studies. Dr. Gull went to London yesterday, and many of the Emperor's personal friends, who hastened to Chiselhurst at the first alarm, had returned to their homes.

There was no reason whatever to apprehend a fatal turn in the case up to 9 a. m., when new and dangerous symptoms suddenly set in. The Emperor's vital forces seemed to leave him all at once, and he commenced to sink with alarming rapidty. A telegram was instantly dispatched to Woolwich for the Prince. Dr. Gull was summoned from London, and Father Goddard, the Emperor's spiritual adviser, was sent for in the greatest haste to administer the last sacrament of the church. The Emperor's private chaplain was also informed of the danger, and started for Chiselhurst. All arrived too late. The Prince was not to see his father again alive. Dr. Gull and the clergyman just reached the park gates as the Emperor expired.

The Empress, who has been most constant in her attendance, was at his bedside to the last hour. The medical advisers, Sir Henry Thompson and Drs. Corvisart and Corer, the Emperor's friend, Dr. Conneau, and several members of the household were also present.

Since the Emperor's death the residence at Chiselhurst has been strictly closed to all but his nearest friends and relatives.

The physicians state that his death resulted from causes independent of the surgical operations to which the patient was subjected.

The event produces a deep impression in London, where the Emperor was always personally very popular with the masses. The evening journals publish long obituaries full of expressions of mourning.

The Empress Eugenie weeps continually, and refuses consolation. Louis, the Prince Imperial, who arrived after his father died, is prostrated with grief.

The Emperor's death was caused by embolism. It was so sudden that the last sacraments were not administered, the priest arriving after all was over. The body will be interred at Chiselhurst until it can be removed to France. Universal sorrow prevails in London.

HOW THE NEWS IS RECEIVED IN PARIS.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The news of the Emperor's death was received at a late hour this afternoon. It is not yet possible to estimate the effect here. The Imperialists, of course, are profoundly affected, and appear to regard the event as a final blow to their hopes. The only evening journal which has any editorial on the subject is the Messager de Paris, an influential finance organ. It closes a brief article with the following tribute: "The disasters which have made a shipwreck of the Empire will not cause to be forgotten the great services Napoleon has rendered to the nation in re-establishing order, and developing the prosperity of the country."

LATER DETAILS.

A London telegram of the 10th inst. says:

The Empress Eugenie and all the household of Chiselhurst were present at the bedside of Napoleon when he died. The Emperor showed slight signs of consciousness toward his last moments, and spoke to the Empress twice in a very feeble tone of voice. His last indication of life was a smile when the Empress knelt and kissed her dying husband. She was completely overcome by her emotions, and fainted at the bedside. The Prince Imperial, who had been summoned by telegraph from Woolwich, arrived at Chiselhurst fifteen minutes after the death of the Emperor. He was greatly affected, and kissed the face of his dead father several times. The Emperor died peacefully. He passed away without the slightest sign of pain. His death is attributed to syncope or embolism.

Eugenie knelt at his bedside several hours after the death of the Emperor, engaged in prayer.

Telegraphic dispatches are being received from distinguished persons in all quarters, expressing the deepest sympathy with the Empress.

Empress Eugenie will soon issue a proclamation to the French people, announcing that she assumes the regency during her son's minority.

A London dispatch of the 11th says:

The post mortem examination of the Emperor's remains shows that the immediate cause of death was a failure of the action of the heart.

The report of the post mortem examination at Chiselhurst says the failure of circulation was due to the Emperor's general constitutional condition. The bladder was found to be diseased, and the kidneys were affected. The other organs were sound and healthy, but death was simply a question of time.

The Empress last night was calmer, and received several visitors from France. She went several times to the room in which the body lies.

Queen Victoria sent Col. Gardiner to Chiselhurst with an autograph letter. A telegram of condolence has been received by the Pope.

The Irish journals generally express sorrow for his loss.

The Bonapartist officers in the French army have asked leave to attend the funeral. Permission will probably be granted, if they agree to go in civilians' dress.

A dispatch from Paris says that the news caused a great impression in that city. There was a slight rise in the price of French rentes. The Bonapartist Deputies in the National Assembly left the Chamber upon the receipt of the intelligence. The news was received throughout the provinces with great regret. Much sympathy is expressed for the Empress.

Terrible Effects of the Late Snow-Storm.

The recent storm in the Northwest was of the most furious and terrible character. Nothing like it has been experienced for years past, and for years to come it will be an epoch from which chronological events may be reckoned. The storm came on so suddenly that people were wholly unprepared for the onset. It took them completely by surprise, and in numbers of instances it was disastrous to life and property. One instance is related of a farmer at New Ulm, Minn. On the day of the storm, not apprehending danger, he started to go to the village of Nicolet, a few miles distant. Nothing was heard of the man until the next day, when some citizens, in passing, discovered a dead horse's head protruding from a snow-drift. An excavation was made, and the missing man was found sitting in his wagon, frozen to death, with the reins in his hands. Another man, in the same vicinity, was found standing by his barn-door frozen stiff, and close by three more were found dead in a snow-drift.

The fury of the gale on the open prairie is said to have been appalling, exceeding in violence and duration anything ever before experienced. Near Wilmer, Minn., a party of five, each driving a two-horse team, were overtaken by the gale on the road to that town with wheat. Four of them, with their teams, were found frozen to death, and the fifth was so badly frozen as to preclude hope of recovery.

A dispatch from Wilmer, Minn., says: "Hourly news is brought in of frozen teams being found, and the supposition is that their owners fared the same fate. The storm commenced without a shadow of warning, and lasted 60 hours. Mr. Casserly, father of the station agent at Hermann, left the depot for the tank-house, a few rods distant, and was found frozen to death by his son. Undoubtedly hundreds have met the same fate." A boy on his way home from school was frozen to death near New Ulm, Minn. Near St. James, Minn., a man and three yoke of oxen were found dead. Two farmers were overtaken by the storm near Litchfield, Minn. One was subsequently found dead, and the other so badly frost-bitten that he will lose all his limbs. A party of five—two men, two women and a boy—were caught by the blast near Kirkhaven, Minn. Three of them were found dead, and the other two will lose their arms and legs.

Near Worthington, Minn., two teams were found with one of the drivers so frozen that there are no hopes of recovery. The other one had disappeared, and no trace can be found. A young couple living near Lemars, Iowa, went to Sioux City for the purpose of getting married. On returning they were lost in the storm, turned the horses loose, and turned the sleigh over to protect them from the storm. After staying there two days they were saved. The only unpleasant feature, they say, was that one of the mothers-in-law was along.

Elder Lee and his son were found dead in a snow-bank near Sioux City, Iowa.

A party of three men left Covington, Nebraska, for home on the day of the storm, since which time nothing has been heard of them. They have in all probability perished.

A. C. Jenkins, foreman of the Ohio Bridge Company, of Cleveland, was frozen to death in Lyons county, Iowa.

Numbers of other persons at various points were overtaken by the terrible blast and frozen to death. Taken all in all, it was undoubtedly the most furious and terribly destructive storms, both of life and property, that has ever swept over the Northwest.

A dispatch from St. Paul gives the following additional particulars of the late terrible snow-storm that swept over Northwestern Minnesota:

The remarkable polar hurricane which swept southward over this State on Tuesday last has left behind it a sad record of casualties, but from information now reaching the city, the number of deaths will not sustain the early estimates. The history of its first appearance and lamentable consequences may be briefly stated as follows: Tuesday was a mild, damp day, and those having occasion to leave their homes had little reason to anticipate the fierce gusts which set in during the afternoon, and in many instances no adequate provision had been made for such an unexpected situation. The weather continued mild until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the hour when its approaches were first observed by the residents in the frontier settlements, in suddenly increasing cloudiness and a very roaring sound in the distance, and for a few moments the earth was swept by a tremendous wind, and the temperature fell with wonderful rapidity. People living in the sparsely populated sections of the State were taken entirely by surprise, and many were long distance from home, and without sufficient clothing. It is not surprising, under the circumstances, that so many fell victims in its path, each a struggling ice-bound laccoon. The storm continued with only temporary lulls until Thursday morning, when it gradually abated its fury.

The velocity of the storm is reported between New Ulm and St. Peter as traveling from point to point in 30 minutes, a distance of 28 miles. Had the degree of cold been great the number of deaths would have been fearfully increased, but while it was at its height the mercury stood from 5 to 8 degrees below zero. It is entirely without precedent in the history of the State, and only finds a parallel in a polar storm which swept over the State of Illinois in 1836, destroying many lives and leaving an undeniable record in the minds of those who experienced its fury and terrific power.

It is impossible to make an accurate estimate of the number who have been frozen to death or seriously maimed. On the line of the St. Paul and Sioux City road, the number is variously estimated at from 17 to 84, with the probabilities in favor of the number first given. The authenticated deaths thus far do not reach 17. In that section of the State many reported lost have since returned home safely. On the line of the St. Paul and Pacific road the number of deaths will not vary greatly from the estimates for the region traversed by the Sioux City road. That country also being thinly settled, and owing to the difficulty in the way of obtaining reliable information, the estimates of deaths are larger than the facts will warrant, but the real fatality is sufficiently depressing. Notwithstanding the more hopeful news brought here to-night but few names accompany the reported losses of life. A large number of horses and cattle must also be included in the statement of the destruction which has characterized this storm.

Railway Building in 1872.

Notwithstanding the financial embarrassment of the past two years, the increased ratio of railway progress shown in in 1870 over the average of the previous years has been more than maintained. The number of miles added during 1872, and each of preceding five years, has been:

1867	2,297	1870	6,145
1868	3,083	1871	7,453
1869	4,999	1872	7,925

The number of miles of road actually under construction (in addition to that of bed on which track was laid) is given as 6,742. This figure falls materially below the actual amount. In the table below is given the results of construction in thirty-five States and Territories, and the Canadian Provinces. Progress was made on 353 roads; 7,925 miles of road were fully completed, and on 6,742 the preparation for the track was in advanced progress; in fine, work was done on 14,667 miles of road. The aggregates for each State are herewith given:

STATES.	No. of roads.	Miles completed.	Miles (without) under construction.	Total miles on which work was done.
Alabama	6	227	78	292
Arkansas	6	172	144	316
California	5	250	300	550
Canada	9	447	228	675
Colorado	3	104	213	317
Connecticut	3	53	......	53
Dakota	2	49	16	65
Florida	1	8½	......	8½
Georgia	3	40	98	138
Illinois	28	835½	564	1,399½
Indiana	11	290	104	394
Iowa	21	585	328	913
Kansas	9	511	262	773
Kentucky	7	130	333	463
Louisiana	1	......	106	106
Maine	3	42	......	42
Massachusetts	9	72	93	165
Maryland	11	288	130	418
Michigan	19	300	325	625
Minnesota	7	712	230	942
Mississippi	6	3	170	173
Missouri	18	332	252	584
Nebraska	5	218	15	233
New Hampshire	8	90	72½	162½
New Jersey	6	60½	10	70½
New York	32	741½	597	1,338½
North Carolina	3	252	14	266
Ohio	20	391½	363	754½
Oregon	2	86	50	136
Pennsylvania	39	347½	384½	732
Tennessee	7	50	296	346
Texas	8	369	268	637
Utah	5	73	50	123
Vermont	4	32	88	120
Virginia	9	195	256	451
Wisconsin	15	555	242	797
Total	353	7,925	6,742	14,667

National Debts.

It seems as if a spirit of recklessness had seized upon the governments of the earth, and that each was striving to outdo the other in the accumulation of public debts. The New York Bulletin gives the following tabular statement of the national debts of 27 Governments, in 1862 and 1872 respectively, showing the interest during the last decade:

	1862.	1872.	Increase.
Argentine Republic	£ 3,000,000	£ 17,500,000	£ 14,500,000
Austria	250,000,000	300,000,000	50,000,000
Germany	60,000,000	120,000,000	60,000,000
Bolivia	Nominal.	2,000,000	2,000,000
Belgium	26,200,000	30,000,000	3,800,000
Brazil	5,000,000	60,000,000	55,000,000
Chili	2,800,000	7,500,000	4,700,000
Costa Rica	Nominal.	3,400,000	3,400,000
Denmark	11,000,000	12,600,000	1,600,000
Danubian Principal's	....	5,000,000	5,000,000
Egypt	3,300,000	45,000,000	41,700,000
Spain	150,000,000	306,000,000	156,000,000
United St'es	75,000,000	470,000,000	395,000,000
France	396,000,000	470,000,000	74,000,000
Guatemala	300,000	600,000	300,000
Honduras	....	5,000,000	5,000,000
Holland	87,000,000	80,000,000	D. 7,000,000
Italy	100,000,000	275,000,000	175,000,000
Japan	....	1,000,000	1,000,000
Mexico	20,000,000	60,000,000	40,000,000
Paraguay	....	3,000,000	3,000,000
Peru	5,500,000	37,000,000	31,500,000
Portugal	33,000,000	65,000,000	32,000,000
Russia	230,000,000	350,000,000	120,000,000
Sweden	3,000,000	6,000,000	3,000,000
Turkey	23,000,000	130,000,000	107,000,000
Uruguay	4,000,000	6,000,000	2,000,000
Venezuela	5,000,000	8,000,000	3,000,000
Total	£1,493,100,000	£3,375,800,000	£1,822,700,000

From this statement it will be seen that 27 governments have added to their debts about $10,000,000,000 since 1862, and that their total indebtedness is now nearly $17,000,000,000.

Melting of Gold.

A few days since the United States Mint began melting the first intallment (1,000,000) of the twenty million one dollar gold pieces, which during the ensuing month are to be recoined into larger denominations. These pieces were of inconvenient size, and the Government has experienced trouble in issuing them in large quantities. This induced them to take them from the sub-treasury in New York, where they have been idle the past few years, and place the metal in a more desirable shape. From 1849, when the first one dollar gold pieces were coined at the mint in Philadelphia, to 1867, when the coinage was stopped, there has been $17,709,442 made in Philadelphia mint alone. It is presumed that the whole issue of one dollar gold pieces will amount to over thirty millions. One million of gold dollars, when first issued by the mint, will weigh 3,686 pounds avoirdupois, or a fraction over one ton (twenty cwt) and four-fifths. In twenty million of dollars we have nearly thirty-three tons. The loss by abrasion in one million dollars is $6,408.37. In other words $20,000,000, used ten years, loses $81,667.40. If the twenty million pieces to be melted were piled in a perpendicular line, they would reach eleven and five-sixths miles. Were the pieces laid flat on a level plain, they would extend one hundred and fifty-eight miles.

NOT long since a young man named Hughes was horribly gored in Windsor Park by "Prince Leopold," a bull belonging to Queen Victoria. The Queen, upon hearing of the affair, opened her heart and her purse, and magnanimously gave the young man £3. No such instance of royal generosity was ever recorded.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, PUBLISHER.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN.

Little they know, or ever think,
Of the work there is in shedding ink
By the busy wielders of pencil and pen—
Generally known as "newspaper men—
"Jottings," "In General," "Spice of Life,"
"Variations," and rumors rife,
"Saturday Notes," and Sunday news,
"All Sorts of Paragraphs," to amuse,
Market reports, and marine disasters,
Puffs of pills and patent plasters;
Now at the theater in white cravat,
Claw-hammer coat and opera hat;
Then to the prize-ring, where you write
Sickening details of a bloody fight—
Back to the city, just in time
To report the sermon of some divine;
Steamboat collision, smash up of trains,
Election returns to bother your brains;
Agents dramatic, with long-winded story,
To write up his star to theatrical glory,
Deaths and marriages, murders, rows,
Balls and parties, minstrel shows,
Stock speculations, bubbles of air,
Tossed about by bull and bear;
Praising the limb in the dancer's pose,
And next the calves in the cattle shows;
Pencil in hand at the racing course,
Taking the time of a trotting horse;
Jotting down each stroke and catch
Made in a famous base ball match;
Now of a street row taking a note—
And then of a row in a college boat.
These are a few of the many things
At which the tireless pencil swings.

MY LAST NIGHT IN THE OLD COUNTRY.

Long ago I lodged in rooms which looked out upon the river Thames in the front, and at the back upon a small sort of yard belonging to a public-house called the Fife and Drum, situated in an adjoining alley. This hostelry was not frequented by a very reputable class, but by a mixture of the low waterside population, itinerant musicians, jugglers, Punch-and-Judy men, and mountebanks of every description. There was a short cut in my door from the adjoining street by the alley where the public-house was, and in making it, I often had an opportunity of studying the manners and customs in private life of the bespangled and flesh-tighted tumblers, who, those days more frequently than now, I believe, were to be seen in the street, mounting on each other's shoulders, or clambering up a pole supported by one of their fellows.

By the time that midsummer had arrived, my stay in England was drawing to a close. In a week more I should be on my way to the Antipodes, and my mind be far too full of the future began now much heed to the miserable street to give r. Nearly all my connections humble friends had emigrated, and done well, so that, at the time I was leaving, scarcely any one in London knew me, except my landlady, and when I too should have departed her notion of my whereabouts would have been of the vaguest. Australia was my future address, and as I expected no letters which would require forwarding, I gave her no nearer clue to my future home.

The last night in the old country has arrived. All my preparations are complete. I have to leave very early in the morning to catch a train for Liverpool. Good-by has been said, bills have been paid, and with a small hand-bag, the only portion of my impedimenta not sent forward, I am to quit the house before any one is astir. It is intensely hot. I leave the window looking out upon the little yard wide open, despite its proximity to the foot of my bed. I hear St. Paul's and the myriad other clocks one after another, and some all together strike three, and it is broad daylight ere I drop off to sleep. I begin to dream, immediately awake with a start, close my eyes, drop off, dream again—this time a very bad dream.

I awake; at first with a sense of relief that it was only a dream, but a strange sort of cold shiver passes through me. I sit upright, trying to collect my scared wits, believing almost that I was still dreaming, when a large, dark, ominous-looking mark upon the white counterpane at the foot of the bed, which was not there before, catches my eye. I sprang out to examine it, and to my horror find that it is the imprint, in blood and dirt, of a human hand.

A closer observation verifies this fact, and on the window-sill I see even a more glaring token of the same kind. Shuddering, I threw the sash wider open and looked out. The drain-pipe which runs from the roof down the side of the house, close to my window, bears, as high up as where I stand, scratches and stains, showing to my now preternatural sharpened senses, that some one had recently gained an entrance by that way to my room. I gaze around it. The bright morning sun is streaming straight in, and as I instinctively stoop to look under the bed, I see evidence of footprints as far as the door leading on to the staircase. I try to open it, but it is locked on the outside. Bewildered, but not losing my presence of mind, I go through by the folding-doors into my sitting-room overlooking the river. The tide is high, and as I crane forward out of the window to catch a glimpse of the end of the street, a man is in the act of dropping from the iron railings there on to one of the barges. I cannot see his face, for in another second he is running and jumping with the agility of a cat from one boat to another, and is suddenly lost to my view behind a huge load of hay. My first impulse was to shout, but I am quickly checked by the striking of the clocks, and, as I count five, remember that I should be in another ten minutes on my way to the railway station.

The truth flashes across me that if I give an alarm I shall be detained, lose my train and ship, and all the prospects upon which I have built so many earnest hopes will be lost to me for ever. Whatever dark mystery I have thus unwittingly come upon must be cleared up by others, not by me!

Dressing in the direst haste, I pass out on the landing to my front room door, which is not locked.

"Who's that?" cries the well-known voice of my landlady from above.

"Only I. Good-by, Mrs. Hart, once more."

"Dear me! I thought I heard you go a quarter of an hour ago; somebody went down stairs!"

"It was not I; but I am late as it is. Good-by again and again!"

I cannot even give her a hint of what has happened, for doing so will cause fatal delay to me. I must risk all consequences to save my train, so I pass down the stairs and out by the street door, which I see has been left ajar. Not a soul is stirring; I took a farewell look at the old quarters, and rush away through the bright but silent streets.

* * * * * * *

Prosperity in the New World followed my every act.

I was well established in Melbourne as a merchant, and I walked to and fro between my suburban villa and my office daily. The old inclination to stop and watch all shows and street performances was as strong as ever, and, laudably or not, I never failed, as the profession expressed it, to "encourage talent;" but, at that time, there were but few of the "tumbling" fraternity to be seen in our thoroughfares. When, therefore, one afternoon as I was returning home, I saw a large crowd assembled and a huge pole rising from its midst, it is not to be supposed I passed by on the other side. A good deal of shouting and drum-beating was going on, and as I came up, I discovered that the pole was balanced and supported in the socket of a leathern belt, passed round the loins of a sturdy acrobat. Another of the tribe, slighter in figure, was preparing to ascend this sort of mast, and did so, even as I watched. It was the old trick which I had witnessed many a time before in England; but I do not remember that it was then dignified, as it has since been, by the high-sounding name of "la perche." When the mountebank had reached the top of the pole, he exhibited several feats of daring and strength, such as we are all familiar with; but at last he assumed, when at the utmost height, the attitude of a man swimming, supporting himself with one arm and hand, while his stomach rested on top of the pole, so that, in fact, man and pole together formed the letter T. Then he began to strike out with his legs and disengaged arm, while the balancer of the pole beneath walked round and round in a small circle. It was not badly done; the balance and position were steadily maintained for several minutes.

Presently the acrobat was just above where I was standing. I had at that moment removed my hat the easier to watch him. He appeared to observe my action, and our eyes met. Then suddenly he gave a sort of jerk, seemed to lose his balance, tried to recover himself, failed, and, in a second, fell straight down upon the ground head foremost, the pole at the same time also escaping from the grip of the holder!

A terrific shout and scene of wild excitement followed. The pole had, in its descent, felled several of the spectators like oxen, and they and the unhappy tumbler, who was apparently dead, were eventually carried off to the hospital.

Two days later, I was seated by the side of one of the small beds in the accident ward. On it lay the crushed and maimed but yet living acrobat. I had called the next morning to inquire after the sufferers, and had been told that this man was hopelessly injured in the spine, but that he might live for some weeks, though he could never move his legs again. His intellect, it was thought, had also sustained a shock; for when he recovered his speech he appeared to wander, and had talked about having been frightened; frightened by a ghost that he had seen in the crowd, which had taken off his hat to him, and had threatened him with its eyes. My action immediately recurred to me. I explained to the surgeon that I had taken my hat off the moment before the poor fellow fell. I was both irresistibly attracted to and repelled from that bedside.

"I fear from what they tell me," I began, "that I was in some way the cause of your losing your balance; that by taking my hat off I drew your attention from—"

"No, no!" hastily interrupted the sufferer, turning his haggard, pale face and wild eyes upon me. "No, it wasn't that. Many people take their hats off, but they haven't all got faces like yours! They haven't all been sent straight across here from England; they don't all bring back times as I'd wish to forget! They don't all seem to say to me as yours did, 'I know what you've done! I saw you just after you did it! I'll have you hanged for it!'

"I heard 'em say as I couldn't live long, and if so be that's true, I'd like to tell you what has lain heavy on my mind these six years past. I climbed into your bedroom just after I'd done it—just after I'd paid off old scores with Tom Smart; just after I'd murdered him down there in the tap-room of the Fife and Drum. I and he were sleeping there; he'd got more than a month's swag lying under his head, for he was a regular miser, and he had never so much as given me a tenth part of our earnings for weeks. I grew savage as I saw it there right within my reach, and he, seemingly, so dead asleep; but I never meant to murder him! No, I never did; only when he caught hold of me just as I'd got it, and saw what my game was, he'd have strangled me like a dog if I hadn't caught up a knife that was lying on the table and driven it straight into his throat. He dropped like a stone, and the blood spurted all over my hands! Then, when I saw what I'd done, I knew I must get off somehow. So I crept out into the yard, and I was like a rat in a pit; but I saw a window open just above, and I swarmed up the drain-pipe, feeling sure I could get out there somehow. As I was a-stepping into the room I stumbled, and, trying to save myself, put my hand right on your foot before I knew it. Then, for the first time, I saw there was some one in the bed. The sun shone straight on your face, or else I shouldn't have remembered it so well; and I thought you was a-going to wake, for you drew your legs up quite quick, but you never opened your eyes; and maybe it's well for you you didn't; and so I got away and locked your door to make all safe."

Here, then, was that horrible imprint on the foot of my bed accounted for. I told the authorities all about it, but the miserable creature died in a few days.

A TEXAS STORY.—The editor of a Texas paper professes to have seen a man who was hanged a short time ago. He said that when the cart was being drawn from under him, and he was being launched at last out of this world, he caught the rope in his teeth, and remained suspended in that manner until his would-be executioners were out of sight, when he ascended the rope and released himself. He says he cut down one of the other men, but was unable to resuscitate him.

NEXT summer's exodus to Europe will be greater than for many years past.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Why the Farmers are so Poor.

In Lynn money is tight when the boot and shoe trade is dull, for there they make only boots and shoes.

In Iowa money is tight when the trade in the products of the farm is dull, for only when the crops are in motion to market have we anything to sell for money.

The crops this year do not move, and the farmers are wondering where the money will come from to pay their tax, and business men are every day coming closer to the vortex.

Such times were never seen in this country before. We have gaily ridden high upon a false prosperity for many years, while the corporations were getting "under holds," and now we are thrown.

The mining and manufacturing corporations have it so arranged with the Congress of the United States that by a tariff there is legislated to their cotton and woolen goods, iron, coal and leather, an artificial profit.

Say the duty on iron is $9 per ton, that amount is the artificial profit poured into the iron-master's pocket over and above the natural profit on his production.

But whence comes the farmer's artificial profit? Where is the Congress which can legislate to his corn, wheat, oats and pork, and cattle an artificial value? There is none. His produce sells at prices as low as before the war, while everything he buys, by operation of the tariff, is at a war price.

A farmer would cheerfully sell his pork at $2.75 or $3.00 per hundred, if cotton and woolen goods, salt and other articles which he buys were at proportionate rates, but they are not. So, a farmer comes to town and puts two loads of potatoes on his feet, in the shape of his winter boots. If he stays all night he will eat a load of oats. His wife wears five acres of wheat, and the children each ten acres of corn, and are not very warmly clad then. For an overcoat he wears a good four-year-old steer, and if he sports a Sunday suit it is in the shape of at least twenty head of fat hogs. And on top of that his farm bears a mortgage that is worse than hard-pan to the soil, and the annual tax rots into his roof worse than rain.

He must eat and wear, and from the small price of his produce must pay to the manufacturer the artificial profit which the tariff puts upon his goods, while the profit which the farmer should realize goes to the railroad corporations for carrying his crops to market.

Should we be asked the process by which this state of things has been reached, we could only answer that it is by our Congress, courts, and legislature making moneyed corporations of all sorts supreme and superior to the people.

It was not so once. There was a time when the people were supreme, but that time is gone.—Iowa City Press.

Preparing Poultry for Market.

There is a large amount of money wasted in freights every year in the United States, and especially in the West, owing to the fact that farmers and others who send poultry to market do not take advantage of the season. During the warm months it is absolutely necessary that poultry be sent alive, for if sent dressed they will not keep. But with the advent of cold weather this is all changed. The dressed poultry brings the better price. Again, money is lost by not knowing just how to prepare and pack poultry; for there is as much in the manner of preparing the article as in the commodity itself. Birds carefully picked and packed will always command one or two cents per pound more than if the work is slovenly done, however fat the fowls may be.

Fowls, even chickens, should be dry-picked, leaving on the head and feet. Then, if fat, should be wrapped in clean straw paper, and packed with clean, dry straw, in clean boxes; thus they will always command a good price, however the market may be glutted with ordinary samples. If scalded, the temperature of the water should never be more than 190 deg. Fahrenheit, and after being picked they should be immediately dipped in pure cold water, and placed where they may dry and become cool. Never pack while moist or soft. This is one of the most fatal mistakes; and in packing be careful not to tear the skin. All that have had the skin broken should be thrown aside for family use, for they will inevitably reduce the price of the good ones.

The shrinkage on live poultry sent to market is considerable, sometimes equal to eight or ten per cent. of the original weight. This again is saved when the consignment is shipped dressed. And, as a rule, the freights are much more on live stock than on that which is packed, for the reason that it takes less room, and is more easily handled. A little care and attention in this direction will save money to the poultry keepers. And, as a rule, from the 1st of December to the 1st of March no poultry should be sent to market alive.

Woman's Right to a Wood-Pile.

A correspondent of the Maine Farmer writes: Perhaps the family may live on a farm where wood may be had with little labor at the right time; but instead of that the woman may have small children, some of them sick, and but very little wood, if any. What can be more trying for a woman, when she can get very little time to work about the house, than to be hindered for the want of fuel? I think if her husband could be placed in her situation for a month, it would cure him of being so neglectful about providing good fuel—if he was not past curing. Besides all the discomfort, it looks very shiftless to see a man that cannot go to his work in the morning, because he has to stop and get some wood. And before he retires at night, he must get a rail off the fence to make fire in the morning. Such a man cannot be said to be a thrifty farmer. (I think the wood-pile a fair test of the father's love for the wife and children. If you want domestic peace and a warm dinner, get some dry wood, put it under cover, make a good fire, and let the tired wife rest awhile. Remember she is shut up with the children more than you are, and her mind and body need rest and relaxation.)

Machinery for Corn Cutting.

The American Artizan says: It is remarkable that, with all the inventions of an agricultural nature, there should be nothing in relation to cutting corn. The millions of acres in the United States have still to be cut down with the old corn-knife, made out of a piece of old scythe, just as it was cut a hundred years ago; and it all has to be gathered and shocked by hand in the same manner as it was in the olden time. Yet it seems as if something might easily be devised. Certainly a machine can be readily adopted to cutting it; but the shocking by machinery could not perhaps be as well done. Still, American genius ought to be equal to the accomplishment of such a machine to perfection; and, only that it has not yet been done, we might hazard a guess that at a future time some one will succeed in doing so.

The Home of Some Farmers.

Of all the dreary places, says Col. Curtis, deliver me from the farm houses which so many people call home. Bars for a front gate, chickens wallowing before the door, pig-pens elbowing the house in the rear, scraggy trees never cared for, or no trees at all, no cheering shrubs, no neatness, no trimness. And yet a lawn and trees and neat walk and pleasant fence don't cost a great deal. They can be secured little by little, at odd times, and the expense hardly felt. And if the time comes when it is best to sell the farm, $50 so invested will often bring $500.

Mulch the Young Trees.

All young trees (viz., those one and two years planted, and especially those planted this past autumn), should now have four to six inches of some coarse manure, litter, etc., spread around them, and at the same time each tree carefully looked after that none of the mulch be nearer than four inches to the body of the tree. This latter item is to prevent injury from mice.

THE PRODUCTS OF 1872.

The Average Yield per Acre and Price of the Principal Products—A Summing Up of the Year's Work.

The report of the United States Department of Agriculture for the months of November and December is one of unusual interest to all concerned in the development of our agricultural resources. Following is a synopsis of the document:

AVERAGE YIELD AND HOME PRICE.

The average yield of corn per acre, as reported by correspondents, stands highest in Iowa, 40.8 bushels, the Illinois average being 39.6, that of Indiana 39.8, and of Ohio 39.5. The average of the States of the 40th parallel is within a fraction of 40 bushels, those of Pennsylvania and Nebraska being 39 bushels, and that of New Jersey 39.5 bushels. New England, with her garden patches of corn, returns 31 bushels for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, 32 for Connecticut, 36.1 for Maine, and 38.2 for New Hampshire. In New York the average presented is 37.5. Texas makes the highest Southern average, 28.5 bushels, declining to 24.3 in Arkansas, and 24 in Tennessee, and to 17.5 in Mississippi, to 13 in Georgia; the lowest average being 9.6 in Florida.

The highest wheat returns are those of Minnesota, California and Texas; the lowest are those of South Carolina, the range being from 6.4 to 18.7 bushels per acre. The rate is materially higher in the Gulf-coast States than in the Southern Atlantic States, increasing from Georgia westward.

The rate of yield for rye stands lowest in South Carolina and highest in California, the range being from 6.2 bushels to 29.1 bushels. A reference to the tables will show the variation in these averages, which are in most cases higher than those of wheat.

The highest average for oats is 40 bushels for Nebraska; the lowest is 8 bushels for South Carolina. Averages ranging from 40 down to 30 bushels come in the following order: Nebraska, Iowa, California, Minnesota, Illinois, Rhode Island, Vermont, Connecticut, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Texas, Kansas, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

The average for hay ranges from seven-tenths of a ton in Maryland to 1.45 tons in Illinois.

Averaging the local prices of corn, the lowest rate is 18 cents per bushel in Nebraska and Iowa, while that of Kansas is 22, and Illinois 24. Going eastward, it rises to 29 in Indiana, 34 in Ohio, 60 in Pennsylvania, and 62 in New Jersey. The range in New England is from 84 in Vermont to 95 in New Hampshire. The average for New York is 70 cents. One bushel of corn in Massachusetts appears to be worth five in Iowa. In the South the rate is highest in Florida, at $1.20 per bushel, and lowest in Texas—43 cents. The price increases from Delaware to South Carolina, the rates being, in their order, respectively, 55, 57, 58, 62, and 96 cents; in Alabama 78, Georgia 86, and 88 in Mississippi and Louisiana.

The averages for wheat range between $1.95 in Massachusetts and 74 cents in Oregon, the next lower being, respectively, 78 cents for Nebraska, 83 cents for Minnesota, and 85 cents for Iowa. The crop being poor in Kansas and Missouri, local prices average in those States respectively, $1.42 and $1.41, about the same as in Tennessee and West Virginia.

CORN.

At the close of the season, the corn crops ripened, mostly gathered in all parts of the country, and a sufficient amount of it shucked, to determine its quality, it is manifest that a produce as large as 1870 (not that of 1869, as reported in the census, which was a partial failure), has been produced. When the returns from distant points are completed, and calculations are perfected, it is probable that a crop of about 1,000,000,000 bushels will be indicated. Very little failed to ripen. Greater success than usual has attended efforts at corn-growing at high elevations, as in the Rocky Mountain area, though it was injured at many points by frost, and is not deemed a safe crop at elevations of 5,000 feet north of 39 degrees.

The returns of "product compared with last year," which take into consideration both area and rate of yield per acre, average above 100 in all but seven States, viz.: Rhode Island, 96; Delaware, 92; Maryland, 98; Virginia, 93; Florida, 87; Wisconsin, 99; Minnesota, 98. Those giving an increase are: Maine, 113; New Hampshire, 108; Vermont, 114; Massachusetts, 103; Connecticut, 105; New York, 110; New Jersey, 120; Pennsylvania, 115; North Carolina, 116; South Carolina, 108; Georgia, 118; Alabama, 123; Mississippi, 120; Louisiana, 130; Texas, 134; Arkansas, 109; Tennessee, 102; West Virginia, 106; Kentucky, [illegible]; Ohio, 111; Michigan, 105; Indiana, 108; Illinois, 107; Iowa, 103; Missouri, [illegible]; Kansas, 120; Nebraska, 105; California, 127; Oregon, 105.

POTATOES.

The returns of correspondence point to a decrease of 5 per cent. from the product of last year, amounting to about six millions of bushels. The Western States, in which this crop has suffered for several years from the ravages of the Colorado beetle, report diminishing losses from this cause, and are the only States, North Carolina and Texas excepted, reporting increased production. The averages are as follows: Maine, 65; New Hampshire, 80; Vermont, 86; Massachusetts, 90; Rhode Island, 92; Connecticut, 94; New York, 90; New Jersey, 75; Pennsylvania, 95; Delaware, 75; Maryland, 75; Virginia, 92; North Carolina, 104; South Carolina, 87; Georgia, 89; Florida, 74; Alabama, 94; Mississippi, 94; Louisiana, 85; Texas, 123; Arkansas, 93; Tennessee, 100; West Virginia, 85; Kentucky, 101; Ohio, 90; Michigan, 101; Indiana, 115; Illinois, 135; Wisconsin, 35; Minnesota, 127; Iowa, 109; Missouri, 93; Kansas, 110; Nebraska, 104; California, 109; Oregon, 124.

PRODUCTS AND THEIR PRICES.

The following table shows the average yield per acre and price of the corn, wheat, rye and oats crop throughout the United States, for the year 1872. The prices taken to form the average were those ruling on the 1st of December last:

States.	Corn.		Wheat.		Rye.		Oats.
	Avg. yield per acre in bus.	Average price per bushel.	Average yield per acre.	Average price per bushel.	Average yield per acre.	Average price per bushel.	Average yield per acre.	Average price per bushel.
Maine	34.1	0 94	17.3	1 92	18.1	1 09	29.5	0 50
N. Hampshire	38.2	95	18.1	1 84	19.5	1 04	33	59
Vermont	38	84	16	1 74	17.7	1 13	35.2	48
Massachusetts	31	90	17.4	1 95	18.8	1 03	30.4	61
Rhode Island	31	90	..	..	15.3	96	35.6	50
Connecticut	32.2	92	17	1 65	16.8	1 10	35.8	61
New York	37.5	70	12.5	1 65	13	89	35	44
New Jersey	39.5	62	13.5	1 73	13.8	88	28.4	45
Pennsylvania	39	60	11.2	1 67	13.4	86	38.5	53
Delaware	30	55	7.5	1 60	7.5	82	14	48
Maryland	23	57	8.5	1 66	11.6	79	16.5	40
Virginia	19	58	9	1 58	9.5	72	13.5	46
North Carolina	14.5	62	8.5	1 53	8.4	98	17.5	66
South Carolina	10.5	96	6.4	1 88	6.2	1 46	8	80
Georgia	13	86	9	1 73	10.2	1 56	11.5	83
Florida	9.6	1 20	..	..	..	..	11.2	98
Alabama	17.6	78	9.5	1 48	11	1 29	13.5	83
Mississippi	17.5	88	10.3	1 57	9	1 75	13	1 06
Louisiana	20.1	88	..	..	..	..	19.5	1 32
Texas	28.5	43	18.5	1 65	21	1 08	32.5	61
Arkansas	24.3	73	10.4	1 52	12.5	1 50	25.5	64
Tennessee	24	48	10.5	1 40	11.4	88	19.6	42
West Virginia	28.5	55	10.3	1 43	13.5	88	26.2	38
Kentucky	33.5	37	12	1 29	14.5	73	25.1	40
Ohio	39.5	34	11.7	1 42	11.9	73	30	29
Michigan	36	43	15.5	1 46	14	74	30	32
Indiana	39.6	29	13	1 32	15.5	65	30.5	25
Illinois	39.8	24	13.2	1 23	18.2	50	36.6	19
Wisconsin	38	40	15.8	1 08	16.7	57	33.5	32
Minnesota	35.2	30	18.7	83	19	49	37.5	26
Iowa	40.8	18	13.7	85	19.5	47	39	16
Missouri	37	32	10.6	1 41	16	71	33.7	23
Kansas	38.5	22	12.6	1 42	18.5	71	32.5	22
Nebraska	39	18	17.5	78	21.5	40	40	16
California	40.5	1 00	18.5	1 11	29.1	1 09	39.5	74
Oregon	29	93	18.3	74	23.2	78	28.2	51

Six Children at a Birth, and Triplets Twice.

While on a visit to Knowlesville, N. Y., in the latter part of August, 1871, I heard of a case of remarkable fecundity, and being somewhat incredulous in regard to the facts, determined to visit the parties, and herewith give you the particulars of my search for facts, which prove sometimes to be "more strange than fiction."

Jennie Amelia, when 19 years of age, was married to James Bushnell, of Orleans county, N. Y., then residing in Chicago. The parties were married in August, 1864. On the 2d of July, 1865, Mrs. Bushnell gave birth to three children, two boys and a girl. These children lived, one four, one six, and one eleven months. On the 8th of September, 1866, Mrs. Bushnell gave birth to six living children at one time, all of them living some time. I saw four of them. The names of the children struck me as being somewhat peculiar. I give them in the order of their birth: Noiberto James, Alberto James, Alinca Lucy, Alice Elizabeth, Lucy Alinca, and Laberto James. Mrs. Bushnell was unable to walk for two months prior to her confinement, and after the birth of the second one was unconscious several hours; she was horror-stricken on recovering her senses to find herself the mother of six children—three sons and as many girls. The event was so extraordinary that it was soon noised abroad, and brought a great many visitors, who supplied the children with clothing, and assisted the parents in providing nurses—seventeen hundred dollars being the amount paid for caring for them until they were weaned—six wet-nurses being required. Laberto James died when nineteen months old, and Lucy Alinca lived until twenty-three months of age. The four other children were five years old when I saw them, were all bright and healthy, none of them ever having been sick. Their united weight at birth was forty-five pounds. The mother was of French parents, and was born in London, England. On the 8th day of November, 1869, Mrs. Bushnell gave birth to three boys, all of whom died within an hour or two; Mrs. Bushnell having given birth to twelve living children at three births, in less than six years. Gov. Rice was instrumental in having our Congress appropriate the six children eighty acres of land, situated in Iowa, to be free from taxes until they were of age. Should I hear of any other remarkable occurrence at any future time, you may have another communication from me.—Cor. Cincinnati Commercial.

Twenty years ago Kentucky supplied nearly a third of all our flax product; Virginia and New York about 1,000,000 pounds each, making up together as much as Kentucky; and Ohio has supplied less than 500,000 pounds. But now Ohio has nearly forty times its former product, while Kentucky has only a tenth of its, and Virginia has gone down to a seventh. The chief flax-producing States are Ohio, 18,000,000 pounds, or two-thirds of our whole product of 27,182,039 pounds (the product in 1850 was only 7,209,676 pounds); New York, 3,000,000, and Illinois 2,000,000, while New England, with the exception of a little in Maine and Vermont, may be said to have ceased to be flax-producing, as have also Alabama, Delaware and Georgia.

A YANKEE has invented a patent bird's nest to keep the feathered songsters from spending their winters South.

Miscellaneous.

CINCINNATI had 22 suicides during the year.

ST. LOUIS is going to have extensive steel works.

PENNSYLVANIA has the only nickel mine in the country.

THERE are 1,000,000 Catholics in England and Wales.

THE funded debt of Massachusetts is $27,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA had 2,584 deaths from small-pox in 1872.

ST. PAUL built 934 houses last year, at a cost of $2,346,487.

AN Indian girl raised $1,800 worth of broomcorn last year.

THE manufacturing interest of Newark, N. J., is $90,000,000.

THE elephant of a bankrupt show sold for $10,000 at Selma, Ala.

ST. LOUIS had less than a million dollars' worth of fire in 1872.

NEW YORK has had 141 murders and one hanging in three years.

THE interest of the Philadelphia city debt, due Jan. 1, is $1,554,760.

TWENTY inches is the average thickness of the ice on the Maine rivers.

THERE are 250,000 square miles of the earth's surface underlaid with coal.

WE read that 1816 was the coldest year ever known in Europe or America.

PHILADELPHIA confesses that she is the worst lighted city in the Union.

THERE are fifty-six farmers in the Iowa Legislature—nearly one-half the whole number.

A SAN FRANCISCO man wants $50,000 from the Central Pacific road for killing his wife.

IT was a clay pipe, overturned in a dish of sawdust, which caused the Barnum fire.

THE steamship Australia recently took from Galveston, Texas, a cargo valued at $425,000.

A WOMAN has the contract for painting all the swords turned out of the Springfield armory.

EIGHT thousand and forty-seven deaths in St. Louis last year—4,390 males and 3,294 females.

THERE are more men injured in mining coal in Pennsylvania than in any other industrial pursuit.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., contains more fast horses for its size than any other city in the United States.

THE siege train of the future is to be composed of 64-pounders, 40-pounders, and 8-inch howitzers.

THE principal reference required by St. Louis boarding-house keepers, is a well-defined vaccination mark.

A NEW process for preserving meats consists in dipping the meat in melted butter and then packing it in salt.

THE press of Missouri calls for a law awarding death as the punishment for placing obstructions on railroad tracks.

HALF a dozen sand spots—columns of sand ten feet in diameter and 1,000 feet high—lately danced around Virginia City.

LITHOGRAPHIC stone, hitherto obtained exclusively from Bavaria, has been found in large quantities in Rockbridge county, Va.

IT is proposed to construct a railway across the Australian continent, from Adelaide to Port Darwin, 1,800 miles long.

DEATHS in 1872: Chicago, 10,000; St. Louis, 7,927; Cincinnati, 5,472; New York, 22,941; Philadelphia, 20,544; Baltimore, 8,703.

THE musicians of the Chinese Theater in San Francisco have been arrested and fined $20 each for making barbarous and unearthly noises.

THE city of Cleveland, Ohio, has now about $2,000,000 at its command as the result of an investment of $500,000 in the stock of railroads 20 years ago.

EVERY woman thinks her husband the worst in the world until she compares notes with other women, when she comes to the conclusion that hers is the best.

THE Masons have now taken hold of the work of completing the Washington monument, and the funds begin to accumulate with most encouraging rapidity.

DURING the year 1872, 684,075 cattle, 3,252,623 hogs, and 310,211 sheep were received at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago. Their aggregate value was $75,475,000. The average weight of the hogs was 249½ pounds.

THE production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania has been in round numbers, 5,000,000, 6,000,000, 22,000,000, 64,000,000, and 114,000,000 tons in the decades which ended in 1830, 1840, 1850, 1860 and 1870, respectively.

MR. JOHN CLEVELAND, who died a short time since at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., at the age of about 85 years, never drank a glass of strong liquor of any kind in his life—never used tobacco in any form—never fired a gun or pistol—and never caught a fish with a hook and line.

Strict Rules.

Our friend Jackson went the other day to Laurel Hill cemetery, with four bouquets. He was afterward going out with two of them, when he was stopped at the gate.

"Where are you going with those flowers?" asked the gatekeeper.

"To the Catholic cemetery."

"You can't take those flowers out of here."

"But I brought with me four bouquets. I can surely take out two with me."

"It is against the rules."

"Allow me to explain. I have placed two bouquets on the grave of my first wife, who lies here, and I am going to take these to the Catholic cemetery, where my second wife lies buried. I do not wish to make her jealous."

The gatekeeper was inflexible, and Jackson had to take the two bouquets back and place them with the others on the grave of Mrs. Jackson number one. This forced Jackson to buy four more bouquets to place on the grave of Mrs. Jackson No. two, in the Catholic cemetery, for unless he did so she would certainly be jealous.—Figaro.

LIST OF DELINQUENT TAXES,

Lands and Town Lots

WITHIN THE

COUNTY OF DeKALB AND STATE OF IND'A.

Returned Delinquent by the Treasurer thereof, for the Taxes of the year 1871 including the Interest and Penalty thereon, and also the Taxes for the year 1872.

Names of Owners.	Description of Lands	Section.	Township.	Range.	Acres.	Hundredths.	Value of Lands & Improvements	Total value of taxables.	Am't of delinq't tax penalty & int.	Am't of tax for the current year.	Cost of advertis'g.	Total Amount of Taxes due.
BUTLER TOWNSHIP.
Bell Jacob, heirs of	w. pt of s. e. qr.	7	33	12	100	00	880	880	15 86	9 22	45	25 67
Carnahan Clara L.	s. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	19	33	12	40	70	200	200	3 29	2 12	45	5 86
Feagler Henry	in n. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	18	33	12	8	00	80	80	1 28	84	45	2 57
Fair Wm. H.	pt. of e. ½ of n. e. qr.	14	33	12	78	73	831	831	8 24	8 80	45	17 49
Simon Peter	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	12	74	76	704	704	11 59	7 46	45	19 50
Wyant J. P.	s. ½ of s. w. qr.	36	33	12	80	00	840	840	18 84	8 90	45	28 19 same	in s. e. cor. of s. e. qr.	16	33	12	2	50	807	807	13 80	8 55	45	22 80
same	pt. of s. e. qr.	10	33	12	134	64	1350	1350	20 61	13 25	45	34 31
JACKSON TOWNSHIP.
Bowser J. C.	w. pt. of n. ½ of s. e. qr.	31	33	13	25	00	40	40	61	48	45	1 54
same	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	31	33	13	40	00	120	120	1 87	1 44	45	3 76
Nixon W. H.	e. ½ of s. e. qr	11	33	13	80	00	400	400	6 36	4 80	45	11 61
Feagler Henry	n. end of w. ½ of n. e. qr	7	33	13	17	88	1664	1664	4 43	22 36	45	27 24
George John	s. pt. of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	33	13	73	35	1570	1570	12 68	18 84	45	30 97
Hanna Oliver S.	n. w. ¼ of s. e. qr.	11	33	13	40	00	160	160	2 53	1 92	45	4 90
same	n. e. ¼ of n. w. ¼	14	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 92	45	4 25
Hanna Wm. W.	n. w. ¼ of n. e. qr.	23	33	13	40	00	160	160	1 88	1 44	45	3 77
Jones Sarah	n. e. ½ of s. w. qr.	3	33	13	40	00	80	80	1 26	96	45	2 67
McClellan Wm.	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	3	33	13	80	00	1216	1216	20 24	16 86	45	27 54
Porter Wm. O.	und ½ of n. w. qr.	27	33	13	100	00	960	960	7 51	11 52	90	19 93
same	und ½ of s. w. qr.
Porter Daniel W.	und 1-3 of n. w. qr.				80	00	480	480	4 29	5 76	90	10 95
same	und 1-3 of s. w. qr.	27	33	13
CONCORD TOWNSHIP.
Dawson John W.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	20	33	14	80	00	567	567	10 30	8 56	45	19 31
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	23	33	14	71	16	671	671	12 20	10 13	45	22 78
same	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	21	33	14	80	00	710	710	12 91	10 72	45	24 08
Hanna Horace H.	s fracnl of s. w. qr	13	33	14	7	85	30	30	76	30	45	1 51
Howey Thomas H.	n. w. ¼ of n. w. qr.	20	33	14	40	00	332	332	1 60	5 01	45	7 06
Johnson Thomas	w. ½ of s. ½ of s. w. qr.	5	33	14	40	00	277	277	97	4 18	45	5 60
Mosse John	n. ½ of n. w. qr	8	33	14	73	20	440	440	4 34	6 64	45	11 43
same	n. ½ of n. e. qr.	4	33	14	73	93	430	430	4 25	6 49	45	11 19
Place Susan	in s. e. cor. of s. ½ of s. e. qr.	1	33	14	1	00	20	20	76	30	45	1 51
Rex Joseph M.	pt. e. ½ of n. e. qr.	18	33	14	78	00	1654	1654	26 48	24 97	45	51 90
NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP.
Andrew J. A.	n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	40	923	923	21 25	13 01	45	34 71
same	w. ½ of n. e. qr.	7	33	15	78	50	1560	1560	33 59	21 99	45	56 03
same	n. w. ¼ of s. e. qr.	7	33	15	40	00	600	600	12 94	8 46	45	21 85
Baily & Smith	n. fracnl of n. e. qr.	6	33	15	69	50	620	620	13 37	8 74	45	22 56
Bartlett Silas H.	e. pt. of s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr.	6	33	15		70	410	410	58 50	5 78	45	64 73
Dodge Mary P.	s. side of mid 1-3	4	33	15	26	00	227	227	4 89	3 20	45	8 59
Hawkins Wm. H.	n. pt. of mid. 1-3 of sec.	4	33	15	50	00	653	653	13 66	9 20	45	23 24
Johnson Sarah S.	in s. w. qr.	6	33	15		67	28	28	59	39	45	1 41
Kirkbirde G. W.	in s. ½ of n. w. fracnl qr.	6	33	15	8	00	20	20	33 38	28	45	34 13
McGonigal Susan	in section	6	33	15		88	170	170	19 22	2 39	45	22 07
Mogie Simon heirs of	in n. e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	6	33	15		15	50	50	1 06	70	45	2 21
STAFFORD TOWNSHIP.
Coats & Petty	s. w. cor. of s. w. qr.	28	34	15	20	08	1900	1900	16 20	25 84	45	42 49
Loveland John P.	n. ½ of s. e. qr.	31	34	15	70	00	954	954	15 16	12 97	45	28 58
Richmond Wm.	off n. side of n. ½ of s. e. qr.	18	34	15	40	00	1351	1351	13 86	19 37	45	33 68
Stoy Levi	n. w. ¼ of s. w qr.	17	34	15	40	00	615	615	7 16	8 36	45	15 96
WILMINGTON TOWNSHIP.
Aldrich Jason D.	pt of s. e. qr.	2	34	14		20	106	106	2 96	1 58	45	4 99
Allen Wm.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	34	34	14	80	00	1162	1162	69 76	19 13	45	89 34
same	pt. of n. e. ¼ of s. e. qr.	34	34	14	20	00	72	72	9 68	1 17	45	11 30
Blackwell Catharine	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	80	80	5 51	1 20	45	7 16
Blaker Wm.	in w. ½ of n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	30	80	13 97	45	45	14 87
Buchanan Frederick E.	in n. w. qr.	13	34	14		20	230	220	51	4 82	45	5 78
Brown Wm.	w. ½ of n. w. qr.	31	34	14	70	00	879	879	2 18	13 27	45	15 90
Cutting David	in s. w. qr.	1	34	14		38	44	58	97	83	45	2 25
Casebeer George	in n. w. qr.	12	34	14		40	512	512	18 58	9 28	45	28 31
Coats Noyes	e. ½ of s. e. qr.	45	34	14	80	00	1519	1519	15 60	22 80	45	38 85
Drake O. M.	s. w. qr.	7	34	14	240	00	420	420	11 30	6 34	45	18 09
Fosdick E. W.	pt. of s. w. qr.	1	34	14		40	116	110	6 67	1 66	45	8 78
Freeborn J. H.	off s. side of s. e. qr.	24	34	14	60	00	780	730	28 92	11 02	45	44 39
Franks David	in n. w. qr.	30	34	14	45	00	564	585	40 60	8 80	45	49 88
Gingrich Samuel	mid pt of e. ½ of n. w. qr.	18	34	14	15	00	90	90	8 74	90	45	10 11
Hullman John A.	in n. e. cor. of n. w. qr.	12	34	14	2	00	100	105	36 69	1 58	45	38 73
Hale Marshall	in n. w. cor of n. e. ½ n. w. qr	12	34	14	1	00	300	300	19 47	4 53	45	24 45
Hoopingarner John J.	pt of s. e. qr.	2	34	14		20	270	270	24 65	4 07	45	28 57
Hale D. C.	e. ½ of s. w. qr.	23	34	14	50	00	820	820	23 24	12 88	45	36 67
Hunter Jefferson	s. ½ of n. e. qr.	30	34	14	40	00	900	900	35 48	18 00	45	54 03
Jones Wm. I.	pt of n. e. ¼ of s. w. qr.	12	34	14	15	00	361	361	8 62	6 96	45	16 03
John Asa	s. w. ¼ of n. w. qr.	10	34	14	40	00	260	260	15 60	3 32	45	19 37
Jaques Warren	s. e. ¼ of n. e. qr.	10	34	14	40	00	1027	1027	6 06	17 60	45	24 00
Kester Alonzo A.	e. ½ of n. e. qr.	29	34	14	80	00	808	308	8 73	4 65	45	13 83
Kallmer Charles	s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr.	25	34	14	40	00	413	413	10 68	7 73	45	18 86
Linderfer Henry	pt of s. w. q r	1	34	14	2	40	709	709	34 73	13 20	45	48 38
Lower Wm. S.	s. e. ¼ of s. w. qr	24	34	14	40	00	400	400	11 34	6 04	45	17 83
Lackey John A.	s. w. pt of n. w. qr	11	34	14	50	00	1013	1013	3 65	16 79	45	20 89
Leonard Eugene	in n. w. qr	12	34	14		80	1130	1130	34 02	17 06	45	51 53
Mosier & Hopkins	in w. ½ of s. w. qr	1	34	14	1	04	70	70	13 09	1 06	45	14 59
Moughler George	in s. e. cor of n. e. ¼ of n. e. qr	16	34	14	2	50	15	15	17 00	28	45	17 67
Moughler Jacob	n. w. pt of s. w. qr	18	34	14	94	00	1704	1704	44 54	27 23	45	72 22
same	s. w. pt of s. w. qr.	13	34	14	25	00	200	200	5 67	3 02	45	9 14
Moore Aaron D.	pt of w. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	14	75	00	528	528	14 97	7 97	45	23 39
Mosse John	pt of e. ½ of n. e. qr.	19	34	14	73	50	1515	1515	14 97	19 85	45	35 27
Mosse Laura E.	pt of e. side of w. ½ of s. w. qr	22	34	14	50	00	335	355	10 91	5 81	45	17 17
Norford James M.	in s. e. qr	2	34	14		40	738	738	5 94	13 64	45	20 03
Norris Susan	n. e. ½ of n. e. qr	10	34	14	33	00	300	300	8 07	4 03	45	18 74
Nelson Levi	s. ½ of e. ½ of n. w. qr	10	34	14	35	80	245	245	5 36	3 69	45	11 07
Reese Hambright	s. w. pt of n. w. ½ of n. w. qr	12	34	14		90	315	310	5 67	4 31	45	10 33
Scott Abraham	in s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	90	90	1 60	90	45	2 94
same	in n. e. ¼ of n. w. qr	18	34	14		20	200	200	5 68	3 02	45	9 15
Smith John	in s. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	1	34	14		40	518	518	16	9 27	45	9 88
Shaffer Isaac	s. w. ¼ of n. w. qr	17	34	14	40	00	308	308	17 13	7 50	45	25 08
Unknown owner	n. w. cor of n. w. ½ of s. w. qr	35	34	14	3	76	18	16	1 69	24	45	2 38
Well Sylvanus	pt of s. w. q.	1	34	14		20	110	110	27	1 66	45	2 38
Wilson Wm. C.	in s. ½ of s. e. qr	2	34	14		82	18	18	97	22	45	1 64
Whitman Adam	pt of n. w. ¼ of s. w. qr	35	34	14	26	25	280	280	1 27	4 22	45	5 94
Weiss Gottfried	s. e. ¼ of s. e qr	26	34	14	40	00	790	790	16 72	11 92	45	29 09
Young George W. & Co.	pt of s. w. qr	1	34	14		20	90	90	6 14	1 36	45	7 94
UNION TOWNSHIP.
Bassett Sanford	in section	4	34	13	86	92	2103	2103	41 60	31 15	45	72 96
same	pt of n. e. qr	4	34	13
Bemenderfer John	pt of s. e. qr	4	34	13	4	00	70	70	1 97	98	45	3 40
Brandon Jacob	in mid pt of s. w. qr	32	34	13	20	00	800	800	1 69	11 56	45	13 70
Colvin O. H.	in mid pt of n w ¼ s w qr	3	34	13		25	63	63	1 74	87	45	3 06
Clutter George W.	pt of n ½ of s e qr	5	34	13	40	00	842	842	23 46	13 27	45	37 18
Cross Susannah	in n e cor of s e ½ of s e qr	5	34	13	1	00	20	20	1 54	28	45	2 27
Grate Isaac	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	00	103	103	11 01	1 45	45	12 91
Gloyd & Bowser	s e ¼ of s e qr	12	34	13	40	00	240	240	6 80	3 38	45	10 63
same	n ½ of n e qr	13	34	13	80	00	640	640	18 14	9 02	45	27 61
Hale & Berry	in s w qr	3	34	13		40	1866	1866	205 66	19 26	45	225 37
Hamilton Arthur	in mid pt of s e ¼ of s e qr	3	34	13		25	105	105	1 63	1 52	45	3 60
Hanna Charles	s w ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
same	n e ¼ of s e qr	23	34	13	40	00	240	240	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
same	e ½ of s w qr	23	34	13	80	00	560	560	15 87	7 89	45	24 21
same	s w ¼ of s w qr	26	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Hanna Hugh T.	n e ¼ of n e qr	24	34	13	40	00	280	280	7 93	3 94	45	12 32
Jarvis & Crane	w side of w ½ of sw ¼ of se qr	3	34	13	13	50	1700	1700	16 77	23 97	45	41 19
Johnson & Davis	in s e pt of s e ¼ of n w qr	15	34	13	8	50	1036	1036	29 33	14 59	45	44 37
Kester A. A.	in mid of s e qr	4	34	13	1	00	41	41	6 99	57	45	8 01
Kryder Fred	s e ¼ of s e qr	13	34	13	40	00	320	320	9 07	4 51	45	14 03
Kuhlman George	n pt of s w qr.	24	34	13	66	00	528	528	14 96	7 44	45	22 85
same	e ½ of n w qr	24	34	13	80	00	660	660	18 71	9 30	45	28 46
Killing Henry	in s mid pt of w ½ of se qr	32	34	13		20	110	110	3 11	1 55	45	5 11
Lock Thomas	s e ¼ of s e qr	12	34	13	40	00	870	870	10 48	5 21	45	16 14
Mason L. S.	in n e ¼ of s e qr	4	34	13		60	233	233	19 08	3 28	45	22 81
Patterson Wm.	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	8	00	36	36	1 52	50	45	2 47
Roby A. & P. A.	s w pt of n e qr	3	34	13		20	222	222	6 46	3 21	45	10 12
Randall Hiram E.	mid pt of s ½ of s e qr	23	34	13	17	75	156	156	11 08	1 91	45	13 39
Smith Isaiah	in s w cor of se qr	3	34	13		50	43	43	7 26	60	45	8 31
Smith John L.	in s e qr	4	34	13		50	87	87	14 91	1 22	45	16 58
Shaffer Jacob E.	pt of s e qr	4	34	13	2	00	178	178	4 44	2 50	45	7 39
Shirts Albert E.	in n w qr	4	34	13	2	00	81	81	7 45	2 64	45	10 54
Trout Geo. W.	in section	4	34	13		50					45
same	pt of s w qr	4	34	13	1	25	133	133	6 78	1 70	90	8 58
RICHLAND TOWNSHIP.
Dove Cornelia M.	n w ¼ of s w qr	23	34	12	40	00	160	160	3 40	2 25	45	5 10
Earl Robert J.	off w end of s ½ of n e qr	4	34	12		80	30	30	1 57	42	45	2 44
Farrington A. S.	in s e ¼ of n e qr	2	34	12	3	75	40	40	69	56	45	1 70
Hosler Caroline	n e pt of s w ¼ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	50	160	160	9 54	2 11	45	12 10
Hornburger Isaac	in w side of n e qr	4	34	12		58	140	140	2 45	1 97	45	4 87
Helmer John W.	in n ½ of n w qr	4	34	12		15	10	10	1 46	14	45	2 04
Hughes Elizabeth	off n end of e ½ of s e qr	22	34	12	60	00	286	286	9 19	4 03	45	13 67
Kryder and Earl	in n e cor of s ½ of n e qr	4	34	12	1	00	65	65	40 21	91	45	41 57
Miller Peter	pt of s e ¼ of n e qr	2	34	12	27	00	[illegible]	[illegible]	5 08	4 07	45	9 60
Mohler Dorothea M.	pt of n w qr	4	34	12		64	140	140	11 24	1 97	45	13 66
same	in s w cor of n e qr	4	34	12		75	140	140	5 77	1 97	45	8 19
Powell Levi E.	e ½ of e ½ of n w qr	27	34	12	40	00	702	702	7 68	12 39	45	20 52
Randall Milton	in w ½ of n w qr	1	34	12	1	00	55	55	2 05	77	45	3 27
Tompkins Alvira	in s e ½ of of n w qr	4	34	12		20	15	15	2 16	21	45	2 82
Wernts Jacob	s e ¼ of s w qr	13	34	12	40	00	170	170	7 74	2 39	45	10 58
FAIRFIELD TOWNSHIP,
Hanna Wm. W.	s w ¼ of n w qr	8	35	12	40	00	80	80	1 43	93	45	2 81
Bowser Samuel	s end of w ½ of s w qr	14	35	12	80	00	205	205	3 21	2 37	45	6 00
Hartman Leonard	in n pt of s w qr	36	35	12	30	50	38	33	68	44	45	1 58
Klaber Henry	n e cor of n w qr	22	35	12		20	55	55	4 81	63	45	5 87
Miller Josiah & Barbara	pt of s ½ of n w qr	5	35	12	75	40	1000	1000	18 19	11 60	45	30 24
Myers Eli	und 3-8 of n e ¼ of s w qr	22	35	12	26	80	290	290	5 25	3 36	45	9 06
Reynolds Jerome	n w cor of n e qr	22	35	12		25	275	275	10 65	4 22	45	14 75
Row Jacob G.	pt of n ½ of n e qr	35	35	12	70	00	730	730	13 24	9 40	45	23 25
Reinoehl Jacob	in n e qr	37	35	12	80	00	1300	1300	47 08	15 18	45	62 65
Reinoehl Wm. W.	e ½ of n e ¼ of n e qr	37	35	12	20	00	250	250	4 54	2 90	45	7 89
Row Isaiah	in s e cor of n e ½ of n e qr	28	35	12	10	00	65	65	2 30	75	45	3 50
Short A. W.	in w ½ of n e qr	22	35	12	75	00	2885	2885	52 11	33 22	45	85 78 same	n e ½ of n w qr	29	35	12	40	00	420	420	7 64	4 87	45	12 96
same	und 3-4 of e ½ of n w qr	29	35	12	60	00	500	500	9 09	5 80	45	15 34
same	n e pt of s e qr	22	35	12		25	105	105	3 08	1 21	45	4 74
Vian [illegible]	e ½ of n e qr	25	35	12	80	60	965	965	11 84	12 17	45	24 16
SMITHFIELD TOWNSHIP.
Besley Frederick	in s w cor of n w qr	8	35	13	8	00	1042	1042	11 80	15 17	45	27 42
Ellinwood Joseph	e w ½ of s w qr	30	35	13	40	00	582	582	12 97	8 06	45	23 48
Grambling Peter	s e ½ of s w qr	10	35	13	40	00	530	530	11 12	8 33	45	19 90
Hanna Samuel	s e ½ of s e qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
same	s e ½ of s w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
same	e ½ of n e qr	13	35	13	30	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
Hanna Hugh T.	s w ½ of n w qr	11	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
same	s w ½ of n e qr	12	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
same	s e ½ of n w qr	12	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
Hanna Eliza	s e qr	12	35	13	160	00	320	320	5 46	4 26	45	10 25
same	n ½ of n w qr	13	35	13	80	00	160	160	2 70	2 17	45	5 32
same	s e ½ of s e qr	14	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
same	s e ½ of n w qr	15	35	13	40	00	80	80	1 25	1 06	45	2 76
Mead Harlan P.	in n w cor of n w qr	25	35	13	55	30	974	974	4 05	15 24	45	19 74
FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.
Albright Margaret	mid pt of s e qr	31	35	14	36	00	516	516	7 95	7 37	45	15 77
Clark Edward	s e ½ of n e	18	35	14	47	00	744	744	12 86	11 40	45	22 82
Hanna Henry C.	w ½ of n w qr	7	35	14	66	82	160	160	2 09	2 25	45	5 59
Loutzenhiser Isaac	pt of w ½ of s w qr	5	35	14	80	60	258	258	6 67	3 06	45	10 18
Robinson John S.	pt of s w cor of s w ¼ of n e qr	23	35	14	2	86	189	189	6 40	5 16	45	12 01
Rohrabaugh Adam	e ½ of n w qr	31	35	14	80	00	1016	1016	14 91	14 32	45	29 68
same	s w ½ of s w qr	31	35	14	40	00	320	320	5 75	4 51	45	10 71
Sients John R.	s e cor of s w ½ of s e qr	1	35	14	6	24	90	90	2 62	2 76	45	5 83
TROY TOWNSHIP.
Zell John	n ½ of n w qr	9	35	15	39	47	267	267	4 60	2 96	45	8 10

Town Lots.

NAMES OF OWNERS	Number	Division	In-lots	Value of Lots and improvements.	Total val. of taxables	Am't of Delinquent tax penalty & int's.	Amount of Tax for the current year.	Cost of Advertising.	Total amount of taxes due.
NEW ERA.
Wyant John P.	2			110	110	1 93	1 16	45	3 54
ORANGEVILLE.
Andrew W. P. & J. A.	118			80	80	63	32	45	1 60
Andrews, Hamilton & Co	110
same	111
same	114
same	115
same	116
same	217			5080	5080	10 87	45 75	2 70	66 82
SPENCERVILLE.
Monroe Wm.	56 e ½	O. P.		56	56	1 01	84	45	2 30
same	54 s ½	O. P.		96	96	1 75	1 44	45	3 64
VIENNA.
Bartlett Silas H.	61			10	118	3 13	3 34	45	6 92
Bartlett Alvira A.	27			70	70	38	93	45	1 76
same	26			60	60	1 50	84	45	2 79
same	28			16	16	1 27	22	45	1 94
Miller John W.	52 n pt			90	140	2 33	2 10	45	4 88
Newville Hotel Co	60			415	415	8 94	5 85	45	15 24
same	61 s e ½ of			40	40	86	56	45	1 86
Rex Joseph	14			110	110	2 37	1 55	45	4 37
same	47 pt of			800	800	10 76	7 05	45	18 26
Thompson J. P.	51 n w ½			9	306	4 53	6 05	45	11 03
same	56			160	160	3 44	2 25	45	6 14
Yeagley A. J.	52 s pt of			106	106	9 43	1 49	45	11 37
same	57 s pt of			3	3	2 44	04	45	2 93
BUTLER.
Aldrich Jacob	84	E. A.		250	250	18 01	4 15	45	22 61
Arford Robert	81	E. A.		155	155	8 90	2 57	45	11 92
Boon J. H.	56 e pt of	E. A.		100	182	50 41	4 77	45	55 63
Blaker John	36	E. A.		100	418	7 63	9 68	45	17 76
Barnett J. S.	60	E. A.		220	1100	7 04	22 00	45	29 49
Boyer Daniel H.	9 n ½	D. A.		75	638	12 40	12 25	45	25 10
same	3	D. A.		450	450	12 78	7 47	45	20 70
Carpenter Geo. W.	149	E. 2d A.		400	525	20 44	8 71	45	29 60
Carr John, sen.	17	D. A.		30	30	84	49	45	1 78
same	16 s pt	D. A.		100	125	3 58	2 07	45	6 05
Carpenter Catharine A.	147	E 2d A		220	830	11 33	5 47	45	17 25
Champion John T.	78	E 2d A		90	164	6 11	4 47	45	11 03
Duel John L.	69	s w pt D A		200	200	19 83	3 32	45	23 60
Fisher Isaac	207	E. A.		115	159	3 03	4 38	45	7 86
Farrier Andrew	4 s pt	D. A.		230	239	6 51	3 81	45	10 77
Freburn John E.	50	D. A.		40	40	1 61	66	45	2 72
same	60	D. A.		205	205	6 80	3 40	45	10 65
Fanning F. W.	1	T. A.		519	519	13 03	12 02	45	25 50
Gordon M. R.	14 s pt	N. A.		220	236	6 23	3 73	45	10 41
Hall John	6	T. A.		180	380	13 02	6 57	45	20 04
Keefer Sarah J.	58	D. A.		140	555	4 94	9 21	45	14 60
Killmyer Chas	Out Lot			85	85	5 05	1 41	45	6 91
Kenen Michael	110	E. A.		30	30	7 69	49	45	8 63
Kniseley Ruhane	9	T. A.	4	260	260	7 36	4 31	45	12 12
Maxwell Geo. W.	57	E. A.		410	630	14 16	13 20	45	27 81
same	58	D. A.		40	40	1 68	66	45	2 79
McNall John	117	E. 2d A.		30	30	84	49	45	1 78
Madden John A.	30	D. A.		150	263	8 90	4 36	45	13 71
M. S. & N. I. R. R.	40	W pt	O. P.	30	30	45	49	45	1 39
same	127		O. P.	162	162	35	2 66	45	3 46
McIntyre Wm.	110 e ½	E. A.		20	20	3 11	33	45	3 89
same	120	E. A.		35	35	2 54	58	45	3 57
same	121	E. A.		115	212	7 29	5 26	45	13 00
Neel Nicholas	13 pt of n A.			70	70	1 97	1 16	45	3 58
Oberlin B.	61	D. A.		340	398	14 43	8 32	45	23 20
Oberlin Philip	74	E. A.		210	482	12 89	8 92	45	22 26
Plumley Alfred R.	1 mid pt	T. A.		65	105	1 83	4 48	45	6 76
Peck Carrie N.	180	E. 2d A.		75	75	2 11	1 24	45	3 80
Pillsbury Nehemiah	8	P. A.		22	64	2 74	3 31	45	6 50
Prosser Wm. S.	Out Lot			225	262	10 75	6 09	45	17 29
Plotner Samuel B.	41	D. A.		105	105	4 13	1 74	45	6 32
Shoaff Daniel W.	110	E. A.		135	135	3 90	2 24	45	6 59
Stephens Lyda A.	98	E. A.		85	110	2 40	1 82	45	4 67
Strew Menerva J.	14	D. A.		175	175	4 95	2 90	45	8 30
Snively J. R.	89	E. D.		100	240	14 15	5 88	45	20 48
Thomas Wm. H.	7	T. A.	4	100	100	8 30	1 66	45	10 41
Tagardner A. W.	8 mid pt	D. E.		200	200	13 55	2 32	45	16 32
Tomlinson W. W.	8 mid pt	T. A.	2	230	285	26 91	7 14	45	34 50
Weiss Charles	Out Lot			85	488	4 66	9 80	45	14 91
Wells W. S.	Out Lot			130	120	3 40	1 99	45	5 84
Wyckoff Peter Q	10 n pt	D. A.		875	875	20 12	9 23	45	29 80
AUBURN.
Beck Wm.	191	O. P		80	80	2 49	48	45	3 42
same	260	O. P		20	20	1 90	28	45	2 63
Buss Christian, heirs of	73	W A		150	150	2 65	3 11	45	6 21
same	74	W A		60	60	1 44	84	45	2 73
same	6	W A		400	400	7 88	5 69	45	14 02
Bum Margaret	12	E A		20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
same	14	E A		20	20	1 95	28	45	2 68
Hillis E. P.	208	O. P		10	10	1 66	14	45	2 25
Eckenburg John	160	O. P.		160	175	3 89	2 46	45	6 80
same	268	O. P.		25	25	60	35	45	1 40
Fair Christena	98 n ½	O. P.		840	988	5 83	13 14	45	19 42
same	140 n ½ 1f w ½	O. P.		70	70	1 69	98	45	3 12
Gestenslager Mary C.	38	N. A.		110	110	28	1 55	45	2 28
Lowry Wm. A.	46	O. P.		850	328	8 17	6 08	45	14 70
Long Michael	226	O. P.		10	10	1 63	14	45	2 22
Lung Noah	4	O. P.		30	30	71	42	45	1 58
Lauferty Samuel	17	E. A.		230	2385	48	35 42	45	36 35
Moore John	162	W A.		86	30	22 75	44	45	23 74
Park W.	190	O. P.		80	80	13 48	23	45	14 16
Showalter Jacob	6	K A.		80	80	1 38	1 92	45	3 75
Weaver David	45	W A.		80	80	2 54	42	45	3 41
Zern Abraham	120 00	O. P.		800	322	7 72	5 54	45	13 72
WATERLOO.
Anthony Mary	119	Hor 1st A.		250	330	10 23	3 90	45	14 58
same	155 n ½	Hor. 1st A.		55	55	2 48	1 32	45	4 25
Aldrich M. R.	73	O. P.		308	308	13 75	4 80	45	19 00
Bell & Emerson	216	Hor. A.		25	25	74 00	39	45	74 84
Blattner Adolphus W.	20 n 1-3	O. P.		1563	1563	83 64	24 69	45	108 78
Berry James L.	37 n ½	O. P.		275	202	3 06	6 30	45	9 81
Best James I.	56	L. A.		33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	55	L. A.		33	33	97	51	45	1 93
same	57	L. A.		583	583	16 00	8 31	45	24 76
Corbett Artemus	71	O. P.		320	320	14 60	4 99	45	20 04
Cassner Elijah S.	47	Hop. A.		33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Cole Sarah A.	37	J. P. & C. A.		41	41	5 15	63	45	6 23
Fisher John	24	Hop. A.		33	33	97	51	45	1 93
Hamil Mary	60	O. P.		300	427	10 99	6 66	45	18 10
Henning Jennie	230	Hor. 2d A.		24	24	1 09	37	45	1 91
Jarvis & Frothingham	25	O. P.		200	200	6 00	3 12	45	9 57
same	3	F. 2d A.		133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Kennedy Josiah	29	F 1st A.		175	175	5 25	2 73	45	8 43
Lockhart Mary B.	22	L 1st A.		250	250	10 51	5 46	45	16 42
Lountzenhiser E.	29	L 1st A.		233	259	9 74	5 79	45	15 98
Lock Thomas	6	Hop. A.		350	475	9 39	7 41	45	17 25
same	7	Hop. A		66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
same	15	Hop. A.		41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	16	pt of hop. a.		8	8	97	12	45	1 54
srme	26	Hop. A.		70	70	2 09	1 09	45	3 63
same	190	Hor. 2d A.		91	91	7 22	1 41	45	9 08
same	8	Hop. A.		50	50	1 40	78	45	2 30
Leavitt	14	Hop. A.		41	41	1 22	63	45	2 72
same	17	Hop. A.		41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
same	22	Hop. E.		41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
McClary Laura E	209	Hor. 1st A.		66	66	1 97	1 02	45	3 44
Miller Lydia A.	109	s pt Hor. 1st A		208	208	14 43	3 24	45	18 12
same	110	and ½ Hor. 1st A		286	286	9 60	4 14	45	14 19
McBride Emily L.	13	B. & M. A.		129	129	3 87	2 01	45	6 33
Moody Mary E.	248	Hor. 2d A.		50	50	13 00	78	45	14 23
Middleton Wm.	209	Hor. 2d A		50	50	1 49	78	45	2 72
Mason Elmira C.	9	E. & J. A.		320	320	9 61	4 99	45	15 05
Miller Oliver	198	Hor. 2d A.		108	103	6 41	1 60	45	8 46
Radcliff Mary E.	1	Haw. A.		41	41	1 22	63	45	2 30
Walker James I.	34 w ½	O. P.		133	133	3 98	2 07	45	6 50
Williamson Norris	216	Hor. 2d A.		53	53	6 90	81	45	7 96
Zwilling Henry	197	Hor. 2d A.		266	266	7 98	4 14	45	12 57
UNION TOWN.
Colegrove M. D.	11	O. P.		26	26	77	40	45	1 62
same	12	O. P.		114	114	3 42	1 77	45	5 64
Long R. R.	28	O. P.		31	31	92	48	45	1 85
Warsham George	10	O. P.		85	121	5 50	2 63	45	8 58
LAWRENCE.
Alleman Samuel M.	72	O. P.		240	474	4 17	8 18	45	12 80
Brandt Jane S.	55	O. P.		115	115	4 83	1 63	45	6 88
Green Lyman	56	O. P.		200	240	18 55	3 88	45	22 88
Miller Peter	28 w ½	J. A.		50	50	87	70	45	2 02
same	30	J. A.		290	381	8 09	5 37	45	13 91
same	29	J. A.		30	30	49	42	45	1 36
same	26	J. A.		30	30	51	42	45	1 38
Odell James	57	O. P.		115	220	2 83	3 16	45	6 25
CORUNNA.
Bartlett & Bartlett	Mill Lot			1600	1600	30 94	22 66	45	53 95
Boughman Henry A	3	Orrs A.		115	115	2 01	1 62	45	4 08
Beaty Samuel	3	"		30	30	3 19	42	45	4 06
Depew Joseph	1 s pt	Mc 1st A		200	200	11 28	2 83	45	14 56
Earnest Henry N.	57	O. P.		95	277	7 69	6 40	45	14 54
Earl Robert J.	1 pt of	Mc 1st A		15	15	2 33	21	45	2 99
Fisher Esther A.	4	O. P.		150	150	8 07	2 11	45	10 63
Harding & Smith	4	O. P.		85	85	60	49	45	1 54
Hockathorn H. L.	3 w pt	T. A.		215	215	4 78	3 03	45	8 26
Hammond, Brant & Co.	1	O. P.		810	810	50 70	11 42	45	62 57
same	3	O. P.		10	10	2 37	14	45	2 96
same	4	O. P.		10	10	2 18	14	45	2 77
same	5	O. P.		10	10	2 16	14	45	2 75
same	6	O. P.		10	10	2 12	14	45	2 71
same	7	C. P.		10	10	2 16	14	45	2 75
same	8	O. P.		10	10	77 62	14	45	78 21
same	76	Q. P.		75	75	13 90	1 05	45	15 40
Marsh Chauncey G.	1	O.rrs A		670	670	70 80	9 44	45	80 69
Masters Moses B.	4	Orrs A		155	155	2 73	2 18	45	5 36
Smith Geo. W. A	60	O. P.		115	115	2 61	1 68	45	4 74
Steward Maria	13	M 2d A		95	95	2 60	1 33	45	4 38
Shook Martin	2	M 3d A		75	75	15 18	1 05	45	16 68
Tarney Nathan	2	Top A		530	530	9 32	7 47	45	17 24
Waters Cyntha E.	4	Mc 2d A.		105	105	15 65	1 46	45	17 56
same	5	Mc 3d A.		25	25	15 77	35	45	16 57
Ward David	18	Melst A		125	125	2 19	1 78	45	4 42
Williams Lucy A	17	Mc 1st A		150	150	5 60	2 11	45	8 16

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County, } s.s

I, WILLIAM McINTYRE, Auditor in and for said county of DeKalb do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full and complete list of all the Lands and Town Lots in said county, returned delinquent for the tax of the year 1871 with the Delinquent tax, Penalty and Interest, and also the taxes of the current year, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given, that so much of the foregoing lands and town lots as may be necessary to discharge the taxes, interest penalty and charges due thereon, or due from the owner thereof at the time of sale, will be sold at public auction, at the Court House, in the town of Auburn, in said county, on the second Monday of February A. D. 1873 (the same being the tenth day of said month) unless such taxes, penalty interest and charges are previously paid. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock A. M. on said day.

Wm. McINTYRE, Auditor.

Auditor's Office, Auburn, Indiana, December 13th, 1872.

HATCH, HOLBROOK & CO.
DEALERS IN
Hardwood Lumber!
265 Archer Ave.,
CHIC'GO.
Ash, Oak, Hickory,
Blackwalnut, Butternut
Chery, Maple and
WHITE WOOD LUMBER.

We are now receiving shipments of Hardwood Lumber, and are ready to contract for delivery by rail at any time during this fall or winter.

We pay cash and the highest market rates for ☞Parties having any of the above for sale will find it to their advantage to write us before shipping elsewhere.

Nov. 21,—3m

WISHART
PINE TREE!
Tar Cordial,
NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY
FOR
Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE
The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,
GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,
—AND—
Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

L. Q. C. Wishart, M. D
No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.
PHILADELPHIA.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!
LIFE
Insurance Company,
OF
Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers inducements to [illegible] surance upon their lives, [illegible] contemplating In[illegible]stitution doing business in the [illegible] by no other In[illegible]ally a [illegible]ate. It is practi[illegible]

Home Company!
Inasmuch as the
ENTRE NET RECEIPTS
Of Indiana, are loaned within the limits of the State, thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. [illegible]LEDDERMAN
No 27, E[illegible] Main Street,
FORT WAYNE, IND
has the largest and finest stock of
CLOTHS,
Coatings, Cheviots, and
CASSIMERES!
IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of
Made up Clothing!
ever shown in Fort Wayne
Youths' and Children's Clothing!
Furnishing Goods, etc.
Merchant Tailoring
In all the late styles properly attended to. [illegible] se; a large [illegible] See

ORGANS.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the

ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN

a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county. Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.

Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.

For the present and until further notice organ at Gedorn's Gallery.

GEO. H. HOFFMAN.
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 22, 1872.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER
DOORS, BLINDS
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Ballusters and Brackets
North of Canal West of Gas House,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby
SHOEMAKER,
Auburn, Indiana.

Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swinefords hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public to all work in his line.—Call and see.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, January 30, 1873. No. 5.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year.......................$2 00
Six Months.......................1 00
Three Months.......................50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	20 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J LITTLEFIELD, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY
Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House! Auburn, Ind.

Br. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana. Office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I an giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma. Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL,
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. 124, 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, East Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent [illegible] Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Mestin, pro-

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 3-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. J. I. BEST. 3-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 3-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.

LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS.
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keyst eBlock,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of

BALTIMORE.
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificient day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, with out change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & SaginawR.R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	2 50
Indianapolis	6 20		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 26
Waterloo	10 33		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 58		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 19
Jonesville	8 25	1 20pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 23

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	2 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 25 p.m	9 45	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 a.m	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 38
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 08
Pleasant	8 38		5 58
Waterloo	8 18		5 37
Auburn	8 09		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & ChicagoR.R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A. M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P M	.28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crest- ar	9.20 "	4,28 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line ...lv	9,40 "	5,00 A M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,45 "	2,35 P. M	2,65 "	5,05 "
Chicago	7.50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,30 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC. E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A. M	9,20 A. M.	5,30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	8,56 "	12,30 A. M
Ft Wayne	12,20 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4.07 "	1,36 A. M.	6,16 "
Forest	4,00 "	5,06 "	2,27 "	6,28 "
Crest- ar	5,25 "	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	7 30 A M	6,50 "	4.15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,19 "	4,43 "	8,55 "
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,06 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	6,25 "	1,10 P. M
Rochester	6,57 "	1.12 A M.	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	6,10 "	2,20 "	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,
AND DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS
RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 60p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 25	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 30	11 33	4 21
Angola	11 20	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 46	1 28	5 15
Waterloo	11 50	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 12a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 60 a.m
Denver	12 30 p.m	9 25
Auburn	4,15	12 33 p.m	12 15 p.m
Waterloo	4 42	12 50	5 30
Summit	4 45	1 08	6 13
Angola	5 46	1 45	6 40
Bankers	7 08	2 52	7 70
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	5 00 a.m
Detroit	11 30	7 00	10 30

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.
Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a. m.	2:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:30 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Coranna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Coranna	2:40 a. m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

FortWayne, Muncie & Cin.R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	5 35 p m
Muncie	12 56 p m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 36
Bluffton	3 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve	12 30 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	5 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WHORTHINGTON, Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

ogether with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patronage of the public romising to use myhest endeavors to give gener satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.

PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!

AND

EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE

EAGLE MILLS.

UBUR, IN A.

Having effected new arrangements for the accommotion of the public, we are now prepared to modaet all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK!

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand
ON MAN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,

FOR CASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,
Becker & Bond,
ACHITETS
BUILDING
CONTRACTORS,
AND DEALERS IN Building Stone
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
GRANITE,
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,
Corner Main and Fulten Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF
HardwareE,
NAILS, GLASS & PUTTY.
QUEENSWARE!
Willow-ware, Glass-ware,
Choice Groceries & Provisions!
—AT—
MARTIN & SONS,
Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

EQUAL AND JUST REPRESENTATION

THE BEAUTIFUL SNOW.

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow
Filling the sky and the earth below;
Over the house-tops, over the streets,
Over the heads of the people you meet.
Dancing,
Flirting,
Skimming along;
Beautiful snow! it can do nothing wrong;
Flying to kiss a lady's cheek,
Clinging to lips in a frolicsome freak,
Beautiful snow from the heaven above,
Pure as an angel, gentle as love!

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
How the flakes gather and laugh as they go!
Whirling about in their maddening fun:
It plays in its glee with every one—
Chasing,
Laughing,
Hurrying by:
It lights on the face and sparkles the eye,
And the dogs with a bark and a bound,
Snap at the crystals that eddy around—
The town is alive and the heart is aglow
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow!

How wildly the crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song!
How the gay sledges like meteors flash by,
Bright for the moment then lost to the eye—
Ringing,
Swinging,
Dancing they go,
Over the crust of the beautiful snow!
Snow so pure when it falls from the sky,
To be trampled in mud by crowds rushing by!
To be trampled and traced by thousands of feet
Till it blends with the filth in the street.

Once I was pure as the beautiful snow—but fel
Fell like the snow-flakes, from heaven to hell
Fell to be trampled as filth in the street,
Fell to be scoffed at to be spit on and beat,
Pleading,
Cursing,
Dreading to die;
Selling my soul to whoever would buy;
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread,
Hating the living and fearing the dead,
Merciful God! have I fallen so low?
And yet I was once like the beautiful snow!

Once I was fair as the beautiful snow,
With an eye like its crystal, heart like its glow,
Once I was loved for my innocent grace—
Flattered and sought for the charms of my face
Father,
Mother,
Sister, all,
God and myself, I have lost by my fall!
The vilest wretch that goes shivering by
Will make a wide swoop less I wand'r too nigh
For all that is on or about me, I know
There is nothing so pure as the beautiful snow.

How strange it is that the beautiful snow
Shou'd fall on a sinner, with nowhere to go!
Strange it would be when night comes again,
The snow and the ice strike my desperate brain
Fainting,
Freezing,
Dying alone,
Too wicked for prayer, too weak for my moan
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town;
To lie there and die in my terrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow

INDIANA SCHOOLS.

The Status of the Schools—Exhibit of Superintendent Hopkins.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,
January 14, 1873.

To the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

In advance of my regular biennial report, permit me to place in your possession the following facts taken from the files of this office:

The amount of school revenue arising from State tax for the year 1872	$1,970,301 69
Interest on Common School Fund held in trust by the counties	100,840 10
Interest on State Bonds	223,740, 96
Interest on Congressional Township Fund	146,980 21
Revenue from liquor licenses	108,280 00
Revenue from uncleaned fees	500 00
Revenue from local tuition tax	411,978 64
Total	$2,122,621 99

This entire sum has been expended for tution in our common schools during the pas year, and has increased the average length of the terms to 5.8 months. Many of our schools continue their sessions eight or nine months; quite a number of them four, five, or six months; a few of them have not progressed beyond three months. An increase in the average duration of these terms is the one thing need ful.

How shall this be done?

I greatly disire that this question should arrest the attention of the representatives of the people, for all other questions connected with our common schools are insignificant, in point of importance, compared with this.

This object, to a certain degree, can be accomplished by any one of the following means, or by all combined.

First.—By a fair and equitable valuation of property. It is thought that the school revenue of the State will be augmented considerably by the act just past at the extra session: 'Providing for a uniform assessment of property,' etc.

Second—by requiring the Trustees to levy a local tuition tax, which, combined with their ordinary revenues, will increase the school terms to six months.

Third—By an increase in the rate of the State tax. It costs the State $41,430. 50 per day to educate her children. An additional tax of one cent on each one hundred dollars worth of property to the sixteen cents already authorized by law would increase the average school term three days; two cents, six days, and in the same ratio four cents [making the State tax twenty cents] would prolong our schools twelve days. May I not appeal to the Representatives of the wealthier counties to give another demonstration of their liberality, generosity and patriotism, by increasing this tax to twenty cents on each one hundred dollars?—This being done the Legislature can with great propriety demand self-aid of all school corporations. Climate, in some measure, regulates the length of the school term In Canada they are continued nearly the entire year, in our State nine months may be placed as the maximum time, and six months as the minimum · the average should be from seven and a half to eight months. It is now in the power of the General Assembly to place our schools upon a useful footing, never before attained by them. They have advanced in the quality of their work—why not in the quantity? Every day added to the length of our school term adds not only to the aggregate amount of intellectual and mental capital of the country, but also to its material wealth. Wealth is subjective rather than objective; more in the man than in the object.

MILTON B. HOPKINS,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Some Washington Mysteries.

"Gath" has been poking his inquisitive nose into some of the impenetralia of Congress, and enlightens the world on a few points of interest. One of the curiosities of the Capitol is the Document-Room, where printed copies of bills are sent for distribution amongst the members, and where letters from the Executive end of the Capitol, and the Departments—and often memorals from States, cities, and corporations—are placed, fresh from the printing office. Of each document 265 copies are printed, and of each bill 340 copies, for the use of the House alone.—There are 6,000 to 8,000 bills per Congress in one day and nearly 1,000 documents. The House and Senate together have had, during the present Congress about 400 miscellaneous documents and about 300 reports. These figures show a vast printing business connected merely for the sake of simplifying the parliamentary routine and of preserving the suggestions of Congress in a durable form.—Many members introduce bil's for no other purpose than to remind their constituents that they are doing something. During the past week about 125 different bills and documents per diem came into the House Document Room; this would imply about 75,000 copies. To do all this work, as well as to recover, [illegible] past Congresses any documents needed by an inquisitive member, only [illegible] are employed. They are subordinate to the doorkeeper of the House, Mr. Buxton who comes from Wyoming county, N Y.; he is a modest and industrious official, who has been in Washington, filling this place since the rise of the Republican party — The Superintendent of Documents for the House is S. E. Duffield, of Pennsylvania.

Here is something omitted in all the histories of the rebellion. Amongst the terrible consequences was the loss of the Patent Office Report by the rebellions people, and such other sweet delusive compositions. They got at one room, in which it was believed about 3,000 Agricultural Reports were stowed away.

"And would you believe it? said Mr. Buxton. so deceptive was that little alcove, that we got 10,000 Agriculturals out of there."

What is the greatest number of copies of any one book printed, Mr. Buxton?

Well, sir, the Agriculturals. About 670 copies of them go to each member.—That seems very big, don't it? But, bless you, they don't make a show in some districts. In some of the agricultural districts of Texas, for example, there are 23 counties. What can a Representative accomplish in such districts with 670 copies? There have been as high as 750 copies of some books struck off:

How many departments come under your charge, Mr. Buxton?

Well, sir, I appoint the pages, the doorkeepers, the clerks of the Document room and the hands in the Folding room.

Your's must be the best position here, is it not so?

Oh, no! I think the best office is Sergeant-at-Arms of the House. He has the appointing of more than half the police, and the amount of money which passes through his hands to pay witnesses, members, etc., makes the place quite lucrative There was some excitement about the amount of his fees during the last Congress. Instead of giving him ten cents a as formerly, he was restricted to the necessary expenses. In my judgement the chance was in the interest of the Sergeant-at-Arms; for, in the South, ten cents a mile will not pay a messengers expenses, whereas now the Sergeant-at-Arms can make a contract with a man to go to New Orleans or Texas, and that must be settled for under the defition of expences. There is scarcely one of these utility departments under the Government which does not merit curious inquiry and yield instrution. Very often a document which has been exhausted, and the type distributed, must by entirely reset to serve some subsequent purpose.—The Commissioner of the late census found himself under the necessity of using about two hundred printed copies of the census of 1870. He applied to Mr. Buxton for them, and said it was absolutely necessary that they should be had.—The chief doorkeeper found that he was keeping for dead and departed members a sufficient excess of all the volumes of the Census to give the Commissioner 250 full sets. At the same time, so jealous are Congressmen of their property in public documents that frequently, when there thousands of books lying in the vaults not a single copy can be spared to satisfy a new member, all being accredited to members of former Congresses, who have left these books on free storage and design to recover them. Mr. Elihu Washburne, for example, has forty boxes of the more valuable class of public documents now under the Capitol. They are safe from fire, and they cost nothing to take care of them in this vast depository.

A member often comes to me who wants some book, said Mr. Buxton, and I tell him none are to be had of that kind, and then he goes down into the vaults and see thousands of the same books lying around, and thinks me very disobliging. I am merely keeping the quotum for absent people.

Mr. Buxton, I observe that each member of Congress has a box with his name upon it. Do those boxes go as mail-matter?

No, sir; those boxes have to go as express matter, and be paid for; but, a majority of the members of Congress have express passes presented to them, which cover everything in the Lord's name which they choose to send home. A Congressman is dead-headed on telegraph wires, freight cars, and in passenger cars. He very seldom pays gas bills or taxes.—Those boxes are cure and more easily handied than a trunk. Each member has three boxes. As they are strongly made and provided with a powerful lock, they cost about five dollars apiece. Two of these boxes are designed to carry documents, and the third is intended to transport flower-pots, plants, etc., from the Congress Public Garden.

By this time I found the subject so interesting that I was in danger of worrying my informant, and we concluded the interview with an expression of opinion that a Congressman was as heterogeneously and as wonderfully made up as a female in full dress; he is a flower-pot, a library, a dear-head, three trunks, a store house, and the franking privilege. When he gives up his official entity, and merges into private citizenship there can be no more left of him than of the most meagre bride when the time comes to disperse with her trousseau.

The woman Lydia Sherman, who was recently tried and convicted in Connecticut for the poisoning of a husband, was sentenced to imprisonment for life last Saturday. Since her trial she has made a full confession to her jailer, that she at various times poisoned two husbands and several children. It is hard to believe that even the most ignorant or depraved human wretch could be capable of the crimes to which this ignorant and depraved woman confesses.

And new it turns out that the pious Senator Harlan from the royal State of Iowa, got $10,000 from the managers of the Credit Mobilier, to aid in his election to the Senate. Durant was the Treasurer, and Durant ought to know. And then Harlan is one of the great big bull dogs of the Radical ring, and then the funny part in the whole arrangement is that the Credit Mobiler which is only another name for the Union Pacific Railroad Company, did not expect to make anything by paying Harlan's election expenses. Railroad corporations are such clever associations, they lay their money freely, without hope of reward. Yes, like the old woman kept tavern.

A man in Kansas, whose front name is John, tried a new experiment for cleaning the soot out of stove pipes the other day. He wrapped a lot of powder—some pounds more or less—in a paper, and put it in the stove, and, in order to compel it to go up the pipe, shut the door, and placed his foot against it, heroically awaiting the result, like a mule with a howitzer strapped on his back. In due time it went off, and so did John. It was an even race to the door but outside the powder was ahead. Whether it was disgusted at the vile uses to which it was put, or whether the soot was too compact to be moved, is not known. At any rate, as a cleansing method, John thinks it is a failure, but, as a private earthquake, where the excited population go up in a balloon, as it were, and come down more or less mangled, is free to maintain that is a decided success.

Gov. Richmond J. Oglesby, has been elected to the United States Senate by the Illinois Legislature, to succeed Lyman Trumbull, and Frank Blair failed to be returned from Missouri, Col. Bogy having been elected. The St. Louis Republican says of him:

Col. B. is not a great man, not a brilliant man, not a profound statesman, not a dazzling orator; but he will, we think, be a safe man in everything relating to Missouri's interest.

AUBURN COURIER.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

ABRAHAM E. LYNCH, of Pittsburgh, is to hang for the murder of William Hatfield....There has been a great freshet on the Hudson, Mohawk, Susquehanna, Alleghany, and other streams in the East. Many bridges were swept away, causing much damage to railroads, and seriously interrupting travel....Senator Sherman's specie resumption proposition is the subject of widespread interest and discussion among New York bankers and merchants, whose opinions are widely at variance on the feasibility of the plan....The daily illustrated newspaper which has been contemplated in New York it is now stated will be published by Goodsell Bros., late of Chicago. It will be an evening paper, with two editions, called the Graphic. In size it is to be smaller than the Sun, but it is to have eight pages, with illustrations in four. The process of illustration will be by photography....W. H. Bumstead, the Boss Tweed of Jersey City, has been pardoned out of the penitentiary.

THE trial of Boss Tweed, at New York, is dragging its slow length along....The latest New York murder was committed by a printer—Marshall McGruder—who burst open the door of a fellow-compositor named Clarence Lockwood, and proceeded to empty the contents of a revolver into the body of the defenseless typo. The murderer was arrested. A woman was connected with the tragedy....Boston is suffering terribly from small-pox, 3,000 cases being reported last week.

THE report of the existence of a new horse epidemic in New York is a canard....Foster, the car-hook murderer, has failed to obtain a new trial, and will be hung.

THE nailers and feeders in the Pittsburgh nail mills are on a general strike....The Samana Bay Company held a meeting at New York, the other day, and ratified the contract made with the San Domingo Government. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: A. B. Stockwell, President; Paul N. Spofford, Vice-President; Henry Clews, Treasurer; R. R. Hazard, Secretary. The company intend purchasing or building three steamers besides the Tybee, which will run regularly between New York and Samana Bay, establishing weekly communication....Sanderson, a lawyer, has sued the Brooklyn Union for $50,000 worth of libel....A New York dispatch of the 22d says: It was a painful scene when the sisters, Mrs. Woodhull and Tennie C. Claflin, and Col. Blood were for the fourth or fifth time taken to court to-day to plead to the indictment for the same libel, this time for a repetition of it. Strong-minded women and weak-minded men were conspicuous by their absence, and the prisoners, already under heavy bail, could not furnish new bail, and were let out on parole.

THE Hon. Wm. Cassidy, editor of the Albany Evening Argus, and one of the famous Albany Regency, is dead....The Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention has decided that the State elections shall be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday in November, and city and township elections on the third Tuesday in February.

The West.

The employes of the Southern Minnesota railroad have seized the road for non-payment of back pay.

MCNULTY, the Chillicothe, Ill., wife-murderer, is to be hung....The thermometer at Sparta, Wis., on the 18th of January, marked 45 degrees below zero.

AN air-line railroad is projected between Milwaukee and St. Louis....Advices from California state that a severe battle has been fought between the troops under command of Gen. Wheaton and the Modoc Indians. The troops fought the unseen foe from 8 a. m. to dark, under a terrific fire, during which scarcely one Indian was seen. The loss to the troops was 40 killed and wounded. The loss to the Modocs is unknown. The troops were finally obliged to retreat to their camps....J. K. Graves, President of the Iowa Pacific and two other railroads, has succeeded in obtaining the necessary funds to pay off the companies' indebtedness incurred in the construction during the fall, and to commence operations in the spring, when it is the intention at once to build the road from Dubuque to Fort Dodge. ....A nephew of George Francis Train has been sentenced, at Council Bluffs, to thirty days' imprisonment for swindling a rural gentleman out of $40 at three card monte.

TWO LADIES—Mrs. Rosa Duance and Miss Ida Majors—were suffocated by coal gas, at a Cleveland boarding-house, last week....A man named Kidder was recently killed near Epworth, Iowa, by the falling of a tree....Uriah Howa, one of the first settlers of Manistee, Mich., was recently frozen to death....Later intelligence from the scene of battle with the Modoc Indians, in California, states that 14 whites were killed and 23 wounded. The troops were obliged to leave their dead on the field.

THE well-known druggist, P. C. Samson, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Dubuque, Iowa, died recently, after a lingering illness, of consumption....John Crowder, one of the pioneers of Dubuque county, Iowa, was found dead in a field near his home, where he had gone to cut wood. He died from old age.

SIX persons were drowned at Evansville, Ind., recently, while attempting to cross the Ohio river in a skiff....Hammond, the revivalist, is converting the Bloomington (Ill.) sinners....The Grand Army of the Republic meeting, at Dayton, last week, was slimly attended....A disease similar to the late epizootic afflicts the Detroit horses.

The South.

S. W. DORSEY, Republican, has been elected United States Senator by the Arkansas Legislature, in place of Senator Rice, whose term expires on the 4th of March. This result was brought about by the action of the Democrats, nineteen of whom voted for Dorsey on the final ballot....St. Louis is preparing for a grand Industrial Exposition....The erection of the new St. Louis Merchants' Exchange will be commenced shortly.

J. J. MOULTON, Postmaster at Mobile, is a defaulter to the amount of $30,000....At Little Rock, Ark., the other day, Henry Smith killed Jackson Pike, at a negro dance-house, by stabbing him with a bowie-knife. On the same day Enoch Jackson was knocked on the head with a dray-pin and killed by his wife. All were colored.

GEN. GORDON has been elected United States Senator from Georgia. The vote stood: Gordon, 112; Alexander H. Stephens, 86; ex-Attorney-General Akerman, 14....Alexander H. Stephens has been nominated to Congress in Georgia, and accepted. The Governor will order the election soon.

Washington.

A WASHINGTON dispatch states that Congressmen consider the Samana Bay scheme impracticable, and the Haytien Minister thinks the American purchasers will find that they have made a bad speculation, being fit for nothing but a naval station....The House Committee on Patents have decided adversely to the revival of the Meller straw paper patent. ....The bill for the prepayment of all printed matter and the reduction of letter postage to two cents will in all probability be passed by Congress. The Postoffice Committee unanimously favor it, and the Postmaster-General also urges its passage....The House Committee on Elections has decided unanimously that Mr. Black, Democrat, is entitled to the seat from Florida, and that Walls (colored), who has thus far held the seat and drawn pay during nearly the whole Congress, must leave it.

THE House Post-office Committee has unanimously resolved that [illegible] Creswell's [illegible] McKinery, and a number of [illegible] have been summoned to Washington to give their testimony on the election muddle in that State.

IT is said the President will shortly issue a [illegible] of additional Ku-Klux pardons.

THE House Banking and Currency Committee have decided to report a bill relieving national banks from the operations of the local usury laws....The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that imitation wines of home manufacture are exempt from taxation.

THE Senate has voted, two to one, to abolish the franking privilege after July 1. The following is the vote: Yeas—Alcorn, Anthony, Boreman, Casserly, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Cragin, Ferry (Ct.), Ferry (Mich.), Flanagan, Hamlin, Harlan, Hitchcock, Howe, Johnson, Kelly, Lewis, Pratt, Ramsey, Sawyer, Schurz, Scott, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Stockton, Thurman, West, Wilson, Windom, and Wright—33. Nays—Ames, Bayard, Buckingham, Carpenter, Corbett, Edmunds, Frelinghuysen, Gilbert, Hill, Machen, Norwood, Pool, Robertson, Spencer, Stevenson, and Tipton—16.....The Sloop bill has passed the Senate, with an amendment raising the number of vessels to ten, as it stood originally....Colorado, through her delegate, is still vigorously knocking at the doors of Congress for admission to the Union. ....The President has signed the bill incorporating the Loomis Aerial Telegraph Company.

THE Senate has refused to increase the salary of Congressmen to $8,000 a year....Secretary Boutwell has sold the remaining $300,000,000 of the 5 per cent. bonds to a Syndicate of American and foreign bankers on substantially the same terms as to the preceding Syndicate....The House of Representatives has directed the Poland Credit Mobilier Committee to inquire what members of Congress have been interested in the Dubuque and Sioux City railroad, and in the Central Pacific railroad, each of which received subsidies from the Government....It is rumored that Vice-President Colfax will bring suit against Oakes Ames for perjury....The House Committee on Appropriations has agreed to allow nearly $2,000,000 for the continuation of the Court House and Postoffice work in New York, $2,000,000 for that at Chicago, and $1,000,000 for that at St. Louis....Secretary Delano has arrived at the capital, much improved in health.

Foreign.

THE Committee of Thirty of the French Assembly have agreed to the preamble of the constitutional project reported by its sub-committee, which declares that the Assembly integrally reserves to itself constituent power. The adoption of the preamble is regarded as a victory for the Right, as the question of a monarchy or a republic is left untouched....Prince Napoleon has left London for Switzerland. He has authorized the statement that he will take no part in political manifestations. He says he desires only to gain his lawsuit against the Government of France for his expulsion from that country; that he has no pretensions to the throne, and does not favor the Regency; and that he submits to the Government which France now has.

SAMUEL R. GRAVES, member of Parliament for Liverpool, is dead....The Turkish Government has sued the London Times for libel in publishing an article containing untrue statements with reference to Turkish finances.... Right Hon. Edward Bulwer Lytton, the well-known English author, died in London, on Jan. 18, aged 67.

MESSRS. ONSLOW and Whaley, members of the British Parliament, have been fined £100 each for publicly accusing Sir John Duke Coleridge of conspiring to deprive the Tichborne claimant of his rights....Baptiste Wriothesley Noel, the well-known English theologian, is dead.

IT is said the English people are almost unanimous for Cuban independence....The World's Exhibition at Vienna will open in May. The American Commission is very active in securing space and providing accommodations for exhibitors from the United States....It is believed that the union of the Legitimists and Orleanists in Franse is thorough and complete. ....Three more Communists have just been butchered on the bloody plain of Satory.... The court-martial sitting at Algiers has condemned to death eight of the perpetrators of the Palestro massacre, and sentenced thirty-seven others to various terms of imprisonment.

THE small-pox is raging with unprecedented violence in Chili....The last words of Decamp, the Communist executed at Satory the other day, were: "I die assassinated. Down with false witnesses, lawyers, and Thiers!" Beust died cheering "the Republic, the Commune, and the army." Feronilly died without uttering a word. Only one volley was fired, as all died instantly. In the cases of ten other Communists, who were to have been executed about the same time, the President has commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life. ....A report comes from London that a conference has been held at Chiselhurst, at which it was decided that the Empress Eugenie and Prince Napoleon should be the political guardians of the Prince Imperial, and therefore direct the movements of the party. It is said that no manifesto announcing the intentions of the Bonapartists will be issued. The Prince Imperial will not be called Napoleon IV., but be known as Count Pierrefonds. He has adopted as his motto: "Strength, but not impatience."

THE cable brings news of a terrible marine disaster in the English Channel. The emigrant ship Northfleet, from London for Australia, with 412 passengers, exclusive of her crew, collided with an unknown steamer, and was cut to the water's edge. When the collision happened a panic occurred on the Northfleet. The passengers, who were asleep, rushed from their berths to every portion of the ship where they thought they might be safe, and utterly refused to obey the orders of the captain. That officer, as a last resort to enforce obedience to his commands, was compelled to fire upon the terror-stricken people. One of them was wounded. It is believed that if the passengers had obeyed the orders of the captain, more of them would have been saved. The Northfleet was lying at anchor at the time the collision occurred. The cargo consisted of railway iron. Three hundred and twenty-one persons were drowned, including the captain of the ill-fated vessel. Only 97 persons are known to have been saved. It is believed that every other person who was on board has found a watery grave. No attention was paid by the steamship to the emigrant vessel after the collision, and she proceeded on her course, leaving the sufferers to their fate. The English Government has ordered a preliminary investigation into the disaster....The Spanish Court goes into mourning nine days for the death of Napoleon....The French Assembly has passed a bill prescribing severe penalties for drunkenness....More arrests of Internationals have been made in France....A large public meeting was recently held in Birmingham, England, to protest against the African slave trade. Resolutions were adopted urging her Majesty's Government to support the American Government in the demand it makes on Spain for the abolition of slavery in the Antilles....A great anti-slavery meeting was lately held in the Royal Theater, Madrid, under the auspices of the Abolition Society. The theater was crowded from floor to dome. Brilliant speeches were made, and the enthusiasm was intense....The committee of the Spanish Cortes on the abolition of slavery in Porto Rico estimate that the indemnity to be paid by the State to slave-owners in that island will amount to 140,000,000 reals.

General.

THE 17th of January was a good time for railroad accidents, no less than seven trains, on as many different roads, having been wrecked on that day, resulting in injury to forty-five persons. Fortunately these injuries were, with few exceptions, of a slight nature, and more of them may prove fatal.

THE Directors of the Toledo, Wabash and Western railway have authorized the issue of $5,000,000 worth of mortgage bonds, to run 30 [illegible] per cent. gold interest, and [illegible] ....It is reported that another expedition of the friends of the Cuban revolutionists, with arms and ammunition, successfully landed on the island....A cargo of 700 coolies arrived at Havana recently, and were disposed of at $600 per head.

THE National Prison Reform Association convened at Baltimore on the 20th of January. Horatio Seymour presided....United States Senators have been elected as follows: Illinois, Richard J. Oglesby; New York, Roscoe Conkling (re-elected); Wisconsin, Timothy O. Howe (re-elected); Pennsylvania, Simon Cameron (re-elected)....It is said hundreds of adventurers are anxious to emigrate to Samana Bay, but the company will not forward them until a colonizing system is perfected.

SCORES of petitions, signed by thousands of names, are pouring into the Ontario Legislature, asking for a prohibitory liquor law.

THE Greeley National Statue Committee report that $15,000 have been subscribed for the statue to Mr. Greeley's memory. They need $40,000, and will take no action until that sum is raised. Contributions of any amount are solicited....The English steamship Himalaya has not been heard from. She left England for Halifax on the 2d of January, and had on board about 300 soldiers of various English regiments.

Fires.

JAN. 19.—Gloversville, N. Y. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $30,000....Toledo, O. Loss, $30,000....Parker's Landing, Pa. Fifty buildings destroyed; loss, $75,000 to $100,000....Morning Sun, Iowa. Loss, $1,500.

JAN. 20.—At Ottumwa, Iowa; property to the value of $150,000 was destroyed....Montreal, Canada; loss, $35,000; insurance, $20,000.

JAN. 21.—Cobb's warehouse in Dey street, New York; loss, $100,000.

JAN. 22.—At Helena, Ark.; loss, $9,000.... Toledo, O.; loss, $5,000.

JAN. 23.—On Canal street, New York; loss, $25,000. At Devall's Bluff, Ark.; a large number of buildings destroyed; heavy loss.

The Credit Mobilier.

A Washington dispatch of the 17th says: The Wilson committe on the Credit Mobilier had a decidedly sensational session to-day. Mr. Durant was asked in regard to the large sums allowed him by the Union Pacific for expenses in Washington in 1864, and the committee, after some examination, obtained the statement that these accounts in gross, extending from August, 1864, to May, 1866, amounted to $435,000. As to their character, Mr. Durant testified that they were known as "preliminary expenses" that were to compromise claims of other roads, "and for other other purposes," including services of attorneys; that he brought one attorney with him from New York, and upon introduction to J. B. Stewart and Alexander Hay here, he employed them as attorneys, though he had no previous acquaintance; that he put into the hands of Stewart about $200,000 and into the hands of Hay about $100,000, and that he took no vouchers for what was received by them from the third parties they dealt with. This caused a great sensation, since both Stewart and Hay have long been noted lobbyists here. All these accounts were allowed by one Board of Directors of the road. They were suspended by a succeeding Board, and thus their character developed. The committee instructed Durant to produce all the vouchers of any kind taken by him in this transaction. He was also directed to produce the checks he gave Mr. Harlan in 1865. The testimony also developed the fact that Oakes Ames' contract covered 247 miles of road already completed, and that the Ames contract for the construction of this section was greater than the original cost of building it. This gave about $3,000,000 profit to divide among the stockholders of the Credit Mobilier the moment the contract was signed.

The evidence before the Credit Mobilier investigation on the 18th was in the main corroborative of what has gone before. Ex-Congressman Boyer, of Pennsylvania, appeared, and admitted that he had received 100 shares of the stock, for which he had paid, and saw no harm in the transaction, never having been called to vote on the railroad. Ex-Congressman James F. Wilson, of Iowa, made a statement that he was offered and refused the stock, but afterward bought some for investment. Ames' book-keeper swore that Ames had a list of Congressmen to whom he sold stock in a book.

The testimony taken before the Credit Mobilier investigation on the 20th was rather cumulative than new. Mr. Dillon, the President of the Credit Mobilier, testified that Oakes Ames had said that he was under obligations to members of Congress, but he could not remember that Ames had mentioned any names to him, and was not positive as to the extent of these obligations. He testified that Brooks came to him one day, and told him that he had received 100 shares of stock from Durant, and under the rule authorizing the increase he was entitled to the 50 shares additional. He promised to consult the directors, did so, and they agreed to let him have them. Brooks then said he had transferred his interest in the shares to Neilson, who came to get the shares. At the same time he borrowed from Dillon $5,000 to pay for the stock. Mr. Durant paid for the stock transferred to him by the company. He declared that Brooks had nothing to do with the loan made to Neilson, and to the best of his recollection the latter paid par and interest for his stock. He could not recollect whether Brooks' name had been erased from the books and Neilson's inserted or not. The investigation in the second committee is about to turn on the deposition made by J. B. Stewart, of the immense sums paid him to influence legislation on the Pacific railroads.

Senator Patterson, of New Hampshire, voluntarily appeared before the committee again, on the 21st, and insisted that what he had heretofore stated was correct, which was that he gave Ames money for investment in Union Pacific railroad stock and bonds, and was not aware that the latter had applied it to the purchase of Credit Mobilier stock. In proof of this he said that Ames had written him two letters last fall, relieving him of the charge made in the Senatorial campaign in New Hampshire that he (Patterson) had owned this stock, which letters were produced and read by the latter. Oakes Ames looked up with considerable astonishment, and at his request was at once placed on the stand. He said it was true that he had written these letters, but had been so importuned to save Patterson that he could not well get rid of writing them; that while they were true on their face, that Patterson's name did not appear on the books as an owner of the Mobilier stock, they were not true in spirit, as Ames had bought and carried the stock with Patterson's money, and he paid Patterton dividends on the same. It is understood that Ames has found his memorandum book and his memory, and is prepared now to overturn most of the evidence which Congressmen have given in their own behalf. Startling revelations are promised. Congressman James Brooks, of New York, made a statement in his own behalf, which created a favorable impression upon the committee. He showed that his interest was acquired when he was not a member of Congress, and before he became a Government Director, and that, when appointed Director, he transferred his stock to his son-in-law, rather than sell it and incur a suspicion of profit. He knew nothing of the dividends.

Ames' testimony on the 22d, fortified as it was by transcripts from his books, created more sensation than any incident of Congressional investigation for many years. It left Mr. Colfax in the same position as Senator Patterson, except that there was no final settlement. Both Garfield and Kelley took the shares, and Ames carried them, and let the dividends pay for the investment. Both received first dividends in bonds, which Ames sold, and applied on their purchase, and both received the balance due from the second cash dividend, $329, in a check on the Sergeant-at-Arms. He never had any talk with either about the transaction being one of borrowed money until since the investigation began. Garfield called on him and requested him to consider it as borrowed. Ames testified that he deposited $10,000 with the Sergeant-at-Arms, which he had drawn as dividends on the stock he was carrying for the various gentlemen interested, and that he paid them by such checks as have already been described, and the books of the Sergeant-at-Arms would show they had been paid and charged to him. He testified that the evidence of Speaker Blaine, Senator Wilson, Representatives Dawes, Scofield, and Bingham agreed with his books and his recollections. The evidence of James F. Wilson was also entirely correct. His evidence and that of Mr. Allison agreed, except on one point. Mr. Ames did not remember that Mr. Allison had included the amount of his cash dividend on the stock he had sent Mr. Ames in settlement of other business transactions. In other respects their statements agreed, and also corresponded substantially with a telegram sent by Mr. Allison to the committee before he had had an opportunity to examine any memoranda in the matter. He returned his stock and cash dividend to Mr. Ames last March, and settled the whole affair with him on Feb. 8, following. As to Mr. Boutwell, Ames understood that he agreed to take ten shares of stock, but afterward declined it.

Oliver Ames, once President of the Union Pacific railroad, and brother of Oakes, was before the committee on the 23d, and confessed that that portion of the road which the company contracted with Oakes Ames to build included 138 miles which had already been built, and for which the Government had already paid; that the Credit Mobilier made an enormous profit on it, and that the dividends which it soon afterwards declared were drawn from that source.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

President Grant's Order Against the Holding of State or Municipal Offices by Federal Appointees.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.

By the President of the United States—Executive Order.

Whereas, it has been brought to the notice of the President of the United States that many persons holding civil office by appointment from him, or otherwise under the Constitution and laws of the United States, while holding Federal positions accept offices under the authority of the States and Territories in which they reside, or of municipal corporations under charters and ordinances of such corporations, thereby assuming duties of State, Territorial or municipal office at the same time they are charged with the duties of civil office held under Federal authority; and, whereas, it is believed, with few exceptions, the holding of two of such offices by the same person is incompatible with due and faithful discharge of the duties of either office, that it frequently gives rise to great inconvenience and often results in detriment to the public service, and, moreover, is not in harmony with the genius of the Government. In view of the premises, therefore, the President has deemed it proper thus and hereby to give public notice that from and after the 4th day of March, 1873, except as herein specified, persons holding any Federal civil office, by appointment under the Constitution and laws of the United States, will be excepted from holding such office under any State or Territorial Government, or under the charter or ordinance of any municipal corporation, and further, that acceptance or continued holding of any such State, Territorial or municipal office, whether elective or by appointment by any person holding civil office as aforesaid under the Government of the United States, other than judicial officers under the Constitution of the United States, will be deemed a vacation of the Federal office held by such person, and will be taken and will be treated as a resignation by such Federal officer of his commission or appointment in the service of the United States. The offices of justices of peace, of notaries public and commissioners to take acknowledgment of deeds, of bail, or administer oaths, shall not be deemed within the province of this order, and are excepted from its operation, and may be held by Federal officers. The appointment of Deputy Marshal of the United States may be conferred upon sheriffs and deputy sheriffs, and deputy postmasters, the emoluments of whose offices do not exceed $600 per annum, are also excepted from the operations of this order, and may accept and hold appointments under State, Territorial or municipal authority, provided the same be found not to interfere with the discharge of their duties as Postmaster. Heads of departments and other officers of the Government who have appointment of subordinate officers are required to take notice of this order, and to see to the enforcement of its provisions and terms within the sphere of their respective departments or offices, and as relates to the several persons holding appointments under them respectively.

By order of the President.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

FRIDAY, Jan. 17.—SENATE.—The Vienna Exposition bill was passed.....Morton called up his resolution instructing the Committee on Elections to inquire into the defects of the electoral system, and spoke at length in favor of the election of President by direct vote of the people....The Mint and Coinage bill was passed.

HOUSE.—A number of private bills were passed. ....The Senate bill confirming the title of the Mississippi and Missouri and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific to certain lands in Iowa, was taken up. A motion to layon the table was lost. No further action was taken on the bill.

SATURDAY, Jan. 18.—SENATE.—The Senate was not in session.

HOUSE.—A bill was passed to revise the pension laws....A large number of bills of a private character were disposed of....The bill to quiet land titles in Iowa was passed.

MONDAY, Jan. 20.—SENATE.—The majority of the Judiciary Committee reported a bill repealing the Bankrupt Act, to take effect July 1, the repeal not to affect any proceedings in bankruptcy commenced before that date....Bills introduced: Fixing the minimum price of the alternate sections reserved by the Government, where land grants are made to railroads, at $2.50 per acre, pre-emption and indemnity rights being excepted....The House amendment to the bill fixing the date of opening the annual session of the Supreme Court was concurred in....Carpenter, from the Judiciary Committee, submitted a majority report adverse to the Boston Relief bill—Edmunds, for himself, submitting a minority report favoring the bill.

HOUSE.—Bills introduced: To repeal the tax on deposits in savings banks; repealing the duty on liquorice used in the manufacture of tobacco; to punish pretended counterfeiters of United States currency; to prohibit the promotion in the army of any person who is addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors or drugs....A bill was passed to pay to census-takers in the Southern States fees due for taking the census of 1860....A bill was reported from the Judiciary Committee amendatory of the Bankrupt act, when a substitute was offered and passed wholly repealing the Bankrupt act.

TUESDAY, Jan. 21.—SENATE.—Bills introduced: Authorizing a reference to the Court of Claims of the claim of the book agents of the Methodist Church South; authorizing the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company to make payable in lawful money bonds which it has been authorized to issue; to provide for the construction of levees on the Mississippi river....Cragin's amendment to the bill for the construction of six sloops of war, limiting the aggregate tonnage to 10,000 tons, was agreed to.. The credentials of P. B. S. Pinchback, Senator elect from Louisiana, were presented.

HOUSE.—The Committee on Appropriations were instructed to inquire into the value of existing telegraph lines, the cost of their construction, and of the construction of new lines....The bill for the admission of Colorado was debated without action. ....The session was mainly occupied in debate upon the bill for the revival of American commerce. No action was taken on the bill.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 22.—SENATE.—West (La.) presented the credentials of McMillan, elected by the McEnery Legislature to fill the unexpired Senatorial term; also, the credentials of Ray, elected for the same unexpired term by the Kellogg Legislature. The credentials of both were referred to the Committee on Credentials....A substitute was reported for Morton's bill for the distribution of the Geneva award....Bills passed: Abolishing the franking privilege; authorizing the construction of ten new sloops-of-war; abolishing the grades of Admiral and Rear Admiral of the Navy; authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to purchase from the Creek Indians a portion of the lands occupied by them.... Ames, from the Committee on Finance, reported an original bill, establishing $4.86 65-100 as the Custom House value of the sovereign or pound sterling of Great Britain, and the par of exchange....The bill to allow women to vote and hold office in the Territories was indefinitely postponed.

HOUSE.—After long debate, the bill for the establishment of a Commission of Commerce to pay bounties to American shipbuilders was laid on the table...A message was received from the President vetoing the bill reducing the time in which new trials may be granted on application of the Government by the Court of Claims from ten years to six months.

THURSDAY, Jan. 23.—SENATE.—The Finance Committee reported adversely Cole's bill to replace national bank notes with United States Treasury notes and authorize part payment of custom dues in the latter....The bill to fix the minimum price of public lands in the alternate sections reserved in railroad grants at $2.50 per acre was reported without amendment....A bill appropriating $30,000 to defray expenses of the Committee on Elections in the Kansas, Louisiana and Arkansas cases was passed. ....An amendment to the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill, raising the pay of Congressmen $3,000, was tabled.

HOUSE.—Stephenson's resolution directing an investigation of the allegations that the Dubuque and Sioux City railroad has been managed by a Credit Mobilier, and to report what members of Congress had been interested in that road, was adopted. The Central Pacific was included in the resolution.... The Vienna Exposition bill was amended by reducing the appropriation from $300,000 to $200,000, and sent back to the Senate for concurrence.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DISGRACE.

How the Dabblers in Credit Mobilier Stand the Exposure—Terrible Examples for the Sunday-School Books.

Washington Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

There were lively times when the proposition was made to Congress to open the doors of the Credit Mobilier Committee. Those, or at least a majority of those, who did not desire the doors thrown open, did not dare to vote against the resolution for fear their action would be misinterpreted. For, to tell the truth, I honestly believe that few men there were there who knew at the outstart just how virtuous they were. Being accustomed to a mild glow of the article at all times, they were not overcome as were many others, apparently, by a sudden outflow and overflow of it, all at once, as it were. Those of the mild glow were somewhat surprised at the tremendous vehemence of the unexpected reinforcement, and in their wonder and bewilderment they allowed themselves to be swept along with the sarge of the crowd. The individuals present most concerned in all the hubbub seemed generally aware of the fact. Dawes was absent, "setting of 'em up" for the Massachusetts Senatorship in Boston. Bingham didn't look at all well. He sat curled up in his chair, to all appearances revolving some disagreeable matter in his mind. Brooks looked even yellower than usual, and downcast and dispirited and gloomy. Ever since the first connection of his name with the matter, and more especially since his speech denying just such connection, he has seemed to lose more and more every day his vitality and energy. He is not the same Brooks that used to go walking about, laughing and talking with his friends what time he was not busy in watching and debating upon matters before the House. The expose, or the charges, the fact of being suspected, or else the fact of having been caught, one or the other, has had a terrible effect on him. You have observed square perjury in his case. Somehow somebody has lied. And McComb, in his cross-examination of Alley, has made that frisky little Yankee sharper blunder and halt very perceptibly in his efforts to clear Brooks.

Commend to your youth, my friends, Colfax and Scofield. If you don't print them in your Sunday-school books, you may at least put them down commendingly in your secular text-books, where the boys who will be business men one day will learn how shrewd business men take care of themselves. In the case of Schuyler they will learn to keep out of lawsuits. One may buy into a questionable speculation, joining one's friend, if everything seems clear and fair—the prospect for taking in a few pennies slyly and quietly, without a cloud; but, my dear boys, when adversity comes, when you are in a fair way to be caught, when troublesome lawsuits loom up, then sell out! Make your friend pay you back your money if you can; if not, let it go and get out of the scrape!

In brother Scofield's case we learn the same valuable lesson, only a little varied. He bought ten shares. When he found that the partner who owned ten shares was individually liable on account of the corporation, he made all haste to sell out. That is good. Embark in a swindle, but don't take any worldly risk (the moral part of this thing is not to be considered); if your partner fails to warn you of a risk in the swindle you are to embark in, and you subsequently find there is a liability, get out of it. You may steal, but be careful that there are no after-claps to it. Don't go in and bind the strong man if you wish to spoil him; peradventure he burst asunder the bonds wherewith you have bound him and do damage. But if the strong man be gone into a far country with all his household, then, my son, you may go through him and be glad.

Mr. Harlan's $10,000.

During the testimony of Mr. Durant, before the Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee, the information was obtained that this gentleman contributed the sum of $10,000 to assist in securing the election of the Rev. Mr. Harlan to the United States Senate. This was after Mr. Harlan had been Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Durant was good enough to assign as a motive for his generous contribution that every man "ought to do something for his country." The inference was highly complimentary to Mr. Harlan. Mr. Durant said as plainly as he could, without offending Mr. Harlan's modesty, that it was for the country's good that Mr. Harlan was returned to the Senate. Mr. Harlan, however, failed to take the compliment in the same generous spirit with which it was given, though it does not appear that he declined the use of the $10,000 which had been donated with even greater magnanimity. Being now Senator, and the editor of a Washington newspaper, Mr. Harlan has taken advantage of his facilities for rushing into print to express the opinion that Mr. Durant's contribution in this instance was entirely foreign to the subject under investigation, and that nothing should have been said about it. The committee evidently does not agree with Mr. Harlan, for it has called upon Mr. Durant every day subsequently to give some more definite concerning the $10,000 donation. The statements have not agreed from day to day as thoroughly as might have been desired. Mr. Durant said on Wednesday that he had given two checks of $5,000 each to assist at Mr. Harlan's election. On Thursday he said that he had given these two checks to Mr. Harlan himself, payable to the latter's order, "supposing Harlan knew how to appropriate it;" but he added that he did not know whether Harlan was at that time Secretary of the Interior or not, and did not know whether he was at that time a candidate for the United States Senate or not. The recollections of Credit Mobilier witnesses seem to be singularly conflicting on different days.

Mr. Harlan's claim, that the Durant contribution of $10,000,—which was given certainly for use in Iowa, and about the time of Mr. Harlan's candidature for a return to the United States Senate—should not have been brought out before the committee, is not a good one. It would not be difficult to trace a connection between the subject under investigation and the position of Mr. Harlan at that time. Even if Mr. Harlan's assertion, that there was no more Pacific railroad legislation, after he returned to the Senate, be correct, it still remains that Mr. Harlan was Secretary of the Interior—a department which, from the very beginning, had intimate and important relations with the Pacific railroads. But, even setting this aside, it is a matter of so much public interest to know that one individual, representing a powerful corporation like the Union Pacific railroad, should have given $10,000 to assist in electing one Senator, that it should be brought before the public at any time and under any circumstances. It is well known that elections generally require money for what may be called legislative expenses, in order to distinguish them from corruption funds. There are the expenses of public speakers, the distribution of public documents, the printing of tickets, etc., which parties have assumed in their own interests. It is equally true, however, that Senatorial elections differ from all others in this respect: United States Senators are elected by Legislatures, after the legitimate expenses of the popular elections are over. The way in which money is generally used in Senatorial elections is that brought forth in the case of Mr. Caldwell, of Kansas, and charged in the case of Patterson.

We only know so much of this matter as Mr. Durant has stated in his testimony, and this is not altogether clear. As the matter stands now, the two checks for $5,000 each are left in Mr. Harlan's hands. We should think that it would be a wiser course for Mr. Harlan to explain what was done with the $10,000, rather than to assume the air of injured dignity, and assert the claim that the matter is not before the proper committee. No matter where it is, the public is just now interested in ascertaining where, when, and how money has been used in Senatorial elections; and this public interest ought to be satisfied in the case of Mr. Harlan as well as in that of Caldwell or Patterson.—Chicago Tribune.

The Louisiana Usurpation.

There is manifestly, in both houses of Congress a disposition to inquire whether "revolution by injunction" is quite the correct thing in a republican form of government. Even recognized leaders in the Centralist party begin to perceive that the New Orleans "injuncter" has been pushing the central-absolutism business too recklessly, if not too rapidly. Mr. Kelley's resolution (instructing the House Judiciary Committee to inquire into the conduct of the man Durell, with a view to his impeachment if, "in the judgment of the committee," he has usurped jurisdiction, or been guilty of unlawful interference with the constitutional rights of the people of Louisiana), may be designed for white-washing purposes; but the debate upon Mr. Sheldon's proposition to raise a joint committee of inquiry very plainly shows that in the opinion of some very conspicuous members on the Administration side, the judicial Mogul of New Orleans, who improved upon all known Bonapartist and Cæsarian coups d'etat by inventing "revolution by injunction," overdid the business expected of him.

Whatever may be the upshot of this disgraceful Spanish-American business, the situation begins to present a more hopeful outlook for the ultimate vindication of the right of State self-government. There is no mistaking the fact that the Federal officeholders' usurpation in Louisiana has excited more general public interest, and tended more powerfully to direct the popular mind of the whole country to the imperialistic tendency of the Administration party policies and practices in the South, than any other event that has happened since the war. Though the popular "masses," who are not in the habit of thinking systematically, do not clearly perceive the why and wherefore of it, there is an undefined notion, of augmenting force, that these political disturbances which are transforming several of the Southern States to the character of Spanish-American "Republics," are the outcome of Federal interference with State rights. This is in reality the whole truth of the matter, and it is truth which is at least making a serious impression upon the public mind. Every occurrence in Louisiana, and every fact throwing any light upon the situation and meaning of affairs in that State, has tended to strengthen this feeling, as it has to further disclose the indefensible and inexcusable character of the high-handed proceedings of the Federal usupers, and their tools. This significant and unmistakable growth of an adverse public sentiment has unquestionably had a powerful effect upon the minds of Congressmen, and to its quickening influence the rather unexpected development of a disposition among the conspicuous members of the Administration side no longer to blink the Louisiana infamy, nor to defend the usurping scoundrels concerned in it, is without doubt very largely ascribable.—Chicago Times.

Oakes Ames.

"Gath" thus photographs the central figure in the Credit Mobilier scandal:

Oakes Ames is a very large man, of the type of a Yorkshire manufacturer—gnarled, spectacled, with great, bent shoulders, a slow walk, and prodigious limbs and feet. He will probably weigh 280 pounds, and he looks to be 6 feet 2 or 3. He has strong, coarse, brownish hair, and bristly beard around the long, stern-wheeled shaft of his jaws. His forehead is low, and the nose seems to be half of the race. The eyes behind the spectacles are small, and of a slow, searching look.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

FARM AND GARDEN.

"Stick to the Farm"—A Talk with the Boys.

I am sure that the more a man knows of life in great cities, the greater emphasis will he give to the title of this article. And I will tell you why.

The majority of country boys are in no sense of the word fitted or prepared for participation in the rivalry and competition of business in the city. They would find themselves as much out of their sphere or groove of usefulness, as a statesman would to be placed in command of a ship. Or, to make the illustration more pertinent, they would succeed in the city in about equal measure with the city men who go to the country to get rich farming; and you know how that is.

Hundreds of young men come from the country to the city weekly in search of work. I see them anxiously walking the streets, or standing at the street corners in a brown study. Oftentimes they are robbed of their little store of money; decoyed into hells where in a single hour they learn more of the ways of death than would have come to them in an entire lifetime elsewhere. Ah! but you wouldn't be seduced from truth and virtue! Perhaps not; but granting you to be firm as the everlasting hills in righteousness, what could you do to insure success? Can you set type? Can you keep books? Do you understand commercial business? Can you write a book review worthy of the book? What do you know of art and science, or any one branch of either? Have you a well-defined idea, or a half-defined idea, of just what you wish to do? If so, what qualification do you carry with it? To leave the farm for the city is as foolish and dangerous, in most cases, as to jump overboard far from shore, when you are morally certain you do not know how to swim.

But I do not mean to have you believe that to "stick to the farm" is always the best thing to do. I do not believe in sticking to anything that is utterly distasteful, and which you do not feel "drawn toward" in any sense, either from fitness or sympathy. But in leaving the farm I think it would be wiser to hope for success where competition is moderate, and where your untrained faculties will not be completely overwhelmed by skillful and disciplined workers, every place filled, and all vacancies applied for a decade in advance.—Mary A. E. Wager, in Rural New Yorker.

Measuring the Height of Trees.

In the last American Agriculturist is an illustrated article describing the mode of ascertaining the height of trees. The mode, although quite simple, is not always on hand when most wanted, and requires some nicety of management; and the extreme height of trees is less frequently desired to be found by farmers who wish to cut a stick of timber to some desired length from the timber woods. A more simple method, and one that can be put in practice at any time and place, when one has only a measuring rod, and has the experience of the writer, is as follows: A stick of timber is desired, say fifty feet long; select your tree, measure fifty feet in a direct line from the foot of the tree on as near level ground as possible; now cut a stick the exact height of the observer and stick it in the ground exactly perpendicular; now let the observer lie flat on his back, his feet against the stick, and head in line of tree and stick, and look directly over the top of the stick, and where the line of vision strikes the tree will be the length of stick, fifty feet, desired. If the ground is not level the measure will not be exact, but allowance must be made.

Application of Long Manures.

The New York World says: The economy of the application of long manures depends upon circumstances. We have applied them with satisfactory results to stiff clayey soils, plowing them under on sward land where we were going to plant corn or potatoes. The result attained by such a course was not so much manurial as mechanical. The decomposition of this long manure, thus buried, warmed and disintegrated the cold clay. But we would in no case apply such manure to light and sandy soils, except in this way: When a crop of corn is growing and after the last hoeing, when the corn shades the ground pretty nearly, we have seen excellent results from muzzling the horses to driving astride the row, spreading coarse strawy manure between the rows, covering the ground completely with a mulch. This benefits the corn, especially in a dry season, and on any kind of soil, especially on light ones; also on shallow-plowed, stiff soils.

Dietetic Hints.

Most chronic diseases, and many acute ones, are produced at the table. As a rule, no fluid of any kind should be taken at the table, especially if the stomach is weak. The stomach should never be overloaded; not more than two or three articles should be taken at one meal; no stimulants used before eating; tobacco arrests digestion. Milk is the best diet for infants and children. Tomatoes with cream and sugar are healthy and nutritious. Bread and butter is the staff of life, and easily digested. Too much salt irritates the stomach. Colds are frequently produced by drinking hot tea and exposure afterwards. Late suppers induce heart disease. Pastry and cake constipate the bowels. Boiled potatoes are not so healthy as baked ones. Fruits are to be eaten at breakfast and dinner. The stomach requires much rest to be healthy; purgative medicines weaken the bowels. Cheerful conversation promotes digestion; anger prevents it.

Horses versus Oxen.

A paragraph is going the rounds about a trial of speed which lately occurred in France between horses and oxen. The contending teams consisted of four animals, and the load was in each case ten thousand pounds of beet-pulp. This was to be drawn twenty-three kilometers, or about twelve miles. The race was apparently against me, and the four horses won by sevenminutes, time three hours and six minutes. But then you see the oxen can be fattened and sold to the butcher after they are worthless for work.

Rural Items.

The total potato crop of the country in 1871 was 121,000 bushels.

New York yields one-third of all the buckwheat grown in the United States.

The farmer who plows deep, manures liberally and keeps down weeds will prosper.

"M.," in the Maine Farmer, says that "the winter season is the most appropriate for pruning fruit trees."

The cultivation of the soil is fast becoming a science, and one that is of more value to mankind than any other.

California, with more wheat than she knows what to do with, is preparing to raise more next year than she raised this.

Mrs. Dr. Bartlett, of Kingston, N. H., raised 9,000 pounds of pop-corn upon two acres—worth four cents a pound, or $360.

There died last week in Walpole, Ct., an old hen which had attained the respectable age of 15½ years, having been hatched in 1857.

The number of acres reported in wheat in all the States and Territories in 1871 is 19,943,893; number of bushels produced, 230,772,400; value of crop, $290,411,820.

The aggregate number of bushels of grain produced in all the States and Territories in 1871 is reported as 1,649,237,800, showing a decrease from 1870 of 94,564,800 bushels.

The Game Laws.

As it may be a question of considerable importance to dealers and shippers as to the time when they are allowed to sell or expose for sale different descriptions of game, we have compiled the following synopsis of the laws of some of the States:

Minnesota.—Woodcock from July 4 to Dec. 1; prairie chicken, Aug. 1 to Dec. 1; quail and partridge, Sept. 1 to Dec. 1; elk and deer, buck, doe, etc., Aug. 1 to Jan. 1.

Michigan.—Elk and deer from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; wild turkeys, Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; woodcock, July 5 to Feb. 1; prairie chicken, ruffed grouse or partridge, and wild duck, from Aug. 5 to Feb. 1; qual, Oct. 1 to Jan. 1.

Indiana.—Wild deer from Oct. 1 to Jan. 1; quail or pheasants, Oct. 1 to Feb. 1; prairie chicken, Aug. 15 to Feb. 1.

Ohio.—Quail, ruffed grouse and wild turkey from Oct. 15 to Feb. 1; prairie chicken, Aug. 15 to Feb. 1; rabbits, hares and doves from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1; woodcock, July 4 to Feb. 1; wild geese, Sept. 1 to April 15; wild ducks, Sept. 1 to March 1.

Kentucky.—Quail, partridge or pheasant from Oct. 1 to March 1; wild geese and wild ducks from Sept. 15 to May 1; woodcock, June 1 to Jan. 1; female deer from Aug. 1 to March 1.

Kansas.—Grouse, prairie chicken, woodcock, snipe, wild turkey, deer, and elk, Aug. 1 to March 1; quail or pheasants, Oct. 1 to March 1.

West Virginia.—Wild deer from Aug. 15 to Jan. 1.

Pennsylvania.—Rail or reed birds from Sept. 1 to June 1; partridge or pheasant, Aug. 1 to Dec. 20; woodcock, July 4 to Nov. 15; rabbits, Oct. 1 to Jan. 1; wild deer, Sept. 1 to Dec. 31; quail, Oct. 1 to Dec. 20; wild turkey, Oct. 1 to Jan. 1.

Wisconsin.—Woodcock, July 4 to Dec. 1; grouse, prairie chicken, quail and partridge, Aug. 20 to Dec. 15; wild ducks, Aug. 1 to Jan. 15.

Illinois.—Wild deer, wild turkey, grouse, prairie chickens and quail, Aug. 15 to Jan. 1; woodcock, July 1 to Jan. 1; wild ducks and geese, Aug. 15 to April 15.

Iowa.—Wild deer, elk and prairie chickens, Aug. 15 to Jan. 1; woodcock, July 1 to Jan. 1; quail, ruffed grouse, or pheasant, Sept. 12 to Dec. 15; wild turkey, Sept. 1 to Feb. 1.

Nebraska.—Wild deer, elk and antelope, Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; wild grouse, Aug. 1 to April 1; wild turkey and quail, Sept. 1 to Jan. 31.

Purchase of Samana Bay by American Capitalists.

Some months ago several business men, of the highest standing in the financial world, conceived the idea of purchasing Samana Bay and Peninsula, for which the Government attempted to negotiate in 1867. Correspondence took place between them and the Dominican Government, and the prospect appearing favorable for the realization of the design, a company was formed, with the following officers: President, Alden B. Stockwell; Vice-President, Paul N. Spofford; Treasurer, Henry Clews; Secretary, R. R. Hazard; Directors, Fred. Schachardt; George M. Pullman, C. K. Garrison; Oliver Ames, Samuel G. Howe, William G. Fargo, and S. L. M. Barlow. After several meetings held by these gentlemen, it was resolved to send a special steamer with three commissioners, bearing with them the amount of purchase money in gold, to consummate the transaction. The steamer Tybee was chartered for the purpose. On the 15th of December the convention was held by the commissioners representing the company, President Baez, and the Cabinet of the Dominican Government. After full deliberation a satisfactory result was arrived at and a purchase effected. The people of San Domingo ratified the arrangement, and a treaty between the Dominican Government was concluded, to go into effect Jan. 1, 1873. The company is granted almost all the right of an independent government, and will have its own flag, police, and revenue officers, the right to construct railroads, charter vessels, collect taxes, etc., etc. Any question arising between the company and the Dominican Government, it is stipulated, shall be referred to some European power for arbitration. On the treaty being completed the Tybee sailed for Puerto Principe, from whence the company received intelligence of the satisfactory result of negotiations. The capital of the company is $20,000,000. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company intend to run a regular special steamer between New York and Samana Bay next month.

New York produces one-fifth of the hay crop of the country.

Miscellaneous.

Canada leans more and more this way.

Floridians revel in luscious watermelons.

Texas has 140,000,000 acres of unoccupied land.

Over 2,500 Philadelphians died of small-pox last year.

Baltimore sends out $8,000,000 worth of oysters annually.

The average storm travels at the rate of 25 miles an hour.

At least twenty new paper mills are projected in Indiana.

A young lady is the most accomplished whistler in New York.

The Beecher mine in Nevada yields about $500,000 a month.

Monograms on envelopes are said to be no longer fashionable.

Lincoln, Neb., is the youngest city in the world lighted by gas.

A mechanic owns the best and largest library in Memphis, Tenn.

Railroad laborers consume three pounds of beef each per day.

A Pennsylvania woman has had seven pairs of twins in seven years.

New York boasts a three-months-old baby that weighs 75 pounds.

It costs a New Yorker $8,000 a year to dress a fashionable daughter.

The copper yield of the Lake Superior mines last year was $8,000,000.

Barnum's hired men are ransacking all Africa after nice fresh lions.

An air-line railroad is projected between Chicago and Kansas City.

Two of the pension agencies of this country are managed by women.

Sixty-three of the 330 citizens of Goshen, Vt., are over 60 years old.

A Lafayette, Ind., man has just shaved for the first time in 58 years.

Strawberries, large and luscious, are plenty in the San Francisco markets.

Velvet boots are worn by the New York fashionables, to match the dress.

In Philadelphia, last year, there were 701 fires, causing a loss of $6,588,419.

A California Chinaman committed suicide by cramming paper up his nose.

Eight hundred and eighty-seven Baltimorians died from consumption in 1872.

The whole number of acres in meadow in all the States and Territories is 20,000,000.

The balance of trade against the United States last year was, in round numbers, $118,000,000.

The Italian editor who said King Victor Emanuel was a repulsive looking man has no paper now.

A census at Denison, Texas, taken when the town was three months old, shows a population of 3,010.

David Brown, the Vermont hermit who died last week, left the largest collection of books in the State.

Lake Champlain was frozen over during the first week in January, for the first time in fifty-eight years.

The number of marriages in Ohio in 1872 was 26,303; divorces granted, 1,026; births, 61,210; deaths, 25,202.

The oldest inhabitant of Maine has made the attempt, but failed, to remember when there was such weather before.

The American-Merchants' Union Express Company will henceforth be known as simply the American Express Company.

A mathematician says that if Kansas was as densely peopled as Massachusetts it would contain a population of 17,000,000.

English papers predict that Americans won't use the postal cards more than a month before they will become disgusted.

In 1871 Ohio manufactured over 76,000 tons of rolled and hammered iron—one-tenth of the whole amount made in the United States.

The present Protestant population of the world is estimated at 121,000,000. Of this number 33,900,000 are in the United States.

A large quantity of sugar-cane cuttings from the East Indies has arrived in Louisiana to take the place of the degenerate native seed.

The propriety of knowing whom one marries is verified in the case of an aged couple in Iowa, who, as widow and widower, married, and who, it was afterward proven, were brother and sister, separated in childhood.

Bismarck and the Church Conflict.

The London correspondent of the New York World writes that the resignation of Bismarck means that he has received a very decided check from the court. According to his statement, the whole court became alarmed at Bismarck's conflict with the Catholic Church, and his attempt to make the entire Cabinet subservient to himself did not suit the other Ministers and the Emperor. The Emperor was weaned from his submission to Bismarck's will by the united influence of the Empress, Crown Prince and Princess, and his old friends, who foresaw that Bismarck's course would eventually alienate from the throne the nobility, the gentry, the clergy, and all the conservative interests of the Empire. The Chancellor then offered to resign, not expecting that the Emperor would accept the resignation. In this, however, he was disappointed, as the resignation was promptly accepted. If these are the real facts in the case, it signifies that the end of the church conflict is approaching.

An Extinguisher.

The Senate Committee on Patents have reported adversely to the Babcock Extinguisher Company's attempted revival of a patent on the old Graham application, filed in 1837. This virtually ends the contest between the Gardner and Babcock, leaving the public free to buy the former. After hearing from eighteen lawyers, the committee were unanimous in the rejection, which closes the case.—Washington Letter.

Napoleon and Miss Howard.

The death of Napoleon has brought to the surface a number of stories connected with his life. A melancholy interest attaches to the fate of Miss Howard, whose name is better known than the circumstances of her life. The story, as given in detail by Griscelli, assistant chief of the Paris police, is as follows: "On a night of such fog as they have in London a man was walking up and down the Haymarket. His height was five feet and several inches; he was thick-waisted, short-legged, with a pallid face, small eyes, mustaches, buttoned to the neck and carrying in his hand a loaded cane, without any hat. The passers-by might have taken him for a policeman. Suddenly a door gave entrance to a lady elegantly dressed. The man exclaimed, 'Hallo, madame, alone so late, and in such bad weather?'

"Without any invitation he followed the lady, who, arriving in her parlor and thinking him a civil policeman, offered him two shillings.

"'Madam! Money to me?'

"'And who are you?'

"'I am the Prince Louis Napoleon.'

"Next day the conspirator of Strasburg and Boulogne, the escaped from the fortress of Ham, recalled himself to the memory of of his followers by sending them some English gold with which to conspire against the Government that had twice left him his life. From this day the misery which had overwhelmed the son of Admiral Verhuel was driven away by the bank notes of Miss Howard. While he was President he had called Miss Howard to Paris and had taken for her a house, No. 14 Rue de Ciry. Miss Howard, who had given 8,000,000 (of francs) to Napoleon at the moment of his elevation, was considered and considered herself as the future Empress. But the daughter of Albion counted without him who 'when he speaks, lies; when he is silent, plots.'

"One day Napoleon sent Miss Howard to Havre in company with his accomplice, Mocquart, promising to come and see her upon the next Sunday. Saturday he married Mdlle. de Montijo. Taking her tea the morning of the day when she should receive the visit of him who owed everything to her, Miss Howard read of the marriage in the Moniteur Officiel. Precipitately leaving the Hotel Frascati, she engaged a special train and reached her home in Paris, where she saw the strangest spectacle. Furniture, cushions, papers, notes, letters, on tracts—some were broken, others emptied, and others stolen. Pietri, warned by a dispatch from Mocquart, had gone to No. 14 Rue de Ciry. He was able to hear, and others heard like him, the insulted Englishwoman call Napoleon assassin, swindler and robber. Next day upon her awakening Miss Howard was saluted by Mmes. Fould and Fleury with the title Countess of Beauregard. At the same time they gave her the deeds of ownership to a property bearing this name, situated upon the route to Versailles. Several months later the new countess left France and established herself in Florence, where she built a splendid palace upon the banks of the Arno. But ten years after ennui seized her, and she wished to see Paris. Every day, at the moment when Napoleon and the Empress came from the Tuileries, Miss Howard showed herself in a superb equipage and dazzling toilet. Rumor said that the Empress was furious. Some days after a performance at the Italiens, during which the Englishwoman, covered and occupied a box directly in front, had amused herself by eyeing through an opera-glass the woman who had stolen her 'Poleon. Miss Howard was found suffocated in her bed."

Nomadic Yankees.

One of the most striking facts which a comparison of the statistics of travel of this country with those of Europe suggests is the migratory character of the American people. Whereas the vast majority of the inhabitants of a district or county in England or on the Continent remain in the place where they were born, a large proportion of the people of the United States are constantly shifting their location. This fact is strikingly illustrated by a table recently prepared by Gen. Walker, Superintendent of the Census. From the table it appears that the State of Vermont, with a population of 330,551, has sent out 117,164 to other States, or more than half as many as are now living in the State. New York has a population of 4,382,754 persons, but of these only 2,487,776 were born in New York, while 1,073,542 persons born in New York now reside in other States. Of those born in Pennsylvania 674,544 live in other States. Kentucky, with a population of 1,321,011, has sent out to other States 403,126 persons; of these 92,607 went to Missouri, and 63,297 to Illinois. Of the 1,194,020 persons in Iowa, only 517,831 were born there.

These facts, displaying the grand movements by which American States are built up, may be further illustrated by pointing out where some of those born in a single State finally alight. From New York there will be found in California 33,426; Connecticut, 28,728; Illinois, 133,290; Michigan, 231,826; Minnesota, 39,845; Missouri, 31,736; New Jersey, 73,568; Ohio, 67,731; Pennsylvania, 87,700; Wisconsin, 135,496; Vermont, 11,235.

The little State of Vermont has sent forth a stream of emigration, not so large, but equally steady and fertilizing. The natives of this little State are scattered principally as follows: In Illinois, 18,501; Iowa, 12,195; Massachusetts, 22,110; Michigan, 14,434; New Hampshire, 12,823; New York, 36,077; Ohio, 9,034; Wisconsin, 16,416.

Senator Lewis.—Harper's Magazine is in error when, in an article upon fracases in Congress thirty or forty years ago, it alludes to Hon. Dixon H. Lewis as being from Mississippi. He was long in the House of Representatives from Alabama, and, we believe, he died a United States Senator from that State. He weighed 440 pounds, and was otherwise immense in his proportions. During the great debate between Daniel Webster and Robert Y. Hayne, in the United States Senate in 1830, he found himself wedged in back of the Vice-President's chair, where he was nearly suffocated for want of air,—the Senate Chamber being crowded to excess. He slowly made his way to the window and cut a hole in one of the great panes of glass, and thus obtained the desired respiration. In one sense, he was the greatest man ever in Congress.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

How a Bad Practice is Sustained.

There is a good deal said in censure of the custom of jumping off and on cars when in motion. It is righteous condemnation, but is not consistent when coming from railroad companies. If they truly desire a reform they must begin at home, for as long as employes will jump on a train when in motion, and persist in doing it as gracefully as they do, an imititative public will be the sufferers. People don't jump on a train before it stops, because they are in a hurry, but because they have seen a brakeman or conductor do it, and have a terrible dread of being surpassed. Now, at the station the other day, Conductor Phillips, of the Eastern train, after giving the word to start, waited until the last car reached him, and then, raising one hand to the rail, and one foot gently from the earth, he swung majestically around, and was at once firmly on the car. Mr. Phillips weighs 200 pounds, but there was such grace and poetry in his motion that he seemed to blend with the car. First, there was yellow paint, and then gold leaf and maroon and Phillips. There was an elderly person who saw Phillips do this, and his eyes glistened with anticipation. He was going on the Western train, and when it came along he waited until a fine rate of speed was gained, and then, raising his hand and leg just as he had seen Phillips do, and looking carelessly away, just as Phillips did, he reached out for the rail, and the next instant was trying to push his head through the platform planks, and fighting the air with his heels, and madly pawing around with his hands, and swearing and praying at an awful rate. They stood him up on his feet, and rubbed his head with some snow, but it was a long while before they could convince him that the locomotive had not exploded.—Danbury News.

Curious Phase of the Postal Law.

One of the curiosities of postal law, as interpreted by those who do not reason broadly, is thus stated in a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune:

"The Department will transport a daily newspaper printed here from Washington to San Francisco, and deliver it to a subscriber there for 30 cents a quarter; but if the subscriber lives here in Washington he must pay one cent for each copy, or rather this must be prepaid for him by the publishers of the paper. So with weekly papers, the postage on which is five cents a quarter. For this sum the mails will carry a paper from Maine to Texas, and the carrier will deliver it without extra charge at the subscriber's door; but a subscriber living in the place where the paper is published must pay 13 cents a quarter if he gets his paper through the mail. The absurdity of such a decision is too manifest for serious argument. The wonder is that any intelligent person could have interpreted the statutes in such a way. There is nothing in its letter or spirit that appears to warrant this construction."

The decision is unjust. It is difficult to understand why the citizens of New York should be required to pay nearly three times as much for the delivery of one say published in Boston. And yet for years this curious phase of postal law has challenged the criticism of the people. Let us have an end to such manifest absurdity.

An Interesting Volume.

We owe our thanks to Judge Kelley for the latest Patent Office report. We already have sixteen hundred of these interesting volumes in our little library, but they have been read and re-read so many times that we know every page of them by heart. This new volume came opportunely and gratefully on Christmas morning, and that night we gathered our little family around the fire and read it through to them. The affecting tale entitled "Improvement in Monkey Wrenches" seemed to touch every heart, and when we came to the climax of the little story about "Reversible Pie Boards," there was not a dry eye between the front door and the stable. During the reading of the piteous narrative entitled "Gum Washers for Carriage Axles" the whole family gave expression to boisterous emotion, and the hired girl was so much excited that she lost her presence of mind and went around to her mother's inadvertently with six pounds of sugar and a butter kettle full of flour, and came home at midnight intoxicated. We can never sufficiently thank Judge Kelley for the innocent enjoyment thus furnished us. The memory of that happy evening will linger in our minds very much longer than that hired girl ever lingers when she lights on a lot of sustenance which she thinks will suit the constitution of her aged parent.—Max Adeler.

Newspaper Property.—The Springfield Republican thinks that the prices paid for newspapers (the price paid for the New York Tribune, for instance) are too high, and that better use can be made of a million dollars, in a mere money point of view, than to buy a newspaper whose net profits are one hundred thousand. The Republican thinks that, considering the risks and hazards of the business, the capital should represent a sum upon which 20 or 30 per cent. is yielded rather than the larger sum from which only 10 per cent. is obtained. The old rule for estimating newspaper property was on the 20 per cent. basis—by virtue of which a newspaper whose average profits for five years have been $100,000 per year, would be estimated to be worth $500,000. But latterly this rule has been undergoing a change from the 20 per cent. to a 12 or 15 per cent. basis. This change has been the outgrowth of evidence furnished by the lapse of time, that the risks and hazards of this business are less, instead of greater, than those of business generally, for it has been observed that hardly anything is so indestructible as the value of a newspaper of twenty years' standing. The Chicago Journal is a noticeable proof of the value of mere longevity. The only article in the Journal that has attracted attention for many years was one for which it was fined $300 by the Supreme Court. And still it is one of the most valuable pieces of newspaper property in the West.—Chicago Tribune.

We should bear in mind the fact that, while sudden wealth is rarely acquired in farming, neither will great or sudden losses be met with.

A French View of Napoleon's Death.

The article of which the following is a translation is published in the Courrier des Etats-Unis, the recognized organ of the French population of New York:

Napoleon III. is dead!

After the reception of this news, we yesterday visited several French establishments. We have seen many of our compatriots whose opinion has some weight; everywhere, among all the ranks, all the degrees of fortune and of intelligence, we have been able to verify a similar indifference, a similar bitter smile, composed equally of satisfaction and of disdain.

We are convinced that aside from the natural excitement most intense at the very heartstone of the great political interests of our country; we are convinced, we say, that the public sentiment ought to be in France, the due proportion observed, nearly the same as that which we have noticed in New York. Napoleon III. died at Sedan two years ago; the phantom of Chiselhurst existed no more for France, and it is only by means of an illusion ingeniously cherished by a handful of ambitious people, without fimpses and without echo, that there still exists—almost nominally—a Bonapartist party. We have said that often in reply to publications which appeared from time to time, and which represented this party as having an influence in the country districts and in the army. No, not even there. There was neither sympathy, nor affection, nor respect for the man who had placed France upon the brink of destruction. It would be almost equally true to say that there was no longer either hate or anger against him even among those who had the most execrated him. It seemed that the forgetfulness of death had already come upon him; that which remained of his memory had no longer authority or prestige, and the man who during nearly the quarter of a century had filled the world with the noise of his fame had found, before dying, the strangest, if not the severest, chastisement which could befall him—the punishment of silence.

Facts About Presidents.

There are some very curious facts connected with the Presidents of the United States. Gen. Washington, the first President, had no children. He was re-elected. John Adams, the second President, had children—sons and daughters. He was not re-elected. Thomas Jefferson, his successor, had no sons, but two daughters. He was rechosen. The fourth President, James Madison, like Washington, had no children. He was re-elected. The fifth, James Monroe, had a daughter, but no son. He was President eight years. After him came John Quincy Adams, who had children—sons, and, we think, daughters. He failed of re-election. The seventh President, Andrew Jackson, had the fate of Washington and Madison in being unfortunate as to have no descendants. Martin Van Buren, the eighth President, had sons, and was continued in office only a single term. Gen. William H. Harrison, his successor, had children of both sexes. He died in one month after his inauguration. After him came John Tyler, who had a family of sons and daughters. He was an aspirant for the Presidency, but was defeated. Then came. James K. Polk, whose domestic condition was that of Washington, Madison and Jackson—he had no children. General Taylor, who followed him, died in office in fifteen months after his accession. He had both sons and daughters, one of the latter of whom was the first wife of Jefferson Davis. The thirteenth President, Millard Fillmore had a daughter, but no son. He was not re-elected. Franklin Pierce when he came to the Presidential chair was a childless man. So also was the fifteenth President, James Buchanan, who was a bachelor. Abraham Lincoln, who succeeded him, had children, both sons and daughters, and he was the only man who had that was ever twice chosen President. Andrew Johnson had children of both sexes, but was not re-elected. Grant has both sons and daughters, and is chosen for the second term.

The Pacific Railroads.

Under the various acts of Congress which have been passed concerning the Pacific railroads, the United States have been left to pay the interest on their own bonds issued as a subsidy to the several roads. When the roads got into operation, the Secretary of the Treasury refused to pay the bills of the companies for the transportation of troops and supplies, and passed the amount of such bills to the credit of the several companies on their unpaid interest account. The railroads at once appealed to Congress, and the Senate attached to the Army Appropriation bill, two years ago, a proviso that the railroads should be paid 50 per cent. of their bills in cash, and this became the law. On Tuesday, the House in committee repealed this proviso. It may be of interest to the public to know how this interest account on these railways now stands. On the 1st of July, 1872, the account stood as follows:

Railroads.	Int. paid by U. S.	Deducted for transport'n.	Bal. due to U. S.
Central Pacific....	$6,368,376	$527,025	$5,841,351
Kansas Pacific....	1,969,353	973,905	995,448
Union Pacific.....	6,981,752	2,181,989	4,799,763
C. Branch U. P....	493,808	15,839	477,969
Western Pacific...	367,679	9,350	358,329
Sioux City and Pacific..........	389,606	826	388,780
Total.........	$16,570,575	$3,708,935	$12,861,640

At that time there had accrued, but had not been paid, interest to the amount of $1,585,614, making a total of interest then unpaid of $14,447,254. To this is now to be added interest for the six months that has intervened, making an aggregate of about $16,000,000. The effect of the action of the House on Tuesday, should it pass into a law, will be to have all the earnings of the roads, on Government business, applied to this interest account.—Chicago Tribune.

A good joke is told in Washington at the expense of a well-known Senator, who is notorious for taking two cocktails in succession before breakfast. One morning, while the Senator was practicing at the Metropolitan bar, a friend put to him the pertinent question: "Senator, why do you take two cocktails as a custom? Won't one tone you?" The Senator drew himself up: "I will tell you why I take two cocktails. When I have taken one it makes me feel like another man. Well, you see I'm bound by common courtesy to treat that man; so I take a second."

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, January 30, 1873

A bill has passed the Indiana House of Representatives, prescribing that dealers in drugs and medecines shall use labels of red to indicate prescriptions of inward medecines, and white ones for outward applications.

Of four hundred and twelve passengers, on board the ill-fated Northfleet, which was run down on the coast of England, by an unknown steamer, only ninety seven are known to have been saved.

The Temperance Bill.

We give below a few of the extracts from the temperance bill, now pending in the Legislature:

Sec. 3. Before the granting of a permit to the board of commissioners, the applicant shall cause to be executed and properly acknowledged, before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds, a bond payable to the State of Indiana, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with good freehold security thereon of not less than two persons, to be approved by the board of commissioners, and conditioned for the payment of any and all fines, penalties and forfeitures, incurred by reason of the violation of any of the provisions of this act, and conditioned farther that the principals and sureties thereon named shall be jointly and severally liable, and shall pay to any person or persons any and all damages which shall in any manner be suffered by or inflicted upon, any such person or persons, either in person or property, or means of support, by reason of any sale or sales of intoxicating liquors to any person, by the person receiving such permit, or by any of his agents or employs.

Sec. 4. The number of votes cast for candidates for Congress at the last Congressional election in the ward, town or township in which the applicant for permit desires to sell intoxicating liquors, shall be deemed to be the whole number of legal voters of such ward, town or township, a majority of whose names shall be signed to the petition of such applications.

Sec. 6. It shall be unlawful for any person, by agent or otherwise, to sell, barter, or give intoxicating liquor to miners or to persons intoxicated, or to persons who are in the habit of getting intoxicated.

Sec. 8. Any person or persons, who shall by the sale of intoxicating liquor with or without permit, cause the intoxication in whole or in part, of any other person, shall be liable for and be compelled to pay a reasonable compensation to any person who may take charge of, and provide for such intoxicated person, and two dollars per day, in addition thereto, for every day such intoxicated person shall be kept out of employment, in consequence of such intoxication.

Sec. 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to get intoxicated; any person found in a state of intoxication shall, upon conviction thereof be fined in the sum of five dollars, with the cost of prosecution; any person convicted of intoxication shall be required upon the trial, to designate the person, or persons, from whom the liquor, in whole or in part, was obtained; in default of so designating, such person shall, in addition to the fine, above mentioned, and as a part of his or her punishment for the offence, be imprisoned in the county jail not less than twenty nor more than fifty days.

Sec. 10. A permit granted under this act, shall not authorize the person so receiving it, to sell intoxicating liquor on Sunday, nor upon the day of any State county, township, or municipal election, in the township town or city, where the same may be holden, nor upon Christmas day nor upon the Fourth of July, nor upon any Thanksgiving day, nor upon any public holiday, nor after nine o'clock on any evening, and any and all sales made on any such day or after nine o'clock on any evening are hereby declared to be unlawful, and upon conviction thereof, he shall be imprisoned in the county jail, not less than ten, nor more than thirty days.

Sec. 12. In addition to the remedy and right of action provided for in section 8 of this act, every husband, wife child, parent, guardian or other person who shall be injured in person or property, or means of support by any intoxicated person, or in consequence of the intoxication, habitual or otherwise, of any person, shall have a right of action in his or her name severally or jointly against any person or persons who shall, by selling bartering or giving away intoxicating liquors, have caused the intoxication in whole or in part, of such person, or any person or persons, owning, renting, leasing, or permiting the occupation of any building or premises, and having knowledge that intoxicating liquor is to be sold therein; or who, having leased the same for other purposes, shall knowingly permit therein the sale of intoxicating liquor, or who having been informed that intoxicating liquor is sold therein, that has caused in whole or in part the intoxication of any person, shall not, immediately after being so informed, take legal steps to disposess said tenant or lessee, shall be liable, severally or jointly with the person selling, bartering or giving away intoxicating liquor as aforesaid, to any person or persons injured, for all damages, and for exemplary damages.

The Assessment Law.

The property of railroad companies except track and railroad stock, is to be assessed by the State Board, which consists of the State officers.

All personal property is to be valued at its true cash value, and each tract or lot, of real property, to be valued at its real cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale.

Personal property shall be listed between the first day of June, each year when acquired by the Assessor, and with reference to the quality held or owned on the first day of April in the year for which the property is required to be listed. Personal property purchased or acquired on the first day of April, shall be listed by or for the person purchasing it.

All real property in the State, subject to taxation, under this act, including real estate, becoming taxable for the first time shall be listed and assessed to the owner, or owners thereof, by the Assessor for the year eighteen hundred and seventy-three, and every two years thereafter, with reference to the amount owned on the first day of April, of the current years, including all property purchased on the first day of April.

The owners of property on the first day of April, in any year, shall be liable for the taxes of that year. The purchaser of property on the first day of April, shall be considered as the owner on that day.

The Assessor shall also between the first day of April and the first day of June, take a list of the taxable personal property in his county, and assess the value thereof, as in this act provided, or may hereafter be provided by the law.

In each year, in which the real property is listed and assessed the personal property shall be assessed at the same time such real property is assessed and by the same person, or persons.

Until the general election in 1874, when a county Assessor shall be elected, the Real estate Appraisors elected last fall will serve, and they, as well as the Assessors, may with the consent of the Auditor, appoint deputies."

A man thought a neighbor wasn't harnessing a mule right, and took hold to help, and immediately exchanged the role of a Samaritan, for a roll in the mud. He says no man need to look for happiness in this world.

When you have a bone on your plate and are obliged to take it up in your fingers, don't neglect to mention that "fingers were made before knives and forks." The novelty of this remark will immediately strike the company very hapily.

MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Building, Loan and Savings Association will be held on Thursday Evening, Jan. 30th,

at the Court House, at which time the monthly installments will be sold to the highest bidder.

J. B. Casebeer, Pres't

Attention Creation!

Another Rebellion

IN

Boots, Shoes and Real Estate.

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit:

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. and lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of my stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $3000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 27, '73—2m.

NOTICE

—TO—

Contractors

Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago R. R.

Engineer's Office B. & O. R. R.,
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10, 1873

Proposals will be received until the 1st day of February next, at Camden Station, Baltimore. Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masonry and Cross Ties of the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, from Defiance to Walkerton, Ind., on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago Railway, 120 sections, of one mile each.

Plans, profiles and specifications can be seen at Defiance, for the line between Defiance and Syracuse, 73 miles, and at Laporte for the line between Syracuse, and Walkertown, 47 miles.

Proposals for cross ties will state price for each kind of timber, and number of each kind proposed for.

Payments monthly in cash, retaining 20 per cent as security for completion.

The Company retains the right to reject any and all proposals.

James L. Randolph,
Chief Engineer, Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

The Largest

CLOTHING HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

—

S. Lauferty

WILL SELL

READY MADE

CLOTHING

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

ways on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES.

Perfumery, Soaps,

Brushes, Patent Medicines

School and Blank Books.

Slates, Writing Paper

Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,

Oiled, slate and Linen

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes.

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,

Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Missippi, and its connections with roads further West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed and passengers are offered a first class, all-rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps time tables, information as to rates, &c., we refer our readers to S. H. Thompson, Eastern Passenger Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered!

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200 000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all Climate, soil, timber, mineral wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT

AND SALOON.

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

No. 89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana.

CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

J. J. Boozer. E. E. Blattner.

BOOZER AND BLATTNER

Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as

Areola Cloth,	Queen's Own,
Brittanna "	Brocades,
Balerno "	Silk Stripes,
Turko, "	Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes,

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS,

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER

Another Explosion

IN

High Prices

Messrs. WOOD & WILLIAMS

Want the people of DeKalb and surrounding counties to know that they have now the largest, finest and most extensive assortment of

Dry Goods

GROCERIES,

HATS and CAPS!

BOOTS & SHOES

&c., ever exhibited in Auburn. Also

Dress Goods,

of all kinds, at the lowest figures,

FOR CASH.

Call at Case's old stand, and see the fine display. No trouble to show you goods. Produce taken at the highest market price.

WOOD & WILLIMS.

J. J. WOOD, Ada, Ohio.
E. E. WILLIAMS, Ashland, Ohio.

Fruit House!

BULLETIN

Prices for the Holidays!

GREAT REDUCTION ON

Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	30, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	9 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	18c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	25c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roastod pea nuts	10c

Oolong	4, 50, 80, and 85c
Japan	40, 50, and 85c

Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquay double thick	80c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	25 or 5lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	60c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old 76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Dinner	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	25c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquers are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, in all different kinds	25c

Wax Candles for Christmas Trees.

All different sizes, from 1½c to 3c each. All kinds of goods for Santa Claus, at one half the usual Price.

Fine Fresh Oysters,

AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.

Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

EXTRORDINARY SLAUGHTER

—OF—

DRY GOODS,

—AT—

C. ORFF & CO'S.

We will offer for sale for 60 days some of the greatest

BARGAIN!

Ever Offered in FORT WAYNE.

BARGAINS IN DRESS GOODS!

We have just received a splendid line of new Dress Goods, such as Cashmeres in all new shades, Empress, Satins, Serges, all wool Diagonals, Albanian Cloths in shades, etc., which, by having purchased late in the season, we can afford to sell for less than they were sold in New York City four weeks ago by the Jobbers; and we have marked all of our other Dress Goods to correspond with these prices.

Cashmeres, all the new shades, 1½ yards wide, reduce to $ 1.25 which is less than they have ever been sol for

All-wool Diagonals, for	75 cents;	worth $1.00 to 125
New Sades in Albanian Cloths,	75,	1.00 to 1.25
Silks and Wool Velours,	1.00	1.50
20 pieces Irish Poplins,	1.35	1.75
20pieces 28-inch Velours,	1.35	150 to 175
Satins in new shades,	1.00	125
	75	1.00
	50	75
100 pieces Japanese Stripes at	30	40 to 50

We have picked out a large lot of Dress Goods which we will sell for 25 cents per yard. Amongst which will be the cheapest lot of Dress Goods ever in Ft. Wayne.

GREAT REDUCTION IN

Black and Colored Silks!

We have made a reduction of 20 to 30 per cent. on our stack of Silks

Shawl, Cloak and Fur Departmnt

We have in this department the largest stock of the above goods of any house in the city, and we have the greatest bargains in Cloaks, Shawls and furs ever seen in the city.

New Ottoman Shawls!

At	$9.00,	worth $12.00
At	8.00,	worth 11.00
At	7.50,	worth 10.00
At	4.00,	worth 6.00

Plaid Shawls long and square, in immense quantities and at prices less than before the war.

☞ Once more, we have BARGAINS for you in every Department, and mean what we say.

You want the Goods and we want the Money; so give us a call.

C. ORFF & CO.,

No. 5 and 7 COLUMBIA St., FORT WAYNE, IND

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

The [illegible]ing is grand.

Corunna and Sedan are to have a hop next month.

The snow in the woods is said to be from 15 to 18 inches deep.

See advertisement of John Otto in another column. A good bargain is offered.

The fox hunt in Huntington County had a very favorable result—for the foxes.

Martin & Easeley have formed a partnership in the harness business of this place.

During the terrible storm of last Thursday, the smoke stack of the Eagle Mills was blown down.

Pork, beef, dressed poultry, vegetables, groceries, &c., at Tarney's. Go and see the new stock at the new grocery.

We are obliged to G. Leas, attorney at law, Waterloo, for a ride behind his fine team over to Auburn.

The Circuit Court, Judge Tousley presiding, convenes next week. There are about one hundred cases on the docket.

We tender our thanks to Congressman Williams for a complete set of Congressional Globes of the 41st and 42nd Congress.

Next week the Circuit Court will be in session. We trust that those of our subscribers who are in arrears yet, will give us a call when in attendance upon court.

The Press noticed Messrs. Morris & Withers and Stahl as attorneys from abroad, but did not mention Chapin, of Albion. Reason, political complexion and partizan prejudice.

Ho, for fox hunt. Now's the time, the time, the snow is deep and foxes can't run fast, you know. Get out your cow bells and tin horns and move upon the enemy.

Hon. W. W. Conner, the gentleman who made the excellent speech at the Court House during the campaign has been appointed Adjutant General of the State by Gov. Hendricks.

Prof. Hall, who tried his game at this place has been dead-beating the verdant folks of Van Wert, O. He is the brassiest piece to meet with success we ever saw.

A musical entertainment and Festival at Case's Hall, Friday evening, Feb. 7th, for the Benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday School. A good social time is anticipated. Let everybody turn out.

Persons knowing themselves indebted to the estate of O. B. Hare, deceased, are requested to call at the old stand, now occupied by S. W. & T. H. Sprott, and settle the same, thereby saving cost. No further notice will be given.

C. D. Hare.

This item is to inform our friends that we were not elected one of the Directors of the Northern Prison. Shed not a tear.—Col. City Com.

Round our friend's early bier. Well, John, we wish you better luck next time.

Same meteoric, diabolical bummer from Pierceton has been lying around town nearly a week, drinking our whiskey. We wish he could be sent for at once.—Col. City Post.

By all means have him sent for. We would'nt have Campbell's supplies cut off for anything. Remember Omaha.

Installation.—At the regular session of Cedar Encampment No. 65 I. O. O. F. Jan. 24th, the following officers were installed:

T. B. Totten, C. P.; W. B. Sandoe, H. P.; F. E. Davenport, S. W.; Albert Robbins, J. W.; Wm. McIntyre, Scribe; Sam T. Galloway, Treas.

The Folio for February comes to us more than usually attractive in spicy news, and musical information. It also contains ten pages of music, both vocal and instrumental, worth thrice the price of the whole work. Only $1 a year.—White, Smith & Perry, 298 Washington street, Boston.

We take the following discription of a toilette at the Hebrew ball at Fort Wayne, from the Journal:

Pink silk, high corsage, en traine trimmed in white valenciennes, hair powdered en mansard Saphire, Jewelry. Great Ceasar, they're putting on mansards a ready.

We are obliged to the managers of the masquerade, at Angola, last Friday evening, for a special invitation. We should have been pleased to attended had circumstances permitted. We learned from the party from Fort Wayne, that it was a grand success, and they were feeling splendidly over the reception with which they were greeted.

Messrs. Beeser & Blattner, the popular dry goods firm of Waterloo, are offering splendid bargains in dry goods, and are receiving quite a liberal share of the public patronage. Their stock is complete and extensive, and the ladies will be especially delighted with the many new styles which they are offering at reduced prices. They are both capital, clever gentlemen and know how to run a store.

It is a little singular that Gov. Baker should have waited until the last moment of his term of office to recommend the passage of a strict temperance law by the Legislature of Indiana. During the six years that he occupied the Gubernatorial chair, not a word was uttered by him in the advocacy of such a measure. Was it cowardice, or did he 'swear off' on New Year?—Banner.

Messrs. Leas & Cool shipped a large number of hogs from this point last week. They shipped a large number from Waterloo the other week, and the Press gave the particular residence of each hog. We can't do this because our acquaintance is not so extensive with this class of our inhabitants as that of our neighbor. You know how it is myself.

Jno. L. Davis, Esq., and family returned home yesterday from a brief visit to Buffalo.

Terrible Storm.—Last Thursday one of the most terrible snow storms known to the oldest inhabitants, reigned during the day, blockading roads, piling up the snow in every imaginable shape, and disgusting everybody generally. Notwithstanding this the Odd Fellows turned out a large number at the funeral of Mr. Hornberger, but were snowed up at Waterloo until the next morning.

So great is the influence for toning and stimulating the nervous system, of Smolander's Buchu, that renewed energy and fresh vigor is imparted throughout the whole nerve fabric, and such maladies as affect the kidneys bladder and glands, as well as mental and physical debility, diabetes, gravel, want of vigor and female complaints are promptly expelled by this valuable vegetable medicine.

A Fable.—A woman was walking, and a man looked at her and followed her.—The woman said, 'why do you look at me? He answered, 'Because I have fallen in love with you. 'The woman said 'why are you in love with me?' My sister is much handsomer. She is coming after me; go and make love to her. 'The man turned back and saw a woman with an ugly face. Being greatly displeased he went again to the other woman and said, 'Why did you tell me a falsehood? The woman answered 'Neither did you speak the truth; for if you were in love with me, why did you go after another woman?

As the particulars of the terrible storm last week are received, the tale of suffering grows more frightful. Nothing in the history of the Northwest equals it. Probably not less than one hundred lives were lost by the storm. Men, women and children perished, and in one case an infant was frozen in its mother's arms. In another a mother and a new-born babe froze to death while waiting for the return of the husband, who had gone for a physician, and who was frozen on his way home. The account grows sickening as we read, and it is well said that the elements have proven less merciful than the savages.

The Press says that it is a great disappointment that Judge Clapp's decision in the Bond Case did not succeed in throwing the case out of the courts. As much as to say that it does not desire to recover an equivalent for money stolen while its party was in power. Now, we are not so partizan as that, because we would be in favor of prosecuting it to the very last if a Democrat was the offender, and would rather assist in keeping it open than to cover it up. But our neighbor is very consistant, and fights for its party right or wrong, while if we defend any of the acts of the present Commissioners, we are then charged with being fed. But then its the Press and we pass.

EXPLORATIONS IN AFRICA, BY DR. LIVINGSTONE AND OTHERS.

This work is now ready for delivery.—It is, in the first place, a work of a general nature. Nowhere else can so much information in regard to the African Continent be obtained in four times the space or five times the money. Comprehensive outlines of the Explorations of Mungo Park, Denham and Clapperton, Burton Speke, Grant, the celebrated Dr. Barth, Du Chaillu, and others, are contained in the work, with accounts of the most thrilling experiences of Cumming, Du Chaillu and others; also the great expiditions of Dr. Livingstone, the most extensive and most valuable of contributions to African knowledge, and the successful search expedition of the New York Herald, are set forth with great fullness and elaboration.

The work shows the agricultural and commercial advantages and wants of Africa in a clear and comprehensive manner, making it evident that this continent so long sitting in darkness, has many valuable capabilities of trade, of which America might greatly profit, especially upon the suppression of the slave trade.

Here will be found also, in connection with the New York Herald Expedition of Search which succeeded in finding Dr. Livingstone, a comprehensive history of the rise and development of modern journalism into its present position, with many interesting facts in regard thereto not heretofore generally known.

The book will be found of special interest to Christian people, to men of business and trade, and to all who desire to be informed upon a subject now exciting so much interest.

Address, The Union Publishing Company, Chicago, Ill.

W. J. Woolsey, of Waterloo, is agent for this work and is canvassing DeKalb County for subscriptions.

Court Proceedings.

The business before the Common Pleas Court is unusually large, and though Judge Clapp is using all expediency possible most of this week will be occupied in finishing up the docket. In the criminal cases the following were disposed of:

Eugene Lackey and Wm. Lannum, charged with assault battery, plea not guilty, were fined $5 and costs.

Chas Fox, violation of liquor law, $5 and costs.

For disturbing meeting, Hornberger, Wingant and Rosenbery, $5 and costs.

For assault and battery, Geo. Somerlott, $50, and costs.

Shoudell and another $5 and costs.

Oliver Camp for assault $5 and costs.

Assault and battery, Wm. Wallace $20 North and Staley $20 each and costs.

The State vs. J. P. Gestenslager, complaint, judgement for three hundred dollars.

Geo. Sientz, disturbing meeting, $5 and costs.

Our hands are sitting 'round the fire, waiting some relaxation from the icy grasp of this Wednesday morning.

Cold cold. Themometer 29° below Zero last Tuesday night in the shade.

We were mistaken as to the complextion of the Board of Commissioners of '64. But then we said nothing of a derogatory character relative to that body, and therefore have no apology to make.

We take pleasure now in correcting the cheerful idiots who preside over the Press in regard to the "poor being forced in contributing to our benefit." The law in force previous to the present demands that the Auditor shall make out a statement of the delinquent taxes between the 8th and 15th of December of each year and have the same published, and to not pay more than 60 cents per description. We agreed to do it for 45 cents, as we have the last two years. After this was set up and published in our paper two consecutive times, the new law was received limiting the pay to 30 cents a per description. That is a fair statement, and any person of ordinary intelligence can see that we are forcing no one to pay us one farthing. We are law abiding, and desire to comply with the law in every respect. If the present law has force in contracts made before its passage we will cheerfully submit. But we want other authority than that of the brace of infantile cyphers that preside over the Press.

THE EEL RIVER ROAD.

Subscription Must be Paid by February Fifteenth.

President Collins gave us a call last Monday in the interest of the Eel River Road. He authorized us to say to the people that unless the amount of subscription desired by the company to build this road through our county was not taken up and vouched for by the fifteenth of next month, the road would not be built. There is still about $25,000 yet to be subscribed, and this must be secured by that time. If it is done promptly then we are assured the road will be built, and if we fail, we fail forever as far as this road is concerned, as other offers are made by other lines.

Now what shall we do, lay around dormant and lazy, heeding not our own interests, or shall we come up promptly like men, and subscribe liberally until we have this amount. Sixty thousand dollars was subscribed once, and what has been done can be done again if we so will it.

Where is the Committee appointed to take charge of this work? Let them make a draft upon any citizen who can assist them for a day or two, and there are none who know their interest that will refuse. All should work for this end, and let us not be governed by what our neighbors do, but do what we can and that amount can be raised without much effort.

Another Fatal Accident.

We had scarcely recovered from the shock occasioned by the death of Robt Hall, but a few days ago, when that of another still more frightful, and ghastly in its details is announced in the mangling of Isaac Hornberger, a brakeman on the Airline road. This occurred last Wednesday forenoon, near Butler and as no one saw the accident, there is no knowing the exact manner in which he came to his death.

The following is the verdict of the Coroners jury:

"We the undersigned jurors empanaled and sworn on the 23d day of January 1873, at Butler, DeKalb county, Ind., J. J Latson, Coroner of said county to Enquire and true presentment make in what manner and by whom Isaac Hornberger, whose body was found on the 22nd day of January, 1873, came to his death. After having the evidence and examining the body, we do find that the decease came to his death by falling in front of cars, while in motion, and receiving mortal wounds and bruises. And that said body has upon the following wounds and marks inflicted by said cars: 1st, left arm mangled and cut off, one deep wound and heavy bruise in the left temple, one deep wound and brains oozing from the right ear.

Given under our hands at this time and place of said inquisition above mentioned."

J. Ferrier, Forman,
David Fay,
J. D. Moore,
Jacob Johnson,
John Plows,
T. C. Sargeant.

SEDAN BREVITIES.

Perhaps the editor of the Corunna misunderstood us, or somebody else, in regard to the incendiarism at this place.—Royal Grates' wagon shop was fired no doubt by some fiend, but the fire was extinguished before doing much damage.

We regret that the series of meeting that have been in progress in this place, under the management of Rev. Mr. Rice, ceased one evening last week, without any accessions to the church.

We, the people of Sedan, boast of one of the best schools in Richland township. For several year past the people of this district have been imposed upon, with two exceptions, by an inferior class of teachers, but fortunately this winter the Director has made a good selection and the school is in a prosperous condition.

A certain young lady, whose name we omit, requests us to gently hint to a well known bashful young man of this vicinity, that if he expects to see her home from church any more, she would be obliged if he would start a little sooner, and not wait until she is half way home before offering his arm. This request is based upon the principal that a "whole loaf is better than a half," and if he is too bashful to go all the way, perhaps some one else will be brave enough to go the "whole hog."

G. M. C.

Died at the residence of her Son, Lemuel R. Hartman, Esq., No. 241 West Wayne street, of Dropsy, Catharine, wife of Rev. David H. Hartman, of the Centenary M. E. Church.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of Robert Hall, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

THOMAS HALL, Adm'r.

January 17, 1873.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator De bonis non of the estate of Calvin Dewitt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WASHINGTON TEETERS, Adm'r.

January 27, 1873.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of Richland Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will, at the March (1873) session of the Board of Commissioners of said county, apply for a license to retail spiritous liquors in a less quantity than a quart at a time, and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises: Lot No one, in A. Disler's addition to the town of Corunna, in said Township.

GEO. McMILLAN.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana of the estate of David Solenberger, late of said county, deceased.—Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JACOB SOLLENBERGER, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

In the Common Pleas Court May Term, 1873.

James Hamilton
vs
Sam Rice and George Rice } Complaint No.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by Best & McClellan his attorneys and files his complaint herein together with an affidavit that said Defendants Sam Rice and George Rice are not residenents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given said defendan that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of May a. d. 1873, at the Court-House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 17th day of January 1873.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R. Company—Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad Company, for the election of officers, will be held at the office of the President of the company, in the city of Jackson, in the State of Michigan, on the second Tuesday, being the 11 day of February, a. d. 1873, at one o'clock p. m. on the Tuesday preceding such election, and remain closed until after the final adjournment of such annual meeting.

Dated at Jackson, January 9, 1873.

EUGENE PRINGLE, Sec'y.

Auction Sale.

I. Lauferty & Son.

South-east corner of Columdia and Calhoun Streets.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Will commence selling at Auction their entire stock of Fashionable Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods on SATURDAY, JAN. 11th 8873.

at 10 o'clock a. m., and from day to day thereafter until the entire stock is sold

WE QUIT THE BUSINESS!

Now is your time to buy

GOOD GOODS!

at your own prises. Remember on Saturday morning Jan. 11th. Call soon as they will go fast.

I. LAUFERTY & SON.

Best Thing in the West

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.

Lands

THREE MILLION ACRES

Situated in and near the Arkansas Valley, the Finest Portion of Kansas!

Eleven years' Credit, Seven per Cent. Interest. 22½ per cent. reduction to settlers who improve.

A FREE PASS TO BUYERS.

THE FACTS about this Grant are—Low Prices, Long Credit, and a Rebate to settlers of nearly one fourth; a Rich Soil and Splendid Climate; short and mild Winters; early planting, and no wintering of stock; plenty of Rainfall, and just at the right season; Coal, Stone and Brick on the line; Cheap Rates on Lumber, Coal, &c.; no lands owned by Speculators; Homestead and Pre-emptions now abundant; a first-class Railroad on the line of a great Through Route; Products will pay for Land and Improvements.

It is the best opportunity ever offered to the public, through the recent completion of the Road.

For Circulars and general Information, address

A. E. TOUZALIN, Manager Land Dep't.
TOPEKA, KAN

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

CLEARING-OUT SALE!

—AT—

C. ORFF AND CO'S.

5 & 7 Columbia-st., Ft. Wayne.

We will offer for the next forty-five days commencing January 11th, [and continuing until the forty-five days are up,] our entire stock of Fancy Domestic

DRY GOODS!

Including the whole of the Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, Furs, and Fancy Goods

At Actual Cost.

and many styles at even less. We must close out our entire stock of Dress Goods, Furs, Shawls and Fancy Goods and LOW PRICES must do it.

Look! Look!

at these prices of Dress Goods; they are 25 to 50 per cent. lower than the goods sold before the war

Our entire stock of Cashmeres, including the new shades, reduced			$1.00	worth 1.50
A full line of Colors in Silk and Woolen Velours at			90	" 1.50
All of our Irish and French Poplins reduced to			1.36	" 2.00
All-wool Serges reduced to	60 c		90
All-wool Satines reduced to	75 c	worth	100
All-wool Satines reduced to	50 c	worth	75
A large line of Japanese Stripes reduced to	55 cents	worth	75	to 85

We shall have to tables in the center of the store filled with Dress Goods at 25, 30 and 40 cents, many of which are worth double the money.

CLOAKS. CLOAKS.

We will close out our stock of Cloaks at actual first cost. We have some of our very best styles left, and this will be a rare opportunity to buy a handsome cloak for little money.

FURS. FURS.

We have reduced the price of our Sable, Mink, Fitch and Seal-skin Furs fully one-half, and are determined to close them out during the next thirty days

Our Entire Stock of Shawls.

Will be sold at less than they have been offered for the last ten years. We have left some very handsome Ottoman Stripes, also a good assortment of Paisely in long and square, which must be sold.

Beaver Clokings.

$5.00 Beaver reduced to $3.50. $6.00 Beaver reduced to 4.00. One price each of drab blue and brown silk plush, for ladies' and children's Sacques, reduced from $4.00 to 2.50.

Great Reduction in Laces, Embroideries, Collars, Handkerchiefs, and all kinds of Fancy Goods. We have a large stock of this class of goods, and we want to clear them out.

We have the largest stock of Corsets in the city, and they have been reduced with all other goods.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

During our sale we will sell our best prints at 10c, our heaviest brown muslin 12½, our fine brown muslin 12½c, 200 pieces of soft-finished Bleached Muslin at 12½c

Remember this sale will continue for the next forty days, commencing January 11.

C. ORFF & CO.

People's

Convention

Everybody's Ticket!

The People's Choice.

CHEAP, CHEAPER, CHEAPEST.

Save Your Money and Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnithing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,

No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

The Mother's Help.

The Childen's Fiend.

MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great

PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Clothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

KEEPING PUBLIC SCHOOL.

[illegible] through the door,
Pushing, crowding, making
A tremendous roar;
Why don't you keep quiet?
Can't you mind the rule?
Bless me! this is pleasant,
Keeping public school.

Eighty little pilgrims
On the road to fame!
If they fail to reach it,
Who will be to blame?
High and lowly stations,
Birds of every feather,
On a common level
Here are brought together.

Dirty little faces,
[illegible] little hearts,
Eyes brimful of mischief,
Skilled in all the arts,
That's a precious darling!
What are you about?
"May I pass the water?"
"Please may I go out?"

Boots and shoes are shuffling,
Slates and books are rattling,
And in the corner yonder
Two pugilists are battling!
Others cutting didoes,
What a botheration!
No wonder we grow crusty
From such association.

Anxious parents drop in,
Merely to inquire
Why his olive branches
Do not shoot higher;
Says he wants his children
To mind their p's and q's,
And hopes their brilliant talents
Will not be abused

Spelling, reading, writing,
Putting up the young ones,
Fuming, scolding, fighting,
Spurring up the dumb ones,
Gymnast, vocal music!
How the heart rejoices
When the singer comes
To cultivate the voices.

Institute attending,
Making out reports,
Giving object lessons,
Class drills of all sorts;
Reading dissertations,
Feeling like a fool—
Oh, the untold blessing
Of keeping public school.

THE TRUMPETER'S HORSE.

I was nearly forty, and felt myself so securely anchored in my old-bachelor crotchets that on every occasion I swore, with all sincerity and by all the gods in the heathen calendar, I would never take a single risk in the matrimonial lottery; but—I counted without the trumpeter's horse.

It was toward the last of September, 1864. I was on my way back from Baden-Baden, and intended to spend, at most, a day in Paris. I had invited four or five of my friends, for the hunting season, to my estate in Piton. They were to arrive early in October, and at least a week was necessary to make preparations, at La Roche-Targe, for their reception. A letter from my steward, that awaited me in Paris, brought me unwelcome news. My hounds were all in good condition, but five of my twelve hunters had either fallen sick of some horse disorder or had become lame during my absence. I was, therefore, compelled to supply their places with others.

To this end I made a tour in the Elysian Fields among the dealers, who showed me any number of animals—some better, some worse—that they recommended as hunters, at a moderate price—about three thousand francs, on the average. I had experienced losses at Baden-Baden, and consequently I was in no humor to spend seven or eight hundred louis d'or without mature deliberation.

It was a Wednesday. Cheri, one of the principal dealers, had his first sale of the season. Without any further knowledge of the animals he offered than what I derived from the catalogue and from their appearance, I bought eight for ten thousand francs. Among them I hoped to find four or five, at least, that would do for relays, which would enable me to get through the season.

Among my purchases there was one horse that I bought almost solely on account of his color, which was truly beautiful. The catalogue attributed no special qualifications to him for the chase. He was entered simply as "Brutus, saddle-horse, well built, thoroughly broken, age unknown." He was a beautiful dapple-gray, large, and very handsomely formed. The next day I went home; and the day following, early in the forenoon, a servant came and informed me that the horses had arrived. I immediately went out to see them, or, rather, to see Brutus; for this handsome fellow had been in my head ever since I bought him, and I was singularly impatient to find out what kind of a comrade he was going to make, and what he was capable of doing.

I had brought him out of the stable first. He certainly had all the signs of being of a respectable age; but he was well made, had a very handsome neck and head, a powerful shoulder, and a well-turned quarter. But it was not his fine points that so much excited myr es miration as the intelligent manner als, which he observed all my movements. He seemed to be interested in what I said. He inclined his head toward me, in order, apparently, to hear better; and when I had done speaking, he uttered a low whinny, seemingly in response. I looked at the other horses hastily. They were ordinary animals, without anything to distinguish them from thousands of others. Not so with Brutus. He certainly differed widely from the vulgar herd, and I was impatient to make a little tour through my park in his company. He allowed himself to be saddled, bridled, and mounted, like a horse that knows his business; and we set out in the best possible humor with each other.

Cheri's catalogue had only told the truth. Brutus was exceedingly well broken; indeed, he was too well broken for my purposes. He would give me a slow trot or gallop at call, but would continually paw the ground with his fore-feet in a peculiar manner; and, when I tried to make him raise his head, which he carried very low, he would nearly tear my arm off. Finally, he took to prancing in grand style, like a horse-show in an arena.

"Humph!" said I to myself; "I have [illegible] in error—an old [illegible] school of Saumur. He will have to be gotten out of some of his fancy paces before he will do for the chase."

I was about to return home, having sufficiently satisfied my curiosity with regard to Brutus' accomplishments, when I heard the report of a gun discharged apparently within twenty yards of me. It was one of my keepers shooting a hare, and who subsequently received a handsome present for the shot from his wife.

I was at the moment exactly in the center of an open space formed by the junction of six long, shaded alleys. When Brutus heard the report of the gun he stopped short, planted his feet firmly in the sand, pricked up his ears, and raised his head high in the air. I was surprised to see him so disturbed by the report of fire-arms. I would have supposed that, after the liberal education he had received in his youth, no amount of firing would have excited his curiosity. I touched his flank with my heels, in order to urge him forward; but Brutus refused to budge. I tried to turn him to the right, to the left; not a foot would he move. He stood like a statue; and, nevertheless—you need not laugh, for, be assured, what I am telling you is strictly true—and, nevertheless, at every effort a made to induce him to go on, he would turn his head and glance at me with an expression of impatience and surprise; then he would relapse into his statue-like immobility. There was clearly some misunderstanding between us, for I read very distinctly in his glances that he would say: "I, the horse, but do my duty, and you, the cavalier, do not do yours."

I was more puzzled than angered.

"What manner of beast is this that I have bought of Cheri?" said I to myself. "And why does he look at me in this queer way?"

I was on the point of having recourse to extreme measures—that is, to administer a shower of well-laid-on blows with my riding-whip—when we heard another shot—Brutus and I—at which he made one bound, and only one. All my endeavors to induce him to go on were fruitless. He planted his feet anew in the sand, and more firmly, if possible, than at first. I began now to get out of patience, and, as a consequence, to ply my whip; but Brutus also lost patience, and, instead of submitting tamely to the punishment I inflicted, he pitched and kicked in the most furious manner imaginable. But while the battle was at its height, and I was dealing him heavy blows with the loaded handle of my whip, he found time to give me a look, now and then, full, not only of indignation, but of surprise. It was plain that, while I demanded of the horse what he refused, he expected something from me that I did not do.

And how, think you, did this end? To my shame—my great shame. I was ignominiously unhorsed—thrown! Brutus, it seemed, came to the conclusion that nothing was to be effected by violence, and that he must change his tactics. After a moment's pause, which was certainly a moment of reflection, he stood straight up in the air, not on his hind-legs but on his fore-feet, and that, too, with as much calmness and address as a clown walks on his hands. Of course I slid down over his head into the sand, which, fortunately, was tolerably deep.

I tried to rise, but one of my legs refused to do me service; I uttered a cry of pain, and fell forward flat into the sand. I had ruptured one of the smaller tendons of my right leg, which, although not a very serious matter, caused me great pain whenever I attempted to stir. Nevertheless, I succeeded in turning over and sitting up, but at the moment when I began to rub my eyes, which were full of sand, and to wonder what had become of my rascally dapple-gray, I saw a horse's foot descend on my head, then the foot was placed gently against my breast, and I was stretched out again on the sand; this time on my back.

I was now, and very naturally too, I think, exceedingly frightened, and, more, I felt that it would be useless to make any further effort. I therefore remained quietly on my back, asking myself, once more, what manner of beast was this that I had bought from Cheri; at the same time I closed my eyes and awaited death, for I expected to be killed. But, instead of receiving my coup de grace, I suddenly heard a strange stamping in the sand, and, at the same time, a quantity of dirt and gravel struck me in the face. I opened my eyes, and lo! there was Brutus, using all four feet with wonderful address, endeavoring to cover me up in the sand. He was doing his best, the dear fellow, and every now and then he would pause to see what progress he was making; then he would raise his head, give expressions of self-satisfaction in a low whinny, and resume his work. This continued four or five minutes, when, thinking me, doubtless, sufficiently covered, he approached respectfully and knelt—got down on both knees, and seemed actually to be uttering a prayer—while I looked on in wonder and amazement.

His prayer being finished, Brutus bowed his head slightly, rose, walked away a few steps, stopped, looked toward me, and then began to gallop round the open space in the center of which I was lying. This he did some twenty times—round—round—round—until I began to be dizzy from watching him, when I cried out, "Halt! halt!" He obeyed, but seemed embarrassed to know what he should do next. At this moment he noticed my hat, which had fallen off when I was dumped so unceremoniously into the sand, and lay a few feet from me. At the sight of it, Brutus seemed to be relieved of his embarrassment. He immediately went toward it, picked it up with his teeth, and started off at a brisk gallop down one of the six alleys that I have mentioned.

Brutus disappeared, and I remained alone. Never was a man more puzzled—confounded. What the strange conduct of the horse meant, was more than I could divine. I shook off the sand that partially covered me, and crawled on my hands to a little spot of grass at the corner of one of the alleys. Arrived there, I made myself as comfortable as possible, and then cried out at the top of my voice, in the hope of making myself heard by some one; but I got no response. The park, at least the part where I was, seemed to be entirely deserted. There was only one thing to do—to wait till some one came that way.

I had been a full half hour in this unenviable position, when I espied Brutus a long distance off, at the end of the alley by which he had disappeared, galloping toward me in a big cloud of dust. Little by little, as he came nearer, I discovered a pony-chaise in the cloud; then, in the chaise, a woman, who was driving herself, and behind the lady, a little groom.

A few minutes after making this welcome discovery, Brutus, covered with foam, stopped before me and let my hat fall at my feet, saluting me with a sympathetic whinny, which seemed to say: "I went for help, sir; and here it is." But I had no eyes for Brutus, or ears for his explanations. My senses were occupied with the ministering fairy, who sprang lightly from her little carriage and hastened toward me. She, too, on her part, looked at me very inquiringly, and suddenly we cried out in one breath, respectively:

"Madame de Noriolis!"

"Monsieur de La Roche-Targe!"

Now, I have an aunt, and for years between her and me, there has been a continued battle.

"Get married!" she has insisted.

"I don't want to marry!"

"Do you want a young girl? I have Mademoiselle A——, Mademoiselle B——, and Mademoiselle C——, etc."

"I don't want to marry!"

"Do you want a widow? I have Madame D——, Madame E——, Madame F——, and so on."

"I don't want to marry!"

Madame de Noriolis always figured among the first of my aunt's widows, and I noticed that she never failed to dwell at length on all the advantages I saw in this union. It was not necessary to tell me that Madame de Noriolis was pretty—any one could see that without prompting—or that she was rich. She chose, rather, to remind me ever and again that the late Monsieur de Noriolis was a fool, who was never happy as when he had succeeded in making his wife exceptionably miserable, and that consequently nothing would be easier than for her second husband to make himself adored.

Then, after a lengthy eulogy of Madame de Noriolis' virtues, graces, and merits, my aunt, who was very adroit, and knew my vulnerable points, would take from her secretary a map of the neighborhood and spread it on the table. The map was very exact and complete, and had been bought for the sole purpose of convincing me that, if I had any sense at all, I would marry Madame de Noriolis. The chateaux of Noriolis and of La Roche-Targe figured on the map, and were hardly five leagues apart. My aunt, having artfully drawn a red line around the two domains, would oblige me to look at it, saying:

"Two thousand one hundred acres, good measure, and not a single division hedge, if Noriolis were united to La Roche-Targe! Eh, isn't that sufficient to persuade my huntsman nephew?"

The temptation was so great that I could only turn away and take refuge in my usual refrain:

"I don't want to marry."

But I felt that I was in danger, nevertheless, really in danger; and, whenever I met Madame de Noriolis, I always saw her encircled by my aunt's red line, like an aureola, and couldn't help saying to myself:

"Exceedingly pretty—there's no denying it—and clever and sensible, too—two thousand one hundred acres without a division-hedge—humph! Fly, Monsieur de La Roche-Targe—fly, since you don't want to marry!"

And fly I would, and always did, but how could I fly this time? There I was, stretched out on the grass, covered with sand, my hair in disorder, my clothes torn, and one leg that refused to do me service; and now there stood Madame de Noriolis before me, dashing and fair, the red line wound all round her as usual; and asking, in her most seductive tones:

"Mon Dieu! is it you, Monsieur de La Roche-Targe? What are you doing here? What has happened to you?"

I frankly confessed that I had been ignominiously thrown.

"You are not hurt, I hope?"

"No; not seriously, at all events. I have strained my right leg a little; but it is not serious, I am sure."

"And what horse acted so badly—not this one, certainly?" pointing to Brutus, who was quietly browsing near at hand.

"Yes, that one; he is the culprit."

"What! this noble fellow? Well, he has fully made amends, I assure you; but I will tell you all about that by-and-by. We must first think about getting you home."

"I cannot take a step."

"Oh, I will drive you home, at the risk of compromising you."

And she called Bob, the little groom, who took me by one arm, while she took me by the other, and helped me into her chaise. Two minutes more, and we were on the road to La Roche-Targe. We were alone in the chaise, Bob having taken charge of Brutus, who had shown no unwillingness to be caught.

"Make yourself comfortable, and keep your leg as straight as you can," said Madame de Noriolis. "I will drive you as gently as possible."

In fact, she said a great many little, amiable, womanly things, that I found it very pleasant to listen to. Then, when she saw me in a comfortable position, she asked me to tell her how I came to be thrown, saying that afterward she would tell me how she chanced to come to my aid.

I began my narrative, to which she listened attentively until I commenced to describe Brutus' efforts to throw me, after the two shots, when she cried, laughing in her silveriest tones:

"Oh, I see it all! I see it all! You have bought the trumpeter's horse!"

"The trumpeter's horse?"

"Why, yes; and that explains the whole mystery. Have you not seen many a time, at the Cirque de l'Imperatrice, the feats of the horse of the trumpeter? A chasseur d'Afrique enters the arena on a large, gray horse; the Arabs follow, and shoot at the chasseur, who is wounded and falls—and, as you did not fall, the horse, indignant at this neglect of duty, threw you off. And what did he do when you were on the ground?"

I told her of the effort he made to give me a decent burial.

"The trumpeter's horse!" she continued—"toujours the trumpeter's horse! He sees that his master is wounded; the Arabs may come and dispatch him. So, what does he do? He buries him. And what did he do then? Started off on a gallop, did he not?"

"Yes, carrying my hat—"

"Instead of the colors, to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy. There being no flag, he took what he could find. And where does he go?"

"To find the vivandiere."

"Precisely. He goes to find the vivandiere; and the vivandiere, to-day, if you please, and I, the Countess of Noriolis. He entered my yard on a gallop. I was on the steps, putting on my gloves preparatory to driving out. The stable-boys, seeing a horse approach, saddled and bridled, a hat in his mouth, and without a rider, tried to catch him; but he avoids them, and, coming straight to the steps, he falls on his knees before me. The men try again to catch him, but he springs to his feet and starts off on a gallop. At the gate he stops, looks back, and calls me—"

"Calls you?"

"Yes, I assure you, calls me. I cry out to the men to let him go, jump into my chaise and follow him over roads not originally intended for carriages; but no matter—I arrive, and I find you."

Just as Madame de Noriolis had finished her narrative, the chaise received a fearful shock from the rear, and the next moment we saw Brutus' head towering proudly above and behind us. He and Bob had been following close behind, when, seeing the groom's seat vacant, he had availed himself of the opportunity thus offered to make a further exhibition to his new master of his accomplishments. He had reared up, and placed his fore-feet on the vacant seat; and now, with Bob clinging for dear life to his mane and the pommel of the saddle, he was trotting along on his hind-feet only, with all the nonchalance in the world.

As for Madame de Noriolis, she was so terrified that she dropped the reins and threw herself into my arms—dear, adorable Madame de Noriolis!—and rested her little head against my shoulder. With the left hand I caught up the reins, and with the right I supported Madame de Noriolis. My leg hurt me most fearfully; still I bore it without a murmur, and continued to support my lovely burden.

It was thus that Madame de Noriolis made her first visit to La Roche-Targe.

When she returned about midnight, some six weeks afterward, having during the day become Madame de La Roche-Targe, she said to me:

"What a strange thing life is, my dear! Nothing of all this would have been but for—the trumpeter's horse."—Appletons' Journal.

The House of Bonaparte.

The living members of the Bonaparte family are Prince Napoleon (Plon-Plon), who married Princess Clothilde, daughter of the King of Italy. He constituted himself a sort of breakwater between the despotism of his cousin the Emperor and the liberalism of the party of progress. He lived in fine style in the Palais Royal until the Napoleonic fabric broke down. He is now among the dismounted cavalry of the Empire, and passes his time contemplating the beauties of Lake Leman.

Prince Pierre Bonaparte, who murdered Victor Noir and was acquitted of the crime, was born at Rome on the 11th of October, 1815. He was the son of Lucien Bonaparte by his second wife. At the age of 16 he took part in the Tuscan insurrection, was arrested, and shut up for six months in the citadel of Leghorn. On being set free he proceeded to the United States, as the doors of the Church were closed against him. In January, 1832, he arrived in New York in a Yankee commercial brig, and went up to Breeze Point, on the Delaware, where his Uncle Joseph was living. From that he turned to New Grenada, where a struggle for independence was going on, and Santamler being his uncle's friend, he received the commission of Chef d'Escadron. In 1833 he returned to Europe and was permitted by the Pope to settle at Canino, in the Maremma. After many infamous scrapes he finally pulled up in Paris with an intense loyalty for the Napoleonic regime. In a cowardly way he shot a promising young Frenchman, Victor Noir, and after being acquitted of the offense left France. He is now reported to be in Corsica.

Cardinal Lucien Bonaparte, of the Order of Priests of the Sacred College of the Vatican, in which he stands twenty-eighth on the list, was born in Rome, Nov. 15, 1828. He was nominated Cardinal March 13, 1868. He is one of the private secretaries to Pope Pius the Ninth. He is a man of finished education, extremely taciturn, and has the reputation of being a consummate diplomatist.

Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte, born Jan. 4, 1813, was Senator, with the title of Imperial Highness.

Prince Antoine Bonaparte, born Oct. 31, 1816, bears the title of Imperial Highness, and holds a position in the household of the Pope.

Princess Alexandrine Marie, born Oct. 12, 1818, married to Count Vincent Valentini de Canino.

Princess Constance, born Jan. 30, 1823, became Abbess of the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Rome.

Princess Julie Charlotte Zenaide Pauline Letitia Desiree Bartholomee, born June 6, 1830; married August 30, 1847, to Alexandre Del Gallo, Marquis de Roccagiovine.

Princess Charlottee Honorine Josephine, born March 4, 1832; married Oct. 4, 1848, to Prince Pierre, Count of Primoli.

Princess Marie Desiree Eugenie Josephine Philomene, born March 18, 1835; married March 2, 1851, to Paul, Count de Campello.

Prince Napoleon Charles Gregoire Jacques Phillippe, born Feb. 5, 1839; President of the General Council of Corsica, Chief of the Battalion of Infantry in the service of France, Ordnance Officer under the Emperor; married Nov. 22, 1859, to the Princess Marie Christine, born July 25, 1842, daughter of Jean Nepomucene, Prince of Ruspoli and of Cerveteri and of Barsary, Princess of Masimo and d'Arsoli.

Princess Mathilde Letitia Wilhelmine, born May 27, 1820; married Oct. 21, 1841, to Annatole Demidoff, Prince of San Danato; became widow May 18, 1870. She is now residing in England, like a good many more of the family.—New York Herald.

Leather Losses by the Boston Fire.

The report of the New England Shoe and Leather Association just made gives the losses of the trade by the great fire as follows: Hides, $350,000; sole leather, $1,250,000; upper, including splits, $1,500,000; calf skins, $1,000,000; sheep skins, and linings, $1,000,000; morocco and goat skins, $600,000; boots and shoes, $4,500,000; findings, machinery, etc., $800,000; making the total loss, $11,250,000. The report says that, notwithstanding these heavy losses, the trade stood up firmly. A few jobbers have been unable to meet payments at maturity; some extensions have been granted, and some dividends have been accepted, yet the number of failures during the year has been quite small.

Foreign.

THE circulation of the London Times never varies.

SEVEN thousand women belong to the Belgian International.

IN Manilla the women at cigar-making get seven cents per day.

ALL the monarchs in Europe will attend the Vienna Exposition.

THERE are 50,000 foreigners hunting gold and diamonds in South Africa.

THE Melbourne (Australia) Argus yields an income of $200,000 a year.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S signature is beautifully formed, with each letter clearly cut.

THE Chinese claim that Noah's real name was Ah-boo, and that he lived near Pekin.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S autograph is more in demand in Europe than Napoleon's.

FRANCE and Germany are not going to beat each other any more, but both are going in to the beet-sugar tremendously.

BELGIUM is the most densely populated country of Europe, yet some provinces of India are even more densely populated than Belgium.

THE East India cotton crop is much larger this year than last. In four divisions reported the out-turn is 701,112, while last year it was only 534,579.

THE first Russian newspaper was published in 1703. Peter the Great not only took part personally in its editorial columns, but also in correcting proofs.

THE superintendent of a London workhouse has been convicted of manslaughter for refusing admission to a poor woman who afterward died of neglect.

THE agricultural statistics of Ireland for 1872 give the country 540,745 horses, valued at $40 each; 4,057,153 horned cattle, worth about $32 each; 4,262,177 sheep, and 1,386,386 pigs.

THE astronomers designated by France, Germany, England, and Russia to observe, in 1874, the transit of Venas, will meet next month in congress at Paris, in order to determine the exact points of observation.

Terrible Scene in a Menagerie.

The Swiss Times says that at the menagerie of Signori Bidel and Fairnali, at Turin, on Monday evening, Dec. 23, the audience were treated to a performance not announced in the bills. Signor Bidel, the famous lion-tamer, entered, as usual, a large cage in which were lions, lionesses, bears, hyenas, and a lamb. After the feats of leaping, etc., ordinarily shown in such exhibitions, the grand feature consisted in the simultaneous approach of the wild animals to the lamb, and the exchange of "the kiss of fraternity." This was accomplished successfully, the animals methodically touching noses, then gravely stalking back to their places. The performance was to close with putting the lamb's head in the mouth of a lion. No sooner had the jaws closed upon the head of the animal than it was evident by the eyes and movement of the tail of the lion that foul play was threatened, and before a word of command could be given streams of blood were running from his mouth. Children screamed and women fainted, but fortunately the panic was of short duration. Signor Bidel, with a tremendous blow on the throat of the lion and a shout of command, forced the half-wild animal to relinquish his victim, and, although roaring fearfully, he sullenly obeyed the fixed eye and gesture of his master, retiring into a corner of the cage. But, to the renewed horror of the people, in dealing with the lion he had turned his back on the lioness, who, with a howl of rage, leapt upon his back. Fortunately for Bidel, her claws and teeth entered his clothing only, and, with a spring and cry, he leapt from under her, at the same time striking right and left with his loaded whip, forcing the animals to the front of the cage. There was an instant of hesitation and submission on the part of the latter, during which Bidel, revolver in hand, unfastened the cage and backed himself out of it. Seeing him safe, the reaction of the audience was tremendous, and the cheers that greeted his appearance were deafening. Although perfectly quiet, the deadly pallor of his face gave evidence of the danger he had passed.

Frank Blair's Successor.

Col. Lewis V. Bogy, of St. Louis, the Senator elect of Missouri, was born in Ste. Genevieve, April 9, 1813, son of Joseph Bogy, who had been Territorial Secretary under Spanish dominion. He read law in the office of Judge Pope, at Kaskaskia, Ill., and in the same year (1832) was out in the Black Hawk war. In 1835 he settled in the practice of law at St. Louis. In 1847 he purchased an interest in Pilot Knob, and this interest he afterwards increased to one-half, and was for some years President of the Pilot Knob Iron Company, and of the Iron Mountain Railroad. The war destroyed his Pilot Knob property, and he sold out. He could not, however, resume the practice of law because of the Missouri "test oath," but he did not fail to make his influence felt as an avowed hard-shell Democrat. Col. Bogy was a member of the Missouri Legislature in 1840, and again in 1854-'55. He was a candidate for Congress in 1852 and 1862. In the spring election of 1872, he was made an Alderman, and is now President of the City Council.

No Salary for Contested Seats.

Among the amendments that passed the House of Representatives with the Appropriation bill was an important one by Mr. McCrary, of Iowa, which provides that hereafter no money from the contingent fund of the House shall be paid to a contestant for a seat in the House. This will have the effect of stopping, in a great measure, the growing habit of contesting seats as a business, and obtaining an allowance of several thousand dollars for expenses, and also saving a large amount of money annually to the Government. The cost of the contests last year was $105,000. The contestants in deserving cases will doubtless be paid hereafter, and the money will come from a regular appropriation of the two Houses, with the sanction of the President, and not from the contingent fund of the House, where there is no accountability.

"MY HUSBAND."

Who grumbles when I ask for a cent,
And always inquires the way it is spent?
My husband.

Who, when I buy a dashing gown,
Will look upon it with a frown?
My husband.

Who finds fault with the bill of fare,
And says a donkey and I would make a pair?
My husband.

Who, if I request to kindle a fire,
Will hold up his hands in terrible ire?
My husband.

Who smokes cigars from morn till night
Then feels in the mood with me to fight?
My husband.

Who sits with his feet above his head,
And scolds me if a word is said?
My husband.

Who when at night will seek his rest,
And be snoring in bed when I'm half undrest?
My husband.

Who makes me be an unhappy wife,
And is the pester of my life?
My husband.

Who sits down to a cup of strong tea,
And drinks to the health of U. S. G.?
My husband.

Humorous.

A STINGING letter—B.

EAR long—A donkey.

A STERN duty—The rudder's.

A BLUE jay no more—Jay Gould.

CHILDREN of the blind school—Lovers.

THE best frontispiece—An honest face.

HIGH words—Those spoken in a balloon.

VESTED interest—Money in the vest pocket.

PEOPLE who sell hay do business on a large scale.

THE bump of destructiveness—A railway collision.

WHAT does a man see in the wild wave? Sea foam.

THE acrobats of every household—The pitcher and tumbler.

LEAVENWORTH has a divorce suit styled Jelly vs. Jelly. Family jars did it.

A "WESTERN poet" thinks—

'Tis sweet to court; but oh! how bitter,
To court a girl and not to git her.

WHY is a volume of Shakespeare bound in old calf like the rock of Gibraltar? Because it is bound to last.

AT Waterloo, a young man found the kerosene oil in a can frozen solid. He applied a red hot poker, and he is anxious to know what has become of the can.

"MAMMA," demanded three-year-old Emma, "what are those things?" "Sausages, dear." "Going to eat 'em?" "Yes, dear." "Eat 'em with the peel on?"

DANIEL DREW can lose three million dollars' worth of his greenbacks and not feel it, but the loss of five dollars' worth of his religion would probably bankrupt him.—Danbury News.

The English Language for the Japanese.

M. Mori, the Japanese Charge d'Affaires at Washington, has written an intelligent and very interesting letter to Prof. Whitney, in which he discusses the propriety of the adoption of the English language by the forty millions of Japanese, to the gradual exclusion of their own limited dialect and hieroglyphic writing. Mr. Mori thinks a phonetic form of English, with the verbs made as uniform as possible, would render this gigantic change practicable and of immense advantage to his countrymen, who have become conscious of the defects of their language and would prefer the English to any other. As the English stands, however, he thinks its orthography and etymology too irregular to be mastered by foreigners. He requests Prof. Whitney to give his opinion on the subject.

"How I Found Livingstone in Central Africa."

The following letter, addressed by Mr. Henry M. Stanley to Messrs. Scribner, Armstrong & Co., the well-known New York publishers, explains itself:

GENTLEMEN: I am informed that several books relating to the Stanley-Livingstone Expedition have been issued by various publishers in Chicago, Philadelphia, etc., as having been written by me.

I here take the earliest opportunity to declare all such works, or books, to be spurious, and wholly unauthorized. I have looked over one book, printed in Chicago, and I can positively affirm that there is not one original line from my pen in it; that the book is composed only of extracts from Livingstone and Anderson's books, and my letters which appeared in the New York Herald. In the extracts from my letters, which the enterprising but thoroughly unscrupulous publishers have issued under the form of a book, I detect over a hundred typographical errors, besides several absurd blunders about African geography, which those ignorant of Africa would naturally have committed.

The only book that I have written, and which is genuine and original, bears the title of "How I Found Livingstone in Central Africa," and is published only by your firm, and which is copyrighted according to law.

Hoping you will take the earliest steps to warn the public against this fraud, and encroachment upon my rights, and to inform them that there is nothing in the spurious works but a rehash of Livingstone's books, and my letters to the Herald, and that the pictures are also from Livingstone's books and from illustrated papers, I remain yours, very truly,

HENRY M. STANLEY.

The Printers' Monument to Greeley.

The compositors of the New York Tribune held a meeting recently and adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has been proposed that the several printing offices in the United States give one or more pounds of old type for the purpose of making a statue of Horace Greeley, to be erected in the lot in Greenwood where his remains are interred; and

WHEREAS, Type metal is specially adapted to reproduce sharp and definite outlines, and peculiarly fitted to speak in the mute form of an image to those who, in after years, visit his resting place, as it did beneath the training of his hand and the grandeur of his brain and the largeness of his heart; therefore,

Resolved, That we approve of the idea of erecting a statue of Horace Greeley in Greenwood, made of type metal, which has been cast into type and worn out in the service of teaching the people; and further, be it

Resolved, That we ask of our fellow-craftsmen (many of whom, now scattered over the country, have, like ourselves, either worked with or for him during the forty years gone by) to set up, on Monday, February 3, 1873, the 62d anniversary of Mr. Greeley's birth, 1,000 ems, and give the receipts for the same to be expended in making and erecting the statue. The money to be forwarded to the President of the New York Typographical Union No. 6, 22 Duane street, New York city, of which Union Mr. Greeley was the first President.

Resolved, That the above preamble and resolutions be given to the press of the United States, with a request that they be printed and circulated as widely as possible.

Terrible Panic in a Cincinnati Theater.

"Divorce," by the New York company, has been attracting immense audiences to Wood's Theater for a week past. "Divorce" is a powerful society play, and it has been presented by a combination the like of which we have not seen since the days of the first Pike's Opera House. The crowd that packed Wood's Theater yesterday afternoon was the largest ever seen in that place. It left no room for even a glance at the backs of the audience. If the theater could be made to accommodate 2,000 persons with comfort, there must have been 3,000 human beings within its walls.

At about half-past 3 o'clock, with all this pack of people there, one of the hot-air registers on the first floor (a smoky register at all times) suddenly emitted a big cloud of smoke. The alarm that was created cannot be described. Those who saw the smoke quivered with fear, and in the next instant, as the cry of fire was heard, that dense mass of human beings, women of all ages, helpless children and strong men collapsed into a trembling bunch of terror-stricken humanity. A rush was made for the passages to the street. Down stairs from the balcony came women and children—down on top of women and children from the dress-circle. Out from the top-loft came a crash of men and boys. Down in the parquette and in the dress-circle crowds of people sprang to their feet, and with blanched faces looked at the crush of human beings that cut them off from escape. On a thousand others hope conflicted with fear in the condensed expression of escaping people. Others who had already comprehended the situation held to their places and watched the fear of the majority and the tumult they made. The musicians caught the panic early, but were restrained by somebody in authority who ordered them to play on, saying, "There's no danger—fiddle ahead, you sons of ——." With trembling hands and lips the members of the orchestra struck up a tune. This served to quiet the fears of those who were too closely blockaded to make a rush. Fortunately, men who understood the situation had prevented the terror-stricken women who sought to jump from the windows from accomplishing their desperate purpose. And there were those all over the house who had the presence of mind to cry, "Only a little smoke—no fire!" But as it was, the panic was terrible, and while the only injuries sustained were those of ribs coming suddenly and rudely in contact with elbows, hundreds of women were scared out of a year's growth. Many were carried down stairs in the pressing, rushing throng, and when they reached open air couldn't say how they had done it, or whether they had touched a step in the descent or not.

In the midst of all this confusion, a party of pickpockets had been hanging around, who attempted to get their work in, but people who understood them knocked a couple of them down and ended them for that job. Of course, numerous articles were lost in the crush—muffs, gloves, veils, furs, etc., but nearly everything was recovered when order was restored, and the play resumed. After all the excitement was over, it was discovered that a gas globe over the south side of the dress-circle had been demolished by a man who had jumped from the balcony down into the parquette. He was lucky in not injuring himself, and also in not jumping on anybody. Several ladies were frightened to the point of insensibility, and had to be carried out.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The Aerial Telegraph Scheme.

The bill incorporating the Loomis Aerial Telegraph Company has finally passed the Senate of the United States, and, with the signature of the President, will become a law. The plan of Dr. Loomis, the inventor, is to telegraph from a high peak of the Rocky Mountains to the highest attainable peak of the Alps, at which point a tower is to be erected, on the top of which a large mast is to be placed. An apparatus capable of collecting electricity is to be put on the upper end of this mast, by means of which, on such elevation, it is claimed a strata of the atmosphere will be reached which is charged with electricity. Ground connections, the same as in ordinary telegraphy, will be erected. This electrified stratum of the atmosphere will, as with the ordinary single wire and ground connection, make a complete circuit, and it is claimed that the slightest pulsation of the electricity at one tower will produce a similar pulsation at the other. The company is to have a capital stock of $200,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to two millions if the interest of the company shall require it. The business objects of the corporation are stated in the bill to be to develop and utilize the principles and powers of natural electricity, to be used in telegraphy, generating light, heat, and motive power, and operate any machinery run by electricity for any purpose.

Unparalleled Surgical Operation.

On Monday, Dec. 2, a surgical operation was performed by Drs. Cable and Walters, of Pittsburgh, Pa., which is without parallel. A young man residing in Steubenville, O., was so unfortunate as to get a mouth-plate with five teeth thereon fastened in his throat. Medical assistance was summoned, and all efforts to withdraw the plate were unsuccessful, and the physicians in attendance pushed the plate further down the gullet. The patient suffered greatly, and efforts were made to employ a surgeon that would undertake to cut the man open and recover the plate, but a surgeon could not be found in the city who would risk the delicate operation. Finally Drs. Cable and Walters, of Pittsburgh, consented to perform the operation. Chloroform was administered to the patient, and an incision was made in the neck, and the surgeon cut steady to the top of the stomach. In the language of Dr. Cable, "the man's heart was beating against my right hand, while the lungs and arteries were throbbing against my left hand." An instrument was inserted and the plate successfully removed. Our informant left Pittsburgh on the seventh day after the operation and the patient was recovering rapidly, and a later report by letter informs him that he is entirely out of danger.

LOOSE HABITS—Dressing-gowns.

Astounding Mesmeric Power.

A curious case of mesmerism is recorded by the civil surgeon of Hoshungabad. A young woman named Nunnee, aged 24, was married some twelve years ago; she, however, did not go to her husband's house for two years afterward. After staying with him for eight days she became insensible, and remained so for two or three days. She was taken back to her mother, and soon got well. Then follows a very remarkable history. During the next four or five years she never entered her husband's house without falling insensible and remaining so. He was very kind and attentive to her; she liked him, but whenever he came into her presence she at once sank into this state. This went on till she became emaciated and exhausted, and at last her parents applied to the court for a separate maintenance for her. While she was in court the husband entered, and she instantly became insensible and was carried to the hospital, where the case was carefully attended to by Dr. Cullen, in March, last year. While in this state her pulse was even, breathing soft, her body pliant, but she could eat nothing. Experiments were carefully made to see if there was no trick about it. While she was in bed her husband was muffled up and made to walk through the ward. She said she felt he was near her, and she was by no means well, but had not seen him anywhere about. Next day this experiment was repeated, and she actually became insensible as before. When the husband left the place she recovered. The experiment as to the influence of the husband's presence was tried in all sorts of ways. He was made to pass behind her and to be near her in a separate ward, but this had no effect; but whenever he was brought to look on her face, though muffled up, or disguised as a policeman, as a sepoy, and so forth, she was at once influenced. The experiments continued for about a month, and the conclusion was that the husband unconsciously mesmerized her. The court came to the conclusion that it was impossible that she could live with him, and a separate allowance was ordered. The husband was asked to try if he could not remove the effect, seeing that he had the power to cause it, but he was quite frightened at the idea of having the power and could not control it in any way.—Homeward Mail, of India.

Another Old Vaccination Mark.

In our last issue we copied a paragraph from the Yeoman stating that Col. Edmund H. Taylor, of Frankfort, had probably the oldest vaccine mark in the United States. According to the Yeoman, Col. Taylor was vaccinated in 1802, seventy-one years ago. Capt. Jack Louett, a venerable and well-known citizen of our town, saw the Yeoman's statement in our paper, and came to our office on Thursday, where he exhibited to us a scar on his left arm, deep, large, and well defined, which was produced by vaccination in 1798, seventy-five years ago. The Captain was born in 1792, and was vaccinated when only six years of age. About eighteen years ago he was again vaccinated, on the right arm, and although the limb swelled up and presented the appearance of a "good take," it passed away without leaving a scar.—Mt. Sterling (Ky.) Sentinel.

MEDICAL GUESSWORK.—The professional treatment of disease is in a great measure experimental. If one medicine fails another is tried, and sometimes this hit-or-miss practice is pursued until the resources of the faculty is exhausted. This, in the truest sense of the word, is empiricism. But when the physician has made a valuable discovery, he is called by his professional brethren an Empiric because he advertises the result of his labor and research. When Dr. Walker, of California, introduced his celebrated VINEGAR BITTERS as a remedy for all blood diseases, he struck a tremendous blow at the empirical system as applied in our hospitals and in private practice. It was soon apparent that his medicine was not a mere palliative or alleviative that only modified the symptoms of a disorder, but that it reached the very source of the malady in the blood and the secretions, and literally rooted it out. The process of renovation and disinfection went on together, vigor was imparted to the organs from which the virus of disease had been expelled. That such is the effect of this popular vegetable remedy, no one who has had opportunities of observing its operation in cases of liver complaint, indigestion, affections of the bowels, gout, rheumatism and pulmonary disorders can possibly doubt.—[Com.

A MIXTURE of wood ashes and salt, three parts of the former to one of the latter, constitutes an excellent mixture for all domestic animals. Its alkalescent and saline qualities are both congenial to the animal system, and when used in proper quantities, and at proper times, are highly promotive of health.—Germantown Telegraph.

THE feast of imagination—Having no dinner, but reading a cookery book.

FOR an Irritated Throat, Cough or Cold, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are offered with the fullest confidence in their efficacy. They maintain the good reputation they have justly acquired.—[Com.

What the Season Suggests.

To assume warm clothing at the commencement of the cold season is only an act of common prudence. But something more than this is required to put the body in a state of defense against the searching atmosphere of winter. Damp has a depressing effect on the vital organs and the animal spirits. The amount of life power taken out of the strongest of us by the chilling vapors which frequently load the air at this period of the year is very considerable, and to the weak and languid they are extremely deleterious. To protect the system against their effects, it must be inwardly toned, regulated and reinforced, as well as shielded outwardly by appropriate garments. This essential service is more safely and satisfactorily accomplished by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters than by any other means within the province of medical science. The fact here stated is as incontrovertible as a demonstration in mathematics. Nobody disputes it. It is a matter of common belief and of general record. Here the case might be rested; but the public, naturally enough, wants to know why this famous vegetable specific is so far ahead of all other medicines of its class. This reasonable curiosity can be readily gratified. The Bitters comprise five important elements, viz.: a stimulant, a tonic, an aperient, and a blood depurent. Each of these components, as well as each of the other subordinate ingredients, is the purest and best of its kind. They are proportioned in accordance with a formula that has been in use for twenty years, and operate harmoniously and simultaneously. Hence the uniform success of the medicine.

THE WEEKLY SUN.
Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

THE BEST FAMILY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST AGRICULTURAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST POLITICAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST NEWSPAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
HAS ALL THE NEWS.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST STORY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST FASHION REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST MARKET REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST CATTLE REPORTS in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
THE BEST PAPER in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.SUN. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.
Address THE SUN, New York City.

"P. P. P. P."

The above are the initials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—the "Little Giant" Cathartic, or multum in parvo Physic. They are scarcely larger than mustard seeds, yet represent as much cathartic power as a large repulsive pill, being a most searching and thorough yet gently and kindly operating cathartic. Pleasant to take, powerful to cure. 25 cents per vial, by druggists. 623

LOCKE'S NATIONAL MONTHLY for February will contain a splendid story, "Two Criminals," two sketches by Nasby, and a vast amount of other matter. Ask your newsdealer for it, or send 10 cents to Locke & Jones, Toledo, Ohio. $1.00 per year. It is the best magazine for the money published. Send for circular to Agents.—[Com.

THERE is, probably, no way in which we can benefit our readers more than by recommending to them, for general use, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is adapted to almost all the purposes of a Family Medicine; and as a specific for coughs, colds, whooping cough, soreness of the chest, lame stomach, rheumatism, spitting of blood, and all lung difficulties, it has no equal that ever we saw or heard of.—[Com.

THE propriety of giving condition medicine to horses, cattle and sheep was discussed and admitted by many of the Agricultural Societies throughout the State last Fall, and we believe that in every case but one they decided in favor of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. Good judgment.—[Com.

IMPORTANT TO HORSEMEN.—Inflammation cannot exist where Prof. "ANDERSON'S DERMADOR" is applied. Fresh wounds, Galls, Caulks, Bruises, are dried down and healed without inflammation. Scratches, Sand Cracks, Swellings and Sprains cured by a few applications. A thorough use will also cure Sweeney, Poll Evil, Windgalls and Lameness, from whatever cause.

See advertisement in this paper.—[Com.

LADIES who have given "The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion, a fair trial, say they would not be without it, for ten times its cost.—[Com.

A CHALLENGE

IS extended to the WORLD to place before the public a better COUGH or LUNG remedy than ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

VERILY IT HATH NO EQUAL.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ!

Would you cure that distressing cough, and bring back that healthy vigor till lately planted in your cheek? If you would, do not delay; for, ere you are aware, it will be too late.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

Is your hope. It has been tried by thousands such as you, who have been cured; many, in their gratitude, have lent their names to us, that suffering humanity can read their evidence and believe. Don't experiment with new and untried mixtures—you cannot afford it—but try at once this invaluable article. It is warranted to break up the most troublesome cough in a few hours, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction in all cases of lung and throat difficulties.

UNSOLICITED EVIDENCE OF ITS MERITS.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

WHAT WELL-KNOWN DRUGGISTS SAY ABOUT ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

SPRINGFIELD, Tenn., Sept. 11, 1872.

GENTLEMEN: Ship us six dozen Allen's Lung Balsam at once. We have not a bottle left in our store. It has more reputation than any cough medicine we have ever sold, and we have been in the drug business twenty-seven years; we mean just what we say about the Balsam.
Very truly yours,
HURT & TANNER.

AGAIN READ THE EVIDENCE from a Druggist who was cured by use of the Balsam, and now sells it largely:

L. C. Cottrell, Druggist at Marine City, Michigan, writes, Sept. 12, 1872: "I am out of Allen's Lung Balsam. Send me half a gross as soon as you can; I would rather be out of any other medicine in my store. The Lung Balsam never fails to do good for those afflicted with a cough."

It is harmless to the most delicate child.
It contains no opium in any form.
It is sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Do not be deceived. Call for ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and take no other.
Directions accompany each bottle.

J. N. HARRIS & CO, Cincinnati, O.,
PROPRIETORS.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

GET RID OF A COLD AT ONCE by using Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, a certain cure for all Pulmonary and Bronchial Affections.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.
BEEVES—Good to Prime	12 @	13½
Common	9 @	11
HOGS—Dressed	5½@	6¼
COTTON—Middling Upland	19½@
FLOUR—Superfine Western	6 00 @	6 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 65 @	1 66
CORN	64 @	67
OATS	48 @	53
PORK—Mess	13 75 @
LARD	8½@	8¾
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium	4 25 @	5 00
Common	3 00 @	4 25
Inferior	1 75 @	2 25
HOGS	3 55 @	3 95
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	7 50 @	10 00
Red Winter Extra	6 50 @	7 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	1 22 @	1 22½
No. 3 Spring	1 07½@	1 08
CORN—No. 2	30 @	30¼
OATS—No. 2	25 @	25¼
RYE—No. 2	67 @	68
BARLEY—No. 2	69 @	72
BUTTER—Choice	26 @	27
EGGS—Fresh	28 @	29
PORK—Mess	11 60 @	11 75
LARD	7¼@	7½
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1 95 @	1 97
CORN—Mixed	38½ @	39½
OATS	31 @	..
RYE	73 @	75
BARLEY	70 @	75
HOGS	3 40 @	3 75
CATTLE	2 00 @	4 50
CINCINNATI.
FLOUR	8 15 @	8 40
WHEAT	1 73 @	1 75
PORK—Mess	12 50 @	..
LARD	7½@	7¾
HOGS	3 80 @	4 10
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	1 29½@	..
No. 2	1 23½@	..
OATS—No. 2	26½@	..
CORN—No. 2	34½@	..
RYE—No. 1	63½@	..
BARLEY—No. 2	80 @	..
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1 69½@	..
No. 2 Red	1 63½@	1 64½
CORN	37 @	38
OATS	31½@	34

The Golden Opportunity.

John V. Farwell & Co., Monroe and Franklin streets, Chicago, having decided to retire from the Retail business and give their attention exclusively to the Jobbing trade, offer their whole retail stock of One Million Dollars' worth of Dry Goods, Carpetings and Upholstery at and below actual cost. Families having access by rail to Chicago will find the stock fresh and complete in all respects.—[Com.

IS IT NOT cheaper to wear one collar three or four days than one collar each day? If you think so try the Elmwood or Warwick.—[Com.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Throat and Lung Difficulties.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, 194 Penn street, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM
THE BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD
CUTLER BROS & CO.
PROPRIETORS BOSTON

THE WHEAT FIELD OF AMERICA!

Healthful Climate, Free Homes, Good Markets.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD offers for sale Lands in Central and Western Minnesota, embracing: 1. The best of Wheat Land; 2. Excellent Timber for the Mill, the Farm and the Fire; 3. Rich Prairie Pasturage and Natural Meadow, watered by clear Lakes and running streams—in a healthful Climate, where Fever and Ague is unknown.

GRAIN may be shipped hence by lake to market as cheaply as from Eastern Iowa or Central Illinois. Cars now run through these lands from Lake Superior to Dakota. Price of land close to track, $4.00 to $8.00 per acre; further away $2.50 to $4.00. SEVEN YEARS' CREDIT; Warrantee Deeds; Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds, now selling at par, received for land at $1.10. No other unoccupied Lands present such advantages to settlers.

SOLDIERS under the New Law (March, 1872) get 160 acres FREE, near the railroad, by one and two years' residence.

TRANSPORTATION AT REDUCED RATES furnished from all principle points East to purchasers of Railroad Lands, and to settlers on Government Homesteads. Purchasers, their wives and children carried free over the Northern Pacific Road. Now is the time for Settlers and Colonies to get Railroad Lands and Government Homesteads close to the track.

Send for Pamphlet containing full information, map and copy of New Homestead Law. Address
LAND DEPARTMENT, NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD, ST. PAUL, MINN.,
Or 23 FIFTH AV., cor. NINTH ST., NEW YORK.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for
"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"
Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.
Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2881.

3,000,000 ACRES CHOICE FARMING, grazing, coal and other lands, in sight of the Rocky Mountains. Best in market and the most healthful climate in the world. LAND Low prices; long credit; nominal interest.—Send stamp for pamphlet to BYERS & PARKER, Denver, Col.

THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

L.D. SINE'S
ESTABLISHED IN 1854

GIFT ENTERPRISE

The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!

$60,000.00
IN VALUABLE GIFTS!
TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN
L. D. SINE'S
159th REGULAR MONTHLY
GIFT ENTERPRISE,
To be drawn Monday, Feb. 17th, 1873.
TWO GRAND CAPITALS OF
$5,000 EACH IN GREENBACKS!
Two Prizes $1,000 } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500 }
Ten Prizes $100 }

One Horse and Buggy, with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $600! One fine-toned Rosewood Piano, worth $500! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! Five Gold Watches and Chains, worth $300 each! Five Gold American Hunting Watches, worth $125 each! Ten Ladies' Gold Hunting Watches, worth $75 each! 800 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches (in all) worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.

Whole number Gifts 6,000. Tickets limited to 60,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.

Single Tickets, $1; Six Tickets, $5; Twelve Tickets, $10; Twenty-five Tickets, $20.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to
MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PROF. ANDERSON'S

DERMADOR.

Good for Man.—Inflammation of all kinds, Diphtheria, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Sprains, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Swelling of the Glands, Inflammation of the Eyes, Broken Breast, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Piles, Bee Stings, and all Sores.

Good for Beast.—Fresh Wounds, Galls, Poll Evil, Sprains, Bruises, Cracked Heels, Ring Bone, Wind Galls, Spavins, Sweeney, Founder, Lameness, Sand Cracks, Scratches, or Grease, Mange, Horse Distemper.

This truly wonderful Liniment was discovered by HOMER ANDERSON, A.M., late Professor of Chemistry and Mathematics in the Clinton Liberal Institute, of Oneida County, N.Y. In experimenting for the purpose of making Prussic Acid, by uniting the independent gaseous bodies of which it is composed, a residuum was left, which, on being applied to bruises and inflamed parts, by the students of the Institute, was found to possess the remarkable property of cooling down and carrying off the inflammation and soreness at once, and restoring the parts to soundness and health in a few hours without pain or irritation.

It is not a heating Liniment, but acts by its peculiar specific or chemical qualities in dissolving and scattering the soreness and inflammation of the injured part. By a free application, the red surface soon becomes cool, moist and natural, and is restored to natural health without suppuration or destruction.

As a Liniment for Horse Flesh, for the cure of all the ailments named above, we challenge the world to find its equal.

Price 25 & 50 cents per bottle.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Propr's,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

See notice in local column.

MERCHANT'S
GARGLING OIL
IS GOOD FOR

Burns and Scalds,
Chilblains,
Sprains and Bruises,
Chapped Hands,
Flesh Wounds,
Frost Bites,
External Poisons,
Sand Cracks,
Galls of All Kinds,
Sitfast, Ringbone,
Poll Evil,
Animal & Insect Bites,
Toothache, &c., &c.
Rheumatism,
Hemorrhoids or Piles,
Sore Nipples,
Caked Breasts,
Fistula, Mange,
Spavins, Sweeney,
Scratches, or Grease,
Stringhalt, Windgalls,
Foundered Feet,
Cracked Heels,
Foot Rot in Sheep,
Roup in Poultry,
Lame Back, &c., &c.

Large Size $1.00; Medium 50c.; Small 25c.

The Gargling Oil has been in use as a Liniment since 1833. All we ask is a fair trial, but be sure and follow directions. Ask your nearest Druggist or dealer in Patent Medicines for one of our Almanacs and read what the people say about the Oil.

The Gargling Oil is for sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other Countries. Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present, and are unsolicited. Use the Gargling Oil, and tell your neighbors what good it has done. We also manufacture

"MERCHANT'S WORM TABLETS."

We deal fair and liberal with all, and defy contradiction. Write for an Almanac.

Manufactured at Lockport, N. Y., by
MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL COMP'Y
JOHN HODGE, Secretary.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy effects cures upon scientific principles, by its mild, healing properties, to which the disease gradually yields, when the system has been put in perfect order with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which should be taken earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault, also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The Catarrh Remedy should be applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, as this is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages and chambers in which sores and ulcers exist, and from which the discharge generally proceeds.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven, that the proprietor offers $500 Reward for a case of "Cold in Head" Ozena or Catarrh which he cannot cure. The two medicines with instrument, for $2, by all druggists.

QUEEN'S TOILET
FOR IMPROVING AND BEAUTIFYING
THE COMPLEXION

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

These are the only Medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck, of Philadelphia, has been in constant practice for over thirty years, continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines, if properly taken, will cure Consumption. His Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach and aids digestion. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion. For sale by all druggists.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION
Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.
Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 200 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

Write for large Illustrated Descriptive Price List of GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Double, Single, Muzzle and Breech-Loading Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Pistols, etc., of every kind, for men or boys, at very low prices. Guns, $3 to $300; Pistols, $1 to $25.

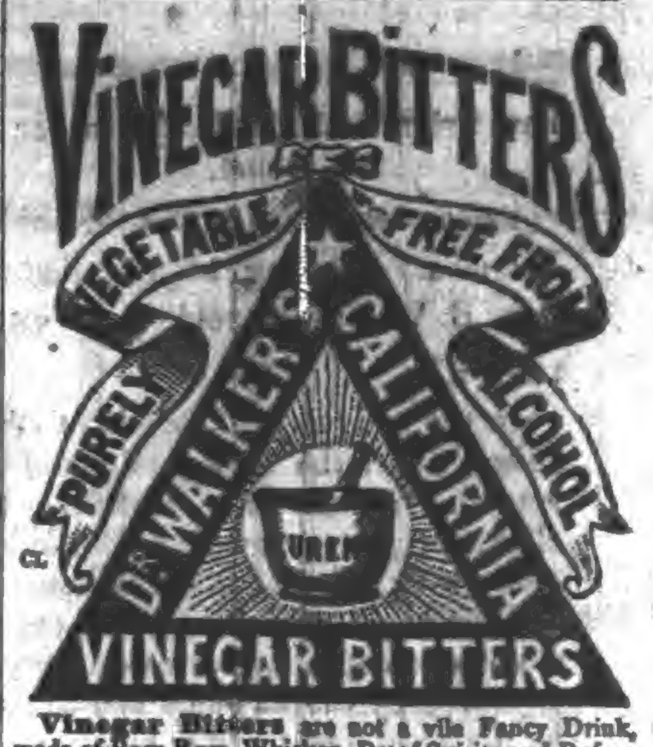
MAPS A full line of BLANCHARD'S and COLTON'S Pocket and Mounted Maps and R. R. Guides, the latest in market. Trade supplied. Send for Catalogue and Price List. Chicago Book Agency, Chicago, Ill., P. O. Drawer 500.

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents, Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS WANTED for the New Illustrated Book
WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.
30 years of adventures among the Indians, &c. Thrillingly interesting and fast selling. For terms, Address F. A. HUTCHINSON, Chicago, Ill. or St. Louis.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

SEND 10 cts. for sample copy and prospectus of the Matrimonial News. P. O. Box 607, Chicago, Ill.



Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

THE NEW SCALE

HAINES
HAINES BROS

27 Union Square, N. Y.
Undoubtedly the best Square Piano made.
Send for Circular with Illustrations.
Prices ranging from 350 to 700 dollars.
Every Piano WARRANTED for Five Years.

DOOLEY'S
THE BEST
YEAST
POWDER
TRY IT. SOLD BY GROCERS

EVERGREENS (6 to 15 inches) Transplanted. $2 to $5 for 100. Send stamp for descriptive list to BARNES & CO., Young America, Ill.

263 RECEIPTS WHICH COST $135
Sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address HY. BENJAMIN, St. Louis, Mo.

$50—VALUABLE—Send three-cent stamp for particulars. DOBSON, HAYNES & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

C. N. U. No. 4.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Primitive Methodist Preacher in Court.

At the recent Primitive Methodist Missionary meeting at Birmingham, Rev. B. W. Burnett told the following story:

"In the early days of Primitive Methodism, under the labors of one of our veteran missionaries, a notorious bad character got converted. Quite in harmony with the custom of those times, he soon began preaching. On one occasion he had a large crowd of people gathered by the way-side and to these he preached Jesus. An officious constable came up and took our friend into custody. The news spread like wild-fire, that old Tom was locked up for preaching. Had it been said it was for preaching, no one would have doubted it, but this preaching gave quite a different character to the affair. On the following morning, the Court was crowded to hear the trial. The charge was read over and the prisoner asked what he had to say in reply.—Now this man had been in that dock so often that he did not feel at all concerned; he seemed entirely at home. Very quietly folding his arms, he addressed the magistrate to the following effect:

"Gentleman, do you mean business?"

"Business! business! of course we do.

"Well gentlemen, please excuse me but if you mean business, allow me to say that of late a great change has come over me, and I never commence any business without first praying about it. If you please, we will all pray."

He did not wait to see whether they pleased or not, but with all the fervor of a new convert, poured out his soul in prayer.

All in the court and on the Magistrates bench were deeply moved, some to tears. But he prayed rather long, good as it was, and they thought he might close; so the presiding magistrate said in an undertone.

"That will do, just stop him.'

"The constable shaking our frienh's sleve, said 'stop,' but he prayed away. Pulling his sleve yet more vigorously, he said, 'stop man, stop!' but he prayed on with inceasing fervor.

'One of the magistrates saw one of our preachers in the body of the court and calling to him said, 'Mr—, you come and stop him.' But our dear old brother enjoyed this novel prayer-meeting too much, to be induced to stop it, so he replied.

"Nay, you've started him, I cannot stop him.'

'However our friend in the dock, drew his devotions to a close, stood on his feet, and folding his arms as before said with becoming meekness.

'Now gentlemen, I am ready for business.

The prisoner was ordered into an ante-room, while the case was considered.

One of the magistrates moved to tears said.

"We have often had this man before us, but never under such circumstances If this is a sample of the work achieved by the labors of the Primitive Methodists, I wish them success wherever they go.'

It did not take them long to decide that he had broken no law, and therefore they would very gladly acquit him.

"Well gentlemen, said an officer of the court, "shall we call him in and say he is acquitted?"

"What! call him in? No never, or you will have him on his knees returning thanks. Let him go out at a back door, but tell him he is fully at liberty to carry on his good work."—London Methodist Recorder.

* * *

The bloody riot on Prince Edward Island, where the rioters asserted that no British were wanted there, is a deeper and stronger indication of the strength of the annexation movement, than a thousand stump speecher or newspaper articles. The United States does not need Canada, and the day of annexation is probably distant. But that it will come, and come peaceably, is certain.

* * *

The Washington papers are discussing the question of the ventilation of the halls of Congress, of the necessity for which there seems to be no doubt. The atmosphere of Congress has been very foul for several years, but we apprehend some other remedy will have to be sought than amending architecture. Opening committee room doors will help it somewhat. There is more need of ventilating the members than the halls.

* * *

Ten thousand of the following circulars have been distributed in South Bend:

"Please don't swear in our streets. It hurts the feeling of every decent woman, bad for our children gives our town a bad name with strangers and is unkind to our Heavenly Father, besibes being unlawful.

If such an appeal would have any moral effect upon some of our smart young men and boys, whose every alternate word is blasphemy, it would be well to have a few thousand circulated in Rochester.—Rochester Sentinel.

* * *

Many strange faces can be seen in our place, and quite a number propose moving here in the spring.

Our last hope of the Christian statesmen is gone. When Colfax and Wilson acknowledged Credit Mobiler, and Howard feathered his pious nest out of the Freedmen's Bureau, we still had the great and good Harlan to fall back upon. We believed in Harlan and pinned our faith to him. An eminent Christian, who would keep the names of several hundred dead men on the pension rolls and draw their pensions regularly; who could secure an annual appropriation of $500,000 for a gang of Indians that never existed, in whose behalf Parson Newman piously invoked the brotherly co-operation of all the Methodist preachers in Iowa—surely this man was no ordinary sinner, And now our Harlan is gone. It transpires that he too, was tarred with the Pacific Railroad click. Oh, for a good square-shouldered broad chested man of sin.—Enquire.

A Boy's Letter.

The following specimen of a boy's letter, is from Hood's Comic Anual for 1873. There is such a truth of character in it—so much of that spirit of drollery mixed with mischief, which often prevails in the young human being of the male sex—that we cannot help declaring it to be, in its own words, "capital fun." The letter proceeds from a country boy, to what the polite letter writer, calls 'his friend in town,' "Now Bob, I'll tell you what I want; I want you to come down for the holidays. Don't be afraid, Ask your sister to ask your mother, to ask your father to let you come. It's only 90 miles. If you're out of pocket-money you can walk, and beg a lift now and then, or swing by the dickeys. Put on corduroys, and don't care for the cut behind, The two 'prentices George and Will, are here to be made farmers of; and brother Nick is took from school, to help in agriculture. We like farming very much, it is capital fun. Us four have got a gun, and go out shooting; it's a famous good one, and sure to go off if we don't full cock it. Tiger is our shooting dog as soon as he has left off killing the sheep,—He's a real savage, and worries cats beautiful. Before father comes down we mean to bait our bull with him.—There's plenty of New Rivers about, and we are going a fishing as soon as our top joint is mended. We've killed one of our sheep on the sly, to get gentles. We've a pony to ride upon, when we can catch him; but he's got neither mane or tail to signify to lay hold of, Isn't it prime Bob? You must come. If your mother won't give your father leave to allow you, run away. Remember you turn up Goswell street to go to Lincolnshire, and ask for Middleton Hall. There's a pond full of frogs, but we won't pelt them till you come; but let it be before Sunday, as there's our own orchard to rob and the fruits to be gathered on Monday. If you like sucking raw eggs, we know where the hens nests is, and mother don't, and I'm sure there's lots of birds nests. Do come Bob and I'll show you the wasps nest, and everything that will make you comfortable, I dare say you can borrow your fathers volunteer musket of him, without his knowing it; but, be sure to bring the ramrod, any how, as we have mislaid ours, by firing it off.

* * *

We regret to observe that the Turkish Government has entered suit against the London Times for libel. We had entertained the hope that these two great powers would be able to get on amicable, but now, that they have fallen out, we may anticipate complications of the most distressing character. We are not prepared to express an opinion as to the merits of this unhappy controvercy, but we fancy that the mythical personages who conduct the "Thunderer," are more than gratified with the recognition of their usefulness received at the hands of the Ottoman Empire. If governments and principalities and sovereign powers are to be allowed to interfere with the smooth working of public journals in this style there is no knowing what may fall to the lot of the humblest of us. We, our selves have indulged some severe strictures of late, upon the sovereign State of Louisiana. It would be just like these reckless fellows down there to cripple us with a libel.

* * *

In Boston, the best in the theatrical line is Charlotte LaClerque, in a variety of standard plays

Notwithstanding the temperature, Kate Fisher is riding the equine, old Mazeppa in Montreal.

New Orleans at present is wild with all sorts of amusements. The Swiss Family Bell Ringers being the highest toned.

In London the heroines, who are just saved from the burning wrecks, have their clothes steeped in a fire-proof liquid, which does away with the danger.

* * *

There are men who mean to live by their wit; men who minister to the passions of wealth for a consideration; men who are willing to be staves of capital; men who speculate in the necessities of life; thieves, who rob indiscriminately all who come within their reach; women who sell body and soul for luxury and ease; gamblers, suckers, swindlers, cutthroats, supernumeraries, and sinners generally. It is false character that is so brilliant and dashing and victorious to-day.

THE
New York Store!
Until Feb. 1st.
ROOT & Co.,
Will offer the entire balance of their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of
DRY GOODS!
AT A
Great Reduction !
In Price.
EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!
Reduced Prices
On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices
On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices
On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices
On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices
On rich winter dress goods
Reduced Prices
On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices
On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices
On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices
On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices
On fine woolen SKIRTS
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
IN EVERY DEPARTMENT
Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and Secure a Bargain!
ROOT & CO's
Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.
FORT WAYNE, IND.

PianoS
AND ORGAN
WATCHES and JEWELRY!
Silver and Plated Ware,
Spectacles and gold pens,
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated
JEWELRY
Fancy Toilet Sets.,
Opera guard & vest chains,
—AT—
ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!
Also a full line of toys for
THE HOLIDAYS!
CLOCKS
Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,
Piano, Organ,
and all kinds of
Instruction Books!
Watches & Clocks,
Abright & Shepherd

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
etaied AT Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

THE PIONEER
STROE!
HARDWARE!
FOR EVERYBODY.
Reapers & Mowers
FOR EVERYBODY!
PLOWS
FOR EVERYBODY!
STOVES
FOR EVERYBODY!
Building Material for Everybody!
Go to
JOHN L. DAVIS,
NI THE BRICK BLOCK,

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO,

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN,

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law, as no special License can be given Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Tachers do not commence their schools without license

J. A. BARNS, Exam'r

If You Want
Early BreakfasT
—OR—
GREENBACK,
Young America, Native, or a Cooking Stove with Reservoir or without, with Low or Elevated Oven, Heating stoves for wood or coal, or a stove of any description.
CALL ON
BRANDRIFF, PRESCOTT and CO.
DEALERS IN
Builders Hardware,
Of the finest qualits,
Doors, Sash, Blinds, Glass, At reduced Prices.
Leather, Rubber Belting, Packing, Circular and Cross Cut Saws, Mechanics Tools.
Heavy Hardware,
Carriage Makers' Stock, &c.

McDOUGAL'S
CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

DRY GOODS
GEO. DeWALD & CO.
WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS
—IN—
Dry Goods or Notions,
CALL AT THE STORE OF
Geo. DeWald & Co..
No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WYNE,
Where can be found a large assortment of
STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS
which will be sold LOW for cash.
ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET
The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introduce, we are offering
ONE DOLLAR
THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

HATCH, HOLBROOK & CO.
DEALERS IN
Hardwood Lumber!
265 Archer Ave.,
CHIC'GO.
Ash, Oak, Hickory,
Blackwalnut, Butternut
Chery, Maple and
WHITE WOOD LUMBER.
We are now receiving shipments of Hardwood Lumber, and are ready to contract for delivery by rail at any time during this fall or winter.
We pay cash and the highest market rates for ☞ Parties having any of the above for sale will find it to their advantage to write us before shipping elsewhere.
Nov. 21,—3m

WISHART
PINE TREE!
Tar Cordial,
NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY
FOR
Throat and Lungs.
☛ ☛ ☛
It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—
First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.
Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood
Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.
NOTICE
The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,
GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,
—AND—
Worm Sugar Drops!
Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.
HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.
FREE OF CHARGE.
Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.
All letters must be addressed to
☛ ☛ ☛ ☛
L. Q. C. Wishart, M.D
No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.
PHILADELPHIA.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!
LIFE
Insurance Company,
OF
Providence, Rhode Island!
Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a
Home Company!
Inasmuch as the
ENTRE NET RECEIPTS!
Of Indiana are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every social enterprise.
The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.
Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '73.

J. FLEDDERMAN
No 27, E. Main Street,
FORT WAYNE, IND
has the largest and finest stock of
CLOTHS,
Coatings, Cheviots, and
CASSIMERES!
IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of
Made up Clothing!
ever shown in Fort Wayne
Youths' and Children's Clothing!
Furnishing Goods, etc.
Merchant Tailoring
In all the late styles properly attended to. [illegible]

ORGANS.
The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the
ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN
a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.
Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.
For the present and until further notice found at Gedorn's Gallery.
GEO. H. HOFFMAN.
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1873.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER
DOORS, BLINDS
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's, Ballusters and Brackets
North of Canal West of Gas House,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby
SHOEMAKER,
Auburn, Indiana.
Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swineford's hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public to all work in his line. Call and see.

Terrible Panic in a Cincinnati Theater.

"Divorce," by the New York company, has been attracting immense audiences to Wood's Theater for a week past. "Divorce" is a powerful society play, and it has been presented by a combination the like of which we have not seen since the days of the first Pike's Opera House. The crowd that packed Wood's Theater yesterday afternoon was the largest ever seen in that place. It left no room for even a glance at the backs of the audience. If the theater could be made to accommodate 2,000 persons with comfort, there must have been 3,000 human beings within its walls.

At about half-past 3 o'clock, with all this pack of people there, one of the hot-air registers on the first floor (a smoky register at all times) suddenly emitted a big cloud of smoke. The alarm that was created cannot be described. Those who saw the smoke quivered with fear, and in the next instant, as the cry of fire was heard, that dense mass of human beings, women of all ages, helpless children and strong men collapsed into a trembling bunch of terror-stricken humanity. A rush was made for the passages to the street. Down stairs from the balcony came women and children—down on top of women and children from the dress-circle. Out from the top-loft came a crash of men and boys. Down in the parquette and in the dress-circle crowds of people sprang to their feet, and with blanched faces looked at the crush of human beings that cut them off from escape. On a thousand others hope conflicted with fear in the condensed expression of escaping people. Others who had already comprehended the situation held to their places and watched the fear of the majority and the tumult they made. The musicians caught the panic early, but were restrained by somebody in authority who ordered them to play on, saying, "There's no danger—fiddle ahead, you sons of ——." With trembling hands and lips the members of the orchestra struck up a tune. This served to quiet the fears of those who were too closely blockaded to make a rush. Fortunately, men who understood the situation had prevented the terror-stricken women who sought to jump from the windows from accomplishing their desperate purpose. And there were those all over the house who had the presence of mind to cry, "Only a little smoke—no fire!" But as it was, the panic was terrible, and while the only injuries sustained were those of ribs coming suddenly and rudely in contact with elbows, hundreds of women were scared out of a year's growth. Many were carried down stairs in the pressing, rushing throng, and when they reached open air couldn't say how they had done it, or whether they had touched a step in the descent or not.

In the midst of all this confusion, a party of pickpockets had been hanging around, who attempted to get their work in, but people who understood them knocked a couple of them down and ended them for that job. Of course, numerous articles were lost in the crush—muffs, gloves, veils, furs, etc., but nearly everything was recovered when order was restored, and the play resumed. After all the excitement was over, it was discovered that a gas globe over the south side of the dress-circle had been demolished by a man who had jumped from the balcony down into the parquette. He was lucky in not injuring himself, and also in not jumping on anybody. Several ladies were frightened to the point of insensibility, and had to be carried out.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The Aerial Telegraph Scheme.

The bill incorporating the Loomis Aerial Telegraph Company has finally passed the Senate of the United States, and, with the signature of the President, will become a law. The plan of Dr. Loomis, the inventor, is to telegraph from a high peak of the Rocky Mountains to the highest attainable peak of the Alps, at which point a tower is to be erected, on the top of which a large mast is to be placed. An apparatus capable of collecting electricity is to be put on the upper end of this mast, by means of which, on such elevation, it is claimed a strata of the atmosphere will be reached which is charged with electricity. Ground connections, the same as in ordinary telegraphy, will be erected. This electrified stratum of the atmosphere will, as with the ordinary single wire and ground connection, make a complete circuit, and it is claimed that the slightest pulsation of the electricity at one tower will produce a similar pulsation at the other. The company is to have a capital stock of $200,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to two millions if the interest of the company shall require it. The business objects of the corporation are stated in the bill to be to develop and utilize the principles and powers of natural electricity, to be used in telegraphy, generating light, heat, and motive power, and operate any machinery run by electricity for any purpose.

Unparalleled Surgical Operation.

On Monday, Dec. 2, a surgical operation was performed by Drs. Cable and Walters, of Pittsburgh, Pa., which is without parallel. A young man residing in Steubenville, O., was so unfortunate as to get a mouth-plate with five teeth thereon fastened in his throat. Medical assistance was summoned, and all efforts to withdraw the plate were unsuccessful, and the physicians in attendance pushed the plate further down the gullet. The patient suffered greatly, and efforts were made to employ a surgeon that would undertake to cut the man open and recover the plate, but a surgeon could not be found in the city who would risk the delicate operation. Finally Drs. Cable and Walters, of Pittsburgh, consented to perform the operation. Chloroform was administered to the patient, and an incision was made in the neck, and the surgeon cut steady to the top of the stomach. In the language of Dr. Cable, "the man's heart was beating against my right hand, while the lungs and arteries were throbbing against my left hand." An instrument was inserted and the plate successfully removed. Our informant left Pittsburgh on the seventh day after the operation and the patient was recovering rapidly, and a later report by letter informs him that he is entirely out of danger.

LOOSE HABITS—Dressing-gowns.

Astounding Mesmeric Power.

A curious case of mesmerism is recorded by the civil surgeon of Hoshungabad. A young woman named Nunnee, aged 24, was married some twelve years ago; she, however, did not go to her husband's house for two years afterward. After staying with him for eight days she became insensible, and remained so for two or three days. She was taken back to her mother, and soon got well. Then follows a very remarkable history. During the next four or five years she never entered her husband's house without falling insensible and remaining so. He was very kind and attentive to her; she liked him, but whenever he came into her presence she at once sank into this state. This went on till she became emaciated and exhausted, and at last her parents applied to the court for a separate maintenance for her. While she was in court the husband entered, and she instantly became insensible and was carried to the hospital, where the case was carefully attended to by Dr. Cullen, in March, last year. While in this state her pulse was even, breathing soft, her body pliant, but she could eat nothing. Experiments were carefully made to see if there was no trick about it. While she was in bed her husband was muffled up and made to walk through the ward. She said she felt he was near her, and she was by no means well, but had not seen him anywhere about. Next day this experiment was repeated, and she actually became insensible as before. When the husband left the place she recovered. The experiment as to the influence of the husband's presence was tried in all sorts of ways. He was made to pass behind her and to be near her in a separate ward, but this had no effect; but whenever he was brought to look on her face, though muffled up, or disguised as a policeman, as a sepoy, and so forth, she was at once influenced. The experiments continued for about a month, and the conclusion was that the husband unconsciously mesmerized her. The court came to the conclusion that it was impossible that she could live with him, and a separate allowance was ordered. The husband was asked to try if he could not remove the effect, seeing that he had the power to cause it, but he was quite frightened at the idea of having the power and could not control it in any way.—Homeward Mail, of India.

Another Old Vaccination Mark.

In our last issue we copied a paragraph from the Yeoman stating that Col. Edmund H. Taylor, of Frankfort, had probably the oldest vaccine mark in the United States. According to the Yeoman, Col. Taylor was vaccinated in 1802, seventy-one years ago. Capt. Jack Louett, a venerable and well-known citizen of our town, saw the Yeoman's statement in our paper, and came to our office on Thursday, where he exhibited to us a scar on his left arm, deep, large, and well defined, which was produced by vaccination in 1798, seventy-five years ago. The Captain was born in 1792, and was vaccinated when only six years of age. About eighteen years ago he was again vaccinated, on the right arm, and although the limb swelled up and presented the appearance of a "good take," it passed away without leaving a scar.—Mt. Sterling (Ky.) Sentinel.

MEDICAL GUESSWORK.—The professional treatment of disease is in a great measure experimental. If one medicine fails another is tried, and sometimes this hit-or-miss practice is pursued until the resources of the faculty is exhausted. This, in the truest sense of the word, is empiricism. But when the physician has made a valuable discovery, he is called by his professional brethren an Empiric because he advertises the result of his labor and research. When Dr. Walker, of California, introduced his celebrated VINEGAR BITTERS as a remedy for all blood diseases, he struck a tremendous blow at the empirical system as applied in our hospitals and in private practice. It was soon apparent that his medicine was not a mere palliative or alleviative that only modified the symptoms of a disorder, but that it reached the very source of the malady in the blood and the secretions, and literally rooted it out. The process of renovation and disinfection went on together, vigor was imparted to the organs from which the virus of disease had been expelled. That such is the effect of this popular vegetable remedy, no one who has had opportunities of observing its operation in cases of liver complaint, indigestion, affections of the bowels, gout, rheumatism and pulmonary disorders can possibly doubt.—[Com.

A MIXTURE of wood ashes and salt, three parts of the former to one of the latter, constitutes an excellent mixture for all domestic animals. Its alkalescent and saline qualities are both congenial to the animal system, and when used in proper quantities, and at proper times, are highly promotive of health.—Germantown Telegraph.

THE feast of imagination—Having no dinner, but reading a cookery book.

FOR an Irritated Throat, Cough or Cold, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are offered with the fullest confidence in their efficacy. They maintain the good reputation they have justly acquired.—[Com.

What the Season Suggests.

To assume warm clothing at the commencement of the cold season is only an act of common prudence. But something more than this is required to put the body in a state of defense against the searching atmosphere of winter. Damp has a depressing effect on the vital organs and the animal spirits. The amount of life power taken out of the strongest of us by the chilling vapors which frequently load the air at this period of the year is very considerable, and to the weak and languid they are extremely deleterious. To protect the system against their effects, it must be inwardly toned, regulated and reinforced, as well as shielded outwardly by appropriate garments. This essential service is more safely and satisfactorily accomplished by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters than by any other means within the province of medical science. The fact here stated is as incontrovertible as a demonstration in mathematics. Nobody disputes it. It is a matter of common belief and of general record. Here the case might be rested; but the public, naturally enough, wants to know why this famous vegetable specific is so far ahead of all other medicines of its class. This reasonable curiosity can be readily gratified. The Bitters comprise five important elements, viz.: a stimulant, a tonic, an aperient, and a blood depurent. Each of these components, as well as each of the other subordinate ingredients, is the purest and best of its kind. They are proportioned in accordance with a formula that has been in use for twenty years, and operate harmoniously and simultaneously. Hence the uniform success of the medicine.

THE WEEKLY SUN.
Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

THE BEST FAMILY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST AGRICULTURAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST POLITICAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST NEWSPAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

HAS ALL THE NEWS.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST STORY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST FASHION REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST MARKET REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST CATTLE REPORTS in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST PAPER in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

"P. P. P. P."

The above are the initials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—the "Little Giant" Cathartic, or multum in parvo Physic. They are scarcely larger than mustard seeds, yet represent as much cathartic power as a large repulsive pill, being a most searching and thorough yet gently and kindly operating cathartic. Pleasant to take, powerful to cure. 25 cents per vial, by druggists. 623

LOCKE'S NATIONAL MONTHLY for February will contain a splendid story, "Two Criminals," two sketches by Nasby, and a vast amount of other matter. Ask your newsdealer for it, or send 10 cents to Locke & Jones, Toledo, Ohio. $1.00 per year. It is the best magazine for the money published. Send for circular to Agents.—[Com.

THERE is, probably, no way in which we can benefit our readers more than by recommending to them, for general use, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is adapted to almost all the purposes of a Family Medicine; and as a specific for coughs, colds, whooping cough, soreness of the chest, lame stomach, rheumatism, spitting of blood, and all lung difficulties, it has no equal that ever we saw or heard of.—[Com.

THE propriety of giving condition medicine to horses, cattle and sheep was discussed and admitted by many of the Agricultural Societies throughout the State last Fall, and we believe that in every case but one they decided in favor of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. Good judgment.—[Com.

IMPORTANT TO HORSEMEN.—Inflammation cannot exist where Prof. "ANDERSON'S DERMADOR" is applied. Fresh wounds, Galls, Caulks, Bruises, are dried down and healed without inflammation. Scratches, Sand Cracks, Swellings and Sprains cured by a few applications. A thorough use will also cure Sweeney, Poll Evil, Windgalls and Lameness, from whatever cause.

See advertisement in this paper.—[Com.

LADIES who have given "The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion, a fair trial, say they would not be without it, for ten times its cost.—[Com.

A CHALLENGE

IS extended to the WORLD to place before the public a better COUGH or LUNG remedy than ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

VERILY IT HATH NO EQUAL.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ!

Would you cure that distressing cough, and bring back that healthy vigor till lately planted in your cheek? If you would, do not delay; for, ere you are aware, it will be too late.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

Is your hope. It has been tried by thousands such as you, who have been cured; many, in their gratitude, have lent their names to us, that suffering humanity can read their evidence and believe. Don't experiment with new and untried mixtures—you cannot afford it—but try at once this invaluable article. It is warranted to break up the most troublesome cough in a few hours, if not of too long standing. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction in all cases of lung and throat difficulties.

UNSOLICITED EVIDENCE OF ITS MERITS.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

WHAT WELL-KNOWN DRUGGISTS SAY ABOUT ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

SPRINGFIELD, Tenn., Sept. 11, 1872.

GENTLEMEN: Ship us six dozen Allen's Lung Balsam at once. We have not a bottle left in our store. It has more reputation than any cough medicine we have ever sold, and we have been in the drug business twenty-seven years; we mean just what we say about the Balsam.

Very truly yours,
HURT & TANNER.

AGAIN READ THE EVIDENCE from a Druggist who was cured by use of the Balsam, and now sells it largely:

L. C. Cottrell, Druggist at Marine City, Michigan, writes, Sept. 12, 1872: "I am out of Allen's Lung Balsam. Send me half a gross as soon as you can; I would rather be out of any other medicine in my store. The Lung Balsam never fails to do good for those afflicted with a cough."

It is harmless to the most delicate child.
It contains no opium in any form.
It is sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Do not be deceived. Call for ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and take no other.
Directions accompany each bottle.

J. N. HARRIS & CO, Cincinnati, O.,

PROPRIETORS.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

GET RID OF A COLD AT ONCE by using Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, a certain cure for all Pulmonary and Bronchial Affections.

The Markets,

NEW YORK.
BEEVES—Good to Prime	12 @ 13¼
Common	9 @ 11
HOGS—Dressed	5¾@ 6¼
COTTON—Middling Upland	19¾@
FLOUR—Superfine Western	6 00 @ 6 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 65 @ 1 66
CORN	64 @ 67
OATS	48 @ 53
PORK—Mess	13 75 @ ..
LARD	8¼@ 8½
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice	5 75 @ 6 00
Good	5 25 @ 5 75
Medium	4 25 @ 5 00
Common	3 00 @ 4 25
Inferior	1 75 @ 2 25
HOGS	3 55 @ 3 95
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	7 50 @10 00
Red Winter Extra	6 50 @ 7 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	1 22 @ 1 22½
No. 3 Spring	1 07½@ 1 08
CORN—No. 2	30 @ 30½
OATS—No. 2	25 @ 25½
RYE—No. 2	67 @ 68
BARLEY—No. 2	69 @ 72
BUTTER—Choice	26 @ 27
EGGS—Fresh	28 @ 29
PORK—Mess	11 60 @11 75
LARD	7½@ 7½
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1 95 @ 1 97
CORN—Mixed	38½ @ 39½
OATS	31 @ ..
RYE	73 @ 75
BARLEY	70 @ 75
HOGS	3 40 @ 3 75
CATTLE	2 00 @ 4 50
CINCINNATI.
FLOUR	8 15 @ 8 40
WHEAT	1 73 @ 1 75
PORK—Mess	12 50 @ ..
LARD	7½@ 7¾
HOGS	3 80 @ 4 10
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	1 29½@ ..
No. 2	1 23½@ ..
OATS—No. 2	26½@ ..
CORN—No. 2	34½@ ..
RYE—No. 1	68½@ ..
BARLEY—No. 2	80 @ ..
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1 69½@ ..
No. 2 Red	1 63½@ 1 64½
CORN	37 @ 38
OATS	31½@ 34

The Golden Opportunity.

John V. Farwell & Co., Monroe and Franklin streets, Chicago, having decided to retire from the Retail business and give their attention exclusively to the Jobbing trade, offer their whole retail stock of One Million Dollars' worth of Dry Goods, Carpetings and Upholstery at and below actual cost. Families having access by rail to Chicago will find the stock fresh and complete in all respects.—[Com.

IS IT NOT cheaper to wear one collar three or four days than one collar each day? If you think so try the Elmwood or Warwick.—[Com.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Throat and Lung Difficulties.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON,
194 Penn street, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM
CUTLER BROS & CO.
PROPRIETORS, BOSTON

THE WHEAT FIELD OF AMERICA!

Healthful Climate, Free Homes, Good Markets.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD offers for sale Lands in Central and Western Minnesota, embracing: 1. The best of Wheat Land; 2. Excellent Timber for the Mill, the Farm and the Fire; 3. Rich Prairie Pasturage and Natural Meadow, watered by clear Lakes and running streams—in a healthful Climate, where Fever and Ague is unknown.

GRAIN may be shipped hence by lake to market as cheaply as from Eastern Iowa or Central Illinois. Cars now run through these lands from Lake Superior to Dakota. Price of land close to track, $4.00 to $8.00 per acre; further away $2.50 to $4.00. SEVEN YEARS' CREDIT; Warrantee Deeds; Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds, now selling at par, received for land at $1.10. No other unoccupied Lands present such advantages to settlers.

SOLDIERS under the New Law (March, 1872) get 160 acres FREE, near the railroad, by one and two years' residence.

TRANSPORTATION AT REDUCED RATES furnished from all principle points East to purchasers of Railroad Lands, and to settlers on Government Homesteads. Purchasers, their wives and children carried free over the Northern Pacific Road. Now is the time for Settlers and Colonies to get Railroad Lands and Government Homesteads close to the track.

Send for Pamphlet containing full information, map and copy of New Homestead Law. Address

LAND DEPARTMENT, NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD, ST. PAUL, MINN.,
Or 23 FIFTH AV., cor. NINTH ST., NEW YORK.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!!
MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

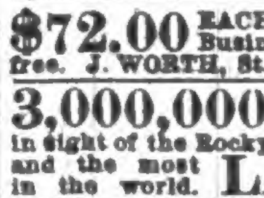
"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

3,000,000 ACRES CHOICE FARMING, grazing, coal and other lands, in sight of the Rocky Mountains. Best in market and the most healthful climate in the world. LAND Low prices; long credit; nominal interest.—Send stamp for pamphlet to BYERS & PARKER, Denver, Col.



THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

L. D. SINE'S
ESTABLISHED 1854

GIFT ENTERPRISE

The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!

$60,000.00
IN VALUABLE GIFTS!

TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN

L. D. SINE'S

159th REGULAR MONTHLY

GIFT ENTERPRISE,

To be drawn Monday, Feb. 17th, 1873.

TWO GRAND CAPITALS OF

$5,000 EACH IN GREENBACKS!

Two Prizes $1,000 } EACH } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500 }
Ten Prizes $100 }

One Horse and Buggy, with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $600! One fine-toned Rosewood Piano, worth $500! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! Five Gold Watches and Chains, worth $300 each! Five Gold American Hunting Watches, worth $125 each! Ten Ladies' Gold Hunting Watches, worth $75 each! 800 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches (in all) worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.

Whole number Gifts 6,500. Tickets limited to 60,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.

Single Tickets, $1; Six Tickets, $5; Twelve Tickets, $10; Twenty-five Tickets, $20.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other Information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to

MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PROF. ANDERSON'S

DERMADOR.

Good for Man.—Inflammation of all kinds, Diphtheria, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Sprains, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Swelling of the Glands, Inflammation of the Eyes, Broken Breast, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Piles, Bee Stings, and all Sores.

Good for Beast.—Fresh Wounds, Galls, Poll Evil, Sprains, Bruises, Cracked Heels, Ring Bone, Wind Galls, Spavins, Sweeney, Founder, Lameness, Sand Cracks, Scratches, or Grease, Mange, Horse Distemper.

This truly wonderful Liniment was discovered by HOMER ANDERSON, A.M., late Professor of Chemistry and Mathematics in the Clinton Liberal Institute, of Oneida County, N.Y. In experimenting for the purpose of making Prussic Acid, by uniting the independent gaseous bodies of which it is composed, a residuum was left, which, on being applied to bruises and inflamed parts, by the students of the Institute, was found to possess the remarkable property of cooling down and carrying off the inflammation and soreness at once, and restoring the parts to soundness and health in a few hours without pain or irritation.

It is not a heating Liniment, but acts by its peculiar specific or chemical qualities in dissolving and scattering the soreness and inflammation of the injured part. By a free application, the red surface soon becomes cool, moist and natural, and is restored to natural health without suppuration or destruction.

As a Liniment for Horse Flesh, for the cure of all the ailments named above, we challenge the world to find its equal.

Price 25 & 50 cents per bottle.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

See notice in local column.

MERCHANT'S
GARGLING OIL
IS GOOD FOR

Burns and Scalds,	Rheumatism,
Chilblains,	Hemorrhoids or Piles,
Sprains and Bruises,	Sore Nipples,
Chapped Hands,	Caked Breasts,
Flesh Wounds,	Fistula, Mange,
Frost Bites,	Spavins, Sweeney,
External Poisons,	Scratches or Grease,
Sand Cracks,	Stringhalt, Windgalls,
Galls of All Kinds,	Foundered Feet,
Sitfast, Ringbone,	Cracked Heels,
Poll Evil,	Foot Rot in Sheep,
Animal & Insect Bites,	Roup in Poultry,
Toothache, &c., &c.	Lame Back, &c., &c.

Large Size $1.00; Medium 50c.; Small 25c.

The Gargling Oil has been in use as a Liniment since 1833. All we ask is a fair trial, but be sure and follow directions. Ask your nearest Druggist or dealer in Patent Medicines for one of our Almanacs and read what the people say about the Oil.

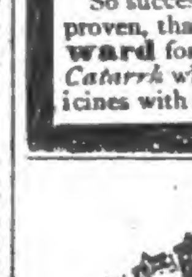
The Gargling Oil is for sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other Countries.

Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present, and are unsolicited. Use the Gargling Oil, and tell your neighbors what good it has done. We also manufacture

"MERCHANT'S WORM TABLETS."

We deal fair and liberal with all, and defy contradiction. Write for an Almanac.

Manufactured at Lockport, N. Y., by
MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL COMP'Y
JOHN HODGE, Secretary.



Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy effects cures upon scientific principles, by its mild, healing properties, to which the disease gradually yields, when the system has been put in perfect order with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which should be taken earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault, also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The Catarrh Remedy should be applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, as this is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages and chambers in which sores and ulcers exist, and from which the discharge generally proceeds.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven, that the proprietor offers $500 Reward for a case of "Cold in Head" Ozena or Catarrh which he cannot cure. The two medicines with instrument, for $2, by all druggists.

QUEEN'S TOILET
FOR IMPROVING AND BEAUTIFYING
THE COMPLEXION

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

These are the only Medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck, of Philadelphia, has been in constant practice for over thirty years, continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines, if properly taken, will cure Consumption. His Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach and aids digestion. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion. For sale by all druggists.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION

Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 200 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

Write for large Illustrated Descriptive Price List of Doubles, Single, Muzzle and Breech-Loading Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Pistols, etc., of every kind, for men or boys, at very low prices. Guns, $3 to $300; Pistols, $1 to $25.

MAPS A full line of BLANCHARD'S and COLTON'S Pocket and Mounted Maps and R. R. Guides, the latest in market. Trade supplied. Send for Catalogue and Price List. Chicago Book Agency, Chicago, Ill., P. O. Drawer 580.

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents, Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS WANTED for the New Illustrated Book WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST. 30 years of adventures among the Indians, &c. Thrillingly interesting and fast selling. For terms, Address F. A. HUTCHINSON, Chicago, Ill. or St. Louis.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it. Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

SEND 10 cts. for sample copy and prospectus of the Matrimonial News. P. O. Box 507, Chicago, Ill.

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

THE NEW SCALE

HAINES

27 Union Square, N. Y.
Undoubtedly the best Square Piano made.
Send for Circular with Illustrations.
Prices ranging from 350 to 700 dollars,
Every Piano WARRANTED for Five Years.

DOOLEY'S
THE BEST
YEAST
POWDER
TRY IT. SOLD BY GROCERS

EVERGREENS (6 to 16 inches) Transplanted. $2 to $5 per 100. Send stamp for descriptive list to BARNES & CO., Young America, Ill.

263 RECEIPTS WHICH COST $135
Sent on receipt of 15 cents. Address T. BENJAMIN, St. Louis, Mo.

$50—VALUABLE—Send three-cent stamp for particulars. DOBSON, HAYNES & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

C. S. U. No. 4.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, February 6, 1873. No. 6.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year.......... $2 00
Six Months.......... 1 00
Three Months.......... 50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Cards 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY
Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House. Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana. Office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare's shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. BICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Craxton,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL,
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. The house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, [illegible], Prop. 126, 130 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office over [illegible] Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. [illegible] street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. J. C. SWINEFORD, [illegible]. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent [illegible] Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER [illegible] AND CALHOUN STS., [illegible]

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Beyer & Co.'s store. 3-25

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street, [illegible] S. A. C. M'CLELLAN.

E. E. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER, of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the highest cash rates, at all times. 3-25

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.
LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS,
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keyser Block,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK
BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.
Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of
BALTIMORE,
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.
At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificent day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.
L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianapolis	8 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 34a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 29
Waterloo	10 33		8 18
Pleasant Lake	10 06		7 47
Angola	9 52		7 35
Fremont	9 12		6 55
Reading	8 56		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	6 50
Hanover	7 51	1 00	6 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	10 45pm	8 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	8 15	10 40
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	8 45	8 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 a.m	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 32
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Frement	9 05		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 13		4 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft.Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 23, 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	3,45a.m	7,10 A.M	9,10 A.M	1,30 P.M
Rochester	3,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	7,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P.M	,28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,05 P.M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,53 "	4,38 "	5,08 "	8,11 "
Creste ar	9,20 "	4,25 "	5,40 "	8,40 "
line lve	9,40 "	5,00 A.M	6,00 "	8,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,35 "	11,18 "
Lima	12,05 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A.M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P.M	11,50 "	11,05 A.M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,45 "	2,55 P.M	2,55 "	5,05 "
Chicago	7,50 "	6,50 "	6,30 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A.M	9,20 A.M	5,30 A.M	5,20 P.M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P.M	8,55 "	12,30 A.M
Ft Wayne	12,50 P.M	2,30 "	11,20 "	3,35 "
Lima	[illegible]	[illegible]	1,18 A.M	6,10 "
Forest	[illegible]	[illegible]	2,27 "	6,25 "
Crest ar	[illegible]	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,10 "
line lve	11,20 A.M	6,50 "	4,15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P.M	7,15 "	4,43 "	8,55 "
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,06 "
Alliance	[illegible]	11,00 "	8,35 "	1,10 P.M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A.M	11,02 "	3,30 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,30 "	11,45 A.M	4,3 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana, AND DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 28th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	6 50p.m	7 00a.m	12 40 p.m
Ypsilanti	7 55	8 05	3 30a.m
Hillsdale	10 20	[illegible]	4 21
Angola	[illegible]	[illegible]	4 45
Summit	[illegible]	[illegible]	6 15
Waterloo	[illegible]	1 40	6 40
Auburn	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Denver	9 15	[illegible]
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Denver	12 30 a.m	[illegible]	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 25 p.m	5 40
Waterloo	4 45	12 40	6 15
Summit	4 45	1 00	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Bankers	7 05	3 35	9 00 a.m
Ypsilanti	10 20	6 20	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R. Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'n
Butler	1:54 p.m	x 1:10 a.m	9:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:36 "	9:35 "
Sedan	2:00 "	x 2:34 "	2:53 "
Corunna	2:25 "	x 3:00 "	3:51 "

GOING EAST

Corunna	2:40 a.m	x11:34 p.m	1:40 p.m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:50	1:10 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:45 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:08 "	x12:08 a.m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871.

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 30 p m	6 45
Hartford City	1 36	7 36
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 44

Going South.

Fort Wayne Lve	12 30 p m	6 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	5 35	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	3 30

W. W. [illegible], Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

together with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.

PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!

AND

EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE

EAGLE MILLS.

UBUR, IN A.

Having affected new arrangements for the accommodation of the public, we are now prepared to accommodate all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK!

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,

Becker & Bond,

ACHITET S

BUILDING

CONTRACTORS,

AND DEALERS IN

Building Stone

AMERICAN AND

ITALIAN MARBLE

GRANITE,
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,

Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF

HardwareE,

NAILS GLASS & PUTTY.

QUEENSWARE!

Willow-ware, Glass-ware,

Choice Groceries & Provisions!

AT

MARTIN & SONS,

Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

EQUAL AND JUST REPRESENTATION

Eight Children at a Birth.

On the 21st of August, Mrs. Timothy Bradlee, of Trumbull county, Ohio, gave birth to eight children—all living, and are healthy, but quite small. Mr. Bradlee was married six years ago to Eunice Mowery, who weighed two hundred and seventy-three pounds on the day of her marriage. She has given birth to two pairs of twins, and now eight more, making 12 children in six years. Mrs. Bradlee was a triplet, her mother and father both being twins, and her grandmother the mother of five pairs of twins.—Cin. Lancet.

As the subject of the weather has been almost monoplized by conversation clubs, a friend suggests a substitute to be used in conversation. Why should not arithmetical observations be used in the place of those of a meteorological nature, so as to render unnecessary such time-worn and utter useless remarks as:

It is very hot this evening. Miss.

Yes, sir, I think it is hotter than it was this morning.

I really believe it is; but it's not as hot as it was last night.

If it is as hot to-morrow, I don't know what I shall do.

But I don't think it is possible for it to be hotter than it was yesterday.

We have something both novel and instructive to the mind. For instance, people of ordinary culture might thus converse: Good-morning, miss. Nine and eight make seventeen.

Yes, sir, they do; and three from seventeen leave fourteen.

And one more will make fifteen.

Yes, sir; but seven into fifty-three is very difficult.

The introduction of the terms 'Cretit Foncier' and 'Credit Mobilier' into America are due to Mr. George Francis Train. He established a 'Credit Foncier' with Omaha lands, which he hawked about the country some years ago. He gave the name of 'Credit Mobilier of America' to a coporation with universal privileges which was organized in Pennsylvania. It was [illegible] by Messrs. Oakes Ames, Durant & Co., to serve as the party of the third part in the famous 'triplicate agreement, by which the managers of the Union Pacific Railroad let out the contract for building the road to themselves, in payment for which they modestly took the road itself all the United States bonds all the first mortgage bonds, all the U. S. lands, at a profit of over 1,000 per cent. on an entirely fictitious capital. This is what Credit Mobilier means, in the modern American and Congressional use of the word. The title is not inappropriate. The transaction was literally a Credit on Movables,—the U. S. Government furnishing the credit and the money, and Oakes & Co. taking the profits.

Ames, finding that these very pure and high-minded Congressmen were helping to swell the public indignation against him, and that it was sought to make him the sluice way to carry all their filth out of sight, found his 'memoradum book,' and having refreshed his recollection from this, goes before the committee, and makes some of these 'pure and Christian states "men" look sick. Of Patterson, he says that he bought for him thirty shares of Credit Mobilier stock, for which he received $3,000, and that he paid the annual dividends to Mr. Patterson directly.—He corroborates his statements by producing some of the checks which he gave Patterson, payable to order, with Patterson's endorsement on them, and since then he has been rumaging among his papers and found the following receipts;

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1868.

Received of Oakes Ames, eighteen hundred dollars on account of dividends received by him as trustee on stock held for my account.

[Signed] J. W. PATTERSON.

BOSTON, May 6, 1871.

Received of Oakes Ames, 200 shares Union Pacific Railroad stock and $757-24-100 in cash, on account of Credit Mobilier stock; and there is still due on the transaction thirty shares of stock in the Credit Mobilier of America, and $2,000 in the income bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad.

J. W. PATTERSON.

And yet this sainted Senator swore that he had never received 'one penny's worth" of the stock of the Credit Mobilier. Would any jury in the land have taken this evidence, which we have collated from the New York Tribune, as true, hesitate to convict this learned professor of perjury? If he was a poor devil he would be on the road to the penitentiary now.

Senator Sumner is still unable to take his seat in the Senate, but is compelled to quitly occupy his time in his library, on account of his pretracted illness.—His illness does not prevent him from receiving visitors; and he still retains his accustomed cheerfulness, but he requires the use of morphine to enable him to procure a necessary amount of sleep.

A little girl, of Richmond, was somewhat injured by being struck in the face by a portion of a load of shot, which was fired toward the ground by Mr Matt Waterman. The ground being frozen quite hard the shot rebound and his little daughter who was standing near by received a portion of it.

The Huntington Herald says a man at Peru, paced up and down one of the streets of that place, one night last week and expressed himself thus; As that old moon looks down upon me, and sheds its affulgent rays athwart my benighted soul, I stoop to notice the utter heartlessness of a thing in the form of a man, who would turn a human being out to graze in the storm of a winter's night. It was Peru whisky that ailed him.

An infant daughter of Lewis Harris, of Richmond, died a frightful death the other day. The mother went to the cupboard to get some articles therefrom, and hearing screams from the child, she returned almost instantly and found it standing with both hands against the hot stove. She removed its hands, and the skin and flesh came off of them and remained sticking to the stove. The pain of the burns was so great as to cause spasms which resulted in the death of the little sufferer.

The councel for Stokes, in pressing for a new trial, will rely much upon the fact that two of the jurors went outside of the court for evidence, one having examined the ladies' staircase, at the Grand Central Hotel, and another having examined pistols at the gunsmith's to see whether a four-barrelled could be distinguished from a six-barrelled pistol. An affidavit is also to be embodied in the bill of exceptations that before the trial one of the jurors said that "Stokes ought to hang anyhow," and another that if he "were on the jury, he'd hang him (Stokes) anyhow."

Three Young Men.

On a certain day in the month of October, three arrests were made in the city of Boston, for murder, or attempt of murder. The public mind was excited, the people felt insecure, and the public journals on the following day contained alarming editorials on the sudden increase of crime, in that city.

The criminals arrested were young men, and in each case, intemperance, either directly or indirectly, was associated with the crime. But for the intoxicating cup the quarrels that led to the sheding of blood, would not have occurred.

One of the murderers a sailor, stabbed another man, who had offended him, with a sheath knife, in the street. As soon as the evil passion had subsided, and his brain became clear, he himself looked upon the deed with horror, and was shocked at himself when called a murderer. Looking up at an acquaintance piteously he said:

"It was not I that did it; it was rum!"

A young Englishman, in a fit of delirium, caused by intoxication, killed a younger brother whom he dearly loved. The morning revealed to him the bloody work of the night, and life to him was utter darkness from that hour. He was at last sentenced to be hanged. On the scaffold, he was asked if he had anything to say.

"Only this—'twas whisky did it all.'

Some years ago a young man in New York returned home intoxicated. His mother had waited for him all night, with prayer or her lips, and tears in her eyes. As he came in she ventured to expostulate. He called her by a name too vile to write, and seizing a stick, struck her upon the temple, and she fell dead. When the influence of strong drink had passed off he exclaimed:

"Nothing but liquor could have made me strike my mother."

Such incidents as these emphasize the trite admonition, "Beware of the first glass." Drinking is the swiftest of all aveunes to ruin. It is the covered way to crime where demons beckon and lights gleam. It sets the evil pasions over reason, it blinds the mind and steels the heart. What other vice would lead a young man to stab a companion, to kill his brother, or to strike down his mother?'—Youth's Companion.

Gentility is neither in birth, manner or fashion, but in the mind. A high sense of honor, a determination never to take a mean advantage of another, and adherency to truth, delicacy and politeness, towards those with whom you have dealings, are the essential characteristics of a gentleman.

IT is realy astonishing how the snow can stay so long. Eleven weeks have passed and still it comes. How shiftless.

The President's Salary.

Mr. Banks has introduced in the House a resolution raising the salary of the President, and making other changes in the mode of election, and the term of office of the President.—The resolution embodies the following propositions:

1. That the salary of the President shall be fixed at $50,000 per annum, commenceing in March, 1873.

2. That the term of President and Vice President shall be six years, instead of four.

3. That the President shall be ineligible for re-election.

4. That the President and Vice President shall be elected by the people at the same time the Congressmen are elected, Josh Billings on [illegible].

Silence is a still noise.

One ov the hardest things for a man to do, is to keep still.

Everybody wants tew be heard furst and that iz just what fills the world full of nonsense.

Everybody wants to talk, few wants tew think and nobody wants tew listen.

The greatest talkers among the feathered tribe are the magpie, and ginny hens, and neither ov them are ov much account.

It a man ain't sure he is right, the best thing he can play, is a blank one.

I have nown menny a man tew beat in an argument by just noding his head once in a while and simply saying "jess so, jess so."

It takes a great menny blows to drive in a nail, but one blow will clinch it.

"Sum men talks just like a French pony trots, all day long in a half bushel.

Silence never makes enny blunders, and always gits az much credit az is due it.

When i see a man listening to me clus, i alwus say to myself, "look out John, that man iz taking your measure.

I have herd menny argy the pint tu ours and a half, and not git enny further from the place where they started, than a mule in a bark mill; they did a good deal of going round and round.

I have sat on the jurys and had the lawyer talk the law, facks and evidences ov the kase, all out ov me, besides starting the taps on mi butes.

I have been tew church hungry for sum gospel, and cum home so phull that i cud'nt draugh a long breth, without starting a button.

Brevity and silence, are the tew great kards, and next tew saying nothing saying a little, is the strength ov the game.

One thing is surtain, it is only the grate thinkers who kan afford tew be breaf, and there has been but phew columns yet published which could not be kut down too-thurds, and menny ov them could be cut clean back to the title page without hurting them at all.

It is hard tew find a man with good sense, who kan look back on enny occasion, and wished he had said more, but it is easy to find menny who wish they had said less.

A thing said, is hard tew recall, but unsed, it kan be spoken at enny time.

Brevity is a child of silence, and is a great credit tew the old man.

Darwin, or some other commentator, relates a story of a Parrot and a Monkey, that were in the possession of a lady in a certain village. They had contracted a mortal hatred for each other, and whenever they were permitted to come together, a terrible battle always took place. One day, the lady went from home, and thoughtlessly left the Parrot and Monkey in the same room. As usual on such occasions there was a fight. When the lady returned she found furniture misplaced, and things torn up generally. The Monkey was sitting on the mantlepiece much demoralized, and the Parrot completely plucked, crawled out of its hiding place, and after eyeing the lady a moment exclaimed, 'We've had a hell of a time.'

Men are frequently like tea, the real strength and goodness are not properly drawn out of them until they have been in hot water a while.

Lots of sproting youths were in full trim last Sunday. Games of various discriptions were brought into requisition and the entire day was passed in sin and and folly.

UNTO DEATH.

Oh! it is thou, the angel of my life,
The one faint voice from Heaven,
That filled my ear amid my hours of strife,
When hope, and joy, and light were all but riven
From me. My more than friend,
[illegible]
Wait with me till the end!

Thou'st waked me from sweet dreams; and yet 'tis well,
For thou than sweetest dreams
Are better far. And I would ever dwell
Within the glory of the tender gleams
Of those bright eyes, which send Heaven's light to earth; and yet it cannot be.
Wait with me till the end!

And thou, my love, hast come to me from far;
From that deep, sheltered vale
Where first I met thee, my own guiding star,
And where in twilight hour love's early tale
[illegible]
Thy fair young face above me yet again!
Wait with me till the end.

For I would have the lips of love's first dream
Breathe kindly on me now,
And give their blessing, falling like a gleam
Of Heaven upon a death-o'ershadowed brow;
A blessing that shall lend
A glory that shall light me through the gloom!
Wait with me till the end!

Thy presence lent a beauty to the flower,
A sweetness to the dove,
A charm to all the sounds of twilight's hour;
And I had all thy heart's impassioned love!
But now my soul must rend
Itself from thee, and go its lonely way!
Wait with me till the end!

I left thee on that day now long gone by,
[illegible] I searched for fame,
My soul fed on the love in thy dark eye,
And burned that I might gain a noble name,
And that I might blend
Our lives in one renown; but all is o'er!
[illegible] till the end!

Thou knowest not how oft throughout the night
Thy presence hovered near,
And lent a luster to my lonely light,
As through the silent hours I seemed to hear
Thy voice a prayer send
To Heaven for me? Now, more than guardian one,
[illegible] till the end!

Dear love! I feel thy kiss upon my brow.
Weep not, my love and life!
I'll bless thee till we meet; be near me now,
While I am passing through this mortal strife!
No other hand can tend
Me like thine own amid this hour of need!
Wait with me till the end!

—Chambers' Journal.

DEATH-BLOW FROM AN UNSEEN HAND.

"What an odd idea, Florence—a bracelet instead of an engagement ring? Was it Victor's idea, or your own?"

"My own, mamma."

Florence Atherton turned from the window, out of which she had been gazing, and drew near her mother's side.

Even in the vague twilight glimmering that filled, just then, the sitting room at Eight Elms, it was easy to see what an exquisite softness of expression the young girl's face wore, framed in fleecy affluence of pale, golden hair, and lighted with deep blue, earnest eyes.

"You know, mamma, that most of my ideas are odd," Florence went on presently in mild, meditative tones. "I have a fancy that something which merely clasps the finger is not half so strong a love bond as something which clasps the arm. However this may be, Victor has yielded to my wish, and has promised that I shall have the bracelet by tonight."

"Victor would give you his head, Florence, if you were only to put the request persuasively enough!" a voice in the doorway now exclaimed; and Letitia Atherton entered the room a moment later.

She was, perhaps, two years the junior of her sister Florence, and though belonging to a wholly opposite type of beauty, was yet fair to look upon. Her eyes and hair were of oriental darkness; her figure, though yet scarcely developed to its utmost, prophetic of faultless symmetry and ripeness; and the abandon of her graceful carriage and gestures would have been sufficient to fascinate many a male heart, even if their accompanying charms had not existed.

"You are sure, Florence," asked Mrs. Atherton, "that Victor will arrive from the city this evening?"

"So he assured me," was the answer. "I always believe Victor's promises, mamma."

Late that evening Florence's lover made his appearance at Eight Elms, bringing with him the bracelet (an exquisite shackle shaped piece of Etruscan gold, studded with fine opals), which, as we know, his fiancee had considered preferable to the more conventional engagement ring.

This Victor Buchanan was a fine, manly looking fellow, whom Florence had met several months previously whilst on a visit to some relatives in New York; and the acquaintance then formed between herself and her present lover had rather speedily ripened into an attachment. The match was a brilliant one for Florence, as Victor Buchanan was already the possessor of a large forune, inherited from his deceased parents.

A month after the evening on which Florence's singular love gauge was brought to her she became the wife of Victor Buchanan, and bade her mother and sister farewell, for what promised to be at least a year's absence among the sights and diversions of a European tour.

The young bride was so perfectly happy at the thought of being finally united to one whom she almost worshiped as a god, that in her farewells there was little evidence of actual sorrow, while Mrs. Atherton bore up with admirable self-control in saying adieu to her first born and best loved daughter. Letitia, however, wept very bitterly.

"I am the most miserable creature in all Christendom," she wailed, on the afternoon of the day which had witnessed Florence's departure; "I don't care to live an hour longer."

"Nonsense, Letitia," said her mother, very reprovingly; "I am afraid, darling, that your sorrow springs more from envy of your sister's happiness than regret for her absence."

"Perhaps you're right," murmured the newly created Miss Atherton. "I suppose I shall have to mope here at dismal old Eight Elms all the rest of my days. Why can't Auntie Wilkinson invite me to go and visit her in New York, and at least run the chance of catching a splendid husband, like Florence? But, of course, she won't do it; it isn't my luck that she should."

Nor did she. And a very dreary, societyless year passed over the head of our despondent Letitia. At the end of that time a fearful blow was dealt her in the shape of her mother's sudden death.

"Auntie Wilkinson" made up for all past neglect then by offering the poor, friendless orphan a home in her handsome Madison avenue mansion. There the first month that followed Letitia's bereavement was passed, when, with the same suddenness that had attended her first affliction, she was called upon to bear a second.

Victor Buchanan wrote to her from Paris a letter filled with the wildest expressions of grief, and telling that his beloved Florence was no more. She had left a little boy, but the infant, had survived his mother's death by not longer [illegible].

Amid all her grief, Letitia could not but feel consoled at the intelligence which Victor's letter contained—of his purposed immediate return to New York. His face and character were more familiar than those of the comparative strangers by whom she was now surrounded, and it would be an inexpressible pleasure to meet him once more and to hear from his lips the details of poor Florence's dying moments.

Auntie Wilkinson, an elderly lady of rather strict social ideas, stood by when Victor and his young sister-in-law at length met; and it is safe to say that she felt immensely shocked at the affectionate fervor with which Mr. Buchanan was embraced and kissed by the beautiful young creature who seemed so overwhelmed with joy to see him.

Victor, in spite of his recent widowhood, was but a man; and it was hard, during the long interview that followed between himself and Letitia Atherton, to shut his eyes to the fact of how a year had ripened her charms into an ensemble of such wimanly loveliness as her somber costume could in no way conceal. Perhaps it was because she reminded him of the Florence whom he had adored so passionately that he now noted her with such depth of ill-concealed admiration.

Their interview, however, was of a mournful character. He described to Letitia the death-bed of his wife, and told how peacefully and resignedly her pure spirit had passed away. Her last words had concerned the opal bracelet given her on the day that their betrothal was sealed.

"Promise me, Victor," she had said, "that you will guard it sacredly as a memory of our life together, whatever changes the years may hereafter bring to you. Promise me that no arm save mine shall ever wear it, whatever new love time may console you with."

And Victor had solemnly promised.

The young widower's visits were quite frequent at Mrs. Wilkinson's house during a space of fully four months, and the uninterrupted interviews between himself and Letitia very frequent likewise.

To Mrs. Wilkinson nothing seemed more natural than that such visits and interviews should take place.

It was almost like the bursting of a bombshell when Victor Buchanan announced to her one evening that he had asked for the hand of her niece, and had received an affirmative answer.

Braving comments, they were married about three weeks later, and Letitia found herself the proud sharer of Victor's name and fortune.

It was not till after marriage, perhaps, that she confessed to herself the real truth concerning how she had loved Victor at a time when such love seemed capable of resulting in nothing except misery; nor was it till then, either, that a full realization of how perfectly her latent, though intense ambition had been gratified made itself clear to her.

Not long after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan were installed in a superb residence, and living at a rate of expenditure that, to say the least of it, harmonized perfectly with Mr. Buchanan's liberal income.

"Recent bereavement in the family," as Letitia euphuistically expressed it, "would prevent them from entertaining for at least a year to come; but at the end of that time they hoped to do so in a manner consistent with their wealth and social standing."

And at the end of the year Mrs. Buchanan so far kept her word as to send out cards for a grand ball. For many days before it was to happen, this ball formed the subject of countless on dits, and wass univerally prophecied to be the most important similar affair of the season.

On the evening when Letitia Buchanan, robed in a dress whose richness of lace and needlework seemed wholly unsurpassable, swept through the yet vacant but brilliantly lighted drawing-rooms of her splendid mansion; pride lent a richer color to the complexion for which many a woman would have spent thousands, and gave, perhaps, a more voluptuous swell to the superb bust, whose whiteness gleamed under sparkling diamonds and mist-like point de Venise.

"He loves me thoroughly," she murmured, in low, scarcely audible tones. "He has forgotten Florence's love, as though it had been the merest unsubstantial dream. I possess him utterly as my own." Then her lips were silent for a second or two, growing a trifle firmer as they continued: "And yet, for all that I am certain of his affection entirely, I still mean to test it. I shall never rest until I receive that one proof!"

She was knocking at the door of her husband's dressing-room; presently—

"May I come in, Victor? You're dreadfully late."

He opened the door and stood, dressed in full evening costume, before her.

"I am lost in admiration, Letitia," he murmured. "No houri was ever lovelier than you are now."

"And yet, Victor, I have a fancy that my costume needs one thing to complete it."

"What's that?"

She held up an arm, faultless enough for the Greek Phryne of old, saying:

"This needs an ornament of some kind, Victor."

"Pshaw! you're joking, love. You can count your bracelets by the scores."

"I know it; but"—her beautiful lips were very close to his ear now, and those marvelous arms of hers were wreathing his neck—"there is one bracelet, Victor, that you will not give me. I mean an opal bracelet, which you keep up stairs in that great, old-fashioned cabinet. Shall I tell you why you will not give me this?"

"I am amazed, Letitia. You well know that is because—"

"Because you loved Florence better in the old days than you love me now. Don't deny it. I know it, Victor!"

She had turned away from him, and buried her face in her hands.

Victor Buchanan's face was very pale, as he presently said:

"Surely, Letitia, you have not forgotten how Florence on her dying bed—"

She interrupted him in tremulous tones at this point, revealing her face again, which looked agitated and pain-wrung. Criticised as mere skillful acting, her behavior certainly deserves praise.

"You have forgotten nothing about Florence. You will never forget. Oh, no, Victor; I cannot believe that you love me as I wish to be loved until I receive this proof of it."

"You mean that I must let you wear the opal bracelet to-night?"

"Yes."

The monosyllable was pleadingly spoken, as with a childish, impulsive gesture she placed both hands upon his arm, and let the dark glory of her questioning eyes fall upon his face.

He met the look with one that was restless, anxious, uneasy—the sort of glance by which a man says, with all the distinctness of spoken words, "Do not implore me, or I must yield!"

"Consent, Victor—please consent. I only ask the favor of you for this single time. Afterward, I will return the bracelet to the cabinet, and let it remain there as long as you choose. Consider, it will be like sealing our love with a new and beautiful seal!"

She could scarcely disguise the smile of feminine triumph that rose to her lips, when, after a moment of hesitation, he murmured:

"You know, Letitia, that I can refuse you nothing. Get the bracelet, since you are bent upon wearing it."

Leaving an eagerly-given kiss upon the lips, she hurried up stairs as fast as her voluminous draperies would permit.

"Victory! victory!" a voice was whispering in her ears. "He loves you as though Florence had never been. He is all your own while life lasts; and even in heaven, after this proof of his devotion, Florence will hardly dare to claim him!"

Meanwhile Victor passed into his dressing-room, and began pacing the floor with impatient steps. He was acting faithlessly, treacherously, to the dead. He was insulting poor Florence's memory. He had even dealt his own self-respect an almost mortal blow. And yet—

At this point his meditatations were sharply broken by the sound as of some falling body on the floor directly above his chamber. He paused in the center of the floor, and turned white, as a strange presentiment of unknown evil flashed lightning-like through his mind.

An instant later he was standing at the foot of the staircase, up which his wife had hurried, and was calling, "Letitia! Letitia!" in somewhat unsteady tones.

No answer. Rapidly, and impelled by a now growing sense of alarm, he ascended the steps.

A quick passage through the brilliantly lighted upper hall brought him to the door of the room into which he knew that his wife had recently entered.

A low cry left his lips as he beheld the form of Letitia, prone in front of a massive, old-fashioned cabinet, one of whose drawers was wide open.

"Letitia, for God's sake, what has happened?" He was kneeling at her side now, and had placed one of her hands between both of his own. But while in the act of doing this, something had dropped with a faint sound from his wife's effortless fingers. It was the opal bracelet. A second cry, far louder than the first, left his white lips. With trembling hands he raised the beautiful fallen head, and saw upon one of its pearly blue-veined temples a deep purple mark, as of some heavy blow. Then he felt for her heart, and presently knew that it had ceased to beat.

Had the dead Florence dealt vengeance from beyond her grave?

Victor Buchanan believes so to this day, though friend after friend had tried to persuade him of the folly of so believing, and pointed to one of the sharp oaken abutments, at the foot of the cabinet, saying that his wife, in returning to close the cabinet drawer, had tripped and struck her head in falling.

He will not believe this explanation. His friends call him a monomaniac. Does he deserve the name?

Foreign.

TURIN, Italy, has produced a 38-ton cannon.

THE public charities of London amount to $35,000,000 a year.

BAYARD TAYLOR is lecturing in Germany and in German.

THE Lord Mayor of London sat down to his Christmas dinner with 186 relations—and none of them were poor.

ZINC is used very extensively as roof covering in France, Belgium and Germany. The area of roofs annually covered with this material is from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 square feet.

IN Germany, when the vote of the jury stands six against six the prisoner is acquitted. A vote of seven against five leaves the decision to the Court, and in a vote of eight against four the prisoner is convicted.

THERE is a slight moving of the dead bones of progress in Spain, as evidenced in the proposition to have an international exhibition at Madrid in 1875, for a display of the arts and industries of Spain of the present day.

THE confidential valet of the Grand Duke Alexis is said to have sold to a publisher in Brussels enough of American belles' letters to make a good-sized book; but, fortunately, he has been caught and bound in Russia, and the correspondence recovered before the printer had put it in covers.

AN Arab surgeon has been created a Pacha and rewarded with a fee of $5,000, for curing the mother of the Egyptian Khedive. And still, the practice of medicine and surgery there has some drawbacks, for if the old woman had died, instead of being made a "Pacha" he would have been packed in a sack and thrown into the Khedive's goose-pond.

PLINY says: "I have myself seen Lolla Paulino, once the wife of the Emperor Caligula, though it was on no great occasion, nor she in her full dress ceremony, but at an ordinary wedding dinner, and having seen her entirely covered with emeralds and pearls, strung alternately, glittering all over her head, hair, bandeau, ears, neck and fingers, the value of all of which put together, amounted to the sum of 40,000,000 sesterces" ($2,000,000).

A Woman Beheaded in Germany in the Presence of 20,000 People.

Although the 3d of December last was a bitter cold day, from the earliest hour in the morning vast crowds of people filled the streets of the little village of Stade, on the banks of the Elbe river, nearly opposite the great North German seaport of Hamburg. By 9 o'clock at least 20,000 people had arrived in Stade, and the police had the utmost difficulty in keeping order in the surging multitude. The occasion which had caused all these thousands to flock to Stade was the beheading of a woman, refined, attractive and intelligent.

The name of the doomed woman was Wilhelmina Woltman, and the career of this extraordinary woman, almost from her earliest youth, had been marked by an uncontrollable and wicked temper. When at school she had knocked out the eye of one of her young companions. A few years after she became the governess of the children of a wealthy landed proprietor, who had fallen in love with her and made her his mistress. Her lover's wife having discovered the liaison, the girl poisoned the woman; and there is suspicion that she also caused the death of her own child. She buried herself thereupon for a time in the whirl of fashionable dissipation in Hamburg, where her extraordinary beauty attracted numerous admirers. But, becoming very reckless, the police expelled her from the city and she went to Brunswick, where an officer of the ducal army fell in love with her and eventually married her. She returned his devotion by poisoning him. She next turned up in Hanover, where she became acquainted with a merchant named Wachter, who married her. Wilhelmina revenged herself upon the opposing parents by poisoning them. The cholera raged at the time, and, in consequence, it remained a secret for years. Wachter soon afterward became a bankrupt and deserted his wife, who went to Stade and married a widower named Woltman, who had two children. These also became the victims of the murderous passions of their step-mother, and then her criminal career was brought to a close. She was arrested, her antecedents closely examined into, and her victims exhumed. Her trial took place at Stade on the 2d of October, and the result was that she was convicted and sentenced to death.

Pastor Decker made, on the morning of the day on which she was to be executed, a determined effort to move her stony heart. The woman was fastened to the wall by a chain ten feet long, which was attached to her left wrist. After listening to the reverened gentleman for two or three minutes, she made a sudden attack on him, compelling him to make a hasty retreat. Reiffenbers, the executioner, saluted his victim respectfully, and informed her who he was. "What do you want of me?" she said to the headsman, fixing her large, lustrous eyes inquiringly upon him. "I want to prepare you for the scaffold," he answered. "Oh," she said, carelessly, "I am prepared." "Not quite," he rejoined. He then unchained her hand and began to cut off her hair. Then he threw a heavy fur cape over her shoulders, and the toilet for the scaffold was finished. He thereupon left her cell, and the next visitor was the warden of the prison, who asked her if she wished anything. "Only a glass of water," she said, dryly. It was then half-past 1, and her last moment rapidly drawing nigh. Ten minutes afterward the Judge and Clerk of the Criminal Court appeared before her, and the death-warrant was read to her a last time. The presiding Judge urged her in feeling words to confess her crimes and make her peace with God. She responded by shaking her head impatiently. They left her, and then the headsman and his assistants took her to the scaffold. When she appeared in the open air the biting cold caused her to shiver; but she bore the glance of the thousands of eyes, which the multitude riveted upon her, without flinching.

The scaffold was a coarse, wooden structure, about eight feet in diameter. Wilhelmina Woltman ascended it with a firm step, and walked to the fatal block in its middle without betraying any nervousness. The warden of the prison asked her if she had anything to say. "No, no!" she answered angrily. "Make haste! make haste!" The next moment two assistants of the executioner caused her to kneel in front of the block. They took the fur cape from her shoulders, and pressed her head upon the top of the block, to which they fastened it by means of a leather strap. She shook convulsively for a moment or two, until the executioner, who had meanwhile taken his flashing ax from a sort of scabbard, hastily stepped up to her. He took his position at the left side of the block, lifted up his ax, and struck heavily upon the beautiful white neck of the woman. He had done his work well, for the head fell down in front of the block, while the trunk raised itself convulsively, a stream of dark red blood spouting in the hair. The headsman and his assistants sprang to one side of the scaffold, in order not to be stained by the blood of the murderess.

State Debts.

From several gubernatorial messages lately delivered some curious facts are gleaned regarding the proportionate burden of the debts of various Eastern and Northwestern States. Exclusive of the New England and Southern, the most populous and least populous States, viz., New York and Nevada, keep the lead in the relative burden of their indebtedness. The funded debt of the former is $25,386,725, with a population, according to the census of 1870, of 4,382,759, which represents a burden of $5.79 to each individual. Nevada has a debt of $379,246, and a population of 42,491—a burden of $8.91 per capita. Pennsylvania has a debt of $16,521,029, and a population of 3,521,769, or $4.69 per head. Ohio, with her 2,665,260 people, owes $8,583,546, or $3.22 for each inhabitant. Wisconsin's debt is $2,252,057, and her population 1,054,670—$2.10 apiece. Michigan has a debt of $1,764,292, which would require $1.48 each from her 1,184,059 inhabitants to settle it. Indiana owes about $4,000,000, representing a burden of $2.34 per head. In contrast with these spendthrift commonwealths behold the economical eaamples of Iowa, which is entirely out of debt, and Illinois, which has none worth speaking of. —Exchange.

THERE are four negroes in the Memphis Common Council.

About Finger Rings.

The Jews first used the finger ring in marriage. For this purpose they required it to have a certain value, and to be finally purchased. If it was bought on credit or taken as a gift, its power was destroyed. In Pliny's time it was made of iron, with a loadstone inserted as a gem; but Tertullian says that in his day, it had become gold. The nuns of St. Ann, at Rome, however, show a rude silver ring which they say is the wedding ring of St. Ann and Joachim, the parents of the Virgin Mary. The Christian church early adopted the custom of the marriage ring. In ancient marriage rites it was placed first on the thumb in the name of the "Father," then removed to the first finger in the name of the "Son," to the third with the name of the "Holy Ghost," and the "Amen," fixed its place on the fourth. Among the Anglo-Saxons, when children were betrothed, a ring was given as a pledge to "wed," and hence our term "wedding." When this "wed" or pledge was made, the ring was put on the right hand, and when it was redeemed by actual marriage, it was removed to the left. Their ceremony was very much like that of the present day—the bride was taken for "fairer or fouler," and promised to be "buxom and bony" to her husband.

In the middle ages, solemn betrothal by means of a ring generally preceded marriage. Chaucer, in his "Troilus and Cressida," and Shakespeare, in the "Two Gentlemen of Verona," describe the ceremony. The custom of inscribing short sentences, called "posies," on wedding rings—which has lately been revived—is also noticed by Shakespeare, and other dramatists of the next century. Collections of these quaint protestations are common in books of curious literature. One of the most whimsical is that inscribed on the inside of the wedding ring used by John Thomas, Bishop of London, 1753, for his fourth wife. It ran thus: "If I survive, I'll make them five."

It is to be presumed that this good bishop did not regard Timothy's matrimonial charge as strictly binding. The Gimmel ring, which has met with great favor lately as a marriage ring, is of comparatively modern origin, the earliest mention of it with which we are familiar being in the "Beggar's Bush," by Beaumont and Fletcher. It is composed of two hoops, which unite and form one, and was first made in France. Rings were also the emblem of spiritual marriage and dignity as early, certainly, as the fourth century. In the Romish church, the Episcopal ring is of gold, set with a rich gem—usually an amethyst, and engraved. The Pope has two rings, one bearing the likeness of St. Peter, used for ordinary business, and never except by the Pope's hand or in his own presence; the other bears a cross, the head of both Peter and Paul, and generally the reigning Pope's name and arms. It is used only for bulls, and is broken at the death of the Pontiff, and a new one given by the city of Rome to his successor.

Louis Napoleon.

Of the "Character of Napoleon," Wilkes' Spirit of the Times writes: We hear France spoken of in contempt, because of her unrest and perpetual troubles; rather should she be loved as almost the only country of Europe that is not at peace, that cannot rest, that is forever struggling with herself and her rulers, that longs to be free, that cannot remain still and be enslaved. When she is thus at peace—then all Europe may despair. It was from this nation that Louis Napoleon accepted the trust of a defender of the rights of the people; not without doubt, but as a menace to legitimate royalty, the young and liberal France gave to him the guardianship of the Republic. What might he not have done with it, could he have been true to the golden opportunity of the century? Imagine the influence on Europe had the Republic of 1848 remained to this day, as it might have remained had its President kept his oath, and had he not been dazzled by the idea of founding a Napoleonic empire. Freedom in Europe has been put back fifty years by the treachery of this one man. Louis Napoleon had superior merits of his own, no doubt; but that which enabled him to gain the throne was the name of his predecessor, than whom no greater man of the world has perhaps ever lived. He did much in his way for France, and served Italy well when he rescued her fairest provinces from the Austrian. It is not strange that Milan should wish to build him a monument. But the history which will be written, which unlike the history of the past will not record the triumphs of monarchs, but the struggles of the people, will give him his place of bad eminence among the betrayers of liberty. That treason was his greatest deed.

How He Handled the Flail.

A young man from an Eastern city who had been visiting some friends in this vicinity, after seeing a farmer thrash out a "flooring" of oats the other morning, asked and received permission to swing the flail a few minutes, upon assuring the agriculturist that he was "perfectly familiar with the art of thrashing." Expectorating upon his hands, the young man went at the oats, but at the first pass knocked the horn off a new milch cow that was leisurely chewing her cud in a neighboring stall. The second swing caved in the head of the former, who thought he was safe enough as long as he roosted on the top of the fanning-mill in the end of the barn, but without discovering what havoc he was making, the city artist kept at his labors; the third blow fell upon the oats, the fourth killed a setting hen in the manger near by, and the fifth pass of the deadly weapon was the best of all, for it came round the young man boomerang fashion, and knocked him down, and thus put an end to the slaughter. The mere fact that the city "thrasher" returned to consciousness about an hour before the farmer allowed the former to get several miles out of town before his efforts at thrashing were discovered by his neighbors.—Titusville Press.

SOME notion of public amusements in the far West is conveyed by the following from the Pioche (Nev.) Record of January 8: "To-morrow afternoon some rare sport is offered at Mitchell's saloon, Meadow Valley street, being a butting match between two American citizens of African descent. The stakes are $200 a side, and the price of admission is $1."

FEMININE NAMES AND THEIR MEANING.

Frances is truly fair,
Bertha is purely bright,
Clara is clear as [illegible],
Lucy is a star of light
Felicia is happy as happy can be;
Catharine is pure,
Barbara from afar,
Mabel is very fair,
Henrietta is a star.
Margaret a pearl thrown up from the sea.

Muriel is sweetest myrrh,
Amelia is sincere,
Agatha is very good,
Bridget is shining here.
Matilda is a lady of honor true;
Susan is a lily,
Cecilia dim of sight,
Jane a graceful willow,
Beatrice gives delight,
Elizabeth an oath, pure as morning dew.

Sophia is wisdom,
Letitia is joy,
Eveline a princess,
Julia a jewel joy,
Rebecca is faithful as the light of day;
Constance is resolute,
Grace is favor meet,
Charlotte is nobility,
Harriet an odor sweet,
Abigail is joyful as the robin's lay.

Sarah is a lady,
Isabel is fair,
Lucinda is constant,
Jemima sounds in air,
Caroline is noble-spirited and brave
Lydia is well,
Judith a song of praise
Cornelia is harmony,
Priscilla ancient of days,
Selina a nightingale where branches wave.

Humorous.

SWEET home—A bee-hive.

A STOCK-IN trade—Hosiery.

A MARINE swell—The porpoise.

FANCY bread—A roll of the eye.

A YOUNG shaver—A barber's baby

BEER, like a flea, is subject to hops.

GENTLE and simple—The bait and the fish.

A WISE man changes his mind—a fool never.

A CRIMINAL COURT—Sparking another man's wife.

NEW book—"The Stray Wig," by the author of "The Wandering Heir."

BE temperate in diet—our first parents ate themselves out of house and home.

THEY say crocodiles do not really weep; a sailor, though, has seen whales blubber.

A SOCIETY man is said to have laughed so much in his sleeve that it is quite worn out.

TO KEEP out of debt—Acquire the reputation of a rascal, and none will trust you.

TO GET rid of red hair—Hold your head for a few minutes in a strong blaze of gas.

A CLEVELAND husband refused to buy his wife a new carpet, and she committed suicide.

HOW to get all the music out of a piano—Let a steam fire-engine play on it a few minutes.

AN Irish writer says: "I know of no earthly reason why women should not become medical men."

THE gentle turkey gobbler now roosts on the barnyard fence, with none to molest him or make him afraid.

"WE'RE in a pickle now," said a man in a crowd. "A regular jam," said another. "Heaven preserve us!" moaned an old lady.

"WHAT'S the use of trying to be honest?" asked a young man the other day of a friend. "Oh! you ought to try it once to see," was the reply.

"WHEN I put my foot down, I'll have you to understand," says Mrs. Noker, "that there's something there." On investigation it was found to be a No. 11 shoe.

IT was a North Carolinian who, in speaking of the extreme leanness of his hogs, said that he had to put overcoats on them to enable them to make a shadow in the sun.

"I THINK my hair's turning gray," said a customer to the hair-cutter. "Well," said the hair-cutter, "reely, sir, I can't say, but it do seem to be meditating a change of color."

PEOPLE who believe the current stories about intelligent dogs will read with pleasure that a lost dog in Norfolk, having seen his master's advertisement in a local print, promptly went home.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., recently had some awful excitement over some bloody clothes found on the ice, and several would-be detectives pawed them over, smelt of them, and cried for vengeance, until a doctor came along who pronounced them the cast-off clothing of a small-pox patient.

Josie Mansfield.

The report that the notorious Josie Mansfield had lost her fortune by the failure of the Bowles Brothers has been contradicted. This dangerous Circe is now in Paris, where she lives in her usual gay and sumptuous style, partly on her own means and partly on those supplied by a wealthy Englishman whom her mature charms have ensnared. Some time ago the Mansfield attended the performance of "Fra Diavolo" at the Opera Comique. Being dressed very "loud," the profusion of diamonds she wore, as well as her free and easy manners, naturally attracted the attention of the whole audience to the box in which she sat. A few days afterward the Vert-Vert, a Parisian evening journal, gave a very spicy description of Josie's behavior, together with a brief biography, in which it was stated that she had tried in vain to be admitted to good society in Paris, and that even the Grand Hotel du Louvre had refused to receive her as a guest. The result of this article was the challenge of M. Dupont, the editor of the Vert-Vert, by Josie's English gallant. They fought with sabers, and M. Dupont received a dangerous cut in his arm.

Disraeli.

Mr. Disraeli is not, after all, to receive that sympathy which attaches to impoverished greatness. "An Oxford Graduate," writing to the New York Post, remorselessly punctures the interesting story told by a late correspondent of that paper. Mr. Disraeli owns Huguenden in his own right, had a property of £40,000 bequeathed him a few years since, has a pension of £2,000, and moreover has the precedents of Canning and the second Pitt for continuing a party leader without money.

Miscellaneous.

Ship-building in Maine is again looking up.

Independence Hall is being re[illegible]

Sullivan is Pennsylvan[illegible] county on[illegible] once sold for a fiddle.

St. Louis claims to [illegible] 000 new buildings last year.

Baltimore annually exports $8,000,000 worth of canned oysters.

The surviving soldiers of the Mexican war are all to be pensioned.

There is one colored man in the Memphis Common Council.

A California man has collected, in 50 years, 14,000 different coins.

The Surveyor-General of California returns the population at 657,821.

Sitka has a public debt of $150, and only 70 cents in its public fund.

A Vienna microscopist has demonstrated that flies disseminate small-pox.

Dubuque has an insane woman who has not slept in a bed for seven years.

Satin is used more than any other silken fabric for ball and evening dresses.

Key West, Fla., sends its mail matter to Tampa, in the same State, by way of New York.

The debt of Milwaukee is larger than that of the State of Wisconsin, viz., $2,200,000.

The new style of bonnet is a cross between a locomotive smoke-stack and a custard cap.

Yale College now requires freshmen to be at least 15 years old, instead of 14, as formerly.

The latest blanket sheet newspaper to assume a quarto form is the Boston Transcript.

The expenses of New York City last year were $9,600,000 less than under Tammany rule.

The latest wonderful California product is a yearling baby that weighs more than his pa.

Stokes' lawyers say that if the press had kept still they could have cleared the murderer as slick as a pin.

The fragments of good resolutions made on New Year's day bestrew the streets of every city in the Union.

A machine is now in operation in Philadelphia which turns out 3,000 complete paper match-boxes per hour.

For more than twelve consecutive days, last month, the thermometer was below freezing point in Boston.

"Peace, peace, when there is no peace," made famous and popular by Patrick Henry, is from Jeremiah viii., 11.

In 1860 Iowa was twentieth in the roll of States. In 1870 it was the eleventh. In 1880 it is estimated it will be the sixth.

When a new town is started on the plains Chicago drummers camp out and wait for the new stores to be completed, to sell the owners goods.

Kalamazoo, Mich., will be forty-two years old next June. It enjoyed seven years of comparative happiness before receiving its present name.

Such is the rage for speculation in California that thirty-two mining companies, representing $9,250,000 in capital, were recently formed in one day.

Ten thousand bushels of Iowa corn was recently shipped to Liverpool and sold at a profit of ten cents per bushel. It was sent by the way of New Orleans.

How Horace Greeley was Mistaken for a Criminal.

Early risers in New York have frequently noticed the procession of prisoners on their way from the police courts to the boat which transports them to Blackwell's Island. One morning, while Mr. Greeley was walking down Fourth avenue, he was unconsciously entangled in one of these gangs of wretched prisoners. At the point where it turned off to go to the boat, Mr. Greeley pursued his onward course, whereat one of the officers having charge of the prisoners roughly said to him:

"Get in the line there, old man."

Horace, really puzzled, retorted:

"I am going down town."

"Come, old man," said the officer, still mistaking him for a prisoner, "we don't want any of your airs, but just move on."

"But I must go down town and attend to my business," retorted the philosopher.

"Oh! what business have you got down town?" queried the officer; "come, get along with you."

"Why, I am Horace Greeley, editor of the Tribune, and I have got work to do."

The officer called on the policemen assisting him, and told him the story about the prisoner, and with his forefinger tapping his forehead, and looking significantly at Mr. Greeley, said:

"He's a bad case; he's a goner."

Just then a reporter passed, and at a glance taking in Greeley's predicament, told the officers how ludicrous a blunder they had committed. The policemen apologized, and Horace, hurrying to his desk wrote a racy article on prison reform.

A Mechanical "Tell-Tale."

Many attempts have been made to devise a tell-tale to show whether a watchman goes on his rounds faithfully during the night, but few many have succeeded. Among the latest and best is the one now in use at the penitentiary, Lausanne, invented by Mr. Canderoy, which effects its object by electricity. A disk of paper, divided into twelve hours, is set in movement by clock-work. A number of electro-magnets are fixed in front of the disk, and these are connected in the usual way with buttons. These buttons indicate stations on the watchman's round, and he is expected to push each one as he passes it. The push excites the electro-magnets, and releases a pricker, which starts forward and makes a hole in the paper disk. This disk may be placed in any part of the building, in the inspector's office or Governor's room; consequently, any neglect or evasion on the part of the watchman is immediately detected.

The Quality of Minnesota Cold.

The present winter, which is one of unusual severity through a wide range of latitude, strikes recent comers to this State [illegible] inhabitants maintain that nothing like it has been experienced here [illegible] of [illegible] I expect the oldest [illegible] of Minnesota form no exception to this general rule of senility. The cold [illegible] must be once felt in order to [illegible] correct impression of its intensity. During Christmas week the thermometer here in St. Paul ranged from 23 to 30 degrees below zero; several railroad stations on the prairie west [illegible] thermometer [illegible] 42 degrees, while at [illegible], near the middle of the State, the mercury froze. Mention of a few of the visible effects of the cold will aid in forming an opinion of its severity. In this connection, perhaps I cannot do better than to give a bit of personal experience. Having never spent a winter here, I was caught napping. On rising, the Monday morning before Christmas, I discovered that every article of food in the house, the contents of the cellar not excepted, were frozen solid.

"This must be a pretty cold morning," I observed to my wife, who returned an emphatic assent, and added that the water-pipe had burst in two places. As no water was to be had, we dispensed with coffee for breakfast.

"You had better wrap up your ears," she said, as I prepared to go down town.

I wrapped up my ears and went out. On gaining the street the air seemed much less keen than I had anticipated, but I noticed that the snow creaked remarkably under my feet. When I had walked a square and a half I met a man, who said, "Look out for that nose when you get into the house." I regarded this remark as impertinent, and made no reply. I had walked another square, when I met another man who stared at me with such unfeigned commiseration in his eyes—I could not see his face—that I said:

"Well, sir, what is your great discovery?"

"Your nose is frozen," said the man.

"How do you know it?" I asked.

"It's as white as chicken meat," said the man, "and as solid as a stone. Put some snow on it quick, for God's sake."

The same morning there were many cases of frozen members, and even faces. A young man in the pineries, stalwart and robust, as full of vitality as a chestnut is full of meat, had his feet so badly frozen that amputation was necessary.

The intensely cold weather lasted about eight days. During that period probably nine-tenths of all the potatoes and apples in the city were frozen, and the same fact holds good throughout the State. Notwithstanding its severity, the winter has attractions. The air is certainly pure, dry, and invigorating. One has but to be well protected by clothing out of doors, and by warm fires within, in order to feel first rate. Headache and lassitude, except from special causes, are impossible. The nights are beautiful, generally there is not a cloud to be seen. The moon and stars shine resplendent. Even when the moon is in her quarter, it is light enough to read. No wind stirring, the smoke from the chimneys rises in white, vertical columns, that can be seen at a long distance. Under foot the snow creaked so loudly and musically that the tread of a man may be heard distinctly at a distance of a quarter of a mile. It glistens whitely on the roofs of the houses.

The cold weather causes our streets to present a really picturesque appearance. Fur caps and overcoats are much worn by the men. These garments vary in style and quality, according to the wealth or social position of the wearer. For instance, Gov. Austin, who, by the way, is a very estimable gentleman, wears a seal-skin overcoat worth $140, and a cap of the same material worth $15. A teamster wears a shaggy buffalo, costing perhaps $10. Between these two extremes are costumes of every conceivable style. Many of the laborers wear moccasins and boots of Indian-cured buckskin, the same being, when new, of a bright yellow color. Silk hats are almost as rare in the streets as are white foxes. Occasionally a Boston or New York drummer makes his appearance in a tall hat, but finding himself the object of derision on the part of hackmen and newsboys, he speedily invests in a cap. A due regard for his own comfort has equal influence, probably. The fact is, one must dress warmly here or freeze. The ladies bury themselves in wrappings to such an extent, finishing off with a white nubia about the head and face, which reveals nothing but the eyes, that to recognize one of them on the street is as difficult as it is to detect an acquaintance among the veiled women who walk the streets of Cairo.—St. Paul Cor. Boston Globe.

Necessity of Ventilation.

I hold that the breathing of impure air is a fruitful source of disease of the right heart occurring after middle age. How many people ignorantly favor its occurrence by confining themselves to closely shut, non-ventilated, hot, stifling rooms, in which the carbolic acid has accumulated to two or three per cent. of the air they respire! How many are thus destroyed by being compelled, through the exigencies of life, to pass the greater part of their time in pits and manufactories where ventilation is defective, or in which the air respired is poisoned by noxious fumes and offensive emanations from the materials undergoing the process of manufacture! How many are falling victims to the poisonous influence upon the heart of the atmosphere of an underground railway! What do these facts suggest? How are these evil results to be prevented? The simple answer is: Let the rooms in which you live be effectually ventilated by an incoming current of air filtered from all adventitious impurities, and so divided that no draught shall be felt; and by an outgoing current which shall remove from the apartments the carbonic acid, carbonic oxide, sulphurous-acid gas, sulphuretted hydrogen, and other noxious compounds, as rapidly as they are generated. Apply the same principle to public buildings, theatres, schools, manufactories, pits, and to all places in which people are accustomed to congregate.—Popular Science Monthly.

Women Who Have Been Hanged.

The first white person executed in Minnesota was a woman. As an illustration of her class of intellect it was [illegible] she brought with her from [illegible] Illinois a bucket of butter, kept it in her stateroom on a first-class boat and carried it [illegible] the parlor and her bed-room, [illegible] leaving her other baggage to be handled by porters. She had heard that butter was scarce in that part of the country, and [illegible] her [illegible] to the belief that she was a person of weak mind. She married a man who treated her cruelly and died with symptoms of poison. A chemist thought he found arsenic in the stomach and a druggist had sold her some of that drug "to poison rats." There was no attempt to dispute the chemical test. This expedient was discovered lately for the benefit of a woman who has not outlived the charms which once drove rival claimants [illegible] and madness. Being old, unattractive and poor, none but the ladies of St. Paul took any special interest in her case; and [illegible] besiege the Governor for [illegible]. This one led a deputation of them, knelt at his feet, and with tears and passionate entreaty begged executive clemency; but the ugly woman was hanged by the neck until she was dead.

A poor German woman was executed in Philadelphia about [illegible] years ago; and her confession, in her broken English, was one of the saddest things I ever read. Her man had "peat" her, peat her so much, made her work in the field when she was sick and tired; peat her for not keeping up; peat her for stopping to nurse her baby; made her work in the house while he rested and smoked, and peat her if she was not ready to go out to work when he was! She was so tired; could "never get no rested;" she want to leave him and go away, but he take the children from her; she have four little children; he peat them, too; she could not leave her children; she was so tired that she gave her man stuff; she sorry she kill her man; but she no know what to do, she so tired.

The dailies made occasional news items out of the case, and the poor, old, worn-out slave was universally voted a monster of iniquity. The majesty of the law was vindicated by sending her from the gallows to the unerring judgment, where her toil-worn hands and tortured soul must have been very white compared to the bejeweled fingers of the charming monsters who slip so gracefully through the elastic meshes of our man-made laws.

Mrs. Sagaff, now under sentence of death in Butler county, Pa., who is to be hanged when the present treatment in the Rixmont Insane Hospital shall have so far restored her reason as to make her sensible of the solemnity of the occasion, is gray-haired and a grandmother, and in personal appearance the opposite of charming.

Mrs. Grinder, who was executed at Pittsburgh, some eight years ago, had studied the art of poisoning to the neglect of that of pleasing. She was not charming, and such charms as she had were reserved for her husband.—Mrs. Swisshelm's Note-Book.

Origin of a Phrase.

"To scrape acquaintance" comes to us from the Roman Emperor Adrian: He was at the public baths one day, when he saw one of his veteran soldiers scraping his body with a tile. That was such poor luxury that Adrian ordered that his old comrade should be supplied with more suitable cleansing materials, and also with money. On a subsequent occasion, when the Emperor again went to the bath, the spectacle before him was highly amusing. A score of old soldiers who had fought under Adrian were standing in the water, and each was currying himself with a tile and wincing at the self-inflicted rubbing. The Emperor perfectly understood what he saw and what was the purpose of the sight. "Ha, ha!" he exclaimed, "you had better scrape one another, my good fellows." He added: "You certanly shall not scrape acquaintance with me."

Millions on the Strike!—In spite of the enormous amount of capital invested in the promotion of Intemperance, the Missionaries of Sobriety have no reason to be disheartened. The strike against alcoholic drinks is not confined to the ordinary liquors of commerce. It is extending to all medicines of which ardent spirits form a component part. The belief that stimulants of this nature are slow poisons gains ground everywhere. Eminent physiologists preach the doctrine, and the dissecting knife and the microscope afford post mortem evidence of its truth. Fortunately at the very time when our distinguished surgeons were making the experiments which led to this conclusion, a sagacious member of the profession, Dr. Joseph Walker, of California, was perfecting a vegetable tonic, possessing all the restorative properties claimed for the spirituous astringents, and free from their deadly sting. To those demoralizing, health destroying potions his famous Vinegar Bitters seem to be giving the coup de grace. The demand for them declines, while the commercial and sanitary success of the new medicine is complete. And we hear daily of cases of dyspepsia, biliousness, malarious fever, rheumatism, constipation, general and local debility, gout, kidney disease, etc., etc., that have succumbed to the great restorative after resisting all others.—[Com.

Suzzoni, who was the adoration of the sentimental girls of Corsica, and who was killed by the police last month, had been four times sentenced to death. He was the ablest and most highly esteemed brigand who ever rifled a pocket on the island.

Lorenza Silva, a Mexican lady, has died with the aid of 150 years, less 11 days, on her head.

We understand that the whooping-cough is quite prevalent in the towns around us; but that no cases have proved fatal. Some families use nothing but Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Our Doctor, however, says a little ipecac, to produce vomiting, would be an advantage.—[Com.

Luxury, Health, Economy insured by using Dooley's Yeast Powder. Elegant Light Rolls, Biscuits, &c., prepared in ten minutes. Try it.—[Com.

THE WEEKLY SUN.
Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

The Best Family Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

[illegible] N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Political Paper.—The Weekly [illegible] Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Newspaper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Agricultural Paper.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Story Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Fashion Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Market Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Cattle Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Paper in Every Respect.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

The American speculators who engaged Edmund Yates and Froude as lecturers are said to have lost by their enterprise.

An Article of True Merit.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are the most popular article in this country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and this popularity is based upon real merit.—[Com.

When applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as constitutional treatment, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh and Ozena of many years' standing. This thorough course of medication constitutes the only scientific, rational, safe and successful manner of treating this odious disease that has ever been offered to the afflicted. The instrument and two medicines sold for $2 by all Druggists. 624

There are more than one thousand different kinds of pills in the United States. Some of them are worthless and injurious, others are good and beneficial. Old Dr. Parsons invented the best anti-bilious pill we ever saw or heard of. They are now sold under the name of Parsons' Purgative Pills.—[Com.

Some of our readers may not remember that John Milton is the author of the oft-quoted line "Of lingering sweetness long drawn out," but they will all remember that the Elmwood Collar can be bought at any furnishing store.—[Com.

The roughness of the skin caused by the cold winds is easily cured by using "The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion!—[Com.

Prostration Practice.

Luckily for the sick, the idea that it is necessary to reduce their bodily strength in order to cure them, is fast dying out. Modern science recognizes the fact that disease is of itself more than sufficiently depressing to body and mind, and does not need to be assisted in its inroads upon the vital energy of the system by violent purgations and other debilitating mixtures. Prostration is, in short, "played out," and the practitioners who still cling to it are so few and far between that they cannot, like their predecessors of the same fatal school who flourished half a century ago, fill the graveyard with their victims. The introduction of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in 1860 was the heaviest blow that the old practice of depletion had ever received, and from that time to the present, as the celebrity of the great vegetable invigorant has increased, the purging, blistering, bleeding, and mercurial practice has declined. The effect of this famous preventive and remedy is to strengthen, build up, regulate and tranquilize, not to weaken, break down and violently disturb the system. It is a tonic, alterative and nervine, with a pure stimulant as its propelling and distributing agent. This stimulant diffuses the curative and life-sustaining elements of the medicine through the whole organization, and brings them into contact with the sources of disease. Hence its cures of indigestion, constipation, bilious complaints, nervousness, languor, debility, low spirits, malarious disorders, &c., are complete and thorough, and as a protection against the ailments caused or aggravated by cold and damp it has no equal.

Nervous Sufferer.—A dose of Vegetine, taken just before going to bed, will insure a comfortable night's rest to the nervous sufferer.

Sooner or later a neglected Cold will develop a constant Cough, Shortness of Breath, Failing Strength, and Wasting of Flesh, all symptomatic of some serious Lung Affection, which may be avoided or palliated by using in time Dr. Jayne's Expectorant.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.

Beeves—Good to Prime	12¼@	13
Common	9 @	10
Hogs—Dressed	5¼@	6
Cotton—Middling Upland	20¼@
Flour—Superfine Western	6 25 @	7 00
Wheat—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 70 @
Corn	64 @	67
Oats	51 @	53
Pork—Mess	13 50 @
Lard	8¼@	8¾

CHICAGO.

Beeves—Choice	[illegible] @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium	4 25 @	5 00
Common	3 00 @	3 75
Inferior	1 75 @	2 25
Hogs	3 75 @	4 10
Flour—White Winter Extra	[illegible] @10	00
Red Winter Extra	[illegible] @	7 [illegible]
Wheat—No. 2 Spring	1 24 @	1 25¼
No. 3 Spring	1 11 @	1 12¼
Corn—No. 2	30 @	31
Oats—No. 2	25 @	26
Rye—No. 2	68 @	69
Barley—No. 2	75 @	76
Butter—Choice	25 @	26
Eggs—Fresh	30 @	31
Pork—Mess	12 00 @	12 05
Lard	7 35 @	7 35¼

ST. LOUIS.

Wheat—No. 2 Spring	[illegible]	[illegible]
Corn—No. 2 Mixed	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oats	29 @
Rye	74 @	75
Hogs	3 80 @	4 00
Cattle	3 25 @	3 75

CINCINNATI.

Flour	8 25 @	8 50
Wheat	1 75 @	1 80
Corn	40 @	41
Rye	86 @	88
Pork—Mess	12 75 @	13 00
Lard	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hogs	4 30 @	4 50

MILWAUKEE.

Wheat—No. 1	1 31 @
No. 2	1 24¼@
Oats—No. 2	26¼@
Corn—No. 2	38 @
Rye—No. 1	70 @
Barley—No. 2	85 @

CLEVELAND.

Wheat—No. 1	1 75 @
No. 2	1 70 @

TOLEDO.

Wheat—No. 1 Red	1 79 @
No. 2 Red	1 71 @
Corn	[illegible]
Oats	[illegible]	38¼

THEA-NECTAR
IS A
PURE BLACK TEA
with the Green Tea Flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere, and for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st. and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTIONS
Or Advisory Foreign Law Business, promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

CAN[VASSERS], AGENTS and all who desire a profitable business will do well to send for our Catalogue and Price list of over 90 popular Mounted and Pocket Maps. Address CHICAGO BOOK [illegible]

[illegible] CARPETS.
[illegible] Co. [illegible] NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.

TWO GRAND PRIZE BOOKS.
[illegible] Committee. They [illegible] Send for full [illegible] Publishers, [illegible] Cornhill, Boston.

AMERICAN SAWS.
BEST IN THE WORLD.
MOVABLE-TOOTHED CIRCULARS,
PERFORATED CROSS-CUTS,
AMERICAN SAW CO., NEW YORK.

R. R. R.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
Cures the Worst Pains
IN FROM
ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.
NOT ONE HOUR,
AFTER READING THIS ADVERTISEMENT,
Need any one Suffer with Pain.
Radway's Ready Relief is a Cure for every Pain.
IT WAS THE FIRST AND IS THE ONLY PAIN REMEDY
that instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays Inflammations, and cures Congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands or organs, by one application.
IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES,
no matter how violent or excruciating the pain the RHEUMATIC, Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
WILL AFFORD INSTANT EASE.
Inflammation of the Kidneys. Inflammation of the Bladder. Inflammation of the Bowels. Congestion of the Lungs. Sore Throat, Difficult Breathing. Palpitation of the Heart. Hysterics, Croup, Diphtheria. Catarrh, Influenza. Headache, Toothache. Neuralgia, Rheumatism. Cold Chills, Ague Chills.
The application of the READY RELIEF to the part or parts where the pain or difficulty exists will afford ease and comfort.
Twenty drops in half a tumbler of water will in a few moments cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic, Wind in the Bowels, and all Internal Pains.
Travelers should always carry a bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy or Bitters as a stimulant.
FEVER AND AGUE.
FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in this world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other Malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow, and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS) so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.
Fifty Cents per Bottle.

HEALTH, BEAUTY.
STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.
DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT
Has made the most astonishing Cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the Body undergoes, under the influence of this truly Wonderful Medicine, that Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.
[illegible]
Kidney and Bladder Complaints,
[illegible]
Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by RADWAY'S RESOLVENT.
PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

DR. RADWAY'S
Perfect Purgative and Regulating Pills,
perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. RADWAY'S PILLS, for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely Vegetable, containing no mercury, minerals, or deleterious drugs.
[illegible]
Read "FALSE AND TRUE." Send one letter-stamp to RADWAY & CO., No. 32 Warren St., N. Y. Information worth thousands will be sent you.

$72.00 EACH WEEK.—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2001.

AGENTS WANTED for the new Illustrated Book
WILD LIFE IN THE FAR WEST.
[illegible] St. Louis, Mo.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.
Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, are entitled to $100 Bounty. Widows and heirs apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

VINEGAR BITTERS
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS
No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.
For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.
For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.
Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.
J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco, Cal., and New York.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

10,000 PRAIRIE FARMS,
16 hours from Chicago, with no change of cars, in the
"MIDDLE REGION of WESTERN IOWA."
A rich, well-drained prairie soil of natural meadow and plow land, amply supplied with pure running water abundant; climate unsurpassed [illegible] to be had to any desirable extent.
1,700,000 ACRES OF RAILROAD LANDS,
[illegible] interest.
Agents at Railroad Stations are provided with plats, prices and teams to show lands free to purchasers. [illegible] Chicago Branch Office, 88 S. Canal st. [illegible] Clinton and [illegible] below. [illegible] JOHN B. CALHOUN, Land Commissioner, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM
CUTLER BROS. & CO. PROPRIETORS, BOSTON.

NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.
What is Needed.
Boston, Feb. 13, 1871.
Henry R. Stevens, Esq.:
Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from General Debility. Vegetine was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and, after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.
Respectfully yours,
U. L. PETTINGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co.,
No. 10 State street, Boston.
Gives Health, Strength and Appetite.
[illegible]
N. H. TILDEN,
[illegible] Building, Boston, Mass.
Heartily Recommends.
South Boston, [illegible] 1870.
Mr. Stevens:
[illegible]
Mrs. [illegible] 88 Athens St.
Prepared by H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.
Vegetine is Sold by All Druggists.

CHILDREN TEETHING.
MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!
Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.
This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.
We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and
Relief and Health to Your Infants.
Be sure and call for
"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"
Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.
Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, St. Louis, Mo.
Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. [illegible]

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S
[illegible] Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, February 6, 1873.

[illegible] The Legislature [illegible] office.

[illegible] repeal the Gravel Road Law [illegible] the legislature [illegible].

[illegible] the Legislature now get eight dollars a day. Is the laborer worthy of his hire.

The new divorce law threatened to be passed by the Legislature requires a two years' residence in the State.

President Grant has signed the bill abolishing the franking privilege, and the law will take effect from the first of July next.

A Boiler explosion occurred at Pittsburg last Monday, in the American Iron Works, killing seven workmen, and wounding a large number.

Our Legislature votes that we are under no obligations to the State of Ohio to maintain the Wabash and Erie Canal in a navigable condition.

Alex. H. Stevens, of Georgia, did not get to be U. S. Senator. Gen. J. B. Gordon was elected. Stevens will be a candidate for Congress, and will no doubt be elected.

The United States Senate says that Congressmen shall not have $8,000 a year, and that ends it. In these days to be a Congressman is greater than a king.

J. P. Jones, of Nevada, only paid $250,000 to be Senator. Cheap, provided he sees a Credit Mobiler in his day. Yet Morton says we have the best civil service the world ever saw. Best paying, no doubt.

A company has been formed with a capital of $10,000,000, whose object it is to tunnel the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers near their junction, in [illegible] Railway movements [illegible] has been presented to Congress.

The [illegible] Horace Greeley have withdrawn from the contest of their father's will, and the Jackals who have defamed his memory and thwarted his wishes, have succeeded in probating the will of 1871.

The daughters of the late Chief-Justice Taney, are in straitened circumstances, and are compelled to earn their subsistance by working as copyist for lawyers in Baltimore. Members of the legal profession, throughout the country are about starting a fund to relieve the necessities of these ladies—the children of a man who, for thirty years, held the highest judicial position in the country, and died poor.

It's astonishing what a stir the Credit Mobiler is making among the dry bones. Major Ben Perley Poore, one of the staunchest of the administration correspondents, is moved to murmur. "It is a mystery," he says, "why Congressmen, who are more or less enriched by the possession of this Credit Mobiler, stock should have denied it last fall, during the campaign, in letter or on the stump [illegible] then should have repeated [illegible] writen statements [illegible] sworn to, when they must have known that [illegible] in his possession proof [illegible] of this once much coveted, but now much repudiated stock.

That Apportionment

At the October election Hendricks received 189,424 votes, and Browne 188,276, while the vote of the other officers varied but little from these numbers, showing conclusively that the strength of the two parties is nearly equal. And yet the Indianian says that the late congressional apportionment cannot be done better than it has been done, giving the Republicans 9 out of 13 Congressmen. Perhaps not for its party. Had the Democrats carried the Legislature they would doubtless have taken the same advantage for their party. But to look at it from a non-partisan stand point, and without prejudice, is this right, and according to the voice of the people? We know that our friend Rauh, is a party man, and no one else will have any doubt as to this when they know that he endorses this act with all the gusto of the "truly loyal." Had the Radicals taken a simple majority their hogginess would not have been so apparent. The above figures are all we deem necessary, and now let Ruby show that this could not be done, or stop his blowing.

[illegible] Scoundrel Exposed.

Senator Pomeroy will not be reelected to the Senate as he expected last Wednesday. The Legislature met, and just before the vote was taken Senator York proceeded to detail three alleged interviews between himself and Pomeroy. He said these interviews were held in pursuance of a plan agreed upon by himself and other prominent opponents of Pomeroy. The first one was on Friday night last, at which several persons was present, and during which time the Ross letters were discussed. The second one was private, and at the solicitation of Pomeroy, on Monday night. At this Pomeroy offered him (York) $8,000 for his vote—$2,000 in cash, $5,000 on Tuesday, and the remainder on Thursday.—York accepted the offer, and took the $2,000. On Tuesday afternoon he met Pomeroy again by agreement, and received from him the $5,000 promised.

York then produced a roll of bank bills from his pocket and said: 'Here is the $7,000 paid to me by Pomeroy, which I now desire to place in the hands of the President of this Joint Convention.'

At the conclusion of York's speech, a motion was made for a recess, until five P. M., to give Pomeroy an opportunity to defend himself, which was defeated by a large majority, and a motion to proceed immediately to ballot for Senator was carried amid great excitement.

Before the Senate roll was finished, it was clearly evident that Mr. Ingalls would carry the great body of the Legislature, both Pomeroy, and anti-Pomeroy. Ingalls was declared elected, and the Convention adjourned.

Immediately after adjournment a complaint was entered in Court, against Senator Pomeroy, on a charge of bribery, and he was arrested and gave bail in the sum of $5,000 to appear on Friday.

Grant, like a wise man, wasted no time, and put the last touch to the Franking bill, in short order. Horace Greeley will rest easier in his grave, for this final achievement whose first beginning he started in Congress more than thirty years ago. The faces of the members must have been a picture of lugubrious woe, when the bill came back signed in due form, and the vision of unlimited [illegible] passage forever undone. Where now will the impecunious and unbought Solon get clean linen? How now present an immaculate front to the galleries? How keep his frank fresh in the eyes of constituents? The [illegible] and grandeur of Congress eloquence, must find its way [illegible] after July, through the regular newspaper reports and many a meek and inglorious Pitt or Burke will bray away without honor or profit because he lives in the land of no papers or telegraphs. One good effect this will have—members will be more respectful to the press, and stand in more wholesome awe of the power that can do so much to make or mar them in a negative manner.—Lake Sentinel.

A Model State Officer.

Indiana has a model officer for Auditor of State. He has not been during his term, merely the auditor of public accounts, but it may be inferred from the admirable report of the General Assembly of Indiana, that he has had very much to do with the legislation. Being charged with the duty of suggesting plans for the improvement of the revenue he devoted himself attentively to the whole subject of State taxation and the proper assessment of property and has produced a bill that was so perfect and comprehensive, that it was nominated by the Legislature, without amendment or discussion. The previous legislation suffered a vast amount of property invested in corporate stocks and in other ways to escape taxation. This is all reached by the provisions of Mr. Shoemaker's bill, and over two thousand dollars of increased revenue will be secured to the State. Again this vigilent official detected the influence of insurance companies, that prevented wholesome legislation for the protection of the people against worthless and unsound companies, fully investigated the whole subject, and prepared a bill embracing all the safeguards, requisite to drive out worthless companies, and encouraging sound ones, and provide at the same time, that the State shall also derive a revenue from this extensive business, thus further increasing the revenues of the State. There has indeed been a general overhauling of the whole financial system of the State by this officer, and so proper and just have been his suggestions, that they have met with general approval, not only by the Legislature, but by the press of the State. It is to be regretted that in the mutations of party, so competent and faithful an officer should be misplaced, and his ability lost to the State, in these days of incompetency in civil service.—Courier Journal.

A Good [illegible]

Last Saturday, Senator Gleason, from the Joint Select Committee on redistricting the State for Judicial purposes, reported Bill No 238. It divides the State into 36 Judicial circuits, the counties of Northern Indiana being redistricted as follows:

16. Wells, Adams and Jay.
27. Huntington and Wabash.
28. Grant, Blackford and Miami.
29. Cass and Carroll.
30. Benton, Newton, Warren and Jasper.
31. Lake, Porter, Stark, and Pulaski.
32. Laporte and St. Joseph.
33. Marshall, Kosciusko and Fulton.
34. Elkhart and Lagrange.
35. Steuben, DeKalb and Noble.
36. Allen and Whitley.

The bill fixes the time of holding courts in the various counties, and provides for holding special terms, if necessary.

It also transfers the jurisdiction heretofore held in Common Pleas Court to the Circuits, and also abolishes the offices of Common Pleas Judge and district Attorney. All business pending in the Common Pleas Courts, is transferred to the Circuit Courts with the records, papers, etc. An election is ordered to be held October 2nd, 1873, to elect judges and Prosecuting Attorneys in place of such as may be holding by appointment of the Governor. Circuit, and Common Pleas Courts that may be in session on the taking effect of this act, are authorized to continue in session until the expiration of the term.

This bill is a most excellent one and should speedily be adopted by both Houses.

The Largest

CLOTHING

HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

S. Lauferty

WILL SELL

READY MADE

CLOTHING

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

ways on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs the fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and [illegible] only line west of the Mississippi [illegible] with roads further West are [illegible] The Texas connection of this [illegible] and passengers are offered [illegible] route from St. Louis to Texas, [illegible] souri, Kansas & Texas R. R. [illegible] the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. [illegible] time tables, information [illegible] our readers to S. H. Thompson, [illegible] Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. [illegible] Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200,000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all. Climate, soil, timber, mineral wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

BOOZER AND BLATNER

South-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as

Arcola Cloth,	Queen's Own,
Brittanna "	Brocades,
Balerno "	Silk Stripes,
Turko, "	Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes,

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS,

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATNER

Another Explosion

IN

High Prices

Messrs. WOOD & WILLIAMS

Want the people of DeKalb and surrounding counties to know that they have now the largest, finest and most extensive assortment of

Dry Goods

G OCERIES,

HATS and CAPS!

BOOTS & SHOES

&c., ever exhibited in Auburn. Also

Dress Goods,

of all kinds, at the lowest figures,

FOR CASH.

Call at Case's old stand, and see the fine display. No trouble to show you goods. Produce taken at the highest market price.

WOOD & WILLIMS.

J. J. WOOD, Ada, Ohio.
E. E. WILLIAMS, Ashland, Ohio.

Fruit House!

BULLETIN

Prices for the Holidays!

GREAT REDUCTION ON

Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	80, 90, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	28c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	9, best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 50, and 95c
Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahoqany double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	25 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and cherry	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old 76	3 50
3 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Dianer	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cents below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, all different kinds	25c

Wax Candles for Christmas Trees.

All different sizes, from 1½c to 3c each. All kinds of goods for Santa Claus, at one half the usual Price.

Fine Fresh Oysters, AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.

Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

Best Thing in the West

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.

Lands

THREE MILLION ACRES

Situated in and near the Arkansas Valley, the Finest Portion of Kansas!

Eleven years' Credit, Seven per Cent. Interest, 22½ per cent. reduction to settlers who improve.

A FREE PASS TO BUYERS.

THE FACTS about this Grant are—Low Prices, Long Credit, and a Rebate to settlers of nearly one fourth; a Rich Soil and Splendid Climate; short and mild Winters; early planting, and no wintering of stock; plenty of Rainfall, and just at the right season; Coal, Stone and Brick on the line; Cheap Rates on Lumber, Coal, &c.; no lands owned by Speculators; Homestead and Pre-emptions now abundant; a first-class Railroad on the line of a great Through Route; Products will pay for Land and Improvements.

It is the best opportunity ever offered to the public, through the recent completion of the Road. For Circulars and general information, address A. E. TOUZALIN, Manager Land Dep't, TOPEKA, KAN.

Attention Creation!

Another Rebellion

IN

Boots, Shoes and Real Estate,

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit:

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. ane lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of my stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $3000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 27, '73—2m.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT

AND SALOON.

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

No. 89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana.
CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

Auction Sale.

I. Lauferty & Son.

South-east corner of Columbia and Calhoun Streets.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Will commence selling at Auction their entire stock of Fashionable Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods on SATURDAY, JAN. 11th 1873.

at 10 o'clock a. m., and from day to day thereafter until the entire stock is sold

WE QUIT THE BUSINESS!

Now is your time to buy

GOOD GOODS!

at your own prices. Remember on Saturday morning Jan. 11th. Call soon as they will go fast.

I. LAUFERTY & SON.

A sure and permanent cure for Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Imperfect Digestion, and all diseases arising from a disordered state of the Liver and Blood.

LIVER

STIMULANT

AND

CATHARTIC

It acts directly on the Liver, increasing the flow of bile into the stomach and bowels, and by its cathartic properties purges the system of all diseased matter. As a family medicine, it has no equal.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Price $1.00 per Bottle.

PREPARED BY
W. B. HURD & CO.,
NASHUA, N.H.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Court in session.

Dance here the 22nd.

Sleighing is not so good.

Valentine day will soon be at hand—on the fourteenth.

See advertisement in another column about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

New subscribers are coming in every day. And that just what we want.

The attendance at the Circuit Court this week has been very large.

No more Quail or Pheasant hunting.—time expired Feb. 1st.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

A boy by the name of Strah had a leg broken the other day at Waterloo while wrestling with another boy.

The Sabbath school of the Presbyterian church will give a festival and musical entertainment at Case's Hall next Friday evening.

The next session of the North Indiana Conference of the M. E. Church will be held in Logansport, commencing on Wednesday, the 16th day of April. Bishop Merril will preside.

Charlie Beagnot, of the stave factory had a leg broken the other day by scuffling. He has got a six weeks job now, and has plenty of time to reflect what might have been.

ALWAYS stop at the best. The Central Hotel at Fort Wayne is the neatest, cleanest and most comfortable one in the city. You get what you call for, and only pay for what you get. Conducted on the American and European plan.

THERE was a meeting of the teaches of DeKalb County held at this place last Saturday. The Secretary has failed to furnish a report for this paper. We could not possibly be present but learn that there was a good attendance.

Wood & Williams have established a branch of their dry goods store at St. Johns, where they propose to supply their customers at the usually low rates This point on the Railroad is rapidly improving and may yet develop into a good sized town.

QUITE a large sleighing party went to the fine residence of Wm. Whetsel's last Tuesday evening, and had a most splendid time, the attention and hospitality of the family assisting materially in the general enjoyment. All came away convinced that it was blessed to be there.

LAST Sunday was ground hog day, when it is said Mr. Hog comes forth and seeing his shadow rushes back again there to remain, sucking his thumb, until the middle of March. But owing to the great depth of the snow, the programme has been postponed on account of the weather.

OUR enterprising citizen, Ed. Long of Waterloo, has put upon the line in that place a splendid Omnibus, by which he will accommodate the travelling public and others with transportation to hotels and private houses at low fare. We hope his efforts will be appreciated and that he will meet with deserved success.

OUR friend Chas. A. Saunder has established a wholesale paper house in Ft. Wayne, and can now supply the trade with wraping paper and papers, bags, of all descriptions on short notice at prices far below those which are now being paid Those wanting anything in this line should give him a visit when in the city No. 191 Calhoun street.

The Press wants to wager that Negro Hinton, [illegible] canal Trustee, is a better man than we [illegible]. That may be, though we don't know it, and if so he can double discount the gentle blonde of the Press We did not call him an ignorant barber, but said that he was represented as such. We are opposed to Negro officers, where a majority of the people are whites. If the editor of the Press, however, regards himself as good as a nigger, we have no objections to our colored brethern governing all such.

OUR neighbor of the Republican at Angola, makes a suggestion in regard to the improvement which if we're to act upon would debar us from giving any local news, the greatest feature of a county paper. As we think one paper of this kind is sufficient for this part of the State we decline doing it for fear of rivaling our neighbor. However, we notice some improvement in the Republican lately, and now that it has honorable competition, which is more than we can say, we entertain hopes for its future usefulness.

IT is a very cute thing to pinch somebody on the back of his leg, and accompany the movement with a yelp in imitation of a dog. A lank individual tried the trick on a three hundred pound friend yesterday and the corpulent person lost his presence of mind and fell back on his tormentor. The lank individual was pried up from the pavement with a new spade, and escorted home on its edge He is now ravenously fond of dried apples and water, but it is doubtful if he comes round again.

THE Concert, given by the pupils of the Indiana Conservatory of Music, at Fort Wayne, last Friday evening, was largely attended, the audience being composed of the refined and intelligent. The programme presented was well received, and the pupils acquitted themselves to the great satisfaction of a critical audience. The professors of the institution, Messrs. Moses, Bartlett, Joest and Hodgdon, contributed pleasant features to the occasion Mr. Bartlett's excellent singing was repeatedly encored.

This Conservatory is rapidly advancing not only in efficiency and influence, but is surely establishing itself upon a firm basis, and is far a head of competitors of a like character in the State.

A Peep at the Stars.

While at Fort Wayne last Friday night we visited the popular jewelry establishment of Geo. J. E. Mayer & F. Voirol on east Main street and found out how they get the correct time. They do not depend entirely upon old Sol, but like the great magicians of the east consult the stars. They have a fine telescope placed upon the roof of their building where it commands a good view. At certain hours and minutes and seconds such and such stars cross the line, and by these observations they get exact time. We took a peep through "de machine" and were surprised to find these brilliant little sentinels, (not the daily) of the night traveling at almost railroad speed. The spider web on the glass looks like a base ball club, but any comparison that has base call in it falls without effect upon George This establishment supplies the correct time according to the most minute computation, which you can get at all hours by giving them a call.

IN the Circuit Court several cases of assault and battery were disposed of last Tuesday. The case of Free Kelly and Charlie Baxter came up, the former was fined $10 and costs and the latter $5 and costs. The question is, why this difference when both acknowledged that one was as bad as the other. One explanation is that a printer tells so many lies that it is worth twice the usual amount to knock him down. We'll accept this providing it is made a special rule.

Dr. Ford was fined ten cents, he having put in the plea of guilty. Had this been withdrawn, there would have be case against him.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

BASTARDY CASE.—The great bastardy case of Margaret McDermand vs. Dr. Wheelock came up for hearing before Judge Clapp last week. Considerable testimony was taken on both sides, and a large and interesting audience was present. Judge Morris, for the defendant, made a strong argument in his usual impressive manner, and was followed by Judge elect Best, of Waterloo, for the plaintiff in an able plea before the jury.—There were different opinions entertained by those in attendance, but a majority were decidedly in favor of the defendant. There was one witness in attendance that did not add much to the plaintiff's case, and might have had some weight with the jury. The jury disagreed, seven for acquittal, and five for conviction.

Brick Pomeroy says—

His paper is not suspended;
The sheriff has not sold him out;
He has not failed;
Nor is he financially embarrassed;

But that Pomeroy's Democrat has today a larger number of readers than it ever had before.

Now, Brick may have been a little severe during the war, and since, but we believe he was honest, and that ought to commend him and his paper to the public. Besides he is uncompromisingly opposed to fraud and corru[illegible]o, and is giving hard licks fo[illegible] Get a copy of his [illegible] sending your name [illegible] Pomeroy, Box 5217, N. Y.

Advertised Letters Jan. 1st 1873.

The following are a list of letters remaining in the Auburn Post-office:

Casley Mrs. Lydia
Crow B.
Duncan G. W.
Jenking Alber J.
Jacob Kinnel
Lambrecht Rev. John
Lawson A.
Laters Wm.
McLarland Dan.
Nelson Miss D. J.
Nelson L. L.
Ruffner Benjamin
Shreve Mrs. Mercilla
Sauls Jacob [two]
Smally Jno.
Sanders James
Shaven Josiah
Swihart Louisa.
Sharpers W. L.
Weaver F. C.

SEDAN BREVITIES.

Last Wednesday a remarkable wedding took place at the Sedan Hotel. On Tuesday a young man whose cognomen shall be nameless here, came to our town, and as we understand, promised, without any former acquaintance, to marry the young lady the following day. Wednesday came and at 2 o'clock p. m. a large multitude assembled to witness the marriage ceremony which was solemnized by J. M. Urie, Esq. The happy couple was then entertained by the numerous guests present. After which they participated in the the consumption of the grand dinner that the accomplished land lady had prepared for the occassion. In the evening they left for their new home, the bridegroom singing, My wife and I live all alone, In a little log hut we call our own.

BETWEEN the years 1600 and 1650 it was the practice in this country for newspapers to print the initial letters of the compass, thus:

N
E-|-W
S

This sign meant that the papers contained intelligence from the four quarters of the globe. From this practice is rived the word n-e-w-s-paper.

IF you have occasion to use a wheelbarrow, leave it, when you are through with it, in front of the house with the handles toward the door. A wheelbarrow is the most complicated thing to fall over on the face of the earth. A man would fall over one when he would never think of falling over anything else. He never knows when he is through falling over it, either; for it will tangle his legs and arms, turn over with him, and rear up in front of him, and just as he pauses in his profanity to congratulate himself, it takes a new turn, and scoops more skin off from him, and he commences to evolute anew and bump himself on fresh places. A man never ceases to fall over a wheelbarrow until it turns completely on its back, or brings against something it cannot upset. It is the most inoffensive looking object there is, but is more dangerous than a locomotive, and no man is secure with one unless he has a tight hold of the handles, and is sitting down on something. A wheelbarrow has its uses, no doubt, but in its leisure moments, it is the great blighting curse of true dignity.

We love women—old or young—simply because they are women. Our mothers spanked us; our sweethearts spoiled our joys by flirting with our rivals; our wives read us a genuine or moderate Caudle lecture, which we usually deserve—Women have laughed at our woes when indulging in the tender passions, riddled our heart with Erosiam arrows, depleted our pocket book, disturbed our slumbers, spoiled our coffee, rumpled our starched linen bosoms, hung to our arm with her whole precious weight when our corns hurt us most, danced us into a perspiration, and caused us to buy losengers for a cold; but, in spite of all these these things, we love her. We set her up as an idol and prostrate ourselves before her as before some divinity. We don't care a copper what dry goods cost, so she looks sweet. We will fight for her like a Prussian soldier. Let Mr. Holland say what he will to derogate from the sex, we shall hang our banners on the outer wall" and cry "Autrah for women!"

Peter's Musical Monthly, No. 66, for February, comes promptly to hand, and is, as usual, overflowing with melody.—This magazine is furnished at the low price of $3 per year, and contains more music in a single monthly number than can be bought in sheet-form for double that sum. The number before us contains: Our Little Pet, a beautiful ballad by the famous song-writer, Will S. Hays; also, Gone to the Heavenly Garden, Mattie May and Give my Love to all at Home; Two-part Songs, Fold we our hands in Prayer and Far from my Thoughts. Together with the following Instrumental pieces: Clear the Track, Christmas Gift March, Sweet Thoughts, and Silver Cloud Mazurka.

As a trial trip, the publishers offer to send, post paid, three back numbers of 1872 for 60 cents, or six back numbers for $1. Send on your orders, and our word for it, you will get ten times your money's worth of choice new music. Address,

J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, N Y

Brainard's Musical World for February is on our table with commendable promptness and and is an unusually spicy and active number.

The music in this number is Two ballads gay and sad to sell, a cavatina from the oper Crispinoela Comare, the Wedding Waltz by B. Landmann, one of the most sparking and beautiful waltzes ever issued and the celebrated Redowa de Paris by F Burgmuller.

Subscription $1 a year; single copies 10 cents. S. Brainard's Sons, Publishers, Cleveland O.

FARM FOR SALE.

I will offer for sale my farm, situated in Butler township, DeKalb county, Ind., three miles south of Auburn, the county seat of said county, consisting of One Hundred Acres; sixty acres under cultivation, the balance good timber land, frame house and frame barn, and outbuildings, good bearing orchards of grafted fruit. For terms inquire of the owner on the premises. A. ROBERTS.

Feb. 6, '73—tf.

Estray Bull.

Taken up by the subscriber four and a half miles south of the town of Butler, Wilmington township, DeKalb county, Indiana, an estray bull, on the 1st day of Dec. 1872, supposed to be two year old Pale red, large star in forward, left hind foot white, right hind foot white to paster joint and valued at $12.50.

Attest J. R. LANNING, Clerk, DeKalb Circuit Court.

MILLIONS OF ACRES

IOWA & NEBRASKA LANDS.

FOR SALE BY THE

Burlington & Mo. River Rail'd co.

On Ten Year's Credit at 6 per cent. Interest.

Products will pay for the land and improvements much within the limit of this kind offer. Better terms are not offered, and probably never will be. Circulars giving full particulars, gratis; call for all that are wanted to read and circulate.

Come West and thrive, Friends will follow.

A Sectional Map, showing the exact location of Iowa lands is sold at 30 cents, and of Nebraska lands at same price. For Circulars and Maps apply to GEO. S. HARRIS,

Land Commissioner, Burlington, Iowa.

☞ And please say in what paper this advertisement was seen. Feb. 6—4t.

Great Reduction on Teas.

The late great fire of the largest tea importers of New York has broken the tea market. We have taken the advantage of the situation and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 10 cents per pound lower than former prices. Young Hyson, 50c, 60c 80c and $1, best 1 10. Gunpowder 50c and 80c, best 1 10. Imperial 50c, 80c and best 1 10. Oolong 40c, 50c and 80c, best 95c. Japan, 40c and 50c, best 95c Fruit House.

Coffee, Coffee!

No advance in prices. The excitement in the market is only temporary. We purchased a large stock before the advance and will continue to sell at our old prices:

Best Rio, 25 cents.
Good Rio, 25c.
Old Government Java, 28c
Best roasted Rio, 25c Feb 6.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of D. Ballard, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to solvent.

MILES WATERMAN, Adm'r.

Feb 6, '73.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } s.s
DeKalb County. }
Miles Waterman }
vs. } In Attachment.
Miles W Ballard }

Whereas there is pending before me, the undersigned, a Justice of Union township, said county, an action by said plaintiff, Miles Waterman, in the above entitled cause for the recovery of eighty-five dollars and twelve cents [$85.12], and whereas the writ of summons has been returned "not found." Notice is, therefore, hereby given to said defendant, Miles W. Ballard to appear at my office on the 1st day of April 1873 at 10 o'clock a. m. and answer in said cause, or the same will be determined in his absence.

J. P. WIDNEY, J. P.

Feb. 6, '73.

BOSTON ON FIRE.

A SPLENDID COLORED ENGRAVING, 14 x 22 inches in size, representing the city when the fire was at its height and one-half of the city wrapped in flames. Our view was taken in the night from the river, and shows the whole city, buildings shipping, &c. This engraving is highly colored, and already in three weeks 10,000 have been sold. It usually sells at thirty cents, but we will send a sample copy (mounted on a roller) free on receipt of six postage stamps, or 3 copies for 50c.—Address J. C. & W. M. BURROW, 200 Main-st., Bristol, Tenn.

Agents wanted everywhere to sell our popular Pictures, Books, Charts, Photographs, etc. Catalogues sent free. Feb. 6.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of Robert Hall, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

THOMAS HALL, Adm'r.

January 17, 1873.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator De bonis non of the estate of Calvin Dewitt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent. WASHINGTON TREFERN, Adm'r.

January 23, 1873.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of Richland Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will, at the March 1873 session of the Board of Commissioners of said county, apply for a license to retail spirituous liquors in a less quantity than a quart at a time, and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises: Lot No. [illegible] in A. Dirtor's addition to the town of Corunna, in said Township.

GEO. McMILLAN.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of David Sollenberger, late of said county, deceased.—Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JACOB SOLLENBERGER, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

In the Common Pleas Court May Term, 1873.

James Hamilton }
vs }
Sam Rice and } Complaint No.
George Rice }

Now comes the Plaintiff, by Best & McClellan his attorneys and files his complaint herein together with an affidavit that said Defendants Sam Rice and George Rice are not residents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is, therefore, hereby given said defendant that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of May A. D. 1873, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 17th day of January 1873.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R. Company—Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad Company, for the election of officers, will be held at the office of the President of the company, in the city of Jackson, in the State of Michigan, on the second Tuesday, being the 11th day of February, A. D. 1873, at one o'clock p. m. on the Tuesday preceding such election, and remain closed until after the final adjournment of such annual meeting.

Dated at Jackson, January 9, 1873.

EUGENE PRINGLE, Sec'y.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES

Perfumery, Soaps,
Brushes, Patent Medicines
School and Blank Books,
Slates, Writing Paper
Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,
Oiled, slate and Linen

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes.

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

CLEARING-OUT SALE!

—AT—

C. ORFF AND CO'S.

5 & 7 Columbia-st., Ft. Wayne.

We will offer for the next forty-five days commencing January 11th, [and continuing until the forty-five days are up,] our entire stock of Fancy Dress &c.

DRY GOODS!

including the whole of our Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, Furs and Fancy Goods

At Actual Cost.

and many styles at even less. We must close out our entire stock of Dress Goods, Furs, Shawls and Fancy Goods, and LOW PRICES must do it.

Look! Look!

at these prices of Dress Goods; they are 25 to 50 per cent. lower than the goods sold before the war

Our entire stock of Cashmeres, including the new shades, reduced			$1.00	worth 1.50
A full line of Colors in Silk and Woolen Velours at			90	" 1.80
All of our Irish and French Poplins reduced to			1.25	" 2.00
All-wool Serges reduced to	60 c		90
All-wool Satines reduced to	75 c	worth	100
All-wool Satines reduced to	50 c	worth	75
A large line of Japanese Stripes reduced to	55 cents	worth	75	to 85

We shall have to tables in the center of the store filled with Dress Goods at 25, 30 and 40 cents, many of which are worth double the money.

CLOAKS. CLOAKS.

We will close out our stock of Cloaks at actual first cost. We have some of our very best styles left, and this will be a rare opportunity to buy a handsome cloak for little money.

FURS. FURS.

We have reduced the price of our Sable, Mink, Fitch and Seal-skin Furs fully one-half, and are determined to close them out during the next thirty days.

Our Entire tock of Shawls.

Will be sold at less than they have been offered for the last ten years. We have left some very handsome Ottoman Stripes, also a good assortment of Paisely in long and square, which must be sold.

Beaver Clokings.

$5.00 Beaver reduced to $3.50. $6.00 Beaver reduced to 4.00. One price each of drab blue and brown silk plush, for ladies' and children's Sacques, reduced from $6.00 to 3.50.

Great Reduction in Laces, Embroideries, Collars, Handkerchiefs, and all kinds of Fancy Goods. We have a large stock of this class of goods, and we want to clear them out.

We have the largest stock of Corsets in the city, and they have been reduced with all other goods.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

During our sale we will sell our best prints at 10c, our heaviest brown muslin 12½, our fine brown muslin 12½, 300 pieces of soft-finished Bleached Muslin at 12½

Remember this sale will continue for the next forty days, commencing January 11.

C. ORFF & CO.

People's

Convention

Everybody's Ticket!

The People's Choice.

CHEAP, CHEPER, CHEAPEST.

Save Your Money and Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnishing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,

No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

The Mother's Help.

The Childen's Fiend.

MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great

PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Clothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

AUBURN COURIER

D. S. HAYS, Publisher.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Dry Times on the Prairies.

The ancient mariner, when suffering from thrist on the stagnant ocean, was in a plight scarcely worse than that of the dwellers on the prairies in times of drought. It is not too much to say that this trouble is very generally self-inflicted. The old story of Simon Easy, who would not mend his roof in dry weather because it was unnecessary, nor in wet weather because it was impossible, fits this case exactly. Was the history of Joseph in Egypt written for nothing? Why could we not learn from that and in season of plenty store up supply against time of drought. Throughout the year there falls on the roof of a born forty feet square 50,000 gallons of water. This would give nearly 140 gallons a day throughout the yea. A cistern 12 feet square and 20 feet deep would contain nearly half this large supply, and would cost not far from $100. It is reasonable to say that the cost would be repaid in one dry season. Again a well of large capacity, say 10 feet diameter or more, dug at a place where four fields come together, so as to be available for either of them, would hold over a considerable supply of water which would be available for a dry time; and in addition there are many hollows which the bottom might be puddled with clay, or little valleys across which earth dams might be built in which a large store of water might be preserved. Few farms are without some such possible means of securing a water supply which would make a dry fall a thing no more to be dreaded, and which would obviate the necessity, so injurious to cattle and so inconvenient to the owner, of driving them long distances to drink.

Dried Dung in Fumigating Bees.

Rev. L. L. Langstroth writes to the Bee Journal:

Nearly two thousand years ago Columella recommended the dried dung of cattle as the best thing for fumigating bees. Learning soon after importing the Egyptian bees that the Egyptians made use of the smoke from this substance in all their operations upon their irascible bees, we began to use it largely in our apiary. The smoke from burning cow dung, while very penetrating, is not offensive. It can be blown so as to diffuse itself very quickly through the hive, and yet it does not seem to irritate the bees, and our own experience confirms the very strong commendations of Columella. Wherever rotten wood is not easily procured, it will be found of very great value. When thoroughly dried it will burn slowly but steadily, and by slightly dampening the outside after lighting it, a piece not larger than the hand may often be made to last for several hours. It does not always ignite as readily as one could wish. Dr. E. Parmely has obviated this difficulty by dipping one corner in coal oil. The odor is so little offensive that it may be used instead of pastils in the sick room, a little sugar being sprinkled upon it while burning. Those who know how universally the dung of buffaloes, called buffalo chips, is used for cooking purposes on our great plains, will feel no prejudices against this seemingly uncleanly substance. We shall call it buffalo chips.

Manure for Orchards.

Wood ashes are doubtless excellent for orchards, but instead of being put round the trees they should be spread over the whole land. But where are the ashes to come from in this region? We have little or no wood, and of course little of no ashes. In our limited experience we have learned one thing in regard to orchards as well as fruit trees of every kind that we have cultivated, and we believe the principle can be applied pretty much to everything that grows upon the earth, which is, that the application of manure benefits them all.

Ground occupied with fruit trees should be manured as are other portions of the land used for the raising of wheat and corn. It is the neglect to do so, in connection with the general negligence with which orchards are treated in many sections, that makes them unprofitable and worn out prematurely. And as to the kind of manure with which orchards ought to be treated, while any kind, almost without exception, will prove of advantage, there is none in the world to be compared to stable or barn-yard manure. A liberal application of this only every third year, with careful pruning and scraping of the trees and ferreting out the borers, will make prodigious changes in an orchard. Autumn, and even in December, if the ground is not frozen, is perhaps the best time to apply it.—Germantown Telegraph.

A Neat Room.

A neat, clean, fresh-aired, cheerful, well arranged house exerts a moral influence over its inmates, and makes the members of a family peaceable and considerate of each other's feelings and happiness. The connection is obvious between the state of mind thus produced and respect for others, and for those higher duties and obligations which no laws can enforce. On the contrary, a filthy, squalid, noxious dwelling, in which none of the decencies of life are observed, contributes to make its inhabitants selfish, sensual and regardless of the feeling of others, and the constant indulgence of such passions renders them reckless and brutal.

Care of Cisterns.

Water may be preserved pure and whole in rainwater cistern, by letting the supply pipe connect at the bottom of the cistern. The fresh water being heavier than that alrerdy in the cistern, will force the stale water to the top so that it can be used before it becomes offensive. It is well known, however, that cistern water becomes impure from the organic matter it contains, and if this can be got rid of by destroying its vitality and precipitating it to the bottom, it will leave the water pure. It is claimed that there is nothing better to effect this than permanganate of potassa, used in the proportion of about an ounce to fifty sections of water. This causes the inorganic matter to sink to the bottom an innoxious sediment. But the permanganate must must be continued as long as the water has a purplish appearance, indicating that the offensive matter has not all been precipitated. Though this is not a poisonous drug, and is, we believe, in no way hurtful, still no more should be used than necessary. Every druggist has it for sale. Care must be taken to have the cistern thoroughly cleaned at least twice a year, as well as the troughs upon the buildings supplying the water.

Rural Items.

The Fourth Revenue District of New Jersey, consisting of four counties, has converted its apple crop into 159,000 gallons of "jack."

It is asserted that some Texans are killing their cattle, for the reason that "the hide brings more money than the whole animal on foot."

Three premiums were recently awarded by the Easton (Pa.) Experimental Farm Club for corn crops of 121, 111 and 100 bushels per acre.

An individual in Orange county, N. Y., declares himself able to husk 100 bushels of corn in ten consecutive hours. We have observed that the winter season is usually the chosen time for boasts of this character.

According to figures furnished by the London Board of Trade, $8,105,105 was paid for eggs imported into the United Kingdom from January to November, 1872.

The earliest prophet in the field this year is the editor of the Bulletin, Portland, Oregon, who, having taken "a run up the Willamette Valley," declares that the prospects for great crops of all grains are unusually bright.

James F. Serank, Chief Clerk of the Agricultural Department, Washington, has resigned, and Frederick Watts, Jr., has been appointed in his place.

The Vermont Dairymen's Association open a three days' session at St. Albans, Jan. 22. Addresses will be made by Messrs. X. A. Willard, T. S. Gold, J. S. Gould, F. D. Douglas, and H. Lewis.

There are more than a thousand named and described varieties of the pear raised in this country, in the gardens of pomologists and others, and about 2,500 varieties of the apple. But few practical cultivators will want more than a dozen of each.

San Francisco markets are now supplied by the neighboring farmers with string beans, peas, asparagus, green corn, and other productions seasonable at New Year's. Lettuce are 25 cents a dozen and cucumbers 15 cents.

The Economy of English Monarchy.

Monarchy may be the bulkwark of England's liberty, but we doubt it, and certainly think that the people pay a deal of money for the luxury of supporting an imported family in idleness. This bulwark costs no less than £1,000,000 annually—£700,000 being spent upon the royal family alone, £12,000 on furniture for their palaces, £40,000 for stabling purposes, £60,000 for the Queen's "pin-money," and £385,000 for the civil list, otherwise her Majesty's household expenses. We hear of Victoria's generosity. Do naive republicans remember that the Queen annually receives from Parliament £23,210 to expend in charity? The people are taxed this number of pounds that "the first lady in the land" may not put her hands into her plethoric pocket when the munificence of a Peabody and the daring of a Stanley suggest the presentation of a portrait or a snuff-box. The people—not the Queen—are responsible for these gracious acts, and it is about time for us to give credit where it is due. Generosity is not a peculiarity of the descendants of George I., whose one aim in life was to squeeze English money into Hanoverian chests.

Tweed's Trial.

The details of the trial of Tweed, in New York, are frightful. No other word can express the disgust and loathing produced by the sickening revelations of Garvey, the plasterer. His testimony shows that sixty-five per cent. of all his bills was fraudulent, and went directly into the hands of Tweed, Watson, and Woodward. Here is an abstract of a portion of his evidence:

"These bills were partially just, there was not thirty-five per cent. of any bill due from the county; each bill was presumed to bear the same proportion to my claims; of these claims only $241,000 was due from the county. No part of any bill was entirely true. Witness didn't definitely know how much was true; nobody saw the bills until witness rendered them; kept them entirely to himself; vouchers accompanied warrants for these bills; got directions from Watson how to make out the bills; Tweed's name was on some of the bills; the prices charged for work were regular, but the amounts were increased; put in $5,000 in one bill on his own hook to pay election expenses."

A New Silver Coinage.

Measures are pending in Congress, at Washington, seeking to secure an international coinage of silver, for the immediate use of nations in America and Europe, now embracing a population of more than 160,000,000, and for the eventual use of all the civilized countries of the world. An important report on this subject was presented to the National Board of Trade last summer by Samuel B. Ruggles, and the Finance Committee of the United States Senate, John Sherman, Chairman, has virtually adopted Mr. Ruggles' suggestions by reporting amendments to the pending Coinage bill, fixing the weight of the United States half-dollar at twelve and one-half metrical grammes, being half the weight of the five-franc coin of Europe, with the smaller silver coins in like proportion.

An American Daily Abroad.

It is rumored that one of the objects of James Gordon Bennett in going abroad was to make the necessary preparations for issuing a new daily in London, that should have all the enterprise, facilities, and variety of a leading New York or Chicago journal. This is said to have been a favorite project of the elder Bennett, who held that a daily conducted in London on American principles must eventually reach an enormous success. The son seems to share this opinion; and the story is, that he is willing to invest $500,000, or even $1,000,000, in such an enterprise.

THE EX-CONFEDERATES.

Some of the Leaders of the Lost Cause—What They Are and What They are Doing.

Jake Thompson is living in moderate circumstances at Memphis.

Beauregard is Superintendent of Street Railways at New Orleans, with a good salary.

The sons of Howell Cobb are farming, and get along tolerably since the decease of their father.

James Longstreet has a public position which suffices to maintain him and his numerous family.

Clement C. Clay is buried at Huntsville, where his property was pretty much torn up by the war.

Ex-Senator Chesnut is also a lawyer in the town of Camden, S. C., and makes a fair living.

Gen. P. D. Roddy, who had a cavalry brigade, is a banker in New York, in good circumstances.

Joe Johnston is thriving as a leading life insurance man at Savannah. He is growing old with composure.

Gen. Kershaw, of South Carolina, is a lawyer in the quiet town of Camden, and is making a livelihood.

Gen. D. H. Hill keeps a school at the town of Hillsborough, and meantime edits a periodical, published once a month, called The Land We Love.

Gen. Dick Taylor is probably the richest of the Confederate Generals, and is engaged in banking and other large operations in New Orleans, abetting Warmoth.

Gov. Isham G. Harris resides at Memphis, where he would have a very good worldly condition if he were not annoyed by some old lawsuits growing out of the war.

Gen. P. M. B. Young, a leading cavalry officer in the rebel army, is a planter at Cartersville, Ga., in moderate circumstances, and he has just been re-elected to Congress.

Gen. Albert Pike, a Brigadier from Arkansas, is practicing law at Washington city with ex-Senator Johnson, of Arkansas, and has just republished his delicate poems.

Ben Hill, ex-Confederate, is practicing law at Atlanta, and is said to be the best lawyer in the State. He was a Senator of the Confederate States, and had a personal collision with Yancey.

Joe Brown is 55 years old and is the Bismarck of Georgia. He is pretty rich—is worth anywhere between $100,000 and $2,000,000—and is President of the Western and Atlanta railroad.

Gen. Cheatham, having made an unsuccessful run for Congress against Horace Maynard, has retired to private life, breathing scorn upon Andrew Johnson, who divided the Democratic vote with him.

Ex-Senator Robert M. T. Hunter has a poor farm on the Rappahannock river, in the tide-water part of Virginia, and is said to be dispirited, although his counsel is cheerful at all times, and his intelligent retains its full vigor.

Jeff. Davis is President of the South Carolina Insurance Company in Memphis, under the patronage of a Mr. Wick, whose bank recently went up when the Southern Security Company drew a check upon it for an unforeseen amount.

The family of William H. Yancey resides on a farm near Montgomery, Ala., and are in only moderate circumstances. Yancey's tomb is a small affair. It is said that two of his sons are in Brazil, whither they emigrated at the close of the war.

Gen. John C. Breckinridge lives in Lexington, Ky., and was given an important place at one time by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. He shows good nature and a quiet disposition, but no great bounce in these piping times of peace.

Alexander H. Stephens lives near Crawfordsville, Ga., in a small and not very comfortable house, which he dignifies with the name of "Liberty Hall." He is charitable, and gives away all the excess he makes after providing for himself, and he writes long and abstract books, showing how nothing ought to be as it is, and what might have been the case had something else happened twelve years before.—Philadelphia Free Press.

Sod Houses in Iowa.

To those who were pioneers in the West years ago, the following description of the sod houses of [illegible] County, Iowa, taken from the Cedar Rapids Republican, will be of interest, while all will honor the persons who endure such privations for the hope of a decent home in the future; For the benefit of those who have never seen any of this style of architecture, we might say the mode of constructing these places is to dig down into mother earth about four feet, and with sod wall up the cave thus made, extending the wall some feet above the surface, and then arching over with sod. You now have an idea of the "sod house," and if you never have to dwell in one, you may be able to describe to your neighbor the method of its construction; but as to the style of architecture it is yet without a technical name. A quilt suffices for a heavy door and a twine fastening for a creaking hinge; and we doubt not there are as many happy hearts in these humble homes as are usually found in more pretentious dwellings. In many instances the horses stand tied to wagons, without even a tree for a shelter, and where stables for horses have been provided, they are of the same material as the houses—sod. A large quantity of the rank grass that grows along the river bottom and upon the large prairie was cut and matured for hay during the summer. Men, women and children are now busily engaged twisting the hay into ropes and racking the same as though it were wood. Our informant says the hay thus prepared imparts an intense heat, and that a stove full burns longer than would hardly be credited. The rosin weed, found in those parts in large quantities, burns like tinder, when dry, and leaves a coal like that from wood. Thus fixed in their cozy hovels surrounded by large quantities of twisted hay for fuel, these homesteaders will pass the winter, having provided sufficient provision for their own sustenance and provender for their stock. "This," you will say, "is pioneering or homesteading it with a vengeance," but be it remembered that, to people of such perseverance as that manifested, is due the settlement of the vast territory west of the Alleghenies, and the development of the latent wealth consequent upon that settlement.

Board of education—The blackboard.

Newspaper Gossip.

A New York letter says: Everybody knows that the Herald is the most profitable newspaper in the city, clearing about $500,000—a price few persons would be willing to give, and which the owner would not be tempted to take. A newspaper is such a very delicate piece of property. While a certain kind of management renders it extremely prosperous, another kind, that might seem even better, would ruin it. I have often heard speculated upon what might be the effect of printing the Herald in choice English; and the opinion generally entertained has been that such an unheard-of departure would prove disastrous. To make the Tribune like the Herald, or even like the World in tone and style, would be to deplete its exchequer; and to convert the Journal of Commerce into a genuine newspaper, would, doubtless, consign it to the tomb of the Capulets.

A journal is an educator either for good or ill—very often, I am afraid, for ill—and no alteration from its past can be undertaken without great peril. People get so accustomed to a daily or weekly that they consider any sort of change a deterioration. If it be bad, they like its badness as much as they would its excellence—just as those in the habit of smoking vile cigars are made ill by the best of Havanas. This is the reason why new papers have so hard a struggle. Meritorious as they may be, a long time is required by the public to discover their merit; and then it must be duly instructed in the principles with which they set out, in their mode of thought, and even in their manner of expression. The name of an established journal is, probably, worth more than anything else; but the name must be kept in harmony with its antecedents, or it will be of little avail.

The fashion of the time is to make the daily press what is called sensational; and yet sensation can scarcely be considered renumerative in the long run. There are two or three sensational dailies here (I prefer not to name them), which were quite prosperous for a while, but which now, I understand, have materially fallen off, both in circulation and advertising.

The two most profitable journals in town, after the Herald, are the most conservative—the Journal of Commerce and the Evening Post. It costs next to nothing to publish the first, and the expenses of the latter are comparatively very small. Still, both of them manage to clear, on an average, as much as $150,000 per annum—and this with a slender circulation, and very little of the fame so much coveted by journalists of the present day. Whatever the quality of their editing, their dividends are so extremely satisfactory that I have never known any of the stockholders to object in the slightest thereto.

Is not this one of the strongest (because financial) arguments against sensational journalism?

The Center of Gravity of the Population.

Gen. Garfield writes as follows to the New York Nation:

I notice an article in the Nation of November 21, entitled "A Sectional Review of the Late Canvass," in which this sentence occurs: "The center of gravity of this population has not, we believe, crossed the great Appalachian chain."

I think you are in error. I had occasion to consider that question a year since, and at my request Prof. Hilgard, of the Coast Survey, made a series of calculations to ascertain the center of gravity of the population, as shown by each of the last four years censuses. He supposes a plane of the exact shape and size of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, loaded with the actual population, and ascertains the point on which it would balance.

By this process he found that, in 1840, the center of gravity of the population was at a point in Virginia near the eastern foot of the Appalachian chain, and near the parallel of 39 deg. north latitude.

In 1850 this center had moved westward fifty-seven miles across the mountains, to a point nearly south of Parkersburg, Va.

In 1860 it had moved westward eighty-two miles, to a point nearly south of Chillicothe, Ohio.

In 1870 it had reached a point near Wilmington, Clinton county, Ohio, about forty-five miles northeast of Cincinnati.

In no case had it widely departed from the 39th parallel.

If the same rate be maintained during the next three decades, which I doubt, it will fall in the neighborhood of Bloomington, Ind., by 1900.

Prof. Hilgard also found that a line drawn from Lake Erie, at the northeastern corner of Ohio to Pensacola, in Florida, would divide the population of the United States, as it stood in 1870, into two equal parts. This line is nearly parallel to the line of the Atlantic coast.

From these calculations it will appear that both the "center of gravity" and the line that divides the population in half are more than 150 miles west of the Appalachian chain.

Very truly yours,
J. A. Garfield.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1872.

Boston's Affliction.

Boston is suffering from the worst epidemic of small-pox that has ever been known in Massachusetts. There are now 3,000 cases of the disease reported to the authorities. Before vaccination was known, there were, in 1700, according to Cotton Mather, 1,200 fatal cases in one year, but now small-pox patients, notwithstanding all the aids of modern skill, are dying at the rate of 3,000 a year, or 60 a week. The mortality reaches the frightful proportion of one death in every four cases, which is worse than even the small-pox pestilence of 1816 in Europe. The sudden spread of the disease is attributed, in Massachusetts, to the repeal of the "head money tax," which has thrown the State open to Canadian immigration, which brings the infection with it. In the nine months which have passed since this repeal, there have been more deaths from small-pox in Boston than in the whole State in the preceding six years.

Stanley's photographs sell in London for a shilling at the book stores, while that of the long lost Livingstone only brings half that amount.

Bismarck's Fall.

I have advices from Berlin, from a source in which I have great confidence, to the effect that the resignation of Prince Bismarck means nothing less than that the great Chancellor has received a very heavy check and defeat. I am assured that the report that the defeat and check is due to the absence, through illness, of the Crown Prince is entirely false. This report makes it out that the Crown Prince is the especial friend and supporter of the Chancellor; but I am told that so far from this being the case, the truth is that his Imperial Highness agrees with his mother, his wife, and the other members of the family in viewing with alarm the conflict with the Catholic church which Bismarck has urged on, and in desiring to wean the Emperor from his submission to Bismarck's will. In this they have now succeeded, says my informant, and it is probable that the fight with the church will now be quietly abandoned.

Bismarck attempted to make the Prussian Cabinet entirely subservient to himself—but this did not suit the other ministers nor the King either; and when Bismarck, suddenly recovering from his pretended illness when he saw his scheme for swamping the House of Peers defeated, hastened to Berlin and tried to make the Emperor see through his spectacles, he found himself too late. The court, the Empress, the Crown Princess, the King's old friends, the other ministers and the King's own judgment were all against him. They all saw that his policy would inalienate from the throne the nobility, the gentry, the clergy, Lutheran as well as Catholic, and all the conservative interests in the Kingdom; and the old Emperor put down his foot and said he would go no further in the path that Bismarck had marked out for him.

The Chancellor then offered to resign. "He did not believe that the Emperor would accept it," says my informant; "he believed that the Emperor would become alarmed, and beg him to retain his office at any price. But the old man went out of the room for a few moments and consulted with Augusta, who was in an adjoining chamber, and when he came back his mind was quite made up. Bismarck might go—his health was not strong enough to enable him to bear the double burden of the Empire and the Kingdom; he had better be relieved from the work of taking care of Prussia, and give himself rest for a while." You will see how important and significant is this view of the case.—London Cor. New York World.

Chinese Servants a Failure.

Olive Harper, of the St. Louis Globe, says:

Chinese as servants are a failure. You cannot make them understand you entirely, and, in spite of all your teachings, though he may make your kitchen clean as possible for it to be, he will, nevertheless, surprise you some day by washing in the bread-pan or drying his head with your damask table-linen. He also has his own peculiar manner of doing all things, and he sprinkles the linen he is to iron by taking his mouth full of water and blowing it over the cloth, dampening it very evenly. We can stand that, even though it be towels and napkins, but we naturally object when he takes a mouthful of pudding sauce and spilters that all over your pudding. Then, too, they have a playful habit of picking up unconsidered trifles and hiding them away, and all the while wearing the most placid of smiles and innocent of looks; besides, they sometimes take a hatchet and chop you up a little if they think you have money. About a year ago Mr. Sauffly, in Oakland, let his cook know that he had $5,000 in the house, and that night said cook, with another Chinaman, went in and chopped Mr. and Mrs. Sauffly up pretty well—left both for dead, took the money, buried it, and the next morning the cook was at his post of duty. That cook looked as if he had been brought up to attend Sunday school regularly all his life. He now luxuriates at San Quentin for the rest of his days. So you can see something of what very valuable servants they become.

How Much the Hog Weighed.

A bluff looking man, in a farmer's work-day costume, entered a railway car at a way station. The car was well filled, all the seats being occupied but one, which was half filled by a finely dressed exquisite. The farmer, seeing his only chance for a seat, asked the exquisite if tother half of that seat was "took." Receiving a negative answer, he responded: "Waal, then, I reckon I'll squat."

Like most of our hardy yeomanry, he was inclined to be sociable.

"Snug winter morning," said he.

No response.

"Shouldn't wonder if we had some more snow afore night."

Still no response from exquisite, who looked out of the rear window, evidently much annoyed.

After several futile attempts to elicit some reply, the farmer gave a yawn, and quietly remarked, "Killed a hog yesterday; bet you can't guess how much he weighed?"

Driven almost to desperation, the poor fellow said tartly:

"Four hundred pounds."

Yawning again—"No, didn't weigh that."

"Well, three hundred and fifty, then."

Another yawn—"No, didn't weigh three and a half."

Very impatiently—"Three hundred."

Yawning still—"No, not that much."

Almost ready to explode—"How much did your old hog weigh, anyhow?"

"Waal, he wa'n't much of a hog, and I didn't weigh him."

The Iron Product.

The following table shows the comparative production of iron in the United States for the years 1850 and 1860:

States.	Tons of Ore Mined. 1850.	Tons of Ore Mined. 1860.	Tons of Pig Iron. 1850.	Tons of Pig Iron. 1860.
New Hampshire	5,000	1,000	200	8,224
Vermont	7,676	4,500	320
Massachusetts	27,900	35,000	12,287	12,700
Connecticut	35,450	20,700	13,420	11,000
New York	66,365	176,875	23,022	68,145
Pennsylvania	877,283	1,706,476	285,702	553,560
New Jersey	51,266	57,800	24,631	29,048
Maryland	99,860	78,200	43,641	39,500
Ohio	140,610	228,794	52,658	94,647
Indiana	5,200		1,860	375
Michigan	2,700	17,909	660	10,400
Wisconsin	3,000	4,500	1,000	2,000
Missouri	37,900	42,000	19,259	22,000
Kentucky	72,010	73,600	24,245	23,362
Virginia	67,319	23,217	22,163	9,096
Tennessee	66,810	68,220	30,420	18,417
Total	1,563,066	2,514,282	555,469	884,474

Lilian Edgarton says education will cure gossip.

Personal.

Stokes suffers from nervous debility.

Fighting Joe Hooker is visiting the Tennessee coal fields.

Joe Jefferson's four nights in Baltimore produced $6,500.

A black and white man practice law together in Columbia, S. C.

Beecher's pews rent for more than sixty thousand dollars this year.

Amos R. Eno, proprietor of the New York Fifth Avenue Theater, is worth $4,000,000.

Gen. John C. [illegible] has gone into the manufacture of improved railroad cars at Erie, Pa.

Senator Wilson is working on the second volume of his "History of the Slave Power in America," which will be issued next fall.

Le Messager, a French paper in New York, determined to speak only good of the dead, says that the ex-Emperor was a good comedian.

Mrs. ex-President Tyler has become a resident of Georgetown, D. C. To gratify her children she will purchase her husband's old estate in Virginia.

It is said that the White Star Steamship Company offers to bring Sergeant Bates back to this countryfor nothing. It is a "blarsted" British corporation.

Howard Glyndon—Laura C. Redden—a frequent contributor to the periodicals of the day, writes under several disadvantages, being partially deaf and blind.

Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, is in litigation. Its last owner bequeathed it to the United States for charitable purposes, but the will is contested.

Joaquin Miller, now in the city of London, is hard at work preparing a new poem for publication, though it will not be issued for many months. It is written in the Spencerian measure, and was mostly dashed off in the Sierras and on the plains. He is giving it a careful revisal.

We are afraid our English visitors will not retain pleasant recollections of this country. Tyndall was robbed of his valise and money, Miss Emily Faithfull ditto, Mr. Lee was nearly assassinated, and a "gutter-snipe" tried to spit tobacco juice on Froude's patent-leathers just as he was going on board the steamer.

Philadelphia editors are not very poor in pocket, for it is said that George W. Childs, of the Ledger, is worth $3,000,000; Wm. M. Swain, of the Record, $2,000,000; John W. Forney, of the Press, $2,000,000; Morton McMichael, of the North American, $150,000; John H. Taggart, of the Times, $75,000; William W. Harding, of the Inquirer, $300,000; E. W. C. Greene, of the Transcript, $50,000; E. J. Hicken, of the Dispatch, $100,000; Dennis F. Dealey, of the Herald, $75,000; William Meeser, of the Mercury, $60,000.

Bad Break of a Frenchman.

The following conversation, supposed to be reported verbatim et literatim, will give an idea how perplexing our use of prepositions with verbs is to foreigners:

"I begin to understand your language better," said a Frenchman to his friend; "but your verbs trouble me still, you mix things up so with your prepositions. I saw your friend, Mrs. James, just now," continued he; "she says she intended to break down housekeeping. Am I right there?"

"Break up housekeeping, she must have said."

"Yes, I remember—break up housekeeping."

"Why does she do that?" inquired the listener.

"Because her health is so broken into."

"Broken down, you must say."

"Broken down—oh yes. And, indeed, since the small-pox is broken up in your city—"

"Broken out, you mean."

"She thinks she will leave it for a few weeks."

"Indeed! And will she close her house?"

"No; she is afraid it will be broken—broken—how do I say that?"

"Broken into."

"Certainly; it is what I meant to say."

"Is her son to be married soon?"

"No; that engagement is broken—broken—"

"Broken off."

"Ah! I had not heard that. She is very sorry about it. Her son only broke the news to her last week. Am I right?—I am so anxious to speak the English well."

"He merely broke the news; no preposition this time."

"It is hard to understand. That young man, her son, is a fine fellow—a breaker, I think."

"A broker, and a very fine fellow. Good day."

Weeping for a Brave Pole.

The young ladies of Savannah are smart. One of 'em told me her father didn't keep any horses, but—

Says she, "He's a going to."

Says I, "Ah! when?"

Says she, "When gold gets to par."

I went to walk with her. Her father keeps a corner grocery in the middle of a block, and she showed it to me, and I had a chat with the old man. Then the young lady showed me the town, and,

Says she, "There's where Pulaski fell."

Says I, "Pulaski was a brave man."

Says she, "He was indeed."

Says I, "It wasn't strange that he fell, though."

Says she, "Why?"

Says I, "Because he was a Pole, and it's nothing strange that a pole should fall."

Her eyes lit up with patriotic fire, and,

Says she, "Sir, he was a Pole. He was a liberty pole."

Then we both stood there, and cried like everything, and then I took her home.—John, in New York Sun.

The English have some curious laws. A London whisky-seller lately refused to sell a man a drink, and the man went off and cut his throat. The saloon-keeper is now under arrest as responsible for the death.

THE BUFFALO.

HOW THEY CHASE HIM OVER THE PLAINS IN KANSAS.

The ordinary weight of a full-grown bull buffalo is about 1,500 or 1,600 pounds. They do not, however, yield the same proportion of available meat as the tame bovine, their skins being heavier, bones larger, and forequarters more massive and weighty. I have seen bulls, old fellows with horns full of wrinkles, that would incline the scale at nearly 2,500 pounds, but they were unusually large, and could readily be distinguished in a large herd.

The buffalo are now rapidly moving south for the warmer airs of Texas and Arkansas. In consequence the Wichita market is doing but little shipping compared with what was done six weeks ago. About that time I remember noticing a piece of ground containing over six acres covered with layers of dry hides awaiting shipment. These were all brought in by the townspeople and a few neighboring homesteaders. By the first of May the hunting season will open again. As the weather in this part of the State is most delightful at that season of the year, a great rush of pleasure parties is expected. The railroads will accordingly get up excursions to the buffalo grounds from all parts of the east at a real trifling expense to the excursionist. Hunting of course can be made as expensive as one may please. It depends entirely on the definition the hunter may put on the words "necessities" and "luxuries." A party of ten persons with moderate means, making Wichita a starting point, can obtain a full outfit, arms, ammunition, provisions, bedding, wagons, saddle-horses, and all at an expense to the party of not over $30 per day, or say $920 for a five day's trip. And each one of the party will have time enough to get as tired and rugged as he may please. He can experience the stirring excitement of a chase on horseback, and again, crawling on his hands and knees almost into the midst of an unsuspecting herd. The arms most in use are needle-guns and Spencer rifles: The former are to be preferred for "still" hunting, on account of their long range and heavy ball and the latter for hunting on horseback because of their holding several cartridges at once, and being handled.

It was my good fortune the other day to witness the passage of a heard of buffaloes larger, perhaps, than any seen for years past in Kansas. I was then on my way to the "front," that is to the extreme western end of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. As a construction train carried is, consisting of nothing but flat cars, we had a pefect view of all sides. The prairie was perfectly level, and our elevated position on the the piles of lumber and boxes, with which the car was loaded, enabled us to see the slightest moving object for miles around. We had gradually been nearing what at first seemed to be nothing but a long wavy, black line moving in a southerly direction, but as the miles flew rapidly by—for we had made a late start and were making up time—it assumed more distinct proportions and finally took the shape of an immense drove of buffalo packed together in so dense a mass that their gate was no faster than that of a man walking leisurely along.

Approaching to within one hundred yards of the flank of the column the engine whistled "down brakes" and we stopped. A few old bulls, the flankers of the herd, glared savagely at us as we moved slowly by them. One huge fellow with a monstrous head nearly hidden under masses of thick, sandy matted hair, we thought would charge us. His tail curled like that of a pig. He savagely pawed the ground and, with head lowered, finally moved toward the locomotive. The engineer, always ready for a little fun, purposely closed the steam pipes so that no sound could be heard. Suddenly, when the shaggy monster drew himself up as if to select the exact point for the attack, the valves were opened to their fullest extent, the whistle sent forth a most unearthly screech, the bell violently rung, and a cloud of smoke went up through the smoke-stack. The effect was indiscribable. Down went the buffalo on his haunches, literally scared off his feet, and into such a maze of bewilderment did he seem to have been thrown that before he could recover himself one of the track-layers had time to approach sufficiently near to give him a fatal shot. A great many buffaloes were killed during the hour it took the herd to pass. It was only necessary to fire a gun in the direction of the mass to secure a victim, for if not killed outright the wounded victim was quickly trampled under foot by his myriad companions. How many buffaloes passed over the line of rail in this herd it was impossible to estimate. The herd itself was at least ten miles long and two wide, and must have numbered millions.

* * *

Many years ago, Governor Dix of New York attempted to publish a newspaper in New Albany, but found that he could'nt do it, and, after sinking five thousand dollars, gave up the enterprise.

* * *

A machine is now in operation in Philadelphia, which turns out three thousand complete match boxes per hour.

Just Like Human Nature.

A certain deacon was very much interested in a revival that was taking place in the neighborhood. He had frequently importuned an old neighbor of his—who was not particularly noted for his profession of religion, but was nevertheless highly respected by all who knew him—to attend one of their evening meetings. Now the piety and honesty of the deacon, was a matter of doubt, among his fellow townsmen and particularly so, with the old man above mentioned, who, for convenience we will call Uncle Josh.

After repeated calls, Uncle Josh consented to accompany the deacon to one of the meetings, much to the surprise of all present. In the course of the evening the deacon arose with a penitential countenance, to tell his experience. He was the prince of sinners, he said. If he got his deserts he would be banished forever from divine favor. After making himself out all that is vile in man, according to his interpretation of, "he that humbleth himself shall be exalted," he sat down with the sublime sense of having done his duty, and asked Uncle Josh if he would'nt tell his experience. With some little reluctance, he meekly arose, amid the breathless attention of the assembly. It was an unknown occurrence for Uncle Josh to speak in meeting.—He said he had listened with great interest to the remarks of the deacon, and he could assure the brethren that from his long acquaintance with him, he could fully endorse all the deacon had said concerning his meanness and vileness for he was certainly the meanest man he ever knew. The wrath of the deacon was terific. He shook his fist under Uncle Josh's nose, and exclaimed:

"You're a confounded liar, and I'll whip you as soon as you get out of church."

A Sea Captain Meets two Sea Serpents.

Captain White of the Sea Serpent, which arrived in New York on Saturday, from Hong Kong, China, 99 days out, says:

'While on the outward passage from Sanfrancisco to Newcastle, New South Wales, on the afternoon of May fifth, when in latitude 29 deg. 38 min. south longitude 178 deg. 45 min. east, my attention was attracted to the cries of the seamen on the foretopsail yard who asked me to look over the side of the vessel at the 'monster.' On looking, I saw a large seaserpent passing within six feet of the ship's quarter. I called the entire crew on deck to witness the sight. When the serpent was some fifteen or twenty feet astern, he lifted his head out of the water opened his mouth and looked around after the ship in surprise, as though he had just awakened out of a sound sleep. As near as I could judge, he must have been at least fifty feet long and two feet in diameter. He was a deep brown color with a few black spots. Less than five minutes after, another of the same species passed on the other side of the ship, within 15 feet of us. It was coiled up, and seemed to be sleeping. It was about the same size as the other. The distance from the poop to the water is 18 feet. The weather was fine and all on board saw the sight.

The captain said that five years ago he saw a sea ser pent when near Juan Fernandez, which passed across the stern of his ship.

* * *

A darkey in Kansas City, named Pete Maybery—called Hannibal Cæsar for short—with his son, Henry Clay, went to the woods one day, last week to look after some rabbit traps they had set. While at work the fierce barking of the dog caused Henry Clay to cast his eyes heavenward, and he immediately sang out "possum, dad." Closer inspection showed a pair of glittering eyes glaring down upon them from the tree, which was prium facie evidence of the existance of the darkey's delight. Henry Clay at once stationed himself at the foot of the tree, ax in hand, ready to finish the enemy, while Hannible Cæsar retired a short distance, and took careful aim with an old blunderbuss, and presently down came the hammer, and shortly after the gun went off, and so likewise did Hannibal Cæsar, who for a few minutes gave as fine specimen of ground and lofty tumbling, as could be expected with a shoulder out of joint.—Meanwhile the vermint came down from the tree with a yell, and proved to be a mad cat, landing with a lung, plump on the top of Henry Clay's devoted head. In less than a minute, the place where the wool ought to grow was as bare as the cliffs of Dover and Henry Clay, with his heart full of agony and his mouth full of fur, struck right and left with his legs and arms, like a hurricane. The mongrel dog now set in, and the battle became general all along the line. Mistaken Henry Clay's revolving pedal extremities, as the primal cause of all the yells and commotion, he grabbed at a bell that waved over the scene of conflict, like the black flag in the sea fight preceded to chaw and tussle, and pull, with a zeal that in a short time promised to swallow Henry Clay bodily.—In the mean time, Hannible Cœsar, having got through with his circus preformance, seeing he had barked up the wrong tree, started off with the rapidity of a railroad train, and the noise of a steamboat whistle. This started the wildcat, and he left the scene, hissing and spitting and careening over the ground like a runaway Fire extinguisher.

THE
New York Store!
Until Feb. 1st.
ROOT & Co.,
Will offer the entire balance of their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of
DRY GOODS!
AT A
Great Reduction!
In Price.
EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!
Reduced Prices On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices On rich winter dress goods
Reduced Prices On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices On fine woolen SKIRTS.
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
IN EVERY DEPARTMENT
Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and Secure a Bargain!
ROOT & CO'S
Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.
FORT WAYNE IND.

Pianos
AND ORGAN
WATCHES and JEWELRY!
Silver and Plated Ware,
Spectacles and gold pens,
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated
JEWELRY
Fancy Toilet Sets,
Opera guard & vest chains,
AT
ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!
Also a full line of toys for
THE HOLIDAYS!
CLOCKS
Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,
Piano, Organ,
and all kinds of
Instruction Books!
Watches & Clocks,
Abright & Shepherd

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
etailed AT Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

THE PIONEER
STROE!
HARDWARE!
FOR EVERYBODY!
Reapers & Mowers
FOR EVERYBODY!
PLOWS
FOR EVERYBODY!
STOVES
FOR EVERYBODY!
Building Material for Everybody!
Go to
JOHN L. DAVIS,
IN THE BRICK BLOCK.

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held, regularly from August 16, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO,

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN.

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 1 o'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law as the special License cannot be given. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Teachers do not commence their school without license. [illegible] BARNS, Exam'r.

If You Want
Early BreakfasT
GREENBACK,
Young America, Native, or a Cooking Stove with Reservoir or without, with Low or Elevated Oven, Heating stoves for wood or coal, or a stove of any description
CALL ON
BRANDRIFF, PRESCOTT and CO.
DEALERS IN
Builders Hardware,
Of the finest quality.
Doors, Sash, Blinds, Glass, At reduced Prices.
Leather, Rubber Belting, Packing, Circular and Cross Cut Saws, Mechanics Tools.
Heavy Hardware,
Carriage Makers' Stock, &c.

McDOUGAL'S
CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

DRY GOODS
G. O. DeWALD & CO.
WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS
IN
Dry Goods or Notions,
CALL AT THE STORE OF
Geo. DeWald & Co.,
No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WAYNE.
Where can be found a large assortment of
STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS
which will be sold LOW for cash.
ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET
The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introduce, we are offering
ONE DOLLAR
THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

WISHART
PINE TREE!
Tar Cordial,
NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY
FOR
Throat and Lungs.
☞ ☞ ☞
It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs disease, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—
First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.
Second. It removes the cause of irritation, of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood.
Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.
NOTICE
The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,
GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,
AND
Worm Sugar Drops!
Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.
HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.
FREE OF CHARGE.
Dr. Q. C. Wishart's Office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee, with him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.
All letters must be addressed to
☞ ☞ ☞ ☞
L. Q. C. Wishart, M.D
No. [illegible] N. SECOND STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

NOTICE TO Contractors

Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago R. R.

ENGINEER'S OFFICE B. & O. R. R.,
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10, 1872

Proposals will be received until the 1st day of February next, at Camden Station, Baltimore. Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masonry and Cross Ties of the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, from Defiance to Walkerton, Ind., on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago Railway, 120 sections, of one mile each.

Plans, profiles and specifications can be seen at Defiance, for the line between Defiance and Syracuse, 73 miles, and at Laporte for the line between Syracuse, and Walkertown, 47 miles.

Proposals for cross ties will state price for each kind of timber, and number of each kind proposed for.

Payments monthly in cash, retaining 20 per cent as security for completion.

The Company retains the right to reject any and all proposals.
JAMES L. RANDOLPH,
Chief Engineer, Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!
LIFE
Insurance Company,
OF
Providence, Rhode Island!
Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a
Home Company!
Inasmuch as the
ENTIRE NET RECEIPTS!
Of Indiana, are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.
The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.
Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
A. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. T. LEDDERMAN
No 27, E. Main Street,
FORT WAYNE IND.
Has the largest and finest stock of
CLOTHS,
Coatings, Cheviots, and
[illegible]
CASSIMERES!
IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of
Made up Clothing!
Ever shown in Fort Wayne
Youths' and Children's Clothing!
Furnishing Goods, etc.
Merchant Tailoring
In all the late styles, properly attended to. [illegible]

ORGANS.
The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition. I make the
ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN
a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county.
Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.
Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.
For the present and until further notice, [illegible] at Godern's Gallery.
GEO. H. HOFFMAN.
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1872.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER
DOORS, BLINDS
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Ballusters and Brackets
North of Canal West of Gas House,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby
SHOEMAKER.
Auburn, Indiana.
Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swineford's hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. All work in his line [illegible].

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, February 13, 1873. No. 7.

Auburn Courier
Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year......$2 00
Six Months......1 00
Three Months......50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY
Attorneysat Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House. Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, office, first door to the right, Unio. Hall, over Hare' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. No. 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent Home Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Morris, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. Jas. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description. Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.
LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS,
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keyst eBlock,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK
BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.
Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston, are enabled to visit the cities of BALTIMORE, PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK & BOSTON.
At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificent day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.
L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent.
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianaplis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 28
Waterloo	10 33		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 53		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 45	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 am	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3.02	8 32
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 48		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 18		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P M	,28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,00 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crest- ar	9,20 "	4,22 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line lv	9,40 "	5,00 A. M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,45 "	2,35 P. M	2,65 "	4,05 "
Chicago	7,50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC, E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M,	5,30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	3,55 "	12,50 A. M
Ft. Wayne	12,10 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4,07 "	1,18 A. M.	5,15 "
Forest	4,00 "	5,08 "	2,27 "	6,28 "
Crest- ar	5,35 "	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	11,30 A M	6,50 "	4,15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,15 "	[illegible] "	[illegible] "
Orville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,06 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	8,25 "	1,10 P. M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A M,	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,

AND

DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS

RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 2sth, 1872. trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 00p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 38	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 42	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 18a.m	1 52	11 15
Deaver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Deaver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 38 p.m	5 50
Waterloo	4 43	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 45	1 03	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Bankers	7 08	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Corunna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connorsville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 28	7 38
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve	12 30 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 36	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 00
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WORTHINGTON, Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLE!
F. D. RYN Pro
Having on hand everything in the line of
Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc
ogether with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patrogage of the public romising to use mybest endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.
PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!
AND
EATING HOUSE
Fresh baked Pies. Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.
BAKER BROS.

THE
EAGLE MILLS.
UBUR, IN A.
Having effected new arrangements for the accommetion of the public, we are now prepared to modaet all demands made upon us in the way of
CUSTOM WORK!
We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.
Mill Feed
kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for
WHEAT!
THOMAS & ELSON

MR. G. KLOTS
Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his
Old Stand
ON MAN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA
Where he may be found at all times ready to accon modate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,
FOR ASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!
as he has concluded not to do any more
Credit Business

Sutermeister,
Becker & Bond,
ACHITET S
BUILDING
CONTRACTORS,
AND DEALERS IN Building Stone
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
GRANITE.
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,
Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF
HardwareE,
NAILS. GLASS & PUTTY.
QUEENSWARE!
Willow-ware, Glass-ware,
Choice Groceries & Provisions!
AT
MARTIN & SONS,
Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

Deaf as a fish may hereafter be used instead of 'deaf as an adder,' by those who regard the latter comparison as hack neyed. Seth Green, who is largely engaged in pisciculture under the auspices of the State of New York, says that fish can not hear, but are very sensitive through the sense of feeling to any concussion in the water about them.

* * *

We regret to have to chronicle the decease of Thomas Nast, the great political caricaturist, of Bavaria. We know he must be dead, for otherwise his 'manner-painting' pencil would just now be busy at Washington. Everybody remembers how he tore the disguise from the New York theives, and showed them up for the true carrion birds they were. Also how he exposed the plot of Greeley, Schurz, Sumner and the rest to get possession of the Government and re-enslave the negroes. But what were these as subjects for his art compared to the recent scenes in Washington—the unmasking of life-lifed hypocrites—the public auction of the United States Senatorships—the revelations of the inner workings of the Credit Mobilier Ring? Surely if Nast were alive, in the interests of 'civilization,' of which Harper's Weekly is the organ, he would be reading the moreal harvest of this teeming field? But not a stroke of his crayon has indicated even the existence of the great political scandal of the century. He must be dead.—Buffalo Courier.

* * *

Rolled to Death.

A parallel to the terrible accident that happened at St. Louis the other day—when a man was dragged through the rolls of a mill, is given by the Pittsburgh Dispatch. It occurred in a rolling mill in West Pittsburgh. A boy named James Welsh, was employed as a helper on the heavy rolls used for pressing the iron into flat bars. His turn was up at three oclock and he was preparing to go home. It was his duty, however, before he left to uncouple the roll, and being in a hurry he attempted to do so before the engine was stopped. His pants were caught in the machinery, and in an instant he was drawn through the rolls feet foremost and flung out on the opposite side a lifeless mass of flesh and bones, crushed almost flat. The space through which his body passed was only five inches, and it can be easily imagined how fearfully crushed and mangled it must have been. The skull was broken like an egg shell, and the brains scattered about the floor.—Deceased was eleven years of age a good industrious boy, and the only son of his parents. His father worked in the same mill, and it might almost be said that the lad was killed before his eyes.

* * *

BE HAPPY NOW.—How old are you? Twenty-five? Thirty? Are you happy to day? Were you happy yesterday? If so you have a reason to judge that you will by happy by and by. Are you so busy that you have no time to be happy? and are you going to be happy when you are old, and you have not much to do? No, you will not. You have a specimen of what you will be when you are old.—Look in the face of to-day. That is about the average. That will tell you what you are going to be. What you are carrying along with you is what you will have by and by. If you are so conducting yourself that you have peace with your conscience and with your fellow-men and with your faculties, if every day you insist that duty shall make you happy, and you take as much time as is needful for the culture of your social faculties, you will not be exhausting life, and it will be continually replenished. But if you are saving everything up till you get to be an old man, Health will stand like a tyrant, and say: You would not enjoy yourself before, and you shall not now. How many men there are who have labored to make money that they might be happy by and by; but who when they got to be fifty or sixty years old, had used up all the enjoyable nerve that was in them. During their early life they carried toil and economy and frugality to the excess of stinginess, and when the time came that they expected joy there was no joy for them.

* * *

On Sunday night Mr. Hiram Brockman, a brakeman on the G. R. & I. Railroad, who resides in the Eight Ward, met with an accident at Lima, in Steuben county, a few miles from this city, which resulted in his death on Monday. A rail broke and he attempted to jump out, when he was thrown violently against a pile of wood, fracturing his skull. He leaves a wife and children.

* * *

Twenty-four per cent. is what it costs to 'raise the wind' in Kansas City, and money is hard to find even at that rate.

* * *

Three diamonds in a row have supersed ed the solitaire as an engagement ring.

Indiana Items.

Small pox is reported to have broken out in the State Prison South.—

The game laws of the State are now in force. Sportsmen make a note of it.

Work on the government buildings in Evansville will commence in the spring

The effect of the late cold weather upon the country's fruit crop now agitates the mind of the anxious farmer.

A careful estimate places the value of buildings erected and improvements made at South Bend in 1872 at a trifle over $1,100,000.

A colored barber at Marion, says he once served as waiter at the Spencer House, Cincinnati, with Pinchback, the would-be Senator from Louisiana.

The Ladies' Christian Association, of Logansport, have undertaken theatricals as a financial enterprise. Of course it will be in order for all to attend such a theater.

A woman near Ashland informed her docter her arm was broken between the pig pen and the chicken coop. He hunted through his books two days to find what those terms meant.

The Laporte water works raise and distribute over the city about one million gallons of water per day—every 24 hours. The amount of coal used is about 2,500 pounds per diem costing $7, delivered at the works.

The South Bend Tribune says: The Milburn Wagon Company refused one order last week for 5,000 wagons, to be delivered in nine months. They have just completed a contract for $210,000 with a Southern house.

A certain man in this State, whose wife has bore him twelve sons and fifteen daughters, wants to know if such conduct on the part of his wife isn't sufficient ground for a divorce.

Laporte has had sleighing since Thanksgiving Day, in November last.

W. H. Morris, manager of the Morris Comedy Company, ran away from Evansville Monday, leaving a wife and several unpaid creditors.

A madison man got vaccinated on the nose by opening a boil thereon with a knife which a physician had used in vaccinating another party.

Josephus Collett owns the largest American pearl in this country. It was found in a muscle shell of the Wabash River.—It is as big as a good sized marble.

There can be no doubt but that a gang of burglars are operating extensively in this State. From various come reports of county safes being broken into and robbed, while stores, shops, &c., are entered almost nightly by these vagabond rascals Valuables of all kinds can not be too safely stowed away.

A grand temperance convention will be held in New Albany on the 26th and 27th of February, at which delegates from the temperance organizations of Floyd, Clark, Scott, Jennings, Jefferson, Harrison, Washington and Crawford counties, this State will be present. Invitations have been extended to Kentucky lodges to attend.

The Fort Wayne Gazette of Wednesday says:

Mother Goose not a Myth.

Mr. Wm. L. Stone, of New York city, writes as follows to the Providence Journal:

In the January number of the Braunonian appears a well written and interesting paper entitled "Mother Goose's Melodies" In the first paragraph is this sentence:—'Here the traditional bard is Mother Goose, of whom nothing certain is known But more than the name history does not reveal. In this statement, however, the writer is in error: for, so far from Mother Goose being a creature of fancy, she was, we beg to assure him, a veritable personage.

The mother-in-law of Thomas Fleet, was editor in 1871, of the Boston Weekly Rehearsal, was none other than the original Mother Goose—the Mother Goose of the world famous melodies. Mother Goose belonged to a wealthy family in Boston, where her eldest daughter Elizabeth Goose, was married by Cotton Mother, in 1715, to Fleet, and in due time gave birth to a son. Like most mothers-in-law in our own day, the importance of Mrs. Goose increased with the appearance of her grand child, and poor Mr. Fleet, half distracted with her endless nursery ditties finding all other means fail, tried what ridicule could effect, and actually printed a book with the title: Songs for the Nursery, or Mother Goose's Melodies for Children printed by T. Fleet, at his printing house, Pudding Lane, Boston. Price ten coppers.

Mother Goose was the mother of nineteen children, and hence we may easily trace the origin of that famous classic:

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had so many children she didn't know what to do.

The Terre Haute Express tells this story:

A farmer who came in the city yesterday reported that he found a countryman on top of a small hill in Sugar Creek tp. crying bitterly. The weeping one had a small sled to which a mule was attached by traces merely. He said he had been trying for two hours to get down the hill, and that at each time the sled had glided around to the front of the mule, and then he had to pull it up to the top. The mule looked discouraged and the man was broken-hearted.

The Laporte Herald says: A friend who has lived in this county forty-seven years, informs us that this is the severest winter experienced in this climate, since 1837. That season the snow fell on the 9th of November, and lay till the 15th of April—the voters going to the April election in sleighs. The snow was three feet deep on the 'dead level' in the woods, and in breaking the roads, the settlers used nine yoke of oxen hitched to heavy selds. In traveling, the people frequently drove over the tops of staked and double-ridered fences.

* * *

Between the sale of stock and loan of money and return of money and tearing up checks and all that sort of thing that went on between Oakes Ames and Wm. D. Kelley, the good old poland is liable to get into much the same state of mind with the old woman who traded in groceries and got involved in a complicated business transaction.

A customer came in one day and said, Old woman, what do you ask for your herring?

Three cents apiece.

I'll take one, said the customer, and the aged vender proceeded to do it up.

What do you ask for beer? said the customer as the parcel was handed him.

Three cents a glass.

On the hole said he, I'll take a glass of beer instead of the herring. So he took the beer and started to go.

Beg your pardon, said the old lady, but you haven't paid for the beer.

Paid for it. Of course not. Didn't I give you back the herring for it.

Well, but, persisted the old lady, you didn't pay for the herring?

Pay for the herring! Of course I did't I did'nt take it did I?

Well, said the old woman, after a pause in which she strove in vain to master the mathematics of it, I presume you're correct, but I wish you wouldn't trade here any more.

* * *

An old gentleman by the name of Maire died very suddenly in Warsaw, on Sunday morning. He had called to his son, a small boy, to get up and build a fire; the boy had complied, when he noticed that his father had turned over in his bed, and was groaning with pain. He went to the bed and asked him what was the matter, but the old gentleman expired before any reply was made. He was fifty-seven years old, and was in failing health for some years past.

* * *

The divorce law will be so amended the present legislature as to give these who would slip the hymenial knot a deal of trouble, compared with what it has been in this state. But seven causes are specified in the new law. These are—Abandonment [for three years], Adultery Crvelty, Drunkedness, Impotency, Failure to Provide, and Conviction of a Felony.—The bill contains a provision that the applicant must be an actual resident for three years prior to filling petition for divorce, and that any decree may be opened up and set aside, for any good and sufficient cause, within five years after its redition. It is to be hoped this bill will become a law.

THAT LAND GRAB.

The House of Representatives recently passed a bill giving to every honorable discharged soldier or sailor, who served ninety days in the late war 160 acres of land, or if deceased, to his widow or minor children. This bill sounds well: and the first thought that will occur to the reader will be one of "reward of patriotic service in the ranks of the country's defenders." But George W. Julian got at the matter, investigated it, and these were some of the results of his investigation:

1. If all entitled to the same avail themselves of the privilege, of this bill 320,000,000,000 acres of land will be required.

2. The public domain outside the Russian possession amounts to about 1,000,000,000 acres.

4. This includes swamp lands, water surfaces, mountain chains, mineral lands Indian reservations, grants to railroad corporations, &c.

4. He concludes that this 320,000,000 acres would include all the available agricultural land left, including millions of acres fit only for grazing.

Auditor's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, February 13, 1873. No. 7.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year......$2 00
Six Months......1 00
Three Months......50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY

Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,

Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.

Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,

Attorney at Law, Swinney's Block, East Main Street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.

WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,

FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. No. 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent Home Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
J. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every description. Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.

LOAG & BROWN

DENTISTS,

Over the Palace of Fashion,

Keyser Block,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston, are enabled to visit the cities of

BALTIMORE,
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificent day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, with out change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent.
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass Agent
CINCINNATI.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp.
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianoplis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 29
Waterloo	10 33		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 52		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 45	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 am	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 32
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Frement	9 08		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 18		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	4,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P M	,28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crest- ar	9,20 "	4,22 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line ...lv	9,40 "	5,00 A M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,46 "	2,36 P. M	2,65 "	4,09 "
Chicago	7,50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC, E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M.	5,30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	3,55 "	12,50 A. M
Ft. Wayne	12,20 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4,07 "	1,18 A. M.	5,15 "
Forest	4,00 "	5,08 "	2,27 "	6,28 "
Crest- ar	5,35 "	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	11,30 A M	6,50 "	4,15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,19 "	[illegible] "	[illegible] "
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,06 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	8,25 "	1,10 P. M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A M,	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,

AND

DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 24th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 00p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 38	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 18a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Deaver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 38 p.m	5 50
Waterloo	4 48	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 45	1 23	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Bankers	7 08	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Corunna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	2 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 36
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve	12 30 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 36	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WORTHINGTON, Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

together with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.

PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!

AND

EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE

EAGLE MILLS.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

Having effected new arrangements for the accommodation of the public, we are now prepared to modate all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK!

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,

Becker & Bond,

ARCHITECTS

BUILDING

CONTRACTORS,

AND DEALERS IN

Building Stone

AMERICAN AND

ITALIAN MARBLE

GRANITE,
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,

Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF

HardwareE,

NAILS, GLASS & PUTTY.

QUEENSWARE!

Willow-ware, Glass-ware,

Choice Groceries & Provisions!

AT

MARTIN & SONS,

Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

Deaf as a fish may hereafter be used instead of 'deaf as an adder,' by those who regard the latter comparison as hackneyed. Seth Green, who is largely engaged in pisciculture under the auspices of the State of New York, says that fish can not hear, but are very sensitive through the sense of feeling to any concussion in the water about them.

We regret to have to chronicle the decease of Thomas Nast, the great political caricaturist, of Bavaria. We know he must be dead, for otherwise his 'manner-painting' pencil would just now be busy at Washington. Everybody remembers how he tore the disguise from the New York theives, and showed them up for the true carrion birds they were. Also how he exposed the plot of Greeley, Schurz, Sumner and the rest to get possession of the Government and re-enslave the negroes. But what were these as subjects for his art compared to the recent scenes in Washington—the unmasking of life-lifed hypocrites—the public auction of the United States Senatorships—the revelations of the inner workings of the Credit Mobilier Ring? Surely if Nast were alive, in the interests of 'civilization,' of which Harper's Weekly is the organ, he would be reading the moreal harvest of this teeming field? But not a stroke of his crayon has indicated even the existence of the great political scandal of the century. He must be dead.—Buffalo Courier.

Rolled to Death.

A parallel to the terrible accident that happened at St. Louis the other day—when a man was dragged through the rolls of a mill, is given by the Pittsburgh Dispatch. It occurred in a rolling mill in West Pittsburgh. A boy named James Welsh, was employed as a helper on the heavy rolls used for pressing the iron into flat bars. His turn was up at three oclock and he was preparing to go home. It was his duty, however, before he left to uncouple the roll, and being in a hurry he attempted to do so before the engine was stopped. His pants were caught in the machinery, and in an instant he was drawn through the rolls feet foremost and flung out on the opposite side a lifeless mass of filesh and bones, crushed almost flat. The space through which his body passed was only five inches, and it can be easily imagined how fearfully crushed and mangled it must have been. The skull was broken like an egg shell, and the brains scattered about the floor.—Deceased was eleven years of age a good industrious boy, and the only son of his parents. His father worked in the same mill, and it might almost be said that the lad was killed before his eyes.

Be Happy Now.—How old are you? Twenty-five? Thirty? Are you happy to day? Were you happy yesterday? If so you have a reason to judge that you will by happy by and by. Are you so busy that you have no time to be happy? and are you going to be happy when you are old, and you have not much to do? No, you will not. You have a specimen of what you will be when you are old.—Look in the face of to-day. That is about the average. That will tell you what you are going to be. What you are carrying along with you is what you will have by and by. If you are so conducting yourself that you have peace with your conscience and with your fellow-men and with your faculties, if every day you insist that duty shall make you happy, and you take as much time as is needful for the culture of your social faculties, you will not be exhausting life, and it will be continually replenished. But if you are saving everything up till you get to be an old man, Health will stand like a tyrant, and say: You would not enjoy yourself before, and you shall not now. How many men there are who have labored to make money that they might be happy by and by; but who when they got to be fifty or sixty years old, had used up all the enjoyable nerve that was in them During their early life they carried toil and economy and frugality to the excess of stinginess, and when the time came that they expected joy there was no joy for them.

On Sunday night Mr. Hiram Brockman, a brakeman on the G. R. & I. Railroad, who resides in the Eight Ward, met with an accident at Lima, in Steuben county, a few miles from this city, which resulted in his death on Monday. A rail broke and he attempted to jump out, when he was thrown violently against a pile of wood, fracturing his skull. He leaves a wife and children.

Twenty-four per cent. is what it costs to 'raise the wind' in Kansas City, and money is hard to find even at that rate.

Three diamonds in a row have superseded the solitaire as an engagement ring.

Indiana Items.

Small pox is reported to have broken out in the State Prison South.

The game laws of the State are now in force. Sportsmen make a note of it.

Work on the government buildings in Evansville will commence in the spring

The effect of the late cold weather upon the country's fruit crop now agitates the mind of the anxious farmer.

A careful estimate places the value of buildings erected and improvements made at South Bend in 1872 at a trifle over $1,100,000.

A colored barber, at Marion, says he once served as waiter at the Spencer House, Cincinnati, with Pinchback, the would-be Senator from Louisiana.

The Ladies' Christian Association, of Logansport, have undertaken theatricals as a financial enterprise. Of course it will be in order for all to attend such a theater.

A woman near Ashland informed her docter her arm was broken between the pig pen and the chicken coop. He hunted through his books two days to find what those terms meant.

The Laporte water works raise and distribute over the city about one million gallons of water per day—every 24 hours. The amount of coal used is about 2,500 pounds per diem costing $7, delivered at the works.

The South Bend Tribune says: The Milburn Wagon Company refused one order last week for 5,000 wagons, to be delivered in nine months. They have just completed a contract for $210,000 with a Southern house.

A certain man in this State, whose wife has bore him twelve sons and fifteen daughters, wants to know if such conduct on the part of his wife isn't sufficient ground for a divorce.

Laporte has had sleighing since Thanksgiving Day, in November last.

W. H. Morris, manager of the Morris Comedy Company, ran away from Evansville Monday, leaving a wife and several unpaid creditors.

A madison man got vaccinated on the nose by opening a boil thereon with a knife which a physician had used in vaccinating another party.

Josephus Collett owns the largest American pearl in this country. It was found in a muscle shell of the Wabash River.—It is as big as a good sized marble.

There can be no doubt but that a gang of burglars are operating extensively in this State. From various come reports of county safes being broken into and robbed, while stores, shops, &c., are entered almost nightly by these vagabond rascals Valuables of all kinds can not be too safely stowed away.

A grand temperance convention will be held in New Albany on the 26th and 27th of February, at which delegates from the temperance organizations of Floyd, Clark, Scott, Jennings, Jefferson, Harrison, Washington and Crawford counties, this State will be present. Invitations have been extended to Kentucky lodges to attend.

The Fort Wayne Gazette of Wednesday says:

Mother Goose not a Myth.

Mr. Wm. L. Stone, of New York city. writes as follows to the Providence Journal:

In the January number of the Braunonian appears a well written and interesting paper entitled "Mother Goose's Melodies" In the first paragraph is this sentence:—'Here the traditional bard is Mother Goose, of whom nothing certain is known But more than the name history does not reveal. In this statement, however, the writer is in error: for, so far from Mother Goose being a creature of fancy, she was, we beg to assure him, a veritable personage.

The mother-in-law of Thomas Fleet, was editor in 1871, of the Boston Weekly Rehearsal, was none other than the original Mother Goose—the Mother Goose of the world famous melodies. Mother Goose belonged to a wealthy family in Boston, where her eldest daughter Elizabeth Goose, was married by Cotton Mother, in 1715, to Fleet, and in due time gave birth to a son. Like most mothers-in-law in our own day, the importance of Mrs. Goose increased with the appearance of her grand child, and poor Mr. Fleet, half distracted with her endless nursery ditties finding all other means fail, tried what ridicule could effect, and actually printed a book with the title: Songs for the Nursery, or Mother Goose's Melodies for Children printed by T. Fleet, at his printing house, Pudding Lane, Boston, Price ten coppers.

Mother Goose was the mother of nineteen children, and hence we may easily trace the origin of that famous classic:

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children she didn't know what to do."

The Terre Haute Express tells this story:

A farmer who came in the city yesterday reported that he found a countryman on top of a small hill in Sugar Creek tp. crying bitterly. The weeping one had a small sled to which a mule was attached by traces merely. He said he had been trying for two hours to get down the hill, and that at each time the sled had glided around to the front of the mule, and then he had to pull it up to the top. The mule looked discouraged and the man was broken-hearted.

The Laporte Herald says: A friend who has lived in this county forty-seven years, informs us that this is the severest winter experienced in this climate, since 1837. That season the snow fell on the 9th of November, and lay till the 15th of April—the voters going to the April election in sleighs. The snow was three feet deep on the 'dead level' in the woods, and in breaking the roads, the settlers used nine yoke of oxen hitched to heavy selds. In traveling, the people frequently drove over the tops of staked and double-ridered fences.

Between the sale of stock and loan of money and return of money and tearing up checks and all that sort of thing that went on between Oakes Ames and Wm. D. Kelley, the good old poland is liable to get into much the same state of mind with the old woman who traded in groceries and got involved in a complicated business transaction.

A customer came in one day and said, Old woman, what do you ask for your herring?

Three cents apiece.

I'll take one, said the customer, and the aged vender proceeded to do it up.

What do you ask for beer? said the customer as the parcel was handed him.

Three cents a glass.

On the hole said he, I'll take a glass of beer instead of the herring. So he took the beer and started to go.

Beg your pardon, said the old lady, but you haven't paid for the beer.

Paid for it. Of course not. Didn't I give you back the herring for it.

Well, but, persisted the old lady, you didn't pay for the herring?

Pay for the herring! Of course I did't I did'nt take it did I?

Well, said the old woman, after a pause in which she strove in vain to master the mathematics of it, I presume you're correct, but I wish you wouldn't trade here any more.

An old gentleman by the name of Mairs died very suddenly in Warsay, on Sunday morning. He had called to his son, a small boy. to get up and build a fire; the boy had complied, when he noticed that his father had turned over in his bed, and was groaning with pain. He went to the bed and asked him what was the matter, but the old gentleman expired before any reply was made. He was fifty-seven years old, and was in failing health for some years past.

The divorce law will be so amended the present legislature as to give those who would slip the hymenial knot a deal of trouble, compared with what it has been in this state. But seven causes are specified in the new law. These are—Abandonment [for three years], Adultery Crvelty, Drunkenness, Impotency, Failure to Provide, and Conviction of a Felony.—The bill contains a provision that the applicant must be an actual resident for three years prior to filling petition for divorse, and that any decree may be opened up and set aside, for any good and sufficient cause, within five years after its rendition. It is to be hoped this bill will become a law.

THAT LAND GRAB.

The House of Representatives recently passed a bill giving to every honorable discharged soldier or sailor, who served ninety days in the late war 160 acres of land, or if deceased, to his widow or minor children. This bill sounds well; and the first thought that will occur to the reader will be one of "reward of patriotic service in the ranks of the country's defenders." But George W. Julian got at the matter, investigated it, and these were some of the results of his investigation:

1. If all entitled to the same avail themselves of the privilege, of this bill 320,000,000,000 acres of land will be required.

2. The public domain outside the Russian possession amounts to about 1,000,000,000 acres.

4. This includes swamp lands, water surfaces, mountain chains, mineral lands Indian "reservations," grants to railroad corporations, &c.

4. He concludes that this 320,000,000 acres would include all the available agricultural land left, including millions of acres fit only for grazing.

BOSS BAGSHAW.

Boss Bagshaw was a cobbler,
Once livin' at Bull's Head,
[illegible]
As well as his shoe thread.

And though he sowed not what he reaped,
He ripped what he had sowed;
And almost apostolic care
For way-worn soles he showed.

The boss a doctor never was,
Though often did he heal;
And kips and calfs he dug cut up,
As for the public weal.

Though he could neither write nor read,
The shoeless were aware
That for the understanding he Did exercise a care.

No evil fortune, small or great,
Could make his spirits fall;
He even sang right merrily
When once he lost his awl.

And even to his dying day,
Of Bagshaw be it told,
He never sold a leaky boot,
Though such he oft half-soled.

Once he, from too much drink, was in
A state of lether-gy,
When thieves made booty of his shoes,
And with them they did flee.

When they came to, says he, if I
Get once upon their tracks,
For havin' stolen of my stock
They'll get shoemaker's whacks.

That afternoon one thief he ketched,
Which quickly came to grief;
For boss he went from weltin' shoes
To weltin' of the thief.

The M. P.'s ketched another one,
Makin' out of town,
And when the thief was taken up
He seemed quite taken down.

Boss plied his trade for thirty years,
Or somewhat thereabout,
For he, though long a peggin' in,
Was longer peggin' out.

But Bagshaw couldn't always live
Like cobblers in the past,
He one day from his last did go,
To come unto his last.

THE GIPSY'S WARNING.

"O Florence, you must go with me and have our fortunes told! All the girls have been and had theirs told. There are a lot of gipsies down at 'the crossing,' and Jenny Arnold says they look so romantic; and she had hers told; and they said she would fall in love with a light-haired gentleman, but she wouldn't marry him; and that her future husband had dark whiskers, and was awful rich—and O! such a lot of things! And then they told all about her brother, and how he ran away; and told her just how he looked—and so please won't you go and have them tell our fortunes?"

The speaker was a lovely girl of perhaps eighteen, with an animated face, beautiful hazel eyes, a rosebud of a mouth, long dark hair, which hung in braids far below her waist, and a form which rivaled that of Hebe.

Her cheek was slightly flushed with exercise and excitement, which added still more to her already beautiful face.

The person she addressed as Florence was a beauty of a rarer type.

A second glance at her features would disclose a mouth and chin which betokened a firm will, and eyes which, though at the time dreamily pensive, yet, when aroused, could light up with the warmest passion. She was some two years older than her eager questioner.

"But, Gussie," she replied, "you know that your guardian doesn't approve of spending your money so foolishly as getting your fortune told by vagrant gipsies."

"I know that; but then he wouldn't object if he knew I wanted to—and I do want to so much! So please do go with me, and I know he won't care."

"I don't care to have my fortune told—I don't believe in gipsies."

"O, well, no matter for that. You can have it told all the same, and not believe any more than you want to. Come, that's a good girl; I'll run and get your hat."

Above the medium height, she carried herself with such exquisite grace that no one would have noticed that she was tall when standing alone.

A wreath of golden hair was coiled around her regal head, surmounting a face of rich classic beauty.

She was skipping off in high glee when she was recalled by Florence, who asked:

"Isn't Mr. Thornton coming down to-night?"

"Yes," answered Gussie, demurely, "what of it?"

"I think you had better ask him about it."

"O, bother! He won't care. Come—I'm going now."

"No; I'm not going without you obtain his consent."

"O dear! Well, if you say a thing you mean it, so I must give it up till to-morrow. But I suppose the fortune will be just as good then," said Gussie, knowing that to argue with her friend would be in vain.

Gussie Hamilton was an heiress. Her mother died when she was a babe, and her father soon followed, leaving his daughter, then a child of five years, to the care of James Thornton, an old and tried friend.

She had been brought up by a maiden sister of Mr. Thornton, a very estimable lady, spending her winters in Boston, where she attended school, and her summers at the pleasant village of L——, where Mr. Thornton had a summer residence.

Her friend, Florence Lincoln, had fared harder in life than she. Brought up in every luxury, she found herself, upon the death of an indulgent father, two years previous to the opening of this sketch, forced to depend upon her own exertions for her support, and that of her widowed mother.

She was proficient in music, and had little trouble in obtaining a sufficient number of pupils to support herself and mother in comfort, if not in luxury.

Gussie Hamilton and Florence Lincoln had been inseparable friends previous to Mr. Lincoln's death, and their friendship had in nowise abated.

This summer Florence had accompanied her to L—— to spend a few weeks, and Mr. Thornton relied on her cool judgment to keep in check the giddiness of his ward.

Thus matters stood on the afternoon when the conversation concerning the gipsies took place.

Upon Mr. Thornton's arrival he was assailed by his ward, who, after a considerable amount of teasing, prevailed upon him to grant her request.

In her eagerness to obtain her end, she had not noticed that Mr. Thornton was accompanied by a young man, whom he now introduced as his son, Henry Thornton, who had been studying the past eight years in Europe, and had now returned—changed from a noisy boy of fourteen to a polished man of the world.

He had known Gussie Hamilton only as a romping school-girl before he left home, and she appeared all the more lovely to him from contrast when his father introduced him.

Together they returned to the house, where they found Florence helping to set the table for supper. After Henry had been duly presented to Miss Lincoln, they seated themselves to a splendid supper, their appetites whetted by their ride of two miles from the railroad station.

Henry Thornton decided to remain a week at ——, and the next morning found the trio en route for the gipsies' camp.

The camp, which had been struck at the fork of two roads, known as "the crossing," presented the usual appearance of such encampment. There was the complement of savage-looking men, haggard women, squalid children and dirt.

Upon their arrival they were immediately assailed by several old hags, who offered to tell their fortunes for fifty cents. They each surrendered themselves, and were borne off in triumph.

To Florence and Henry they recited the usual rigmarole about light-complected gentlemen and dark-eyed ladies—strangers and marriages—letters and journeys—riches and deaths;" but Gussie fared differently.

She had dropped her money tremblingly into the hand of a villainous-looking beldame, who drew her aside to a clump of bushes, out of sight of the camp; and then, looking her straight in the eye, till it seemed as if she would pierce her through and through, she repeated three times, in a hollow voice:

"Fair lady, beware of the water!"

Frightened at the strange manner of the gipsy, Gussie fled from her to her friends.

"Why, what's the matter, Gussie? you look scared to death!" exclaimed Florence, on seeing her pale face and frightened look.

"O, that horrid woman!" was all that she could articulate.

"Has she hurt you?" inquired Harry, tenderly, at the same time casting an indignant look at the old gipsy, who was seen approaching.

"No, no! take me away! take me away!"

Henry helped her into the carriage, and they started on their way home.

Gussie recounted to her friends the strange proceedings of the gipsy woman. They affected to laugh at her fears and the warning, and so much reassured her that she was in her usual spirits on their arrival at the house.

For three weeks Henry Thornton lingered at L——. Was it the joyous laugh and sparkling eyes of Gussie Hamilton, or the quiet smile and liquid eyes of Florence Lincoln, that attracted him, and prolonged his stay? Were he questioned, he could hardly have told. His father came up Saturday night and returned Monday morning, but Henry still tarried.

But one day he was obliged to go to the city on business, which required several days' absence.

How lonely it was at L——. Florence began to talk of returning to Boston, and Gussie, failing to obtain her friend's company, was fain to amuse herself out of doors.

About half a mile from the house was a pond, in which there was a quantity of water lilies. During her wanderings through the woods, Gussie had discovered this pond, and was struck with its romantic situation, surrounded by trees as it was.

At one end of it she found an old boat, fashioned out of a log, and which was still sound. This she bailed out and rigged a seat and paddle, so that she could go out and get pond lilies. Here she brought her work and books, and would sit for hours at a time in her little boat on the placid water of the pond—sometimes working or reading, but oftener dreaming away the time.

One day they received a dispatch at L—— from Henry, saying that he had finished his business and should be there the next day, and for them to send a carriage to the depot for him. Accordingly it was agreed that Gussie should take the pony phaeton and drive to town to receive him.

The time arrived for her to start, but she was nowhere to be found. The house and grounds were searched, but no traces of her could be had. The servants were questioned, but none of them could give any information of her whereabouts.

While the search was going on the cars arrived, and Henry found no one at the depot to receive him. Thinking that something must be wrong, he hastened to the house, only to find the servants talking excitedly about something. Going up to the group he inquired of the coachman:

"What is the trouble, Mike?"

"Plaze yer honor, sur, shure it's no fault o' mine. I haven't laid eyes on the young lady since I saw her swate face at the dinner-table as I passed the dure. Ant now she's gone entirely, an' she can't be found at all, at all!"

"What is it, Mike? Who is gone?"

"Shure it's the young Missus Hamilton as hasn't been seen sence dinner toime."

"Where was she seen last?" asked Henry, excitedly.

"Faith, 'twas with my own blessed eyes I seen her sittin' on the piazy arter dinner; and sez she: 'I guess I'll go,' sez she, 'and got some lilies,' and thin she went into the house afther her hat, and I hain't laid eyes on her blessed face sence."

Upon mention of lilies, the words of the gipsy's warning recurred to Henry with great force, and, without waiting to hear the last of Mike's harangue, he started off with long strides toward the pond, the only place where lilies were to be obtained.

On he hastened, picturing in his mind the cold, lifeless form of Gussie Hamilton, floating among the lilies of the pond, like a second Ophelia.

'Twas then the conviction forced itself upon him that he loved his father's ward; and the consciousness of his love for her hastened his footsteps. He broke into a run. Everything seemed to detain him and hold him back. With impatient hand he thrust aside the branches which obstructed his way. Would he never reach the pond? Surely he had been more than half a mile! At length he caught a glimpse of the water shining through the trees. He redoubled his pace, and in another moment was tremblingly parting the foliage which hid his view, fearing the worst.

A sight burst upon his vision, which made his heart leap for joy, and, falling on his knees, he thanked God that He had spared to him the life of the woman he loved. For there, in the middle of the pond, was Gussie Hamilton, sitting helplessly in her boat, having lost overboard her paddle, which had floated out of reach, and the seat was so firmly fastened in that she could not get it out to paddle with.

At the sight of Henry she uttered a cry of joy. Henry quickly constructed a raft of some logs, and was soon able to restore to her the lost paddle.

We will not intrude upon them during their walk home, as Henry asked her a question important to them alone; and she answered it satisfactorily, we should judge from her calling him darling Harry when they stepped on to the piazza.

The joy of Florence Lincoln and Miss Thornton at her safe return was unbounded.

Little remains to be told. Henry Thornton and Gussie Hamilton were married the following winter. Florence Lincoln was also married, and is now in Europe with her husband, a man in every way worthy of her love.

Let us take one glimpse of the home of Henry Thornton and his wife.

The old gentleman who is called grandpa by these two laughing children on his knee, and to whom he is showing his watch, is no other than James Thornton, the guardian of Gusse Hamilton.

"Henry dear," exclaimed Mrs. Thornton, suddenly, "did you know we have been married just ten years to-day?"

"No, have we?" replies Henry, glancing from his paper to his wife's happy face.

"And I haven't been drowned yet, have I?"

"No; and God grant that you may never be!" exclaimed Henry, drawing his wife on to his knee, and kissing her tenderly. "I guess that gipsy didn't want me to marry you," continues he, "and her 'beware of water,' was a little ruse to prevent it; but, if that was the case she signally failed, for I should never have thought where to have looked for you that day, had it not been for the gipsy's warning!"

Foreign.

GARIBALDI is going to make a tour of Scotland next summer.

THE Emperor of Austria has a collection of criminals' skulls comprising 400 specimens.

NORWEGIANS keep the small-pox away by wearing a bag of sunflower seeds around the neck.

PIUS IX. has witnessed the death of one hundred Cardinals during his pontificate of a quarter of a century.

PARIS pickpockets have dogs with them, and when the dog grabs the man by the leg, the thief gets into his pocket.

IN Vienna the streets are crowded with curious people all the day long, watching the progress of the Exhibition building.

"NAPOLEON IV." is tall, slim and of unprepossessing appearance. He pays very little attention to dress, and would easily pass for a Hebrew.

THE Chairman of the Relief Committee in Persia says that the assistance tendered by Sir Moses Montefiore, the rich London Jew, saved a thousand lives.

AN English Postmaster has gone ten thousand miles away, with a Government band around each hand and another around his leg, for five years, for embezzling $60.

DR. LIVINGSTONE found a tribe, living on the borders of one of the Central African lakes, the women of which were quite disgusted on hearing that in England a man had but one wife.

ITALIAN brigands, not content with merely murdering, have taken to mutilating their victims. A soldier was found in a mountain pass with his breast and abdomen cut open and his entrails torn out.

CHARLES LOWN POWLER, a London reporter who died lately, devoted his attention entirely, during a long life, to the "writing up" of fires. He pursued this line of reporting so eagerly that he was said to literally live upon a fire-engine.

THE London Times has a half column article on an extraordinary marriage at the parish church of old St. Marylebone. It was that of Miss Kate Fox, one of the Fox sisters, whose spiritual manifestations began at Rochester many years ago, and who were the founders of modern spiritualism, to Mr. Henry Diedrich Jencken, a barrister at law.

THE English Court of Chancery have at last made a decision in the Townly estate, which has been before the court for thirty years. It appears the estate was confiscated because three of the owners came over to this country and settled here. The estate is valued at the large sum of $250,000,000, and 100 heirs in the United States were interested in it.

A Crinoid.

The museum of Vassar College has just been enriched by the addition of an extremely rare specimen. It is a Pentacrinus, or stone-lily, the last of the Crinoids, once abounding at the bottom of the ocean—now almost extinct. It was obtained by dredging in the deep sea, off the Island of Barbadoes. Vassar College is particularly fortunate in possessing, besides the Great Auk, of which there are only three other specimens in the United States, this perfect and beautiful Crinoid, which, we believe, is not to be seen in any college museum in the country—not even in the Smithsonian Institute or Philadelphia Academy.—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

HOW TO JUDGE A FOWL.—When poultry or other meat is fresh it has a firm, hard feel, and is elastic; tainted meat feels soft, and returns to its shape slowly when it is indented, like dough when pressed with the finger. Fresh meat, well killed, does not moisten with the finger; tainted meat does, and has a slimy feel.

Personal.

APATHY is the name of the Memphis chief of police.

EDMUND YATES has invested $2,000 in Chicago real estate.

THE wife of Gov. Stafford, of Arizona, is suing for a divorce.

AQUA SCAMMONIA is the latest name coined for a Chicago paper.

THE father-in-law of Ole Bull is a State Senator for Wisconsin.

THE famous W. H. McArdle has resumed charge of the Vicksburg Herald.

JEFFERSON DAVIS is President of the Carolina Life Insurance Company of Memphis, Tenn.

JAMES ORD, the father of Gen. E. O. C. Ord, died at the General's residence, in Omaha, Jan. 25, aged 88.

A ST. LOUIS preacher defines a gentleman as a man who can put on a clean shirt-collar without being conspicuous.

FRANK BLAIR is said to take his defeat very hard, and some of his intimate friends predict that he will not live long.

GEN. BABCOCK reports that the White House, at Washington, is no longer fit for the private residence of the President.

GEN. ROBERT TOOMBS has arrived in Atlanta. He is now in favor of quietly permitting the Government to go to smash.

ARCHBISHOP CONNOLLY, of Halifax, has issued a pastoral circular exhorting his flock to desist from selling liquor on Sunday.

A CHAIR used by Louis Napoleon at the old Napoleon Hotel, Hoboken, N. J., in 1837, is on exhibition at a Hoboken salooon.

WITHIN the past week the news has been sent of the death of Resolved Smith and Preserved Gardner, two leading New Englanders. Predestinated Jones and Glorified Robinson stil survive.

THE editor of the Wabash Sentinel wants to know if "the man who sent him a challenge to fight a duel means business," or whether "his buzzard soul laughs at the ghastly joke."

MIKE MCCOOLE, the pugilist, has been before a St. Louis court for charging a customer $1.95 for two drinks of whisky, then knocking him down and kicking him into the street, where he was so frozen that he has lost the use of both hands for life.

MARGARET OF NAVARRE, sister of Charles IX., was among the earliest ladies to wear locks borrowed from other crowns. She was bald from her youth, and footmen with blonde hair were specially retained to be shorn of their hair, from time to time, for their mistress, who, in dread of being deprived of her curls by an accident, always carried a supply in her pocket.

THE city physician of Springfield, Mass., is a woman. It is said that she has not made a single blunder during her officiai career; that she has attended 100 more patients than any of her predecessors in the same length of time, at $100 less expense; and that, acting as nurse as well as doctor, her practice among the poor has been specially beneficial.

What is in a Piece of Wood.

We now part with our "old violins" with feelings not unmingled with regret; the very sums of money given for them bear witness to their strange, indefinite value and importance—300 guineas is a common price for a fine Stradivarius. The owner of the "Messie" refused 600 guineas for that unique gem, while 800 and even 1,000 guineas have been offered by some who could not get their favorites for less. Fifteen hundred acres of land in Pennsylvania were on one occasion given for a Stainer; and as the city of Pittsburgh is now built upon that land, we may confidently say that this has turned out to be the heaviest price ever paid for a violin. And what is it that we pay for? A little wood, varnish, paint—a few shillings would buy all the materials; the simplest mechanical knowledge is sufficient to cut up and put together the common fiddle, which is now sold for ten or fifteen shillings, and looks to the novice so much more desirable than the "Messie," or "Pucelle," though not unlike them. Then what do we pay for? We pay for what no money can produce again; we pay for conditions that have passed away; we pay for the inspiration of a matchless workman, and a subtle will infused into elements which seem beggarly, but have become priceless; we pay for the concentrated experience of not one life, but many, put into a curve or a fluting—for a few thin plates of wood, fixed together with an instinct that is dead, but that ere it died made these slips of wood almost a living organism—in some respects more than a living organism, because immortal. There is no reason why the violin should ever wear out. It grows old with its perpetual youth. It sings over the grave of many generations. Time, that sometimes robs it of a little varnish, has no power over its anointed fabric—it need never be battered. The Joan Carlino viola is 320 years old, and still almost without a scratch. The hard perennial substance steeped in the silicate like varnish, has well nigh turned to stone, but without losing a single quality of sweetness or resonance. The violin is the only fossil that still lives, and lives with a fullness of life and freshness that contrasts mysteriously enough with the failing, sickly and withering generations of man. Even should mishaps bruise or break its beauty it can be endlessly restored—it is never fit for death, but survives a thousand calamities; nay, even when cut up, dismembered, its several parts scattered through a dozen workshops and through 500 years, it lives on with a kind of metempsychosis in new forms, and still clings strangely to its individuality, so that men taking up a patchwork violin, say it is fine, the front is poor, the head is tame; but then, see, here is a Stradivarius back. Thus human in its power and pathos, and superhuman in its immortal fabric, the violin reigns the prince of all instruments, and in the hands of a Paganini or a Joachim, the joy and wonder of the civilized world.—Contemporary Review.

AN Edinburgh telegrapher has discovered that messages may be transmitted from both ends of a single wire simultaneously.

The Woman's City.

Mrs. Leonowens thus describes, after a short sketch of Bangkok, capital of Siam and Venice of the East, the Woman's City:

"Not far from this is another semicircular space surrounded by a high wall, which defends all entrances to the part inclosed by the inner of the two parallel walls before mentioned; and here stands the city of the Nang Harem, or Veiled Women. In this city live none but women and children. Here the houses of royal princesses, the wives, concubines and relatives of the King, with their numerous slaves and personal attendants, form regular streets and avenues, with small parks, artificial lakes, and groups of fine trees scattered over the miniature lawns and beautiful flower-gardens. These are the residences of the Princesses of Siam. On the east, high above the trees, may be seen the many towered and gilded roofs of the grand royal palace, brilliant as sapphire in the sunlight, and next to this is the old palace, to both of which is a private covered entrance for the women; at the end of these passages is a bas-relief representing the head of an enormous sphinx, with a sword through the mouth, and this inscription: 'Better that a sword be thrust through thy mouth than that thou utter a word against Him who ruleth on high.' Not far from this are the barracks of the Amazons, she women's hall of justice, and the dungeons (where, as in the days of old, female judges daily administer justice to the inhabitants of this woman's city), the beautiful temple, with its long, dim gallery and antique style of architecture, in which I taught the royal children, the gymnasium, and the theater, where the princesses and great ladies assemble every afternoon to gossip, play games or watch the exercises of the dancing girls. In the southern part of this strange city, which is the most populous, the mechanical slaves of the wives, concubines and princesses live and ply their trades for the profit of their mistresses. This woman's city is as self-supporting as any other in the world. It has its own laws, its judges, its police, guards, prisons and executioners; its markets, brokers, teachers and mechanics of every kind and degree; and every function of every nature is exercised by women, and by them only. Into this inmost city no man is permitted to enter, except only the King and priests, who are admitted every morning under guard, in order that the inmates may perform the sacred duty of giving alms. The slave women are allowed to go ont to visit their mistresses; but the mistresses themselves never leave it, except by the covered passages to the palaces, temples and gardens, until they have by age and position attained a certain degree of freedom. The permanent population of the city is estimated at 9,000. Of the life passed therein volumes would not give an exact description."

A Backwoodsman's Magnificent Present to President Grant.

Yesterday afternoon there arrived in this city, by the Union Pacific, a magnificent piece of handiwork in the shape of a desk, which was being sent to Washington as a gift to Gen. Grant from the builder, Frederick E. Schultze, of Bozeman, one hundred miles from Helena, in Montana Territoay. It was shipped in four sections, or boxes, and a description of it, obtained from one who knew all about it, is well worth producing for the perusal of our readers. It was modeled after a rock at Wind River, and is four stories in height. In the first story there is a book-stand on each side, and in the center there is a place for a seat. The second story is a secretary, and is composed of three revolving cylinders, which, upon merely touching a spring, can be turned around, bringing into view six drawers, a mirror, inkstand, pigeon-holes, etc. A library for fine books composes the third story, while the fourth is an arch which can be revolved so as to show either side. The desk, when placed into position, is eleven feet high. Nine hundred feet of cedar and two hundred feet of pine were used in its construction, and it consists of 4,109 different pieces, and not a nail or screw can be found in it, none having been used. The weight is 2,300 pounds. The ornamental work is of the most ingenious design, being inlaid and of the finest polish.

Two years were consumed by Mr. Schultze, assisted by his son Fritz, in building this remarkable piece of furniture. It was all done by hand, there being no machinery in Bozeman, which is a place of only about three hundred inhabitants.

Prof. Hayden, who, when he was West, saw the desk, says that it is one of the finest pieces of workmanship in the world, and he is lending some assistance to Mr. Schultze in bringing it to Washington. An influential man named Beck has already gone on to Washington to make preparations for the reception of the desk upon its arrival there.—Omaha Bee.

Stimulus of Distension.

Bulk, as well as elements of nourishment, are essential in food. Neither cattle nor horses could be kept alive long on fine flour, meal, or grains of any kind. Mixed, however, with grass, dry hay, or straw, they thrive. The walls of the stomach and bowels must be kept apart in order to have perfect digestion. A dog lived twenty-one days, the only survivor of a wrecked vessel at sea, closely shut up in the cabin, by eating the thick, strong wood and leather binding of a Bible. Had he had plenty of hard bread, he would probably have died in about fifteen days, as the mucous surface of the digestive apparatus, by coming in contact, would have inflamed fearfully.

Those persons whose diet is rather coarse, as bread of unbolted flour, large fruit eaters, bread and milk people in the country, etc., are exempt from the pains of dyspepsia. Those sustained mainly on very fine, concentrated delicate food, washed down with tea, are gaunt in form, weak in muscle and always taking medicine. Their food should have more bulk.

A poor man's family never lack for an appetite with a crust of brown bread. His neighbor's darlings, surfeited on rich cake, highly seasoned dishes and nurtured in luxury, are the life of doctors and druggists. So says science.

BANCROFT is wandering in the direction of the Pyramids, gathering material for a forthcoming book.

"FORGET-ME-NOT."

BY J. AUGUSTINE SIGNAIGO.

Where beautiful the wild flowers grew,
By Danube's turbid stream,
And nature bloomed bright to the view,
Like youth's romantic dream,
There knelt, beneath the mellow light
Of Luna's golden hue,
Armed cap-a-pie, a gallant knight
Bidding his love adieu.

She said, "I give thee to our God,
For right to dare and do,"
Then plucked a violet from the sod,
A gift to bind the two.
Just then an idle zephyr's breath
The flower blew on the wave;
The knight plunged in, defying death,
That precious gift to save.

He madly dashed the waters by
Until he reached the flower;
He caught it up and held it high,
A token of love's power.
She saw him sink beneath the tide—
Unhappy was her lot;
He kissed the gift and dying sighed,
"Oh, love, forget-me-not."

The knight was buried near the deep,
The lady by his side;
Together now they calmly sleep
Where she had pined and died.
The violet that he strove to save
Grew on that lonely spot,
The same flowers bloom above their grave—
They're called forget-me-not.

Humorous.

RULED paper—The French press.

PAPER for the roughs—Sandpaper.

DRAWING paper—The dentist's bill.

A TAKING paper—Sheriff's warrant.

SPIRITUALIST'S paper—(W)rapping paper.

THE paper that is full of rows—The paper of pins.

PAPER containing many fine points—The paper of needles.

THE paper having the largest circulation—The paper of tobacco.

THE paper that most resembles the reader—'Tis you (tissue) paper.

WHAT is the difference between a tortoise-shell tom and a burnt child? One is a brindled cat, the other a kindled brat.

A WESTERN journal offers this inducement: "All subscribers paying in advance will be entitled to a first-class obituary notice in case of death."

A GENTLEMAN lately entered a shop in which were books and various miscellaneous articles for sale, and asked the shopman if he had Goldsmith's Greece. "No," said he, "but have some splendid hair oil."

AN Irish housemaid who had been sent to call a gentleman to dinner, found him engaged in using a tooth-brush. "Well, is he coming?" asked the lady. "Yes, ma'am, directly; he is just sharpening his teeth."

A YOUNG lady in Western New York has just declined an offer of marriage from a wealthy lover whose name is Hussey. It is impossible not to admire the spunk of that woman, who refuses to be called a Hussey for any man.

A ROMPING 4-year old boy had been denied some trifling gratification by his mother, but it did not seem so trifling to him as to her. So, striking an attitude before her, he said with the utmost gravity, "Mother, were you ever a boy?"

AN old lady in a town of Worcester county, Mass., recently refused the gift of a load of wood from a tree which had been struck by lightning, through fear that some of the "fluid" might remain in the wood and cause disaster to her stove.

"OH, Mr. Butcher, what a quantity of bone there was in that last piece of meat we had from you," said a lady, very indignantly. "Was there, ma'am? But howsomever, the very fust fat bullock I kill without any bone, I'll let you have one joint for nothing."

"Do you cast things here?" inquired a chap the other day, as he sauntered into a foundry and addressed the proprietor. "Yes, we do." "You cast all kinds of things in iron, eh?" was the next query. "Certainly; don't you see it is our business?" "Ah! well, cast a shadow, will you?" He was cast out.

A PORTSMOUTH belle recently married a San Francisco millionaire, and the local paper says: "As she tucked away the deeds of $300,000 worth of property on the Pacific Slope, and gazed on her $5,000 solitaire diamond and other like tokens, she doubtless concluded that going to the Golden Gate for a spouse was equal to marrying a naval officer at home."

A Chinese Inn.

Passing through the great door, the visitor finds himself in a large unpaved yard, with buildings all around it. On one side are perhaps six or eight guest rooms, little boxes about twelve feet square, with paper in place of glass for windows, doors which do not fit, and through the openings of which wind and dust find their way. A very rickety old chair and an equally decrepit table are the only furniture, the bed being simply a brick or mud platform, filling nearly half the room, and raised about two feet from the floor. Underneath it is a flue, into which, in cold weather, dry grass or other fuel is pushed and fired, the heat or smoke passing a zigzag line just under the surface of the couch, and finally escaping up a vent in the wall. Other fire-place there is none; and if, as often happens, the chimney should be foul, the warmed bed is but a poor compensation for smarting eyes and partial suffocation. There are other rooms sometimes at the top of the yard, and it is always an object to secure them, as they are a trifle larger and cleaner and possibly in better repair. The charges are moderate—from ten to two hundred cents per night, with extras for food. On entering the inn, your cart is backed up close to the door of your room, the mules are unharnessed, and enjoy their roll in the dust; and the host appears, with the inevitable teapot, to receive your orders for food. The meal dispatched, the weary guest rolls himself up in his coverlet to sleep till daybreak, if he can; but rats and lesser vermin often disturb his rest.

A WOMAN named Stacey, whose business is performing on a trapeze attached to a balloon, fainted and fell in the trapeze at San Francisco, last week. Although the fall was upward of 60 feet she is still alive.

ST. PAUL and Duluth are trying to keep warm by keeping up a heated controversy as to which has had the most severe weather.

A State Prison Picture—Solitary Confinement for Life.

It is not every one who fully comprehends the meaning of the expression "sent to the State prison." There is a feeling that the criminal is thereby punished, that he is under restraint, and that, on the whole, such an episode is decidedly unpleasant and to be avoided; but the report of entertainments given by friends of the institution read too much like the narration of an evening's comfortable entertainment in some lecture course, and the narrations of the celebrations of Thanksgiving and Christmas serve to dull the estimation of the hardships of prison life in many minds. Many, doubtless, who are sentenced for short terms are so little affected by their punishment that with the fear of its repetition before their eyes they do not scruple to at once commit acts whose detection means another sentence. But the ones who are sentenced for 20 years or longer, and who, perhaps, have been brought up with the comforts and pleasures of home about them, are the persons on whom the discipline of prison life grates the hardest, and the ones who find the most severity in the strictness of its imperative orders.

One day during the last month the writer of this had occassion to visit the Massachusetts prison, and in course of conversation with the Warden, various interesting facts relative to several of the more celebrated prisoners were developed. One, the most peculiar and perhaps interesting prisoner in the institution, and one of whom perhaps more is known than any other, is James Wilson, the man who is now imprisoned for life for murdering a fellow convict. His life has been frequently written up, as the saying is, but a short sketch may find readers who have never seen previous accounts.

Wilson was born in England, and there passed his childhood and youth. He underwent a thorough tuition in crime, and was an inmate of several jails for minor offenses, finally becoming concerned in a crime which secured his transportation to Botany Bay. Soon afterward, however, he escaped with a companion, and, not daring to return to England, came to America; and undeterred by his previous experiences at once set about earning a dishonest living, and on July 19, 1853, was caught in the act of robbing the city treasury, and received a sentence of four years in the State prison. His conduct during his term of imprisonment was quite exceptional and exemplary, and, as is customary, a deduction of 30 days was made on that account. On the morning of the day when he was to be released, one-half hour before the time when he could have passed out of the prison door a free man, he was walking in a file of convicts to do his last piece of work, when he suddenly leaned forward by his immediate predecessor and stabbed the next man, William Adams, in the neck with a shoeknife which he had concealed about his person, killing him almost instantly. He was at once seized and confined, and at his trial was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hung. Every preparation for his execution was made, the gallows having been erected, when a commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life, with solitary confinement, was received. This had been obtained through the individual exertion of one of the bench of judges before whom he had been tried, his honor claiming that as no possible motive for the deed had been proved, and as every circumstance argued non-responsibility, the man must have been insane, and ought not to be hung.

Wilson, after his recommital, certanly showed signs of mental and physical weakness to such an extent that the rules of solitary confinement were considerably relaxed, to allow of proper exercise and treatment. Formerly he was a great philosopher in his reading, devoting himself to metaphysical and logical treatises, but at present and for some time his mental condition has been so weakened as to compel him to satisfy himself with lighter works. Prof. Bowen, of Harvard College, paid him several visits some ten years ago, to ascertain the depth of his logical researches, and on many occasions persons have inquired for and been anxious to see the "metaphysician," as he is called. In appearance Wilson is a demure-looking person, of kindly features, and not at all the conventional red-handed murderer of sensational literature. Although but 56, he appears much older, and shows the signs of his confinement both in appearance and conversation. He has not yet given up hopes of pardon, and any official of the State or National Government whom he may chance to see visiting the prison, is at once imagined to have come on business connected with his release. For the reason that his mind is rendered constantly uneasy and unhealthy by his nervous anxiety, but few visitors are allowed to see him, those being a few particular friends. He is at present in the hospital quarters, and spends considerable of his leisure time in caning, at which he is quite an adept. When he thinks of his solitude, how he recalls old scenes in the absence of any change in the future, and what a prospect opens before him, are sad speculations, and, in his case at least is the punishment to be considered heavy. Not many years ago, Wilson wrote quite a pathetic letter to the British Consul at this port, the Marquis Lousada, since deceased, in which he claimed his interference as a British subject; nothing, however, came of it, and he is gradually settling into a conviction that his life henceforward must be spent behind bars that separate him from his kind.—Boston Teller.

The European War Cloud.

The dispatches from St. Petersburg tend to confirm the opinion that Russia is preparing to encounter some more formidable enemy than the Khivans. Preparations for the campaign, the telegraph announces, are being pushed with great vigor; a force of 50,000 troops additional is being fitted out to be dispatched to Khiva, and a deep feeling of animation is being stirred up by publication of accounts of alleged cruelties practiced on Russian prisoners. Considering the relative strength of Russia and of the Khan, it would seem that no extraordinary preparations for the campaign were required on the part of the former, and the question which suggests itself is whether those preparations being pushed with "great vigor" are made to be ready for an anticipated armed intervention on the part of European powers.

Confession of the Murderer of President Morales, of Bolivia.

Frederico Lafaye, who shot Gen. Morales, the President of Bolivia, on the night of the 27th of November last, has given to the public of La Paz the following declaration, dated 30th November:

"At half-past 9 of that memorable night I was in the saloon of the Government Palace, where there are two tables for the game of rocambo, there being present Senor Medeiros, who was playing with Col. M. Baron, and also Lieut.-Col. Mohria and a Mr. Apiricio. I had scarcely been there a few minutes when Gen. Morales came in and asked for Com. La Vigna (his Aide-de-Camp). On presenting himself Morales commenced to strike him, and ordered that the window should be opened that he might throw him out of it into the plaza. Other Aides-de-Camp proceeded to execute the order. I then interfered between them, snatching away from Morales the sword he had taken from La Vigna, fearing that as he could not throw him out of the window he might use the weapon instead; I tried to get him to be calm and not give rise to such a scandal, but with no effect; he began to insult and strike every one within his reach; I begged him to desist and consider the honor of his family and the rank he held in the Republic, and that if he suspected misconduct on the part of his officers to have them tried; he then struck a blow which made me stagger back, but I still persisted in trying to persuade him, but all was of no avail. He began to attack Col. Lavandenz and others in the same way, when I received another blow harder than the first, telling me at the same time to "get out of the house." My indignation got the better of my reason, and drawing my revolver I fired at him seven shots, and then returned to the barracks and put the troops under arms. Col. Lavandenz arriving at the same time, I told him my object was that the rifles should take charge of the armory and prevent any disorder on the part of the other forces. Having arranged matters, with this object, I returned to my house."

WONDERFUL STATEMENTS.—Unless hundreds of our most responsible citizens have conspired to delude the community, a medicine has at last been introduced which is a specific for almost every human ailment, not involving the entire paralyzation or partial destruction of the organ or organs in which it exists. These witnesses testify (in some instances from their own personal experience, in others on behalf of others) that dyspepsia, liver complaint, remittent and intermittent fever, nervous debility, and numberless other diseases, are rapidly and radically cured by this new remedy. It hails from California, and has in two years overleaped all competitors among advertised tonics, and become par excellence the medicine of the people. California is an exceptional region. Its vegetable products, especially those of a medicinal nature, have no equivalent elsewhere, and it is from the choicest of these that Dr. J. Walker prepares his famous alcoholless VINEGAR BITTERS, the invaluable invigorant, nutrient, laxative and alterative to which we refer. Those who have tested the curative properties of this marvelous preparation pronounce it the most comprehensive remedy ever offered to mankind, and assert that there is no inorganic disease which it will not subdue. As a family medicine, we can recommend it without reserve.—[Com.

A South American Patriarch.

The Anglo-Brazilian Times of Dec. 4 is responsible for the following statement: "A case of extreme old age is reported by one of the census takers of Cape Frio, in the province of Rio Janeiro. The name of the Cape Frio Methuselah is Jose Martinus Coutinho, born at Saquarema on the 20th of May, 1694, and therefore over 178 years old at this time. He is still in possession of his mental faculties, and his only bodily ailment is stiffness of the leg joints. In his youth Coutinho fought as a soldier in Pernambuco against the Dutch, and remembers the most notable facts of the reigns of Dom John V., Dom Jose, and Donna Maria I. The testimony to the extraordinary age of Coutinho is strengthened by the fact that he has had forty-two children by six wives, and that he can count 123 grandchildren, 86 great-grandchildren, 23 great-great-grandchildren, and 20 children by the last."

IF CONGRESS had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.—Exchange.

WE NOTICED in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Dea. John Hopkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.—[Com.

PATIENT—"Doctor, I have a terrible cough, and my children are all down sick with coughs, sore throats and colds. What shall we do? DOCTOR—"Take Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tólu, or Honey Syrup. This will very soon relieve and cure you and all the children. It is an excellent family medicine. Full directions are on the bottles. You can get it at any drug store for thirty-five cents."—[Com.

JEM MACE is doing gladiatorial statues in a London show.

CHAPPED HANDS, face, rough skin, pimples, ringworm, salt-rheum, and other cutaneous affections cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & Co., New York. Be certain to get the Juniper Tar Soap, made by us, as there are many imitations made with common tar which are worthless.—[Com.

WHAT NEXT?—This favorite juvenile magazine is quite a wonder in its way. It gives 168 large pages of excellent reading, and a $1.00 Chromo, 10x12 inches, mounted for framing, to every subscriber, all for only 30 cents a year. Enough, certainly, for the price.

The February number, just received, is a real gem, every way. Specimen 3 cents. John B. Alden, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

A LADY writes: "I never knew any one to speak disparagingly of the "Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion, who had given it a fair trial. Everybody likes it.—[Com.

THE Elmwood Collar is decidedly the best ever worn. Every one that tries it likes it and will wear no other.—[Com.

Poisoned to Death.

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid and congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc.; but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure, but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthfully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin, is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels, and other organs spoken of, cannot escape becoming affected, sooner or later, and costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhea, female weakness, and many other forms of chronic disease, are among the necessary results. As a remedy for all these manifestations of disease, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is positively unequaled. By it the liver and stomach are changed to an active and healthy state, the appetite regulated and restored, the blood and secretions thoroughly purified and enriched, and the whole system renovated and built up new. Sold by all first-class Druggists. 625

THE WEEKLY SUN.

Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

THE BEST FAMILY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST AGRICULTURAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST POLITICAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST NEWSPAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

HAS ALL THE NEWS.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST STORY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST FASHION REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST MARKET REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST CATTLE REPORTS in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST PAPER in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold," in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," if neglected, often works upon the lungs.—[Com.

GOT the Sick Headache and Neuralgia? Take Dr. Miller's Magnetic Balm and get well. It will cure as if by magic. Only 25 cts. per bottle.

See advertisement in this paper.—[Com.

CUTLER'S Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam "Doubtless the best Cough Medicine in the world."—[Com.

Can any Medicine do More?

The art of changing the base metals into gold has not been discovered, but the happy results of a discovery infinitely more important are familiar to the community, and have been so for the past twenty years. To exchange debility for vigor, sickness for health, apathy for energy, gloom for cheerfulness, is a much more desirable operation than to transmute lead into the root of all evil. And this is what Hostetter's Stomach Bitters accomplish, and have been accomplishing daily, ever since their introduction. Dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous affections, constipation, intermittent fevers, rheumatism, sick headache and general debility are no longer the bug-bears that they were a fifth of a century ago. The Bitters, taken as a protective medicine, prevent them, and taken as a remedy cures them, and the people know it. Hence their overshadowing reputation and enormous sale. The fame of the great vegetable specific is ever on the march, and at a pace that no competitor can live. It is to-day the foremost medicine of its class in the civilized world. Every now and then attempts are made to rival it, and sometimes a nostrum concocted in the idle hope of sharing its popularity, has a brief spurt of apparent success. But it is all illusion. One by one they sink like stones in the sea, while the great tonic, whose celebrity has been the cause of these blind ventures, continues to ride on the topmost wave of public favor, unapproached and unapproachable.

ONE COLD AFTER ANOTHER will, with many constitutions, securely establish the seeds of Consumption in the system. Those in need of a remedy will find Dr. Jayne's Expectorant always prompt, thorough and efficacious.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.

BEEVES—Good to Prime	12½@	14
Common	9 @	10½
HOGS—Dressed	5½@	6½
COTTON—Middling Upland	12½@	..
FLOUR—Superfine Western	6 35 @	7 00
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 70 @	1 72
CORN	64½@	67
OATS	53 @	57
PORK—Mess	14 25 @	14 37½
LARD	8¼@	8½

CHICAGO.

BEEVES—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium	4 25 @	5 00
Common	3 00 @	3 75
Inferior	1 75 @	2 25
HOGS	3 80 @	4 25
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	7 50 @	10 75
Red Winter Extra	6 50 @	7 50
WHEAT—No. 1 Spring	1 31 @	1 32½
No. 2 Spring	1 25½@	1 26½
No. 3 Spring	1 11½@	1 12½
CORN—No. 2	30 @	31
OATS—No. 2	25½@	27
RYE—No. 2	68 @	68½
BARLEY—No. 2	79 @	80
BUTTER—Choice	23 @	26
EGGS—Fresh	34 @	35
PORK—Mess	12 00 @	..
LARD	7 25 @	7 30

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	1 35 @	1 36
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	32 @	32½
OATS	29 @	30
PORK—Mess	12 50 @	..
HOGS	3 80 @	4 25
CATTLE	3 25 @	3 75

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR	8 25 @	8 50
WHEAT	1 75 @	1 80
CORN	40 @	41
RYE	86 @	88
PORK—Mess	12 75 @	13 00
LARD	7½@	8
HOGS	4 60 @	4 70

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT—No. 1	1 33 @	..
No. 2	1 26 @	..
OATS—No. 2	26 @	..
CORN—No. 2	36 @	37
RYE—No. 1	70 @	..
BARLEY—No. 2	87 @	..

CLEVELAND.

WHEAT—No. 1	1 75 @	..
No. 2	1 70 @	..
CORN	45 @	46
OATS	37 @	39

TOLEDO.

WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1 80½@	1 82
No. 2 Red	1 78 @	1 78½
CORN	38½@	39
OATS	34½@	39½

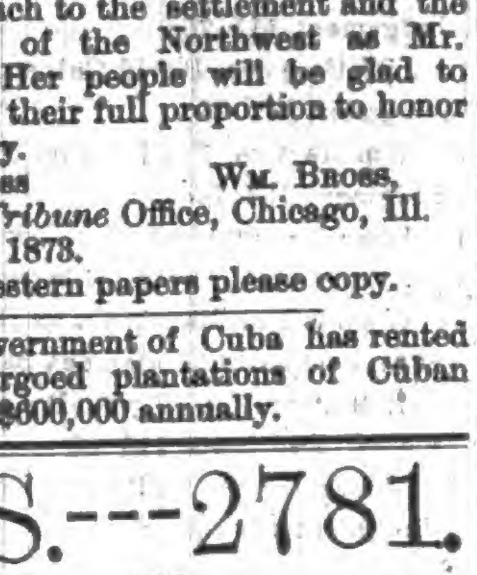
The Greeley Monument.

As a member of the Greeley Monument Association, I respectfully request the press and the people of the Northwest to send to me such sums as they may wish to contribute to that object. It would be best to send the money by check on some Chicago bank, by Post-office order, or draft on New York. All such sums received will be acknowledged in the newspapers of Chicago. It is hoped that every newspaper will contribute something, and that some one who honors the name of Mr. Greeley will take up a collection—be it ever small—in every town and city in the Northwest, and forward the amount as soon as possible. Probably no man ever contributed so much to the settlement and the prosperity of the Northwest as Mr. Greeley. Her people will be glad to contribute their full proportion to honor his memory.

Address WM. BROSS,
Tribune Office, Chicago, Ill.
Jan. 25, 1873.
Northwestern papers please copy.

THE Government of Cuba has rented the embargoed plantations of Cuban rebels for $800,000 annually.

O.S.---2781.



Dr. A. H. SMITH'S
CELEBRATED
Old Style Bitters!

The Best Tonic and Health Giver of the Age—The Famous Blood Purifier and Invigorator.

A Decided Improvement upon any Medicine ever Presented to the World!

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Having been thoroughly and well tried the proprietors have no hesitancy in saying that no preparation has ever given such universal satisfaction as the OLD STYLE BITTERS. All who have used them once will take no other. They are pleasant to the taste and contain more Medicinal properties than any other Bitters made. For Dyspepsia of all kinds and for Liver Complaint, Billousness, Jaundice, and all kindred diseases, we defy the world to produce a preparation equal to this. For Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, and Fever and Ague, the Old Style Bitters are unrivalled. They are especially adapted for Females, and contain nothing that is in the least injurious to the weakest physical frame. They will build up and invigorate the weak and debilitated. The Ladies cannot find a Tonic superior to Old Style Bitters. Let all the afflicted give them a fair trial.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

UNION MEDICINE CO., SOLE PROPRIETORS.
VAN SCHAACK, STEVENSON & REID, Chicago, Ill.,
MEYER BROS. & CO., St. Louis, Mo.,
McKESSON & ROBBINS, New York,
WHOLESALE AGENTS.

10,000 Copies Sold in 10 Weeks!
Greatest Success Ever Known!
OF DITSON & CO.'S
GEMS of STRAUSS
NOW CONTAINS:

Telegraph,
Consortien,
Manhattan,
New Vienna,
Blue Danube,
Marriage Bells,
Wiener Fresken,
Academic,
1,001 Nights,
Royal Songs,
Illustration,
Artist's Life,
Wine, Women and Song.
Publisher,
Burgersinn,
Vienna Woods,
German Hearts,
Love & Pleasure,
Life Let us Cherish Waltzes.

And 30 other of his Best Waltzes.

Pizzicato Polka,
Tritsch-Tritsch,
Fata Morgana, Mazurka,
Belle Helene, Quadrille,
Clear the Track Galop,
One Heart, One Soul,
Lob der Frauen, Mazurka,
Orpheus, Quadrille.

And 20 other Polkas, Mazurkas and Quadrilles.

"Embellished with a fine portrait of Strauss, and filling 250 large music pages—it is a musical gem—indispensible to all lovers of Strauss's dance music."—Evening Mail.

Price, $2.50 in board covers; $3.00 in cloth; $4.00 in gilt. Sold by all Book and Music Dealers.

Now Ready, Strauss Dance Music for Violin and Piano, $1.

Published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

Largest Organ Establishment in the World
7 Extensive Factories.
J. ESTEY & COMPANY,
Brattleboro, Vt., U. S. A.
THE CELEBRATED
ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.

The latest and best improvements. Everything that is new and novel. The leading improvements in Organs were introduced first in this establishment.

Established 1846.
Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

FOSTER'S ROSIN CEMENT—Unsurpassed for Paving Streets, Walks and Roofing Buildings. Wears thirty years. W. C. FOSTER, Buffalo, N. Y.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

A NEW CARPET.

THE GREAT WONDER.—The New England Carpet Co., established over a quarter of a century ago, having expended much time, talent and money to produce a stylish and durable carpet at a low price, after years of experimenting with the best artisans have brought out a carpet which they have named and will be known as GERMAN TAPESTRY, being exact imitation of Solid Brussels, the first thousand pieces of which, in order to introduce them, will be sold for 37 1-2 cents per yard. Sample sent by mail on receipt of 10 cents, or 5 different patterns 30 cents.

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.,
373 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

$1,000 REWARD For any case of Blind, Bleeding, Itching or Ulcerated Piles that De Bing's Pile Remedy fails to cure. It is prepared expressly to cure the Piles, and nothing else. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.00.

To Book Canvassers A New way of running A BOOK.—Can sell a thousand copies per week. Address UNION PUBLISHING CO., 335 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

PERSONS wishing Correspondents send 25 cents and stamp to A. L., Boston.

THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

CANVASSERS, AGENTS and all who desire a profitable business will do well to send stamp for our Catalogue and Price List of over 60 popular Mounted and Pocket Maps. Address CHICAGO BOOK AGENCY, Chicago, Ill., P. O. Drawer 880.

DR. RANSOM'S HIVE SYRUP AND TOLU HONEY SYRUP

Dr. Cox's Hive (Croup) Syrup has been known and used by the medical profession over 100 years, and as a remedy for Colds and Coughs has an older and better reputation than any other Cough medicine ever offered to the public. It is known as the Compound Syrup of Squills, and a formula may be found in every medical dispensatory.

Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu, in addition to the ingredients for Cox's Hive Syrup, contains Balsam of Tolu, decoction of Skunk Cabbage Root and Lobelia, a combination that must commend it to every one as a superior remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, indeed for all affections of the Throat and Lungs where a Cough Medicine is necessary.

This Syrup is Carefully Prepared under the personal direction of a regular Physician of over twenty years' practice, whose signature is attached to the directions on the bottle.

Its taste is very pleasant and children like it.

Every family should keep it as a ready remedy for Croup, Colds, etc., among the children.

D. RANSOM, SON & Co., Propr's, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM.

It cures as if by MAGNETIC INFLUENCE, Neuralgia and all pain, and is therefore very properly termed "Magnetic Balm." It is purely a vegetable preparation. It has no equal as a remedy for Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic and all Bowel Complaints.

Its timely use will cure Colds, Croup, Diphtheria, Quinsy, and all Throat affections.

When properly used, Fever and Ague, and other complaints incident to our western and southern climates, are easily broken up.

Nervous Pain, Sick-Headache, and Rheumatism are cured by this medicine when all others have failed. Toothache, Earache, Burns, Chilblains and Bruises are relieved at once by its use.

The genuine has D. Ransom & Co.'s private Revenue Stamp on the outside, and Dr. J. R. Miller's Magnetic Balm blown in the bottle.

Examine closely, and buy none but the genuine.

Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle.

D. RANSOM, SON & Co., Propr's, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy effects cures upon scientific principles, by its mild, healing properties, to which the disease gradually yields, when the system has been put in perfect order with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which should be taken earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault, also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The Catarrh Remedy should be applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, as this is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages and chambers in which sores and ulcers exist, and from which the discharge generally proceeds.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven, that the proprietor offers $500 Reward for a case of "Cold in Head" Ozena or Catarrh which he cannot cure. The two medicines with instrument, for $2, by all druggists.

MERCHANT'S
GARGLING OIL
IS GOOD FOR

Burns and Scalds,
Chilblains,
Sprains and Bruises,
Chapped Hands,
Flesh Wounds,
Frost Bites,
External Poisons,
Sand Cracks,
Galls of All Kinds,
Sitfast, Ringbone,
Poll Evil,
Animal & Insect Bites,
Toothache, &c., &c.
Rheumatism,
Hemorrhoids or Piles,
Sore Nipples,
Caked Breasts,
Fistula, Mange,
Spavins, Sweeney,
Scratches, or Grease,
Stringhalt, Windgalls,
Foundered Feet,
Cracked Heels,
Foot Rot in Sheep,
Roup in Poultry,
Lame Back, &c., &c.

Large Size $1.00; Medium 50c.; Small 25c.

The Gargling Oil has been in use as a Liniment since 1833. All we ask is a fair trial, but be sure and follow directions. Ask your nearest Druggist or dealer in Patent Medicines for one of our Almanacs and read what the people say about the Oil.

The Gargling Oil is for sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other Countries.

Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present, and are unsolicited. Use the Gargling Oil, and tell your neighbors what good it has done. We also manufacture

"MERCHANT'S WORM TABLETS."

We deal fair and liberal with all, and defy contradiction. Write for an Almanac.

Manufactured at Lockport, N. Y., by
MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL COMP'Y
JOHN HODGE, Secretary.

THE QUEEN'S TOILET,
For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion, and removing
Tan, Sunburn, Freckles and all Eruptions on the Skin

This preparation is the only one of its class which is prepared from a PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTION, and of which a bona-fide analysis accompanies each bottle as a guarantee of its

PURITY AND GENUINENESS.

Printed on the wrapper of every bottle is the following certificate from Prof. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer and Chemist for Massachusetts.

DRS. S. S. FITCH & SON:

GENTLEMEN: "The Queen's Toilet" received from you has been analyzed with the following results: This is a purely vegetable preparation, free from poisonous metals or injurious substances of any kind, and it is composed of ingredients having known emollient and healing properties. Respectfully,
S. DANA HAYES,
20 State street, Boston.

Price $1 per Bottle. Sold by all Druggists

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

These are the only Medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck, of Philadelphia, has been in constant practice for over thirty years, continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines, if properly taken, will cure Consumption. His Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach and aids digestion. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion. For sale by all druggists.

DOOLEY'S THE BEST YEAST POWDER
TRY IT. SOLD BY GROCERS

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

Great Medical Book of Secrets for Ladies & Gents, Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

EVERGREENS (6 to 15 inches) Transplanted. $3 to $5 for 100. Send stamp for descriptive list to BARNES & CO., Young America, Ill.

Write for large Illustrated Descriptive Price List of GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS
PITTSBURGH, PA.
Double, Single, Muzzle and Breech-Loading Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Pistols, etc., of every kind, for men or boys, at very low prices. Guns, $3 to $300; Pistols, $1 to $25.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM
CUTLER BROS & CO.
PROPRIETORS BOSTON

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 260 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, February 13, 1873

The two rival Legislatures of Louisiana, met in together yesterday.

At a wedding in Fayette county Virginia the bride was accidently shot and killed by a shirivari party half an hour after the ceremony was performed. A tow wad done the business. Most of the party were arrested.

Up in New Hampshire, the Republicans say in their address that "no national issues distracts them." They're lucky. National issues—$8,000 of them—are what distracted Senator Pomeroy.

PROCLAMATION.

State of Indiana, Executive Department, Indianapolis, Jan 31, 1873.

Whereas, by the first section of this act, of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana approved January 23, 1873, entitled "An act to provide for the submission of the qualified electors of this State for their ratification or rejection, a proposed amendment to the Constitution of Indiana therein mentioned, and declaring an emergency." It is provided that an election shall be held at the several precincts, or places of holding elections, in the several counties of this State, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of this State, for their ratification or rejection a proposed amendment to the Constitution of Indiana, by adding to the tenth article thereof, a section in the words following, to-wit:

"No law or resolution shall ever be passed by the General Assembly of Indiana, that shall recognize any liability of this State to pay or redeem any certificate of stock issued in pursuance of an act entitled "An act to provide for the funded debt of the State of Indiana, and for the completion of the Wabash and Erie canal to Evansville,' passed January 19, 1846 and "An act supplemental to said act, passed January 19, 1846, which by the provision of said act, or either of them shall be payable, exclusively from the proceeds of the canal lands, and the tolls and revenues of the canal in said act mentioned, and no such certificate of stock shall ever be paid by this State."—And

Whereas, By the second section of the act aforesaid, it is provided that the said election shall be held on the 18th day of February A. D. 1873.—And

Whereas By a joint resolution of the General Assembly, passed January 30, 1873 it is provided that the Governor shall give notice of such election by proclamation.

Now, therefore, I, Thomas A. Hendricks, Governor of the State of Indiana, in pursuance of the provision of the said joint resolution, do issue this, my proclamation, hereby notifying the qualified electors of the State, of the holding of said election, on said 18th day of February, A. D. 1873, at the several places of holding elections, in the several counties in the State, for the purposes in the act aforesaid.

In witness thereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused the seal of the State to be hereto affixed at the city of Indianapolis, the date first above written.

[SEAL.] Thomas A. Hendricks.

By the Governor—W. W. Curry, Secretary of state.

In obedience to the above proclamation of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, Governor of the State of Indiana, I, William L. Meese, Sheriff of DeKalb county do hereby give notice that said special election shall be holden, in the several townships and precincts in said county at the usual places of holding elections, on the 18th day of February, 1873, said election to be governed and controlled, as in case of a general election, Wm. L. Meese.

Sheriff of DeKalb County.

February, 6, 1873.

New Divorce Law.

The divorce bill passed by the House on Tuesday of last week, will probably be favorably considered by the Senate, as a similar bill was favorably reported upon, by a committee of that body on the same day. The bill limits the causes for divorce to seven, as follows. Adultery, impotency, abandonment by either party for three years, cruel and inhuman treatment, failure of the husband to provide for three years, habitual drunkenness for three years, or conviction of any infamous crime. The petitioner for a decree must be able to prove a bona fide residence in the State for two years. Parties against whom a divorce judgment has been rendered without other notice than publication in newspapers may have the same opened at any time within two years, so far as relates to the care, support and custody of the children, and they may farther, at any time within two years after the rendering of such judgment, have the same opened and be allowed to defend, as well on the granting of the divorce as in the disposition of property, and the allowance of all money.

Court Proceedings.

JANUARY TERM, COMMON PLEAS COURT.

State of Indiana vs. Geo. [illegible], malicious trespass. Non Pros.

Same vs. Dennis Bender, surety of the peace. Recognizance for one year.

Same vs. J. P. Gestenslager, surety of the Peace, Dismissed at Deft. cost.

Same vs. Eugene Backy, assault and battery. Fined $5 and costs.

Same vs. Dennis Lanham, assault and battery. Fined $5 and costs.

Same vs. Wm. Lanham, assault and battery. Non Pros.

Same vs. Chas Fox, violation of liquor law. Fined $5 and costs.

Same vs. Cyrus Ludwig, violation of liquor law. Continued.

Same vs. Jackson Brown et. al., assault and battery. Non Pros.

Same vs. Hornberger and Wingart, disturbing religious meeting. Fined $5 and costs each.

Same vs. Geo. Semerlott assault and battery. $'0 and costs.

Same vs. B. & M. Shoudell, assault and battery. Fined $5 and costs.

John P. Gould et. al. vs. W. P. Carpenter et. al., complaint. Continued.

Sarah M. Conklin et. al. vs. David Wilson et al., sale of Realty. Deed reported and approved.

Wm Lessig, Ex'r vs Elizabeth Franks et al, foreclosure. Continued.

John Fee vs Geo Zeigler, comp'laint. Continued.

C. L. Joy vs A. N. Joy, divorce. Continued.

John Fee vs B B Long, complaint.—Judgment for plff $150.

Jonathan Clutter vs Geo W. and Mary A. Clutter, foreclosure. Judgement for plff $25 75.

L. J. Bontrager, Guar. vs M E Bontrager, sale of realty. Continued

Eliza Shipley vs J R Shipley, divorce—Continued

H G Cauray vs Francis Cauray, divorce Granted

R M & W C Lockhart vs W & J Betts, complaint. Finding for deft.

J A Campbell, Adm, vs Eliza Campbell et al, sale of realty. Proceedings dismissed

Lewis Bowers vs Estate of J. Penny, claim. Dismissed

T J Matheny vs Estate of Thomas West, claim. Dismissed

J S Bowers vs estate of Elizabeth Bonham, claim. Dismissed

Catharine Weaver, adm'x vs Eli Weaver et al, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered.

Mary E. Reed vs Wm Reed, divorce.—Granted.

Chas Fox vs J L Penny, adm'r, claim—Dismissed

S Carey Evans vs Estate of Wm Campbell claim. Judgment $19 31

Alonzo Lockwood vs Isaac Hornberger, foreclosure. Continued.

B Treman vs J M Shutt, complaint.—Judgment $200

L B Root et al vs Chas Brand, attachment. Judgment $266 10.

Wm Webster vs W H Dills et al complaint. Judgment $113 97

Continental Improvement Co vs O Clark et. al, complaint. Judgment $230

Philip Grube vs Lydia Grube, divorce. Continued.

Robert Work vs Hiram Byrers, injunction. Dismissed.

G C Evarts vs Nancy Bethex et al, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered.

Wm Zurbrung vs Henry Lindorfer et al, foreclosure. Judgment $543

Chas Sherlock vs Andrew Carmer, appeal. Dismissed.

S C Swineford vs J P Wyant, complaint Judgment $355 86.

J R Cosper vs Elizabeth Barton et al, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered.

James Smith vs F Imler, appeal. Settled and dismissed.

David Wolf vs Thomas Carr et al, foreclosure. Judgment $325 12

P H Brandon vs Jacob Brandon, complaint. Dismissed

Catharine Abright vs Philip Abright, partition. Judgment for partition

David A. Wolf vs Eugene Leonard, foreclosure. Judgment for plff $10.18

Geo Wolf, exr, vs Elizabeth Lock, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered

Caroline Schimpff vs Henry Schimpff, divorce. Granted

John Hornberger vs Peter Hornberger, lunacy. Plaintiff appointed guardian

In the matter of Alice Cealy, a minor petition to sell realty. Sale granted.

E J Luce et al vs J M Norford et al, complaint. Judgment $699 [illegible]

National Bank of Napoleon vs R J and Lezzie Lent, foreclosure. Continued.

Chas Whitney et al vs J Vesley et al complaint. Continued

M E Chitenden et al vs G W Young et al complaint. Judgment $141 46

G. & B. S. M. Co. vs A L Gilmore, complaint. Judgment $78 56

Wm & Mary Wagoner vs R M Lockhart. Dismissed.

Wm Sumner et al vs A Spurgeon, complaint. Judgement 109 93.

Geo. Barney, Exr, vs Rebecca Weaver et al, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered

Andrew Stephen et al vs Wm Sprigle, complaint. Continued

Barbra Rosenberry vs [illegible] Neidig, Partition made final

S W Walton vs Ed Eldridge, complaint. Judgment for 114 60

State of Indiana vs Oliver Camp, assault and battery. Fined 5 dol and costs

Angela Manf'g Co vs C Barky, complaint. Judgment 108 42

L B Wood vs E J and S S Fitch, complaint. Dismissed

Ephriam Raub vs Roether and Wyant, partition. Judgment 155 70

Margarette Slentz et al vs E & B Noregon, partition. Sale order,

Lewis Reed vs W P Wiley, complaint—Judgment 125

Margaret McDermand vs E G Wheelock bastardy. Continued, jury disagree

James Betty et al vs Jacob Smith, complaint. Dismissed

J M Norford vs W E & T C Sargeant, complaint. Judgement 239 83

H Feagler vs E D & P Raub, complaint. Judgement 117 75

J W Case vs David Culver, complaint. Judgment 347 65

Wm Hart vs P & P Lung, complaint.—Judgment 167 76

Isaac Yarlotte vs L Neiswander et al petition to sell realty. Sale ordered.

Glem & Hall Manf'g Co vs F C Markly et al, complaint. Judgment 334 95

H M Merrill et al vs P J Keefer, complaint. Judgment 116 17

Henry Benson vs P J Keefer, complaint Judgment 114 71

S & P Fisher vs S B Mottinger et al, complaint. Judgment 433 88

Peter McIntosh vs Wm Fee, complaint. Judgment 130 16

Henry Wamer vs A M Depew, complaint. Continued

S W Walton vs P J Keefer, complaint. Judgment 63 17

J H & T Berry vs P Keefer, complaint—Judgment 91 42

G. & B. S. M. Co vs R Bell, complaint. Judgment 24 75

Same vs John Burrell, complaint Judgment 61 50

Same vs Odell and Hines. Judg't 81 31

Same vs Adam Conrad. Judg't 94 92

Same vs M Bishop, Dismissed

Same vs A Rodefer. Judg't 102 40

Same Loutsenheiser & Palmer. Judgment 68 81

Same vs J A Cowen. Judg't 60 96

Same vs G W Young. Judg't 91 46

Same vs David Houser. Judg't 94 17

G H K Moss vs Hopkins & Allen, complaint. Judgment 150 28

E A Patterson vs J W Boyle, complaint Judgment 283 56

Daniel Moody vs B F Osborn, complaint Judgment 106 39

J D Kelly vs Huyck & Oberlin, com—Judgment 170 50

Leas Zwilling & Co vs estate of Theo Lock, complaint. Judgement 18 03

John Lear, jr, vs estate of J F Zimmerman, claim. Judg. 5 20

Geo Somerlott vs estate of Ann Triplett, claim. Judg 58 00

Daniel Harmon vs Geo McNabb et al complaint. Judg 69 00

E M Fosdick vs Gates & Norford, com. Continued

A H and S B Hathaway vs Smith and Hare, com. Judg 273 13

H Pool et al vs G W Young et al, com. Judg 230 85

James Draggoo vs V T Jones et al com Judgment 259 00

Hunnis & Hamilton vs S B Mottinger com. Judg 485 65

F Picker vs Auburn Lodge I. O. O. F., com. Continued

Miles Waterman, Guar, vs D Krum, petition to sell realty. Sale ordered

Hiram Kreger vs Chas Brandt, com.—Judg 49.25

B Treman vs C Brandt, complaint. Judg 184 54

B H Warder et al vs B F Osborn, com. Judg 104 86

E J Crain vs Wm McIntyre et al, com—Judg 111 00

Administrator of estate of O S Hare, petition to sell personal property. Prayer granted

State of Indiana vs S Alleman, violation of liquor law. Continued

Caroline Girard vs Wm Girard, divorce Granted

Four cases against Isaac Tryon, violation of liquor law. Continued

First Nat. Bank of Toledo vs Henry Frank, complaint. Judg 56 70

State of Indiana vs John Hebel, violation of liquor law. Fined 5 dol. and costs, 2nd case continued

---

It is hinted that the disgrace of Colfax affords Oliver P. Morton, "malicious satisfaction."—Chicago Times.

It has all along been surmised, by politicians in this State who knew the relations existing between Colfax and Morton, and the known figuring of both parties for the presidency in 1876, that Morton was setting things in motion to dispose of his formidable rival. Morton is shrewd and devilish.

BRANDRIFF, PRESCOTT and CO.
50, 52 & 54 Columbia-st.
FORT WAYNE,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
Builders Hardware,
Doors, Sash, Blinds,
Glass, White Lead,
Stoves & Tin Ware,
Of every Description.
Tinners' Stock, Tinners' Tools, Etc.
Heavy Hardware,
Iron, Steel, Nails,
WAGON & CARRIAGE HARDWARE and Wood Stock,
Blacksmith and Mechanics
Tools,
Farming Implements
Rubber and Leather
Belting, Lace Leather, Belt Hooks, Studs &c
Reduced Prices. Give us a Call.

J. A. BOOZER. B. B. BLATTNER.

BOOZER AND BLATTNER
Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.
Waterloo, Ind.
Have now opened for the
FALL & WINTER
TRADE
those Fashionable styles of
Dress Goods
Such as

Arcola Cloth,	Queen's Own,
Brittanna "	Brocades,
Balerno "	Silk Stripes,
Turko, "	Corded Maca

Also
Ottoman Scarfs
And
SHAWLS in Endless Variety!
Brown and Bleached
Cotton Flanels
CARPETS & VANDYKES
Boots & Shoes,
And the latest styles of
HATS and CAPS,
We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.
BOOZER & BLATTNER

The Largest
CLOTHING
HOUSE
IN THE COUNTY.
S. Laufferty
WILL SELL
READY MADE
CLOTHING
AT THE
LOWEST PRICES.
ways on hand.
Auburn, Ind.

Fruit House!
BULLETIN
Prices to suit Everybody!

GREAT REDUCTION ON
Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever seen in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advahtage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices

Young Hyson	35, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	60, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	80, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.
At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	13c
Brown	9 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Oloug	40, 60, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 60, and 95c
Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.
10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquay double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	35 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	60c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$1 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old '76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Diquor	90c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR EVERYBODY

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, i. all different kinds	25c

Fine Fresh Oysters,
AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.
Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box
You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the
FRUIT HOUSE.

Best Thing in the West
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.
Lands
THREE MILLION ACRES
Situated in and near the Arkansas Valley, the Finest Portion of Kansas!

Eleven years' Credit, Seven per Cent. Interest.
22½ per cent. reduction to settlers who improve.
A FREE PASS TO BUYERS.

THE FACTS about this Grant are—Low Prices, Long Credit and a Rebate to settlers of nearly one fourth; a Rich Soil and Splendid Climate; short and mild Winters; early planting, and no wintering of stock; plenty of Rainfall, and just at the right season; Coal, Stone and Brick on the line; Cheap Rates on Lumber, Coal, &c.; no lands owned by Speculators; Homestead and Pre-emptions now abundant; a first-class Railroad on the line of a great Throught Route; Products will pay for Land and Improvements.

It is the best opportunity ever offered to the public, through the recent completion of the Road.
For Circulars and general information, address
A. E. TOUZALIN, Manager Land Dep't.
TOPEKA, KAN

Attention Creation!
Another Rebellion
IN
Boots, Shoes and Real Estate.

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit:

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. and lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of my stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $3000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 27, '73—2m.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT
AND SALOON.
Open Day and Night.
Warm Meals at All Hours
—AND—
The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.
No. 89 Calhoun street.
Fort Wayne, Indiana.
CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

Davenport & Co.,
DEALERS IN Drugs, Medicines,
CHEMICALS
TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES
Perfumery, Soaps,
Brushes, Patent Medicines
School and Blank Books.
Slates, Writing Paper
Envelopes,
Wall and Window
Paper,
Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,
Oiled, slate and Linen
Window Shades!
and all kind of Shade Fixtures.
PURE WINES and LIQUORS,
for Medical Purposes.
Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.
F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

SMOLANDER'S
EXT. BUCHU,
The Great Diuretic Compound,

Is a sure, quick remedy for all diseases of the Kidney, Bladder, and Urinary Organs, existing either in male or female. As, Irritation, Inflammation, or Ulceration of the Kidney and Bladder, Gravel, Stone in Bladder, Reddish or Brick dust Sediment in Urine, Thick, Cloudy, or Ropy Urine, Painful Urinating, Bedwetting, Mucous and Involuntary Discharges, Morbid Irritation of Bladder and Urethra, Chronic Catarrh of Bladder, Suppression, Retention, or Incontinence of Urine, Diabetes, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, and all Chronic Maladies of the Urinary and Sexual Organs.

Thousands can attest to its wonderful curative properties in these diseases.

For Nervous Debility, with its gloomy attendants, Dizziness, Loss of Memory, Low Spirits, &c., it is a sovereign remedy.

SMOLANDER'S BUCHU buoys up the enervated system, imparting new life and vigorous action, the whole system becoming strengthened and invigorated.

Be sure and ask for SMOLANDER'S BUCHU, Insist upon having it, and take no other.

PRICE $1.00. SIX BOTTLES, $5.00.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Weather moderating

Days growing longer

Court still in session

Kendallville gives a masquarade on the 14th

The future looks bright and promising for Auburn

The scarlet fever is reported in several localities in this part of the State

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

The Teachers' Association, of DeKalb county, will meet at Butler, on Saturday, March 1st 1873

In the case of DeLong charged with stealing a watch, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty

The Press is coming down quite abundantly, though somewhat awkardly, in the delinquent tax matter

The DeKalb county Temperance society will meet at the M. E. church on Saturday Feb. 22. All are invited

Davenport & co. have just received a number of fine literary works, which must be read to be appreciated

There were one hundred and eighty seven marriage licenses issued in this county during last year.

The vote in LaGrange county for 98,000 dollars, to aid in the construction of the New York Air Line, did not win by 280

We have received a copy of the excellent annual report made by the late Auditor of State, John C Shoemaker, for which he has our thanks.

It is singular that there has not been a single literary society formed in our place for a year or so past. A well organized debating club is productive of good.

See advertisement in another column about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

The Corunna school, which has been in a promising condition for several weeks, has been indefinitely postponed owing to some misunderstanding on the part of the principals

Those popular French gentlemen, Messrs Eldridge & Weaver who have been rusticating down in Ohio, returned last week The fresh crimson glow on their no-cheeks indicate that they have had a good time.

We have one member in our Legislature that won't be biased by railroad passes. Several railroads sent him free passes, and he returned them. His name ist R. M. Slater, and he is an editor

J. P. Widney is deputy County Clerk.—The "liberal movement," you know.—Waterloo Press

J B Hoover has been appointed bailiff. The "illiberal movement," you know

St Valentine's day comes to-morrow. Grotesque valentines of large proportions representing remarkable feats in every trade and profession, for sale at Davenport & Co's drug store

Where is our deep bed of snow now? It has disappeared like a summer cloud.—Everbody thought there would be a grand freshet when it did make off, and again human foresight is at a discount.

Accident.—Jacob Walborn had the misfortune to receive the contents of axe in his left foot one day last week. Inflamation has set in and he is suffering a good deal. We hope to see him around again in a few days

It's a burning shame to allow cattle to destroy the trees which have been placed in the court yard at so much trouble.—Several have been destroyed, especially the evergreens, just because due measures have not been taken to keep out those great nuisances—town cows

There is to be a vote on Tuesday next, being the 18th of February, whether the State shall pay the indebtedness of the Wabash and Erie canal. Every tax-payer is interested in this matter and we hope to see a decided vote against the proposition.

We are glad to know that the Lent House, at Waterloo, is in good hands. Mr Cowles is receiving many compliments for the excellent manner in which he is conducting this house, and we are personally aware that a great improvement has been made

The Bondcase still troubles the spleeny editors of the Press. It says no progress has been made, yet there has been two decisions of Republican judges been made, and if justice can be had the bondsmen will be held for the loss to the county.—That's what the Press is afraid of That excellent caterer to the public taste G. G. Darrow, Esq., has taken charge of the North side Lunch Rooms at the Saginaw depot in Fort Wayne. You can now be served with a good lunch, and it will be a clean one, for this amiable lady presides over the culinary department. Dont forget then to call there and refresh yourself on a weary journey.

Col. Battles, he of the ambrosial fur and the shoe brush moustache, has forgotten us. We took some stock in him, (five dollars), and it has'nt panned out.—Col. City Post.

We did'nt, and are correspondingly happy.

Dance at the Lent House, Waterloo, on Feb. 21.

That nash-ty fellow Nash, of Logansport Pharos has been here in our absence at dinner. Saw his ear marks. Stay longer next time.

Whitley county is getting up a joint stock agricultural society. The only correct way to organise an institution of that kind. The N. E. I. A. Society at Waterloo, started out on this principle, and paid 25 per cent. dividends the first year.

Our popular friend B. F. Dawson, has taken charge of the Morse House, near the depot at Angola And all that stop there do say that they set up the best hash to be found on the line A dance will take place on the 21st

A Curosity.—We saw a man the other day in town that actually asserted that he had not taken a paper in his family for twelve years past. He went into the post-office and wanted to buy a bedstead, and the next seen of him he was going into a butcher shop to get his wife a leg horn bonnet. How Shiftless.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

One of our citizens is now busily engaged in perfecting a patent to be attached to hens for the purpose of numbering each egg consecutively each year, and thereby ascertain whether they are doing their 'deuty.' He does not cheep about the modus operandi of said machine, fearing somebody else will get a cyacat before him. His name is Hen-ry, as it should be Circuit court convened last Monday week Judge Tousley on the bench. The case of Nelson Ernest charged with the larceny of a buffalo robe, was submitted to the jury, after a lengthy trial, who returned a verdict of not guilty. The testimony was quite contradictory, and the benefit of the doubt was given, as the law requires, in favor of the accused.

A young man by the name of Henry Turner, accompanied a charivari party, the other night near New Era, and in the effort of making a din with bells, kettles etc., this young man presided over a shot gun. It seems the gun did not like this for it "busted its biler" about six inches from the breach taking away part of the left hand of the young soldier. That arm is now hung up as a rude monument.

We learn from Mr Franks of Corunna, that the late term of musical instruction given to a large class in that place has just closed. Prof Irwin has had the class in charge and has given great satisfaction as a teacher in that art. A grand concert will take place some time next month.—We are requested to return thanks for the liberal patronage. Due notice will be given of the concert Representative Shutt passed through town last Monday en route for the capitol Mr. S. stood squarely upon the temperance question and voted in favor of its adaption. The bill has passed the House, the vote of 53 against 36. He voted also against paying the Wabash & Erie Canal bonds, although it was charged upon him during the canvass that he was in favor of paying them. The Republican side of the House went unamiously for their payment.

A magnificient festival was held at Case's Hall last Friday and Saturday evenings for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday-school. The arrangements were most complete, and the attendance was large, as it should be. There was more good things on hand in the shape of refreshments than we've seen for a long time. No blighting features in the way of dish water, called oyster soup inflicted their presence, but good wholesome food to suit all tastes was there in abundance. So successful was the affair the first night that all wished it continued the second, and it was done. Then came the works of art and nature, such as the Skipper's home, so expressive in a hunk of cheese, and the sun that never sets so grandly evolved in that naughty rooster, etc. The ladies are particularly entitled to great credit for its success

Free Lecture.—A fellow by the name of Stoddard, said to be a clergyman, held a joint discussion between himself and good common sense, last Thursday evening, at Case's Hall. He is a learned individual, and can read a speech off with the nonchalance of a school boy. He didn't have any shirt collar, but we excused him because he may be preparing for future events which cast their shadows before, as he had a great deal to say about cable-tow. He challened a discussion with any person proposed by any fraternity, and thereupon the audience became convinced that Maj. Gen. Henry Prince would be the man to meet this wonderful logician. A telegrapic dispatch was immediately sent by grape-vine, to the amiable Henry and he replied, "make me no foolishness," and immediately subsided. Fears are entertained that our champion will decline, and where shall we find an advocate to put against this valorous knight. But we trust that Stoddy will visit us again and give us another cawdy story, it is so refining and elevating, especially to the juvenile class

More of Those Who Pay.

Since January 1st the following persons have paid the amount set opposite their names as subscription to the Courier.—There are a few names yet that we would like to get on this list for from two to four dollars and nothing will give us more pleasure than to place them on such a record, when the money is forthcoming. There is something about a list like this that encourages us, and we feel that our efforts to send out a good paper are appreciated.

M. Sheets	$2,00	D. McDaniels	2,00
H. L. Sheets	2,00	D. F. Greenwood	2,00
George Brandt	1,00	James Rowley	1,00
Geo. Hough	2,00	Edward Orr	2,00
Saml Swihart	1,00	H. Conkey	1,00
L. Bowers	1,00	John Stearns	50
Dr. J. J. Littlefield	2,00	John Swinehart	50
John Butt	2,00	Robt Culbertson	1,00
Danl Gonser	4,00	J. Rosenbery	2,00
Fred Sattison	4,00	A. F. Pinchin	4,00
J. Robbins	2,00	J. Potts	1,00
J. W. Dills	3,00	Geo. McMillin	2,00
John Camp	2,00	J. W. Huffman	2,00
H. N. Flower	50	Dr. J. V. Winslow	4,00
Jacob Cupp	2,00	H N Clark	2,00
Orris Danks	2,00	H. C. Peterson	2,00
Joel Brand	4,00	J. Woolsey	50
Saml Learned	2,00	J. M. Goetschius	4,00
Frank Moody	6,00	John Brandon	2,00
Levi Brown	2,00	John Sugars	2,00
Benj Gaskel	2,00	J. A. Ditmars	2,00
H. Jones	2,00	Jacob Dermott	2,00
Isaac Livergood	2,00	Zeb Miller	2,00
Gustavis Veil	2,00	Moses Brandon	4,00
A. D. Goetschius	[illegible]	L. H. Haymond	2,00
H. W. Ford	1,00	John Rowe	2,00
Jackson Andrews	4,00	Isaac Kutzner	2,00
J. H. Weaver	2,00	T. F. Franks	4,00
O. P. Learned	2,00	Stephen Masters	2,00
B. Moffett	2,00	Edgar Treeman	2,00
I. L. Clark	2,00	E. W. Beard	2,00
D. F. Ryher	60	A. Swineford	2,00
M. Kline	1,00	J. H. Berry	2,00
J. R. Moody	4,00	Henry Maxwell	2,00
Moses Deets	2,00	G. W. Cattell	1,00
David Weaver	2,00	Wm. Shutt	2,00
Guy Plum	2,00	S. J. Tarney	1,00
Danl Kinsly	2,00	Geo. Patterson	2,00
I. B. McDonald	2,00

Hub and Spoke Factory.—We have a chance now to supply ourselves with a much needed manufactory. Two gentlemen from Hicksville connected with this business are here to establish one of these in our midst. Their desire is to form a joint stock company of $20.000 of which they will take $8,000 giving our citizens a controling interest by assuming the balance. It ought not to require much effort to get this amount, and yet there are croakers and old foggies to seriously annoy the enterprise of our town in establishing it here. We have a few citizens that will do nothing towards manufacturing enterprises, nor improvements; preferring to look and growl until their neighbors build up around them, and make their property valuable, and then ask fabulous sums for the same. We are sure we have enough of that go-ahead element to bring our place up to something near its proper standard Let us have this factory by all means. There are places where factories are in operation that have been largely benefited, and where the investment is paying a large dividends. Those who are for the improvement of the town will give every encouragement to this enterprise

At a regular meeting of Butler Lodge No. 282 I. O. O. F. held Feb. 5th, 1873, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in his wise providence to remove from earth, in the prime of life, our worthy brother, Isaac Horberger.

Resolved, That while we deplore his loss we bow in submission to the fiat of our Supreme Grand Master who doeth all things well and will treasure his memory in our hearts, and hereby extend to his bereaved friends our warmest sympathy.

Resolved That agreeable with the custom and usages of the order our Lodge be draped in mourning for 30 days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Auburn Courier for publication and that they be filed with the papers of the Lodge for future reference.

Jabez Shaffer, Chairman Com.

Acknowledgment.

The Pastor of Butler pastorate, Evag. Lutheran Church, Butler, DeKalb county, Ind., acknowledges a donation on the 5th of Februrary, '73, consisting of a purse containing 125 dollars, and many other articles in the way of eatables. Many thanks to the kind donors, and may God bless the hearts and hands that so liberally ministered to the wants of his ministers in this world. May they have a rich reward, and in the world to come life ever lasting.

Jabez Shaffer, Pastor.

$75,000 in Cash for $1.—We call the attention of our readers to the ad. in another column of the Nebraska State Orphan Asylum. Here is a chance to win a fortune in a public legal drawing, and aid a noble charity

Thirty Days Only.

Below will be found list of prices for goods, which we propose to sell at wonderfully reduced prices, for 30 days only. All desiring to avail themselves of good bargains of good goods, will do well to invest, as we intend to dispose of them at once to make room for our spring stock

Long Shawls, Square Blanket Shawls Empress cloths, French Marinoes, winter dress goods of heavy makes, Nubias, Scarfs Youths' knit saques and coats, Fur collars, capes, Muffs, Felt Shirts, Blankets, all wool, Heavy Flannels, Gents' Shirting, Flannel of all makes, Gents' under clothes knit and seamed, Lap Robes, Ready made clothing and Boots and Shoes at cost. A nice and desirable lot of French, Scotch American Cassimeres. Also Jeans and Tweeds, all of which will be sold at bargains for the purchaser. Call in and get prices.

WOOD & WILLIAMS.

Auburn, Feb. 12, 1873-2t

Great Reduction on Teas.

The failure of five of the largest tea importers of New York has broken the tea market. We have taken the advantage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15 cents per pound lower than former prices. Young Hyson, 50c, 60c 80c and $1, best 1 10. Gunpowder 50c and 80c, best 1 10. Imperial, 50c, 80c and best 1 10. Oolong, 40c, 50c and 80c, best 95c. Japan, 40c and 50c, best 95c Fruit House.

Coffee, Coffee!

No advance in prices. The excitement in the market is only temporary. We purchased a large stock before the advance and will continue to sell at our old prices:

Best Rio, 25 cents.
Good Rio, 25c.
Old Government Java, 28c
Best roasted Rio, 25c Feb 6.
At the FRUIT HOUSE, Fort Wayne.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spiritous, vinous and malt liquors in a less quantity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: On the south west corner of lot number ninety-four, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

JOHN HEBEL.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spiritous, vinous and malt liquors, in a less quantity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: The north third of lot number sixty-three, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Ind.

EDWARD ELDRIDGE

Administrators' Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb County Court of Common Pleas, the undersigned administrator and administratrix of the estate of Samuel Weaver, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, in said county, on Saturday, the 15th day of March, 1873, an equal undivided two-thirds of the following described lands: The east half of the north-east quarter, and the north-west quarter of the north-east quarter of section 9, in township 33, north of range 12 east, containing 120 acres of land. Also twenty acres in the north-east corner of the south-west quarter of section 25, in township 34, north of range 12 east. All in DeKalb county, State of Indiana.

Feb. 12, 1873. JACOB C. TRUMP, } Adm'rs.
CATHARINE WEAVER. }

Notices of Estrays.

Taken up by Israel Rose, of Union tp., DeKalb co., Ind., an estray heifer, of a red color, and about three years old, and appraised at twelve dollars.

Attest, J. R. LANNING, Clerk,
Feb 8, 1873 DeKalb cir court

Taken up by Daniel Till, of Waterloo DeKalb co., Indiana, an estray bull of a red color, about three years old, and appraised at sixteen dollars.

Attest. J. R. LANNING, Clerk
Feb 8, 1873 DeKalb cir court

Taken up by the subscriber four and a half miles south of the town of Butler, Wilmington township, DeKalb county, Indiana, an estray bull, on the 1st day of Dec. 1872, supposed to be two year old Pale red, large star in forward, left hind foot white, right hind foot white to paster joint and valued at $12.50.

PETER S. KESTER.
Attest J. R. Lanning, Clerk.
DeKalb Circuit Court.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of Lauren O. Bullard, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Miles Waterman, Adm'r,
Feb 6, '73.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss
DeKalb County. }
Miles Waterman }
vs. } In Attachment.
Miles W Bullard }

Whereas there is pending before me, the undersigned, a Justice of Union township, said county, an action by said plaintiff, Miles Waterman, in the above entitled cause for the recovery of eighty-five dollars and twelve cents [$85.12] and whereas the writ of summons has been returned "not found." Notice is, therefore, hereby given to said defendant, Miles W. Bullard to appear at my office, on the 1st day of April 1873 at 10 o'clock a. m. and answer in said cause, or the same will be determined in his absence.

J. P. WIDNEY, J. P.
Feb. 6, '73.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of Robert Hall, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

THOMAS HALL, Adm'r.
January 17, 1873.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, administrator De bonis non of the estate of Calvin Dewitt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WASHINGTON TEETERS,
January 27, 1873. Adm'r.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of Richland Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will, at the March 1873 session of the Board of Commissioners of said county, apply for a license to retail spiritous liquors in a less quantity than a quart at a time, and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises: Lot No one, in A. Disler's addition to the town of Corunna, in said Township.

GEO. McMILLAN.

A Noble Charity.
Omaha Lottery
TO ERECT THE
Nebraska State Orphan Assylum!
To be drawn in public March 31, 1873.
Tickets $1 each, or Six for 5 Dollars.

1 Cash prize	$75,000	1 Cash prize	$25,000
3 " "	15,000	1 " "	10,000
1 " "	5,000	1 " "	4,000

For balance of prizes send for circular.
This Legal Enterprise is endorsed by his Excellency Gov. W H. James, and the best business men of the State.
The limited number of tickets on hand will be furnished those who apply first. For full particulars address J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Agents wanted. fe13-4t Omaha, Neb.

BOSTON ON FIRE.
A SLENDID COLORED ENGRAVING, 14 x 18 inches in size, representing the city when the fire was at its height and one-half of the city wrapped in flames. Our view was taken in the night from the river, and shows the whole city, buildings shipping, &c. This engraving is highly colored, and already in three weeks, 10,000 have been sold. It usually sells at thirty cents, but we will send a sample copy (mounted on a roller) free on receipt of six postage stamps, or 3 copies for 50c.—Address J. C. & W. M. BURROW, 200 Main-st., Bristol, Tenn.
Agents wanted everywhere to sell our popular Pictures, Books, Charts, Photographs, etc. Catalogues sent free. Feb. 6.

MILLIONS OF ACRES
IOWA & NEBRASKA LANDS.
FOR SALE BY THE
Burlington & Mo. River Rail'd co.
On Ten Year's Credit at 6 per cent. Interest.
Products will pay for the land and improvements much within the limits of this kind offer. Better terms are not offered, and probably never will be.
Circulars giving full particulars, gratis; call for all that are wanted to read and circulate.
Come West and thrive, Friends will follow.
A Sectional Map, showing the exact location of Iowa lands is sold at 30 cents, and of Nebraska lands at same price. For Circulars and Maps apply to GEO. S. HARRIS,
Land Commissioner, Burlington, Iowa.
☞ And please say in what paper this advertisement was seen. Feb. 6—4t.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL
CLEARING-OUT SALE!
—AT—
C. ORFF AND CO'S.
5 & 7 Columbia-st., Ft. Wayne.

We will offer for the next forty-five days commencing January 11th, [and continuing until the forty-five days are up,] our entire stock of Fancy Domestic

DRY GOODS!
including the whole of our Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, Furs and Fancy Goods,
At Actual Cost.
and many styles at even less. We must close out our entire stock of Dress Goods, Furs, Shawls and Fanny Goods, and LOW PRICES must do it.

Look! Look!
at these prices of Dress Goods; they are 25 to 50 per cent. lower than the goods sold before the war

Our entire stock of Cashmeres, including the new shades, reduced	$1.00	worth	1.50
A full line of Colors in Silk and Woolen Velours at	90		1.50
All of our Irish and French Poplins reduced to	1.25		2.00
All-wool Serges reduced to	60 c		90
All-wool Satines reduced to	75 c	worth	100
All-wool Satines reduced to	50 c	worth	100
A large line of Japanese Stripes reduced to	55 cents	worth	75

We shall have to tables in the center of the store filled with Dress Goods at 25, 30 and 40 cents, many of which are worth double the money.

CLOAKS. CLOAKS.
We will close out our stock of Cloaks at actual first cost. We have some of our very best styles left, and this will be a rare opportunity to buy a handsome cloak for little money.

FURS. FURS.
We have reduced the price of our Sable, Mink, Fitch and Seal-skin Furs fully one-half, and are determined to close them out during the next thirty days.

Our Entire tock of Shawls.
Will be sold at less than they have been offered for the last ten years. We have left some very handsome Ottoman Stripes, also a good assortment of Paisely in long and square, which must be sold.

Beaver Clokings.
$5.00 Beaver reduced to $3.50. $6.00 Beaver reduced to 4.00. One price each of fine blue and brown silk plush, for ladies' and children's Sacques, reduced from $8.00 to $5.00.

Great Reduction in Laces, Embroideries, Collars, Handkerchiefs, and all kinds of Fancy Goods. We have a large stock of this class of goods, and we want to clear them out.
We have the largest stock of Corzets in the city, and they have been reduced with all other goods.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.
During our sale we will sell our best prints at 10c, our heaviest brown muslin 13½, our fine brown muslin 12½c, 200 pieces of soft-finished Bleached Muslin at 12½c.

Remember this sale will continue for the next forty days, commencing January 11.
C. ORFF & CO.

People's Convent on

Everybody's Ticket!
The People's Choice.
CHEAP, HEPER, HEAPEST.
Save Your Money nd Buy at Headquarters!
Hats, Caps, & Furnithing Goods in endless variety.
PALACE OF FASHION,
No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind
The Mother's Help.
The Childen's Fiend.
MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!
The Great
PALACE OF FASHION!
The only One Price Clothing House where Clothing is
Retailed at Wholesale Prices!
The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

THE Pennsylvania Senate has instructed, by a vote of 25 to 1, Senators Scott and Cameron to vote against the Postal Telegraph bill when it comes before the United States Senate.... The trial of Boss Tweed, of New York, resulted in a disagreement of the jury, who stood 11 for acquittal and 1 for conviction.

O. LOVE, of Boston, recently shot his little daughter and then killed himself. Cause—domestic trouble....Ben. Butler has written a sympathetic letter to Mrs. Woodhull.

A TELEGRAM from White Plains, N. Y., of the 3d inst. says: At the opening of the Greeley will case, Judge Hart stated that he had received a note from Miss Ida Greeley, which had been approved by her sister, in which they begged to withdraw from the contest, which their opponents were determined to wage over their father's grave. The contestants then proceeded to prove the will made by Mr. Greeley in 1871, without further opposition. It was stated that Mr. Greeley left property estimated to be worth $206,000, which, with the estate of Mrs. Greeley, would amount to $225,000....Four boilers in the American Iron Works, Pittsburgh, exploded on the 3d inst. with frightful effect. The concussion was so tremendous that three sections of the building were completely shattered, the roof being carried entirely away and scattered in all directions. There were about 3,000 laborers employed in the mill at the time of the explosion, and for a time it seemed as though a very large number had been either killed or wounded by the steam or by fragments of the boilers that were sent flying in all directions. Seven persons were killed outright, and over thirty seriously injured, many of whom will die.

NEW YORK has had another horrible double murder. Stephen Haas, a letter-carrier, quarreled with and murdered his mistress, Mrs. Barbara Schaffer, and then cut his own throat. ....It is stated that evidence has been obtained showing that the frauds under the old New York Board of Audit will amount to fully $10,000,000. Fresh frauds are continually coming to light....The boiler of Wood's rolling-mills, at Norristown, Pa., blew up on the 3d inst., killing eight persons and wounding thirteen more or less dangerously....John H. Selwyn, the well-known theatrical manager, died in Philadelphia last week.

THE Republicans of Connecticut have nominated H. P. Haven for Governor....Andrew Dalrymple, living near Tidoute, Pa., was clandestinely engaged in filling a torpedo with nitro-glycerine at his house, the other day, when it exploded, blowing him to atoms, killing his wife, and fatally injuring his children, who were in an adjoining apartment....Jacob Knoop, an eccentric German, was found dead in his room, in New York, the other day. When discovered, his dog was feeding on one of the legs, having eaten the flesh from the rest of the body.

The West.

A LOT of Chinamen, at Carson, Nevada, recently engaged in a fierce encounter with knives and pistols about a woman, in which three were killed and a number wounded.... The Liberals of Cincinnati have held a meeting and resolved to organize on the principles of the Cincinnati platform....San Francisco has had a slight earthquake shock....Two murderers were recently hung by a vigilance committee at Bozeman, Montana.

THE Mormons are feeling their way into Arizona; 200 Saints have been ordered on to open the way for colonies from Utah, which will range themselves along the route of the Thirty-fifth Parallel Pacific railroad.

MINNESOTA papers are filled with the arrivals of persons reported as having frozen to death by the great January storm. It appears that numerous parties supposed to have been lost had simply taken refuge at some house, and a few days after the storm turned up all right. It is now thought that the loss of life at the utmost limit will not exceed thirty for the entire State.

CHRIS. RAFFERTY, who murdered Policeman O'Mara, in Chicago, last spring, has been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hung. ....Work has been commenced on the western end of the Texas Pacific railroad.

The South.

S. B. CONOVER, Republican, has been elected United States Senator from Florida. Twenty-seven Democrats voted for him....C. H. Slocomb, a leading merchant, and one of the most prominent citizens of New Orleans, is dead, aged 41. He was a Captain in the famous Washington Artillery.

COMMODORE MATTHEW FONTAIN MAURY, celebrated for his researches into the physical geography of the sea, and for the discovery of many laws of meteorological science, died on the 1st inst., at Lexington, Va., aged 67.

THE jury in the Wharton case, at Baltimore, being unable to agree, have been discharged. They stood eight to four in favor of a verdict of guilty....A few nights ago four highwaymen attacked the stage between Mitchellsburg and Harrodsburg, Ky. One of the passengers put his pistol through the window and shot one of the robbers dead, whereupon his companions fled, but were pursued by the passengers and two of them captured.

Washington.

IT is stated that the President has decided to appoint a commission to treat with the Modoc Indians....The President has signed the act abolishing the franking privilege, and it will go into effect July 1....The House, by an almost unanimous vote, has relieved several prominent rebels of disabilities, including William A. Graham, of North Carolina; Taylor, Secretary of the Confederate Navy; John Forsyth, editor of the Mobile Register and Buchanan's Minister to Mexico, and D. C. Dejarnette, formerly leading member of Congress of Virginia.

SENATOR SUMNER's health continues to improve slowly....The following is the public debt statement for January:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,341,448,000
Five per cent. bonds	414,567,300
Total coin bonds	$1,756,016,000
Lawful money debt	$ 16,608,000
Matured debt	3,583,042
Legal tender notes	358,098,138
Certificates of deposit	28,935,000
Fractional currency	46,057,694
Coin certificates	24,246,500
Total without interest	$ 457,337,332
Total debt	$2,233,494,753
Total interest	$ 27,448,886
Cash in the Treasury, coin	$ 62,342,604
Currency	7,007,454
Special deposit held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as prescribed by law	28,935,000
Total in the Treasury	$ 98,285,058
Debt less cash in Treasury	2,162,658,581
Increase during the month	$ 406,243
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railroad Companies, interest payable in lawful money, principal outstanding	64,623,512.00
Interest accrued and not yet paid	323,117.00
Interest paid by United States	18,509,280.90
Interest repaid by transportation of mails, etc	4,118,432.75
Balance of interest paid by United States	14,390,848.15

THE President is urging upon members of Congress the necessity of taking some decisive action this session upon the Utah problem.

CONGRESS having abolished the franking privilege, it now proposes to do away with the twin evil of mileage—a bill to that effect having been prepared....A pension of $50 per month has been granted by Congress to Mrs. Robert C. Ward, daughter of the late President Taylor, who, it appears, is in very destitute circumstances....The House Committee on Claims have reported a bill passing the awards of claims allowed by the Commissioners on Southern Claims. The bill embraced 1,309 names, and appropriates about $900,000.... The House Foreign Affairs Committee have agreed to recommend the passage of the bill incorporating the American, China and Japan Telegraph Company, with a capital of $10,000,000....Congress is being flooded with petitions in opposition to the proposed repeal of the Bankrupt act....President Grant, immediately after the close of the present session of Congress, will, in company with members of the Cabinet, make an extended Southern tour, visiting New Orleans (via Richmond), Raleigh, Columbia, Charleston, Mobile, and other places.

THE defeat of Senator Sherman's Specie Payment bill in the Senate, the other day, was altogether sudden and unexpected; but it fully confirms the general impression that there will be no financial legislation this session....The Postmaster General has issued advertisements for bids for the new penny postal cards. It is the intention of the department to have cards ready for issue by the 1st of May. The Postmaster General has already received orders for new cards in such numbers as to lead him to believe that 100,000,000 of them will be used the first year.

Foreign.

RUSSIAN feeling is being wrought into a war fever by stories of atrocious outrages committed by the Khivans upon their Russian prisoners. Expeditions are being formed to avenge these wrongs, and the excitement has spread among the nobility, many of whom have volunteered to accompany the army....Glasgow is subscribing liberally for a monument to the poet Campbell....It is reported that American bankers of London loaned Napoleon $200,000 to facilitate a coup he was meditating, and that since his death the money has been returned to them....News from Dr. Livingstone represents his health as much improved. ....The Queen of Spain has given birth to a bouncing boy....Thiers refuses to accept the constitutional project submitted to him by the Committee of Thirty of the Assembly....Over 120 Internationalists have been arrested in Montmartre, a suburb of Paris....Ex-Empress Carlotta, widow of Maximilian, is reported in a dying condition at Dresden....Randolph Rogers, the American sculptor, has been made a member of the Roman Academy of St. Luke, the first citizen of the United States who has received the honor....Rustichuk, a fortified city of Bulgaria, has been the scene of a fierce street riot, in which 13 Bulgarians and 10 Greeks were slaughtered.

IT was the Spanish steamer Murillo, as was surmised from the first, that ran down the Northfleet in the English Channel, the other day. She was not damaged in the least by the collision, and has arrived at Cadiz in perfect condition. Lisbon was her real destination, but as her officers and crew on landing there would have been immediately arrested under the extradition law between Great Britain and Portugal, she carried her cargo to a Spanish port. This may enable her officers to escape all punishment for an act of cold-blooded inhumanity equal to the worst of those that rendered infamous the Spanish buccaneers of 300 years ago....The Spanish Government has officially notified Minister Sickles that no steps will be taken to abolish slavery in Cuba until the insurrection in that island has been suppressed. There are, according to the recent census returns, 269,000 slaves in the island.

THE great Vienna Exposition building is completed....An incipient revolution in Hayti has been discovered and suppressed, and five of the plotters executed....A strike among the engineers and firemen of the Portuguese railways has been ended by the interference of the Government, and the striking workmen forced, at the point of the bayonet, to resume their places....The British isles have been visited by a storm of extraordinary violence. In London, snow fell to a great depth, and travel was almost wholly suspended. The gale raged with great fury all around the English and Irish coasts. Many wrecks have already been reported, and there has been a fearful loss of life, especially off Torquay and around the Sicily Islands.

PRESIDENT THIERS attended the sitting of the Committee of Thirty, the other day, and presented his views on the constitutional project submitted to him. He agreed to accept the scheme if certain amendments which he declared indispensable were adopted. After a searching criticism of the project in detail, he urged the necessity of being free to address the Assembly on questions of general policy, and concluded as follows: "You humiliate me; I accept the humiliation, but I will not become a political mannikin. I am only a little bourgeois, but the power your conditions leave me would be contemptible."....News comes from San Domingo of a new movement of the insurgents, which may prove serious to the infant colony of Samana Bay.

PRINCE LUNALILO has been inaugurated King of the Sandwich Islands....Over 75,000 ironworkers in Wales are on a strike....Lehree, a town in India of 6,000 inhabitants, has been overwhelmed by an earthquake, and 500 people killed....There has been another rise in the price of coal in London. It is now selling for 53 shilling per ton....The British isles have been experiencing intensely cold weather. One hundred persons froze to death in England within two days.

THE cholera has again broken out in Russia and Hungary, in a violent form....Robert Bowles, of the firm of Bowles Brothers, American bankers, has been tried in London for the fraudulent conversion of securities deposited with the firm, and acquitted....The Spanish steamer Murillo is under detention at Cadiz, and her officers and crew are held in arrest upon the charge of having run down the emigrant ship Northfleet, in the English Channel. They deny all knowledge of the collision.... Advices from Spain give accounts of numerous encounters between the Government troops and Carlists, in different parts of the country, resulting uniformly in the success of the Royal arms. In one engagement 200 insurgents were killed and 1,100 improved rifles captured....The following is a brief sketch of the Queen's speech on the opening of the British Parliament on the 6th inst.: "England is at peace everywhere. The great powers have promised to co-operate effectually for the suppression of slavery on the coast of Africa. Friendly negotiations are in progress with Russia. Count Schouvaloff has assured her Majesty's Government of the friendship of the Czar for England. The new treaty of commerce between Great Britain and France is calculated to promote the friendship of the two countries. The President of the French Republic has been appointed to arbitrate the differences between Portugal and England relative to the possessions on the south coast of Africa. Copies of the Alabama and San Juan awards will be presented immediately. It is considered proper to hasten the payment of the Alabama award. The speech expresses regret at the rapid rise in prices, and the consequent disputes between the workmen and employers, and promises that bills will be introduced improving the system of higher education in Ireland, the reconstruction of the Supreme Appellate Courts, and the prevention of corrupt practices at elections."....Sir Alexander Cockburn has refused the Peerage, and has received the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath....John C. Fremont has been indicted by the Criminal Court of Paris for frauds committed in negotiating the Memphis and El Paso railroad bonds in that city.

General.

IT is proposed to tunnel the Ohio and Mississippi rivers near their junction, in order to facilitate railway movements. A company for that purpose has been formed, with a capital of $10,000,000, and has applied to Congress for an act of incorporation....Preparations for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of American Independence at Philadelphia have been intrusted to a committee of 300 leading citizens. At a meeting of this committee, the other day, $182,000 were subscribed, making $600,000 promised by Philadelphia for the celebration. The City Council is asked to appropriate $1,000 from the city funds, and subscriptions are invited from every citizen of the United States.

THERE is an increase in the public debt for the month of January of $406,243....Aspinwall was visited by a terrific hurricane on the 18th ult., causing the destruction of nearly $1,000,000 worth of property.

THE sewing machine patents are about to expire, and, according to the New York Bulletin, there is a formidable combination of interests to lobby their extension through Congress. The royalty alone has yielded several million dollars, which were divided among companies whose patents cover the essential points of the machine. These companies charge the American people one-half more for machines than the rates at which precisely the same articles are sold in Europe. The Bulletin tells that for a series of years the public has paid from $50 to $80 apiece for machines which never cost more than from $5 to $8 each, and which could be sold for $15 to $20 each, and leave a handsome profit....There was an epidemic of railroad accidents on Tuesday, the 4th of February. A train was thrown from the track near Russellville, Ky., and two coaches tumbled down a high embankment. The wife and child of Lieut. Webster, United States army, were killed, and some dozen others seriously injured. Near Lock Haven, Pa., a train was thrown from the track by a snow-slide, killing the engineer, and injuring two other employes. Near Little Rock, Ark., a number of passengers were injured by an accident on the Fort Smith road. A brakeman fell from the cars near Tiffin, O., and was horribly mangled.

Fires.

JAN. 30.—At Allegheny City, Pa.—The Excelsior Coffin Works; loss, $30,000....Clinton, Iowa; loss, $15,000....Uxbridge, Ontario; loss, $40,000....New Orleans—Thompson's Crescent Sugar Refinery; loss, $200,000....St. Paul, Minn.; loss about $15,000.

JAN. 31.—At Jackson, Tenn.—Nearly the entire business portion of the town was destroyed, involving a pecuniary loss of over $160,000.... Quincy, Ill.—A number of tenements were burned, rendering homeless some ten families.

FEB. 1.—At Northfield, Vt.—Gould & Son's woolen factory; loss, $100,000....New York—740 Broadway; loss, $125,000....New Jefferson, Iowa—The residence of Alexander Cairns; Mr. Cairns, his brother Henry, and two little children were burned to a crisp; supposed to be the work of an incendiary....Woolwich, England—A portion of the Royal Military Academy was destroyed; loss, $250,000....Cohoes, N. Y.—The Stark Knitting Mill; loss, $40,000.

FEB. 2.—At Brooklyn, N. Y.—Loss, $30,000. ....Omaha, Neb.—The Pacific Flouring Mills were totally destroyed; loss, $20,000....Cleveland, O.—The mill and forge of the Lake Erie Iron Company's Rolling Mills were burned; loss heavy.

FEB. 3.—At Quebec, Canada—The Court House was totally destroyed, entailing the loss of a very rich collection of official archives and historical and legal documents—among them all the records of the Province of Lower Canada.

FEB. 4.—At Cincinnati—The Globe Rolling Mills; estimated loss, $50,000.

FEB. 5.—At Springfield, Mass.—The Massachusetts Insurance building, valued at $75,000, was burned, and the office of the Republican seriously damaged....Lafayette, Ind.—A number of stores were destroyed, entailing a loss of about $50,000....Boone, Iowa—Several stores and shops burned; loss $15,000 to $20,000—well insured.

The Credit Mobilier.

Horace F. Clark, President of the Union Pacific railroad, was examined before the Wilson committee on the 30th ult. He showed that he had never permitted the expenditure of a cent to influence the action of Congress. He introduced in evidence letters and dispatches written to him by one of Gen. Butler's secretaries, which he considered as an attempt to blackmail the company.

The Poland committee was devoted principally to hearing an explanation from Hon. Job Stevenson, as to his assertion that J. F. Wilson and Speaker Blaine were connected with the Dubuque and Sioux City railroad.

The Poland committee was mainly occupied, o nthe 31st ult., in listening to the revelations of Thomas C. Durant. He showed how the election of the Board of Directors had been controlled by fictitious subscriptions and legal maneuvers, under the direction of Gen. Butler, and threw additional light upon some of Oakes Ames' contracts. He said that Gen. Dodge, the Engineer-in-Chief of the Union Pacific railroad, was a member of Congress and spent his time in Washington, where, it was asserted, he could do more good than elsewhere. He received a salary of $10,000 a year, and his wife held 100 shares of the Credit Mobilier stock. Alley took the stand, and met Mr. Durant's statements by the somewhat familiar remark that the cry of "stop thief" was raised by the thieves themselves.

Considerable evidence was taken by the Wilson committee, but none of it was important except an incidental admission from President Clark, of the Union Pacific railroad, that Gen. Dix, now Governor of New York, received a fee of $50,000, while he was Minister to France during the Johnson Administration, to negotiate a sale of the Union Pacific bonds. He failed to sell any bonds, but kept the fee handed him.

A Washington dispatch of the 1st inst. says: The work of taking evidence has been practically completed by the Poland committee, there being no more witnesses to hear except Ames and Colfax, and the committee have made up their minds that nothing more can be got from either of them of vital importance to the investigation. The committee held a private session this afternoon, and determined to proceed directly to the work of preparing their report. This will take a week or ten days, and in the meantime, Mr. Colfax will have an opportunity to present any evidence which he may obtain, and Mr. Ames will be expected to produce his memorandum book. Whether he will do so is an open question, and if, when he returns, he says that he cannot find his papers, the committee will not press him.

There is much speculation and a wide variety of opinion as to the report of the Poland committee. It is argued by some of the ablest lawyers in Congress that no charges of bribery have been proved against Oakes Ames, nor against the men who took stock from him, and that if such charges were proved, it would be out of the province of the Forty-second Congress to discipline any members for what was done during the session of the Fortieth Congress. Nevertheless, Judge Poland has openly declared that the committee would not whitewash anybody, and they may perhaps declare Mr. Oakes Ames unfit to occupy a seat in Congress, and indirectly recommend his expulsion. The feeling against Ames is so great that he would be expelled in a moment if a decent pretext could be found.

A Washington telegram of the 3d inst. says: The sessions of the Wilson committee are drawing to a close, and it is probable that by the time the testimony is closed the report will be ready for presentation to the House, as the members have kept themselves thoroughly informed from day to day of the importance of the testimony, and the bearing of the information furnished by one witness on that of another. The testimony is printed from day to day, and thus it is before each member of the committee. The Chairman, Judge Wilson, left for the North to-night, and will take testimony and examine books in Philadelphia, New York, and Boston. In the former city the records of the courts, where the Credit Mobilier trials occurred, will be examined, and all the books in the New York and Boston offices of the Union Pacific road will be gone over. While the Chairman is absent Mr. Alley will be examined, and also Gen. Dodge, if he arrives from Texas in time.

The Wilson committee had an uninteresting session on the 4th. John B. Alley was the only witness, and his testimony related almost wholly to the dry details of the Union Pacific railroad, and in an effort to show that nothing has been made out of the road; that those who built it look bankruptcy in the face, and all that. Pending the return of Oakes Ames, the committee is engaged in preparing a report on the evidence already in. This report will take up the case of each Congressman, and make special reference thereto. The report will be accompanied by no resolution, but will simply leave the House to take such action as the evidence submitted may justify.

The Poland committee reported to the House the evidence taken with regard to Senators Wilson, Harlan, Patterson, and Vice-President Colfax, and it was unanimously certified to the Senate for its action as the latter body shall deem proper.

At the Wilson Committee, on the 5th, F. C. Hoover appeared as a volunteer witness, and testified to certain matters of which he professes to have knowledge, implicating Hon. William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, in the Credit Mobilier business. The fact was brought out that Hoover was arrested last year for a blackmailing operation, and other facts were proven showing such a notoriously bad character that all in the committee-room were satisfied that for some purpose or other he was manufacturing the story, which had no foundation in fact. Hoover is not believed to be sane.

An Episode of the Louisiana Investigation.

A Washington dispatch of the 3d inst. says: The monotony of investigations into the Louisiana election was varied to-day by the testimony of one Theodore Jaques, who was United States Supervisor under the Enforcement act at the last election in the State. He testified unblushingly that he stuffed the ballot-boxes, forged affidavits, and took false oaths in the Kellogg interest at the late election. In answer to a question by Mr. Carpenter as to whether he considered himself a corrupt man, he replied that he was in the same boat with other politicians and generally went with them in measures, believing that trickery and dishonesty in politics is excusable. Mr. Carpenter asked him if he did not regard himself in duty bound to tell the truth when he was under oath at the time he was an officer of elections. Witness replied, No. He regarded an oath as a mere matter of form. Mr. Carpenter then asked him why, after he had helped to secure Kellogg's election by forged election returns, false affidavits, etc., he had gone back on Kellogg, and witness replied; "Well, I never had no use for that man Kellogg."

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

THURSDAY, Jan. 30.—SENATE.—The bill exempting mineral lands in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota from the operation of the act to promote the mineral resources of the United States was passed....Morrill's amendment to the Legislative Appropriation act, prohibiting payment, unless by special act of Congress, of judgments of the Court of Claims to claimants whose loyalty during the rebellion had not been proved was reconsidered; the Morrill amendment was then agreed to, and the Legislative Appropriation bill passed.

HOUSE.—A bill restoring to the pension rolls the names of soldiers of the war of 1812, stricken off because of their aiding the rebellion, was passed. ....Stewart, the witness before the Credit Mobilier Committee who refused to answer questions, was brought to the bar by the Sergeant-at-Arms and heard in defense. He claimed his privilege as counsel exempted him from obligation to answer. A resolution was then adopted that his answer was insufficient, and that he be considered in contempt. A resolution was offered providing for the retention of Stewart in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms until he shall have appeared before the committee and answered all proper questions. A substitute ordering him to be committed to the jail of the District and kept in close confinement until released by purging himself of his contempt by answering the question or by order of the House was rejected, and the original resolution was adopted.

FRIDAY, Jan. 31.—SENATE.—A bill was introduced authorizing the Northern Pacific railroad to bridge the St. Louis river....Harlan introduced a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people....The bill for a subsidy for Webb's Australian line of steamships was discussed, but no action was taken on it....A message was received from the President vetoing the bill for the relief of the University of East Tennessee.

HOUSE.—The whole session was occupied in disposing of private bills.

SATURDAY, Feb. 1.—SENATE.—Not in session.

HOUSE.—The sub-committee of the select committee on the condition of the Pacific railroad and Credit Mobilier was authorized to take testimony in Philadelphia, New York, and Boston....A bill was passed "to secure a more efficient administration of Indian affairs."

MONDAY, Feb. 3.—SENATE.—Mr. Wright presented the joint resolutions of the Legislature of Iowa, asking for the passage of a bill to relieve the people from oppressive railroad freight charges.... Messrs. Cragin, Morrill (Maine), and Bayard were appointed a committee of conference on the bill providing for six sloops-of-war....The bill for subsidy for an Australian (Webb's) steamship line was laid on the table....The third section of Buckingham's banking bill was amended so as to provide that after January, 1874, national banks shall redeem their notes in coin or in United States legal tenders. No action was taken on the bill.

HOUSE.—A resolution declaring it inexpedient to grant any part of Goat Island, in San Francisco Bay, to the Pacific railroad was passed....A bill was introduced for the establishment of a board of three railroad commissioners, to report at the next session the condition of all railroads that have received Government aid in lands or bonds....The Ways and Means Committee reported back adversely the various bills for refunding the cotton tax....A motion to suspend the rules to pass the bill of Hawley (Illinois) providing for the appointment of a board of railroad commissioners, to collect information as to rates for freight and passenger traffic on the various roads, and report whether the same are unequal and excessive, was lost—yeas, 75; nays, 99.

TUESDAY, Feb. 4.—SENATE.—Bills introduced: To raise the salaries of the President and Vice-President to $50,000 and $10,000 respectively; to authorize the consolidation of national banks....A copy of the evidence taken in the Credit Mobilier investigation was received from the House. Mr. Patterson moved the appointment of a select committee of five, with power to send for persons and papers, to whom the matter should be referred, which was agreed to.

HOUSE.—The evidence taken before Poland's Credit Mobilier committee was reported and ordered printed. The bill for the payment of the Montana war claims was passed.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5.—SENATE.—Senator Anthony, in the chair, appointed Messrs. Morrill (Me.), Scott, Stockton, Wright, and Stevenson, a special committee to consider the testimony transmitted by the Credit Mobilier committee of the House....The Finance bill was laid on the table....The Committee on Indian Affairs reported favorably the House bill for the relief of settlers on the late Sioux reservation in Minnesota....Frelinghuysen, from the Judiciary Committee, reported adversely the bill to refund 2 per cent. to Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois; Thurman submitted a minority report. Both ordered printed. ....A bill was introduced extending the time for filing claims for additional bounty under the act of July, 1866....A resolution was introduced and laid over instructing the Election Committee to inquire whether Arkansas has a legal State Government.

HOUSE.—A bill was passed repealing the act of July, 1864, which prohibits the allowance of pensions unless prosecuted to successful issue within five years from the date of being filed, and allowing claims so barred to be granted upon parole evidence, within two years from the passage of the act....An amendment to the Postal Appropriation bill increasing the appropriation for carriers from $1,600,000 to $1,700,000, and allowing the employment of carriers in places having 20,000 population, was agreed to.

THE OLDEST INHABITANT.—He has been found at last—the oldest man in America. The discovery was made by a Herald correspondent—possibly Stanley. The old gentleman's name is George Le Barre; he lives at Delaware Water Gap, Pa.; was born in the same State in 1758, and is consequently 115 years old; he has been chewing tobacco and drinking whisky for the past 100 years, and is gradually wasting away under the blighting influences of these vices; he remembers Gen. Washington well, and shook hands with him when he (the old man) was 20 years old; and he was over 50 years old at the breaking out of the war of 1812, and consequently too old for enlistment in that campaign. He expresses himself freely on the great whisky rebellion, but is noncommittal as regards the Credit Mobilier.

A WELL-TO-DO farmer died near Lawrence, Mass., last week, who, it is asserted, had never had his hair cut since he was a boy, had never shaved, nor wore a collar.

Horrible Story of Suffering at Sea.

A most horrible account of want and suffering is narrated by the survivors of the ship Golden Horn, who recently arrived in New Orleans. This vessel, with a crew of twenty-one officers and men, left New York for San Francisco last February. A stormy passage was endured nearly through the month of March, but the vessel weathered it well until it reached the Pacific entrance of the Straits of Magellan. Here the sea broke the rudder from its fastenings and carried it away. Another steering apparatus made of spare spars lasted a few days, when that too was lost. The vessel was then in sight of the rocky inhospitable coast of Patagonia, against which it soon struck. There was little time for preparation, but three life boats were let down, the compass, guns and ammunition and a small quantity of provisions put on board, and the crew were divided equally among the boats. On the first day, one boat, in charge of the second mate, was capsized and all on board perished. After a few days the boat under the captain's charge was swamped, and the crew, together with the captain, went to the bottom. Seven men were now all that remained. It was in June, which answers to our mid-winter. There seemed to be no place for landing, and there was no hope of obtaining food in case they could land. They had a small bag of crackers soaked with salt water, twenty cans of beef and a little tea, coffee and tobacco. The survivors were put on an allowance of one cracker a day to each man, and a can of beef for the whole number; but as the store grew lower, half a cracker per day, and a can of beef once a week was the full allowance. They hoped by sailing north, finding their way only by the aid of the sun and stars, to reach Sandy Point, in the Southern part of Chili. But when their stock of food was so reduced that the men had only a quarter of a cracker a day, they had no strength to mange their boat; they therefore, landed, built a shelter of sticks, over which they stretched the sail of their boat, built a fire, and prepared for the worst. The camp was so small that they could not lie down in it, and to remain out of doors long was to perish with cold. Soon they began to be sick, first one then another; their limbs swelled so that they could not wear their clothing in the ordinary manner, and were obliged to wrap them about their legs and arms. Soon the carpenter of the party died, and as they could not dig a grave they carried him into the bushes and laid him down. Soon three others died and were placed by their late companion. Their crackers were all gone. Some one brought some shell fish from the shore, but they proved to be unwholesome. At length, the man who acted as steward went out into the bushes and returned with slices of meat. Every one knew whence they came, but they roasted them on the coals and eat them in silence. Nearly all of the last body was gone, when a schooner hove in sight, and one man dragged himself to the top of a cliff and waved an inverted flag. The signal was answered by the schooner, which proved to be a seal fisher from the Falkland Islands. The famished men were taken on board and carried to Sandy Point, where the Chilian Government provided for their wants. The U. S. sloop of war, Ossihee, soon came into port, took the men to Rio Janeiro, from whence they were sent to New Orleans.

Seward and the Sultan.

The following is told by an eye-witness: When Mr. Seward was in Constantinople he received higher honors than any prince or potentate had ever received from a Turkish Sultan. Such distinction was accorded to his age and distinguished service to his country. The Sultan not only granted a personal interview, an unprecedented favor to a private individual, but as a further token of good will and a compliment to "the nation of handshakers," extended his hand in greeting. Mr. Seward's right arm was entirely paralyzed, and he had not the slightest power to place his hand in the outstretched palm of the Sultan. His intense mortification and embarrassment may be imagined at thus being forced to appear even for a moment ungracious in his response to such remarkable courtesy. There was an awkward pause of brief duration until turning to Blacque Bey, who sat beside him, Mr. Seward exclaimed in an accent of irritation: "Raise my arm and put my hand in his." Mr. Seward was remarkable for his courtesy, and this untoward circumstance at the beginning of his interview with the Sultan must have detracted greatly from the pleasure and gratification his kindly reception gave him.

The Last Medical Murder.

Another case of killing, by so-called doctors, occurred at Colon, Mich., last week, which illustrates the importance of such laws fixing the qualifications of those who practice as physicians as will at least protect the victims of accidents against death at their hands. One Vaughn, at that place, had his leg broken in a saw-mill. Three "doctors" were called, neither of whom had any surgical instruments, and who, after examining the injury, decided to amputate the limb, which they undertook to do with a butcher knife and a carpenter's saw. After with these tools hacking off the lower portion of the limb, they determined a second amputation, higher up, must be made, and the hacking and sawing operation was forthwith repeated. The patient, when this was done, recovered from the effects of chloroform, and told them to be quick, as he could not endure the agony much longer. The trio of sawbones, who had not yet tied the arteries, stopped to discuss the question of giving him more chloroform, while the artery was left open, and he died, as they solemnly decidedly, "from loss of blood."—Inter-Ocean.

A HEALTH HINT.—The Science of Health repeats what we all ought to heed when it says: "The more a man bundles up to keep from colds the more more he may. Some persons do nothing but watch against exposures, and keep themselves very busy. The best safeguards are daily exercise in the open air, and the free use of cold water, taking care not to begin the use of mufflers."

THE compositors of the Louisville Commercial have formed a mutual small-pox insurance company. When one of the number is taken sick with small-pox the rest pay him a dollar a week until he recovers.

An Aggravated Death.

The average clergyman is disposed to be merciful to the criminal. In the recent discussion concerning capital punishment, to which we have opened the columns of the American, the tender regard of the question of inflicting death as a punishment for crime has generally come by way of the pulpit. But there is an advanced expounder of the Gospel in New York who is disposed to surround the death penalty with an intensified horror. He says:

"The victim might be removed quietly by some poisonous drug administered when he did not suspect it. Why need he know the precise day or hour when his summons is to come? Why need he be harrowed with ghostly fears? Why should priest or pastor be called in to prepare him for his end? Why all the ghastly show of qualifying him for the future? Let his last hour be hidden from him; let him glide out of the world as gently as the waters of the dark river will bear him, and let it never be known to the inquisitive outside world how he went. Let a mystery envelop his fate from all but those whose duty and right it is to inflict it, and to publish the fact of its infliction to the world. That mystery will make a deeper impression on the imagination and strike a deeper awe into the conscience than the most heart-rending exhibition of a fellow-creature's pain; no passion will be aroused by it; there will be no unmerited denunciation of society, no false compassion with the sufferer, no cry of defiance from his comrades, no irritation of the dangerous classes, no morbid horror, no brutifying images. The mind will follow the trespass as he glides out of existence and becomes lost in the vast ocean of the unknown, a sentiment of tenderness softening the memory of his guilt."

The suggestion is not new, for perhaps its lesson is enforced by the taking off of Socrates; but we do not know but that there is a great deal of common sense about it. To the beastly mind of the dullards, who constitute a majority of murderers, there is nothing so terrible as mystery. They may face a known death, but they are awed by a concealed possibility. At all events, we are ready for any suggestion which may embody a means of inspiring the dangerous classes with that horror of death which the fear of the gallows and future eternal punishment fails to convey to them.—Baltimore American.

A Hot Iron Makes Trouble in a Bed.

The intense cold of the past few nights has greatly worried a married couple in the West End, and the retirement to bed at night was a matter of much discomfort. A few evenings ago, the good wife hit upon having a heated brick at their feet, and this not being easily accessible, substituted a well-warmed flat-iron, snugly enwrapped in newspapers, and within a fragment of an old dress. The experiment was a charmed success at first. "This is cozy," murmured the wife, as her little "tossies" barely touched the package. "First-rate," ejaculated the husband, as he rested his broad heels plump upon this cheaply-prepared warming pan. "I say, wife, keep this thing up all winter." "Very well, my dear," and then followed in quick time the heavy nasal note and delicate snore, showing husband and wife sound asleep. Little imagined they that a volcano was "stirring a stew" at the foot of that bed. Unconsciously the lady's toes touched the hot bundle, grown doubly hot during their short nap, and, after a sharp nudge with her elbow upon her other half, she fairly screamed, "What is the matter with that iron?" "Eh? Iron?" and plank went his left foot on the articles in question. It rested there briefly. With a curse and a tremendous kick the bedclothes were heaved high in the air, and he tarried not in a hasty scramble to the door. The wife followed, landing on her head and shoulders; a dense smoke shot up, succeeded instantly by a flame, showing the paper and dress on fire. The husband kicked at the burning mass, struck with his hand and finally knocked it to the floor. There was a scramble to prevent the carpet from burning, and, when it ended, the husband was severely scorched on the hands, besides a burning, flying fragment of paper had damaged his hair and whiskers. The wife, poor thing, was paralyzed with terror while all this row lasted, and it was unanimously agreed, after quiet was restored, that hot irons were not such a cozy comfort after all, and that it wasn't necessary to "keep this thing up all winter."—Indianapolis News.

Sunshine in Dwellings.

The time very likely will come when sunshine or sunlight will be so utilized as to be the entire remedy used for very many diseases. That it is a wonderful vitalizer, none can doubt who know anything about it.

But how many houses are constructed with a view to getting all the sunshine possible, especially when so much is needed as in winter and spring? The living or sitting-room, at these seasons of the year, at least, should have a full southern exposure, with large windows to let in the sunshine. Sleeping-rooms, wardrobes, closets, passage ways should receive the cleansing, vivifying influence of the sun. Sickly persons should court the sunshine as much as possible—sit in it, lie in it, luxuriate in it. It doesn't cost anything, only appreciation.

A room warmed neither by sun nor by fire is unhealthy and not for human habitation. It is a poor theory that sends men, women or children off into a cold room to sleep, on health principles, when warmth has been excluded for a day or a week, or perhaps months. The change in the temperature of a room, having both fire and sunshine, after the sun goes down, is exceedingly marked. A perceptible chill is felt.

NANCY LUCE'S TRIBUTE TO HER HEN. —The proprietors of the New England Marble Works, in this city, have nearly completed a gravestone for Nancy Luce, of Tisbury, to be erected in honor of the hen whose life and death are portrayed in the book of poetry issued some time ago by that eccentric woman. The inscription on the stone is:

Poor Tweedle Dedel Bebbee Pinky, died June 17, 1871, at ½ past 7 o'clock in the evening, aged 4 years.

Poor dear little heart.
Sore broke in her.
I am left broken-hearted.
She was my own heart within me.
She had more than common wit.
She is taken from the evil to come.

—New Bedford (Mass.) Mercury.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

The West Point Scandal.

When, the other day, we gave room for the Washington rumor that it was proposed or determined to bring the lads from the Military Academy to the inauguration of the President, we did so with some doubt as to its being well founded. We sincerely hoped it was not. The following authoritative announcement of the Philadelphia Press—an Administration journal—however, removes the doubt and extinguishes the hope:

"Secretary Belknap's letter to the commandant of West Point, requiring the presence of the cadets in Washington on the occasion of President Grant's second inauguration, will undoubtedly meet with general approval. Bringing the cadets to Washington will afford opportunity for the large number of Americans who will be present at the inauguration to witness the admirable drill and soldierly bearing of the officers in embryo; and, beside this, it is not bad policy to show the representatives of foreign nations the men who will command our regiments and brigades in the event of our again dropping into a war: to show them that while the rank and file of our army is 'evolved from patriotism,' as the result of our volunteer system of recruiting has been termed, the officers who will guide and direct our forces are educated in the most thorough and admirable manner."

It is, then, by "an order from the Secretary of War" that this consummate folly is to be perpetrated, and the regular discipline of a great school, where more than anywhere steadiness and continuity of rule are needed, is to be broken up for the puerile purpose of sticking one other little feather in the Executive cap. Now, on this War Department "order" we have a word to say. A somewhat careful scrutiny of the acts of Congress organising the Department and the Academy satisfies us that if it be an "order" issued by the Secretary proprio motu, and without specific direction of the President, it is utterly irregular and unauthorized. We do not go so far as to say that Gen. Ruger, who as a good disciplinarian must be annoyed to death by this childish prank, should disobey the Department order; but we do say with emphasis that it is so clearly irregular that he would do no more than his duty were he to appeal to the President to interpose and stop the scandal. If the Commander-in-Chief affirms the order, there is an end of the matter, but then the public will have the pleasing reality before them of a President of the United States superintending the pageantry of his own installation—a thing, down to this day of shame, unprecedented. The Secretary of War, by the statute which creates him—the act of 1789—has no right to do anything but what "may from time to time be enjoined on him or intrusted to him by the President of the United States," and it is quite remarkable how carefully his direct interference with the Military Academy is specifically guarded against. The President is alone recognized. "The said corps," says the act of 1802, "when organized, shall be stationed at West Point, in the State of New York, and shall constitute a military academy; and the engineers, assistant engineers, and cadets of said corps shall be subject at all times to do duty at such places or such service as the President of the United States shall direct." So it is throughout; and hence it is that any attempt in this relation to distinguish the act of the Secretary from that of the President is perfectly illusory, and in law as in fact it is that, as we have said, for mere purposes of personal gratification and pageantry, it is the President himself that does this great wrong.

That it is a wrong—a wrong, we mean, to the public interests, and to the interests especially of the Academy—no sane man can question. It can do nothing but harm; and as to remote and possible good, when all that can be said is such nonsense as impressing the diplomatic corps at Washington by the sight of two or three hundred boys, some of very low stature, marching through the March mud of Pennsylvania avenue, it is beneath notice. Our Seventh Regiment would do it better. No worse season could be selected for an interruption of the West Point curriculum. It is the very period when the classes, especially the graduating class, are preparing for the examination which is to determine their position. Not a moment can well be spared. And yet no one, neither President nor Secretary, bestows a thought on this. We do not believe a single good student will do aught but regret it. The "demerit" folks, white and black, will hugely rejoice. And even for them it will be a dreary frolic, for in such a transit and in the midst of the incongruous, ill-assorted crowd which will then be precipitated in Washington there will have to be a rigor of discipline they have not tasted yet. And all this—and there are a hundred other obvious ways in which it is to be deplored—for the mere personal gratification of one man, and he, we may be permitted to say, one whose memories of military education we might think were not the most cheerful, and whose experiences of early military life are not exactly such as to be held up for the imitation of our country's young soldiers. The opinions which we have expressed on this unhappy proposition are not limited to any party in politics. They are held generally, and we trust may find expression in such a form that the mischief may yet be averted.—New York World.

Garfield Looking for Ames.

The fierceness with which the Honorable Oakes Ames was followed up and importuned by members of Congress for stock in the Credit Mobilier after they found it was a good thing and they could get it at par when it stood in the market at 200 and upward has but one parallel, and that is the eagerness with which they pursued him to get it taken back after they had squeezed it of the enormous dividends and had discovered there was danger of their being found out. Boutwell smelt woolen in the far distance and did not touch it. Dawes dipped in, and after one dividend fell back in the best order he could. Wilson held some in the name of his wife, but upon learning that his character for integrity, which, as he touchingly told Oakes Ames, was all his ready capital, was imperiled, implored that it be taken off his hands, and he was accommodated. Allison had some sent to him, but scenting rascality, returned it. Kelley had no money to buy stock, but found it handy to borrow $1,000 of Oakes Ames, which was perhaps the same; and Garfield, being in the same fix, borrowed $300 from the same opulent source. Then there was Schuyler, who stood up before a South Bend audience and, with humorous remarks about the Studebaker Wagon Company and the Birdsell Clover Separator Company, gave his fellow-citizens to understand that, so far as Credit Mobilier was concerned, butter would not melt in his mouth—he gave his stock right back to Mr. Ames, and paid him $600 to take it. Innocence! It's no name for it. There was no such thing as Credit Mobilier stock. It was a myth. But there never was such a scrambling as to get it, never such sudden dropping of it as when the Sun shone in on the transaction. Does any one remember—or rather, does any forget—what an innocent lot of schoolboys these Congressmen appeared last summer when the Sun showed up the Credit Mobilier business? Every mother's son of them raised up his white hands before the country and groaned "O-o-h! m-y-g-o-o-d-n-e-s-s! Wh—a-t a l-i-e!!" Unfortunately for the boys, they dropped the plunder right in their tracks, and there the committee, though it has tried hard to avoid seeing anything, could not help finding it.

Though the exhibition has not been a cheerful one to the patriot, there have been some features in it to amuse the American people. Not least of these is the spectacle afforded by Mr. Garfield, of Ohio. That gentleman maintained a discreet silence during the campaign, but it was generally alleged by his friends that he held no Credit Mobilier or Union Pacific stock; didn't know there was any such thing as Credit Mobilier; and knew very little about the Pacific road; while as to Mr. Oakes Ames, he didn't know no such person. But now this miserable investigation has brought out the fact that Garfield had borrowed money of Ames, and it was exceedingly doubtful whether he had ever paid it! Mr. Ames, who is blessed with the most convenient memory that ever sifted history, could not tell for the life of him whether he had or not. But Garfield came before the committee. George Francis Train was about the only man whose name he recalled distinctly, and the Credit Foncier, or some such thing, was the only thing he knew anything about, and that he knew nothing about except what Train in his volcanic way had told him. Incidentally—entirely incidentally—he had come into communication with Ames, and Ames offered him some stock. He didn't seem to know whether it was Mobilier or Foncier, or that it had anything to do with the Pacific road. Finding that there were dividends due to the amount of three times the par value of the stock, he concluded not to take it; but he borrowed $300 of Ames—also incidentally.

And then Mr. Garfield went out. Shortly afterward he received notice that Oakes Ames said he had borrowed of him $400 instead of $300, and had never paid it. For a little while Mr. Garfield skipped around quite lively. He wrote a note to Ames upbraiding him with having perpetrated a great wrong and cheated him out of $400. He left the note on his table, and inclosed $400 in a blank sheet to Ames. The great financier received it as conscience money, and in his facetious way said he was expecting to have a donation party. Garfield heard of it, and danced around in the most excited manner to find Ames and give him the note. He went to Ames' hotel and to all the correspondents in Newspaper Row, and took violent exercise in an uneasy, spasmodic way. Finally he found Ames and got back his $400, and the two became friends once more.

Well, in a dramatic way, this exhibition is getting to be quite entertaining.—New York Sun.

Colfax.

"Oakes Ames amused himself to-day," says a Washington telegram, by exhibiting the checks with which he paid Congressmen their Credit Mobilier dividends. They fully confirm Ames' testimony. In Senator Patterson's case, the check is made payable to his order, and is indorsed by him," which is in itself direct and conclusive proof that the New Hampshire Senator swore to a lie when he said, upon his oath, that Ames had never paid him a dividend. "The check for $1,200 paid to Colfax was drawn payable to 'S. C. or bearer.'"

Colfax still persists in denying that he ever had any interest in Credit Mobilier stock, and talks about instituting a criminal prosecution against Ames for perjury! He will probably not do anything of the kind. If he should do it, the result is easily anticipated.

The manifest fact is that Colfax is so badly demoralized by the unquestionable evidence of his guilt which has at last been brought to light, that he cannot contain himself. For a political demagogue who has been noted for the smoothness of his palaver and the pious unction of his sentimental speeches, he now "slashes about" wildly and incoherently. His mind is badly "tore up."

It was only last October that the smiling Colfax made a speech, denying in the most emphatic and perspicacious manner possible that he had ever in any way been interested in Credit Mobilier to the value of one cent, or that he had ever received in any way the value of one cent from that source. His declaration in October was made in the words following:

"Do I need to add that neither Oakes Ames nor any other person ever gave, or offered to give, me one share, or twenty shares, or two thousand shares in the Credit Mobilier, or any other railroad stock, and that, unfortunately, I have never received the value of a farthing out of the 270 per cent. dividends, nor the 800 per cent. dividends in cash, stock, and bonds, you have read about every day for the past month, nor 100 per cent. nor 1 per cent. nor the tenth of 1 per cent.?"

Now in every single statement here given in the words of Mr. Colfax, it is proven conclusively, not only by oral but by documentary evidence—by the evidence of facts that cannot possibly be disproved or explained away—that Schuyler Colfax lied. In the statement that neither Ames nor any other person ever gave or offered to give him an interest in Credit Mobilier stock, he lied. And in the reiteration of these statements, upon his oath, before the investigating committee, he lied again, and added perjury to the guilt of lying. The conclusion is inevitable that this man now disgraces the high office of Vice-President of the United States, is a corruptionist, a liar, and a scoundrel. It is best, always, to speak the truth in plain words. And this is it.—Chicago Times.

The Disappearance and Reappearance of Land.

It requires an immense amount of argument and strong proofs to convince some persons that any change is going on in the physical aspect of a country. They suppose and firmly believe that land and water appear to-day precisely as they did at the subsidence of the deluge.

Even the everlasting mountains, as they are poetically described by geographers, are gradually wearing away. They crumble and the winds and rains carry away the disintegrated particles to raise the common level of depressions and elevate the surface of adjacent plains.

By this never failing process the beds of all rivers are shallowing, while estuaries and the seas into which they waft the earth held in solution are gradually filling up with accumulated mud. By pressure from the great weight of water above, the soft bed slowly hardens, and in time, aided by other agencies in nature, becomes a stratum of stone.

But one fact is more valuable in the estimation of doubters in regard to the everchanging condition of matter than a whole volume of descriptive phenomena.

Where the Zuyder Zee now is, within historical times, was dry land in the thirteenth century. In that territory were two lakes. A mighty inundation broke through the neck of land between them, and the water rushed quite to the gates of Utrecht. From that period for two hundred years the water gained and finally got the ascendancy, swallowing up extensive forests and tracts of cultivated land; not only that, but the submerged ground seems to have sunk very considerably, as large vessels at this particular epoch sail freely over where were once fine roads and beautiful fields. Lastly, in 1309, the fresh water was wholly displaced by an influx of salt water, and those islands now marked on charts were cut off from the main land. Thus the Zuyder Zee became an arm of the sea. This is one example of the law of terrestial changes.

Southern State Debts.

The debts of the Southern States are as follows:

North Carolina	$30,000,000
South Carolina	15,000,000
Virginia	47,000,000
Georgia	10,500,000
Alabama	15,500,000
Mississippi	25,000,000
Louisiana	21,000,000
Tennessee	31,000,000
Florida	6,000,000
Making a grand total of	$202,000,000

A MAN WITHOUT IN'ARDS.—A young man recently died in Chester county, Pa., who had been suffering from enlargnment of the spleen and liver, followed by abdominal dropsy. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the liver, spleen, kidneys, stomach and bowels were completely absorbed, without leaving any portion of them remaining—nothing being found in the abdomen but a portion of the omentum and the serous fluid.

THE GHOST OF BUCKLIN'S MILL.

BY EUGENE J. HALL.

[Illustrated by O. J. Hopkins.]

Say, stranger, where are yer travelin' tu,
An' what is yer bisness, hey?
If you'll jest hold on, I'll ride with you,
If yer goin' down my way.

Is the old gray hoss yer drivin' yourn?
Hev yer bin in these parts afore?
Be you the feller that Hiram Crane
See over to Comstock's store?

No? Wal, that's curis. Now how did it come
That yer happened this way tu steer?
Hev yer strayed away from hum to-day,
Or got relations here?

So yer don't know nothin' about these parts?
That's queer enough to kill.
Hain't yer never heerd o' Moses Cole
An' the ghost o' Bucklin's Mill?

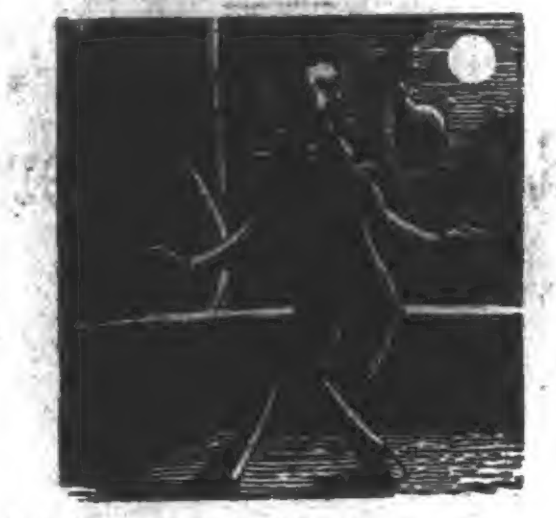
Moses Cole, that's me, yer know,
I've allus lived rite here;
Dad's been a livin' on his old farm
A goin on fifty year.

The fact is, stranger, the t'other night
I was over tu Goshen Gate
With a lot of the fellers, a loafin round,
Till it got to be kind o' late.

An' when I started tu travel hum
'Twas mitey dark and still,
An' I felt uncommonly lonesome down
In the holler by Bucklin's Mill.

I stood alone on the old stun bridge,
A leanin' agin the rail,
While the moonlite streakin' through the clouds
Looked tarnally queer and pale.

I heerd a mightey uncommon sound
Rite overhead in the air;
An' the holler round seemed lited up
With a sort of ghostly glare.



I started up like a frightened pup,
An' I tumbled over a log,
An' the hair on my head jest riz rite up
Like the brussels on a hog.

But I hopped to my feet and I cut and run
Like thunder over the hill,
An' told the nabors what I had heerd
In the holler by Bucklin's Mill.

We puttered around till mornin' cum,
An' we all went over there,
To find out jest what the critter was
That had give me sech a scare.

An', stranger, what d'ye think we saw
When we got down the hill?
The water was rushin' through the flume,
An' everything else was still.

An' jest rite over the old stun bridge
There sot on an old dead tree,
A wallopin great hoot owl that kept
A winkin his eyes on me.

An' stranger, I've jest made up my mind,—
I reckon I'm nearly right,
That ghosts don't travel around the world
A scarin' folks in the night.

The "Mystery of Edwin Drood."

We mentioned some time since a statement that a young man was engaged in the completion of the "Mystery of Edwin Drood," writing as a medium, at the dictation of the spirit of Charles Dickens. The medium, we learn further, is a German printer of Brattleboro, Vt., thirty or thirty-five years of age, intelligent, but without genius so far as his friends understand him. He says he has never read a single one of the works of Mr. Dickens, much less the one in course of publication at the time of the novelist's death; yet he has reproduced some of the peculiar features of the latter, and some of his manuscript bears evidence at least of a very good imitation of Dickens' style. We have been shown letters from two prominent citizens of Brattleboro, both of them disbelievers in spiritualism, and one of them especially cautious against all manner of isms, and they appear to be very much impressed with the work of the medium as far as it has progressed. One of them remarks that parts of the manuscript are "so unmistakly Dickens' style that no one not blind with prejudice would doubt it"—and of course we are reminded that it is one thing to have Dickens' style, and another to have his own work. The medium works three evenings a week, accomplishing eight to ten pages at a sitting, and he calculates—or, rather, the spirit of Mr. Dickens does—that it will take about six months to complete the mystery. He began on Christmas Eve last, according to the special request of the spirit—a period, remarks the latter, "the dearest, holiest to me of all the year when on earth." We have been shown several pages of manuscript, copied from the original, including the "Dedication," the "Preface—which treats of the whys and the wherefores," etc., and, to tell the truth, are not particularly impressed with them. Some expressions are in the style of Mr. Dickens, but many more are in decidedly unlike him; and the opening pages bearing a striking similarity to the commonplace work of most mediums, being a gushing tribute to spiritualism and a general invitation to the cold, unbelieving world to embrace the faith.—Rochester Democrat.

DUMAS exercises his muscles by throwing knives at a large wax doll, and has become so skillful that he can puncture the harmless effigy every time, like Mr. Quilp, naming it whichever one of his enemies he chooses.

GEN. ALBERT PIKE is practicing law in Washington city.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

If We Had Cheap Freights!

If we had cheap freights, we would keep on doing what we have been doing for many years. We would raise those crops, and only those, that are best suited to our soil and climate, and would leave producers in other regions to cultivate and supply us with those things that they can raise cheaper and easier than we can. We in Illinois, Iowa and Indiana would produce the corn and pork to supply all the States bordering on the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico. We would have corn fields stretching for miles, plowed by steam power produced by our inexhaustible coal deposits. We would bring to our aid in the cultivation of this crop all the appliances of machinery, and all the skill of men trained to the business. We would have hog pastures where the clover should blossom over a hundred acres in a single inclosure, and where water should be supplied at convenient places. We would have corn cribs and cooking apparatus on extensive scales, and concentrate our skill and capital on the production of a few things for which we have the greatest natural advantages. We would carry on our few branches of business with the same thrifty economy that a manufacturer of a single staple article shows in conducting his business.

If we had cheap freights we would not war against nature, or work to a disadvantage in the production of crops. We would not try to raise cotton in Illinois, sweet potatoes in Michigan, peanuts in Iowa, or tobacco in Minnesota. In the great corn region of the Mississippi Valley we might produce the wool, mutton and grain for our own consumption, but we would leave the grain markets of the world open to those regions of country especially adapted to these crops, and not well suited to producing what we can produce with greater ease. By this arrangement we would all become skilled, each in his own particular business. We would become eminent in our specialty, experts in our particular business. We would dispense with half our fences, half our barn buildings, and half our farm machinery; and in the place of what we now have, we would substitute those machines that are adapted to the one or two pursuits we engaged in. In short, we would be consumers of the crops raised in other sections of the country, as as well as the producers of those raised at home. We would buy as well as sell, and thereby we would all be gainers. Neither we, nor the farmers at a distance from us, would try to raise crops that are only produced at a disadvantage on account of soil and climate.

If we had cheap freights, we farmers would carry on a business as manufacturers and merchants do, and not simply work for a living. We would double the commerce of the country instead of doing as we now do, study to see how we can avoid buying what other men produce. As the matter stands, however, it seems that we must patiently wait for the good time, which we trust is coming, when the men who control our transportation lines shall see the propriety of encouraging trade between farmers in different sections of the country, and of fostering the exchange of production to the full extent that is demanded by peculiarities of soil and climate. While it costs four bushels of corn to get one bushel to market, farmers cannot afford to buy articles produced at a distance, and pay four times their value at the place of production. We must study to live as though we were cut off, or shut off, from the rest of the world. We must forego the luxuries of other lands and produce luxuries in our own gardens. We must give up some of the sweets obtained from the tropics, and gather honey from the flowers, and manufacture sirup from sorghum and sugar from forest trees. We must make the farm serve the purpose of the whole round earth in supplying us with whatever is needed for the support and enjoyment of life.

Hints for the Housewife.

HONEY FRUIT CAKE.—Four eggs, five cups flour, two cups honey, one cup sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, one spoonful soda, one pound of raisins and currants, quarter pound citron, one teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg; bake in a large loaf in a slow oven. This will be nice months after baking.

REMEDY FOR HAIR FALLING OUT.—Wash the hair twice a week with castile soapsuds, then rinse thoroughly in tepid water. Use no pressing for the hair whatever. The same remedy is also used as a preventive of dandruff. As the scalp is cleansed, the hair soon grows rapidly, and you are well repaid for your trouble in seeing the fine new hair starting.

VEGETABLE SOUP.—An excellent soup can be made by putting a cupful of lima beans, a cupful of sliced potatoes, and five sliced carrots into one pint of milk; pepper and salt to taste. Simmer it for one hour and a half. Before serving, blend a teaspoonful of flour in half a cup of milk; bring the soup to a boil, and slowly stir in the thickened milk, until the soup becomes smooth.

CORRECT WAY TO SWEEP A CARPET.—There are three ways to sweep a carpet—one right and two wrong ways. One wrong way is to hold the broom nearly in front of the operator, with the handle inclined backward toward him, then press down as a forward thrust is given, thus throwing the heaviest dirt half way across the room, while the light particles are sent whirling about, covering, as they settle, every article of furniture. Another wrong way to sweep a carpet is to move the broom forward with a heavy, drawing stroke, by which the material to be removed is pressed into the carpet rather than worked gently along on the surface. If either of these wrong ways is adopted, the broom will wear out the carpet more than it is worn by the occupants of the dwelling. When a sweeper collects a dust-pan full of the nap of the carpet every time it is swept, a new one will soon be required.

CABBAGE SOUP.—Take a large cabbage, three carrots, two onions, five slices lean bacon, salt and pepper to taste, two quarts of medium stock. Scald the cabbage, cut it up, and drain it. Line the stew pan with the bacon, put in the cabbage, carrots and onions. Moisten with skimmings from the stock. Simmer very gently till the cabbage is tender. Add the stock, stew softly for half an hour, and carefully skim off every particle of fat. Season and serve. It takes one hour and a half to cook. This is a splendid soup for cool weather, and this quantity is sufficient for eight persons.

BOILED CHICKEN.—Plain, artless boiling are apt to produce a yellowish, slimy-looking chicken. Before cooking, the bird should always be washed in tepid water and lemon juice, and to insure whiteness, delicacy and succulence, should be boiled in a paste made of flour and water, and after being put in the boiling water, should be allowed to simmer slowly. This method is very effectual in preserving all the juices of the fowl, and the result is far more toothsome and nourishing than the luckless bird which has been "galloped to death" in plain boiling water. Mutton is also much better for being boiled in paste.

HOW TO SWEEP.—The right way to sweep is to incline the handle a little forward, then give a light drawing stroke, allowing the broom to hardly touch the carpet. Not one-half the weight of the broom should be allowed to press on the carpet as the dirt is moved forward. Let the dirt be moved and rolled along very lightly. If a generous supply of tea grounds, small bits of wet paper, or clean and wet sawdust can be spread over the carpet before the sweeping is commenced, all the fine dirt will adhere to the wet material. A little smart woman who is the terror to dirt will frequently hurl it about the room as if it were impelled by a whirlwind, and when the task is ended her dust pan will contain scarcely enough to pay for sweeping. But by using a good broom, having a long, elastic brush, and touching the carpet very lightly, it will scarcely require the strength of a child to sweep a large parlor in a few minutes. Scarcely one housekeeper in fifty understands how to sweep a carpet correctly.

FROZEN CUSTARD.—This is a nice dish for dessert, and very easily prepared: Boil two quarts of rich milk. Beat eight eggs and a teacupful of sugar together, and after the milk has boiled, pour it over the eggs and sugar, stirring all the while. Pour the whole into your kettle, and let it come to a boil, stirring it constantly. Then take it off the fire, and let it become cold. Flavor with whatever essence you prefer. Then freeze it.

APPLE SHORT-CAKE.—To one quart of sifted flour and two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and one of soda, half a teaspoonful of salt, quarter of a pound of butter, sweet milk or cream, enough to mix it. Have the dough rather stiff, roll and bake in a sheet. As soon as baked split open the whole cake, spread one cake quickly with butter, cover with well sweetened apple sauce, pour over some thick sweet cream, grate on nutmeg, place the other half on this, crust side down, spread with butter, cover with apple sauce, cream and nutmeg.

Biting One's Nails.

It is a perverse habit children are prone to establish, destroying the beauty of their fingers. Boys more frequently than girls gnaw their digits, but the latter occasionally fall into the vulgarity, as though determined to eat them off at the palm.

It is a singularly morbid craving peculiar to some temperaments that cannot remain long at rest. Neither appeals to their pride of appearance or sense of propriety are of any avail with nail gnawers, consequently the only hope of success in breaking up such a pernicious course that destroys a nice perception of touch, is to compel nail biters to dip the tips of their fingers every night, on retiring to bed, in a strong solution of aloes, an intensely bitter drug, so offensive that a taste of it, even in sleep, generally obliges them to desist.

If that experiment fails, then plunge the stubs into strong wine of antimony or a solution of ten grains of sulphate of zinc in a teaspoonful of water, which speedily produces nausea and even vomiting. A decoction of tobacco accomplishes the same result.

Follow up your nail-biting children, mothers, if they vomit six nights out of seven. It is the only known method of saving their fingers from deformity. They had better suffer a little sickness of stomach than go through life, mortified at the sight of their own misshapen, distorted members. This is an elementary lesson in the science of organic preservation.

Vowel Sounds.

As no language can be articulated without the use of a vowel, it is curious that in writing many Oriental dialects, the reader must have scholarship enough to know where to place a, e, i, o, or u, as the case may be, to get at the complete meaning of a sentence. It is so with the Turkish, Arabic, and ancient Hebrew, for example. Since the introduction of points there is an indication where they should be placed, but without specifying the kind of sound.

All northern dialects are harsh and guttural. In mild climates almost all words end with a vowel, hence they are soft and musical. Pascagoula, Pensacola and Alabama contrast strangely with Passamaquoddy, Pickwacket and Penobscot, in the State of Mainn.

To write a language with more letters than are sounded in speaking it is very embarrassing to a beginner. Such is the French. The "t" in "depot" is not discoverable in conversation. So of a vast many words in that language which leads to laughable blunders with those who are ambitious, late in life, to become linguists.

Philologists say a cat is superior to man in one respect, as she can sound five vowels at once in y-a-e-u-i—l.

Regulating a Coal Stove.

Never fill a stove more than half or two-thirds full of coal, even in the coldest weather. When the fire is low never shake the grate or disturb the ashes, but add from ten to fifteen lumps of coal and set the draft on. When these are heated and somewhat ignited add the amount necessary for a new fire, but do not disturb the ashes yet. Let the draft be open half an hour. Then shake out the ashes. The coal has thoroughly ignited, hnd will keep the stove at a high heat from six to twelve hours, according to the coldness of the weather. In very cold weather, after the fire is made, add coal every hour.—Coal Gazette.

LOUIS NAPOLEON'S DISEASE.

Result of the Post Mortem Examination of the Body.

[From the London Times, Jan. 11.]

A post mortem examination of the body of the Emperor Napoleon was made yesterday. It was conducted with great care and completeness by Dr. Burdon Sanderson, Professor of Physiology in University College, London, in the presence of the physicians and surgeons lately in attendance upon the Emperor, and its results are given with medical fullness and precision in the following document:

The most important result of the examination was that the kidneys were found to be involved in the inflammatory effects produced by the irritation of the vesical calculus (which may have been in the bladder several years) to a degree which was not suspected; and if it had been suspected could not have been ascertained. The disease of the kidneys was of two kinds: There was, on the one hand, dilation of both ureters, and of the pelves of both kidneys. On the left side the dilation was excessive, and had given rise to atrophy of the glandular substance of the organ. On the other, there was subacute inflammation of the uriniferous tubes, which was of more recent origin. The parts in the neighborhood of the bladder were in a healthy state. The mucous membrane of the bladder and prostatic urethra exhibited signs of subacute inflammation, but not the slightest indication of injury. In the interior of the bladder was found a part of a calculus, the form of which indicated that half had been removed. Besides this, there were two or three extremely small fragments, none of them larger than a hempseed. This half calculus weighed three-quarters of an ounce, and measured 1¼ inch by 1 5-16 inch. There was no disease of the heart, nor of any other organ excepting the kidneys. The brain and its membranes were in a perfectly natural state. The blood was generally liquid, containing only a very few small clots. No trace of obstruction by coagula could be found either in the venous system, in the heart, or in the pulmonary artery. Death took place by failure of the circulation, and was attributable to the general constitutional state of the patient.

The disease of the kidneys, of which this state was the expression, was of such a nature and so advanced that it would in any case have shortly determined a fatal result.

Signed by all present.

J. BURDON SANDERSON, M. D.,
DR. CONNEAU,
DR. LE BARON CORVISART,
HENRY THOMPSON,
J. T. CLOVER,
JOHN FOSTER.

Camden Place, Chiselhurst, Jan. 10, 1873, 6:30 p. m.

Sir William Gull left Camden place as soon as the autopsy was over, and was not present at the careful consideration and discussion of the facts entered upon by the other medical men assembled. He records a separate opinion in one point only, viz., the origin of the calculus, in the following terms:

I desire you to express the opinion that the phosphate of lime calculus which formed the nucleus of the mass was the result of prior cystitis (catarrhus visicæ) and not the cause of it. This nucleus was of uncertain duration, and may have been more recent than supposed in the appended reports.

However this may be, it was incrusted by two distinct and more recent formations of crystalline phosphate. The inner incrustation around the amorphous phosphate of lime was dense, and separated from the outer incrustation by a looser cellular but crystalline deposit of triple phosphate. It seems to my judgment more in accordance with clinical experience to regard the cystitis as the prior lesion, and that this, by extension, as is common in such cases, affected subsequently the ureters and pelves of the kidneys. No doubt in the later stages of the malady the calculus became, by its formation and increase, an augmenting cause of the lesions. The other facts and statements I entirely indorse.

WILLIAM W. GULL, M. D.

Brook street, Jan. 10.

Curious Facts About Whales.

Prof. N. S. Shaler, upon the authority of Capt. John Pease, an old and observant whale-fisher, writes as follows in the January number of the American Naturalist, concerning the frequent struggles between the male sperm whales:

"The conflict between the males of sperm whales cause great damage to the lower jaw; the evidence goes to show that at least two per cent. are crooked more or less, and one in several hundred very badly bent by these struggles. There are two specimens in the small museum at Nantucket which are singularly contorted; one of them is bent laterally into one turn of a spiral. Capt. Pease tells me that he found one that was bent sideways at right angles to the proper position and firmly fixed there, seeming to be permanently fastened in this singular position. In fighting, the males rush at each other with open jaws and strike in passing. The great speed and power of these massive creatures must lead to the most serious results from such collisions. Capt. Pease once found a sperm whale nearly dead on the water, with the lower jaw hanging by a single band of ligament a few inches through. Sharks and crustaceans were devouring the creature, but the wrench which had crippled him must have come from one of his own kind."

In the same article Prof. Shaler mentions a fact which, if it can be proved, may certainly become a strong argument for the Darwinists. It is as follows:

"The Captain is convinced that the right whale has a trace of hair within the skin. He says that when the skin is fresh, if it be scraped with a knife so as to remove the superficial parts, there will then be seen a trace of hair in the inner section. This point is worthy of attention from those naturalists who have opportunities for such work. It is evident that if the whale is the descendant of some land mammal form, it would be likely to preserve a trace of the hairy covering. In this connection it is interesting to note that, in the museum at Nantucket, there is a tooth of a sperm whale with two fangs after the fashion of an ordinary mammalian canine. The specimen was taken many years ago, but with it is the statement that the other teeth of the whale were of the same fashion. This clearly looks like a reversion to some higher mammalian form of dentition."

EAST AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE.—The London Telegraph publishes special dispatches from Cairo and Zanzibar in reference to the anti-slave mission on the East African coast. Its Cairo correspondent contradicts the report of a new Egyptian expedition to Zanzibar, the simple truth being that an exploring party of one hundred men, in charge of stores, will push forward in the track of Sir Samuel Baker, with supplies, to reinforce him if necessary, and send back to the Khedive's Government authentic intelligence about him from Zanzibar. It is also announced that Capt. Wilson, of the United States Navy, has had an interview with the Sultan of Zanzibar, who has promised that he will make strong efforts to stop the kidnapping of slaves.

The militia officers are not the proudest men in the world, we always believed, and the following anecdote goes far to prove that their humility is occasionally imitated as well in its practical as in its preceptive sense.

"Cuff," said one of these dignitaries to a negro at his side, as he prepared to swallow his fifth invoice of "hardware"—"Cuff, you're a good honest fellow, and I like to compliment a fellow what's lived an honest life, if he is black—you shall take a glass o' sumthin' to drink eh ?"

"Well cappin'" replied Cuff, wiping his mouth with the neither end of his shining coat sleve, "I'se berry dry, so I won't be ugly 'bout it. Some niggers is to proud to drink wid a malishy ossifer—but I tink a milishy ossifer, when he is sober—is jes as good as a nigger—if de nigger's dry.

Don't do it.—Don't seize a red hot poker to chastise your wife with; better admonish her calmly with a boot-jack.

Don't ask the Lord to punish your enemies, it isn't manly to shift the responsibility.

Don't clime the hill of science alone. There will be no one to congratulate you when you get to the top.

Don't try to catch a bullet from a Derringer in your teeth. It shows a want of respech for your dentist.

Don't ask your physician to describe your malady. Kind hearted men dislike to harrow one's feelings.

Don't try to get on a train when it is in motion. Mangled limbs soil the track, and bother the engineer.

Don't ask a policeman to "take a drink. They know where to find the pump, and are always ready to help themselves."

Don't take a cross baby to a place of amusement. The little thing will not appretiate the entertainment.

Don't beat your children on the head with a stick of stove wood It will tire your arm, and you may run a splinter in your hand.

Don't carry water on both shoulders. You might wear holes in your coat.

Don't carry brick in your hat. It will ruin it in time.

Don't paint the end of your nose with brandy. Good artists paint with oil.

Don't grease your boots in turpentine. It isn't fashionable.

Don't spin street yarn. It wears out to quick.

Don't look over the congregation to see who the preacher hits, when he is reproving sinners. It has a tendency to draw your mind off the sermon.

Don't drink laudanum as a beverage. It encourages extravagant habits.

Don't lay up all your treasures in Heaven. You may not be fortunate enough to enjoy them.

The Salary Question.

There are no more admirable pictures in history than Cincinnatus going from the plow to the dictatorship, and Marion welcoming the English emissaries to his dinner of roasted potatoes. What would Marion have thought could he have foreseen that within a century, the President of the American Republic would have declared himself unable to live on $25,000 a year and free lodgings? Yet this is the picture now presented for the consideration of American tax-payers.

Theoretically, the President is but the equal of the humblest citizen in the United States. The great majority of the people are living on less than $10,000 a year. Why cannot the elected head of the nation manage to get along comfortably on twenty-five times that much.

The tendency of wages in common life is downward, instead of upward.

It is true that many of the subordinate officers of the Government are paid at low rates; or to speak more correctly, would be but a pittance for men competent to do their duties.—But as yet, there has never been any difficulty to find persons ready to take any place that becomes vacant.

But the President's salary is large. It is more than double the compensation allowed the golden State of California, more than five times the salary of the executive of this great Commonwealth, and twenty-five times the yearly stipend of the Governor of Rhode Island compasatively the richest State in the Union.

The idea that the nation is served for honor, and not for mere money, is a pleasant one. It is still lingering in many minds. Perhaps it should not be expelled too rudely.

Mark Twain delivered a lecture in Hartford the proceeds of which amounted to $1,500, were given to the City Infirmary society, for the benefit of the suffering poor. Previous to his lecture he published a card announcing his charitable intentions, which is decidedly racy reading "Several of us, he says, "have conceived that we could raise a thousand dollars through the medium of a lecture, to be given next Friday night by the undersigned. I will thoroughly and cheerfully lecture here, for such an object, though I would have serious objections to taking in my own town for the benefit of my own pocket we freebooters of the platform, consider it more graceful to fly the black flag in strange waters, and prey upon the remote and friendless communities.' Tickets for the lecture were placed at the high price of one dollar each, and Mark explains and excuses the extravagant figure in this way: 'The lecture itself being worth nearly twenty five cents, the purchaser would really be given twenty five to the charity, if the tickets were fifty cents but by making the price a dollar, the purchaser has a chance to make a good honest and undefiled contribution of seventy five cents.' Again we quote some of his remarks:

"Lucca charges $4 a ticket, and my first idea was to charge $4 too, and run opposition. But my friends said no there was a difference—Lucca sings I said, very well, I would sing too. I showed them what I could do. But they still objected, and I said that a mere disturbance was not singing.—So I have came down to a dollar, But I do it with reluctance.'.

"I must not deceive any one. There fore, I will say in parentheses, as it were, that I am going to deliver a lecture, that I delivered before the Young Men's Institute, two or three years ago—a lecture on the Sandwich Islands. I do this because father Hawley's need is so pressing that I have not time to prepare a new lecture. I happen to be just fixed and primed for this Sandwich Island talk, for the reason that I have been rubbing it up to deliver before the New York Mercantile Library, some days hence. Now we offer these following terms: All who have not heard the lecture can pay a dollar and come in; and all who have heard it, can commute for two dollars apiece, and remain at home if they prefer. In which place the police will be instructed not to disturb them. But if they come to the hall they must behave and not cry over old jokes that made them sad when they heard them three years ago.

The Mule and the Bear.

A FABLE IN REAL LIFE.

The Memphis Appeal tells a touching story of how a mule was affected at the sight of a bear. A farmer was riding through the country near there mounted on a decendent of Balaam's ass, when he encountered a black bear.—The bear was astonished, and without taking time to think, hurried up a scaly bark hickory, and seated himself on a limbs thirty or forty feet from the ground. The farmer was completely puzzled. If he rode back to his house to get his gun, the bear would surely escape. He therefore tied the mule a long eared melancholy mule, forty or fifty years old, to the body of the tree. the mule was bridal wise but no bridal would hold him, so a strong leathern cable was kept coiled around his neck. With this he was fastened to a tree. The farmer started to the house, and bruin divining his plan, deemed it proper to get away. He doubtless suspected that a gun was coming. He came slowly down tearing the bark from the body of the tree. It rattled about the sleepy mule's head, who had not yet seen the bear, and dreamed not of the proximity of the ugly beast. The bear descended slowly, untill he was within five feet of the mule's great ugly head Then it was that the stupid innocent unsuspecting mule looked up. He had never seen a bear before. His knees smote one another, and he grew pale in the face. His eyes projected from his head—the farmer said—half a foot. His tail was slowly lifted, the hair all turned awry, til they stood at forty-five degrees above his spinal column, and then it was that the mule "hoved a sigh, and smoled a smile." It was an unearthly sound; the farmer, fifty yards away, says it shook the ground where he stood watching the process of events. The bear suddenly twisted itself about and reascended to its perch The mule swooningly fell at the base of the tree. He lay still and apparently dead for a time, when bruin again attempted the descent; but the terrified mule howled and roared even more piteously when the bark began to fall, and he dashed and danced about the tree so frantically, that bruin hesitated, and finally in stupified amazement, sat upon the limb upon which he first rested The farmer came with his rifle, and a bullet soon stopped the pulse beats of the bear. It fell heavily beside the mule, and strange to tell, as told to us, the mule and bear died side by side—the one of a mortal wound, the other of mortal terror. The bear was still black as Erebus; the mule's face was already white, with an agony of fear.

A drunken fellow had wandered into a Sunday School and took a seat among the primer scholars, when the teacher accosted him with, "Why, James do you know what condition you are in?" "Yes, m'm—'n the gall 'f' bit'ness, 'n the bonds 'f' 'niquity Ask me some hard qesh'ns.

And now the children have it. We heard a doting mother say to her tender male offspring, a few days ago.—"My dear child come here, and let me remove the epizootic from your nasal appendage.

The following is said to be a true test of horses ages:

"After a horse is nine years old, a wrinkle comes over the left eye-lid at the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter, he has a well defined wrinkle, for each year of his age over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is twelve years old. Add the number of wrinkles to nine, and you will always obtain the exact age." This is entirely a new wrinkle.

THE

New York Store!

Until Feb. 1st.

ROOT & Co.,

Will offer the entire balance of their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of

DRY GOODS!

—AT A—

Great Reduction!

In Price.

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

Reduced Prices
On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices
On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices
On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices
On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices
On rich winter dress goods
Reduced Prices
On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices
On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices
On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices
On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices
On fine woolen SKIRTS

Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and

Secure a Bargain!

ROOT & CO's

Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Pianos AND ORGANS

WATCHES and JEWELRY!

Silver and Plated Ware,

Spectacles and gold pens.
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated

JEWELRY

Fancy Toilet Sets.,
Opera guard & vest chains,

—AT—

ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!

Also a full line of toys for

THE HOLIDAYS!

CLOCKS

Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,

Piano, Organ,

and all kinds of Instruction Books!

Watches & Clocks,

Abright & Shepherd

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed AT Wholesale Prices

For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St. FORT WAYNE IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

THE PIONEER

STROE!

HARDWARE!

FOR EVERYBODY.

Reapers & Mowers

FOR EVERYBODY!

PLOWS

FOR EVERYBODY:

STOVES

FOR EVERYBODY!

Building Material for Everybody!

Go to

JOHN L. DAVIS,

IN THE BRICK BLOCK,

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO,

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN,

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law, as no special License can be given Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Teachers do not commence their school without license

J. A. BARNS, Exam'r

McDOUGAL'S

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Missippi, and its connections with roads further West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed and passengers are offered a first class, all rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps, time tables, information as to rates &c., we refer our readers to S. H. Thompson, [illegible] Passenger Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, [illegible] Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200 000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all. Climate, soil, timber, minerals, wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

DRY GOODS

G. O. DeWALD & CO.

WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS

—IN—

Dry Goods or Notions,

CALL AT THE STORE OF

Geo. DeWald & Co.,

No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WYNE,

Where can be found a large assortment of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

which will be sold LOW for cash.

ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET

The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introduce, we are offering

ONE DOLLAR

THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

WISHART

PINE TREE!

Tar Cordial,

NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY

FOR

Throat and Lungs.

☞ ☞ ☞

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS,

—AND—

Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART

Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

☞ ☞ ☞ ☞

L. Q. C. Wishart, M. D

No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.

PHILADELPHIA.

NOTICE

—TO—

Contractors

Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago R. R.

Engineer's Office B. & O. R. R.,
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10, 1873

Proposals will be received until the 1st day of February next, at Camden Station, Baltimore, Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masonry and Cross Ties of the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, from Defiance to Walkerton, Ind., on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago Railway, 120 sections, of one mile each.

Plans, profiles and specifications can be seen at Defiance, for the line between Defiance and Syracuse, 73 miles, and at Laporte for the line between Syracuse, and Walkertown, 47 miles.

Proposals for cross ties will state price for each kind of timber, and number of each kind proposed for.

Payments monthly in cash, retaining 20 per cent as security for completion.

The Company retains the right to reject any and all proposals.

JAMES L. RANDOLPH,
Chief Engineer, Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!

LIFE

Insurance Company,

OF

Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a

Home Company!

Inasmuch as the

ENTIRE NET RECEIPTS!

Of Indiana are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. FLEDDERMAN

No 27, East Main Street,

FORT WAYNE IND

as the largest and finest stock of

CLOTHS,

Coatings, Cheviots, and

CASSIMERES!

IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of

Made up Clothing!

ever shown in Fort Wayne

Youths' and Children's Clothing!

Furnishing Goods, etc.

Merchant Tailoring

In all the late styles properly attended to. [illegible]

ORGANS.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the

ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN

a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county

Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.

Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.

For the present and until further notice [illegible] at Gedorn's Gallery.

GEO. H. HOFFMAN.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1876.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER

DOORS, BLINDS

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Ballusters and Brackets

North of Canal West of Gas House,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby

SHOEMAKER,

Auburn, Indiana.

Having just opened [illegible] on Jackson Street opposite Swineford's hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public to all work in his line. Call and see.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, February 20, 1873. No. 8.

Auburn Courier,
Published Every Thursday By
THOMAS C. MAYS
Editor and Proprietor.
Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 00
Three Months	50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY
Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,
Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House. Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.
Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana. office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare' shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,
Attorney at Law, Carr's Block, 34 East Berry St. Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice in Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and ulcers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.
WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. Nos. 123 and 125 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent Home Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Morits, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description. Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.
LOAG & BROWN
DENTISTS.
Over the Palace of Fashion,
Keystone Block.

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK
BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of

BALTIMORE,
PHILADELPHIA,
NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificient day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO
Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,
And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 30
Indianoplis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 29
Waterloo	10 33		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 53		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 45	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 am	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 32
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 13		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 23, 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 A M	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1.30 P M	.28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,50 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crest- ar	9.20 "	4,22 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
line lv	9.40 "	5,00 A M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A M
Ft Wayne	2.40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4.45 "	2,35 P. M	2,05 "	5,05 "
Chicago	7.50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX	PAC. E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M.	5,30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	3,55 "	12,50 A. M
Ft. Wayne	12,20 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4,07 "	1,18 A. M	5,35 "
Forest	4.00 "	5,03 "	2,27 "	6,28 "
Crest- ar	5,35 "	6,30 "	4,05 "	8,05 "
line lv	11,20 A M	6,50 "	4,15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,19 "	4,33 "	8,55 "
Orville	2,15 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,06 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	8,25 "	1,10 P. M
Rochester	6,57 "	1,12 A. M.	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,
AND DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS
RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 50p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 33	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 18a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Indianapolis	8 00p.m	5 00a.m
Deaver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 13	12 38 p.m	5 50
Waterloo	4 23	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 45	1 03	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Bankers	7 08	2 52	5 00a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.
Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect, Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 36
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Fort Wayne Lve	12 39 p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 25	10 45
Connersville	5/25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WORTHINGTON, Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLE!
F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, &c
together with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.
PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!
AND
EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes, etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.
BAKER BROS.

THE
EAGLE MILLS.
AUBURN, IND.

Having affected new arrangements for the accommodation of the public, we are now prepared to modaet all demands made upon us in the way of
CUSTOM WORK!
We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.
Mill Feed
kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for
WHEAT!
THOMAS & ELSON

MR. C. KLOTS
Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his
Old Stand
ON MAIN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA
Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers and sell them such good as they may need,
FOR CASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!
as he has concluded not to do any more
Credit Business

Sutermeister,
Becker & Bond,
ARCHITECTS
BUILDING
CONTRACTORS,
AND DEALERS IN Building Stone
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
GRANITE.
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,
Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF
HardwareE,
NAILS. GLASS & PUTTY.
QUEENSWARE!
Willow-ware, Glass-ware,
Choice Groceries & Provisions!
—AT—
MARTIN & SONS,
Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

The President informed the delegation from Georgio, who waited on him a few days ago, that it was his intention to make a tour through the Southern States starting from Washington about the 20th of March. He will be accompanied by his entire Cabinet. At each point he will receive, as usual, anything from a bull pup to a corner lot.

Ft. W., J. & S. R. R.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders—Reports of Officers.

From the Jackson Patriot

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad Company was held at the Council room, this city, yesterday afternoon.

The President, Mr. P. B. Loomis, called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock.

A canvass was made as the amount of stock present, and 7,130½ shares having been reported a quorum was declared, the total stock amounting to 10,287½ shares. It thus appears that considerably more than two-thirds was represented.

The President remarked that it had been his custom, hitherto, to submit a written report of the trasactions of the road, but on the present occasion he would forbear, referring the meeting to the reports of the Treasurer and Superintendent, who would say substantially all that he should say. The year had been measureably prosperous, although the road has had the usual difficulties attending new enterprises. Its passenger traffic was generally somewhat limited, and its freight business was subjected to serve competition. It has had the usual disadvantages of 'a cross road,' and its progress, financially, has been slow. The efforts of the officers have been directed to put it in a position to merit the confidence of the public in a still greater degree, as essential to the dividends, which stockholders would like to receive. But if the work has not paid its builders much pecuniarily, it has proved a benefit to the sections of the country through which it passes; and be seriously doubted whether the people would consent to take their money back [illegible] the road removed.

The Treasurer, Mr. B. S Chapin, submitted his annual statement, which was accepted and plaeed on file. The essential features appear in the following report of Mr. A. W. Earnest, the Superintendent for the year 1873:

Gross earnings freight	$131,656,71
passengers	90,392 89
D. H. & Ind., and D. E. R. & Ill. Railroad Company, for hal of cars and use of track	42,515 81
Mails	4,815 00
Express	6,569 45
Car mileage (Balance)	4,908 87
	$280,647 63
Total earnings for '71 as per list report	220,510 09
Increase	$60,136 04
The operating expenses [exclusive of salaries of President, Secretary, Trasurer attorneys and expenses of the general office, and including salaries Superintendent and Gen. Freight and Ticket Agents]	140,755 76
Of which say part of amount charged to road repairs account, for expense on road train, ballasting, grading for side track, &c., should be charged to construction account, reducing the total of expenses to, say	10,000 00
	130,755 76

In the statement of earnings for 1871, the total mileage earnings of our cars on other roads was included, while only the excess of mileage earned by our cars over the mileage of freight cars on that road, is stated above for 1872. Deducting from last year's earnings, the Eel river haul, &c leaves for 1872 $236,431.82; and deducting from 1871 earnings, the difference in the car mileage accounts, as above, leaves for 1871, say $210,510.99. The difference, $25,920.82, shows the actual increase of our regular earnings in 1872 (not including 'Eel River' haul, &c.) over earnings in 1871 figured in same manner as earnings for 1873.

The increase of freight earnings, $19,405.82, is much less in proportion than the increase in the tonnage of freight hauled, owing to the low rates, particularly on lumber, which we have been obliged to accept.

The rolling stock has been increased during the year by two new second-class coaches, fifty flat cars, and two new caboose cars; and, since January 1, by one new baggage, mail and express car. We have now eight locomotives four first-class and two second-class passenger coaches, three baggage, mail and express cars, five caboose cars, eighty box cars and 150 flat cars.

A few more box and coal cars should be obtained at as early a day as possible.

Our engines and rolling stock are in excellent condition. The buildings, water tanks and bridges have been kept in good order, and improvements and additions have been wade to most of them. A large amount of ballasting has been done during the year, but more is yet to be done to bring the road bed up to the proper standard. When that is accomplished, the expense of the road repars, heretofore quite heavy, and also wear and tear of the rolling stock, will be materially lessened.

About ⅝ of a mile of side track has been laid during the year, and the road bed and track are now in better condition for business than they were at the date of my last report.

Increased faculties for doing business at Fort Wayne and Jackson, and for storing and reparing rolling stock; and perhaps some additional side tracks at other places will soon be needed.

Accepted and placed on file.

The election of Directors was then held and the following gentlemen chosen:

Jackson—P. B. Loomis, Dwight Herriman, E. A. Webster, W. D. Thompson, W. R. Reynolds.

Jonesville—E. O. Grosvenor.

Fort Wayne—A. P. Edgerton, H. J. Rudisile, J. H. Bass, S. C. Evans.

Angola—C. F. Kinney.

Waterloo—C. A. O. McClellan.

Detroit—J. F. Joy.

Mr. H. R. Gardner, of Jonesville, offered the following, which were adopted:

WHEREAS, It seems desirable that increased facilities for business be obtained by perfecting connections with other roads.

Therefore, Resolved, That the Directors of this company are hereby requested to take such steps and negotiate and perfect such arrangements with other rail-road companies, as they shall, upon consideration, deem best for the interest of the stockholders; and the power and authority to do so to the extent to which it may be lawfully given, is hereby devolved upon said Directors.

The meeting thereupon adjourned.

ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD.

The newly chosen Directors met at the office of the President, immediatly after the adjournment of the general meeting, and organized with the election of the old officers;

President—P. B. Loomis.

Vice President—A. P. Edgerton.

Secretary—Eugene Pringle.

Assistant Secretary—B. S. Chapin.

Executive Committee—P. B. Loomis, E. A. Webster, E. O. Grosvenor, A. P. Edgerton, H. J. Rudisile.

No man can deny in the of light Credit Mobiler, that the Cincinnati movement of last year, was not productive of good in the country. [illegible] abroad a spirit of inquiry that has resulted in unearthing the most gigantic frauds upon the people, and removing the cloak of hypocritical cant that has too long enveloped the leaders of the Radical party. The seed sown in the late campaign, is yet destined to regenerate the nation.

It is singular that public attention has not been called to Senator Edmund's speech of last week, charging that $126,000 was spent by the Union Pacific Railroad Company, to carry the amendment to the army appropriation bill of 1871, releasing the Pacific Railroad companies from certain obligations to the government. Doubtless the Central Pacific expended an equal sum for the same purpose, This matter and the operations of the Central Pacific Contract, and Finance Company will probably come before the next Congress for investigation.

Corruption.

It was charged during the late canvass in the State by the Democratic press, and persistently denied by the opposition, that a corrupt fund had been placed in the hands and at the disposal of the leaders of the Republican party to influence the election, and carry the State for Grant. The Mobiler investigation is shedding light on several dark transactions, and among others, that of the means used to carry Indiana at the late election. Ames testified last week that he and his brother contributed $4,000 for the last October election, and that they did so at the request of Secretary Boutwell and Senator Morton. He says the money was put where he thought it would do the most good. How it would make the honest men of Indiana open their eyes, could Morton only tell where all the corruption fund used in Indiana by him was expended.

If there is any man who deserves well of the State of Indiana, that man is Professor Cox. Through him the coal mines have been made to yield almost double; capital has been enlightened as to the capabilities of the mineral resources, and by every effort, late and early, he has fixed the attention of the country upon the treasures of the State. It would be impossible to pay him in mere money for his persistent and energetic services, but there should be a very liberal compensation fixed upon his office.

What is the matter with Secretary Boutwell? Preceeding the Presidential election he made monthly reports of large reductions of the National debt. On the first of January, a change seems to have occurred in the Treasury Department by which the debt was increased $1,684,307, but Boutwell assures us that this was nominal rather than a real addition as from three to four million was reported collected but not received into the Treasury. Thus, the public mind was prepared for a handsome decrease on the first of February. But lo! Boutwell now tells us that there has been another increase of about 500,000. The excuse this time is, large disbursements to the Pacific Railroad, Washington Public works &c.—Ligonier Banner.

If Colfax received that twelve hundred dollars it is enough. Argument ceases just there.—Boston Globe.

We hope most sincerely, that a private and public career like that of Mr. Colfax is not to have so terrible an ending.

—Brooklyn Union.

Had Mr. Colfax frankly stated what are understood to be the facts he might not have forfeited his position in the public esteem.—Albany Eve. Journal.

The difference betgeen Colfax and Grant, is that Colfax is a Vice President, and Grant is a Virtue President—as compared with Colfax.—(Caveat entered and patent pending.)—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The South Bend Register is the paper founded by Schuyler Colfax. It says:

We haven't a shadow of hesitency in believing that Mr. Colfax will clear himself from ever imputation of dishonor regarding his unfortunate connection with Credit Mobiler.

That he (Colfax) may be succesful in cleaing away the suspicious circumstances that surround him, is the earnest wish of every good citizen throughout the land. We believe he will succeed and hope to chronicle the fact before going to press.

—Lagrange Standard. (What-is-it.)

The Indianapolis Journal says:

There is reason to believe that Mr. Colfax will be able to disprove the prima facie case now made against him. Meanwhile, it is due to his long public career that public judgement be suspended untill the facts are known. We believe in the maxim that no one suddenly becomes base, and shall hold our final judgment in reserve so far as Mr. Colfax is concerned, until he has had an opportunity to explain away the ugly circumstances which indictae his guilt.

—St. Louis Democrat.—(Administration.

A Suggestive Incident in the Arkansas Valley.

(From the Topeka Commonwealth.)

On one of the bright days of January just passed, a party of Illinois stock men were riding in a bugy in the Arkansas Valley, in Western Kansas, "looking over" a small portion of the 3,000,000 acres of land in that part of the world owned by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe R. R. Company. Suddenly they were startled by a string of expletives which would hardly be considered polite in good society, closing up with the demand: "Drat yer picters, cant ye hear? stop."

As these words were accompanied by violent jestures, on the part of a man, who stood not far away, gun in hand, they did stop. But the only thing they saw was the death of a Texas heifer, two years old, standing in the pararie, in a heard of two or three hundred with whose death they had been in danger of interfering. While wondering at the motive which would induce a man to shoot down a grass-fed heifer in midwinter, they drew up to where she lay. It was easily to preceive that she was fat. In fact intended for beef, and a good article. Supper demonstrated the matter by taste. It was most excellent feeding.

They had been pleased by the lay of the land and only wanted some practical test of the region at a stock-growing country. The little incident which some men might have passed by, settled this point, and the strangers went home satisfied that the opening up of the Arkansas Valley was the most important incident that had occurred for years, as affecting the stock growing interests of this country. It is a region in which cattle in the midst of an unusually severe winter keep fat on the boundless range of wild grass.

Would not the present be an appropriate time for the Hon. Henry Wilson to make a new appeal to President Grant, to join the temperance society.

THE TRUNDLE-BED.

As I rummaged through the garret,
List'ning to the falling rain,
As it pattered on the shingles,
And against the window pane,
Peeping over chests and boxes,
Which with dust were thickly spread,
I saw in the farthest corner
What was once my trundle-bed.

And I drew it from the recess
Where it had remained so long,
Hearing all the while the music
Of my mother's voice in song—
As she sung her sweetest accents,
What I since have often read—
"Hush, my dear, lie still and slumber,
Holy angels guard thy bed."

As I listened, recollections
That I thought had been forgot
Came with all the gush of memory,
Rushing, thronging to the spot,
As I wandered back to childhood,
To those merry days of yore,
When I knelt beside my mother,
By this bed upon the floor.

Then it was with hands so gently
Placed upon my infant head,
That she taught my lips to utter,
Carefully the words she said,
Never can it be forgotten,
Deep are they in memory graven—
"Hallowed be Thy name, O Father!
Father! Thou who art in Heaven."

This she taught me; then she told me
Of its import great and deep;
After which I learned to utter
"Now I lay me down to sleep."
Then it was with hands uplifted,
And in accents soft and mild,
That my mother asked "Our Father!"
"Father, do Thou bless my child."

Years have passed, and that dear mother
Long has mouldered 'neath the sod,
And I trust her sainted spirit
Revels in the home of God.
But that scene at summer twilight
Never has from memory fled,
And it comes with all its freshness
When I see my trundle-bed.

THREE PICTURES.

CHAPTER I.

A beautiful September sunlight, with the purple shadows just closing over the last faint flush of the departing day, and one or two timid stars hanging tremulously against the perfect sky. The eastern hills rise dimly where the great golden-faced moon will soon appear, and the gray road wanders away beneath the arching trees whose leaves are just tinged with yellow.

A long, low house sets back from the road, and the smooth-shaven lawn in front sweeps down to its bordering fence of brown.

Between the great, clumsy-looking gate-posts there is a slight, graceful girl, with soft dusky hair, and shadowy, dreamy eyes. A face, that once seen, would haunt one forever. A brave, true face, with its clear, pure outlines and crimson-curving mouth. A shawl of vivid gleaming red trails from one arm over the dead black of her dress.

Above her there is a fair, stately man, with chestnut curls and a sweeping golden beard. A pair of knowing hazel eyes watch his companions as he leans indolently on the gate-post and twirls his hat in one hand.

A sad little air with quaint, old-fashioned words comes floating down through the scented air, in a boy's clear tenor:

"Summer is breathing soft o'er the hill!
Roses are blooming sweet in the vale;
Yet must I leave thee weeping alone?
Ah, who'll protect thee when I am gone?"

"It's brother, Clare," she says to him smilingly.

"Barbara"—bending suddenly down to her—"I'm going away to-morrow to California. I came to-night to say good-bye."

"Going away?" she returns, with all the eloquent light beaming from her face, and surprise and pain quivering in her voice. "For how long?"

"Probably for years—possibly forever. And the beautiful, cruel eyes smile heartlessly on her white stricken face.

The truth comes to her slowly. It is so hard—so very hard to believe him false. And all the bright glad summer—the twilight walks and rides made blissful by his presence—oh, must it all be forgotten?

And still through the soft cool air thrills the boyish tenor:

"Sunbeams were glancing o'er the blue sea,
Bright were the glances that eyes gave me."

Something in the yellow glaring moonlight seems hateful to her now, and her brother's voice arouses a new sense of pain. But pride comes to her aid, and with a mighty effort she crushes back the rising tears, and forcing a smile on the pallid lips, says, as she gives him her hand:

"I am sorry to have you go, but—good-bye."

"Good-bye, little Barb," and a pair of bearded lips are pressed to her own before she can resist him, and his light laugh floats back to her almost mockingly as he walks swiftly up the road.

The last notes of her brother's song come to her while she stands there alone in the moonlight:

"Long ere the morrow I shall be,
Friendless, forsaken, far from thee."

There is one low, dry sob, and the dainty head is bowed on the rough brown wood, while over her the moon throws its pale, shadowy light.

CHAPTER II.

Three years have elapsed since the preceding scene, and I would now take my readers to a back chamber on the third floor of the E—— Hotel. The time is midnight. There is a figure of a man at the window, a man who is evidently in a deep slumber, for the head is pillowed upon both arms, which rest on the sill. His breath comes heavily, his face is flushed, his hair disheveled, and his whole appearance speaks plainly enough—intoxication.

In the street below there is a confusion of shouts and hoarse cries; there is a clangor of bells on the night air, and a suffocating smell of smoke is in the room.

Suddenly the door opens, a slender figure in a dark wrapper hastens to the man at the window, and a woman's voice cries:

"Clare, the house is burning—come quickly!"

But it is not Clare, and she hesitates; then—

"Sir, arouse yourself; the house is in flames!"

Bending over to shake his arm, a sickening smell of liquor greets her, and the man mutters and moves in his sleep.

His face is turned a little toward her—that fair blonde face, how natural!

It is her lover.

"Louis North? Oh, my God, Louis, how came you here?"

For a moment she reels blindly, then rallying, seizes a pitcher from the stand and dashes the contents over him. He awakes with a gasp and a shiver, and rising unsteadily to his feet, exclaims in maudlin anger:

"Come, now! Tha's no-way-t-gi-feller-drink! She'd be gentle-n-steady."

She looks at him a moment. Is this the man she has loved so madly! Oh, what are the bitter years of waiting and weeping to the terrible sufferings of this one dark moment?

"Louis, do you know me?" steadying him with her little hands.

"Why's lill-Barb! Gla-see-yer, Barb. Give's (hic) kiss!"

He reels toward her, but she pushes him back and looks him full in the face.

"Louis, if nothing else will bring you to your senses, let me tell you that this house is burning to the ground, and unless you exercise some will-power and follow me, there will be nothing but a heap of ashes left of us by morning."

A little sobered now by her earnest tones, he straightens himself up, and puts her one side, with a drunken leer as he crosses the door.

"So much the better, my dear. We will perish in the flames together; so romantic, you know! You are not aware that I am something of a fire-worshipper?" and he swings the key before her startled eyes—the key has locked them for life.

"Louis—Louis, you surely will not keep us to our death? Give me the key!"

With a half sob she springs toward him, but he receives her with outstretched arms, and draws her to his breast.

"Couldn't give you that, sweetheart—I'll do anything else though, because I love you—I do truly!"

His hot breath sweeps her cheeks as he bends over her.

"For shame, Louis!" she cries, struggling to free herself from his cruel grasp; then realizing how vain her efforts are, she grows quiet, and her face rests as white and still as death on his shoulder.

There is a pause, in which a cloud of smoke pours in at the window. She looks up into the gleaming eyes above her, but makes no outcry. There is a slight movement of his lips as though he would press them to her own, and his head droops over her. But suddenly he opens his arms and she is at liberty.

"Your pure lips shall not be contaminated, Barbara; I am a drunken wretch."

He unlocks the door and throws it open. A tongue of flame leaps from another chamber, and a volume of smoke pours up the stairway. The halls are full of it. Already Barbara's breath comes gaspingly. North snatches a blanket from the bed.

"Are you afraid of me, Barbara?"

"Not now," she whispers.

"I'll save you, little Barb," he says, wrapping her in the blanket. "Put your arms about my neck. Hold fast, now, and cover your face and mouth from the smoke."

He lifts her easily in his arms, and as the smoke holds back an instant he springs for the stairway. A few moments more and they are out in the cool fresh air and away from the crowd.

A slender youth comes to Barbara's side and kisses her rapturously.

"Oh, my sister! thank God, you are safe!"

Then he turns quickly to her companion, but the eager light fades from his face, as he recognizes his sister's faithless lover of three years before.

"Mr. North! We are greatly obliged to you." This coldly and proudly.

"You are mistaken, Clare. It is I who owe my life to your sister." Then aside to Barbara, "I must see you. Do not refuse me. Tell me when and where."

"I shall be at my old home after to-morrow. Stay, after to-night, for it is morning now. I will see you Tuesday evening at my home in M——."

"Thank you; I will come."

He flushes a little beneath the gaze of her clear eyes, and after offering to assist her further, which offer Clare declines haughtily, he bows and walks away with the fitful light falling over the gleaming chestnut hair and elegant figure.

CHAPTER III.

Another September evening, but intensely warm for the season. The chirp of the crickets comes up from the yard; the leaves are motionless on the branches, and the moon hangs like a ball of fire in the sky. The air is odorout and heavy with lingering summer.

In the two figures on the veranda we recognize Louis North and Barbara Vaughn.

There is something indescribably attractive and fascinating about her tonight. Her robes of muslin are very becoming. Her face shines out whitely from its frame of dusky braids. One or two sweet peas droop from the brown of her hair, and another cluster is thrust into her belt. North devours every little detail of her dress with his greedy eyes.

"Barbara," he is saying, "I owe you an apology for the condition in which you found me on the night of the fire."

He pauses an instant, but she only bows, and he goes on: "What you thought of me I do not know—I dare not ask. But may I ask if I have drifted entirely out of your life?"

He knows that he has been something to her. Her face is turned from him, but he snatches one white hand, and bends toward her, saying, almost fiercely:

"You do not answer me! You must!"

"I must?"

How royally the dainty head lifted, and how clear and scornful are the eyes that once drooped beneath his own!

"Forgive me, Barbara, and answer me. I love you. Forget the past, and let us be happy."

The girl's dreamy gaze is fixed upon the old gateway, with an expression of half regret for the days that will never come back.

Through her brain there drifts the memory of that night at the gate three years ago, and she turns to him a little sadly:

"You deceived me once. I cannot trust you again."

"Barbara! Barbara! You don't know what you say!"

The same familiar voice, and he takes her face between his warm, strong hands in the old fashion. He realizes now that his power over her is gone, because she does not flush and tremble, and drop her eyes with that shy, unconscious smile as of yore.

"You may repent this, Barbara," dropping her face with a gesture of despair.

She turns to him and says quietly:

"Louis North, no man can deceive me twice. As for your condition Thursday night, you owe an apology to yourself rather than to me. I may cherish some little regard for the man I once knew, but it is not love. I think of him as of one dead. You have no place in my regard, and remember, when I say 'good-bye' this time, it is without a shadow of pain or regret."

"And this is my answer?"

"It is!"

Another moment and she is alone. While she lingers there in the shadows, a sound of voices falls on her ear, and presently she recognizes her brother Clare's accents as he says:

"You'll find her on the front veranda, Grant. I am going up the road. Good night."

"Good night." This last in a pleasant, manly voice, and Barbara turns to respond to his greeting.

A man some five years the senior of North. A plain rugged face that has not North's silken curls or flowing chestnut beard to beautify it, but a face that one would instinctively turn to for help and guidance.

"Are you ill, Barbara, or only serious?" he asked, noting her pale face.

"A little serious, I think, but I shall be better now that you are here, for you always put me in a good humor."

"I am glad to hear you say so, Barbara," he says, with a sudden earnestness, as he lays his hand over the slender one that rests on the veranda railing.

Her heart beats a trifle faster, and a faint scarlet breaks over the white of her cheek, beneath his kind, strong eyes.

"I care more for you than you think," he continues. "I love and respect you more than any other woman living. I have seen no one since my mother died who so completely realizes my idea of true womanhood as you. I am aware that you might make a more brilliant match, but consider that I have a right to hear my fate from your lips."

He smiles a little, but sobers almost instantly, for he is deeply in earnest, and his face grows pale while he awaits her answer.

"I can have but one answer," bending her head slightly before him, and holding out both hands. "I believe in you—I can trust you."

His warm, steady hands close firmly over hers, and he bends to kiss the curving mouth, gravely, tenderly, and respectfully.

It is so unlike North's fierce wooing. Barbara breathes a sigh of infinite rest and peace, and turns into a new path with a sense of security and of great peace.

Foreign.

Rochefort continues ill.

In China wives are a legal tender for debts.

The Japanese Empire consumes very little fish.

Louis Napoleon suffered terrible bodily tortures.

Napoleon IV. has returned to his studies at Woolwich.

Capt. Hall's skeleton has been sent from the Arctic regions to England.

Chinese oranges are cheap, but delicious as a decayed apple rolled in the sand.

Statistical returns show that there are in France at the present time 1,969,787 widows.

Photographs of the late Napoleon III., in military dress, are not allowed to be sold in Paris.

A negro named Henry Bow, and who pretends to be from Virginia, has been arrested in Paris for garroting.

Miss Hosmer is said to have sufficient orders to keep her busy with chisel and mallet for the next five or six years.

London firms advertise to send their oysters "to any part of the kingdom, with a printed American recipe for cooking."

A company of Yankee Swiss Bell-Ringers are performing in England, and draw crowded houses at ten cents admission.

Some of the English and French newspapers allude to the defunct house of Bowles Brothers as the "Yankee pawnbrokers."

The London Times has not a person connected with its staff who has not held his place nine years, while some have been there twenty-two years.

One mouse-catcher at Aarburg, in Switzerland, caught 11,381 mice in the last three months of 1872, for which he received a bounty of three cents a head.

Great Britain will raise the $14,560,000 to pay the Alabama award out of the ordinary revenues of the country during the ensuing year, and probably have a small surplus besides.

While the Empress Eugenie was in the height of her beauty and position some one addressed her as "the most enviable of mortals." The Empress answered: "Oh! yes, very happy; until one fine morning they will throw us out of the windows into the street!"

The new directory of the city of Berlin is just out. The city has 634 streets, which are traversed by 140 omnibuses and 3,750 cabs; 124 public schools, 100 private and 36 kindergarten; 24 theaters; 30 daily papers; 316 periodicals; 46 churches; 1,263 lager beer halls, and about 2,000 small liquor shops.

Domestic Happiness.

Sir Samuel Romilly in his autobiography gives a touching picture of his domestic happiness. He says "for the last fifteen years my happiness has been the constant study of the most excellent of wives; a woman in whom a strong understanding, the noblest and most elevated sentiments and the most courageous virtues are united to the warmest affection and to the utmost delicacy of mind and heart; and all these intellections are graced by the most splendid beauty that human eyes ever beheld." Romilly's affection and admiration for this noble woman endured to the end, and when she died the shock proved greater than his sensitive nature could bear; sleep left his eyelids, his mind became unhinged, and three days after her her death the sad event occurred which brought his own valuable life to a close.

What We Breathe.

The Scientific American says: We have all heard of the Black Hole at Calcutta. It was a room eighteen feet square. In this room one hundred and forty-six persons were confined. It had but one window, and that a small one. Dr. Dunglison, in his "Elements of Hygiene," says: "In less than an hour, many of the prisoners were attacked with extreme difficulty of breathing; several were delirious, and the place was filled with incoherent ravings, in which the cry for water was predominant. This was handed to them by the sentinels, but without the effect of allaying their thirst. In less than four hours many were suffocated or died in delirium. In five hours the survivors, except those at the gate, were frantic and outrageous. At length, most of them became insensible. Eleven hours after they were imprisoned, twenty-three only of the one hundred and forty-six came out alive, and these were in a highly putrid fever."

There are many "black holes" like this used for sleeping-rooms, says the London Co-operator; the difference between them and the one at Calcutta is that they are not crammed quite so full of human beings. In a word, then, we may say a sleeping apartment should be large, lofty, and airy. It is a poor economy for health to have large and spacious parlors, and small, ill-ventilated bed-rooms. Fashion, however, is a reigning deity in this respect, and will, no doubt, continue to bear sway, notwithstanding our protest against her dominion.

You will scarcely drink after another person from the same glass, yet you will breathe over and over the same air charged with the filth and poison of a hundred human bodies around you. You cannot bear to touch a dead body because it is so poisonous and polluting; but you can take right into your lungs, and consequently into your body, your system, those poisonous particles and noxious exhalations which the bodies around you have refused, and which have been cast into the atmosphere by their lungs, because the health of their bodies required them to be thrown off.

If the "timorously nice creatures who can scarcely set a foot on the ground," who are so delicate that they run distracted at the crawling of a worm, flying of a bat, or squeaking of a mouse, could see what they breathe at the midnight carousal, the very polite ball, and bright theater, they would never be caught in such company again. Nay, if they could see what they breathe in their own dwellings, after the doors and windows had been closed a little while, they would soon keep open houses. More sickness is caused by vitiated air than can be named. It is one of the most prominent causes of scrofula, which is but another name for half the diseases that attack the human body. It vitiates and destroys the whole fountain of life—the blood.

In the sick room it often augments the disease, or renders it incurable. If the physician comes in and opens a window, or a door stands ajar for a moment, the good nurse, or the tender mother, or the kind wife, or the loving sister, will fly up and close it as though the life of the sick were at stake. All this is well-meant kindness, but really cruel.

If you would have health, breathe fresh air; open your windows every morning, and often during the day; leave off your mufflers from the chin. For twenty years I was accustomed to never going out without a handkerchief tied closely around the mouth, and for nearly that period have left it off. I have had fewer colds and suffered far less from changes of climate than previously. Let the air into your bed-rooms; you cannot have too much of it, provided it does not blow directly upon you.

Bible Quotations Not in the Bible.

There are many familiar phrases in constant use which the majority of people suppose have their origin in the Bible, and use them in that connection. The New York Observer corrects this error in the fellowing manner. But, as the phrases are very fine, we still love to use them. To prevent misquotations from the Scriptures it gives them thus:

"God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb." From Sterne's "Sentimental Journey to Italy." Compare Isaiah xxvi: 6.

"In the midst of life we are in death." From the "Burial Service," and this originally from a hymn of Luther.

"Bread and wine which the Lord hath commanded to be received." From the English Catechism.

"Not to be wise above what is written." Not in Scripture.

"The merciful man is merciful to his beast." The Scriptural form is: "A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast."—Prov. xii: 10.

"A nation shall be born in a day." In Isaiah it reads: "Shall a nation be born at once?"

"As iron sharpeneth iron, so doth a man the countenance of a friend." "Iron sharpeneth; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend."—Prov. xxvii: 17.

"That he who runs may read." "That he may run that readeth."—Hab. ii: 2.

"Owe no man anything but love." "Owe no man anything, but to love one another."—Rom. xii: 8.

"Prone to sin as the sparks to fly upward." "Born to trouble as the sparks fly upward."—Rom. 5: 7.

"Exalted to heaven in point of privilege." Not in the Bible.

Eve was not Adam's helpmate, but merely a help meet for him; nor was Absalom's long hair the instrument of his destruction; his head, and not hair upon it, having been caught in the boughs of the tree. (II Samuel xviii: 9.) A London wig-maker once had a sign upon which was painted Absalom suspended from the branches of the oak by his hair, and underneath the following couplet:

"If Absalom hadn't worn his own hair, He'd ne'er been found a hanging there."

Miss Jennie Collins, of Boston, proposes to start a cross between a hotel and a college, where cooks may go through special courses and all classes of domestics graduated in their several degrees.

A Danbury man wears a ten-cent silver piece on his shirt bosom, and calls it a dime-and pin, which it certainly is.

How They Treat Broken Packages in the London Postoffice.

There is no savor of Yankee baggage-smashing in this account of the tender manner in which accidentally broken parcels are treated in the London postoffice, and this was at Christmas, too, when there was a great rush of mail matter. They are borne away to a side table, which is called "the hospital"—and in this postoffice infirmary two clever surgeons dexterously stitch up their wounds, set all their broken limbs in splints, and in fine cure such of them as are at all curable, in a marvelously shoat space of time. Some of the patients seem past cure. Alas for the pretty box of bonbons that has burst open, and the contents of which are brought piecemeal into hospital, where the surgeon receives them with a shake of the head. In extremis seem this doll, whose integuments have been torn off, whose nose has been stove in, and one whose nether limbs arrive some time after the frame to which it belongs. A bit of string tinkers up a box containing a lump of plum cake half cased in sugar, but there is no cure for this packet of Taddy's snuff, addressed in a woman's handwriting to a woman, and the contents, pervading the atmosphere generally, set everybody a sneezing. Decidedly "open for inspection" is the doll in this parcel; the head sticks up out of the paper, and something or other has given madam a black eye. A box of real roses, sent from France to Scarborough, has got broken, and some of the leaves fall on the surgeon's table as the delicious odor scents the air. With tender fingers he handles the beautiful bouquet, and let us hope the fair one whose bosom it will adorn to-morrow night will scarcely be cognizant of the mishap. Trussed fowl in this package has not been seriously injured, nor has the snipe in this other, but the surgeon sniffs disgust at its high condition as he makes it fit for the road again. After all it is not so bad as the dead puppy which passed through his hands the other night. There is a smashed scent-bottle, whose contents have been mainly absorbed by a chignon addressed to a married lady. A wooly dog, that barks snappishly when he is handled, is half out of his paper kennel. A box of misletoe has seriously suffered, but the doctor Gehulfe is dexterously to the front, and cherry lips may yet be kissed under it to-morrow night. Why didn't the gentleman who sent the beautiful bouquet to the lady in Surrey inclose it in a better box, and why, oh! why was not the dish of larks forwarded in something more substantial than a fragile case of paper, so as to avert the amalgamation into which they had entered with the contents of Master Jack's paint box?

Overworked.

Cooking, scouring and working becomes chronic with many housekeepers; domestic concerns occupy their minds to the complete exclusion of all other subjects. Each day brings to them its real and trumped-up cares; the former being sufficient to tax both mind and body, without the addition of unnecessary duties. Trot, trot, go the feet of the patient, or impatient woman, who fancies the world must instantly become chaos, if just so many pies are not on hand, and the usual number of shakings given to the dust-cloth. She must keep going from cellar to garret, no matter if she walks on blisters. "Who will do it if I don't," says she, when remonstrated with by a husband, who wishes that he might occasionally see a smiling face and hear a cheerful voice, even if a few specks of dust rest here and there, and there are no pies in the larder. His rather gruff response, "let the work go," meets with impatient accusations "that he never did appreciate his wife," etc., the scene generally ending with tears on her part and frowns on his. Yet there are two sides to every story. When men complain that their wives do more work than is necessary, and beg them to let it go, would they not likewise complain if things were not served up in order and neatness? Would they be willing to go to the pantry and "take a bite," instead of sitting down to partake of the savory dishes set before them at dinner? Would they like to eat hasty pudding instead of bread, because so much time and strength are required in kneading? When they wanted a clean knife, spoon or plate, would they quietly go and wash it, because the wife let "the work go to rest?" Ah, but making beds, kneading bread, washing dishes and getting dinner are the simplest and most necessary duties. A woman can attend to these without being always drudging," respond the discomfited grumblers. Yes, yes, but to find out how many steps are required to perform those duties properly, you should try them yourselves for a few weeks. Then, you would learn to be patient when she is weary, and prone to look on the dark side of life.

England and Russia.

Russia may have made a mistake in pushing her expeditions with such easy disregard of English feeling into the heart of Asia. England's pacific course of late years on the continent has been in marked contrast to her bellicose temper in former times. But there could be no greater error than to ascribe this peaceful mood to cowardice or weakness. England is stronger to-day than ever, and she has ceased to fight because she has learned, by the bitter experience of exhaustive expenditure and heavy public debts, that such wars as she used to wage to conquer markets and hold colonies cost more than these were worth. But in India she has an immense pecuniary stake, and is plainly enough ready to fight for it. In the language of a London correspondent, the moment the Russian advance threatens English supremacy in India, they will start an army for Afghanistan and a fleet to Cronstadt and set half the world in a blaze sooner than yield an inch on the banks of the Oxus.

Chinese Slave Trade.

The days of slavery have not yet passed away. An attempt is now being made to import Chinamen into Central America, the object being to make slaves of them. A vessel recently touched at Honolulu with nearly 700 coolies on board, bound for Punta Arenas, Central America. They were entered in the ship's manifest as personal effects, and the government of the vessel was that of the slavers of the olden time.

Bergh has now determined that the check-rein shall be abolished.

"GETTING MARRIED 'LL PAY.

[illegible] Lisher, to-morrow's your wedding day;
[illegible] sure I wish you joy,
Health, wealth, and content all the days of life.
God bless you and keep you, my boy!

Marrying is risky business,
For husband as well as for wife!
So, generally speaking, it's as serious a thing
As happens to folks in life.

Merry Ann Smith and you, Lisher,
Fell in love in the good old way;
But I've seen many couples that started as well,
Have the very old scratch to pay.

I don't say that you will, Lisher,
So there's no occasion to pout;
But you and Merry Ann will have tantrums;
I know what I'm talking about.

For you're inclined to be touchy,
And you're mighty sot in your way;
And, Lisher, whenever your dander is up,
You have a pile to say.

Merry Ann Smith is as smart'a gal
As they raise in these parts about;
But that kind, Lisher, are never made up
With the ginger and pepper left out.

Bear in mind, Merry Ann has her notions,
And a will like yours and mine;
And that she has a right to her say in things
That naturally fall in her line.

Be gentle about the money question;
Every time you give her a cent
Don't ask her to give you a strict account
Of the way it's going to be spent.

She's the woman you loved and sparked as a gall,
See'll work and live for you;
All that she is, or might be, boy,
She gives, as no man would do.

You know how much you can afford, Lisher,
To make your yearly expense;
Just hand a part over to Merry Ann,
And trust to her good common sense.

If you ever do have any difference, Lisher,
Remember you keep a still tongue;
For when outside parties know family affairs,
An endless dissension 's begun.

In health and in sickness, for all sorts of luck,
You promise to take your wife;
To love, and cherish, and honor her,
All the days of her life.

Merry Ann promises just the same;
Now-days they leave out the obey;
I never set any store by that—
Too much one-sided, I say.

To honor and cherish each other through life,
To love—that lives always—why, I couldn't bear
To live with the Lord in glory,
If you an' Aunt Phronia wasn't there.

Good night, Lisher! God bless you, my boy!
I'm glad to-morrow 's the day;
All things considered, I think you'll find
That getting married 'll pay.

Humorous.

A theatrical prescription—Change of scene.

A man that ought to be re-membered—A one-legged soldier.

The man who couldn't find his match went to bed in the dark.

To a marriage notice in a Vermont paper is appended: "No cake; no cards; no divorce."

Adam and Eve entered the Garden of Eden in the spring time, but were snaked out in the fall.

They had a typographical hop at La Crosse the other night. A drunken printer hopped out of a four-story window.

A Kentucky butcher who was beset by three robbers, pounded them with sausages and spareribs until they howled for mercy.

A young lady in Iowa recently whipped out an incipient conflagration with her stockings. She had heard that firemen used "hose."

The quails in Massachusetts say they cannot stand another such winter as this and are coming West, where they can keep warm on toast if the climate fails.

A worthy old farmer, who was being worried in his cross-examination by a lawyer in Maine, exclaimed: "Look here, squire, don't you ask a good many foolish questions?"

Tweed is an incorrigible joker. He goes about saying that the jury in his case stood "eleven for acquittal and two for conviction," and then, when his arithmetic is criticised, explains that "there was one juryman and a judge."

Judge—I fine Tim Leary $5 for assault and battery on Pat Malone. Pat—But, your honor, I want more damages. He blacked my eye, and if I had been invited to a tea party I couldn't have gone. Judge—The Court knows nothing about consequential damages. You must carry your case to Geneva.

A gentleman was surprised, during the late frosty weather, to see his little daughter bring home from the Sunday-school a grave treatise on "backsliding." "My child," said he, "this is too old for you; you can't make anything of it." "I know it, papa; I thought it would teach me how to slide backwards."

The Philadelphia Star says: "French butter is more uniform in texture than ours. But for determination in holding on and promptitude in taking a grip, earnestness of purpose, and vivacity in execution, commend us to the gilt-edged, thirteen-cent boarding-house butter, so dear to every American boarding-house keeper's heart."

Mishaps of a Persevering Young Woman.

A charming young lady of eighteen summers, named Carrie L., of Warren, paid a visit to this city a short time since, and, on Saturday afternoon last, she went to the depot of the Warren and Venango road, intending to return home, but arrived just in time to see the train disappearing round the curve. Bent upon reaching Warren that night, she started out along the track with the view of walking the entire distance. At 7 o'clock in the evening she arrived at Newton, which is twelve miles from the city, and upon reaching the middle of the trestle-work at this point, she saw the night train approaching; to go on or recede, or step to one side, was impossible, so she jumped down into the chasm twenty feet below. Fortunately the ground was covered with a snow-drift, into which she sank up to her arm-pits, thus breaking her fall and saving her life. She did not scream or cry for help, or anything of that sort, but quietly dug herself out, and after half an hour's work regained the track and resumed her journey. Two or three miles further on a still more serious obstacle presented itself—the track was under water as far as the eye could reach. Upon looking round she discovered a light in the woods, and concluded that it must be a house. This proved to be the case, and the hospitable family, after hearing her story, took her in and did everything in their power for her comfort. The next morning she took the train from Newton for Warren, and arrived there in time for dinner.—Titusville Herald.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Combinations Against Farmers.

In a paper on combinations for controlling prices, which was read by Mr. T. D. Curtis, of the Utica Herald, before the New York Dairymen's Association, he says: Agriculture is kept waiting by it, like a beggar at the back door, while commerce, manufactures, and all the royal interests of the capitalists and speculators are admitted in front, and receive obsequious attention. The producing classes—among whom the farmers are foremost—pay, directly and indirectly, all the taxes and receive the least consideration. Still for this the farmers are themselves largely to blame. They have not pushed their claims, but have plodded on patiently at home, and accepted whatever was offered them. They have not seen through all the tricks of the non-producing classes, and now they are wondering "if farming pays?" It does pay, but not in proportion to other callings, many of which are paid too well, and at the farmer's expense. Farming is robbed by high rates of interest, extortionate rates of freight, enormous profits on tools, machinery and manufactures, by commissions, and in a thousand and one other ways, through the tricks of agents and impostors. While it gives employment to fully one-half our entire industrial population, it fixes neither the prices of what it sells nor buys. Tradesmen, mechanics, and speculators fix these prices. Is it any wonder that the farmer does not get the best of the bargain under such a system? Supply and demand regulate prices of farm products to some extent, but the prices of farm tools, manufactures, mining and the like are regulated by combinations, directly and indirectly.

How I Make Soft Soap.

I keep my ashes dry, and when put in the hopper preparatory to making soap, I have from a half to one peck of unslacked lime put in with the ashes. Before putting the grease in, I swing the kettle off the fire and let it hang a few moments. If there is any potash in it, I take a shovel and take it out, for if there is much potash in it it will not make good soap. I pack the ashes well, adding water enough to dampen them. Then I put three or four buckets of water on each day for two or three days, until I think it sufficiently soaked. And lastly, I pour on boiling water to run the lye off. As soon as I have enough run off to commence boiling, I put my kettle over the fire, and boil the lye as fast as it will boil, still adding more lye as it boils down. In this way I continue for a whole day. By evening it will probably be sufficiently strong to eat a feather in passing it three times across the liquid. I now put my grease in (all I think it will eat) still boiling as fast as I can without its running over. If it eats the grease all up I add more. I now leave my kettle to hang over the fire all night. In the morning, if there are any scraps of grease that are not eaten up, I boil again for an hour or two, and if they do not dissolve I take them out. Then I take out a few spoonfuls of the soap, and set it away a little while to cool. When cold, if there is no lye under it, and it appears free from grease, I set my kettle off, and hang another one to boil more lye. Managing in this way, I generally can make from sixteen to eighteen gallons of nice white soap in two days, and often in one day and a night.—Cor. Cincinnati Gazette.

Tendency to Monopoly.

Thos. Meehan, in the Philadelphia Press, expresses the belief that the steam-plow cannot be made profitable on small farms, but that, as steam can do the work cheaper than horses, the tendency will be to tempt capitalists to work the land more than they do, and thus bring about larger farms, and more stupendous enterprises in the business than we find now. If this be true, we may have great monopolists in the agricultural as in the mercantile world. In England, the tendency has been toward large farms, and farming pays in that country. In France, the farms are small and unprofitable. The prospect of co-operation affords the most convenient solution of this problem which occurs to us, and it is not wholly unreasonable to suppose that, as machinery becomes necessary and expensive, farmers will combine, and succeed in joint-stock concerns where they fail singly.

Preserving Potatoes.

A correspondent of the Scientific American says that he has tried the following method of keeping potatoes for years with complete success, though in some instances the tubers were diseased when taken out of the ground: "Dust over the floor of the bin with lime, and about six inches deep of potatoes, and dust with the lime as before. Put in six or seven inches of potatoes, and lime again; repeat the operation until all are stored away. One bushel of lime will do for forty bushels of potatoes, though more will not hurt them—the lime rather improving the flavor than otherwise.

Household Notes.

To Make Sausage.—To ten pounds of meat, add four and a half ounces salt, one ounce pepper, three-quarters of an ounce sage.

[illegible] Cake.—Take one pound of fine flour, a half pound of fresh butter, a half pound of finely-sifted loaf sugar; mix well in a paste, roll out an inch thick in a square shape, pinch the edges so as to form small points; ornament with comfits and orange chips; bake in a quick oven. When of a pale lemon color it is done.

Deviled Turkey.—Take the legs of a turkey or large fowl, cut it all over to the bone, pepper and salt it well; then take mixed mustard, mix it with one-third its quantity of flour, and plaster the legs over with the mixture as thick as it will stick, also stuffing the gashes in the legs with it; when this is done put it on a gridiron over a clear fire; serve hot.

Delicate Cake.—Take one pound of flour, one of sugar, three-quarters of a pound of butter, one wine-glass of wine, one of brandy, the whites of sixteen eggs. This makes a delightful cake, well named.

Cream Puffs.—Boil together one gill water and one-eighth cup of butter; while boiling stir in three-quarters cup of flour. Let it cool; then add three eggs well beaten separately. Butter and flour your tin, and drop the mixture upon it. This quantity will make ten puffs.

Hominy Pudding.—Prepare as for batter cakes, add one egg for each pint, some whole cinnamon, sugar to suit the taste, and a few raisins, and bake like rice pudding. A little butter or chopped suet may be added. Serve hot or cold, with or without sauce.

Quaking Plum Pudding.—Take slices of light bread, thin with butter, and lay in a pudding dish layers of thin bread and raisins till within an inch of the top. Add five eggs, well beaten, and a quart of milk, and pour over the pudding; salt and spice to taste. Bake in 25 minutes, and eat with liquid sauce. Before using the raisins boil them in a little water and put it all in.

Chicken Patties.—Chop very fine all the dry, poorest bits left from baked chickens; season carefully with pepper, salt, and a little celery cut in small bits; make a light puff paste, roll a quarter of an inch thick, cut with a neatly-shaped paste-cutter, lay a narrow strip of the paste all around, and then put some of the mince on the paste; cut another piece of the same size, and lay it over; bake 15 minutes. This makes a neat dish, and is good.

To Relieve Ingrowing Nail.—This is a painful annoyance, and is treated with advantage in various ways. The most successful is to pare down the center of the nail from root to end. Let it be worked down quite thin, so as to relieve the pressure at the sides, which causes the soreness. Keep the end of the nail well pared down in the center, giving it the concave form, just the reverse of the natural edge.

To Remove Warts.—Simply apply carbolic acid a few times for a few days. There is no pain.

Miscellaneous.

St. Paul claims 37,000 population.

There are 160 patent windmills in this country.

New Yorkers are trying "cat-mains" for a change of sport.

Small-pox is epidemic in seventy towns in Massachusetts.

Cincinnati made 11,038,829 proof gallons of whiskey in 1872.

Four women are given places as clerks in the Kansas Legislature.

Silver and gold embroidery is a new adornment for ball dresses.

The Colorado Central railroad is to be laid with the best steel rail.

The fashion of elaborately trimmed bonnets is said to be dying out.

Fifty-three per cent. of the voters of Alabama can neither read nor write.

Niagara river is five feet lower than it ever has been known to be before.

In Lake City, Fla., a few days ago, $4,000 in Confederate money sold for $10.

Colorado estimates that it received at least $1,000,000 from tourists in 1872.

Character is what a man essentially is. Reputation is what the world thinks he is.

"Indian Tom," the last of the Creek tribe remaining in Georgia, died a few days ago.

A ladies' debating society at Paris, Ky., lately decided that bachelors are a nuisance.

Flowers are scarcely used at all in bonnets this winter, feathers supplying their place.

Vallejo and Los Angeles are the only towns in California that suspend business on Sunday.

Brick is altogether ahead of granite in resisting heat, as abundantly shown by the Boston fire.

Plowing has commenced in California, and men are walking about with open collars and straw hats.

Massachusetts has one mile of railroad to every four and three-quarter square miles of territory.

A member of the Georgia Legislature has introduced a bill making profane swearing a penal offence.

The first copper coinage of the United States was made in 1757, and Connecticut can claim the distinction.

Old Texans declare that they never knew by actual experience what cold weather was before this winter.

A convention of Washington's servants is called for by those who are fond of these rare specimens of humanity.

A sturgeon measuring seven feet eleven inches, and weighing one hundred and ninety-three pounds, was recently caught in Lake Houghlin, Michigan.

In 1871, England sent to the United States books of the value of more than a million dollars in gold. She received from this country less than $60,000 worth.

The Boston Advertiser reports that the Boston firemen were paid twenty-five cents per hour for extra service at the great fire. Common laborers received forty cents.

What the Term Credit Mobilier Means.

To the Editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer:

Can you inform a few thinking readers what a Credit Mobilier is, and where this name originated, and if the enterprise exists anywhere?

Careful Inquirers.

Credit Mobilier is of French origin, and means a security based on personal property. Its name is expressive to all possessing a knowledge of the French tongue. Mobilier being applicable to the movable nature of personal effects, portable property as we should say in English, the object of a Credit Mobilier scheme is to borrow money on personal effects as a security. In the Union Pacific enterprise the Credit Mobilier was established in order that the money might be borrowed on stocks and bonds, as these facilities are already liberal on Third and Wall streets. The "C. M.," of which Mr. Oakes Ames is the ostensible head, had to offer large inducements in the way of interest. In France the Credit Mobilier is regarded as a regular investment stock, and is daily called on the Paris Bourse before the railway shares, coming immediately after the Government securities and Bank of France shares.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Western Patents.

The following Western patents were issued from the United States Patent Office for the week ending January 14, 1772, as reported by Gridley & Warner, Patent Attorneys and Solicitors of Patents, No. 135 South Clark street, Chicago, Ill.:

ILLINOIS.

Cultivator—Isaac N. Canthorn, Carthage.
Earth auger—George C. Collins and James A. Morrison, Philo.
Ruffling attachment for sewing machines—Harry C. Goodrich, Chicago.
Corn planter—George D. Haworth, Decatur.
Reed organ—Raphael B. Letton, Quincy.
Butter worker—Daniel W. Dake, Chicago.
Cob carrier for corn shellers—Henry H. Eby, Mendota.
Cultivator—Augustus C. Tower, Mendota.
Clothes drier—David B. Watson, Moawequa.
Combined corn planter and seeder, Robert Cowan, Bloomfield.
Vise—Irwin Roberts, Meriden.

INDIANA.

Axle-box and spindle—Jacob Bower, Lafayette.
Flue-blast for steam fire engines—John Grabder, Warsaw.
Machine for mining coal—George Elbreg, Brazil.
Latch for gates—James R. Finley, Delphi.
Hand corn-planter—Frank A. Hawkins, Noblesville.
Bleaching safe—Catherine W. Shriveley, Peru.
Bushing for piston rods—George W. Welch, Fort Wayne.

IOWA.

Steam and air brake—Alexander Q. Smith and Henry M. Ogden, Burlington.
Balanced side valve—Thomas Beesley, Muscatine.
Bed bottom—Azel H. Ball, Cedar Falls.
Wheel for vehicles—Hiram Kellogg, Floyd.
Truck for moving buildings—William E. Walker, Albion.

WISCONSIN.

Cultivator—Seaman S. Bushnell, Horicon.
Rotary fan—Irad S. Eastman, Madison.
Saw-mill—William Gowen, Wausau.
Attachment for sewing machines—Frances N. Violet, Fond du Lac.
Potato bug collector—Joseph Corbell, Lind.
Threshing machine—Dennis O. B. Ladd, Racine.
Machine for making baskets—James Moore and Samuel W. Day, Oak Creek.

MINNESOTA.

Means for propelling vessels—Henry C. Camp, St. Paul.
Middlings purifier—Charles Janney, Minneapolis.
Steam plow—Albert E. McGaughey, Minneapolis.
Two-horse evener—James Sturgis, Minneapolis.
Sewing machine—John H. Whitney, Rochester.

A New Departure in Medicine.—There are "new departures" in medicine as well as in politics. The latest and most successful of these is the bold movement of Dr. Joseph Walker, of California, who has actually had the effrontery to produce a Vegetable Tonic and Restorative, without any alcoholic basis, which is curing disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, nerves and pulmonary organs, with a rapidity that fairly entitles him to the anathemas of the Old School of Physicians, and the praise and confidence of the New! His California Vinegar Bitters may be safely pronounced the most popular remedy of the age. When it is considered that this now famous specific was introduced some two years ago, its present sale, which is at the rate of 3,000,000 bottles per annum, can only be ascribed to its intrinsic merits. It is believed that the history of "patent medicines" affords no example of a success so rapid and complete. The community insists that this success is thoroughly deserved, and we have no inclination to dispute its dictum. The Voice of the People, if not exactly that of Omnipotence, is generally the voice of Common Sense, and as they have had ample time to take a sober second thought on the subject, it may be assumed that, in this instance, their opinion is creditable to their sagacity.—[Com.

Removing Stains.—If you have been picking or handling any acid fruit and have stained your hands, wash them in clear water, wipe them lightly, and while they are yet moist strike a match and shut your hands around it so as to catch the smoke, and the stains will disappear. If you have stained your muslin or gingham dress, or your white pants with berries, before wetting with anything else, pour boiling water through the stains and they will disappear. Before fruit juice dries it can often be removed by cold water, using a sponge and towel if necessary. Rubbing the fingers with the inside of the parings of apples will remove most of the stains caused by paring. Ink also, if washed out or sopped up from the carpet when it is spilled, can be almost entirely removed.—Hearth and Home.

It is now generally admitted by honest physicians that when once the consumption is fairly fastened upon the lungs, no human power can save the patient from death. They also say that about fifty per cent. of those who die from this disease can trace the cause to a neglected cough or cold, which might have been cured by a small bottle of Liquid Opodeldoc, or what is the same thing, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.—[Com.

The increase of the Baptists in this country last year was 69,698, being larger than that of any other denomination.

The Purest and Sweetest Cod-Liver Oil is Hazard & Caswell's, made on the sea shore, from fresh, selected livers, of the Cod only, by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to all other oils in market.—[Com.

A Dangerous Atmosphere.

The great atmospheric wave which, the meteorologists tell us, sweeps over the whole United States from the Pacific coast at this season, is loaded with unwholesome vapors that chill the body and disturb all its functions. Perspiration is checked, the stomach is deranged, the bowels and the liver sympathize with that organ, the nerves and muscles are affected, pulmonary complaints are engendered, and the spirits are more or less depressed. These are among the common effects produced by the moist, ungenial winds prevalent in the winter months. But if the system is toned and fortified in advance with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, no danger need be apprehended from any condition of the atmosphere. The "ill wind that blows nobody any good" will not be likely to blow any harm to him who strengthens and regulates his internal organs with this wholesome vegetable tonic and alterative, and clothes his outside in a manner suitable to the season. The seeds of fever and ague, and other diseases of an intermittent or remittent type, are now in the air, and are liable to be planted in the system, to germinate and bring forth bitter fruit, either immediately or at a later period, unless due sanitary precautions are taken to ward them off. Of all safeguards against malaria, this famous vegetable antidote is the best; and of all remedies for the painful ailments caused by damp, cold and sudden changes of temperature, such as rheumatism, chills, irregularities of the bowels, bilious attacks and indigestion, it is the most reliable and the most agreeable.

A Stubborn Cough that will not yield to ordinary remedies may be thoroughly cured by Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, an efficacious medicine in Bronchial and Pulmonary Disorders.

THE WEEKLY SUN.

Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

The Best Family Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Agricultural Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Political Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Newspaper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Has All the News.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Story Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Fashion Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Market Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Cattle Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Paper in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-Colored Urine, and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Tasteless, Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice Anti-Bilious Granules—the "Little Giant" Cathartic or multum in parvo Physic. 25 cents, by all Druggists. 626

Cut this notice out and bring it with you. We are authorized to refund the cash to any person or persons who shall buy and use Parsons' Purgative Pills and fail of relief and satisfaction.—[Com.

Cure for Cough or Cold.—As soon as there is the slightest uneasiness of the Chest, with difficulty of breathing, or indication of Cough, take during the day a few "Brown's Bronchial Troches."—[Com.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.
Beeves—Good to Prime........	13 @	14
Common.............	9½@	10½
Hogs—Dressed	5½@	7
Cotton—Middling Upland.......	21½@	..
Flour—Superfine Western.....	6 50 @	7 25
Wheat—No. 2 Milwaukee......	1 70 @	1 72
Corn..........................	65½@	66
Oats..........................	53 @	56
Pork—Mess....................	14 37½@	..
Lard..........................	8½@	8½
CHICAGO.
Beeves—Choice................	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium...............	4 25 @	5 00
Common...............	3 00 @	3 75
Inferior..............	1 75 @	2 25
Hogs..........................	4 00 @	4 25
Flour—White Winter Extra....	8 00 @	10 50
Red Winter Extra........	7 00 @	8 00
Wheat—No. 1 Spring..........	1 27½@	1 28
No. 2 Spring.........	1 22 @	1 23
No. 3 Spring.........	1 09 @	1 10
Corn—No. 2..................	30 @	31
Oats—No. 2..................	25½@	26
Rye—No. 2....................	65 @	65½
Barley—No. 2................	67 @	71
Butter—Choice...............	25 @	27
Eggs—Fresh	39 @	40
Pork—Mess....................	12 00 @	12 10
Lard..........................	7 30 @	7 35
ST. LOUIS.
Corn—No. 2 Mixed............	31½@	34
Rye...........................	70 @	..
Pork—Mess....................	13 00 @	..
Hogs	3 90 @	4 40
Cattle........................	3 25 @	3 75
CINCINNATI.
Flour	7 55 @	8 35
Wheat	1 70 @	1 77
Corn	40 @	41
Pork—Mess....................	12 75 @	13 00
Lard..........................	7½@	8
Hogs	4 40 @	4 90
MILWAUKEE.
Wheat—No. 1.................	1 31½@	..
No. 2.................	1 24½@	..
Oats—No. 2...................	26½@	..
Corn—No. 2	36½@	37
Rye—No. 1....................	68 @	..
Barley—No. 2.................	77 @	..
CLEVELAND.
Wheat—No. 1..................	1 75 @	..
No. 2..................	1 70 @	..
Corn..........................	45 @	46
Oats	37 @	39
TOLEDO.
Wheat—No. 1 Red..............	1 80 @	..
No. 2 Red..............	1 75½@	..
Corn..........................	38 @	39
Oats..........................	35 @	39

$1,000 REWARD

For any case of Blind, Bleeding, Itching or Ulcerated Piles that De Bing's Pile Remedy fails to cure. It is prepared expressly to cure the Piles, and nothing else. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.00.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.

The January No. contains $4.00 worth of Songs and Piano Pieces, (32 pages). Price—30 cts. or $3.00 a Year. Two back numbers, our own selection, for 50 cts. Four for 80 cts. Address J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, N. Y.

GREATEST CURIOSITY in the world. Useful and instructive. 10,000 selling weekly. Price 50 cents. No humbug. Address George A. Heard & Co., Boston, Mass.

A NEW CARPET.

—The Great Wonder.—The New England Carpet Co., established over a quarter of a century ago, having expended much time, talent and money to produce a stylish and durable carpet at a low price, after years of experimenting with the best artisans have brought out a carpet which they have named and will be known as GERMAN TAPESTRY, being exact imitation of Solid Brussels, the first thousand pieces of which, in order to introduce them, will be sold for 37 1-2 cents per yard. Sample sent by mail on receipt of 10 cents, or 5 different patterns 50 cents.

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.,
373 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

"AMERICAN SAWS."

BEST IN THE WORLD.
MOVABLE-TOOTHED CIRCULARS,
PERFORATED CROSS CUTS.
Send for Pamphlet to
AMERICAN SAW CO., NEW YORK.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.

Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents, Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

10,000 PRAIRIE FARMS,

16 hours from Chicago—with no change of cars—all in the

"MIDDLE REGION of WESTERN IOWA."

A rich, well-drained prairie soil of natural meadow and plow land, evenly distributed; pure running water abundant; climate unsurpassed (fever and ague being unknown). Compact bodies of land to be had to any desirable extent.

1,700 000 ACRES OF RAILROAD LANDS,

Free from mortgage, granted to build, and all adjacent to, the Iowa lines of the Chicago and Northwestern, Illinois Central and S. C. & P. Railways, for sale in tracts to suit purchasers, by the IOWA RAILROAD LAND CO. Lands of the best quality, and near stations only cost from $7 to $10 per acre, the more distant $4 to $6, on time, with 6 per cent. interest.

Agents at Railroad Stations are provided with plats, prices and teams to show lands, free to purchasers. Land Exploring Tickets, receivable for land purchased, can be had at the Chicago Branch Office, 65 S. Canal-st.; at the Railroad Offices in Clinton and Dubuque; and at our main office as below. Land buyers should call or send and obtain a guide. It costs nothing, and gives descriptions, locations, prices, terms, and all needful information. County maps, showing lands for sale, also sent free. Call on or address,

JOHN B. CALHOUN,
Land Commissioner, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

NEW YORK FIRESIDE COMPANION.

The Great Story Paper of America, and the Best Popular, Illustrated, Family Newspaper.

Splendid Announcements for 1873.

A NEW STORY BY EDMUND YATES, ENTITLED,
A BAD LOT.

Humorous Articles by Petroleum V. Nasby.

A NEW STORY BY OLIVER OPTIC.

ARTICLES FOR WOMEN
BY EMILY FAITHFULL AND ELIZABETH DUDLEY.

These distinguished authors, with the following list of old favorites, who have made the FIRESIDE COMPANION heretofore so popular, have all been engaged for the new year:

Mrs. Sumner Hayden,
Clara Percy,
Mary Grace Halpine,
Elizabeth Dudley,
Lucy Randall Comfort,
J. W. Mackey,
Captain Carleton,
S. W. Pearce,
Bricktop,
G. L. Aiken,
Tony Pastor,
John Elderkin.

A SERIES OF SHORT ARTICLES BY POPULAR AMERICAN WRITERS.

A SERIES OF ORIGINAL ARTICLES ON PARLOR GAMES AND HOME AMUSEMENTS,

Parlor Theatricals, Charades, Magical Delusions, Scientific Experiments, Legerdemain, Divining Oracles, Card Games, etc., including all that is humorous, droll, and amusing, in the whole range of games.

During 1873 the FIRESIDE COMPANION will contain More New and Powerful Continued Stories than have ever appeared in any American paper. Our arrangements for the new year surpass all previous efforts; the vastly increased circulation of THE FIRESIDE COMPANION enabling us to complete our engagements upon a scale of unexampled liberality.

Short Stories, Sketches, Poetry and Biography; Answers to Correspondents, Humorous Articles, Reading for the Little Folks, Fashionable Chit-Chat for the Ladies, and other interesting departments, will be maintained without regard to expense.

We endeavor to make THE FIRESIDE COMPANION the best, most useful, and most desirable paper in America.

OUR TERMS FOR 1873.—NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

One Year—Single Copy.....................$3 00
One Year—Two Copies.......................5 00
One Year—Four Copies ($2.50 each).......$10 00
One Year—Eight Copies......................20 00

Those sending $20 for a Club of Eight, all sent at one time, will be entitled to a copy FREE. Getters up of Clubs can afterward add single copies at $2.50 each. Specimen copies sent free.

GEORGE MUNRO, Publisher, 84 Beekman Street, New York.

O. S.---2781.

Dr. A. H. SMITH'S
CELEBRATED
Old Style Bitters!

The Best Tonic and Health Giver of the Age—The Famous Blood Purifier and Invigorator.

A Decided Improvement upon any Medicine ever Presented to the World!

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Having been thoroughly and well tried the proprietors have no hesitancy in saying that no preparation has ever given such universal satisfaction as the OLD STYLE BITTERS. All who have used them once will take no other. They are pleasant to the taste and contain more Medicinal properties than any other Bitters made. For Dyspepsia of all kinds and for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Jaundice, and all kindred diseases, we defy the world to produce a preparation equal to this. For Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, and Fever and Ague, the Old Style Bitters are unrivalled. They are especially adapted for Females, and contain nothing that is in the least injurious to the weakest physical frame. They will build up and invigorate the weak and debilitated. The Ladies cannot find a Tonic superior to Old Style Bitters. Let all the afflicted give them a fair trial.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

UNION MEDICINE CO., SOLE PROPRIETORS.
VAN SCHAACK, STEVENSON & REID, Chicago, Ill.,
MEYER BROS. & CO., St. Louis, Mo.,
McKESSON & ROBBINS, New York,
WHOLESALE AGENTS.

Largest Organ Establishment in the World

7 Extensive Factories.

J. ESTEY & COMPANY,

Brattleboro, Vt., U. S. A.

THE CELEBRATED

ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.

The latest and best improvements. Everything that is new and novel. The leading improvements in Organs were introduced first in this establishment.

Established 1846.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

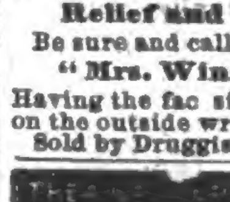
Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.



THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

To Book Canvassers A New way of running A BOOK.—Can sell a thousand copies per week. Address Union Publishing Co., 335 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints Dropsy, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the Nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

Prepared by H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.
Price $1.25. Sold by all Druggists.

$10 to $20 per day. Agents wanted everywhere. Particulars free. A. H. BLAIR & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 200 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box [illegible].

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

$200 A MONTH SALARY to Agents, male and female. Address with stamp, Bridal Needle Co., 713 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

C. N. U. No. 7.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, February 20, 1873

LET US VINDICATE.

If our Republican friends, says the Fort Wayne Sentinel, are satisfied with Mr. Colfax's explanation then certainly they are remarkable clever in temperament, and easily convinced against matters which embrace the double crime of theft and perjury. In the face of the testimony given by Ames, corroborated as it was by attendant circumstances, and the affirmation of bank clerks, and the Seargent-at-arms we say in view of all this, if any of our Republican friends are willing to take Mr. Colfax's explanation, which he partly read from a speech at South Bend and partly brings forth from the recollection of a dead friend and a willing step-father, they are welcome, if it will bring them any consolation. The people generally will not accept Mr. Colfax's little story of the letter and a thousand dollar bank note; It is too much after the style of some of Mother Goose's narrations, with which the youths of the country are often delighted. It sounds very much like 'Little Jack Horner sat in the corner,' yet without the virtue of that rhyme or the sense.

It is more like the "Old woman who lived in a Shoe,' for Colfax will certainly "have more than he can do" to drive back the ghost of Nesbitt. If he had taken the advantage of a live man his story might carry with it, some plausibility, for the live man could be produced as a witness; and, certainly in the atmosphere of Washington, where Senators, Congressmen and even Vice Presidents hesitate not to perjure themselves some straw man could be found suitable for the occasion, but to go to the grave of the dead, and shake confession out of a corpse, is wholly so ridiculous that if it were not a corpse but the body from which said corpse was manufactured, living, moving and having a being, it would be subject to be arrested as a lunatic, If Mr. Colfax's sudden recollection of the thousand dollar note be true, Nesbitt was more than fool, and little less than idiot, from a business point of view. Men generally are not so reckless as to risk such large sums of money in a simple unregistered letter. If Mr. Nesbitt in life was a character so reckless, in habits of business, he would be by this time a most terribly demoralized corpse, and truly a fit subject for Mr. Colfax to impose upon. We do not desire it understood that we speak lightly of the dead; for, from what we can gather from the case, we are forced to believe that the Nesbit our picus Vice President has in mind, is simply a myth, Mr. Colfax will have to present more than a dead mans silent donation and call to his assistance a few more willing step-father before "d—n spot will out."

The intelligent people of the country although in a slight degree credulous, and ever willing to forgive, will not hail triumphantly incredulous stories. They are willing to believe that Jonah swallowed the whale, or the whale put his clamps on Jonah, and scooped up that very respectable individual, they are even willing to listen with symptoms of pity and some degree of belief to the resistance of Joseph where he rounded a romance with a certain Mr. Potipher, because in these sacred historical instances there is some show of reason; that is, when we consider in these ancient days, there were more Josephs than now, but to gulp down at one swallow the dose prepared by Mr. Colfax, in regard to the dead Nesbitt, and the living step-father, is a little more than should be required of the human understanding. Reduced to a contract on the part of Mr. Colfax, it may be all right, and the best he can do, but on the part of the people it is too large, and what is worse entirely too thin.

The effort made by Republican newspapers to screen Mr. Colfax is really scandalous, and shows only to what length these institutions will go to hold up, not so much Mr. Colfax, but the party he represents in the second highest office within the gift of the people. If it were simply Colfax their columns would ring with sneers; there would be no let-up to their indignation until the gentle smiler had smiled himself into one of the remote corners of the earth, where exiles find peace, if not pleasure in ruminating over the inevitable laws of fate. But Colfax is a representative man, he represents not the brains of the party, but its virtuo morality and honesty? To convict him of the double crime of theft and purjury, —for Credit Mobiler is only another name for stealing from the Government —is too much for the Republican party to stand, and hence the desire is to vindicate and defend. If they can do it from Mr. Colfax's recent explanation then indeed is American intelligence at a low ebb.

There are but few of our readers who [illegible] to acquire a rapid and [illegible] handwriting, for there is no other one accomplishment so highly prized as this. The business colleges of the country have afforded the best instruction in this branch, and have succeeded in producing the most accomplished penmen. The best penmen in America to-day is [illegible] of the [illegible]ton College of Monchester, N. H. There are few [illegible] of the beautiful art of penmanship who have not heard of this wonderful penman and many have seen specimens of his skill. His large specimens have attracted great attention in New York City and throughout the country where they have been placed on exhibition.

He is now engaged day and night sending out copies for self-instruction, which he writes himself expressly for applicants so that any one can learn to write at the home fireside. These contain full printed instructions, and are put up in large heavy envelopes, and sent by mail prepaid for $1 00 per package. They are all numbered and so fully explained that no one can fail to learn rapidly from them.—They have been ordered by thousands—not by poor writers alone, but by the leading teachers of penmanship throughout the United States and Canada. Our readers would do well to write for a package, as nothing so complete, beautiful and useful for self-instruction will ever again be offered them.

Hon. Charles R. Buckalew, who was a democratic candidate for Governor of Pensylvania last Fall, has been appointed Attorney of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, at a salary of $10,000 per anum—equal to the increased salary of his successful competitor in the gubernatorial race.

Court Proceedings.

CIRCUIT COURT, FEBRUARY TERM.

State of Indiana vs Dennis Bender, violation of liquor law, three cases. Fined $5 and cost in one case.

Same vs Geo Dahoff, assault & battery. Non Pros.

Same vs Nelson Ernest, larceny, jury trial. Not guilty.

Same vs Wm Hackathorn, larceny.—Fined ten cents, and 60 days in county jail.

Same vs Frank Sprangle, assault & battery. Fined $5 and cost s.

Same vs Wm Hoody, assault and battery. Discharged.

Same vs Lucy A. Wierbaugh, assault.—Discharged.

Same vs Holly, assault and battery.—Fined $5 and costs.

Same vs J. H. Ford, assault and battery. Fined 10 cts and costs.

Same vs Wm McClellan, assault and battery. Fined $5 and costs.

State vs F. Kelly, assault and battery. $10 and costs.

Same vs C. Baxter, assault and battery. Fined $5 and costs.

Same vs L. McClellan, larceny. Fined 10 cts and in county jail 30 days.

Same vs John Snyder, larceny. Fined 10 cts and penitentary 3 years.

Same vs Rufus DeLong, larceny. Discharged.

1st National Bank Kendallville vs M. Hale, complaint, two cases. Continued.

Mary E. Reed vs F. Flenner, bastardy. Continued.

J. Ferrier vs S. B. Husselman, complaint. Continued.

Ft. W. J. & S. R. R. vs R. Ettinger, complaint. Dismissed.

J. S. Shorb vs D Shepherd, attachment Judgment $2503

Ft. W. J. & S. R. R. vs J. Shryock, J. R. Moody, G. S. West, complaints. Dismissed at plf's cost.

Noah Long vs James Reynold, assessment of damage. Left off docket.

C. F. G. Meyers vs L. M. Leas, complaint. Left off docket.

J. E. Walton vs G. F. Rowe et al, foreclosure, Continued.

B. Bowman vs Lydia Miller, partition. Continued.

Barbra Hart vs Lackey, slander—Settled.

J. C. Bower, vs Wm Gibson, John Miller, appeal. Dismissed

T J Jones vs H M Jones, divorce. Granted.

W Y Leonard vs Boudly Stone, change of venue. Transferred to Common Pleas Court.

Peter Ruyle vs Moses Kiser et al, change of venue. Continued.

John G Hamilton vs Lain Rice, com.—Continued

J W Case vs Lewis Tess, complaint.—Judgment $48 29

Lewis Hawk vs J & M Cotrill, foreclosure. Judgment $11 94

J Wilson vs Scott and Wortenbee, com. Judgment against Wortenbee $190 02—continued as to Scott.

Wm Meek vs Newville Hotel Co., com.—Judgment $151 26

Seldenwright vs C Sanders, complaint. Dismissed

Henry Franks vs G S Morr, complaint. Judgment $107 50

2nd Nat. Bank of Toledo vs H Franks, com. Judgment $130 52

H M Merrall vs L M Leas et al, complain Judgment $131 31

A L Scovill, L M Leas et al, complaint. Judgment $64 67

T G Mathany vs G G & E Bickell, com. Judgment $41 49

C L Hill vs J L Berry and J C Wycoff, com., Judg. for plff

J W Coblor vs G W Gordon, complaint Judg $129 37

J M Sticker vs A E Blake et al, com.—Judg $136 43

C Bowman vs G & M Segner, complaint, Judg $386 41

O T Clark vs H. Franks, com. Judg. $64 82

M Brandt vs Wm Meese, complaint. Continued.

A Seldenwright vs C Saunders, com.—Dismissed

Geo Egnew vs G W Young et al, com. Dismissed

S Mann et al vs Geo Young et al, com.—Judg $106 75

R Cumings et al vs G W Young et al complaint. Judg $1035 84

C Bowman vs T & G Segner, complaint Judg $787 33

G & B S M Co. vs H & G Haskins, com. Judg $83 00

J L Mondane vs G H Smith, com. Judg. $98 50

R K Sargeant vs W J Jones, complaint—Judg 58 83

T R Dickinson vs T Baldock, complaint. Judg 54 92

A P Sain vs Barbra Sain, divorce. Continued.

F April vs G Hilkey et al complaint.—Judg 73 28

David Weaver vs C & G Olinger, com. Judg 158 44

Miles Waterman vs Wm Fee, complaint Dismissed

F F Buchanon vs Wm Meese, complaint Continued

Hathaway vs J A Cowan, com. Judg. 105 94

G P Mayers vs M Hinman, com. Judg. 795 00

A C Dawson vs J A Cowan, com. Dismissed

J Budler vs Ft W J & S railroad, application for new trial. Granted

Elizabeth Rodefer vs A Rodefer, divorce Granted

Death of Gov. Geary.

John W. Geary, ex-Governor of Pennsylvania, last Friday returned to his home in Harrisburg, from New York, in apparent good health. About 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, while breakfasting with his family and while in the act of helping his little son, his head suddenly fell back. Before his wife could get to his side, and before medical aid could be summoned, he was dead. The Post mortem discovered no patholgical lesion of any of the organs. The conclusion was that he died from syncope, caused by nearvous prostration, the result of overwork and malarial cachexy. His brain wighed 56½ ounces.

A Noble Charity.

Omaha Lottery

TO ERECT THE

Nebraska State Orphan Assylum!

To be drawn in public March 31, 1873.

Tickets $1 each, or Six for 5 Dollars.

1 Cash prize,......$75,000 1 Cash prize......$35,000
3 " " ...... 15,000 1 " " ... 10,000
1 " " ...... 5,000 1 " " 4,000

For balance of prizes send for circular.

This Legal Enterprise is endorsed by his Excellency Gov. W. H. James, and the best business men of the State.

The limited number of tickets on hand will be furnished those who apply first. For full particulars address J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Omaha, Neb.

Agents wanted. fe13-4t

MILLIONS OF ACRES

IOWA & NEBRASKA LANDS.

FOR SALE BY THE

Burlington & Mo. River Rail'd co.

On Ten Year's Credit at 6 per cent. Interest.

Products will pay for the land and improvements much within the limits of this kind offer. Better terms are not offered, and probably never will be.

Circulars giving full particlars, gratis; call for all that are wanted to read and circulate.

Come West and thrive, Friends will follow.

A Sectional Map, showing the exact location of Iowa lands is sold at 30 cents, and of Nebraska lands at same price. For Circulars and Maps apply to GEO. S. HARRIS, Land Commissioner, Burlington, Iowa.

And please say in what paper this advertisement was seen. Feb. 6—4t.

BRANDRIFF, PRESCOTT and CO.

50, 52 & 54 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Builders Hardware,

Doors, Sash, Blinds, Glass, White Lead,

Stoves & Tin Ware,

Of every Description.

Tinners' Stock, Tinners' Tools, Etc.

Heavy Hardware,

Iron. Steel, Nails,

WAGON & CARRIAGE HARDWARE and WOOD STOCK,

Blacksmith and Mechanics Tools,

Farming Impleme'ts

Rubber and Leather Belting, Lace Leather, Belt Hooks, Studs &c

Reduced Prices. Give us a Call.

BOOZER AND BLATNER

Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as

Arcola Cloth, Queen's Own,
Brittanna " Brocades,
Balerno " Silk Stripes,
Turko, " Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes,

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS,

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER

The Largest

CLOTHING

HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

S. Lauferty

WILL SELL

READY MADE

CLOTHING

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

ways on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

The Correct SUN Time

For Ft. Wayne, as shown by Transit in the Jewelry Store of

GEO. J. E. MAYER & F. VOIROL,

No. 29 East Main street Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Churches
Courts
City Offices
County
Public Schools
Post Office
Street Cars
Hotels
Railroads
Business Houses

Will all use Mered.an Time as ascertained by the Transit of this firm. Solar, Lunar & Stellar observations taken every noon and night.

F.W.J.&S.R.R.11-49-57 OF 10m.3s.SLOW
CHICAGO TIME
N
P.F.W.&C.R.R. and F.W.R.R.O.R.R. 12-8-25 8m.25s.FAST
COLUMBUS TIME
W
F.W.&W.R.R.11-49-57 OF 10m.3s.SLOW
CHICAGO TIME
FORT WAYNE
12
NOON TIME
FROM TRANSIT OBSERVATION.
E
S
COLUMBUS TIME
8m.25s.FAST OF
F.W.M.&C.R.R.12-8-25

Those who have Fine Watches and are anxious to know and see how accurately they run, can do so by calling at our Store. It will afford us pleasure to set and regulate all watches accurately and gratuitously.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES

Perfumery, Soaps,

Brushes, Patent Medicines

School and Blank Books.

Slates, Writing Paper

Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,

Oiled, slate and Liner

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,

Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

Attention Creation!

Another Rebellion

IN

Boots, Shoes and Real Estate.

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. and lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of the stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $3000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully, Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 2–, '73—2m.

Fruit House!

BULLETIN

Prices to suit Everybody!

CREAT REDUCTION ON

Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1 Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advantage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices.

Young Hyson	30, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 80, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	25c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	12½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	9 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 80, and 95c
Japan	40, 50, and 95c
Soft Shell Almonds	25c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahaquay double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	25c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	35 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and chery	$4 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$3 00 $4
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old '76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Diquor	93c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	35c to 50c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR EVERYBODY

We have an extre large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c
Imperial all kinds	30c
Toy Candy, in all different kinds	[illegible]

Fine Fresh Oysters,

AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.

Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Dance at the Reinier Hall, Friday eve.

Wood & Totten have their new store about finished.

Everything now looks favorable for a good sugar season.

The election on the proposed amendment went off very quiet.

The Good Templars have changed their quarters to Case's Hall.

Go to W. W. Humes, and let him make you a pair of boots in the best of style.

See advertisement in another column about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

The singing class will meet next Thursday, for their first lesson, by Prof. Bennet

Last Sunday was a very disagreeable day. The churches, however, were well attended.

The provision in the new liquor law requiring $10.000 bond has been changed to $3.000.

Our citizens should begin to get ready for new and valuable improvements as soon as the weather opens.

Go to W. W. Humes to buy your boys boots. He is selling them at reduced prices. Now is your time to buy this class of goods.

Some man who will come to Auburn and start a first-class hat and cap store would build up an immense trade in this line, in a very short time.

At the election on the amendment last Tuesday, there were 302 votes polled at this precinct, not one against it. Fort Wayne cast but 12 votes against it.

The new stained window glass in the Roman Catholic Cathedral, at Ft. Wayne, is thirty-three feet and ten inches in length, and ten feet wide, costing $2,060.

Go to W. W. Humes to buy your rubbers. He has just received a new stock of ladies and gents' rubbers of the latest styles.

The longest sitting season DeKalb County has known for some time, closed last week. The terms of the two courts coming close together, a whole month was taken up.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

A woman in Clay county was fined and actually paid twenty-five dollars for smashing up the furniture of a saloon that persisted in furnishing liquor to her son, a minor. It is about time the new temperance law was passed.

There is a fellow in Plymouth wants a divorce simply because his wife ran away with another fellow, and has since had two children by him. How trifling our State law must be to give a man a hope in such a case.

Go to W. W. Humes to get your repairing done in the best of style.

There were 104 descriptions of land sold at the tax sale last week. There were not very many buyers in attendance. We doubt whether there will be so large a sale again, as the new law just passed by the Legislature not only provides for a good deed at the expiration of five years but gives the purchaser of the land immediate possession.

No reasonable doubt can now exist of the great efficacy of Smolander's Buchu, for the removal or counteracting of kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, mental and physical debility, female complaints generally, and all maladies of the urino-genital organs, or family physicians of note consider it to be the standard remedy.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

A party of roosters, four in number, left this place last Friday evening with the intention of participating in a dance to take place on said evening at Sedan.—They procured a hand-car, and like "double geared lightning" went Northward on the Saginaw. Just as they were about to change the car over to the Air Line, Mr. Nightwatch introduced himself, when one of the party called "four hands around."

Our Sedan correspondent speaks of a young man in that place who sparked three girls in one week. Now if they did'nt live a great way apart it could be easly done. We have a "Giraffe" in our town who goes 16 miles, wet or dry, on an average of twice a week, and carries her photo in his inside vest pocket. The pocket was made expressly for this purpose, being put upon the left side. Auburn against the world, Mister.

The revival work at the M. E. Church still goes on, with greater interest than ever. Over fifty persons have been added to the Church during this series of meetings. It is worthy of note, that most of the accessions come from the young people of the Sabbath-school and that a very deep religious interest pervades the school, showing what an important auxiliary this institution is to the church.—Goshen Times.

Dreaming of young onions this time o the year is a bad sign. Your mother-in-law will either evacuate your domicil, or else she will commence an another long stocking and knit it at the rate of two and a half stiches per day, which is a guarantee that her funeral expenses will come out of your pocket, as well as the cost of a plain but appropriate headstone upon which you are expected to have engraved a few verses expressive of your great but but bearable affliction. Verily, all flesh is fodder.

"Don't advertise; it gives people abroad a knowledge of your town, and they come and settle in it; and other business will be introduced to come in and thus increase your competition. In short, if you would have a quiet town, not too large; if you would not be harrassed by multitudinous cares and perplexities of business; if you would avoid being bothered with paying for and losing time to read a great cumbersome newspaper, just remain quiet, don't let the people know five miles away where you are, nor what your doing, and you will be severely let alone to enjoy the bliss of undisturbed repose."

Public Sale.—Jacob Simmats will offer for sale at residence ½ mile south of town, on Saturday, March 1st, 1873, 5 head of horses, 11 milch cows, most of them fresh about 20 head of hogs, 1 buggy, 2 two-horse wagons, 1 of Roe's patent premium cheese vats, with heater for steam complete, 1 curd drainer, cheese press, expansion cheese hoop, making 5 sizes, one 6-bladed curd knife, milk cans, dairying utensils, crocks, straw cutter, corn sheller 100 bushels potatoes, chickens, etc. Sale at 10 o'clock, when terms will be given.

One of our subscribers, in the northwest part of the county, is not happy—His neighbors borrow his copy of the Courier, often before he has read it himself. Being an obliging, neighborly, gentleman, he has not the heart to refuse, but thinks that they are as able as himself, financially and they ought to be more independent and get a copy of their own. It is only the small sum of two dollars, and we know there are but few farmers in this county but what can afford this expense, especially when it is so much to their own interest to do so. Come gentlemen, be free American citizens by ordering your own paper and then pay for it.

We are ready to enter into a joint discussion with any person who dare say that S. J. Lock, Esq., the popular restaurer of Waterloo, does not dish up the best hash along the Air Line Railroad, from Toledo to Chicago, both cities included. We know whereof we speak because we know how 'tis, myself. With seasonable game, meats the most juicy and tender luxuries and delicacies, an excellent culinary "boss," everything neat and clean, and with the nimble [illegible] on hand in his best humor, there is none but what will admit that the most extortionable epicure could not have the least ground for complaint. Si contemplates erecting a handsome brick this year and when he has the proper facilities there is none in the country that will surpass him in the appointments and general character of the establishment. For particulars see his new design for a masonic pin.

SEDAN BREVITIES.

Sedan has a population of only one hundred and fifty, and two thirds of these are children, yet some people have cheek yes, "whole face" enough to say it is a hard town. We cannot imagine for the life life of us, in what respect we are such bad citizens, we have no "whisky" shops, no billiard saloons, no gambling hells and not a place of vice that has a tendency to demoralize or corrupt the character of any individual. Should we all combine and go about our streets as a roaring lion, seeking whom we might devour the clique would be too small and powerless to accomplish much; but though our reputation be such we are glad that the three christain societies have united and another grand effort is being made for reformation in Sedan.

The scholars of this school district are contemplating an exhibition to be given at the expiration of the present term of school. A special effort is being made to make the entertainment interesting.

The three churches of this place have united.

Thirty Days Only.

Below will be found list of prices fo goods, which we propose to sell at wonderfully reduced prices, for 30 days only. All desiring to avail themselves of good bargains of good goods, will do well to invest, as we intend to dispose of them at once to make room for our spring stock

Long Shawls, Square Blanket Shawls Empress cloths, French Marinoes, winter dress goods of heavy makes, Nubias, Scarfs Youths' knit saques and coats, Fur collars, capes, Muffs, Felt Shirts, Blankets, all wool, Heavy Flannels, Gents' Shirting, Flannel of all makes, Gents' under clothes knit and seamed, Lap Robes, Ready made clothing and Boots and Shoes at cost. A nice and desirable lot of French, Scotch American Cassimeres. Also Jeans and Tweeds, all of which will be sold at bargains for the purchaser. Call in and get prices. WOOD & WILLIAMS.

Auburn, Feb. 12, 1873-2t

We understand that a beautiful and accomplished widow who occupies a lucrative clerical position in this city, and who has heretofore contributed largely to the general interest of the Fort Wayne Gazette by her prolific pen, is about to shuffle off her widowhood and become the bride of a Waterloo attorney.—Fort Wayne Journal

BUTLER.

Butler, our enterprising neighboring town, is giving out many flattering evidences of great improvement and is now enjoying a large local trade. The citizens are of the progressive and go-a-head class, and we have no fears but that she will always hold her own. They are wide awake as to the completion of the Eel River Road, and will do all in their power to assist the project. We are satisfied that with a little effort along the line the necessary subscription can be raised.

Sheldon & Co. are doing a live business in the line of drugs and medicines and have as fine a store as can be found in the county.

We found our old friend, Clint Headly doing an excellent business in the boot & shoe line, having a fine stock on hand at low prices.

Dr Hoopingarner is doing a fine business in the drug line, having a good stock and is always found on hand to supply the wants of his numerous customers

F. F. Conner is doing a capital business in the harness trade and has all he can do to keep up to orders.

Geo. Hensler, the popular hardware merchant, and his excellent clerk Fay, are kept busy attending to the many calls in this line and are as pleasant and agreeable as ever.

Strauss & Co. are doing a good business in the dry goods line, keeping an excellent stock, and the very lowest prices.

We called at the office of Attorney Fosdic, and found him as agreeable and pleasant as ever, and being the best looking man in town, we dont wonder at him doing a good business. We also found A. F. Pinchin busy in the legal line, and happy as a lark, singing: "Twas ever thus in childhood's hour," in his usual excellent style.

Our excellent friend Sargeant, of the Great Western Hotel, is dishing up most excellent hash for the weary traveler, and we can recommend his neat and tidy house to all who may wander thitherward.

We are specially obliged to Messrs. Sargeant and B. F. Blair for special favors. They are gentlemen whom it is always a pleasure to meet. We added quite largely to our list of subscribers, and are ready to supply as many more.

M. D. Keefer is doing a fine business in the grocery trade and will make large improvements and add many features to his present stock in a few days.

Personal.—Several of our editoral bretheren have called within the past week, an event quite startling to us—Being located off the main line of rail-ord we seldom see the beaming "phiz" of any of our co-laborers, and we feel highly encouraged. J. D. Osborn, of the Union, at South Bend and a lawyer having professional business in our court, was kind enough to give us a call. He is one of those who possesses solid worth and a peculiar talent for the position, and though he is also a first-class lawyer, we don't know how to harmonize the two callings. He hails, however, from the hand of Colfax and that will suffice. The Union is one of the best papers in the States and we are glad to know that it has at last been established upon a good paying basis.

Corporal Nash, of the Pharos, Logansport, popped in a moment last week and showed us a Falstaffian rotundity, most elegant to behold. Being "spare," how we envied him. The corporal is one of those easy, graceful, spicy fellows that the public somuch appreciate and we are pleased to learn that his services are indispensable in Logansport.

DeGroff Nelson, of the Fort Wayne seed store, gave us a call yesterday. His establishment is very extensive, and every kind of seeds is kept constantly on hand.

A Superior College.—The numerous educational institutions scattered far and wide over this broad, beautiful land, may be taken as an index of the intelligence and enterprise of the community in which they are located, and also of the noble and unselfish pride of those immediately interested to contribute something of worth and moment to the future greatness of our country. So numerous have these institutions become that it is now a difficult matter for many of those who design attending them, to determine which possess the greatest advantages and facilities for the attainment of a thorough, practical education. To this class we would recommend, as a live and prosperous college, the one located at Mt. Union, O. whose distinctive features surpass all others in every respect. The trustees are making arrangements to accommodate one thousand students, and are sparing neither time nor money in having them complete. O. S. Hartshorn, one of the most thorough learned, and experienced professors in the State, is binding his energies to adapt it to the educational needs of the masses, and the whole faculty composed of the best talent of the land are assiduous and untiring, to bring about the greatest success in their several departments.

The total number of students from the origin of the College in 1864, is 8,519, (representing 24 States,) of whom (about one third being ladies) 6,287 have been employed to teach public schools—of these Teachers 4,174 are graduates of the Normal department.

A young lady from this place has been in attendance there and speaks most flatteringly of its excellence and good standing. For information, catalogue, etc., address,

O. N. Hartshorn,
Alliance, Ohio.

Remember the dance Friday eve.

The Weather.—The first snow of the season fell October 13th, which was very light. The next, on Nov. 14th. During the month of November 13 inches of snow fell; in December 16 inches; these snows melted away, making 3 inches of water. During the month of January 35½ inches of snow fell, making 5 feet 4½ inches up to the first of this month. The first snow in January contained 15 per cent of water. The themometer was down to 30 degrees below Zero, on the 29th of January, and the average temperature for the day was 10½ degrees below Zero.

Great Reduction on Teas.

The failure of five of the largest tea importers of New York has broken the tea market. We have taken the advantage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15 cents per pound lower than former prices. Young Hyson, 50c, 60c 80c and $1, best 1 10. Gunpowder 50c and 80c, best 1 10. Imperial, 50c, 80c and best 1 10. Oolong, 40c, 50c and 80c, best 95c. Japan, 40c and 50c, best 95c Fruit House.

Coffee, Coffee!

No advance in prices. The excitement in the market is only temporary. We purchased a large stock before the advance and will continue to sell at our old prices:

Best Rio, 25 cents.
Good Rio, 25c.
Old Government Java, 28c
Best roasted Rio, 25c Feb 6.
At the FRUIT HOUSE, Fort Wayne,

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, administrator of the estate of Jacob Rectenwalt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

John Grube, Adm'r.

Feb. 20, '73.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors in a less quanity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: On the south west corner of lot number ninety-four, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana. JOHN HEBEL.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spiritous, vinous and malt liquors, in a less quantity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: The north third of lot number sixty-three, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Ind.

EDWARD ELDRIDGE

Administrators' Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb County Court of Common Pleas, the undersigned administrator and administratrix of the estate of Samuel Weaver, deceased will offer for sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, in said county, on Saturday, the 15th day of March, 1873, an equal undivided two-thirds of the following described lands: The east half of the north-east quarter, and the north-west quarter of the north-east quarter of section 8, in township 35, north of range 12 east, containing 120 acres of land. Also twenty acres in the north-east corner of the south-west quarter of section 35, in township 34, north of range 12 east. All in DeKalb county, State of Indiana.

Terms of sale 1-3 cash in hand, 1-3 in 12 months and 1-3 in 18 months, purchaser giving his note with interest, waiving valuation and appraisement laws, with good freehold surety.

Feb, 12, 1873.
JACOB C. TRUMP,
CATHARINE WEAVER. } Adm'rs.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, the undersigned Administrator of the estate of Walter Burton, deceased, will offer for sale at auction on the premises, the

22nd DAY OF MARCH, 1873,

the following described premises to-wit: The south-west fourth and the north half of south-east fourth of the south-east quarter of section thirty in township thirty-four, north of range fourteen, east in DeKalb county Indiana. Terms, one third cash and the residue in equal payments at twelve and eighteen months, with notes at interest and without relief from valuation or appraisement law with good freehold sureties. Sale to commence at two o'clock p. m. on said day.

JAMES R. COSPER, Adm'r.

Feb. 20, '73.

Sheriffs' Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a degree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein Benjamin F. Green is plaintiff and Jackson A. Andrews, Herritta Andrews and Jerry Andrews are defendants requiring me to make the sum of four thousand one hundred and sixteen dollars and sixteen cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on.

SATURDAY, MATCH 22nd, 1873,

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit: The north half, ½, of the south east quarter and the west half ½, of the north-east quarter of section seven 7, in township thirty three 33, north of range fifteen 15, east, containing one hundred and sixty acres 160, of land, more or less, and being the same land purchased by Jackson Andrews of E. B. Strong in Dekalb county, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and cost I will expose, at the same time and place, at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree interest and costs. Sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws. WM. MEESE, Sheriff.

Auburn, Feb 20, Best & McClellan, attys

Administrators' Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of an order of the Common Pleas Court of DeKalb County the undersigned, administrator, of the estate of David Perky, deceased, will offer for sale at auction, on the premises, on an equal undivided two-thirds of the following lands in DeKalb county, in the State of Indiana, viz: The undivided thirteen twelfths of a part of section two, 2, in township thirty-five, 35, north of range fourteen, 14, east, bounded by a line commencing at the N. west cor. of the north west quarter of said section two, 2, and running thence east on the county line, three & 70-100 chains thence south 56 degrees, west one & 26-100 chains, thence south 63½ degrees west, two & 40-100 chains thence north 87 degrees west nine & 47-100 chains, thence south 84 degrees west, ten and 85-100 chains, thence south 75 degrees 3.' west sixteen & 86-100 chains thence north 60½ degrees, E. Seven & 30-100 chains thence south 58½ degrees west six & 87-100 chains thence north sixteen & 88-100 rods to the north west corner of said north west quarter, thence east on the county line to the place of begining containing fifty-two, 52 acres; also the undivided thirteen twentieths of a part of said section bounded by a line commencing three & 17-100 south of the quarter post on the north side line aforesaid and running thence south seven & 3-100 chains, 80 degrees 45' west, eight & 92-100 chains, thence north 25 degrees 55' east three & 4-100 chains, thence north 65 degrees 25' east four & 22-100 chains, thence north 9 degrees 15', five & 58-100 chains, thence north 56 degrees east two & 53-100 chains to the place of beginning containing five acres more or less.

SATURDAY, MARCH 27th, A. D. 1873.

Terms—One third of the purchase money cash, one third in 12 months, and one third in 18 months from the day of sale. The deferred payments to be secured by notes at interest, waiving valuation and appraisement laws and secured by a mortgage on the premises. Sale to begin at 1 o'clock p. m.

GILBERT C. EVERTTS, Adm'r.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

CLEARING-OUT SALE!

AT

C. ORFF AND CO'S.

5 & 7 Columbia-st., Ft. Wayne.

We will offer for the next forty-five days commencing January 11th, (and continuing until the forty-five days are up,) our entire stock of Fancy Domestic

DRY GOODS!

including the whole of our Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, Furs, and Fancy Goods

At Actual Cost.

and many styles at even less. We must close out our entire stock of Dress Goods, Furs, Shawls and Fancy Goods, and LOW PRICES must do it.

Look! Look!

at these prices of Dress Goods; they are 25 to 50 per cent. lower than the goods sold before the war

Our entire stock of Cashmeres, including the new shades. reduced			$1.00	worth 1.50
A full line of Colors in Silk and Woolen Velours at			90	" 1.50
All of our Irish and French Poplins reduced to			1.25	" 2.00
All-wool Serges reduced to	60 c		90
All-wool Satines reduced to	75 c	worth	100
All-wool Satines reduced to	50 c	worth	75
A large line of Japanese Stripes reduced to	35 cents	worth	75	to 85

We shall have to tables in the center of the store filled with Dress Goods at 25, 30 and 40 cents, many of which are worth double the money.

CLOAKS. CLOAKS.

We will close out our stock of Cloaks at actual first cost. We have some of our very best styles left, and this will be a rare opportunity to buy a handsome cloak for little money.

FURS. FURS.

We have reduced the price of our Sable, Mink, Fitch and Seal-skin Furs fully one-half, and are determined to close them out during the next thirty days.

Our Entire tock of Shawls.

Will be sold at less than they have been offered for the last ten years. We have left some very handsome Ottoman Stripes, also a good assortment of Paisely in long and square, which must be sold.

Beaver Clokings.

$5.00 Beaver reduced to $3.50. $6.00 Beaver reduced to 4.00. One piece each of drab blue and brown silk plush, for ladies' and children's Sacques, reduced from $4.00 to 2.50.

Great Reduction in Laces, Embroideries, Collars, Handkerchiefs, and all kinds of Fancy Goods. We have a large stock of this class of goods, and we want to clear them out.

We have the largest stock of Correts in the city, and they have been reduced with all other goods.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

During our sale we will sell our best prints at 10c, our heaviest brown muslin 12½, our fine brown muslin 12½c, 200 pieces of soft-finished Bleached Muslin at 1[illegible]

Remember this sale will continue for the next forty days, commencing January 11.

C. ORFF & CO.

People's

Convention!

Everybody's Ticket!

The People's Choice.

CHEAP, CHEPER, CHEAPEST.

Save Your Money and Buy at Headquarters!

Hats, Caps, & Furnishing Goods in endless variety.

PALACE OF FASHION,

No. 1 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind

The Mother's Help.

The Childen's Fiend.

MECHANIC' SAAVING BANK!

The Great

PALACE OF FASHION!

The only One Price Clothing House where Clothing is

Retailed at Wholesale Prices!

The two floors of our One store is chuch full of the best clothing, for Men and Boys' wear.

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

OLD JOE PENTLAND, the veteran circus clown, died in New York last week, of disease of the brain.

STOKES is said to be growing demented, and his hair is rapidly turning white....In New York, the other day, William Barker, aged 16, shot and killed John Schaeffer, aged 10.... Ex-Gov. Geary died suddenly at Harrisburg, Pa., on the 8th. While sitting at breakfast with his family, and in the act of helping his little son, his head fell suddenly back, and before his wife could get to his side he was dead. It is supposed heart disease or apoplexy was the cause.

NEAR Titusville, Pa., last week, a train was tumbled into the river by a broken rail, killing three passengers and injuring some dozen others.

THE Liberal Republicans of New Hampshire have nominated Samuel B. Mason for Governor.

PHEPS, DODGE & Co., of New York, have offered to compromise their custom-house frauds by the payment into the Treasury of $271,000.

The West.

NO LITTLE excitement has been produced at Salt Lake by a report telegraphed there that the President has determined to remove all the troops from the Southern States, and station them in reasonable contiguity to Utah.... Mrs. Schank, of Peoria, Ill., was recently gored to death by a mad cow....McNulta, the Peoria wife-murderer, was hung on Friday, Feb. 7. On the same day Leo Canman, the Chicago mail-robber, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the Illinois Penitentiary. Both made speeches protesting their innocence.

HENRY W. BIGELOW, an old, wealthy and respected citizen of Chicago, committed suicide recently by shooting himself through the head.

THREE persons were killed by the falling of the old wall of the Ferguson House, at Kansas City, Mo....At Jefferson City, Mo., the other day, two loving colored brothers, Charles and Joseph Clark, got into an altercation, which was ended by Charles drawing his little butcher-knife and plunging it into Joseph's heart.... At Dodge City, Kansas, recently, a vigilance committee made a raid on a dance house and ended the earthly career of two frontier desperadoes.

COMMODORE J. P. MCKINSTRY, o the navy, died at Detroit last week, aged 66....Edmund Trowbridge, a leading Detroit merchant, is dead....It is stated that an unusually large number of polygamous marriages are taking place in Utah. One man with six wives married a girl of 15 at Salt Lake, the other day.... Gen. Crook is vigorously prosecuting the war against the Apaches in Arizona. He has killed over 300 warriors since the opening of the campaign. He says he will fight them till they sue for peace.

THE Governor of Iowa offers a reward of $500 for the apprehension of Alva Chambers, the murderer of Charles Kendall, of Green county.

The South.

TRAINS are now running regularly between St. Louis and Little Rock, Ark., over the Cairo and Fulton railroad.

THE contemplated tour of the President and his Cabinet through the South next month is to be made the occasion, it is said, of numerous demonstrations in the larger cities.

Washington.

SENATOR SUMNER's health has improved so much within the last week or two that his complete recovery is regarded as probable by his friends....The bill reported by the House Judiciary Committee to adjust the salaries of the several departments of the Government provides that after March 4, 1873, salaries will be fixed as follows: President, $50,000; Vice-President, $10,000; Chief Justice, $10,500; Justices of the Supreme Court, $10,000; Cabinet officers, $10,000; Speaker of the House, $10,000; members of Congress, $8,000....The President has pardoned two more of the Ku-Klux confined in the Albany Penitentiary.... Washington advices report that Speaker Blaine will unquestionably be re-elected in the event of Congress assembling on March 4.

IT is said but few members of Congress favor an extra session....It is said the President will pardon nearly all the Ku-Klux prisoners in a very short time....It is believed that Assistant Secretary Richardson is the coming Secretary of the Treasury....It is rumored that Ministers Bancroft, Jay and Sickles are to be recalled after the 4th of March.

Foreign.

BILLS have been introduced in the British House of Commons providing for the abolition of capital punishment; looking to the establishment of a protectorate over the Feejee Islands; providing that all treaties made between Great Britain and foreign powers must receive the ratification of Parliament; legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister; providing for the purchase of the English railways by the Government; and removing electoral disabilities from women.

THE Committee of Thirty of the French Assembly have adopted the amendment offered by Haussonville, providing that the Council of Ministers shall decide whether the presence of Thiers is required in the Assembly during discussions on interpellations. The committee also adopted the remaining articles. The action of the committee causes great excitement and uneasiness in Paris....Two passenger trains recently collided on the North British railway, near Edinburgh, by which nine persons were instantly killed, and a number seriously injured....And now comes Hungary proposing to join in the war upon the Jesuits, a bill having been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies providing for their expulsion from that country.

MISS ROTHSCHILD was married in London with religious ceremonies, notwithstanding the opposition of the Ritualists, to the Hon. Eliot Yorke, son of the Earl of Hardevicke.

Fires.

FEB. 9.—At Detroit, Mich.—The Detroit Car-Wheel Foundry Works were burned; loss, $40,000....Albion, Mich.—The Presbyterian church, valued at $20,000, was destroyed.... Philadelphia, Pa.—The terra cotta works of John Newcomb were burned; loss, $30,000.

FEB. 10.—At St. Louis, Mo.; loss, $7,000. ....Cincinnati, Ohio; loss, $12,000....At San Francisco, Sage's oil warehouse was burned, causing a series of terrific explosions; loss not stated.

FEB. 11.—On Staten Island, N. Y.; loss, $30,000....At Greenville, Washington county, N. Y.; loss, $100,000....Evansville, Ind.; loss, $30,000.

FEB. 1[illegible].—At Orangeville, Canada; loss, $40,0000....Pottsville, Pa.; loss, $40,000.... Goderich, Canada; loss, $30,000....Titusville, Pa.; loss, $15,000.

The Credit Mobilier.

At the sitting of Judge Poland's committee, on the 7th inst., John I. Blair was examined by Representative Stevenson. The witness testified that he was an original corporator of the Sioux City and Iowa Falls and Dubuque railroad, with Pratt Smith, of Dubuque; John F. Duncombe, of Fort Dodge, and W. W. Walker, of Cedar Rapids. He detailed the history of building the road, the legislation by Congress renewing the land grant in 1856 to the State, and the legislation of the State giving the grant to the road, and testified that not a dollar was expended in procuring such legislation, either before Congress or the State Legislature. The witness never expended a cent for blackmail for any one, either a member of Congress or private citizen. There was not a single road across Iowa to-day that was worth the money it cost to build it. The witness referred to the list of subscriptions and testified that William B. Allison took ten shares. He paid for his stock and never got a penny for his services. The firm of Samuel Hooper also had stock. The committee heard the testimony of Mr. Hooper; after which Mr. Stevenson undertook to re-examine Speaker Blaine as to his former testimony. During the examination, the Speaker, upon being catechized in a manner which seemed improper, characterized Stevenson's conduct as unbecoming, and said it was against common decency. He added that it could be shown that Stevenson had an animus against him (Blaine). Judge Poland requested both to stop the contest. Stevenson wanted to examine the witness in relation to the transactions of Blaine of a private nature, but Judge Poland thought the testimony already covered the points. Oakes Ames was a large subscriber. J. F. Wilson and Glenni W. Scofield were subscribers also. The Government need not talk much of land given to Iowa, as it amounted to nothing, nearly all of it being worthless. It reminded him of the Frenchman who had given away $2,000 before breakfast, and when asked how he made it, replied: "I have just marked my goods up." [Laughter].

B. F. Ham, Secretary of the Credit Mobilier, and Auditor of the Union Pacific Company in New York, was examined by the Wilson committee, sitting at Boston, on the 7th inst. He stated he had searched the books for the cost of the Hoxie contract on the road between Omaha and the 100th meridian. It cost $12,974,416.24, of which $1,994,769.96 remained unpaid. The $2,000,000 note was not given on account of this indebtedness. The cost of building was $7,806,183.32; could not give the cost of the first fifty-eight miles west of the 100th meridian. He knew no adjustment of profits on the fifty-eight miles, but $1,104,000 were paid on it by the Credit Mobilier on 2½ per cent. interest and the prospective profits. The Credit Mobilier advanced $723,600.80 on the Ames contract. No adjustment was ever made to witness' knowledge, and he knew nothing of the cost of the 138 completed miles included in the Ames contract, nor of the 58 miles built on the Hoxie contract. The amount of stock of the Union Pacific railroad sold during the execution of the Hoxie contract was $5,000,000, a million and a quarter of which went to the Credit Mobilier in Government bonds. Have examined the balance sheets presented by Crane yesterday, and find them substantially correct. The Trustees' profits were described as in securities and stock, of which Crane gave the footings, and several items were testified to. The summary is as follows:

Profits on the Ames contract	$29,859,960
Profits on the Davis contract	7,802,135
Profits on the Hoxie contract	5,168,232
Total profit to contractors of entire road in stock and securities at their par value	$42,855,327

A Washington telegram of the 8th says: Judge Poland's committee, this morning, held a secret session for two hours, and discussed the evidence preparatory to a final report, to be made within a week or ten days. They only await the return of Ames to close the examination. It was decided to send the Sergeant-at-Arms for him if he is not heard from to-day. Two telegrams sent to him are unanswered. After the examination of Ames, Mr. Colfax will be allowed to offer testimony to show where the $1,200 deposited in the First National Bank came from; but the committee expect to hear all this evidence in one day and then close. At the request of Judge Hale, counsel for Mr. Colfax, the committee directed that Ames be notified to bring his memorandum book, referred to in his testimony, on his return.

The Wilson committee examined no witnesses on the 8th.

Judge C. T. Sherman, of Ohio, was examined by the Wilson committee on the 10th. The witness thought the prices allowed under the Ames contract were double what they should have been. At one-half that price the contractors could have made fair profits. The Hoxie contract was the one entered into while the witness held the position of Government Director. The manner in which the road was constructed under the Hoxie contract was satisfactory. Had not the Credit Mobilier been formed and taken hold of the road the work would have been stopped in sixty days. If the Credit Mobilier expended $30,000,000 and made $15,000,000 profit they made no more than fair profit. He did not think that $41,000,000 was an extravagant price for building the road.

The Poland committee met on the 10th, but nothing was done. It is probable that several days will be occupied in examining the evidence before further action can be determined. The committee will ask leave to sit during the sessions of the Senate.

A Washington dispatch of the 11th says: Nearly the whole attention of Washington has been directed to Judge Poland's committee-room to-day. Ames, after a discussion, providing that no entries, except in regard to the Credit Mobilier, should be made public, produced his memorandum books for 1867, 1868 and 1869. They were diaries with a page-date for each day in the year. On these, in the proper places, and in entries which all agree were made at the time, were all the transactions with members exactly as he has testified to them heretofore. In addition to the entries in order of dates there were at the end of each of the books a calculation of the amounts due each member, and of the payments made to each. Nothing additional was discovered except an entry in the book for 1869 of a payment to Mr. Colfax, Jan. 22, of $60.75, being interest on certificates for stock of the Union Pacific road received by Mr. Colfax as dividends from the Credit Mobilier. Judge Hale, counsel for Mr. Colfax, then began a cross-examination of Ames, almost the only effect of which was to excite the committee very strongly against Hale and call out several very pointed and severe reprimands from Judge Poland for the course Hale attempted to pursue. The cross-examination did not destroy the force of Ames' testimony in any material point. Judge Hale then called Dillon, the book-keeper of Ordway, who had been called when the $1,200 check was first produced about two weeks ago, to testify that he had not paid the check to Mr. Colfax, and had no remembrance of paying it to any one. He testified to-day that his impression was that he had paid the $1,200 check to Mr. Ames. He refused, however, to swear that he remembered it, but would only say it was his strong impression. At the evening session Mr. Colfax again denied receiving $1,200, and also denied receiving the $60.75 interest on certificates which was entered on Ames' book as paid to him. He then gave an explanation of the $1,200 bank note deposit; $200 came from his step-father, Mr. Matthews, as part of debt due for piano purchased; $1,000 of it was in a note of that denomination received by mail from a man named Nesbit in New York who wrote, to congratulate him on the nomination to Vice-Presidency and tendered him the money as a compliment. He could not remember the exact date, as the letter had not been preserved and Mr. Nesbit was dead and his executors had not been able to find any record of the sum sent. Mr. Matthews was sworn, and recollected the $1,000 bill being received in the mail and exhibited at the breakfast table. No date could be fixed other than approximately. The object of fixing the exact date was that the explanation, as given, might have applied as well to the deposit of about $1,500 made about three weeks later. After the examination of Mr. Colfax ended Ames was examined in regard to Butler asking $10,000 from the Union Pacific Railroad as retaining fee for Mr. Carpenter, of Wisconsin, to help elect him Senator. Ames and Butler did not solicit this money, intimating that Carpenter would be a friend, and had a tongue in his head. Mr. Buffington, of the House, was sworn, and testified that before Carpenter's election to the Senate, Butler told him (the witness) that friends of Carpenter had sent down here to obtain $10,000 from the Union Pacific to help elect Carpenter, but that Alley had objected. Ames testified that he referred the matter to the directors, and he felt sure the money had not been paid.

The testimony taken in Philadelphia before Hon. Jeremiah Wilson, Chairman of Investigating Committee No. 2, exonerates J. F. Wilson, of Iowa, from all connection with the $10,000 check, as sworn to by the witness Spence, and shows that the same was paid to Thomas A. Scott, and was deposited by Scott in the Girard Bank, of Philadelphia, to his own credit.

At the sittings of the Wilson committee on the 12th, O. J. Dickey, formerly a law partner and the executor of the late Thaddeus Stevens, made a statement that Mr. Stevens never had bonds or stocks of the Union Pacific road.

The Poland committee took no testimony on the 12th.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

THURSDAY, Feb. 6.—SENATE.—Ferry (Mich.) presented a concurrent resolution of the Legislature of Michigan in favor of setting apart a portion of the Island of Mackinac for a National Park....A bill was introduced by Logan directing the Postmaster-General to advertise for proposals from American citizens for weekly mail service for fifteen years, by at least six American-built 4,000-ton screw steamers, between New York and Liverpool, at not to exceed $600,000 per annum....The Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill, the Fortification bill, and the bill for the distribution of the Geneva award were passed.

HOUSE.—A resolution authorizing the Wilson select committee on the Credit Mobilier, etc., to consider and act upon the testimony taken before the Poland committee was adopted....In committee of the Whole a motion to strike from the Postal Appropriation bill the item of $500,000 for increase of compensation for carrying the mail on railroad routes, and authorizing the Postmaster-General to readjust the compensation on certain conditions, was lost. The amendment reducing the appropriation to be paid out of the Treasury by $1,500,000 was adopted. The amendment providing for letter carriers in places having 20,000 population was agreed to. The bill as amended was passed....The bill for a railroad bridge at Memphis was discussed and recommitted....The Scofield conference committee on the bill for constructing sloops-of-war made a report agreeing to the construction of eight such vessels at a cost not exceeding $3,200,000. Adopted.

FRIDAY, Feb. 8.—SENATE.—A resolution was passed directing the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish a statement of the earnings and expenses of the Pacific railroad for 1870-71....The Committee on Library reported adversely the bill providing for an international copyright....Mr. Sherman introduced a bill authorizing an irrevocable deposit of money in the United States Treasury, and the payment of five per cent. interest thereon, for charitable or educational purposes....Mr. Alcorn reported a bill to aid the construction of the Sutro tunnel....The bill for the distribution of the Geneva award was discussed without action....A bill was passed relieving a large number of Southerners from political disabilities. The Senate refused to entertain an amendment including the name of Jefferson Davis, offered by Mr. Flanagan (Rep.), of Texas.

HOUSE.—After the disposal of a few bills, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Military Appropriation bill, and spent the remainder of the day in its discussion.

SATURDAY, Feb. 8.—SENATE.—Not in session.

HOUSE.—Dawes made an appeal to take up and pass a new Boston relief bill, but Kerr objected.... Senate bill appropriating $130,000 for a Government building at Covington, Ky., was passed....The remainder of the day's session was devoted to the consideration of bills of a private nature.

MONDAY, Feb. 10.—SENATE.—Pomeroy (Kansas) offered a resolution for a committee to investigate the charges against him; adopted; Frelinghuysen, Buckingham, Alcorn, Thurman and Vickers appointed on the committee....Bills passed: To provide for a commission to complete the boundary line between the United States and Great Britain, under the act of 1856, to execute the treaty of 1846; to provide for the distribution of the Geneva award. ....The amendment to the Southern Claims Commission bill extending the commission to January 1, 1876, was agreed to.

HOUSE.—A motion to suspend the rules to pass the substitute for the Senate bill extending the provisions of the Agricultural College act of 1872 was lost....The Senate bill appropriating $300,000 for Government buildings at Grand Rapids, Mich., was passed....Bills introduced: For the redemption of United States notes in coin after May, 1874; to revive shipping and commerce; to refund taxes improperly collected....The bill to increase the salaries of the President and other executive officers was defeated —yeas, 81; nays, 120....Cox (N. Y.) offered a resolution denfining the relative powers of National and State Governments, and opposing centralization as the most dangerous of all abuses; lost—yeas, 86; nays, 84—two-thirds being necessary to pass it.

TUESDAY, Feb. 11.—SENATE.—Bills passed: To continue the Southern Claims Commission; granting the right of way to the Denver, Georgetown and Utah and the Denver, South Park and Pacific railroads over the public domain; authorizing a monument to Union soldiers at Salisbury, N. C.

HOUSE.—An amendment to the Postal bill reducing letter postage after July 1 to two cents was adopted. The section relating to weekly newspapers was amended so as not to exclude from free circulation in the counties where published those papers using patent insides. The bill was then passed. The bill fixes the rate on drop letters at two cents after July 1, and requires prepayment of newspaper postage at the office where mailed after the 1st of January next:..The Army Appropriation bill was passed. It appropriates $31,311,953....The bill authorizing the building of the Montana and Wyoming railroad was passed.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 12.—SENATE.—Nearly the whole day was spent in canvassing the electoral votes.

HOUSE.—The Senate amendments to the Vienna Exposition bill were concurred in....The bill changing the time for holding United States Courts in Minnesota was passed....At 1 o'clock the two houses met in the Representatives' Hall in joint convention, and counted the electoral votes for President and Vice-President.

The New Postage Bill.

The following is a full text of Gen. Farnsworth's bill to further amend the postal laws, as it passed the House of Representatives:

Be it enacted, etc., That on and after the 1st day of July next on all mail matter which is wholly or partly in writing, except book, magazine, and newspaper manuscripts and corrected proofs passing between authors and publishers, and excepting also correspondence or postal cards, on all printed matter which is so marked as to convey any other or further information than is conveyed by original print, except correction of mere typographical errors, on all matter which is sent in violation of law or regulation of the Department respecting inclosures, and on all matter to which no specific rate of postage is assigned, postage shall be charged at a rate of two cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof, and this provision shall include all letters commonly known as drop, or local letters, delivered through postoffices or their carriers; and magazine manuscripts and newspaper manuscripts are hereby declared to belong to the third-class of mailable matter.

SEC. 2. That from and after the first day of January next, under such regulations and in such manner as the Postmaster-General shall prescribe, postage provided by law to be paid upon printed matter or mailable matter of the second class shall in all cases be prepaid and collected at the offices respectively where such matter shall be mailed, and the postage on daily newspapers not exceeding four ounces each copy in weight shall be charged and collected at the rate of fifteen cents per quarter; Provided, that weekly newspapers within the respective counties where the same are printed and published, and none other, may pass through the mails free of postage as provided in the eighth clause of section 184 of the act to revise, consolidate and amend the statute relating to the Postoffice Department.

SEC. 3. That any person who shall take any letter, postal card or packet out of any postoffice or branch postoffice, or from letter or mail-carrier, or which has been in any postoffice or branch postoffice, or in the custody of any letter or mail-carrier before it shall have been delivered to the person to whom it was directed, with the design to obstruct correspondence or pry into the business or secrets of another, or shall secrete, embezzle or destroy the same, shall, on conviction thereof, for every such offense forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Counting the Electoral Vote.

A Washington letter of the 12th says: Today being the time fixed by law for counting the electoral vote for President and Vice-President, both houses spent most of their sessions in joint convention in the Hall of Representatives. The day was stormy, but the attendance of spectators was very large, many being attracted by the rumor that the extraordinary scene of four years ago over the electoral vote of Georgia would be repeated to-day in the contest over that of Louisiana. While the session, however, was protracted, and full of technical objections to the returns from several Southern States, and while each house was obliged several times to return to its own session to vote on disputed points, the occasion passed off without unusual incident. The Senate came at 1 o'clock, and were assigned seats on the Democratic side, the entire House remaining standing till the Senators were seated. Vice-President Colfax occupied the Speaker's chair, and presided over the joint session. When the joint convention came to order it appeared that Senators were present from every State but Massachusetts, both Senators Sumner and Wilson being absent. The reading of the certificates then proceeded without particular interest or excitement until Delaware was reached, when the members and Senators seemed to think it very amusing that Delaware should have voted for a Republican. The announcement of the Maryland vote for Hendricks and Brown also caused a slight ripple, as it was the first vote announced in opposition to Grant, and when Georgia was reached and the vote was announced, points of order were made that as it was a historic fact that Greeley was dead, the vote for him could not be counted. Each body voted without debate, the Senate deciding, by 47 to 18, that it could be counted, and the House, by 98 to 102, that it could not be counted. So, under the rule where a division like this existed, the vote of Georgia was thrown out. Subsequently the point was made too late that Georgia had partly voted for a President and Vice President of that State in violation of that clause of the Constitution which prohibits both candidates from being citizens of the same State. Technical objections in the case of Mississippi and Texas were made and overruled, and when Arkansas and Louisiana were reached, objections were made and the electoral votes of both were thrown out. The Senate and House concurred in throwing out the vote of Louisiana, but only the House voted to throw out Arkansas, which had the same effect as if the Senate had concurred. Finally, at 8 o'clock to-night, the vote was announced that Grant had received 349 votes, 184 being necessary to a choice. Georgia having been thrown out, none were counted for Greeley, but Hendricks footed up 42. The others were scattering. When one vote was announced for Gen. Banks for Vice-President there was a good deal of merriment, and he turned crimson at the glance of the vast crowd. The numerous technical objections made today to the incompleteness of some of the returns to the fact that under the joint rules no laws were allowed to be read bearing on any case; that no debate was permitted, and that as a consequence the votes of entire States were lost because one house voted one way and the other house another,—all contributed to form the general opinion that the present electoral system is very defective, so defective that in a close contest one man has it almost in his power to defeat the popular choice of the people for President.

A NEW REPUBLIC.

King Amadeus of Spain Abdicates the Throne—The Cortes Proclaim a Republic by a Vote of 359 to 32—A Gloomy Prospect.

MADRID, Feb. 11.—King Amadeus persists in his determination to abdicate. When it became known that the King would certainly resign, groups gathered in the streets, and there were some attempts at disturbance. The House of Deputies, last night, decided that the President of that branch of the Cortes and fifty Deputies should constitute a permanent committee.

WASHINGTON Feb. 11.—Secretary Fish this evening received the following dispatch from Minister Sickles:

"At 9 o'clock to-night the Cortes adopted a Republican form of Government by a vote of 259 in the affirmative and 32 in the negative."

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The abdication of King Amadeus is the all-absorbing topic in London and Paris. The view is considered gloomy, and bitter civil war inevitable. The last dispatch from Madrid was dated 1 o'clock this morning. Nothing since has been received. The failure of dispatches is regarded as ominous.

The last dispatch says the streets are now filled with crowds of excited people.

The Senate has appointed a permanent Committee of Thirty. Senor Malcampo and Admiral Topete, on behalf of Marshal Serrano, have offered their support to Prime Minister Zorilla in maintaining order.

It is rumored that Zorilla intends to leave the capital to-morrow. Senor Rivero will remain at his post as President of the House of Deputies.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Le Temps has advices ffom Spain showing that the Government is operating against the Carlists in the north with twenty-four battalions of infantry of the regular army and a proportionate amount of cavalry and artillery, and 6,000 or 7,000 volunteers and gens d'armes. The Carlists are active in the neighborhood of Segovia and Estella.

Further Details of the Abdication of Amadeus—Organization of a Republic—Departure of the King—He is Escorted to the Frontier.

London advices of the 12th give further and fuller details of the revolution in Spanish affairs. We glean the following particulars:

Yesterday (11th) the two houses of the Cortes assembled. At a late hour the formal message of abdication was read. It states that the King maturely considered his course. He accepted the crown under the belief that the people would support him. He was deceived. If his enemies were foreigners, he would not have taken this course. Spain has been in perpetual disquiet, and all his efforts to put an end to the intrigues were unavailing. He had no wish to remain on the throne as the King of a party.

Upon completion of the reading, the Senate and Congress met together and constituted themselves a Sovereign Cortes. Senor Rivero, President of the Congress, in a brief speech, declared himself ready to answer for the preservation of order and the execution of sovereign decrees. The abdication of King Amadeus was then accepted unanimously. A committee, selected from members of the Senate and Congress, was then appointed to draft a reply to the message, and another commission to accompany the King to the frontier. Senor Pio then proposed a resolution establishing a Republic, vesting in the Assembly supreme power. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 256 yeas, against 32 nays.

The resolution of Pio comprises the following propositions: That Spain be declared a Republic, the National Assembly to assume all the powers of supreme authority and appoint a responsible Government to execute their decrees; that to another Assembly, hereafter to be elected, will be referred the duty of determining the form of the Constitution.

The Cortes elected the following Government: Figueras, for President of the Council; Cordoba, Minister of War; P. Y. Margall, Minister of the Interior; Nicolas Salmeron, Minister of Justice; Francisco Salmeron, Minister of the Colonies; Beranger, Minister of Marine; Castelar, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Becerra, Minister of Public Works; Echegaray, Minister of Finance.

Figueras then addressed the Assembly. He said he owed his appointment to political circumstances. He promised that the Spanish people should in future have the utmost freedom in the choice of their rulers and representatives. He then read numerous telegrams from the provinces, showing that the public peace and order had been everywhere preserved. He hoped the Republic would be established forever, and that Spain would henceforth exercise her just influence in the affairs of Europe. He believed that other Latin nations would not be slow to imitate her example. The Government now chosen would insure the national integrity. The Assembly then adjourned.

It is stated that the principal Communists of London, Brussels, and Geneva have started from those cities for Madrid.

The announcement of the abdication of King Amadeus produces a profound sensation in Berlin. The German papers hint that it was caused by French intrigues.

Dispatches from Madrid announce that ex-King Amadeus with his wife and children has gone to Lisbon, where he will remain until spring.

Paris telegrams report that Don Carlos is preparing to take advantage of the crisis in Spain to push his claims to the throne.

THE NEW SENATE.

The Upper House of the Forty-third Congress—A New Deal All Around.

[From the Louisville Courier-Journal.]

We publish this morning, for the information of our readers, an entirely new and interesting list of the next Senate, to which the elections are now complete, with the exception of Massachusetts, which will fill the seat that Mr. Henry Wilson will be required to resign before he can be sworn in as Vice President. The seats claimed by Mr. Spencer and Mr. Pinchback will be contested—the former by a Senator to be elected by the reunited Legislature of Alabama, and the latter by Gov. Warmoth or some other other aspirant to be chosen by the Warmoth Legislature of Louisiana. The full Senate consists of 74 members, of whom 19 are Democrats, 4 Liberal Republicans, and 51 Administration Republicans. The column next to the names of the States indicates the year in which the gentlemen respectively entered the Senate; but in some cases the service has not been continuous—for example, Mr. McCreery, of Kentucky, who succeeded the late James Guthrie in 1868, was succeeded by Mr. Stevenson in 1871, and now returns to the seat to be vacated by Mr. Machen this year. Mr. Sumner is the oldest Senator in continuous service. Mr. Cameron, who entered in 1845, retired in 1849, re-entered in 1857, retired in 1861 to become Secretary of War, was afterward Minister to Russia, and finally returned to the Senate in 1867; his aggregate Senatorial period is therefore only 20 years. Mr. Hamlin, who entered in 1848, resigned Jan. 7, 1857, was inaugurated Governor of Maine the same day, was re-elected to the Senate Jan. 16, and resigned the office Feb. 20. In 1860 he was elected Vice-President, and did not return to the Senate till 1869; his aggregate service is therefore three months less than 19 years. Messrs. Chandler, Anthony, Howe and John Sherman each have 18 years, ranking next after Mr. Hamlin.

States.	Begin.	End.	Names.	Politics.
Alabama	1871	1877	C. Goldthwaite	Dem.
	1868	1879	*Geo. E. Spencer	Rep.
Arkansas	1871	1877	Powell Clayton	Rep.
	1873	1879	S. W. Dorsey	Rep.
California	1869	1875	Eugene Casserly	Dem.
	1873	1879	A. A. Sargent	Rep.
Connecticut	1869	1875	W. Buckingham	Rep.
	1867	1879	Orris S. Ferry	Rep.
Delaware	1869	1875	Thos. F. Bayard	Dem.
	1871	1877	Eli Saulsbury	Dem.
Florida	1869	1875	Abijah Gilbert	Rep.
	1873	1879	S. B. Conover	Rep.
Georgia	1871	1877	T. M. Norwood	Dem.
	1873	1879	John B. Gordon	Dem.
Illinois	1871	1877	John A. Logan	Rep.
	1873	1879	R. J. Oglesby	Rep.
Indiana	1869	1875	Daniel D. Pratt	Rep.
	1867	1879	O. P. Morton	Rep.
Iowa	1871	1877	Geo. G. Wright	Rep.
	1873	1879	Wm. B. Allison	Rep.
Kansas	1871	1877	Alex. Caldwell	Rep.
	1873	1879	John J. Ingalls	Rep.
Kentucky	1871	1877	J. W. Stevenson	Dem.
	1868	1879	T. C. McCreery	Dem.
Louisiana	1871	1877	J. R. West	Rep.
	1873	1879	*P. B. Pinchback	Rep.
Maine	1848	1875	H. Hamlin	Rep.
	1861	1877	Lot M. Morrill	Rep.
Massachusetts	1851	1875	Chas. Sumner	L. Rep.
	1873	1877	Not yet filled	Rep.
Maryland	1869	1875	W. T. Hamilton	Dem.
	1870	1879	Geo. R. Dennis	Dem.
Michigan	1857	1875	Zach. Chandler	Rep.
	1871	1877	Thos. W. Ferry	Rep.
Minnesota	1863	1875	Alex. Ramsey	Rep.
	1871	1877	Wm. Windom	Rep.
Mississippi	1870	1875	Adelbert Ames	Rep.
	1871	1877	Jas. L. Alcorn	Rep.
Missouri	1869	1875	Carl Schurz	L. Rep.
	1873	1879	Louis V. Bogy	Dem.
Nebraska	1867	1875	Thos. W. Tipton	L. Rep.
	1871	1877	P. W. Hitchcock	Rep.
Nevada	1864	1875	Wm. M. Stewart	Rep.
	1873	1879	John P. Jones	Rep.
New Hampshire	1865	1877	Aaron H. Cragin	Rep.
	1873	1879	B. Wadleigh	Rep.
New Jersey	1871	1875	Jno. P. Stockton	Dem.
	1871	1877	F. Frelinghuysen	Rep.
New York	1869	1875	Reub. E. Fenton	L. Rep.
	1867	1279	Roscoe Conkling	Rep.
North Carolina	1872	1877	Mat. W. Ransom	Dem.
	1873	1879	A. S. Merrimon	Dem.
Ohio	1869	1875	A. G. Thurman	Dem.
	1861	1879	John Sherman	Rep.
Oregon	1871	1877	Jas. K. Kelley	Dem.
	1873	1879	Jno. H. Mitchell	Rep.
Pennsylvania	1869	1875	John Scott	Rep.
	1845	1879	Simon Cameron	Rep.
Rhode Island	1863	1875	Wm. Sprague	Rep.
	1859	1877	H. B. Anthony	Rep.
South Carolina	1868	1877	T. J. Robertson	Rep.
	1873	1879	T. J. Patterson	Rep.
Tennessee	1869	1875	W. G. Brownlow	Rep.
	1871	1877	Henry Cooper	Dem.
Texas	1870	1875	J. W. Flanagan	Rep.
	1870	1877	M. C. Hamilton	Rep.
Vermont	1866	1875	G. F. Edmunds	Rep.
	1867	1879	Justin S. Morrill	Rep.
Virginia	1870	1875	John F. Lewis	Rep.
	1870	1877	J. W. Johnston	Dem.
West Virginia	1869	1875	A. I. Boreman	Rep.
	1871	1877	Henry G. Davis	Dem.
Wisconsin	1869	1875	M. H. Carpenter	Rep.
	1861	1879	Tim. O. Howe	Rep.

*Seats contested.

A Respectable Locomotive Explosion.

An explosion as was an explosion occurred on the South Carolina railroad, the other day, when a locomotive boiler exploded. Every portion of the engine was a complete wreck. One of the large driving wheels was torn from the axle and buried deep in the embankment on the left. One of the heavy driving shafts was hurled over the embankments of the cut, and in its career struck the top of a telegraph pole, which it snapped off like a piece of glass. The dome of the engine was thrown far above the cut, and fell about 400 yards to the left. The bell started with similar velocity, and crushed in the gable end of a negro preacher's house, about the same distance to the right, causing the sable clergyman to tremble with fright. The rest of the engine, except the flues, was blown to fragments. Strange to say, a car containing several persons, though but a few feet from the engine, was untouched by any of the fragments. There being no other persons near, no injury was done to life. The concussion was so great that the tumblers and bottles were thrown from the shelves and counter of a bar-room in Lewisville, nearly half a mile distant, and the detonation is said to have been distinctly heard at a distance of twelve miles.

THE NORTHFLEET DISASTER.

Additional Details of the Terrible Calamity—Thrilling Scenes.

The details of the terrible disaster to the ship Northfleet are published in the London papers, from which it appears that at half-past 10 o'clock at night, the captain and others were alarmed by a cry from the officer of the watch, "A steamer is right into us." The captain and pilot rushed on deck, but before they got there the steamer had run into the vessel, striking her amidships and cutting her below water-mark. The carpenter quickly reported her nearly half full of water. The pumps were started promptly, and the crew worked hard at them for some minutes, but when it was found that the water was fast gaining, a panic seemed to seize both the crew and passengers, and afterward it was imposible to keep the latter in check. A crowd of men and women had rushed up from their berths, many of them only half clothed. The passengers had mostly retired, but few of them were undressing. The noise of collision is likened by one of them to a peal of thunder, and such was the violence of the shock that those standing were knocked down. It appears the steamer rebounded and came a second time in collision with the Northfleet. The water began to pour in, and in a very short time the passengers' quarters were swamped. Women were slower to rush on deck than men, and many were not in condititiion to go till the water rose threateningly on them. No one on board the steamer was heard to speak, although loud and eager shouts from the Northfleet must have made her crew aware of the danger that existed. She backed for two or three minutes, and then steaming rapidly away, was soon out of sight. For half an hour the scene on the deck of the Northfleet was appalling. Women shrieked, men cursed and swore, and fought their way toward the boat, whilst the captain and first-mate roared out commands to the men to keep back and allow the women to get to the side of the vessel, but apparently without success.

Rockets were fired, and blue lights burned. The gun was loaded, but the screw of the ramrod became detached from the handle, and the piece could not be discharged. The signals of distress were seen by several vessels, but appear to have been regarded as signals for a pilot, for no assistance was rendered. Meanwhile the scene on deck baffles description. The captain, finding the men determined to leave the vessel, went below, armed himself with a revolver, and ascending the poop, declared his determination to shoot the first man who tried to leave the vessel before the women were saved. The first boat launched was lowered by a number of passengers by cutting the ropes. There being no ladder at hand, the only way of getting into it was by leaping or dropping some 12 or 15 feet. As there was a terrible rush toward the boat, the scene was one of distressing confusion, and a man and boy fell into the water and drowned. The officers did all they could to force the men who first got into the boat to leave it that the women might be saved, but to no purpose. Even firing with a blank cartridge, as supposed at first, was unavailing. About 30 persons having got into it, the boat put off. Not one of the crew was in it. Another life-boat was launched. A man got into it and was ordered to leave. He refused, and the captain shot him in the calf. Then Capt. Knowles placed his wife in the boat, and said to the boatswain, who had already got in, "Here's a charge for you, boatswain; take care of her and the rest, and God bless you." Wringing his wife's hand, he bade her good bye, saying: "I shall never see you again."

It is impossible to describe the panic that raged all this time. Heartrending scenes were witnessed on all sides. One of the passengers, seeing the captain's wife in the boat, threw his own wife in, tossed her baby to her, and entered the boat himself. A little girl was thrown into the boat by her father, who tried to save the rest of his family, but the seething, maddened crowd pressing toward the side of the vessel prevented, and, with his wife and two other children, he went down with the ill-fated vessel. The engineer made frantic efforts to save his wife and children, but was jammed between the cook-house and gunwale, and received such dreadful injuries that, although afterward rescued, he is in a precarious state. Only two of the seven boats aboard were launched, owing, no doubt, to the panic. One was seriously injured as the tackle was cut and the boat fell into the sea. When the second boat had got off it seemed to become a question of moments. The quarter-deck was still crowded by men, women, and children, some crying, swearing, and praying. The captain and pilot were together, and the latter was heard saying, "If you want to save yourselves make for the topmast." To which many poor people rushed. In a quarter of an hour a tug picked up the second boat with 300 occupants, and then steamed for some time round the spot where, about three quarters of an hour after being struck, the Northfleet went down head first, with awful suddenness, with 327 souls on board.

At that moment the first boat was 100 yards and the second only 20 or 30 from the vessel. The crew of the first boat, after landing the women, rowed around the scene of the wreck and saved five men trying to swim to shore. A lugger took off the occupants of the second boat, 34 passengers, and a pilot cutter rescued the pilot and 10 men, who, having gone down with the vessel, rose to the surface and clung to the maintopmast rigging. The vessel lies in eleven fathoms of water. The survivors say the Captain displayed the greatest heroism, maintained his presence of mind from first to last, strove hard to put an end to the panic, and did his duty bravely to the end. He was at the last moment going across the wreck in the hope of enabling some of the crowd crushing round the boats on that side to get away from the ship. The survivors say the other boats got adrift when the ship sunk, and express the belief that if the passengers had allowed them to be lowered properly they could have saved at least a hundred more lives. Unfortunately the women could not climb the masts, although we did all in our power to help them. Consequently all the women and children, with the exception of the Captain's wife and another, and two children, were drowned.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

Our Jobbing Vice-President.

During the last Presidential canvass Mr. Colfax made a speech at South Bend, Ind., on the 16th of September, in which, in allusion to his alleged corrupt complication with Credit Mobilier stock, he said:

"I am proud to say, too, that in all my public life no man ever dared to make me a dishonorable proposition. Do I need to add that neither Oakes Ames nor any other person ever gave or offered to give me one share or twenty shares or 2,000 shares in Mobilier or any other railroad stock, and that, unfortunately, I have never received the value of a farthing out of the 270 per cent. dividends, nor the 800 per cent. dividends, in cash, stocks and bonds, you have read about every day for the past month, nor 100 per cent., nor 1 per cent., nor one-tenth of 1 per cent.?"

Being examined January 7, 1873, before the Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee, Mr. Colfax testifies as follows:

"I state explicitly that no one ever gave or offered to give me any shares of stock in the Credit Mobilier or the Union Pacific railroad. I have never received nor had tendered to me any dividends in cash, stock or bonds accruing upon any stock, in either said of organizations. * * * * I told him (Oakes Ames, in December, 1867) I would agree to purchase twenty shares at par and interest, to be paid for as soon as I had the money. Some weeks or months afterwards, at the same session, I paid Mr. Ames about $500 in cash on the contract of purchase, being all the money I had, but received no dividend nor certificate of stock in whole or in part. My impression is that he told me that one or two dividends had been earned, but that they were not in cash, and were as yet unadjusted. Certainly I did not receive any, and was not offered any, in cash or bonds or stock, then or since. * * * A few months after this I heard a rumor that unpleasant controversies existed among the largest stockholders, which were certain to involve the organization in prolonged litigation. The very day I heard this rumor I told Mr. Ames that no profits present or prospective could induce me to buy into a lawsuit. * * * The next year, or the year after, Mr. Ames suspended payment, in consequence, as was said, of financial investments connected with the Pacific railroad, and his creditors gave him an extension on his liabilities; but, regretting his failure and its cause, I told him to dismiss from his mind the small amount of money between us. * * * I may repeat, therefore, that neither stock nor bonds were given to me, nor offered to be given to me; that I never received a dollar in bonds, stock or money as dividends; that I did contract to purchase twenty shares of stock in the company at par and interest, but that after a partial payment I withdrew entirely from what I regarded as an incomplete contract, from repugnance to being involved in litigation; and that instead of being enriched by it $1,000 or $20,000 as has been charged, I am voluntarily out of pocket $500, and have been for nearly five years."

Mr. Colfax's story, then, amounts to this: that he agreed to buy twenty shares of Credit Mobilier stock at par and paid some $500 of the purchase money; but fearing a lawsuit refused to pay the remainder, and about a year or two thereafter forgave Oakes Ames—he then being in difficulties—the $500 and thus ended the transaction, never having received any dividends whatever therein. This pleasing romance is rudely treated by the proceedings before the Credit Mobilier Investigating Committee on the 24th inst. It then appeared that the precise amount paid by Mr. Colfax was $534.72, and that this sum completed the purchase and transfer to him of twenty shares of Credit Mobilier stock. In other words, Mr. Colfax agreed to buy twenty shares at par and interest, and when he came to pay the purchase money Oakes Ames informed him that there was a dividend of 80 per cent. due him on the shares, and that this dividend would go so far towards paying the purchase money—par and interest—that he, Mr. C., need only pay over in cash $534.72 to complete the trade. Mr. Colfax gave a check for $534.72, and thereupon became the full and sole owner of the twenty shares. In a mercantile way the transaction stands thus:

SCHUYLER COLFAX IN ACCOUNT WITH OAKES AMES.

Dr.		Cr.
To—20 shares Credit Mobilier at 100	$2,000.00	By 80 p. c. dividend in bonds, 3 per cent. off	$1,552.00
To accrued interest	86.72	By check to balance	534.72
Total	$2,086.72	Total	$2,086.00

That all that Schuyler Colfax paid for his twenty shares was $534.72, and that thereupon the shares became his, let us prove by Schuyler Colfax himself. Here is the testimony:

"By the Chairman—Mr. Ames says the amount he received from you was $534.72. Do you concede that that was the amount?

"Mr. Colfax—I think it was.

"Q. Did you understand from Mr. Ames that this $534.72 was a balance from you to complete the payment for this stock?

"Mr. Colfax—I supposed it was a conjectural balance.

"Q. You say that you did not understand that it completed the payment of the stock?

"Mr. Colfax—I understood that there were dividends earned but unadjusted, which would probably make up the balance.

"Q. You did not understand that this amount finished the payment of your stock, but you did understand that dividends had been earned which would probably amount to the price of it?

"Mr. Colfax—Yes; according to his statement, enough to pay and overrun the amount."

Here, then, is Mr. Colfax testifying to a very curious state of things. On the one hand is Oakes Ames with twenty shares of Credit Mobilier stock worth at the least par, $2,000, and accrued interest $86.72, and entitled to a dividend of 80 per cent., discount off, $1,552, equal to $3,638.72 in all. On the other hand is Mr. Colfax with his frugal pile. Give me, says Oakes Ames, your check for $534.72 and the luxuriant securities I hold are yours. For the sum named I will give you not only the stock but money enough to complete the purchase of the stock. My house is worth $10,000; give me $100 and I will give you the house and $9,900, with which you can pay me the balance due. Now a transaction of this kind, where one for 5 cents buys not a dollar, but the lacking 95 cents requisite to make the dollar, is necessarily unclean. It is thieves' brokerage, junk-shop dealing, a financial panel game.

And yet Schuyler Colfax, Vice-President of the United States, is smutted with this filth. In the words of that good book he has so often quoted to loil Sunday-schools, he has touched pitch and is defiled; he has made haste to be rich and cannot be held innocent. What Oakes Ames has said of him we care not, and have not quoted; what has been said or written against him is but secondary evidence; we have put him on the stand against himself, and insist that on his own showing he is guilty of cold-blooded falsehood and premeditated fraud. No rush of passion overwhelmed Mr. Colfax; he was not seduced, not trapped, not conspired against. What he did he did as a stroke of business and figured it down to a cent. He knew all about the dividends before drawing the check. He says: "Mr. Ames told me the amount I was to pay was $534.72. He said there was some dividends that had accrued upon this stock, that they were not paid in cash, and that they were yet unadjusted. He did not offer any of them to me." Then the Chairman asked him, "You did not understand that this amount finished the payment of your stock, but you did understand that dividends had been earned which would probably amount to the price of it?" and he replies, "Yes; according to his [Oakes Ames'] statement, enough to pay and overrun the amount." On this understanding he drew his check. What an absolute falsehood, then, his statement at South Bend; what a grazing of perjury his testimony before cross-examination on the 7th instant!

And now unfortunate that this, the meanest of all the Credit Mobilier traffickers, is so secure from punishment. He was Speaker of the House when he first put foot in these muddy waters, but nearly four years since he was transplanted from the House to the Senate, and it is out of the question for the House to chastise him now of its own power. Since he has been in the Senate no new dereliction has come to light, and in contemplation of law he is unassailable by that body. Impeachment being only for "officers" of the United States, and a Representative not being an officer, as was many years ago decided in the Blount case, the House and Senate cannot combine for his arraignment and trial. There seems no way of reaching him unless it be by the reflex action of an expulsion of his guilty associates who are yet within the jurisdiction of the House. The Vice-President of the United States is out of his own mouth convicted of fraud, jobbery, malfeasance, and something very like perjury, and yet so anomalous is our system—or rather, let us say, so little were such crimes ever imagined as possible when our Government was framing—the knave may smile and smile and be an unwhipped villain still.—New York World.

Where Is Nast?

What has become of Thomas Nast? Where is the caricaturist of the Journal of Civilization? During the Presidential campaign, there was not a week in which he did not caricature Mr. Greeley with all manner of broadness and coarseness. There was not a week in which he did not do his utmost to vilify such men as Senators Trumbull, Schurz, Sumner, and others, who had not been guilty of participating in the prevailing corruptions, and who had not committed any political offense graver than that of presuming to act and think for themselves in political matters, and to protest against these very corruptions. For such presumptions as these, Mr. Thomas Nast did not hesitate to employ his pencil in the congenial work of vilifying them with an almost infernal malignity, and of pandering to the very lowest passions of partisan strife. The journal published in the interests of civilization did not hesitate to send them broadcast, and make what profit it could out of them. If Mr. Thomas Nast, however, could so successfully malign public men where the caricature was purely and simply an atrocious libel, and if the Journal of Civilization could publish and editorially explain and indorse such libels, surely we have a right to expect that the same artist and journal shall unite their efforts in a vigorous protest against the corruption and wickedness prevailing in high places, where they are officially proven. The readers of that paper have a right to expect that the iniquities of Credit Mobilier shall be publicly rebuked, and that such men as Oakes Ames, John B. Alley, Schuyler Colfax, Patterson, Bingham, Harlan, and Pomeroy, and others, shall not be allowed to escape scot free, while the men whose hands are clear of bribes, who have never been connected directly or indirectly with Credit Mobilier, and against whose reputations for honesty not a suspicion has been raised, have been exposed for months to an incessant stream of pictorial and billingsgate. The failure to improve this opportunity is not at all to the credit of Mr. Thomas Nast, still less to the credit of his employers, the Messrs. Harper. It shows that Mr. Thomas Nast and the Messrs. Harper are guilty of sneaking hypocrisy. It shows that they stand ready to malign and outrage the character of every man who presumes to think differently from them in matters of politics and religion, and to cover up the crimes of those who are political or religious friends. It shows that Mr. Thomas Nast's talents can be hired for very dirty work. It shows that corruption and malfeasance in office stand in no danger from Mr. Nast's pencil, so long as they are committed by his friends. It shows that the Messrs. Harper print a newspaper only in the interests of a certain faction, and that they stand ready to compound the millions of any one adhering to that faction. It shows that the civilization, of which Harper's Weekly boastingly proclaims itself the exponent, is a compound made up of a system of politics and morality which are not incompatible with corruption, bribery, and official depravity. From such a civilization as this, and from such representatives of civilization as Mr. Thomas Nast and the Messrs. Harper, good Lord deliver us!—Chicago Tribune.

The Greeley Monument—Address of the Committee.

To the People of the United States:

The committee to raise a fund to commemorate the virtues of the late Horace Greeley by a statue and a monument in Greenwood, has been fully organized by the appointment of the Hon. William W. Niles, of Westchester county, as Chairman; the Hon. Andrew H. Green, Comptroller of the city of New York, Treasurer; and Edmund C. Stedman, Esq., of New York, Secretary.

The members of the committee, as far as appointed, are at work in earnest, and with a sure prospect of success. But they are conscious that it does not belong to them, nor to any limited number of men, to render adequate honor to one whose just fame belongs to the entire people. Horace Greeley was pre-eminently a man of the people; he rose from among their ranks by industry, frugality, and a life of blameless purity; his example, no less than his written words, will remain forever a precious legacy to the masses of the workingmen who are actuated by the same pure ambition as that which raised him from poverty and obscurity to the honorable and conspicuous position in which for many years he led the public opinion of the country. There is nothing in his character or career which mars the force of his beneficent influence. No young man can ponder the story of his life without profit. He is one of the few public men of our age who may be safely held up to the imitation of the young. It is therefore to the people at large that the committee confidently appeal. It is their privilege and duty to honor worthily the man who best represented the brain and conscience of the masses.

This is in no sense a partisan enterprise. The committee is composed of members of all parties, equally proud to do honor to one whose laborious life was passed in devotion to the general welfare.

All who believe with us that Mr. Greeley's great efforts in behalf of freedom, of enlightenment, of economy, and of progress have not been without beneficent results are cordially invited to share in this tribute to his memory. The rich cannot better show their appreciation of the lessons of industry and order which he taught, and the poor, in giving what slight sums they can afford, will honor their own estate and aspirations. It is not doubted that every editor in the country will be willing to forward the work, either by an editorial indorsement or by receiving and forwarding such sums as may be raised in his locality. There is not a village in the land but contains some man who has profited by Mr. Greeley's teachings. We hope there is not one where an effort will not be made to contribute to this expression of the national gratitude.

A memorial volume will be kept containing the name and residence of every contributor, and upon the completion of the work will be deposited in the Historical Society for preservation.

WILLIAM W. NILES, Chairman.

ANDREW H. GREEN, Treasurer.

EDMUND C. STEDMAN, Secretary.

William B. Ogden, John E. Williams, Augustus Schell, John O. Whitehouse, Samuel J. Tilden, Marshall O. Roberts, Frank Leslie, William Orton, James Gordon Bennett, New York Herald; Ivory Chamberlain, New York World; William Cullen Bryant, New York Evening Post; James Brooks, New York Express; Oswald Ottendorfer, New York Staats Zeitung; David M. Stone, New York Journal of Commerce; Whitelaw Reid, New York Tribune; Hugh J. Hastings, New York Commercial Advertiser; J. M. Bundy, New York Evening Mail; George P. Rowell, P. T. Barnum; William MacFarlane, Yonkers; William W. Goodrich, Thomas Kinsella, George G. Reynolds, Brooklyn; Senator A. W. Palmer, Armenia, N. Y.; John Anderson, Tarrytown, N. Y.; ex-Gov. Theo. F. Randolph, Morristown, N. J.; Dudley S. Gregory, Jersey City; Samuel Bowles, Springfield, Mass.; N. P. Banks, Lynn, Mass.; Col. Charles G. Greene, Boston Post; Charles I. Kimball, Portland, Me.; ex-Gov. Jas. A. Weston, Manchester, N. H.; Senator Wm. Sprague, Providence, R. I.; ex-Gov. James E. English, New Haven, Conn.; David Clark, Hartford, Conn.; ex-Gov. Joseph R. Hawley, Hartford, Conn.; Col. John W. Forney, Philadelphia Press; James P. Barr, Pittsburgh Post; Murat Halstead, Cincinnati Commercial; Frederick Hassaurek, Cincinnati Volksblatt; Gen. R. Brinkerhoff, Columbus; Gov. Austin Blair, Michigan; Gov. Thomas A. Hendricks, Indianapolis, Ind.; Hon. John S. Williams, Lafayette, Ind.; Gov. William Bross, Chicago Tribune; Senator John A. Logan, Illinois; ex-Senator Augustus C. Dodge, Burlington, Iowa; Senator William B. Allison, Dubuque; Hon. Alexander Mitchell, Milwaukee, Wis.; Gov. C. C. Washburn, Madison, Wis.; ex-Gov. William Marshall, Senator Carl Shurz, St. Louis; William Hyde, St. Louis Republican; Henry Watterson, Louisville Courier-Journal; Gov. Smith, Georgia; Hon. John Forsyth, Mobile Register; John C. Burch, editor Union and American, Nashville, Tenn.; ——Roberts, editor Nashville Banner; Gov. John McEnery, New Orleans, La.; Gov. Wm. Pitt Kellogg, New Orleans, La.

Sorry Picture of the Executive Mansion at Washington.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes:

The public who go to the White House to see the President, or to transact any business, or to attend levees, receptions, etc., visit only the public part of the building, which, to all appearances, is suitable for its uses, although of late years it has been found inadequate to accommodate the crowds that throng it during New Year receptions and the levees.

The east room is a handsome one in every way, its proportions are good and the decorations modest and befitting. The blue, green and red rooms are also attractive and tastefully adorned. The state drawing room is suitable for the purpose of official entertainments. The public reception room is a disgrace, and less fitted for a waiting room than the parlor of a well-to-do mechanic in Cincinnati. It is simply a public office containing two or three desks, a few rheumatic chairs and a measly carpet—a room, indeed, where no refined lady could wait a half hour without a feeling of humiliation. The room in which the President receives his visitors, the library and offices for clerks, which are very much crowded, are the remainder of the public or semi-public apartment. They could, with repairs, be made to answer in a suitable manner for several years.

It is not, however, for the accommodation of the public that a new executive mansion is demanded, so much as to furnish decent accommodations for the President and his family. The present are simply and absolutely a shame and a disgrace.

In the first place, the White House is more than 80 years old, and is almost destitute of modern conveniences and improvements so necessary to comfort. Gen. Babcock says there are several hundred private residences in Washington whose occupants possess by far greater facilities for convenience than the President of the United States. The building is two stories high and a basement. The only room on the first story which the family of the President can occupy is a small room used as the family dining-room. Therefore, the President of the United States and his family live in apartments on the second floor of an ordinary house, no better quarters, if Gen. Babcock properly describes them, than may be rented by a bachelor in dozens of boarding-houses in any city. To bring it to the comprehension of all, I may say with entire accurracy that for all purposes the President is no better off for accommodations than though he lived in a nine-roomed house, without modern improvements! The east end of the upper floor of the building is without drain or waste-pipes. The living and sleeping-rooms on this story are eight in number, and are without closets or clothes presses. One of these is the library already mentioned. By economizing room and using the library for a sitting room, the President of the United States has one "spare" room—that is all. That is to say, if all the President's children were at home, he could not accommodate two guests. He can only get along by diverting a room to a purpose for which it is not attended. Besides, these rooms are the worst arranged and most inconvenient possible to imagine; and are almost destitute of the ordinary seclusion which a gentlemen would desire for himself and family.

The only bathing-rooms are two, divided by a simple board partition, and situated in the servants' hall at the head of the servants' stairway, perhaps the most inconvenient place possible to have them; and yet from the construction of the house, the only available one.

While some of the rooms are large, yet the arrangement of the windows is such that they will not admit of being subdivided except at great disadvantage to the rooms, or the complete destruction of the outside appearance of the building, which would result from a change of windows.

Watts, the philosopher who peddles poor seeds to country Congressmen, has better accommodations than the President of the United States.

There is not a foreign minister in Washington who has not more comfortable quarters than the President. Every Cabinet officer, except Boutwell, lives in a better house than Gen. Grant; half the members of the Senate and House live better. Even clerks in the departments have better accommodations than he. Is not this a humiliating confession to every American at home or abroad?

Giving some particulars as to the condition of the White House, Gen. Babcock in his report says that the building, on account of its age, requires constant repairs; many of the floors and roof timbers are in a state of decay, and the strength of the best is seriously impaired by age. There is hardly a ceiling which is not cracked, and in the majority of cases the full extent of its width and length. Many of them must of necessity be taken down during the coming season to prevent their falling from their gradually appreciating weakness. One large ceiling fell last year, but fortunately when the room was unoccupied. Over the larger rooms of the first story the ceilings have settled several inches from the weight of the partitions in the story above, which are very heavy and stand directly over the rooms below, without corresponding partitions on the first floor.

Successful Pursuit of Perfumery.

During the late rise in the Yuba river J. W. Briggs, while passing over a low strip of land on the Grass Brothers' ranch, met with what he called a "drove of polecats." They had evidently been driven from their burrows by water, and when approached by the discoverer, trotted along before him for quite a distance, like a drove of pigs. Finally they all plunged into one hole. Mrs. Briggs being aware that the animal is often hunted by Chinamen, and that polecats' galls were rated at $5 each by celestial physicians, he informed a couple of Chinamen what had occurred, and pointed out the locality of the burrow to them. The Chinamen provided themselves with shovels and commenced to dig on the line of the hole. After excavating a pit about ten feet in depth and three wide, they struck upon the nest of polecats. Notwithstanding the almost overpowering odor filling the air, one after another they were dispatched until ten large and fat polecats lay dead at the feet of the fortunate and victorious Chinamen.—Maysville (Cal.) Appeal.

Swallow-Tailed Coats for Rent.

It appears from a recent article in the New York World that several establishments exist in New York devoted almost entirely to the purposes of supplying men with temporary wear. Evening suits are kept on hire, and there everybody from a gentleman down to a waiter or counter-jumper can be accommodated and clothed in the "garments of the night." Trowsers are sub-let and dress-coats furnished. Sometimes this raiment will be cut in the latest fashion; sometimes also the garb is of the "mystic-wonderful" variety, presenting to the astounded view distortions woefully suggestive of inordinate internal malformations. (Like David Copperfield's reflections upon the anatomy of boarding-school mutton, it might be supposed that the wearer were afflicted with inexplicable combinations of pigeon breast, hump-shoulders, and aldermanic stomachs. Some few of the coats, however, are truly fashionable. Short-wasted, short-tailed, and short-sleeved, they would pass muster in any parlor, when worn by no one attracting more attention than a member of the door brigade or one of "Brown's young men." The writer called yesterday afternoon at one of the establishments whereon the sign, "Dress-coats, for balls and weddings, to hire, within." Obeying the peremptory injunction of the last word, the writer entered, and so soon as the proprietor was disengaged said to him:

"I believe that you have dress-coats to hire?"

"Yes, sir," was the ready response, while he accomplished what Hood styles "washing his hands in invisible soap and water." "Yes, sir, I have dress-coats of the very latest and most fashionable styles, and can suit you with a perfect fit."

"What do you charge for them?"

"Different prices, from $2.50, $3, up to $3.50. The best are the highest-priced, of course."

"Do you want any deposit?"

"Well, for a first-class coat I would like you to leave $25 or $30. For a cheap one the deposit would be correspondingly less."

"I hardly understand, though, how you can manage to let good coats for such a price. Where do you obtain them? Or do you make them yourself?"

"Oh, we pick them up in a great many different ways. A good part of them are misfits, made by a fashionable tailor for some customer who was not satisfied with the article furnished him. In fact all our coats have been made to order. Then there are coats which have been commanded and never called for, coats whose should-be owners cannot pay for them, and coats coming from every source and for every conceivable reason. Most of those we keep for hire have been made at a cost of $70 or $80.

"You get them cheaper than that?"

"Certainly; otherwise we could not afford to hire them at the price we do."

"Is the business lively?"

"At some seasons, yes. About this time we have no trouble in disposing of all the coats we have on hand. There are so many balls going on just now that the demand is to have them nearly every night."

"Can I ask what class of people use your coats?"

"All classes, sir. Very many of them go up to Fifth avenue; you would be surprised to know how many. You see there are mighty few gentlemen who can afford to buy an expensive dress-coat to wear only two or three times a season, so they just keep their money in their pocket, and when they are invited out come to us to be suited. Then again, it costs a good deal to be always up to the fashions, and as they wish to dress stylishly, that is another reason why they patronize us. By coming here, a man can go everywhere he is asked, and always present an elegant appearance at about half the price of a coat, which, if bought, he would probably be obliged to wear until it were shabby."

Spiders.

They are wonderful in structure as they are curious in their habits and general economy. Most of them have six eyes on each side of the head, in two rows at the point of small nipple-like papillæ. One set are telescopic, while the other six are microscopic. Next, spiders are right-handed, working more adroitly with the right claw than the left in extending the cords of a web.

The orifices through which the sixy fluid is forced out at will that instantly hardens into an elastic thread, vary in number in different families of spiders. In some of them quite a number of threads unite in the spinning process to make a strong line. Those minute openings are termini of ducts from the bags in which web material is secreted, controlled by sphincter muscles acting in obedience to the will.

All their movements in weaving and arranging a fly-trap indicate calculation, and are therefore a step quite beyond blind instinct. An examination of a broken cord—mending it and seeking the best point for an attachment to keep the web tense in all directions, certainly exhibits thought. Their manner of approaching entangled game, securing each limb of the prisoner artistically, binding them so no resistance can be offered that would be injurious to themselves before savagely eating into their vitals, is a marvelous proof of the elements of mind, far superior to most of the quadrupeds, and yet spiders are without a brain!

Nothing is more surprising in the natural history of this very common, but poorly understood, insect, than the ferocity of the female toward the male, which she pounces upon when the fertilization of the eggs has been secured, and rarely fails of killing him instanter, and then feasts deliberately on the mangled carcass.

Without spiders, which subserve the same important purpose on land that sharks do in the ocean, vegetation could hardly survive the unrestrained depredations of millions of vegetable-eating insects. By the silent warfare of spiders upon them their too great multiplication is regulated so that a balance of power is maintained in nature, essential to the preservation of order without the extinction of any.

Spiders, therefore, humble as they are in the scale or being, are just as important to the comfort of man as many higher orders that seem to have a more prominent claim to distinction.

DIVORCE is abolished in Japan.

Napoleon.

One of the most remarkable things about Louis Napoleon was his persistent delusion that he had literary ability. Besides his "Life of Cæsar" there are four volumes of his works, beginning with his "Manual of Artillery," written when serving as an officer in the Swiss army. In 1833 his "Reveries Politiques," published in Paris, evinced only that he had come to regard the evening star of the First as the morning star of the Third Napoleon. This was followed by a sketch of a constitution, and by an absurd poem dedicated to Chateaubriand in defense of the Duchess de Berry. After his failure at Strasburg he came to England and resided at Bath, where he occupied his time in writing "Les Idees Napoleoniennes," a work which has had a wide circulation, simply as indicating the aims of the author, after he came into power. While in prison at Ham he wrote a poem, "To the Memory of the Great Emperor," and "Essay on Fulminating Powder," —both valueless. His "Life of Cæsar" fell like lead to the bottom of oblivion's gulf, so soon as it appeared. He once thought he was a journalist, and during Louis Philippe's reign wrote for some Democratic papers; but the editors could not stand him. This visionary was totally unimaginative; this hero of brilliant surprises was dry and dull; and yet I am told that he died expecting that the world would some day wake up to the recognition of his literary genius.

Prof. Lee's statement that the French physicians detected the presence of stone on July 1, 1870, but that their diagnosis was suppressed from political considerations, and the inference that if the truth had then been told war would not have been declared two days later, naturally recalls the saying of Bossuet, that a grain of sand in Cromwell's tissues changed the destinies of the world—a remark that Voltaire paraphrased with regard to the Government of Charles XII. The medical papers are very full of disagreeably minute particulars with regard to the case, and the physicians who attended are plainly anxious concerning the verdict of the world on their treatment. Dr. Conneau, who has always been the Emperor's physician, was raised to that post rather for his political services than for his medical ability. It was he who dressed Louis Napoleon up as a working carpenter, and assisted his escape from the fortess of Ham, when he passed among the guards with a plank on his shoulder. Sir Henry Thompson, who performed the surgical operation, is the man who wrote the prayer challenge which Prof. Tyndall sent to the Contemporary Review. I shall expect to hear it claimed that the death was a judgement for calling in a prayerless surgeon, though on the other hand the priest at Chiselhurst besieged Heaven night and day for the patient's recovery.

There has been a Bonapartist struggle over the dead body, whose issue you will probably know before this reaches you; but from what I learn to-day, there seems to be little doubt that the young Napoleon IV. is regarded as a more promising candidate to hold by for the throne than Prince Napoleon, and that the party will gather under the standard which Eugenie is about to raise—namely, herself as Regent until her son becomes of age. London is full of these fine gentlemen just now, and while they weep in printer's ink, they are well known to be privately absorbed in the question how to raise again to par the political stock in which they have invested their all.—M. D. Conway in the Cincinnati Commercial.

Lead Pencils.

In the manufacture of lead pencils, the Florida red cedar is mostly used in this country and Europe; some "iben" wood, as the Germans call it, or English yew, is used in Germany; white pine is occasionally used for a common grade of a carpenter's pencil. The lead of the pencils is the well known graphite or plumbago; the best of this is the natural, found in a pure state in masses large enough to cut into strips. Of this there is but one mine now up to the standard, which is in the Asiatic Siberia, and pencils made from this graphite are all one grade. The Cumberland mines in England were the first discovered, but are now almost exhausted. What was formerly refuse in cutting the graphite is now ground, cleaned and refined, and then mixed with a fine clay.

In mixing the clay and graphite, great care is taken in selecting and cleaning the clay and getting the proper proportions; the mixture, with water, after being well kneaded, is placed in a large receiver and strongly compressed and forced out through a small groove at the bottom, in the shape of a thread, the thickness and style required, either square, octagon, or round. This thread, or lead wire, is cut into bars of the proper length (done by little girls) and then straightened, dried at a moderate heat, and packed into air-tight crucibles and placed in the furnaces; the grade of lead depends upon the amount of heat it is exposed to, the amount of clay used in the mixing, and the quantity of the plumbago. The coloring of the lead is by various pigments.

The wood, after being thoroughly seasoned, is cut into thin strips and dried again; then cut into strips pencil length. These strips are grooved by machinery, then carried on a belt to the gluing-room, where the lead is glued in the groove, and then the other half of the pencil glued on. After being dried under pressure, they are sent to the turning-room and rounded, squared, or made octagon, by a very ingenious little machine which passes through three sets of cutters, and drops them ready for polishing or coloring. The former is done on lathes by boys, and the latter by a machine which holds the brush and turns the pencils fed to it through a hopper. After a pencil is polished, it is cut the exact length by a circular saw, and the end is cut smooth by a drop knife, the pencil resting on an iron bed. The stamping is done by a hollow die, which is heated; the gold or silver foil is then laid on the pencil, which rests in an iron bed, and the die is then pressed on it by a screw lever. The pencils are then ready to go to the packing-room.

T. BUCHANAN READ said of Tennyson: "He looks no more like a poet than does a lobster, if compared to a goldfinch. Angular, awkward, with great hands and feet, and coarse hair streaming away, he is not the man a romantic young lady would die for."

Personal.

HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON is now a Judge in Georgia.

ROBERT COLLYER is preparing a series of lectures for young men.

ELLA WHEELER, a Wisconsin girl, has published a volume of poems.

GOLDWIN SMITH, like many others, is not a believer in Froude's historical correctness.

JEFF. DAVIS' health is better this winter than for many years, and he is making money.

A WELL-BUILT woman is probably she of the alabaster neck, marble brow and arch expression.

FORTY thousand dollars is the sum desired for the bronze statue in honor of Horace Greeley.

AN original portrait of Davy Crockett has passed into possession of the New York Historical Society.

BARNUM wants to get ten elephants to draw his great imitation car of the Juggernaut all over the country.

THE irrepressible Barnum advertises at Boston for 560 teetotallers to run his great moral show next season.

AUGUSTA, Empress of Germany, will not sit for her photograph, and those now sold were taken twenty years ago.

THE property of the late Mr. Forrest lies in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri.

THE death of Bulwer has created such an extraordinary demand for his novels that the circulating libraries are unable to meet it.

MR. JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE's passage across the Atlantic was as rough and tempestuous as his voyage across the sea of American public opinion.

THE statement comes from among the chin music from Washington, that the nose and chin of Ames are inclined to come together and shake hands.

STANLEY lectured to an audience of 700 school boys in Washington on Livingstone. He says they understood his lecture better than a geographical society.

LAWRENCE MERSEREAU, born near New York city, died in Union, N. Y., on the 24th ult., at the ripe old age of 99. His father crossed the Delaware with Washington.

GEN. LESLIE COMBS has taken a bath every morning of life for the last twenty years, and has never worn an overcoat during this time. He is 80, and hale and hearty.

BY the death of Hon. Joel A. Matteson only three of the ex-Governors of Illinois remain among the living—Richard Yates, John M. Palmer and Richard J. Oglesby.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS' works are famous for showing how nothing ought to be as it is, and what might have been the case had something else happened twelve years before.

REV. O. H. NEWTON, Chaplain of the Ohio Penitentiary, reports that about 960 of the convicts have professed religion since the formation of the Prison Church, a year and a half ago.

EASTERN papers played sad havoc with the name of Bogy, the new Missouri Senator, but a California paper, the Oakland Transcript, announced that Blair was "beaten by Fogg, a colored man."

MRS. CHARLES SUMNER is doing a vast amount of good in Europe. More than one American family to whom disease has come in foreign lands has found a faithful and efficient nurse in Mrs. Sumner. In one instance she traveled from Florence to Vienna to nurse several members of an American family of whose serious illness, occurring at the same time, she had heard.

ALDEN B. STOCKWELL is the most dashing young speculator of the age, Tom Scott not excepted. From a simple farmer boy at Painesville, Ohio, he jumped into Wall street and made a million dollars by investments in the stock of the Pacific Mail Company, of which he is now President. He was lately elected President of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, and is also largely interested in the late Samana Bay purchase. He is cool and calculating, but has no Jim Fiskian airs.

A RIDDLE.—There were fifteen travelers who stopped at a public house, and called for a dinner. It was served up and placed upon a three-cornered table, five sitting on each side. They invited the landlord to dine with them. After they had finished their meal, they proposed to count, commencing at some one, and count five, and whoever counted five was to leave the table, or in other words, every fifth man step out. They further agreed that the last man left was to pay the bill. They so counted as to have it fall upon the landlord. Now what seat did the man occupy who started the count?

BURIED ALIVE.—A voudou priestess told a New Orleans mother that on Wednesday, the third day after the death of her only daughter, the young woman would revive. The Republican says: "The Wednesday named by the voudou the mother was allowed to visit the tomb, and at her request the vault was opened. Suddenly the sound of loud shrieks broke upon the ear, and tearing open the coffin the mother clasped her frantic child in her arms. She had just come in time—an hour later and the young lady would have fallen a victim to the terrible fate of the buried alive. How did the voudou know it?"

TAH ON THE HEEL.—The Credit Mobilier reminds one of a story—as the "late lamented" used to say. In old times, when the copper was about the size of a dining plate, the chief amusement of the colored race was pitching pennies. In one of the towns where this was practiced an enterprising darky, by coating his heel with tar, managed to enrich himself at the expense of his companions. At last he was detected, and after that, whenever the game was played, word was given out, "Any gemmen wat's got tah on the heel please step out dis ring." Have any of our good little boys in Congress got "tah on de heel?"

CONSUMERS should use from one-fourth to one-half less of Dooley's than of other Yeast or Baking Powders. It is put up full weight.—[Com.

Colfax's Case.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The evidence in the case of Ames vs. Colfax, or a nation of Sinners vs Saint is probably all in. It is proper for the people to sum up. Colfax denies his connection with the Credit mobiler business, in toto, though he admits he would have invested, but for fear of a lawsuit, and having made this confession, he specially prides himself. The testimony of Oakes Ames is definite, as to the dates of the parts of the transactions between Colfax and himself, and rests on documentary evidence.—On Thursday, the 5th of March, 1868, Ames swears that he received a check for $534.72 from Colfax in part payment or balance of payment for the 20 shares of Credit Mobiler stock which Colfax purchased, and Mr Ames produces the memorandum of this check. He swears that he drew a check of the Seargent-at-Arms of the House of Representatives for $1,250 in favor of Colfax, and the Seargent-at-Arms corroborates the statement, and the check is offered in testamony. The entry in the memorandum book of Oakes Ames of the purchase of this stock by Colfax States with particularity the price paid, the money and days for which interest was due, at the time of the purchase, the rate of which bonds dividends were allowed on the stock, and gives all the details of the transaction with business-like minuteness. On the 22d of January, 1869, Ames paid Colfax—so the memorandum says—60,70 interest on 2,500 certificates of Union Pacific Railroad. Such evidence as this which is wholy a matter of record is entitled to consideration. In the matter of the $1,200, the most considerable item in the transaction the book in the First National Banks in Washington where Colfax kept his accounts exactly corroborate the statements of Ames, and the Seargent-at-Arms, together with the evidence abtained of the memorandum book and that check. These are the leading points of evidence on the Ames side of the controversy.

Mr. Colfax's defense is a complete denial. Touching the affair of the $534,72 he claims that Ames owed him that amount, or about that sum, and that when Ames became involved in financial difficulties, he (Colfax,) said to his mother that he would never ask Ames for that money until he was able to pay it. As Ames was worth about six millions of dollars before he went into the Union Pacific, and has been constantly getting richer since, and as his embarrassment was only temporary, his assets at the time of his suspension, being about six millions in excess of his liabilities. Schuyler's offer in the leniency of the matter, of $534,72, was truly touching. Concerning the $1,200, Colfax has a singular theory which has been familiar with the people of the whole country for the last twenty four hours. The thousand dollar secret gift from "almost a stranger," in New York, who died soon after the donation, and $200 from his stepfather made up the amount. Mr. Colfax and his sister and his stepfather remember that he received a thousand dollar bill in a letter at the breakfast table one morning, but neither of these witnesses can swear positively as too the exact date of the receipt, an Colfax does not under oath absolutely connect these moneys with the deposit of the $1,200, though he is very confident that these were the very dollars which he put into the bank on the 22, of June. He makes a point of having sent a draft for 1,000 to Indiana for campaign purposes on that day, which fact however does not prove that the money came from "the stranger," in New York, in a most unusual manner, and not from Ames. Just three weeks later, on the 13th of July, Colfax made a deposit in the bank of $1,543,87, and there is the possibility, so far as now appears in the evidence, that this mysterious gift of $1,000 contributed to that deposit. This is quite as probable as that Ames and Seargent-at-arms, Ordway and the check, and the memorandum book, with its several entries are all false even if the 'stranger' theory be accepted. Colfax's defense is at least reluctant and feeble, while the case against his is definitely alleged and supported in half a dozen ways.—he has succeeded in showing that he sent a thousand dollars to Indiana, to save the state, which, a man receiving such dividends, can well afford to do, He has endeavored to show that he received $1,000 from a New York stranger at about this time, but this does not prove that he did not receive money from Ames, as the latter swears.—If almost any other man had offered such a defence he would be laughed at as ridiculous, But after all, a man may smile and smile, and smile, and be a villain still.

Hon. J. D. Sarnighausen's bill to authorize and empower incorporated cities to hold, sell, and convey real estate, passed the Senate almost unanimously.

The last days of Edward S Stokes are gradually approaching. He is to suffer the penalty of death by hanging on the 28th inst. It is believed that yet some flaw or pretense will be found to serve the purpose of an excuse and he will escape his pronounced sentence. Not that his life is of any practical benefit to the community nor that he is entitled to any executive clemency, but because he has money, and it is to bad to hang monied men.

A Dubuque girl, Miss McLaughlin by name, who works hard for her living, had a casual acquaintance with a man named Smith. Smith rushed into her presence one day, and swore that he would shoot himself if he didn't raise some money that day—that he was hard up, out of work, desperate, etc. She took pity on him, and loaned him $35—all she had—and told him he could pay it back when he got something to do. He finally got a situation, but did not repay the loan, and abused his sympathetic friend scandalously when she dunned him. She sued him, but only succeeded in recovering part of it, and so last week she bought a good horse-whip called on Mr. Smith and gave him as good a thrashing as a man ever got. Correct!

A Safe House to sleep in.

A gentleman of high standing, from Philadelphia, was once traveling in one of the Southern States, and being belated after a long day's ride, was compelled to turn into a house on a solitary plantation, and ask for shelter and hospitality during the night. His request was granted. In the course of the evening he thought he noticed something reserved in the master of the house, which awakened his suspicions. At length he was conducted to his chamber, which was next to the family room. He thought over the circumstances which alarmed him, til his excited imagination was filled with thoughts of night robbery and assassination. He proceeded to barricade the room the best he could. He fastened down the windows and piled up against the door the table and chairs and every thing that was moveable in the room. While thus engaged, words uttered in low tones caught his ear and increased his alarm. He placed his ear at the key hole and listened. The man of the house was engaged in family prayer Among other intercessions, he was praying for—

"The stranger whom the providence of God had unexpectedly brought to lodge under his roof.'

Though not himself a Christain, the traveler knew that the prayers of Christains are like guardian angels to the abode in which they are offered up and a sure pledge of safety while with those who offer them, and he went to bed, and slept soundly and sweetly. feeling that there was no danger in a house where God was feared and worshipped.

A Neat Little Procession.

On the 4th of March, the following tallented and high toned procession will proceed down the Capitol steps at Washington, and after appropriate music by the Marine Band, be dispersed to the various parts of the country.

The Hon. Schuyler Colfax of South Bend Ind.

The Hon. J. W. Patterson of Dartmouth college, New Hampshire.

The Hon James Harlan of the Washington Chronicle newspaper.

The Hon. Samuel Pomeroy of Atchison Kansas.

Old Ames.

The procession will halt at the foot of the avenue, and Be addressed by Mr. Colfax with the following remark, accompanied with a smile.

'Neither Oakes Ames or any other person ever gave me or offered to give me one share, or twenty shares or two thousand shares in the Credit Mobiler or any other Railroad stock; and unfortunately I have never seen or received a farthing out of the 270 per cent dividends, nor the 800 per cent in cash, bonds, and stock you have read about, every day for the past month, nor 100 per cent, nor 1 par cent, nor the tenth of 1 per cent.'

Mr colfax will then repeat the following challenge uttered and published in the teeth of the whole world, at South Bend in September last.

"I have said that I would like to buy twenty shares at par, if attainable, in the Studebaker, Wagon Company, or the Bird sell Clover Separator, Company here; and I challenge either one of the last two companies to give me such a chance now or hereafter.

He will be followed by Professor Patterson, who by special request, will repeat positively for the last time, his touching farewell to public life, in the following language.

'Of this outrage done to the fair fame of men who have lived without reproach for half a century, by driving them in to the public gaze, with a scourge of epithets, which should be laid upon the lowest criminal, with caution; of the torture inflicted upon men sensative of their good names by subjecting them to Legislative inquisition without sufficient reason, I may take occasion to speak elsewhere, but here I close, simply remarking, if such thing are to continue, all decent men will leave public life as I do, with pleasure and not with regret.'

"The expenditure of money at elections is a growing evil. The apology for doing it on one side in that it is done on the other, and the peril grows out of the fact that it is often handled by unscrupulous agents, who make a use of it not contemplated by those who furnish it. A public sentiment that will make it perilous to a candidate to allow the expenditure of money to influence elections, without restricting its uses within clearly prescribed limits is one that needs strengthening by all the arguments of our best men and purest journals.

The sleighing has left us now for a long time.

THE
New York Store!

s Until Fteb.

ROOT & Co.,

Will offer the entire balance of their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of

DRY GOODS!

—AT A—

Great Reduction!

In Price.

EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!
EXAMINE!

Reduced Prices
On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices
On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices
On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices
On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices
On rich winter dress goods
Reduced Prices
On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices
On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices
On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices
On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices
On fine woolen SKIRTS

Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and

Secure a Bargain!

ROOT & CO's
Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia st.
FORT WAYNE, IND.

PianoS
AND ORGAN

WATCHES and JEWELRY!

Silver and Plated Ware,

Spectacles and gold pens.
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated
JEWELRY
Fancy Toilet Sets.,
Opera guard & vest chains,

—AT—

ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!

Also a full line of toys for

THE HOLIDAYS!

CLOCKS

Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,

Piano, Organ,

and all kinds of Instruction Books!

Watches & Clocks,

Abright & Shepherd

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

etaied AT Wholesale Prices

For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

PIONEER

STROE!

HARDWARE!

FOR EVERYBODY.

Reapers & Mowers

FOR EVERYBODY!

PLOWS

FOR EVERYBODY!

STOVES

FOR EVERYBODY!

Building Material for Everybody!

Go to

JOHN L. DAVIS,

NI THE BRICK BLOCK.

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO,

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN,

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Eaminations to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for examination in all the branches required by law, as no special License can be given Satisfactory evidence of goodmoral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Tachers do not commence their schools without license

J. A. BARNS, Exam'r

McDOUGAL'S

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Missippi, and its connections with roads farther West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed and passengers are offered a first class, all-rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps time tables, information as to rates, &c., we refer our readers to S. H. Thompson, Eastern Passenger Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered!

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200,000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all Climate, soil, timber, mineral wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

DRY GOODS

G. O. DeWALD & CO.

WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS

—IN—

Dry Goods or Notions,

CALL AT THE STORE OF

Geo. DeWald & Co.

No. 107 Columbia St., Ft. WYNE,

Where can be found a large assortment of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

which will be sold LOW for cash.

ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET

The best thing in the market, is made glove-fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introduce, we are offering

ONE DOLLAR

THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

WISHART

PINE TREE!

Tar Cordial,

NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY

FOR

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS.

—AND—

Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

L. Q. C. Wishart M. D

No. 232 N. SECOND STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

NOTICE
—TO—
Contractors

Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago R. R.

ENGINEER'S OFFICE B. & O. R. R.,
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 0, 1873

Proposals will be received until the 1st day of February next, at Camden Station, Baltimore. Defiance, Ohio, and Laporte, Indiana, for the Graduation, Masonry and Cross Ties of the Baltimore, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, from Defiance to Walkerton, Ind., on the Indianapolis Peru and Chicago Railway, 120 sections, of one mile each.

Plans, profiles and specifications can be seen at Defiance, for the line between Defiance and Syracuse, 73 miles, and at Laporte for the line between Syracuse, and Walkertown, 47 miles.

Proposals for cross ties will state price for each kind of timber, and number of each kind proposed for.

Payments monthly in cash, retaining 20 per cent as security for completion.

The Company retains the right to reject any and all proposals.

JAMES L. RANDOLPH,
Chief Enginneer, Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!

LIFE

Insurance Company,

OF

Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers Inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a

Home Company!

Inasmuch as the

ENTIRE NET RECEIPTS!

Of Indiana, are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. FLEDDERMAN

No 27, E. Main Street,
FORT WAYNE, IND

as the largest and finest stock of

CLOTHS,

Coatings, Cheviots, and

CASSIMERES!

IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of

Made up Clothing!

er shown in Fort Wayne

Youths' and Children's Clothing!

Furnishing Goods, etc.

Merchant Tailoring

In all the late styles properly attended to.

ORGANS.

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the

ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN

a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county

Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.

Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.

For the present and until further notice at Godorn's Gallery.

GEO. H. HOFFMAN.
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1872.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER

DOORS, BLINDS

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Ballusters and Brackets

North of Canal West of Gas House,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby

SHOEMAKER,

Auburn, Indiana.

Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swineford's hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public to all work in his line.—Call and see.

Auditor's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, February 27, 1873. No. 9.

Auburn Courier

Published Every Thursday By

THOMAS C. MAYS

Editor and Proprietor.

Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 00
Three Months	50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6 m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crads 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY

Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,

Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House: Auburn, Ind.

Dr. D. B. Roether, M. D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.

Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare' sshoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER.

Attorney at Law, Carr's Block, 34 East Berry St. Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice in Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb Co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Cancers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL,

WATERLOO. J. W. BEECHER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,

FORT WAYNE, B. H. SCHNIEDERS, Prop. No. 126 and 128 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent Home Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. Jas. I. Best. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.

LOAG & BROWN

DENTISTS,

Over the Palace of Fashion,

Keyst eBlock,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of BALTIMORE, PHILADELPHIA. NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificient day cars, and Pulman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping Coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,
SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent
CINCINNATI, O.

Ft.Wayne, Jackson & SaginawR.R

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO

Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,

And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianapolis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave,	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 29
Waterloo	10 38		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 06		7 47
Angola	9 53		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	5 40
Jackson Arr	7 15	12 2[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 35 p.m	9 45	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 am	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 32
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 55
Angola	3 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		5 52
Waterloo	8 13		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

WM. A. ERNST, Sup
J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & ChicagoR.R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A M	7,10 [illegible]	9,10 A M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,40 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	1,15 "	11,45 "	1,50 P M	,28 "
Orrville	6,51 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crestline ar	9,20 "	4,22 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
Crestline lv	9,30 "	5,00 A M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P M	11,50 "	11,05 A M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,45 "	2,35 P. M	2,65 "	5,05 "
Chicago	7,50 "	6,30 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX.	PAC, E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A M	9,20 A. M,	5,30 A. M.	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M.	3,55 "	12,50 A. M
Ft Wayne	12,[illegible]0 P M	2,20 "	11,20 "	3,25 "
Lima	2,45 "	4,07 "	1,18 A. M.	5,15 "
Forest	4,00 "	5,08 "	2,27 "	6,28 "
Crestline ar	5,35 "	6,30 "	4,06 "	8,05 "
Crestline lv	11,30 A M	6,50 "	4,15 "	8,02 "
Mansfield	12,05 P M	7,19 "	4,43 "	8,55 "
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	6,37 "	11,05 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	[illegible]	1,10 A M
Rochester	5,57 "	1,12 A M.	11,42 "	3,39 "
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20	11,45 A. M.	4,2 "

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agen

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana,

AND

DETOIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS

RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872, trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 00p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	2 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 38	4 21
Angola	11 26	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 18
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 18a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 18	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	8 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Denver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 38 p.m	5 50
Waterloo	4 43	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 45	1 93	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 70
Baukers	7 08	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:15 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:35 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Coranna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Cornnna	2.40 a m.	x11:34 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:39 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:06 "	x12:03 a m	1:44 "

FortWayne, Muncie & Cin.R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail.	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 10	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p.m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 36
Bluffton	2 41	8 37
Fort Wayne	4 00	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve	12 30p m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 19
Hartford City	2 46	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WEIDINGTON, Supt.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

together with a number of first-class Livery horses respectfully solicit the patrogage of the public promising to use my best endeavors to give general sattefaction.

BAKER BROS.

PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!

AND

EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes etc, always on hadd. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE

EAGLE MILLS.

UBUR, IN

Having effected new arrangements for the accommetion of the public, we are now prepared to modaet all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON, MAN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such good as they may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,

Becker & Bond,

ACHITETS

BUILDING

CONTRACTORS,

AND DEALERS IN

Building Stone

AMERICAN AND

ITALIAN MARBLE

GRANITE,
TOOMBSTONES,
MONUMENTS,
MANTELS,
GRATES, &C.,

Corner Main and Fulton Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF

HardwareE,

NAILS. GLASS & PUTTY.

QUEENSWARE!

Willow-ware, Glass-ware,

Choice Groceries & Provisions!

—AT—

MARTIN & SONS,

Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind

From the New York Herald.

C. M.

Ravages of the Great Washington Plague—Terrible Mortality at the Capitol—List of the Distinguished Dead—Melting and Metrical Tributes to their Memory—"The Evil Men Do Lives After Them."

The terrible and wide spread ravages of that extraordinary disease called Credit Mobilier are alarming the whole nation. The epizootic was as mild as the measles compared to it. It has already carried off many most distinguished victims. It did not come from Canada like the epizootic, nor from Asia like the cholera, nor from the West Indies like the yellow fever. It is believed to have started somewhere in Pennsylvania, and, meeting with a favorable condition of the atmosphere in Washington, D. C., staid there, and was developed by reasons of the defective sanitary arrangements in the political system of the capitol. Great sympathy is felt fo Massachusetts, so many of her distinguished citizens have been swept off. The subjoined list of deaths will read with painful interest by the public. The notices are inserted (contrary to our usual custom) free of charge:

Ames, Hoax, of Massachusetts. Died of Credit Mobilier (long and lingering illiness), aged 69.

O lofty worth, whose virtues were unknow;
O shinging light whose glamor was unseen
Whose latest spasm of god-like work has shown
What men were not, but what might've been.
Thou tolst the truth, tho' hidst 'neath clo ks,
O concentrated essence of a Hoax.

All stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad, who received a higher dividend than 750 per cent. are cordially invited to attend the funeral.

Massachusetts papers please copy.

Alley, John B., of Massachusetts. Died of C. M. (that cholera morbus—was discovered with the disease too late for the physic), aged about a century.

O'er this sad wreck let mankind ne're deny
Fraud knocked very ninepin in this Alley

This is nobody's funeral.

Allison, John B., of Iowa.—Died of C. M. (an overdose of dividend hastened his departure), aged 50 years.

Long dead to us, sweet Allison,
The Hoax thou couldst not rally;
If so soon done, why wer't begun,
Thou fragrant son of Alley?

Remains will be embalmed.

Bingham, John A., of Ohio. Died of C. M. (supposed to have caught the fatal infection from Dawes) aged 52 years.

Moan for aim, welkin, he'll wake you no more
With shouts 'gainst theft, Buckeye Bingham
The death-bells shall boom how he gath'ed store
And gentle Ben Butler shall ring 'em.

Announcement of funeral hereafter.

Ohio papers please copy.

Brooks, Jim, of New York, died of C. M. (protesting to the last he was well in health. no remedies were administered), aged 62.

He chattered as he went
To join the great Salt River;
Hoax might threat or Hoax relent,
But he'd deny forever.
'Mong well filled 'banks' his way he picked
With watered 'Credits' ever,
McComb might 'damn' McComb convict,
Jim Brooks denied forever.

His funeral will have no political significance.

Colfax, Smiler, of Indiana, died of C. M. (the agonies of this poor victim were intense; to the last he insisted that it was something else besides Credit Mobilier, aged 42.

A beautiful smiler came in our midst,
Too lovely and fair to remain;
They stretched him on racks till the soul of Colfax
Flapped up into heaven again.
May the fate of poor Schuyler warn men of a smiler
Who dividends gets on the brain.

Indiana papers please copy.

Daws, Henry L., of Massachusetts, died of C. M, (he had the reputation of having a powerful constitution, but it was evidently a delusion), aged 57.

Retrecher! Leader! thou hast left us;
Plymouth Rock thy loss will feel:
For a pottage mess bereft us.
Old Honesty is 'nnagespiel'

Funeral strictly private. No wake

Garfield, James A., of Ohio, died of C. M. [struggled hard against the dreadful epidemic, but it was no use. He caved unexpectedly], aged only 42.

Here rests his head upon its lap of earth
A youth to fortune and misfortune known;
Mobilier frowned upon his humble birth,
And Ames thenceforth marked him for his own.

Will be buried at Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D. C. No cards.

Kelly, Wm. D., of Pennsylvania, died of C. M. [too much iron in his blood and too little protection of himself, made him an easy victim to the fell destroyer], aged 60 years

Weep not 'pig iron,' public dear,
His is not dead tho sleeping here;
His thunder's hushed, his eye is dim,
Mobilier put a head on him.

His remains will be protected in a metallic casket. A one-horse funeral anronnced hereafter.

Patterson, James W., of New Hampshire, died of C. M. [his sufferings drew tears from his friends; he persisted to the end in supposing it was a different complaint], aged 60 yerrs.

Peaceful be Uriah's slumber,

Heep-ed he is in burial low,
Thirty shares his coffin cumber,
How it is yourself you know.

Mourning by Senators for thirty days A granite sarcophagus will enclose the mummy.

Schofield, Glenni W., of Pennsylvania died of C. M. (passed off quietly, aged 53.

Hoax Ames, the Ancient Mariner, Stopped Navy Scofield Glenn;
He held him with his glittering eye
And with his skenny hand.
Then Scofield did a hellish thing,
And it did work him wo:
His ten shares clipped him on the wing
And laid the Quaker low.

Pennsylvania papers please coppy.—Funeral at an early day. Music by the band: "Down in a coal mine."

Wilson, Henry, of Massachusetts, died of C. M. great hopes were entertained of his recovery, aged 61.

His sinnings sore, long time he bore,
Like martyr on a rock,
Til bad Hoax Ames, of sinful games,
Had deased him of his stock.
His 'sole' had ne'er into void been cast,
Had he "waxed" firm, and stuck his "last."

[illegible] orial services at Faneuil Hall. [illegible] need apply.

Wilson James F., of Iowa, died of C. M. (astonished everybody, he had hitherto enjoyed such excelent good health.) Aged 45.

Tears, idle tears! he knew not what they meant
But counted them three mellars for a share:
They blotted out a life we thought well spent—
Ah! was his sweetness nothing but a snare!

Rev. Mr. Newman will conduct the services and preach the panegyric from his campaign notes. Free list entirely suspended.

A gentleman named Bodhammer from the interior of the state of California, went to the States and took unto himself a wife and returned there with, bringing at the same time his wife's sister. When the carriage reached Orrville Bodhamme alighted as did the two ladies. They all walked up to the building where they met Mr. Smiley. Mr. Bodhammer proceeded to introduce his wife saying: 'Mr. Smiley, my wife.' 'The hell!' said Smiley grasping her hand in ecstacy. Then turning to the other lady, he introduced her saying: "Mr. Smiley, my wife's sister." "The hell's fire!" said Smiler completely carried away in a delirium of delight. The ladies hardly knew what to make of this kind of reception and fervently wished themselces back among the verdent hills and sunny vales of of the Far West—New York Sun.

It now turns out that Nesbitt, from whom came the $1,000 note to Colfax was a Government contractor, furnishing stamped envelopes to the Post office Department. This may account for the money so mysteriously sent, and of no account being made by Nesbitt. Whether this had any thing to do with Colfax keeping so quiet about the matter, and destroying the letter in which it was enclosed are fit subjects for reflection. Mr. Colfax bringing up the $1,000 note at this time shows to what extent he had been driven to make a defence.

There are serious complications in the Spanish government resulting from differences existing between the throne and the ministry. King Amadeus has resigned, and on Thursday night a Republic was proclaimed in the Congress by the surprising vote of 259 yeas to 32 nays. The streets of Madrid are said to be crowded with an excited people, and a general outbreak is eminent. For the present the government will be administered by Prime Minister Zorilla, and a Committee of about fifty.

The Chicago Tribune truthfully says there has been nothing discovered in the pool of corruption at Washington, so discouraging as the letter of Judge Sherman of Ohio, demanding a fee of $10,000 for services in inducing a Committee of which his brother is Chairman, to repeal a tax. The country has been pained to see Vice President and Senators and Representatives with unclean hands and false tongues, but this exposure of the fact, that men sitting on the bench of National courts, were thrusting their hands into the loby, and demanding for assumed influence in Congress where their relatives held high offices, is, beyond all doubt the most disgraceful exhibition yet made. Judge Sherman is the first on the list of Federal Judicial officers guilty of making any pecuniary demands for services which if rendered, were disgraceful.

Putting up the Price.

It has been proved in the investigation respecting the conduct of Senator Caldwell of Kansas, that when he was elected to the Senate, he paid $15,000 to Gov. Carney in consideration of Carney's promise that he would retire from the canvass and not try to be elected himself.

And now we have the Chicago Tribune affirming that in a recent election of a Senator of Nevada to take the place of the Hon. James Nye, the Hon. J. P. Jones not only bought the Legislature, but bought Nye also, paying him as long ago as August last, checks for $50,000 on the bank of California. "The transaction, says the Tribune "was then and is now as notorious as the heathen Chinee game itself.

This is the same Jones who, in his speech to the Legislature of Nevada, after he had been elected United States Senator, said that "custom has sanctioned the use of money, in Senatorial elections. To inveigh against the use of money is simply to deny the inevitable and to incur more than a suspicion of want of candor and intelligence." It is a question, however, whether [illegible] American statesmen. It may be easy for Jones to draw checks for $50,000 to buy off Jim Nye, and to pay in addition $5,000 or $10,000 apiece to the members of the Legislature. Jones is doubtless a wealthy man, and knows how to invest his money where it will do the most good. But at such rates, the Senate would soon become the monopoly of men able to spend half a million at a time; and against that sort of thing, we protest as hostile to those great principles, of equal rights and civil service reform, which distinguished the Credit Mobiler.

After a season of heart-burning and timorous debate, the Senate yesterday passed the rubicon and approved bill "287," regulating the sale of liquors.—Contrary to the crowding rumors of the last week, the bill was carried by a fair majority, and the possibility of a veto rendered useless. Governor Hendricks unless the provisions of the bill are unconstitutional, must sign it. In any event it will be the law of the land in 3 days signed or not. If the bill is, as its opponents urge, harsh and unreasonable, it will die of its own weight. Called on to sign a bill which he did not approve, Gen. Grant, once on a time, said that he felt constrained to affix his signature as the measure had received a two-thirds vote, but his consolation was that the law would prove so inefficient that it would work its own repeal.

The lady to whom the last sacraments of the Church were given after her marriage to Henri Rochefort, has recovered her health, and now walks about Versailles.

Lord St. Leonard is the eldest member of Queen Victoria's Council. He is ninety-one years old, while the youngest member Prince Arthur, is but twenty-two.

Yale revels in the luxury of a graduate, who is fast turning the corner of a century which his name it is Timothy Bishop, and he resides in New Haven.

A yearly pension of $25,000 is paid by the British nation to Lord St. Leonard, Lord Chelmsford, Lord Westbury, Lord Cairns and Lord Heatherly, past Chancelors of the Empire.

Mention is made of tall Episcopal clergymen. The Rev. Dr. A. Vinton is six feet tall. The Rev. P. Brooks is more than six feet, and weighs 27[illegible] pounds.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

BY JOHN HAY.

I pray thee pardon me, Elsie,
And smile that frown away
That dims the light of your lovely face
As a thunder-cloud the day.
I really could not help it—
Before I thought 'twas done—
And those great gray eyes flashed bright and cold,
Like an icicle in the sun.

I was thinking of the summers,
When we were boys and girls,
And wandering in the blossoming woods,
And the gay winds romped with your curls,
And you seemed to me the same little girl
I kissed in the alder-path,
I kissed the little girl's lips, and alas!
I have roused a woman's wrath.

There is not so much to pardon—
For why were your lips so red?
The blonde hair fell in a shower of gold
From the proud, provoking head,
And the beauty that flashed from the splendid eyes
And played round the tender mouth,
Rushed over my soul like a warm, sweet wind
That blows from the fragrant south.

And where, after all, is the harm done?
I believe we were made to be gay,
And all of youth not given to love
Is vainly squandered away,
And strewn through life's low labors,
Like gold in the desert sands,
Are love's swift kisses and sighs and vows,
And the clasp of clinging hands.

And when you are old and lonely,
In memory's magic shrine
You will see on your thin and wasting hands,
Like gems, these kisses of mine.
And when you muse at evening
At the sound of some vanished name,
The ghost of my kisses shall touch your lips,
And kindle your heart to flame.

THE SERGEANT'S GHOST STORY.

A few years ago I traveled in a British colony in America. The Governor was absent in England on his holiday visit, and the duties of his office were temporarily performed by the Chief Justice, aided by the Prime Minister or Secretary of State. I was a frequent guest at Government House, and there became acquainted with an old soldier, one Sergeant Monaghan, who performed the part of orderly or messenger, and sometimes waited at table when the Governor had company. The manners of a colony are free and easy, and learning that the old soldier was a thorough believer in ghosts, and had one ghost story which he was fond of telling, I invited him to my room, treated him to a cigar and a glass of grog, gave him a seat by the blazing wood fire, and prevailed upon him to evolve the story once again out of the coils of his memory. I repeat it, as nearly as I can, in his own words:

"You see," said Sergeant Monaghan, "Tim O'Loughlin was a delicate and wake sort of a boy. He had a love affair in Ireland that weighed on his mind. He was a kind of cousin of mine, and served in my regiment as a private. Perhaps he would have risen to be a sergeant if he had lived, but, as I said, he was not strong. You may have noticed that from the gate of Government House, where the sentry box stands, you can see into the burial-ground on the opposite side of the road. Not a cheerful situation for Government House. But, however, all the best rooms look into the garden at the back, and the Governor need not see much of the burial-ground, except when he goes in and out. One foggy night, Tim O'Loughlin was stationed as sentry at Government House.

"It was full moon at the time, and the light upon the white, warm mist that lay like an immense blanket over earth, shone weak and watery-like. It It was not a very thick fog, and did not hide objects at the distance of a hundred yards, but only revealed them to make them look larger than they really were. I was in the guard-room smoking my pipe, as comfortably as I am now (either a pipe or a cigar, it's all the same to Sergeant Monaghan, if the bacca's good), when who should walk in but Tim O'Lochlin, with a face of such wild, blank, dismal terror, as I never saw before or since on human being. It was fully an hour before his time to be relieved of duty, and in leaving his post he had committed a very serious offense. I ordered him back to his post, but he sat down by the fire, and doggedly refused to stir.

"'What's the matter with you, Tim?' said I. 'Are you unwell? And why did you come off duty? And it's I myself that'll have to report you.'

"'You may report—you must report; but I will not go back again, though I be shot for it. I have seen him.'

"'Him?—and who is him?'

"'Him! Why, Capt, Percival. He came close up to me, and pointed to a man in the burial-ground digging a grave next to his own.'

"The Captain had diedabout a month previously, and Tim, who was very much attached to him—and indeed everybody in the regiment was—had grieved very much about his death. He had acted as the Captain's servant, and had received many favors at his hand, and poor Tim was a grateful crater.

"'It's all nonsense, Tim,' I said. 'Go back to your post, and in reporting you, I'll make the best case out that I can for you.'

"'Never!' said Tim, 'if I be shot for it.'

"As chance and luck would have it, the doctor happened to drop in at this moment, and learning the circumstances that had induced Tim to leave his post, questioned him fully on the subject. But he felt Tim's pulse first, and there came over his face an expression that I noticed, but that Tim did not, which said very plainly to me that he did not like the beat of it. Tim was confident that he had seen Capt. Percival, and that the Captain pointed out the grave which a man was digging alongside of his own, and had distinctly told him that he was to be buried there as soon as the grave was ready.

"'And you saw the man digging the grave?' asked the doctor.

"'Distinctly,' replied Tim; 'and you can see him too, if you go immediately.'

"'Do you go, sergeant,' said the doctor to me, 'and I'll sit with O'Lochlin till you return. I think you had better detail another sentry in his place. Is there any brandy to be got? But stay; it does not matter. I have a flask. And O'Lochlin, my boy, you must take a pull at it; it is medicine, you know, and I order it.'

"Tim was taking a pull at the flask as I went out. I thought it possible enough that the grave-digger might be at work, but I did not know what to say about the Captain, except to think, perhaps, that Tim had been dreaming, and fancied he saw things that had no existence. I got into the burial-ground without difficulty—the gate was not fastened—and went straight to the grave of Capt. Percival. There stood the gravestone, sure enough, with the captain's name, age and date of death upon it, and a short story besides, setting forth what a good and brave fellow he was, which was all as true as gospel. But there was no grave-digger there, nor no open grave, as Tim had fancied. I went back and found Tim and the doctor together, Tim not looking quite so wild and white as before, but bad and ill, all the same.

"'Well?' inquired the doctor.

"'Well!' I replied, 'There's nothing to be seen. It's just as I thought. Poor Tim's fancy has cheated him, and it's my opinion the poor boy is not well at all. And what am I to do about reporting him?'

"'You must report him, of course,' said the doctor, 'but I don't think much harm will come to him out of that. O'Lochlin, you must go into hospital for a day or two, and I will give you some stuff that will bring you out again right as a trivet, and you will see no more ghosts.'

"Tim shook his head, and was taken quietly to the hospital, and put to bed. The brandy had done him good; whether it was all brandy, or whether there wasn't a drop of sleeping stuff in it, I can't say, but it's very likely there was, for the doctor told me the longer he slept in reason the better it would be for him. And Tim had a long sleep. but not a very quiet one, for all that same, and tossed about for the matter of a dozen hours or so. But he never got out of bed again. When I saw him at noon the next day he was wide awake, and very feverish and excitable.

"'How are you, Tim, my poor fellow?' said I, taking his hand, which was very hot and moist.

"'I've seen him again,' he replied. 'I see him now. He is sitting at the foot of the bed and pointing to the graveyard. I know what he means.'

"'Tim, it's crazy that ye are,' said I.

"He shook his head mournfully. 'Monaghan,' he sighed rather than said, 'ye've been a good friend to me. Give that to the little girl in Ireland—you know.' And he drew a photographic portrait of himself from under his pillow, tied round with a blue ribbon, from which depended a crooked sixpence with a hole in it. 'In a few days you'll be laying me in the ground alongside of the Captain. Do ye see him now! he is leaving the room, smiling upon me, and still pointing to the graveyard. I am no longer afraid of him. He means me no harm, and it is no blame to him if he is sent to tell me to get ready.'

"'Tim, you are cheating yourself. What you're telling me is all a waking drame. I can see no ghost.'

"'Of course you can't' said Tim, 'the spirits never appear to two persons at once. But Patrick Monaghan,' he added, 'let us talk no more on the subject, but send Father Riley to me, that I may unburden my sowl and die in peace.'

"It would have been cruel in me to have argued the matter with the poor afflicted creature, and him such a friend of my own, too, so I left him to go in search of the doctor first, and of Father Riley afterward. They both came. What passed between Tim and the holy father, of course, I never knew, but the doctor told me distinctly that Tim was in a very bad way. The stomach was wrong, the brain was wrong; in fact, he was wrong altogether, and had a fever which the doctor called by a very grand and high-sounding name, which I did not [illegible] very plainly, and which if I did I am unable to remember. Tim survived three days after this, sleeping and dozing, and talking in his sleep, and every now and then saying, amid words which I could not well put together into any meaning, 'I am coming, I am coming.' Just before he died he grew more collected, and made me promise that he should be buried in the grave that had been dug for him by the side of the Captain. I knew that no such grave had been dug as he said, and that it was all a delusion; but what was the use of arguing with a dying man? So I promised, of course, by my honor and by my sowl, to do all I could to have his last wish gratified. The doctor promised also, and so did Father Riley, and I think poor Tim died happy. His last words were something about the ribbon and the crooked sixpence, and the Captain, the very last syllable being, 'I come.'

"We buried the poor lad in the place assigned by himself, and I was so affected altogether by the sadness of the thing that I could have persuaded myself, in fact I did persuade myself, that I saw Capt. Percival in undress, or fatigue uniform, just as he had appeared to poor Tim walking past the sentry-box before the door of the Government House, and stopping every now and then to point at the grave; and the more I closed my eyes to avoid seeing him, the more permanently and clearly he stood before me."

"And are you in any doubt on the subject now?" I inquired.

"And indeed I am," replied the sergeant, shaking the ashes from his cigar with the tip of his little finger. "Tim must have seen the ghost, and must have believed in him, and if I only saw it after Tim's death, it is but another proof of what almost everybody knows, that two people never saw the same ghost at the same time. And ghost or no ghost, it is quite clear that Tim died of him, and might have been alive at this moment but for the ghost's extraordinary behavior. But it's one of the questions that all the talk in the world can't settle."

"Do you think Tim would have seen the ghost of Capt. Percival, or anybody else, if he had been sound in mind and limb, if he had been a strong, hearty man with a good appetite, and an undisordered stomach?"

"Can't say," replied the sergeant, taking a sip of his liquor. "The doctor thought not; but doctors don't know everything; and if there were no ghosts, why, I should like to ask, should the spirit of Samuel appear to Saul, and answer his questions?"

"Well, sergeant," said I, "if you are going to the Bible for arguments, I shall shut up. Finish your glass, my man, and let us say good night."

He finished his glass, he said good-night, and walked away with the air of a man who thought he had had the best of the argument.

A POWDER-MILL.—A duel with pistols.

A STRANGE CITY.

A Graphic Sketch of Flush Times in San Francisco in 1852, as Told by Bret Harte—A Singular Condition of Society Truthfully Drawn.

The streets were flooded from the heavy rains, flour was fifty dollars per barrel, and times were hard. Men were ready for any excitement, and found it in the most singular ways. A carriage, one of the six in the city, stuck in the mire, was dug out by them, and they felt amply rewarded by a chance glimpse of its female occupant, painted though she might be. The cry of a baby at the theater was the signal for universal applause. The long line winding for half a mile from the postoffice upon the arrival of the Eastern mail, when $50 and $100 or $500 would be offered for a good place in the line. A street row and a man shot was hardly an excitement at that time. The gambling saloons were as quiet and orderly as could be wished, and men visited them at the close of their day's labor without any unusual excitement. Any noise of a cane falling or a loud laugh disturbed the quiet of the place, and caused remark. You met every one there as a matter of course, and men who parted at the church door at home in the East met each other without reproach.

A man slipped from his chair one evening, dead from heart disease. Three physicians present examined him; his left-hand neighbor, a Coroner, impaneled the rest of the players at the table as a jury, who laid down their cards a few moments and found a verdict in accordance with the facts, and resumed their play. A man having just come down from the mines, on his way East, strolled into a gambling saloon, won, lost all, left, and, ashamed to write home, lived a miserable life of want, until his wife, hearing of his whereabouts, came to find him. The man had all the time haunted the gambling-house, and ventured all he could in the vain hope of returning fortune. His wife arrived, and met John Oakhurst, as the first person of whom she inquired the way. He learned her story, met her husband that evening, bought his chance for the next play for $3,000, lost the play, and drove the man to his wife in waiting outside. Upon being consoled for her loss, John replied: "Well, I've got tired of seeing that fellow around, so you see I have just fired it, but it's the first time as I played a game as was not on the square." Social life was peculiar also. Gentlemen made calls in long boots and red flannel shirts.

Ladies went to balls and danced with a new partner each change in the quadrille. Ladies apologized for holes in the chair seats from the explosion of revolvers of awkward visitors. The best dressed men are gamblers, and the best dressed ladies have no right to the name. Ladies were escorted home by a platoon of admirers, and realized the full meaning of "the pleasure of your company." A change was observable when fine clothes began to appear, and men swore less. Bolts began to be used, and portable property was not left carelessly about. In the mountains, it seemed as if the people had come to occupy it a thousand years before nature was prepared for them, and the character of the men was represented by the landscape; there was nothing pastoral about it. The miners first lived in tents and then in huts, but chimneys were already used, as they implied a too settled character to the shelter to correspond with the likings of the residents. The frying-pan was the usual cooking utensil, and served all the purposes of the miner, who traveled with it lashed to his back like the guitar of a troubadour, and might be tracked from camp to camp by the empty cans, with labels specifying their contents to be oysters, Boston crackers and other things. Although they had some variety, their reliance was beans. Their dress was peculiar, and they were so handy with their needles that the amendments introduced to their clothing frequently became the most prominent part of their costumes.

Flour sacks were their principal reliance, and two men lost their identity from being named after their favorite brands, "Genesee Mills" and "Eagle Brand." The low-crowned soft felt hat, wide-brimmed, and known to this day as the California hat, was universally worn, and none but gamblers or clergymen wore the tall hat. They were manly young men, and hair-cutting and shaving were alike unknown, consequently the long love locks and the full curly beard were common. They were loyal in their friendship, and the absence of women made the friendship of partners to take the place of that between man and wife, and these business relations were kept more sacredly than those of married life often are. They were not sentimental, and this had a tendency to eliminate everything butfacts from their conversation. Lynch law was resorted to as a necessty. A man having been tried, the jury hesitated about their verdict, when the leader of the accusing party opened the jury-room door and informed the foreman that, though there was no immediate hurry about the verdict, he should need their room soon to lay out the corpse. The slang of the times is easily traced to its origin. "Dry up" came from the half-yearly drought. "Played out" from the universal gambling practice, as, also, "Pass in your checks." "Taking stock" is also easily accounted for. A man being asked what he thought of Thomas Starr King, very naturally replied that "he took every trick." Engineers spoke of a man's dying as having run slower and slower till he stopped right on the center, and a surveyor advised another of the same trade to "theodolite a man out of camp."

A teamster being remonstrated with for his profane language, replied that his reprover ought to hear Jim Jones exhort his impenitent mule. The christening of the towns is in strong contrast with the soft names of the counties, which still retain the soft Spainish names, and it is not pleasant to date a letter "Dead Broke," or invite a friend to "Murderer's Bar." The lecturer closed with referring to the conservative influence which the heathen Chinee had exerted upon California, and related a number of tricks that are vain, which are practiced by "John" in his efforts to get square with his persecutors. The opinion was expressed that the Celestial was abundantly able to take care of himself. The story of a Celestial physician was related as a sample of the abilities of the Chinee in the swindling direction, and he was described as having wonderful success, until a list of articles commonly used by him in his cures was published, when his popularity ceased from the similarity to sea-sickness which followed from reading the list.

Feats in Journalism.

The French journals, says a foreign newspaper, have lately been expressing their astonishment at the energy displayed by English and American journalists. It appears that very sharp competition is now going on among the "specials" with respect to the impending trial of Marshal Bazaine. The correspondent of an American journal has arranged for 15 telegrams, which, though they need be only ten or a dozen words each, will, provided they are perfectly authentic, be paid for at the rate of 1,000 francs (£40) each. Other American correspondents have actually been telegraphing, word for word, a translation of some of the feuilletons in the Paris journals, although it is difficult to imagine how there can be any possible advantage in such an outlay as this.

During the war in Paraguay a South American correspondent set up a telegraphic wire for his own use, so as to communicate the news at the earliest possible date. Finding, however, that the Paraguayan Government were beating him through their own telegraph he had the audacity to cut their wire. Stories are told by the same French writer of the rivalry between some of the English correspondents. Dr. Russell, for instance, accompanied the German army on its entrance into Paris, wrote on his saddle an account, and sent it off by special messenger, who galloped to the first station on the newly reopened line between Paris and Calais, jumped up by the side of the engine driver, who had a special engine ready, and rattled off to Calais in time to catch the mail. He little knew that he was accompanied on that journey by the correspondent of a rival journal, the Daily News, who, dressed as a stoker, had no sooner arrived at Calais than running on board a steamer, he offered the captain any amount if he would get up steam at once. The captain complied, and the pseudo stoker arrived in London just as the messenger from the Times landed at Dover. Again, during the insurrection at Marseilles, the correspondent of the Times, finding the telegraph cut, hired a steamer, which took his dispatches to Malta, and thence they were telegraphed to London.

How Women Prepare to Play on the Piano.

Oliver Wendell Holmes says this is the way women prepare to play on the piano:

"It was a young woman with as many white flounces round her as the planet Saturn has rings, that did it. She gave the music-stool a whirl or two and fluffed down on it like a twirl of soapsuds in a hand-basin. Then she pushed up her cuffs as if she were going to fight for the champion's belt. Then she worked her wrists and hands to limber 'em, I suppose, and spread out her fingers till they looked as though they would pretty much cover the key-board, from the growling end down to the little squeaky one. Then those two hands of hers made a jump at the keys as if they were a couple of tigers coming down upon a flock of black and white sheep, and the piano gave a great howl, as if its tail had been tread on. Dead stop—so still you could hear your hair growing. Then another howl, as if the piano had got two tails, and you had trod on both of 'em at once; and then a grand clatter and scramble, and strings of jumps up and down, back and forward, one hand over the other, like a stampede of rats and mice more than like anything I call music."

Rules to be Observed by Gentlemen.

In 1624 those officers who were invited to dine with the Archduke of Austria were instructed by a circular of the Royal Chamberlain how to conduct themselves at table:

1st. They were directed to come neatly dressed in coats and boots, and not to enter in a half drunken condition.

2d. At table they were not to tilt up their chairs, nor rock themselves, nor stretch their legs at full length.

3d. Nor drink after each mouthful, for if they do they would get tipsy too soon; nor empty their goblets to the extent of more than one-half after each dish; and before drinking therefrom they should wipe their mouths and mustaches in a cleanly manner.

4th. Neither are they to thrust their hands into dishes, or throw bones under the table.

5th. Nor lick their fingers, nor expectorate in their plates, nor wipe their noses on the table-cloth.

6th. Nor to fall from their chairs and make themselves incapable of walking straight.

ADULTERATION OF FOOD.—The so-called adulteration act is working well in England. It would be a fortunate thing for the American stomach if a similar law could be enforced in this country. In addition to the advantages which pure food and drink would possess over impure, the undisguised element of humor which would be the inevitable concomitant of the workings of the law, could not but have a salutary effect upon the American digestion. The clarion cry of the milk carrier which rends the silence of the morning twilight would be changed to "water, ireacle, salt, annatto matter, starch, turmeric, gum tragacanth, carbonate of soda and milk," with variations. A package of cocoa would be labeled—as has happened in England—"mixture of brown sugar, flour, refuse biscuit, with a trace of cocoa." Cans of mustard would be described as "mixture of flour, Cayenne pepper, turmeric, chromate of lead and mustard." While the exhaustive drinker would stand aghast at the changed label of his favorite brand of "champagne"—white sugar, brown sugar, tartaric acid, water, white wine, and French brandy or alcohol. Let a command, such as "thou shalt not secretly adulterate," be issued at once.

CARS are being built for mail trains between New York and Chicago, to consist of three cars and one locomotive. No stoppages are made except for coal and water, and the trains are expected to make the distance between the two cities in twenty-four hours, running about forty miles an hour.

Tremendous Slaughter of Buffaloes in Southern Kansas.

Dodge City, on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, is the principal point of shipment of buffalo meat and hides in Kansas. In fact, the trade of the town, apart from its traffic with camp supplies, consists in the outfitting of hunters and exchange of their game. The town is scarcely four months old, and has in that time attained considerable notoriety for its liveliness. While the bison lasts, there will be "meat in the house" in the Arkansas valley. The terrible arithmetic of his destruction would indicate that this flush season cannot last long. The railroad reached Dodge on the 23d of September, 1872, and the following is the record of shipments of hides and meat during that time:

Shipments of hides from Sept. 23, 1872, to Dec. 31, 43,039. Shipment of meat, 71 cars, or 1,436,290 pounds.

Each hide counts a buffalo slain, and 43,000 hides in three months convey an idea of magnificent butchery that forecasts the speedy extinction of the prairie denizen. The buffaloes that are killed in summer or in early autumn in wanton cruelty miscalled sport, and for food for the frontier residents, are not taken into this account.

The bulk of this meat has been shipped to Kansas City, though considerable consignments have been made to St. Louis, Chicago, and Indianapolis. The raw hides of the buffalo which are sent East are tanned and dressed by a much more rapid, but less perfect and effectual process than that in vogue among the Indians, and are not nearly so valuable. It is necessary to kill them in winter, or the robes have no value whatever. The meat market is not open until the middle of November, when the weather is cold enough for its transportion. The above figures, though indicating an immense slaughter, do not represent the total of the season's hunt. The horse disease has interfered seriously with the transportation of hides and meats from the hunting grounds to the line of road. The disappearance of the disease has put the trade briskly on its feet again; the weather has moderated, and the returns for the month of January will exceed those of the preceding months by 150 per cent., making the grand total of killing around the station of Fort Dodge and the neighborhood for the season of 1872-73 over 100,000 buffaloes.

The railroads and remorseless civilization have invaded the home of the buffalo before he had time to get out of their way and seek another solitary range. They will still pursue him westward, till some sentiment-monger will immortalize the last of the species in some bullet-scarred bull, standing on the summit of Mount Diabolo, gazing sullenly and mournfully out through the Golden Gate over the blue Pacific.

The buffalo is subserving a great purpose in the social economy of the nation, if that is any satisfaction to him. The tide of emigration that has set in to the Arkansas valley has a subsistence until they can open and improve their farms, and by the time the last buffalo has disappeared from Kansas the frontier will be subdued to civilization, and be self-supporting. The buffalo will in this, or at the farthest the next generation, take its place in the natural history book along with the dodo, as an interesting animal no living specimen of which can be found in nature.—Topeka Commonwealth.

Small-Pox—How to Prevent Contagion.

1. On the first appearance of the disease, the patient should be placed in a separate apartment, as near the top of the house as possible, from which curtains, carpets, bed hangings, and other needless articles of furniture should be removed, and no person except the medical attendant and the nurse, or mother, be permitted to enter the room.

2. A basin containing a solution of chloride of lime, or carbolic acid, should be placed near the bed for the patient to spit in.

3. Handkerchief not to be used, but pieces of rag employed instead, for wiping the nose of the patient. Each piece, after being used, should be immediately burned.

4. A plentiful supply of water and towels should be kept for the use of the nurse, whose hands, of necessity, will be soiled by the secretions of the patient. In one hand basin the water should be impregnated by Coudy's fluid of chloride, by which the taint on the hands may be at once removed.

5. Outside the door of the sick-room a sheet should be suspended, so as to cover the entire doorway; this should be kept constantly wet with a solution of lime. The effect of this will be to keep every other part of the house free from infection.

6. The discharge of the bowels and kidneys of the patient should be received into vessels charged with disinfectants, such as the solution of carbolic acid or chloride of lime, and immediately removed. By these means the poison thrown off from the internal surfaces may be rendered inert, and deprived of the power of propagating disease.

7. The thin skin of cuticle which peels off from the hands, face, and other parts of the body in convalescent patients, is highly contagious. Baths should be continued every day, for four times, when the disinfection of the skin may be regarded as complete. This, however, should not be done without first consulting the medical attendant.

HUNG BY A GOLDEN CHAIN.—A somewhat remarkable circumstance occurred in West Nashville the other day. A gentleman, before retiring for the night, took the precaution to place his gold watch and chain under his pillow, that it might not be stolen without his being awakened. To his surprise he woke up the following morning to find that it had unaccountably been spirited away. He remembered having heard his servant making a fire, and came to the conclusion that no one else could have taken it. He called the servant in and made inquiries about it. The servant denied having seen it. This did not satisfy the owner, but the servant was, nevertheless, allowed to depart. His employer now instituted a thorough search. After looking everywhere about the room, he found the watch forced half way into a rat-hole. He pulled it out, and, to his great consternation, found a rat at the end of the golden chain, in which it had become entangled and been hanged by the neck until dead.

VACCINATED.

What a vile abomination
Is this awful vaccination!
Half the arms of half creation
Must be scarificed and sore.
Mine is itching, swelling, aching,
Tortures new forever making,
And I wonder—"Is it taking?"
And I murmur—"What a bore?"

Not a word or sign of pity
Can I find in the city.
Every fool who would be witty
Makes remarks about my arm.
Some, with hearts than icebergs colder
In their malice growing bolder,
Seize me roughly by the shoulder,
Just to laugh at my alarm.

Every mortal is my foeman;
Sympathy I win from no man;
But with courage truly Roman,
Bear my misery alone.
Every one who cometh nigh me
Finds some way to tease and try me;
Poking, rubbing, jostling by me,
Wondering how cross I've grown.

Shade of Jenner, long departed,
Had your arm so ached and smarted,
Less severe and softer hearted
You'd have been in life below.
Had you known this pain distressing
Which the world is all confessing,
You'd have left some milder blessing
With a little less of woe.

Life becomes but void and frightful;
Horrid visions fill my night full;
Even small-pox seems delightful,
Matched against this little sore
Would that I were dead or dying
Passed beyond this torture trying
To some home of angels hieing
Where they vaccinate no more.

Humorous.

MAN over-bored—An editor.

A GOOD side-show—A pretty check.

THE real yellow fever—Greed for gold.

AN expensive wife makes a pensive husband.

WHEN a man's neck-tie is untied, how untidy he looks!

WHY should a sick man not be allowed to vote? Because he's an ill-legal voter.

A BOY who undertook to ride a horse radish is now practicing on a saddle of mutton.

WHY is it not good to beat children hard and often? Because you may beat oft and harden.

AN Iowa paper boasts of weather "cold enough to make an arctic bear wear pulse warmers."

MRS. SNIDKINS says her husband is a three-handed man—right hand, left hand, and a little behind hand.

ADDING insult to injury—Telling a small boy who has just found that water freezes with the slippery side up that he shall have an ice-cream if he won't cry."

A YOUNG man at a party Monday evening being asked if he could play the harpsichord, wanted to know if it was anything like seven-up.—Danbury News.

AMONG the saddest spectacles in the late storm in Minnesota was the freezing of the hands, nose, forehead, everything except the cheek, of a life assurance agent.

JOSH BILLINGS was asked, "How fast does sound travel? His idea is that it depends a good deal upon the noise you are talking about. "The sound of a dinner-horn, for instance, travels half a mile in a second, while an invitashun tew git up in the morning I have known to be 3 quarters uv an hour goin' 2 pair of stairs, and then not hev strength ennft left to be heard."

SOME time ago a Danbury man loaned an eye doctor one hundred dollars to start in business. The trade wasn't very good, and the eye doctor sunk the money. What do you suppose his backer did? Sued the doctor? Not at all. He just got an umbrella with a hooked handle and carried it under his arm. Three months afterward that eye doctor paid back the hundred dollars, and next spring will lead one of our most accomplished heiresses to the altar.—Danbury News.

A City Boy's Letter From the Country.

DEAR JIMMY: Ask your mother to bring you up here right off. It's gay. There's fishing here and lots of worms to catch 'em with. You stick the hook in them and they wriggle bully. Fishin's funnier when you don't catch the hook in the seat of your pantaloons, so that you can't sit down and can't fish all the way home. I did that the other day, and Mr. Jenkyns, Cousan Laura's beau, ask't me if I was a sole or a heel. Suppose he thot he was going to be funny, but I didn't see it. Bimeby, I saw him cut a piece out of Cousin Laura's hair, where her hook caught, and kiss it, like a great baby, and put it in his pocket. So I told on em' at tea, and everybody laft. They have cows here and I go to see them milked. They don't pump it out with their tails, like you and I thot they did, but they squeeze it out of a bag that comes on purpose, I suppose. I milked the other night. It was very hard to squeeze, and it would not go into the pail. Some went into my eyes, and the rest went up my sleeve. I don't like turkey cocks neither. They ruffle themselves up and run at you. They are a pherocious bird, and disagreeable to live with. Chickens are nicer. We eat 'em. They put them under a "barril" at night, and Bill and I kill them in the morning. We have bully fun wringing their necks. You'd better come here right off and bring a shot-gun, for there are bears here—anyhow we saw a fox—and candy, because we can't get any here, and a pop-gun, and some bows and arrows and things. Perhaps we can shoot a deer. I think Mr. Jenkyns is a blamed fool. He made me believe he found a deer's track the other day, and when I looked at it it was only the mark of Cousin Laura's boot. I don't see what makes him so happy about girls. We won't, will we? I'd be sahamed. I am going to ride old Sam to-morrow. He's a horse. You ride him bar-back, and it's very hard to stick on, he feels so squirmy. Give my love to all the boys, and tell them I'm having a bully time, and I hate old Jenkyns. No more at present from Yours truly, ROBBIE.

WE hear of a consultation of eminent physicians having been called to decide upon what is best to be done for a young lady, fashionable, of course, who has rendered her complexion almost black by the use of poisonous cosmetics.—Boston Globe.

MARK TWAIN says you cannot find as much climate brushed together anywhere in the world as you can in the Sandwich Islands.

Personal and General.

Pope Pius smokes and plays billiards.

Hyacinthe will come to America next year.

Arkansas's name came from that of the Indians.

A negro named Philip Hill has just died in North Carolina at the advanced age of 108.

Dorsey, the new Senator from Arkansas, will be the youngest member of the next Senate.

Mrs. Crittenden, widow of the late John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky, has just died at St. Louis.

Surveyors have fixed the final route of the Southern Pacific railroad from Los Angeles to Fernando.

Col. Ingalls, who steps into Pomeroy's Senatorial slippers, avows himself in favor of woman suffrage.

A bill is pending in the Nebraska Legislature to exempt from taxation for a term of years all manufacturing establishments.

There is $3,394,000 invested in saw mills, $2,026,000 in salt works, and $404,000 in shingle mills in the Saginaw Valley, Michigan.

The death of Mr. Dixon, who first ascertained that oysters were eatable, is announced as having occurred at Chrisfield, Md., last week.

Mrs. Edwin Forrest will undoubtedly obtain her legal dower, since her husband failed to obtain a divorce from her in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Dr. Valentine Mott said wisely to a graduating class: "Young gentlemen, have two pockets made—a large one to hold the insults, and small one to hold the fees."

A writer in a long-ago copy of the Brooklyn Monthly says: "The judicious mixture of printers' ink with the arterial system tends to longevity and content."

There is a Lady in Henry county, Mo., five feet four inches high, and when she assumes a perpendicular position her hair drags down on the floor four inches.

The whole cost of our 69,000 miles of railroad is about $3,437,638,749, which is a sum not very much greater than England has spent on her 10,000 miles of railroad.

It is charged against Brooklyn that some of her citizens employ professional mourners at funerals, and that nine-tenths of the grief has the smell of greenbacks.

The Philadelphia editors are the richest in the United States. This is an awful comment on the public taste, for the Philadelphia papers are the worst in the world.

Six thousand men are now grading the Texas Pacific railroad, and track-laying will begin as soon as the rise in the Red river enables the necessary supplies to be brought up.

It is proposed to introduce in Congress at an early date a bill to compel railroads to equip their passenger trains with a power brake, which will place them completely in control of the engineer.

They have just had an earthquake in Oregon which shook up the people a good deal. One loving husband who had "just stepped out to see a man on business," rushed home with a billiard cue, that he had forgotten to replace, in his hand.

The silver product of Colorado for the last year was as follows: Clear Creek county, $1,503,391; Gilpin, $1,359,289; Boulder, $346,740; Park, $238,000; Lake, $133,000; Summit, $125,000; other counties, $50,000. Total, $3,784,931.

The San Francisco Bulletin thinks that in a very few years the Pacific coast will raise more than 100,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat per annum, and says that, besides this, the gold and silver product of the coast, estimated at $65,000,000 annually, will sink into insignificance.

An Amazed Englishman.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe, writing from Nebraska, says it is very droll to see the amazement of our English visitors. They can't comprehend the extent of this wonderful country, so different from their own little island, while the whirl and hurry of our expeditious management in all matters dazes them utterly. Not long since there landed in New York the Mayor of a prominent English city. He wished to travel all over the Union and understand its growth. Accordingly, having made the tour of prominent Eastern cities he purchased tickets for California and started West. Arrived in Chicago he inquired if he were not almost to the Pacific. They informed him his journey was only commenced. He meekly took the cars for Omaha, and then desired to know how much further? Explanations were attempted, and he courageously went on till he reached Denver. Looking out at the giant mountains and learning that after passing them there yet remained two or three days of travel, he surrendered his tickets, declaring he had seen enough in that direction, and returning visited some friends in this city, declaring that the "blasted magnitude of the country bewilders one."

Railway Air Cushion.—Persons unused to travel often suffer much fatigue in the lower limbs from a long journey by rail, which is attributed to the long tremulous motion communicated from the floor of the car. Those who have experienced the difficulty there is in walking over a bridge, or a loose plank-road, while a vehicle is passing by, and the painful effort to keep the legs in trim, will appear in the case. As a preventive, it is recommended to rest the feet on an air cushion. Foot-stools of this kind are made for the purpose. All invalids and persons unused to hardships would do well to supply themselves with this simple contrivance, before entering on a journey by rail.

John C. Breckinridge, of the late Southern Confederacy, has been invited to deliver the oration before the literary societies of Princeton College at the annual commencement in June next.

A Bitter Controversy.—The temperance organs are waging bitter war on the manufacturers of alcoholic bitters, and their attacks are resented with equal bitterness by the latter, who seem determined to prosecute the quarrel to the bitter end. In the meantime a novelty in tonic medicines is making immense progress in the confidence of all classes and conditions of society throughout the United States and British America. We refer to Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters, and we call it a novelty in tonics because it contains no alcohol—an article heretofore considered essential in medicinal invigorants. The abstemious portion of the community approve the omission, and as the new remedy is curing dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous affections, and, in fact, a majority of the diseases, external and internal, which prevail, it is difficult to see how the more self-indulgent portion of our fellow-citizens can conscientiously object to it. One thing is certain: if ever there was what the French call a "grand success," the sudden and continually increasing popularity of the Vinegar Bitters deserves that name. The advocates of temperance point to the salutary effects produced by this inalcoholic restorative as a proof that spirituous stimulants are not needed for medicinal purposes—a position which has been recently taken by many eminent medical practitioners.—[Com.

The Prussian Government is threatened with a huge lawsuit for its summary closing of the German gambling houses. According to the contract held by the company with the local governments, made before the Prussian Government had its present jurisdiction, the Hombourg privileges extended to 1896, and those of Wiesbaden to 1881. The company proposes to claim the sum of 90,000,000 francs, or about $18,000,000, in damages for forfeiting this contract.

THE WEEKLY SUN.

Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

The Best Family Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Agricultural Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Political Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Newspaper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Has All the News.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Story Paper.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Fashion Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Market Reports in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Cattle Reports in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages, $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

The Best Paper in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

They tell of an Ohio man who has applied at the postoffice daily for four years and a half, and has never received a letter. He begins to look discouraged.

Capt. Charles Sager, who keeps a superb stock of livery horses in Portland, Me., informed us recently that he uses Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders regularly in his stables, and that the expense is more than offset by the diminished amount of grain necessary to keep his horses always in good order.—[Com.

Whooping-Cough.—I find your Hive Syrup and Tolu an excellent remedy for the Whooping-Cough and Croup, especially for the former, which is prevailing in a neighborhood south of us. I must not be out of the Syrup; please forward me a supply without delay.

White Pigeon, Mich. W. O. Austin.

Many people, particularly children, suffer with the ear-ache; and for the benefit of such we give a sure but simple remedy. Put in two or three drops of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, stop the ear with undressed wool, bathe the feet in warm water before going to bed, and keep the head warm at night. —[Com.

When is a woman as cold as ice? When she is a scold.

Some men, without medical knowledge, advertise their unskillful preparations to cure every disease, which is impossible; nor can they always cure the same disease. While Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines have their legitimate range, and have proven the most valuable curatives ever given to the public, yet he is fully competent to use any necessary auxiliary treatment, that all may recover. His private practice is enormous. Patients from every quarter wait on him, while thousands are treated by letter, and special medicines sent by mail or express. A small outlay will secure his valuable services. Address, with stamp, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a printed list of questions, to assist in describing your case. 627

Who says Dr. Miller's Magnetic Balm contains Magnetism? Those who have used it for Colic and Bowel Complaints. See advertisement in this paper.—[Com.

For Coughs and Throat Disorders use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their officiency by a test of many years.—[Com.

A bad policy—One that has expired.

The constantly increasing sale of "The Queen's Toilet," for the Complexion, shows the estimation in which it is held by the public.—[Com.

If you are tired of having your linen collars badly ironed wear the Elmwood or Warwick and be troubled no more.—[Com.

An Easy Way to Health.

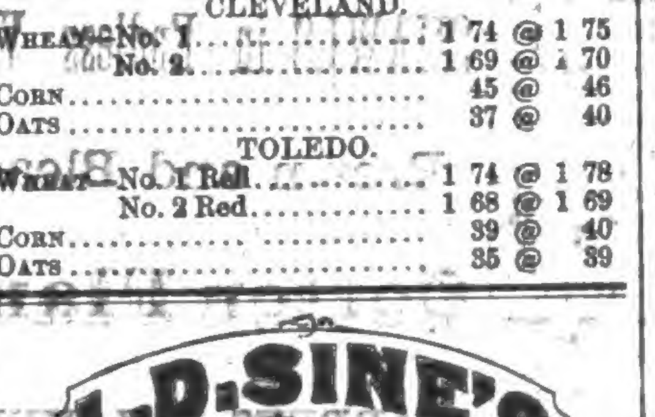
The appetite is generally keener in winter than in summer, but the same low temperature which begets an increased desire for food is apt to decrease the ability of the stomach to digest it. The most aggravated cases of acute dyspepsia occur at this season; and the best, in fact, the only way, to control and cure them, is to stimulate and tone the stomach and invigorate and regulate the secretive and discharging organs. To do this promptly, safely and thoroughly (without involving any change in the ordinary habits of the invalid) a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will be necessary. In order to accomplish a radical cure of indigestion, it is not enough to influence the organs of digestion. The liver, the intestines, the circulation, every organ and every secretion concerned in the work of assimilating the food and in carrying off the waste matter of the system, must be brought into a natural condition. Upon all these portions of the living machinery, the great vegetable medicine, which stands at the head of all modern restoratives, acts powerfully and beneficially. The feeble should take at least one dose daily at all seasons of the year; and it may be taken with great benefit twice a day by all who are predisposed to dyspepsia, biliousness or nervous attacks. Ladies will find it a very pleasant help in the latter class of complaints, and indeed in all the ailments incident to the sex.

Rough, Wintry, Changeable Weather produces Catarrhs, Coughs, Lung Disorders, &c., which Dr. Jayne's Expectorant as promptly cures when faithfully administered.

For Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms, Ferro-Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic. As a stimulant tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it has no equal. If taken during the season it prevents fever and ague and other intermittent fevers.—[Com.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.
Beeves—Good to Prime	12 @	14
Common	9½@	10½
Hogs—Dressed	5½@	6½
Cotton—Middling Upland	20½@	..
Flour—Superfine Western	6 25 @	7 00
Wheat—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 75 @	..
Corn	64 @	66½
Oats	54 @	56
Pork—Mess	14 37½@	14 40
Lard	8½@	9
CHICAGO.
Beeves—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium	4 25 @	5 00
Common	3 00 @	3 75
Inferior	1 75 @	2 25
Hogs	4 25 @	4 65
Flour—White Winter Extra	8 00 @	10 50
Red Winter Extra	7 00 @	8 00
Wheat—No. 1 Spring	1 26 @	1 27½
No. 2 Spring	1 21 @	1 22
No. 3 Spring	1 08 @	1 09
Corn—No. 2	30½@	31
Oats—No. 2	26 @	27
Rye—No. 2	65 @	65½
Barley—No. 2	68 @	70
Butter—Choice	26 @	27
Eggs—Fresh	49 @	51
Pork—Mess	12 70 @	12 75
Lard	7 35 @	7 50
ST. LOUIS.
Wheat—No. 2 Spring	1 30 @	..
Corn—No. 2 Mixed	31 @	34
Oats—No. 2	38 @	..
Rye	72 @	73
Pork—Mess	13 00 @	13 25
Hogs	4 10 @	4 40
Cattle	3 25 @	3 75
CINCINNATI.
Flour	7 50 @	8 40
Wheat	1 70 @	1 72
Corn	40 @	41
Rye	85 @	86
Oats	30 @	39
Pork—Mess	13 00 @	..
Lard	7½@	8
Hogs	4 35 @	4 80
MILWAUKEE.
Wheat—No 1	1 31 @	..
No. 2	1 22½@	..
Oats—No. 2	26½@	..
Corn—No. 2	34 @	..
Rye—No. 1	68 @	..
Barley—No. 2	72 @	..
CLEVELAND.
Wheat—No. 1	1 74 @	1 75
No. 2	1 69 @	1 70
Corn	45 @	46
Oats	37 @	40
TOLEDO.
Wheat—No. 1 Red	1 74 @	1 78
No. 2 Red	1 68 @	1 69
Corn	39 @	40
Oats	35 @	39



L. D. SINE'S

ESTABLISHED 1854.

GIFT ENTERPRISE

The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!

$100,000.00

IN VALUABLE GIFTS!

TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN

L. D. SINE'S

40th SEMI-ANNUAL

GIFT ENTERPRISE,

To be drawn Monday, March 24th, 1873.

One Grand Capital Prize, $10,000 in Gold

One Prize $5,000 in Silver!

Five Prizes $1,000 each } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500 each
Ten Prizes $100 each

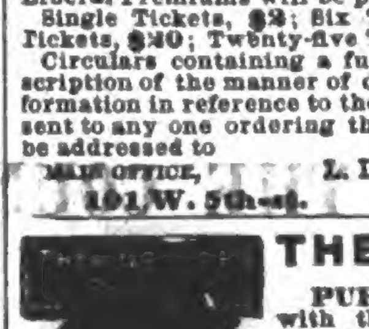
Two Family Carriages and Matched Horses with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $1,500 each! Two Buggies, Horses, &c., worth $600 each! Two fine-toned Rosewood Pianos, worth $500 each! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! 1,500 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches, worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.

Whole number Gifts 10,000. Tickets limited to 50,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.

Single Tickets, $2; Six Tickets, $10; Twelve Tickets, $20; Twenty-five Tickets, $40.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other Information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to

MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.



THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

$10 to $20 per day. Agents wanted everywhere. Particulars free. A. H. BLAIR & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM THE BEST MEDICINE CUTLER BROS & CO. PROPRIETORS, BOSTON

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

$200 A MONTH SALARY to Agents, male and female. Address with stamp, Bridal Needle Co., 713 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

$1,000 REWARD For any case of Blind, Bleeding, Itching or Ulcerated Piles that De Bing's Pile Remedy fails to cure. It is prepared expressly to cure the Piles and nothing else. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.00

EVERGREENS (6 to 15 inches) Transplanted. $2 to $5 for 100. Send stamp for descriptive list to BARNES & CO., Young America, Ill.

Largest Organ Establishment in the World

7 Extensive Factories.

J. ESTEY & COMPANY

Brattleboro, Vt., U. S. A.

THE CELEBRATED

ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.

The latest and best improvements. Everything that is new and novel. The leading improvements in Organs were introduced first in this establishment.

Established 1846.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Vick's FLORAL GUIDE FOR 1873.

The Guide is published Quarterly. 25 cents pays for the year, which is not half the cost. Those who afterwards send money to the amount of One Dollar or more for Seeds may also order 25 cents worth extra—the price paid for the Guide.

The First Number is beautiful, giving plans for making Rural Homes, Dining Table Decorations, Window Gardens, &c., and a mass of information invaluable to the lover of flowers.—150 pages, on fine tinted paper, some 500 Engravings, and a superb Colored Plate and Chromo Cover.—The First Edition of 200,000 just printed in English and German.

JAMES VICK,
Rochester, New York.

150 PIANOS, ORGANS & MELODEONS at very Low Prices, and fully warranted. Send for circulars. D. H. BALDWIN, Cincinnati, O.

VALUABLE FARM SEEDS AND BOOKS GIVEN AWAY.—Three specimen copies of the American Stock Journal, containing over 100 pages of valuable reading matter, handsomely illustrated with Engravings of Farm Buildings, Blooded Stock, Poultry, Dogs, Birds, &c., and a package of Chester County Mammoth Corn, Imported White Oats and Alsike or Lucern Clover, will be sent FREE to all who send two stamps for postage. Address N. P. Boyer & Co., Parkersburg, Chester Co., Pa.

O.S.---2781.

Dr. A. H. SMITH'S

CELEBRATED

Old Style Bitters!

The Best Tonic and Health Giver of the Age—The Famous Blood Purifier and Invigorator.

A Decided Improvement upon any Medicine ever Presented to the World!

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Having been thoroughly and well tried the proprietors have no hesitancy in saying that no preparation has ever given such universal satisfaction as the OLD STYLE BITTERS. All who have used them once will take no other. They are pleasant to the taste and contain more Medicinal properties than any other Bitters made. For Dyspepsia of all kinds and for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Jaundice, and all kindred diseases, we defy the world to produce a preparation equal to this. For Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, and Fever and Ague, the Old Style Bitters are unrivalled. They are especially adapted for Females, and contain nothing that is in the least injurious to the weakest physical frame. They will build up and invigorate the weak and debilitated. The Ladies cannot find a Tonic superior to Old Style Bitters. Let all the afflicted give them a fair trial.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

UNION MEDICINE CO. SOLE PROPRIETORS,
VAN SCHAACK, STEVENSON & REID, Chicago, Ill.,
MEYER BROS. & CO., St. Louis, Mo.,
McKESSON & ROBBINS, New York,
WHOLESALE AGENTS.

THE WHEAT FIELD OF AMERICA!

Healthful Climate, Free Homes, Good Markets.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD offers for sale Lands in Central and Western Minnesota, embracing: 1. The best of Wheat Land; 2. Excellent Timber for the Mill, the Farm and the Fire; 3. Rich Prairie Pasturage and Natural Meadow, watered by clear Lakes and running streams—in a healthful Climate, where Fever and Ague is unknown.

GRAIN may be shipped hence by lake to market as cheaply as from Eastern Iowa or Central Illinois. Cars now run through these lands from Lake Superior to Dakota. Price of land close to track, $4.00 to $8.00 per acre; further away $2.50 to $4.00. SEVEN YEARS' CREDIT: Warrantee Deeds; Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds, now selling at par, received for land at $1.10. No other unoccupied Lands present such advantages to settlers.

SOLDIERS under the New Law (March, 1872) get 160 acres FREE, near the railroad, by one and two years' residence.

TRANSPORTATION AT REDUCED RATES furnished from all principle points East to purchasers of Railroad Lands, and to settlers on Government Homesteads. Purchasers, their wives and children carried free over the Northern Pacific Road. Now is the time for Settlers and Colonies to get Railroad Lands and Government Homesteads close to the track.

Send for Pamphlet containing full information, map and copy of New Homestead Law. Address

LAND DEPARTMENT, NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD, ST. PAUL, MINN.,
Or 23 FIFTH-AV., cor. NINTH-ST., NEW YORK.

DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER THE BEST TRY IT SOLD BY GROCERS

To Book Canvassers A New way of running A Book.—Can sell a thousand copies per week. Address UNION PUBLISHING CO., 35 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.

The January No. contains $4.00 worth of Songs and Piano Pieces, (32 pages). Price—30 cts. or $3.00 a Year. Two back numbers, our own selection, for 50 cts. Four for 80 cts. Address J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, N. Y.

Great Medical Book of Secrets for Ladies & Gents. Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

GREATEST CURIOSITY in the world. Useful and instructive. 10,000 selling weekly. Price 50 cents. No humbug. Address George A. Heard & Co., Boston, Mass.

Write for large Illustrated Descriptive Price List of GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS PITTSBURGH, PA.

Double, Single, Muzzle and Breech-Loading Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Pistols, etc., of every kind, for men or boys, at very low prices. Guns, $3 to $300; Pistols, $1 to $25.

ALL KINDS OF COLLECTION Or advisory Foreign Law Business promptly attended to by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Lancaster Co., Pa.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.

Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

THE ONLY American Musical Instruments of such extraordinary and recognized excellence as to command a wide sale in Europe, notwithstanding competition there with products of cheap labor.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums, including the Medal at the Paris Exposition. Of hundreds of Industrial Exhibitions, there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred to these.

UNIVERSALLY recommended by eminent musicians as possessing excellencies not attained in any others. See opinions of ONE THOUSAND, in Testimonial Circular.

EXCLUSIVELY employing several important inventions and embracing every real improvement.

THE MOST EXTENSIVE and complete factories in the world, producing better work at less cost than otherwise possible.

PRICES FIXED and as low as consistent with scrupulous employment of only best material and workmanship.

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE AND TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with important information about Organs which may save purchasers from disappointment in purchase of inferior or worthless instruments or payment of high prices, sent free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.

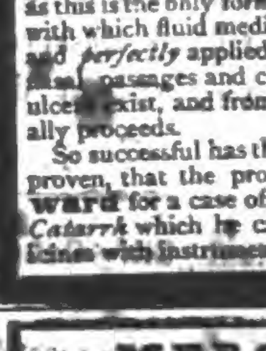
154 Tremont St., Boston; 25 Union Square, New York; 80 and 82 Adams St., Chicago.

THE QUEEN'S TOILET FOR IMPROVING AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

These are the only Medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck, of Philadelphia, has been in constant practice for over thirty years, continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines, if properly taken, will cure Consumption. His Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach and aids digestion. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion. For sale by all druggists.



Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy effects cures upon scientific principles, by its mild, healing properties, to which the disease gradually yields, when the system has been put in perfect order with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which should be taken earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault, also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The Catarrh Remedy should be applied with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, as this is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages and chambers in which sores and ulcers exist, and from which the discharge generally proceeds.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven, that the proprietor offers $500 Reward for a case of "Cold in Head" Ozena or Catarrh which he cannot cure. The two medicines with instrument, for $2, by all druggists.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL IS GOOD FOR

Burns and Scalds,
Chilblains,
Sprains and Bruises,
Chapped Hands,
Flesh Wounds,
Frost Bites,
External Poisons,
Sand Cracks,
Galls of All Kinds,
Sitfast, Ringbone,
Poll Evil,
Animal & Insect Bites,
Toothache, &c., &c.
Rheumatism,
Hemorrhoids or Piles,
Sore Nipples,
Caked Breasts,
Fistula, Mange,
Spavins, Sweeney,
Scratches or Grease,
Stringhalt, Windgalls,
Foundered Feet,
Cracked Heels,
Foot Rot in Sheep,
Roup in Poultry,
Lame Back, &c., &c.

Large Size $1.00; Medium 50c.; Small 25c.

The Gargling Oil has been in use as a Liniment since 1833. All we ask is a fair trial, but be sure and follow directions.

Ask your nearest Druggist or dealer in Patent Medicines for one of our Almanacs and read what the people say about the Oil.

The Gargling Oil is for sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other Countries.

Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present, and are unsolicited. Use the Gargling Oil, and tell your neighbors what good it has done. We also manufacture

"MERCHANT'S WORM TABLETS."

We deal fair and liberal with all, and defy contradiction. Write for an Almanac.

Manufactured at Lockport, N. Y., by

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL COMP'Y

JOHN HODGE, Secretary.

DR. RANSOM'S HIVE SYRUP AND TOLU HONEY SYRUP

Dr. Cox's Hive (Croup) Syrup has been known and used by the medical profession over 100 years, and as a remedy for Colds and Coughs has an older and better reputation than any other Cough medicine ever offered to the public. It is known as the Compound Syrup of Squills, and a formula may be found in every medical dispensatory.

Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu, in addition to the ingredients for Cox's Hive Syrup, contains Balsam of Tolu, decoction of Skunk Cabbage Root and Lobelia, a combination that must commend it to every one as a superior remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, indeed for all affections of the Throat and Lungs where a Cough Medicine is necessary.

This Syrup is Carefully Prepared under the personal direction of a regular Physician of over twenty years' practice, whose signature is attached to the directions on the bottle.

Its taste is very pleasant and children like it.

Every family should keep it as a ready remedy for Croup, Colds, etc., among the children.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Propr's, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM.

It cures as if by MAGNETIC INFLUENCE, Neuralgia and all pain, and is therefore very properly termed "Magnetic Balm." It is purely a vegetable preparation. It has no equal as a remedy for Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic and all Bowel Complaints.

Its timely use will cure Colds, Croup, Diphtheria, Quinsy, and all Throat affections.

When properly used, Fever and Ague, and other complaints incident to our western and southern climates, are easily broken up.

Nervous Pain, Sick-Headache, and Rheumatism are cured by this medicine when all others have failed. Toothache, Earache, Burns, Chilblains and Bruises are relieved at once by its use.

The genuine has D. Ransom & Co.'s private Revenue Stamp on the outside, and Dr. J. R. Miller's Magnetic Balm blown in the bottle.

Examine closely, and buy none but the genuine.

Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Propr's. Buffalo, N. Y.

Foster's Rosin Cement—Unsurpassed for Paving Streets, Walks and Roofing Buildings. Wears thirty years. W. C. FOSTER, Buffalo, N. Y.

VINEGAR BITTERS PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are the best safeguard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

J. WALKER, Prop'r. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agts., San Francisco and New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO. Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 260 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, February 27, [illegible]

The official vote on the Amendment [illegible] published yet.

Many thanks to our agent W. L. [illegible] Esq., of Butler, for a club of [illegible] subscribers. Our correspondence from that place will not appear this week as it was received too late.

It will probably strike the readers of the Radical papers as a little remarkable that these papers should consider the testimony of Oakes Ames perfectly reliable when he speaks of Brooks, Kelley Patterson and others but when he swears positively that Colfax was dishonestly mixed in with the Credit Mobiler business, he is the prince of liars.

The Pennsylvanian Constitutional Convention proposes to abolish October elections. The plan is to hold State and county elections in November and the township elections in February.—Indiana should change her election day to November, and the sooner she does it the better it will be for the honest men of all parties, and in all parts of the nation.

The Legislature has refused to make an appropriation for building a new State House. "The best Legislature the State ever had," is getting afraid the people will consider it extravagant. It has already raised the rate of taxation for State purposes from five cents (when the Democrats had it) to twenty cents on the hundred dollars and instead of being "the best," it is rapidly earning the name of the worse Legislature the State ever had.

Twenty-five years ago the Senate of Michigan, contained but one member who opposed the democratic party, but now the same body contains but one Democratic member. This should serve to illustrate to intense partisans, that it is never safe to count on prolonged party success, and partisan legislation should always be regarded with disfavor for no man knows what a day may bring forth nor what revolutions politics may make.

The temperance movement which has just ended—or just begun in this State, by the passage of the bill in the Legislature—seems to be but a part of a tidal wave, so to speak, that at present is surging through the Mississippi Valley. In the House of the Minnesota Legislature, a bill has passed, and is now hanging tremblingly around the doors of the Senate, to become a law, which in affect is similar to yesterday's bill. It puts the power of license into the hands of the community; puts the cost of lisence from $50, to $300; provides that every seller of liquor shall give a bond in the sum of $1,000 with two or more sureties not to sell liquor on Sunday, nor to any minor or habitual drunkard.

Vice-President Colfax in lying himself out of his Credit Mobiler complications, is involving himself into another and equally questionable dilemma. To escape the responsibility of receiving a $1,200 divvy from Oakes Ames he pretended that this sum, which just at the time indicated, appeared in his bank account as a deposit, was made up in part of a bank note, of $1,000 sent to him in an unregistered letter by a Mr. Nesbitt, "an almost a total stranger," as a mark of respect and esteem, on July 22d 1868. But a member of the committee overhauling the Vice President's bank accounts, finds a draft from Mr. Nesbitt, of $1,000 to Mr. Colfax, July 13. Lest this should be confounded with the bank note of the 22d, Mr. Hale, counsel for Colfax steps in and declares that his client not only received $1,000 in a bank note as originally stated but three similar notes between April and July, making Nesbitt's donation to Colfax in 1868 amount not to $1,000 as Colfax originally swore but to four times that much.

Now those who knew Jeo F. Nesbitt in his lifetime, might wonder why he showed such unwonted liberality to "almost a total stranger," if it were not from the fact that in June, 1868, Congress increased the appropriation for postage stamps and stamped envelopes from $275,000, to $450,000. As Mr Nesbitt's firm were the contractors for printing one or both of these articles, a flood of light is let in upon his motives.

The Christian Mayor of Cincinnati is enjoying the ball season immensely.

Extravagance Checked.

On Monday [illegible] in the National House of Representatives, Mr. Butler (Mass.) moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution instructing the Committee on Appropriations to include in the Miscellaneous Appropriation bill the bill reported by the Judiciary committee, to adjust the salaries of the executive, judicial, and administrative departments of the Government.

Mr. Garfield (Ohio) called for the reading of the bill.

The bill was read. It proposed to fix the following scale of salaries:—President $50,000; Vice President $10,000, Chief Justice Supreme Court, $10,500; Justices Supreme Court, $10,000; Cabinet officers, $10,000; Speaker of the House, 10,000; Senators, members and delegates, $8,000; the pay for Senators [illegible] to apply to the Congress which expires on the 4th of March next. Mileage to be abolished and an allowance for actual traveling expenses substituted.

Messrs. Dawes and Beatty called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Butler desired to make remarks in support of the proposition and Messrs. Dawes Cox and Farnsworth, desired to submit remarks on the other side. Objections being made to debate the vote was taken on Mr Butler's proposition and it was rejected—yeas, 81, nays, 120.

Of the yeas, 34 were democrats and 47 were Republicans. Of the nays, 47 were Democrats, and 73 Republicans. The Democrats who voted to increase the burdens of the tax-payers, by adding to the salary of those who are already overpaid for their services deserve and should receive the unqualified denunciation of their constituents. They are sent to Washington to check Republican extravagance, not to encourage it; and the best thing they can do is to resign, and make way for men who will have less regard for their own pockets, and more for the interest of the tax-payers. The members who voted against this pet project of the Radical leaders, Republicans as well as Democrats, deserve the thanks of the people, without distinction to party.

An Important Bill—County Superintendent.

In accordance to a recomendation by the Superintendent of Public Instruction the Hon. [illegible] the House of Representatives of Indianapolis, on the 6th inst., passed the bill amending the common school law, and creating the office of School Superintendent, to take the place of School Examiner.—The officer is elected by the township trustees, and he shall have a general superintendency over all the schools in the county, except city schools having superintendents of their own. He is required to hold at least one teachers' institute in each township annually, and to visit every school under his charge, at least once every year. He is required to examine the dockets and records of officers and see that all fines and forfeitures, for the benefit of the common school fund is accounted for, and is required to collect the same by suit or otherwise, and to see that the interest on the common school fund is properly and fully accounted for. His compensation is fixed at four dollars per day, and the commissioners may limit the number of days he shall serve visiting schools, providing the same shall not be less than the schools under his charge. He is not to be allowed anything in addition to this pay, on any pretense. A sworn statement of the time served, showing dates must accompany his application for pay. He is required to give bond in the sum of $4,000.

The bill further provides for a county Board of Education, consisting of the Township Trustees and Superintendent, which shall meet twice a year to consider the general wants of the schools, and to determine the change of text books to be made in the townships, and does not admit of change oftener than once in three years, except by a unanimous vote of the county board.

It provides that a teachers institute shall be held in each township at least once a month while school is in session and requires teachers of the township to attend or forfeit a days wages.

It abolishes the fee of one dollar heretofore charged each teacher for examination fee.

The Governor has not yet signed the liquor bill.

V. A. BEARD

DEALER IN

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS

Queensware,
Crockery,
Wooden-ware,
Lamp Chimneys,
Notions, etc

Quick Sales and Small Profits.

Call and examine before you make your purchases.

FRESH GOODS

Always on hand.

Main street, north of Court House.

Administrators' Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb County Court of Common Pleas, the undersigned administrator and administratrix of the estate of Samuel Weaver, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, in said county, on Saturday, the 22d day of March, 1873, an equal undivided two-thirds of the following described lands: The east half of the northeast quarter, and the north-west quarter of the north-east quarter of section 9, in township 33, north of range 12 east, containing 120 acres of land. Also twenty acres in the north-east corner of the south-west quarter of section 25, in township 34, north of range 12 east. All in DeKalb county, State of Indiana.

Terms of sale 1-3 cash in hand, 1-3 in 12 months and 1-3 in 18 months, purchaser giving his note with interest, waiving valuation and appraisement laws, with good freehold surety.

Feb. 12, 1873. JACOB C. TRUMP, CATHARINE WEAVER, } Adm'rs.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, the undersigned Administrator of the estate of Walter Burton, deceased, will offer for sale at auction on the premises, the

22nd DAY OF MARCH, 1873,

the following described premises to-wit: The south-east fourth and the north half of south-east fourth of the south-east quarter of section thirty in township thirty-four, north of range fourteen, east in DeKalb county Indiana. Terms, one third cash and the residue in equal payments at twelve and eighteen months with notes at interest and without relief from valuation or appraisement law with good freehold sureties. Sale to commence at two o'clock p. m. on said day.

JAMES R. COSPER, Adm'r.

Feb. [illegible], '73.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors in a less quanity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: On the south west corner of lot number ninety-four, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

JOHN HEBEL.

Application for License.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, at their March session, A. D. 1873, for a license to sell spiritous, vinous and malt liquors, in a less quantity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank upon the premises where sold, to-wit: The north third of lot number sixty-three, in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Ind.

EDWARD ELDRIDGE.

St. NICHOLAS RESTAURANT

AND SALOON,

Open Day and Night.

Warm Meals at All Hours

—AND—

The Best assortment of WINES and CIGARS in the City.

89 Calhoun street.

Fort Wayne, Indiana.

CON. SCHENCH, Proprietor.

A Noble Charity.

Omaha Lottery

TO ERECT THE

Nebraska State Orphan Asylum!

To be drawn in public March 31, 1873.

Tickets $1 each, or Six for 5 Dollars.

1 Cash prize,	$75,000	1 Cash prize	[illegible]
2 " "	15,000	1 " "	10,000
1 " "	5,000	1 " "	4,000

For balance of prizes send for circular.

This Legal Enterprise is endorsed by his Excellency Gov. W. H. James, and the best business men of the State.

The limited number of tickets on hand will be furnished those who apply first. For full particulars address J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Agents wanted. fe13-4t Omaha, Neb.

MILLIONS OF ACRES

IOWA & NEBRASKA LANDS.

FOR SALE BY THE

Burlington & Mo. River Rail'd co.

On Ten Year's Credit at 6 per cent. Interest.

Products will pay for the land and improvements much within the limit of this kind offer. Better terms are not offered, and probably never will be.

Circulars giving full particulars, gratis; call for all that are wanted to read and circulate.

Come West and thrive, Friends will follow.

A Sectional Map, showing the exact location of Iowa lands is sold at 30 cents, and of Nebraska lands at same price. For Circulars and Maps apply to GEO. S. HARRIS, Land Commissioner, Burlington, Iowa. [illegible] this advertisement. Feb. 5—4t.

[illegible]

60, 62 & 64 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Builders Hardware,

Doors, Sash, Blinds,

Glass, White Lead,

Stoves & Tin Ware,

Of every Description.

Tinners' Stock, Tinners' Tools, Etc.

Heavy Hardware,

Iron, Steel, Nails,

WAGON & CARRIAGE HARDWARE and WOOD STOCK,

Blacksmith' and Mechanics Tools,

Farming Impleme'ts

Rubber and Leather Belting, Lace Leather, Belt Hooks, Studs &c

Reduced Prices. Give us a Call.

BOOZER AND BLATNER

Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts,

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as

Areola Cloth, Queen's Own,
Brittanna " Brocades,
Balerno " Silk Stripes,
Turko, " Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes,

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS,

[illegible] of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER

The Largest

CLOTHING

HOUSE

IN THE COUNTY.

S. Lafferty

WILL SELL

READY MADE

CLOTHING

AT THE

LOWEST PRICES.

[illegible] ways on hand.

Auburn, Ind.

The Correct SUN Time

For Ft. Wayne, as shown by Transit in the Jewelry Store of

GEO. J. E. MAYER & F. VOIROL,

No. 29 East Main street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Churches
Courts
City Offices County "
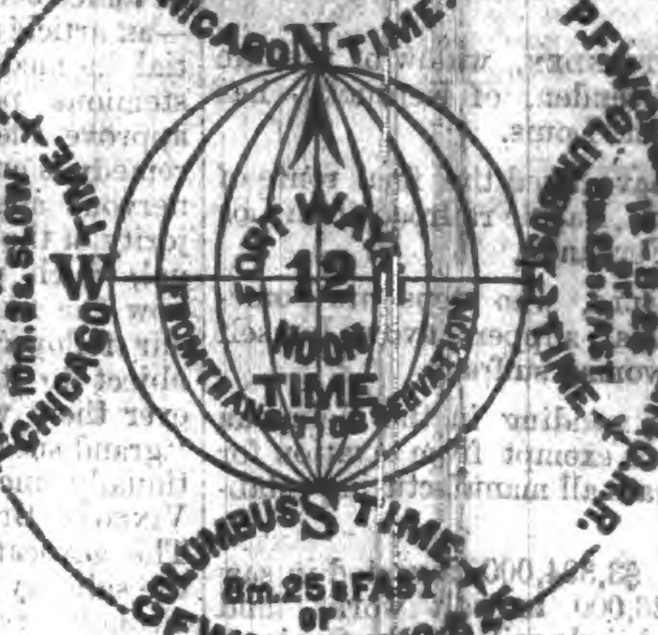
Public Schools
Post Office
Street Cars
Hotels
Railroads
Business Houses

Will all use Meridian Time as ascertained by the Transit of this firm. Solar, Lunar & Stellar observations taken every noon and night.



P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. 11-49-57
or
10m. 3s. SLOW
CHICAGO N TIME
W
FORT WAYNE
12
NOON TIME
FROM TRANSIT OBSERVATION
T. W. & W. R. R. 11-49-57 or 10m. 3s. SLOW CHICAGO TIME
P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. 12-8-25 or 8m. 25s. FAST COLUMBUS TIME
COLUMBUS S TIME
8m. 25s. FAST
or
G. R. & I. R. R. / Ft. W. M. & C. R. R. 12-8-25

Those who have Fine Watches and are anxious to know and see how accurately they run, can do so by calling at our Store. It will afford us pleasure to set and regulate all watches accurately and gratuitously.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES

Perfumery, Soaps,
Brushes, Patent Medicines
School and Blank Books.
Slates, Writing Paper
Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper,
Oiled, slate and Liner

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes.

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind's

Attention Creation!

Another Rebellion

IN

Boots, Shoes and Real Estate.

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit:

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. and lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of my stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $3000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 27, '73—3m.

Fruit House!

BULLETIN

Prices to suit Everybody!

GREAT REDUCTION ON

Raisins, Currants, Peaches, Prunes, Teas,

Etc. We purchased 1000 boxes No. 1, Layer Raisins before the advance, and now offer them at 12½c per pound, or $2.50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb, and the lowest they have ever been in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zanta Currants. This fruit is generally considered low at 15c, we now offer the best quality at 10c.

The greatest reduction is on teas—selling 2 and 3 chests a day—no intermediate profits to pay, as we purchase direct of the importers and sell to the customers, thereby saving the profits of the Jobber, speculator and wholesaler. The failure of five of the largest tea importers of N. Y. has broken the tea market. We have taken advantage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15c per pound lower than former prices.

Young Hyson	30, 60, best 1 00
Gunpowder	50, 80, best 1 00
Imperial	50, 60, best 1 00

COFFEES.

Best Laguiara	25c
Choice Rio	25c
Best Roasted	27c

SUGARS.

At Old Prices. No Advance.

Crushed, Powdered and Granulated	25c
Coffee A	13½
Coffee C	11c
Brown	8 best 10c

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Apples	6 and 8c
Turkish Prunes	8c
Canned Peaches	13c
Canned Tomatoes	18c
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	25c
Damsons	20c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15c
Roasted pea nuts	10c

Olong	4, 50, 60, and 80c
Japan	40, 50, and 60c
Soft Shell Almonds	20c
Shelled Almonds	45c
Citron	50c

TOBACCOS.

10c Lower per Pound.

Best Mahoquey double thick	60c
Best Navy black	40 and 50c
Good Smoking	30c
Best Smoking	40c
Shorts	25 or 2lb for $1
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	60c

WINES and LIQUORS

California port and shery	$2 50 a gallo
Catawba Wine	75c and 1 00
Brandy and Gin	$2 00
Blackberry and cherry Wines	1 50
Old 76	3 50
2 year old Burbon	2 00
1 year old Rye	1 25
New Liquor	60c
Bottled Wines and Brandies	25c to 60c a bottle

All the above Liquors are highly recomended for medical purposes. All warranted pure goods and equal to what you will pay double the money for.

CANDIES FOR EVERYBODY

We have an extra large assortment, 25 cent. below former prices.

Stick Candy pure Goods	20c	Imperial all kinds	30c
Fancy Candy all varieties	25c	Toy Candy, in all different kinds	[illegible]

Fine Fresh Oysters,

AT 35, 45 AND 55 CENTS.

Cigars, 1.50, 2. 3. and 5. Per Box.

You can save at least 25c on the dollar at the

FRUIT HOUSE.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Wheat looks good.

Its almost time to clean your yards.

See Beard's advertisement this week.

Too many boys are allowed in the Billiard Hall.

A club dance is now under full headway. Keep it going.

Wheeled vehicles are all the go since the exit of the snow.

Gordon is doing pictures for almost nothing. Just call at his gallery.

A series of protracted meeting commenced at Corunna last Sunday.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

A fellow in this place says, that a dance and a carpet sewing on the same evening is unsuspicious hereafter.

For Ahead.—Go to Rainier's Hall and see Hansley the great magician next Friday and Saturday nights.

A broken rail near Summit ditched 7 freight cars of an Eel River train the other evening.

The Auburn schools have closed, and the pupils are expecting a long vacation. Another term ought to be held before warm weather.

Cagliostromantheum. What's that? Go to Rainier's Hall next Friday evening and Prof. Hansley will tell you.

The editor of the Press is going up on the bond question. With the accumulation of a little more gas, there will be a collapse of that learned individual, and then what a smell!

The driver of the 'bus at Waterloo was severely hurt Saturday evening, in attempting to drive under the shed of the warehouse at the Saginaw depot. We believe his name is J. Lent.

Original and pleasing experiments to be seen at Rainier's Hall next Friday evening.

The singing class, under Prof. Bennett, is making rapid progress and everything is going off most pleasantly. The class meets at the Presbyterian church, and all desiring to attend should be there on next Thursday night.

Prof Hansley, the magician and Ventriloquist, gave three entertainments last week at Metropolitan Hall, to full houses. His illusions are certainly good, being for the most part entirely new to our community.—"Galion Review.

Lost—A three braided hair watch guard, with a gold satchel attached, Last Sabbath night, between Auburn and Waterloo. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at the jewelry store, or at Dr. Casebeer's office.

See in another column advertisement about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

S. Laufferty wants us to state that he is not selling clothing off at auction, only just his stock of Dry Goods, as he intends to keep no goods in that line in the future. He always has a good stock of Ready-made Clothing for all.

The Press says we have come down on the tax list about $50. If that paper regards it as coming down to obey the law then we claim to be quite humble. We are not surprised, however, that a paper defying law and order should regard it as coming down.

Go and get that sack of flour without charge, at Rainier's Hall next Friday and Saturday evenings. Admission 35 cents.

Prof. Barrett has been lecturing here several evenings past upon Phrenology and other kindred subjects. His lectures are pleasing and instructive, and full of many useful hints to every community.—The Prof. will deliver his last lecture on this (Wednesday) evening.

J. D. Osborn, the able editor of the South Bend "Union," has formed a copartnership with William C. Wilson, Esq. in the profession of law, at Goshen, and will immediately remove to the latter place, his former home. He continues, for the present at least, the editorship of the above named journal.

Ventriloquism as shown by Prof. Hansley at Rainier's Hall next Friday evening the 28.

The Supreme Court having reversed Judge Clapp's decision in the celebrated Low Blair DeKalb County treasurer case, a new trial will be had. The probabilities are that Blair's sureties will eventually be compelled to make good the amount in controversy—about $23,000.—"Ligonier Banner."

Horses Wanted.— Those who have good horses for sale, can find a ready market for them by calling at A. S. Leas Livery Stable, at Waterloo. He is buying a large lot, and has now in his barns, a magnificent stud of about twenty as fine horses as ever was seen in the county. Call around and see them.

LYDIA THOMPSON.

This world renowned queen of burlesque, appears at Colerick's Opera House next thursday evening, Feb. 27th, with a fine troupe of artists, all of whom would be stars in any other company. Those who have never seen a burlesque opera, will find this the greatest treat of all. The troupe appears but one night at Ft. Wayne.

S. Laufferty gives notice that he is selling off his large stock of ready made clothing at cost to make room for new spring styles. Also that all those indebted to him on note or book account must call and settle inside of ten days, or accounts will be placed in proper hands for collection.

Prof. Hansley, the natural Magician and Ventriloquist, gave two entertainments at Opera Hall last week. His cabinet embraces many new feats of prestidigitation which we have never before seen. The entire performance is novel, amusing and full of spirit. The gifts were good and fairly given away.—"Bellefontaine Press."

Revue de la Mode surpasses every other Fashion Journal of its kind. It is imported from Paris and translated in English. It gives yearly over 1500 beautiful fashion cuts, and some 200 valuable patters, varying in style and size, to suit all, besides novelties for trimming and fancy work. It is received monthly in advance and put at the astonishing low price of $3.55 a year; single numbers 35 cents.

CARLOTTA PATTI.

Those who want to hear the grandest thing in the way of singing now out should certainly attend the concert to be given at Colericks Opera House, Fort Wayne, next Friday evening, the 28th. Patti is now the finest vocalist in the country, and Mario, the great tenor, has never been excelled. There are several other very fine lady singers with the troupe besides the famous bass Scolara.—A number of our citizens will attend, and we trust that our musical circles will have a good representation.

See advertisement in another column about Iowa and Nebraska lands. 4t

Pass Him Round.—We learn from Mr. Windsor, of Pleasant Lake that a swindling scalawag calling himself G. M. Parsons has been taking in the honest people of that vicinity by pretending to be an agent for papers and magazines, and thus obtaining money and then making himself scarce. Those who subscribed never got the publications, and it is evident that he is a first-class scoundrel. Even now he may be doing some other pleasant village. Let the press pass him 'round.

Old Folks' Hop.

Some of our very best citizens are now making arrangements for a grand Hop to be given under the auspices of the Old Folks. It is no cheap affair, but will be arranged with a view to the greatest respectability. It will be conducted in a proper manner, and no one will be admitted who has not been invited. The object is to have a nice enjoyable occasion, where all can participate without the risk of having it marred with rough or repulsive features. No spectators or dead heads admitted. Prof. Lifel's string band, of Fort Wayne, is to furnish the music.

Eel River Road.

A meeting was held at the Court House last Wednesday evening, in the interest of this road, which was largely attended by residents along the line. President Collins made a statement of the condition of affairs, and emphatically declared that if the subscription asked for was not forthcoming soon, the road would not be built. We trust now that those who have lain the flattering unction to their souls that the road would be built 'anyhow,' will rouse up and assist the project. Committees were appointed and are to work, and we want to hear a good report.

Take Your Choice.—The March number of "Peters' Musical Monthly" contains the following selection of Music. You can buy the Monthly for 30 cents, or the music in sheet form—for Saviour, thou art ever Near, song and chorus. Prety Evaline Adair, song and chorus. He Kiss'd me Good-bye at the Gate. Hear me say my Little Prayer,—Just as I am, hymn for Lent. Let the World Chant and Sing, and several other fine pieces.

A Trial Trip.—The Publisher will send you six back numbers of 1872 for $1, or the last three numbers for 75 cents. Subscription price, $3 per year. Address J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, N. Y.

At the temperance meet held last week the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, the liquor traffic has assumed an organized insidious and determined warfare upon society, undermining the foundation of virtue, and domestic happiness, resisting and violating the laws enacted for the protection of the young, the old and the weak from the wrongs of intemperance.

Resolved, that the recent enactment of the Baxter Temperance law by the Legislature was demanded by the exigencies of the times and meets our hearty approbation.

Resolved, That the action of our worthy Representive, B. B. Shutt, in supporting the aforesaid law deserves the hearty commendation of all good people, and we tender him our thanks for his manly and honorable course.

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the Auburn Courier and Waterloo "Press" for publication

HORRIBLE!

A Young Mother Destroys Her Child and Dies Herself.

One of the most shocking occurences in life's fitful dream, took place at the Auburn House last Sunday night. A young girl about twenty years old, named Melissa Brown, took sick the Saturday night previous, and assigned as the cause a "terrible tooth-ache." All day Sunday she remained in bed, still claiming that this was the cause of of her suffering. On Sunday evening she was asked to have a doctor but she declined, saying she would not see him or take his medicine. At 2 o'clock Monday morning Mrs Kircher, the landlady visited her room and wanted to do something for her; Melissa replied that she wanted a drink of water, and she would get along if Mrs. K. would go to bed. The next morning the cold and lifeless body of the girl was found in bed, the room presenting one of the most horrible scenes that could well be imagined.

Dr. Spooner was sent for about seven o'clock, and he found on examination that she had been dead about an hour, and that she had been delivered of a child, though there was none present.

Coroner Latson empanneled a jury, and soon after the body of a healthy male child, weighing about ten pounds was fished up from the well in the yard.—Traces of blood were found leading from the room down a pair of stairs to the well.

The testimony before the jury developed the fact that no one in or around the house knew of the pregnant condition o the girl. A paper of morphene was found near the bed with blood traces thereon indicating that she had used a portion o the contents. Drs. Spooner, Ford, Cowan and Littlefield made an examination of mother and child, and the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to her death from hemorrhage by child birth.

No one in or about the house had heard the least sound during the night, except one of the girls who remembers having heard a heavy breathing in the night but ascribed it to a habit of snoring of the deceased. Many are of the opinion that the child was deposited in the well during church time, and that the mother actually performed this act in this terrible condition. When found she was weltering in blood and the floor was smeared in many places, a large quantity being deposited on the shed roof just outside the window. There is but little doubt that the child was born alive.

What an appalling scene for our quiet steady people to ponder upon. Steadily concealing everthing as to her condition, she had arrived at a point that defied concealment. Perhaps she thought by the destruction of the child, she would stil escape detection. But the terrible evidences of her guilt in the dark stains all around her baffled her efforts. Conscious that the coming morn would reveal her helpless condition, with the awful crime of murder upon her hands, may she not have reached forth for the morphene as the last desperate chance to escape her terrible fate. Without a confident to share her troubles, she met them alone in the gloom and silence of the night. Driven to despair, in her weakness she would have obliterated all traces of her shame, and thus plunge farther into the vortex of crime. She suffered death willingly perhaps, rather than meet her accusers innocent perhaps of intentional wrong, possessed of a sensitive nature, she but compassed her life rather than meet the punishment of her frailty. And is she alone to be held accountable to man and her Creator? The law of man may seek no farther for this violation, but to God He who sees and knows all, the iniquity of the human heart, there shall another come whose hediousness is already pictured in the closing scenes of his victim.

Her mother resides near North Manchester in this State. She arrived here on Tuesday, and swooned away when her daughter's death was made known to her. The corpse of both mother and child were taken to that place for interment.

The election on the Amendment in this county stood as follows in its favor:

Butler	158	Jackson	166
Concord	170	Newville	123
Stafford	74	Wilmington	345
Auburn	302	Waterloo	343
Richland, N.	143	Richland, S.	124
Fairfield	213	Smithfield	182
Franklin	157	Troy	77
		Total, 2578.

Wilmington and Fairfield each cast one against the amendment.

MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Notice is hereby given, that a meeting of the stockholders of the Building, Loan and Savings Association will be held on Thursday Evening, Feb. 27th,

at the Court House, at which time the monthly installments will be sold to the highest bidder.

J. B. Casebeer, Pres't

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, executor of the will of George Drawley, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Feb. 27. L. D. Britton, Executor.

Go the show to-morrow night.

The Eel River Road.

Our friend Nash of the Logansport Pharos, has been over the Eel River Road to this place. This is what he has to say:

The completion of the Detroit, Eel River & Illinois Railroad has marked a new era in the history of Logansport. It opens to our business men the rich valley of the Eel River, and gives them a very desirable field for their future operations. The country through which the road passes is the "Best of the West." The entire route is through well cultivated farms, heavy timber, and thriving towns and villages. The traveler looks in vain for an acre o barren land, between Logansport and Auburn.

The elegant condition of the track, the excellent and commodious passenger coaches, the careful condition in which the road is managed, and the kind and gentlemanly conductors guarantee the safety of the traveler while he gazes with delight on the beautiful panorama. At all the stations east of Mexico, good passenger and freight houses and grain elevators have been built. The buildings on this end of the line will be erected early in the spring. The telegraph line is completed, and the machinery of the road is in good running order. In fact the arrangements are so perfect that the traveler does not realize that he is passing over a new line. D. L. Quirk & Co deserve credit for building a first-class road. The work has been pushed rapidly, but in no instance has it been slighted. Every man along the entire line has received his just dues, and the honest, straightforward manner in which Messrs. Quirk & Co. have transacted their business has won the good wishes of the citizens along the route.—When stock is killed, it is promptly settled for, and vexatious litigation avoided. There is no enmity existing between the Company and the farmers. On the other hand, both seem to realize that their interests are mutual.

H. C. Goodell is Superintendent and J. J. Grafton, Assistant. The employees are careful and experienced railroad men. To illustrate this it is only necessary to state that during the past twelve months not a single car, has been thrown from the track.

The road will do a good passenger business in the spring. It is a safe pleasant route and is the shortest line between this point and Buffalo, New York. Pleasure seekers will go to Niagara by the way of the Eel River Valley, and the products of the rich farming lands will seek this outlet to the eastern cities.

The towns along the line are improving rapidly. Columbia City, one of the largest and best points in the Eel River Valley, is putting on city airs. Several buildings are under contract, and work will commence in earnest with the opening of spring—E. W. Brown, Theodore Reed, Cyrus B. Talley and Col. I. B. McDonald are preparing to build a four story brick, 80 by 140 feet on Van Buren street.

Street improvements are to be made in the spring, and sewers are to be laid through two of the principal streets of the town. The main thoroughfares are obstructed by huge piles of building materials, which evidence the rapid growth and prosperity of Columbia City.

The many friends of President Collins will rejoice to learn that he has recovered his health and is engaged, as usual, in looking after the interests of the. That he is 'the right man in the right place' is the verdict of all who have witnessed his untiring efforts in behalf of the Eel River Road. His work is accomplished and the people say "well done;" but the Company will not let him 'depart in peace.'

Auburn, the county seat of DeKalb, is improving rapidly; and excellent buildings are being erected. A large brick block, opposite the Court House, was nearly completed last fall. It will be finished early in the spring. A fine hotel is being built, and many substantial dwelling houses were erected last season. The total number of business and dwelling houses built during the past year is ninety-three. A large hub and spoke factory will be put up as soon as the weather will permit. On every hand may be seen evidences of prosperity, and it is apparent, even to a casual observer that Auburn is 'out of the mud.'

The Court House is filled with competent and obliging county officers; but it is surrounded by a very shabby looking fence. The Commissioners are waiting for the ground to thaw, when a neat fence will be built and the present eye-sore given to the poor for kindling wood.

Wooden Railroads.

wooden railroads in the vicinity ebec are attracting considerable on. It appears that there are 0 miles in operation. The gauge t 8½ inches. The running time miles per hour, but trains have un at the rate of 35 miles per
The rails are made of maple, 4x7 set up edgewise, and notched e cross-ties four inches deep, and y two wedges down in the notch outside of the rail. The ties are inches thick, and laid 20 inches
The cars have four wheels, and is ma cestor

A J in Jap try, a habita ago n permit the Mi city to the res strides after t ment d dustri was in

Don't forget the lecture to-night at Case's Hall by Prof. Barrett.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb county, State of Indiana, Executor of the estate of Jacob Rectenwalt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

John Gauss, Ex'r.

Feb. 20, '73.

Scarcity of Water.—We have heard a great many complaints in regard to the scarcity of water and the excessive dry weather is generally pointed to as the great cause. This has doubtless something to do with it, but the greater reason is that most of the wells are sunk only a few feet below the surface, and the consequence is that when the surface water becomes exhausted, these wells are useless. By putting down a well that will reach a never failing source, only a few feet further, this will be remedied.—Now, the greatest remedy for this evil we know of is the admirable drive well, which many are resorting to obtain a constant supply of water. A large number are being driven down almost daily in this county, and we have not heard of a single objection being raised as to its great utility and usefulness. They can be changed from one point to another with but little labor a feature that is greatly appreciated by those who have them in use. There is no possible chance for rats or vermin of any kind and it is impossible for them to become dirty or filthy. Messrs. McDonald & Williams have been engaged several years on putting them down and have experience in locating them that will be of great value to all who may want them. Their terms are moderate and now is your chance to get a good substantial well that will pay for itself in a short time. We have one in use and would not change it for the best of any other kind made. Inquire at Davis' hard ware store.

Great Reduction on Teas.

The failure of five of the largest tea importers of New York has broken the tea market. We have taken the advantage of the situation, and purchased large quantities at low rates, and we now offer all grades 15 cents per pound lower than former prices. Young Hyson, 50c, 60c 80c and $1, best 1 10. Gunpowder 50c and 80c, best 1 10. Imperial, 50c, 80c and best 1 10. Oolong, 40c, 50c and 80c, best 95c. Japan, 40c and 50c, best 95c Fruit House.

Coffee, Coffee!

No advance in prices. The excitement in the market is only temporary. We purchased a large stock before the advance and will continue to sell at our old prices:

Best Rio, 25 cents.
Good Rio, 25c.
Old Government Java, 28c
Best roasted Rio, 27c Feb 6.
At the FRUIT HOUSE, Fort Wayne.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the estate of Isaac Hornberger, late of DeKalb county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Feb. 25, 1873. JAMES E. ROSE.

Notice of Dissolution.

[illegible] firm name of Snyder & Davis is this day dissolved by mutual consent. [illegible]

Feb. 25, 1873. [illegible] DAVIS.

[illegible]

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, executor of the estate of Jacob Rectenwald, deceased, will offer for sale at public outcry, at the late residence of [illegible] township DeKalb county, Indiana, on the personal property [illegible] consisting of Milch Cows and Young Cattle, wheat crop in the ground, household and kitchen furniture, and various other articles. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock a. m.

SATURDAY, MARCH 22nd, 1873,

TERMS.—All sums of three dollars and under cash. [illegible] a credit of eight months will be given, the purchaser giving note with interest, waiving valuation and appraisement laws, with good security. JOHN GAUSS, Ex'r.

Feb. 25, 1873.

Auditor's Sale.

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY.

Notice is hereby given that E. C. Robert Royer and Mary Ann Royer, on the [illegible] day of November A. D. 1862, made a mortgage to the State of Indiana for the use of the Congressional School Fund on the following real estate in DeKalb County, to-wit:

The south-east fourth (¼) of the south-east quarter of section number twenty-eight (28), in township thirty-four [34], north of range twelve [12] east, to secure the payment of three hundred dollars, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable in advance, according to the conditions of a note accompanying said mortgage, made by E. C. Robert Royer, whereby he promises to pay to the State of Indiana, on or before the 21st day of November, A. D. 1867, the sum of three hundred dollars, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum payable in advance, commencing on the 21st day of November, A. D. 1862, and

Whereas, there was one hundred and eleven dollars and thirty-seven cents [$111.37] interest due on said mortgage, on the first day of January, 1873, and said parties have failed to pay the interest thereon, and by reason thereof the principal of said note and mortgage has become due.

Now, I, William McIntyre, Auditor of DeKalb County, in the State of Indiana, hereby give notice that on MONDAY, MARCH 24th, 1873,

The same being the 4th Monday of said month, A. D. 1873, at the Court House door, in the town of Auburn, in said county and State, I will offer for sale, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., said premises, or so much thereof in a square form, as near as possible, off the north-westerly corner of said tract as may be necessary to satisfy the principal, interest and two per cent damages and costs, amounting in the aggregate to four hundred and thirty-nine dollars and forty-one cents.

WILLIAM McINTYRE, Auditor.

Dated Auburn, Feb. 25, 1873.

Auditor's Sale.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
County of DeKalb }

Notice is hereby given that whereas David Culver and Sarah A. Culver his wife on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1864, made a mortgage to the State of Indiana, for the use of the Congressional School Fund on the following real estate in DeKalb county, Indiana, viz:

The north-west fourth (¼) of the south-east quarter of section thirty-five (35), township thirty-four (34), north of range thirteen (13) east, to secure the payment of one hundred and fifty dollars with interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable in advance according to the condition of a note accompanying said mortgage made by said David Culver, whereby he promises to pay the State of Indiana on or before November 4th, A. D. 1873, the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable in advance, commencing on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1864, and

Whereas there was forty-three dollars and 65 cents due on said mortgage on the 1st day of January 1873, and said parties have failed to pay the interest thereon and by reason thereof the principal of said note and mortgage become due.

Now I, William McIntyre, Auditor of DeKalb county, in the State of Indiana, hereby give notice that on the 24th day of March, the same being the 4th Monday of said month, A. D. 1873, at the Court House door, in the town of Auburn, in said county and State, will offer for sale between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. said premises or so much thereof, in a square form as near as possible off the nort-westerly corner of said tract, as may be necessary to satisfy the principal interest and two per cent. damages and costs, amounting in the aggregate to $214 57.

WILLIAM McINTYRE, Auditor.

Dated at Auburn, Feb. 25, 1873.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

CLEARING-OUT SALE!

—AT—

C. ORFF AND CO'S.

5 & 7 Columbia-st., Ft. Wayne.

We will offer for the next forty-five days commencing January 11th, [and continuing until the forty-five days are up,] our entire stock of Fancy Domestic

DRY GOODS!

including the whole of our Dress Goods, Cloaks, Shawls, Furs, and Fancy Goods

At Actual Cost.

and many styles at even less. We must close out our entire stock of Dress Goods, Furs, Shawls and Fancy Goods, and LOW PRICES must do it.

Look! Look!

at these prices of Dress Goods; they are 25 to 50 per cent. lower than the goods sold before the war

Our entire stock of Cashmeres, including the new shades, reduced			$1.00	worth 1.50
A full line of Colors in Silk and Woolen Velours at			90	" 1.50
All of our Irish and French Poplins reduced to			1.25	" 2.00
All-wool Serges reduced to	60 c		90
All-wool Satines reduced to	75 c	worth	100
All-wool Satines reduced to	50 c	worth	75
A large line of Japanese Stripes reduced to	45 cents	worth	75	to 85

We shall have to tables in the center of the store filled with Dress Goods at 25, 30 and 40 cents, many of which are worth double the money.

CLOAKS, CLOAKS.

We will close out our stock of Cloaks at actual first cost. We have some of our very best styles left, and this will be a rare opportunity to buy a handsome cloak for little money.

FURS, FURS.

We have reduced the price of our Sable, Mink, Fitch and Sealskin Furs fully one-half, and are determined to close them out during the next thirty days.

Our Entire tock of Shawls.

Will be sold at less than they have been offered for the last ten years. We have left some very handsome Ottoman Stripes, also a good assortment of Paisely in long and square, which must be sold.

Beaver Clokings.

$6.00 Beaver reduced to $5.50. $6.00 Beaver reduced to 4.00. One price each of fine blue and brown silk plush, for ladies' and children's Sacques, reduced from $6.00 to 3.50.

Great Reduction in Laces, Embroideries, Collars, Handkerchiefs, and all kinds of Fancy Goods. We have a large stock of this class of goods, and we want to clear them out.

We have the largest stock of Corsets in the city, and they have been reduced with all other goods.

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

During our sale we will sell our best prints at 10c, our heaviest brown muslin 12½c, our fine brown muslin 12½c, 200 pieces of soft-finished bleached Muslin at 12½c.

Remember this sale will continue for the next forty days, commencing January 11.

C. ORFF & CO.

AUBURN COURIER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1873.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

JAMES GAFFNEY was executed at Buffalo, N. Y., on Friday, Feb. 14, for the murder of Patrick Fahey....The cash value of Mr. Greeley's estate has been appraised at $120,000.

EDWARD S. STOKES, the slayer of James Fisk, Jr., who was to have been hung at New York on the 28th of February, has obtained a stay of proceedings, and will, in all probability, be granted a new trial....Robert Emmet, son of Thomas Addis Emmet, the Irish patriot, and nephew of the celebrated Robert Emmet, died at New Rochelle, N. Y., recently. The deceased was long an eminent member of the New York bar....The projected New York illustrated evening paper, the Daily Graphic, will be issued March 18.

THE appraisement of the estate of Horace Greeley and wife has been completed. The daughters will each have a fortune of at least £100,000 after all legacies, including that to the Children's Aid Society, have been paid....Resolutions in favor of woman suffrage have passed the Lower House of the Maine Legislature by a vote of 64 to 54.

THE Democrats of Connecticut have nominated Charles R. Ingersoll for Governor.

The West.

A SALT LAKE newspaper job office is threatened with a suit for publishing obscene literature, in having printed to order, in pamphlet form, some of the sermons of Brigham Young. The offensive matter, the verbatim language of the Prophet, is incredibly vile.

THE Grand Jury at Jacksonville, Oregon, has indicted a number of Capt. Jack's Modoc warriors for murder.

THE tribulation of the Mormon leaders, in view of the possibility of decisive Congressional action against their peculiar institution, is becoming daily more manifest, and their removal from Utah is being seriously discussed. It is intimated that negotiations have been renewed for the exclusive possession of one of the Sandwich Islands.

A SALT LAKE dispatch states that agents of the priesthood are circulating for signature a petition to Congress for the appointment of a commission to visit Utah and investigate the matters at issue between the Gentiles and Mormons. The object is understood solely to stave off legislation till better arrangements can be made to defeat the Government effort to enforce the laws....Mrs. E. J. Sutherland, of French Grove, Ill., was recently choked to death by a rabbit bone.

THE passenger train going west from Tolono, Ill., on the Toledo, Wabash and Western railroad, encountered about a dozen "legal fare" men bound for Sodorus, and upon the conductor and train-men undertaking to put them off, they drew their revolvers and virtually took possession of the train, arriving at Sodorus, a distance of 4½ miles, in triumph. The same day a conductor on one of the Illinois Central trains was arrested at Tolono, charged with assault and battery, in forcing a man off his train for refusing to pay full fare....A general small-pox panic exists at LaSalle, Ill. A young man was taken ill at a public ball there, the other day, and a few hours afterward was in full eruption with the disease. The wildest consternation was produced by the circumstance, and many families left the place.

DAWSON, the murderer of David Crockett, Jr., who was recently hung by a mob in Utah, was a son of the late Mormon Bishop Sharp, prominent in the priesthood, and an especial friend of Brigham Young.

The South.

A DREADFUL accident occurred recently at Richmond, Va. A temporary trestle-work across two of the pillars of a bridge in process of construction across the James river gave way, precipitating a party of fifteen workmen into the water. Nine were rescued, the remaining six being either drowned or killed. Two hours before two other workmen were drowned while attempting to reach the bridge in a boat....Two companies of Choctaw Indians recently went on a hunt for horse-thieves, captured sixteen, and, after holding a council of war, shot six of them.

THE steamboat Henry A. Jones, from Houston for Galveston, with a cargo of 442 bales of cotton, was destroyed by fire on the morning of February 15, in Galveston Bay. Twenty-one lives were lost; among them were the captain, first and second clerks, first engineer, cooper. The survivors, twenty-seven in number, were taken to Galveston by the steamer Henry Forbes.

A STEAMBOAT recently ran into the drawbridge across the Cumberland river at Clarksville, Tenn., completely demolishing the structure.

Washington.

IT is announced that Minister Nelson is to be recalled from Mexico. He will be substituted by Col. Foster, of Indiana....A large number of witnesses have arrived from Kansas to testify in the Pomeroy case.

THE Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections have reported that the election of Senator Caldwell, of Kansas, was invalid, but they do not report in favor of expulsion, believing that he was in some sense the victim of sharpers....It is stated that President Grant's Southern tour will be of the greatest significance to the people of that section. The President contemplates starting on the 20th of March, and expects to be accompanied by nearly all of his Cabinet, besides many distinguished gentlemen—Senators, members of Congress, and others. Richmond, Va., will be the first stopping place. It is the President's purpose to make this the initial movement in his next Administration, in his attempt to harmonize the people of the North and South. He will look into the condition of the South socially, and the local government of the States to be visited. At Richmond and other places along the line of his visit preparations are being made to give him an enthusiastic reception.

THE America and East India Telegraph Company, incorporated the other day by Congress, is now said to be a worthless concern. The parties in interest are believed to be irresponsible, and to have sought the franchise only to make money out of its sale. A motion has been made in the Senate to reconsider the vote in their favor.

Foreign.

THE flag of the new Spanish Republic is to be violet, white and red....A union between Spain and Portugal is seriously talked of....Germany, it is said, will immediately recognize the Spanish Republic....Spain will shortly issue a decree abolishing all titles and decorations....The Vienna Exposition building is completed, and goods are arriving.

SPANISH items: A bill abolishing capital punishment has been introduced in the National Assembly. The Royal Guard has been suppressed. The establishment of the Republic has been celebrated in Madrid by a grand illumination; the streets were crowded, but there was no discord. Advices from the provinces report tranquillity everywhere, save in the districts disturbed by Carlists. It is said that the army is opposed to the Republic, and favors a monarchy, but is divided in its choice for a ruler between the Duke Montpensier and the ex-Queen Isabella. Among the measures contemplated by the Ministry are the separation of Church and State, and the appointment of Judges for life. Minister Sickles has formally congratulated President Figueras on the establishment of the Republic, and the [illegible] which it was made. Barcelona has hoisted the flag of the Republic. The peasants of Andalusia are clamoring for a division of property. Catalonian workingmen are demanding arms for the people, the release of military conscripts, municipal self-government, shorter hours of work, and higher wages....News of the abdication of Amadeus caused the most intense excitement in Havana. Business was wholly suspended, merchants refusing to sell exchange. The idea of a Republic does not please the slaveholders....A Paris telegram says France will attempt to compel Spain to sell Cuba; and that the United States had offered 250,000,000 francs, payable in two years, but Spain refused....A report comes from Berlin that Bismarck's continued indisposition is owing to a number of poisoned letters he has received. He is so troubled with dizziness that he scarcely leaves the house, and his wife, who always reads correspondence with him, is suffering from an unaccountable feebleness.

IT is rumored that some of the great European powers have intimated to the Spanish Government that they will oppose the formation of a Federal Republic....An explosion occurred recently in a coal mine near Staffordshire, England, by which thirty or forty miners were killed.

THE Irish priests charged with using spiritual influence to intimidate voters in the Galway Parliamentary election have been acquitted....The estimated expenditures for the British army for the financial year 1873-74 form a total of $66,000,000, which is a reduction of $2,000,000 from those of the current year....An incipient revolution has been suppressed in Guatemala....In the case of Prince Napoleon against ex-Minister Lefranc, for illegal expulsion from France, the Court declared its incompetency to try the case, and ordered the plaintiff to pay the costs.

General.

WORD comes from Florida that the Government is making quite a stir in strengthening the Gulf fortifications, as if serious trouble with Spain might occur at any moment.

IN examining the accounts of the Bowles Brothers, it is found that the deposits of Americans which they have embezzled amount to $300,000. Against these there are no assets to be placed.

Fires.

FEB. 13.—A school-house at Sherrill's Mound, Dubuque county, Iowa, was burned; loss $15,000....At Tyson, Pa., Ray's steam tannery was destroyed; loss, $60,000.

FEB. 14.—At Baltimore, Md.; loss, $70,000. ....At New York; loss, $100,000....St. Louis, Mo.; loss, $30,000....Cohoes, N. Y.; loss, $70,000.

FEB. 18.—At Shreveport, La.; over half a million dollars' worth of property destroyed. ....Forestville, Ct.; loss, $40,000.

The Credit Mobilier.

The three Credit Mobilier investigations were in session on the 13th, two in open and one in secret session. The Senate committee appointed to consider the testimony taken by the House committee which inculpated Senators, had Senators Logan, Wilson and Harlan before them. The former, not having taken the Credit Mobilier stock, said he had nothing to add to his statement made to the House committee. Senator Harlan admitted receiving over $5,000 check at one time, and the same amount at another time from the Vice-President of the Union Pacific railroad, to aid in his election as Senator from Iowa. He maintained that this was needed to pay hotel bills, printing, etc. Senator Wilson detailed again his statement that it was his wife's money which went into the Credit Mobilier stock on Ames' advice, but that as he (Wilson) had also advised the investment, he was alike legally and morally responsible, and did not want to shirk nor hesitate to tell the whole story. He insisted that as soon as he heard there was anything wrong about it, he at once had his wife sell the stock, which she did without making a cent of profit.

The Wilson committee heard some important evidence on the Central Pacific road, while the Poland committee remained in secret session writing upon their report.

At the sitting of the Senate committee, on the 14th, Senator Conkling denied that he ever owned, in any way, stock of the Credit Mobilier, or the Union Pacific. Mr. Senator Patterson made a lengthy statement as to his transactions with Oakes Ames.

C. P. Huntington, Vice-President of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, was examined before the Wilson committee with reference to the construction of his road. He detailed the financial embarrassments under which the company labored in building the road.

A Washington dispatch of the 14th says: A most exciting public interest has centered to-day in a secret session of the Credit Mobilier, of which Judge Poland is Chairman. That committee, this morning, agreed on the essential features of its report, which include a recommendation for the expulsion of Representatives Ames and Brooks, the probable impeachment of Vice-President Colfax, and the severe censure of the rest of the inculpated Congressmen. The committee has waived the question, though most of the precedents are against it, as whether this House can expel a member for acts done in a previous Congress. As may well be imagined, these revelations have created a profound sensation in Congress, where the opinion was quite freely expressed that if Ames and Brooks were to be expelled, others should be placed in the same category, and not be allowed to get off with mere censure. Propositions will certainly be made in the open House to include others, and with the hope, it is said, of so complicating the matter that after all nobody will be expelled. When Ames was told to-day that only he and Brooks were to be expelled, he said: "Well, that looks as though Brooks was to be expelled for lying, and I for telling the truth."

Vice-President-elect Wilson was recalled before the Senate committee on the 15th, and his attention was called to a dispatch sent to the New York Times on the 16th of September last, contradicting, by his authority, the statement that he had Credit Mobilier stock. Senator Stockton asked the witness if he had authorized the contradiction. The witness replied he had a conversation with Gen. Boynton, and did authorize the contradiction. The dispatch was the substance of a conversation he had with Gen. Boynton. The witness would take the word of Gen. Boynton. He is a man of character, and is trustworthy. Senator James W. Patterson was recalled tified that his conversation with Am tion to taking stock might have be than 1867. It probably occurred d session of 1866; could not

The money was paid for the the witness. The receipt produced and signed by witness called for 2 whereas, in point of fact, he re shares, and put them in the hands o to sell. Gen. H. V. Boynton was s testified that the dispatch he sent York Times on Sept. 16 was auth
Senator Wilson. It was written b but not submitted to Senator Wil being sent. Mr. Wilson stated not his wife having an interest in the bilier. Senator Harlan was recalled a lengthy statement to the affec
Durant's contribution towards the e the Iowa election was voluntary o his part, not the result of any intimation from the witness, or from any one at the instance of the witness. It was not made in consideration of any service performed or to be performed, personally or officially, by the witness for him or any other person or company; that there was no such understanding expressed or implied.

The report of the Poland Credit Mobilier Committee was submitted to the House on the 18th of February. It recites the facts in the cases of Messrs. Blaine, Dawes, Scofield, Bingham and Kelley, and states that they were not aware of Ames' purpose in inveigling them into the investments in Credit Mobilier stock, or of the means in which its profits were drawn at the expense of the Government from the Union Pacific railroad. They are not proved to have been influenced in their legislative action by their possession of stock, and the committee find nothing in their conduct which calls for recommendation. Mr. Brooks' case is very different. He was not only a member of Congress, but a Government Director. Unlike his colleagues, he knew what relations the Credit Mobilier held to the Union Pacific, and what were the frauds which begot the profits. Although intrusted with the duty of guarding the Government, he let it be plundered, and shared in the booty. The 150 shares standing in his son-in-law's name were his property, and held subject to his control. The committee believe the course of Ames to have been corrupt throughout. They recommend that Ames and Brooks be expelled. The following is the concluding portion of the report: The duty devolved upon the committee has been of a most painful and delicate character. They have performed it to the best of their ability. They have proceeded with the greatest care and deliberation, for, while they desired to do their duty to the House and country, they were most anxious not to do injustice to any man. In forming these conclusions they have intended to be entirely cool and dispassionate, not to allow themselves to be swerved by any popular favor on one hand, or any feeling of popular favor and sympathy on the other. The committee submit to the House to recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

I. WHEREAS, Mr. Oakes Ames, a Representative in this House from the State of Massachusetts, has been guilty of selling to members of Congress shares of stock in the Credit Mobilier of America for prices much below the value of such stock, with intent thereby to influence the votes and decisions of such members in matters to be brought before Congress for action; therefore,

Resolved, That Oakes Ames be, and is hereby, expelled from his seat as a member of this House.

II. WHEREAS, Mr. James Brooks, a Representative in this House from the State of New York, did procure the Credit Mobilier Company to issue and deliver to Mr. Charles H. Nielson, for the use and benefit of said Brooks, fifty shares of stock of said company at a price much below its real value, well knowing that the same was issued and delivered with the intent to influence the vote and decision of said Brooks, as a member of the House, on matters to be brought before Congress for action, and also to influence the action of said Brooks as a Government Director in the Union Pacific Railroad Company; therefore,

Resolved, That Mr. Brooks be, and is hereby, expelled from his seat as a member of this House.

THE MORMON PROBLEM.

The Danger of a Conflict Between the Federal and Territorial Authorities in Utah—The President Calls the Attention of Congress to the Subject.

The President has sent the following message to Congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I consider it my duty to call the attention of Congress to the condition of affairs in the Territory of Utah, and to the dangers likely to arise if it continues during the coming recess, from a conflict between the Federal and Territorial authorities. No discussion is necessary in regard to the general policy of Congress respecting the Territories of the United States, and I only wish now to refer to so much of that policy as concerns their judicial affairs and the enforcement of laws within their borders. No material differences are found in respect to these matters in the organic acts of the Territories, but an examination of them will show it has been the invariable policy of Congress to place and keep their civil and criminal jurisdiction, with certain limited exceptions, in the hands of persons nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, and that the general administration of justice should be as prescribed by Congressional enactment. Sometimes the power given to the Territorial Legislature has been somewhat larger, and sometimes somewhat smaller than the power generally conferred. Never, however, have powers been given to a Territorial Legislature inconsistent with the idea that the general judicature of the Territory was to be under the direct supervision of the National Government. Accordingly the organic law creating the Territory of Utah, passed Sept. 9, 1850, provided for the appointment of a Supreme Court, the judges of which are judges of the district courts, a clerk, a marshal, and an attorney, and to these Federal officers is confided the jurisdiction in all important matters. But, as decided recently by the Supreme Court, the act requires the jurors to serve in these courts, to be selected in such a manner as the Territorial Legislature sees fit to prescribe. It has undoubtedly been the desire of Congress so far as the same right be compatible with the supervisory control of the Federal Government to leave the minor details connected with the administration of law to regulation by local authority, but such a desire ought not to govern when the effect will be, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the case, to produce a conflict between the Federal and Territorial authorities, or to impede the enforcement of law, or in any way to endanger the peace and good order of the Territory. Evidently it was never intended to intrust the Territorial Legislature with power which would enable it, by creating judicatures of its own, or increasing the jurisdiction of courts appointed by Territorial authority although recognized by Congress, to take the administration of the law out of the hands of the judges appointed by the President, or to interfere with their action. Several years of unhappy experience makes it apparent that in both of these respects the Territory of Utah requires special legislation by Congress. Public opinion in that Territory, produced by circumstances too notorious to require further notice, makes it necessary in my opinion, in order to prevent the miscarriage of justice and to maintain the supremacy of the laws of the United States and of the Federal Government, to provide that the selection of grand and petit jurors for the district courts, if not put under the control of the Federal officers, shall be placed in the hands of persons entirely independent of those who are determined not to enforce any act of Congress obnoxious to them, and also to pass some act which shall deprive the Probate Courts, or any court created by the Territorial Legislature, of any power to interfere with or impede the action of the courts held by the United States judges. I am convinced that so long as Congress leaves the selection of jurors to the local authorities, it will be futile to make any effort to enforce laws not acceptable to a majority of the people of the Territory or which interferes with local prejudices, or provides for the punishment of polygamy or any of its affiliated vices or crimes. I presume that Congress, in passing upon this subject, will provide all reasonable and proper safeguards to secure honest and competent jurors whose verdicts will command confidence and be a guaranty of equal protection to all good same time ot be com-

fore said,
Territories provisions ngress has s in minor erritory afreating the y thought it require other Ter-act creata writ of ion of any Courts of rt of the as corpus

freedom, a provision never inserted in any other territorial act except that creating the Terrtory of New Mexico. This extraordinary provision shows that Congress intended to mould the organic law to the peculiar necessities of the Territory, and the legislation which is now recommended is in full harmony with the precedent thus established.

I am advised that the United States Courts in Utah have been greatly embarrassed by the action of the Territorial Legislature in conferring criminal jurisdiction and the power to issue writs of habeas corpus on Probate Courts in the Territory, and by their consequent interference with the administration of justice. Manifestly the Legislature of the Territory cannot give to any court whatever power to discharge by habeas corpus persons held by or under process from the courts created by Congress; but complaint is made that persons so held have been discharged in that way by the Probate Courts. I cannot doubt that Congress will agree with me that such a state of things ought not longer be tolerated, and that no class of persons anywhere should be allowed to treat the laws of the United States with open defiance and contempt. Apprehensions are entertained that if Congress adjourns without any action upon this subject, turbulence and disorder will follow, rendering military interference necessary, a result I should greatly deprecate. In view of this and other obvious considerations, I earnestly recommend that Congress, at the present session, pass some act which will enable the District Courts of Utah to proceed with independence and efficiency the administration of law and justice.

U. S. GRANT.

being in salt three to four weeks,
out, wash the pieces clean, dry them, hang for smoking. Three weeks is s cient to cure them thoroughly—by of hickory wood. When smoked, down and bag, or pack away in dry or cut straw. Examine occasion and if found at all damp, renew packing with dry material.

We consider this recipe a good but we would use more salt for quantity of hay.

Of Interest to Farmers, Gardeners,

The amendment to the postal l

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

SATURDAY, Feb. 15.—SENATE.—The Post-office Appropriation bill was reported, with amendments, among which are the following: Prohibiting the transmission of any free matter whatever, not even excepting newspaper exchanges; requiring persons receiving mail by carriers to provide proper boxes at their dwellings to facilitate rapid delivery; authorizing the employment of an additional special agent to detect persons sending obscene matter; striking out the provision requiring railroad companies to make contracts for postal-car service as a condition of receiving increased pay; providing that additional pay may be allowed for daily postal-car service....An ineffectual attempt was made to take up the Two-per-cent. bill....The Naval Appropriation bill was taken up, and the amendment relative to retired naval officers, their pay and employment, was agreed to—yeas, 29; nays, 18. The amendment providing that the act of 1864 shall not retire any officer before the age of 62 was agreed to. ...Sawyer introduced a bill to incorporate the Southern Homestead Emigration Company, giving it power to lease or sell land anywhere in the United States.

HOUSE.—A bill was passed making unlawful any contract with the Indians relative to land or claims entered into prior to the act of May 21, 1872, unless such contract be in writing, and approved by and entered in the Department of the Interior....Willard asked leave to introduce a joint resolution congratulating Spain on the establishment of a Republic. Banks objected, on the ground that it was "a proposition to recognize slavery in the colonies of Spain."....The President's message relating to Utah affairs was received and referred to the Judiciary Committee....A bill was passed removing the political disabilities of ex-Gov. William ("Extra Billy") Smith, of Virginia....The House then resumed consideration of the Geneva Award bill. A long debate ensued, which degenerated finally into a bitter personal wrangle between Kerr, of Indiana, who opposed the bill, and Butler, of Massachusetts, who favored it. The bill was passed—yeas, 122; nays, 57.

MONDAY, Feb. 17.—SENATE.—The majority of the investigating committee in the Caldwell case reported his election as Senator from Kansas invalid....The amendment to the Naval Appropriation bill, giving increased pay to retired officers, was concurred in. The bill was then passed....Morton, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, reported favorably on the resolution to rescind the twenty-second joint rule, which prescribes a method of determining disputes arising during the counting of electoral votes for President and Vice-President....Stewart introduced a bill granting the State of Nevada 1,000,000 acres of public land for common school purposes....Sawyer, from the Committee on Education and Labor, reported adversely to the bills granting lands to aid in establishing public schools in States lately in rebellion, and granting the public lands remaining in Missouri for the benefit of the school fund in that State.

HOUSE.—The bill appropriating $65,000 to reimburse the College of William and Mary, of Virginia, for destruction of property during the war, was passed....An amendment was offered to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill prohibiting the printing of books by Government for free distribution....The American and Asiatic Telegraph bill was passed. It authorizes the America and East India Telegraph Company to lay a submarine cable from the Pacific coast of the United States to the Asiatic coast, and that one or more Government steamers may aid in the work....A substitute for the Agricultural College bill, providing that for every $500 of annual income derived from the benefits of the act there shall be a free scholarship, and that when the income amounts to $50,000 tuition shall be free, was agreed to and the bill passed.

TUESDAY, FEB. 18.—SENATE.—The House bill allowing under the Bankrupt law the exemptions allowed by the laws of each State in 1871 to be valid against debts contracted before the adoption of such law, as well as afterward, was passed....The American and Asiatic Telegraph bill, and the House bill for relief of settlers on the Sioux reservation in Minnesota, were passed....The Vice-President laid before the Senate a petition of Simpson, of counsel in the Pomeroy investigation, asking that the investigation may be extended so as receive the statements of members of the Kansas Legislature now at the capital, to whom money was offered by agents and friends of Pomeroy for voting for him, and after debate a resolution was agreed to directing the special committee to inquire into any allegations of bribery or corruption by Pomeroy in the Kansas Senatorial election.

HOUSE.—The report of the Poland Credit Mobilier Committee was received. It recommends the expulsion of Ames and Brooks, and exonerates the other members named in connection with the Credit Mobilier....The remainder of the session was spent in Committee of the Whole on the Civil Appropriation bill.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 19.—SENATE.—Stewart, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported with amendments the House bill prescribing the general provisions under which persons may incorporate themselves as railroad companies in the Territories and secure the right of way for their roads over the public lands....Corbett, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, reported, without amendment, the House bill authorizing negotiations with the Creek Indians for a cession of part of their reservation. ....Wilson introduced a bill authorizing the President to appoint three Commissioners to revise the Bankrupt law and report amendments thereto....The Two-per-cent. bill was taken up and debated at length without action.

HOUSE.—The bill was passed giving the reporting and printing of the debates to W. J. Murtagh, of the Washington Republican....The following bills were passed: To provide for the inspection of the distributions of the appropriations made by army officers; to extend for one year, till Feb. 1, 1874, the time for filing claims for additional bounty under the act of July 28, 1866; to provide for head-stones in the National Military Cemeteries; to authorize the Secretary of War to ascertain the amount of expense incurred by the Territorial authorities of Dakota in arming, equipping, and supplying the volunteer forces in the Indian war of 1862; providing that no person shall be promoted in the army who is addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors or drugs.

Eighty-five Miles of Solid Ice on Lake Michigan.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin of the 11th has the following: The propeller City of Fremont left for Grand Haven for the third time last night, but was compelled to return after having penetrated the ice belt a distance of only fourteen miles. During the high westerly winds of last week the ice was never at any time out of sight of land. At this point since then it has constantly been added to, so that now it once more fills the bay. In view of all the facts that can be ascertained we have no hesitation in saying that Lake Michigan, at this point, where its width is 85 miles, is now entirely bridged over with ice, varying in thickness from one to twelve feet. Never before within the memory of the oldest living inhabitant has it been known to occur. It will require a high southerly wind of at least a week's duration to break up and drive the formidable belt toward the lower end of the lake, and enable the steamers of the Engleman line to cross. In the meantime the Manistee and Messenger remain in the condition reported last week, off Whitehall, and receiving occasional supplies of food from shore.

ROASTING COFFEE.—In France the roasting of coffee is quite a science, the roaster being required to study the properties of the different kinds of berry, since each sort must be roasted for a certain period of time. The operation is conducted in a hollow iron sphere, by the rotation of which all the berries are equally exposed to heat. During the roasting the ball is closed and the gases confined, but at the close of the operation the valve is opened and the gases allowed to escape. The roasted berries are then quickly transferred to carefully closed vessels.

COMMANDER JAMES W. SHIRK, of the navy, is dead.

"CREDIT MOBILIER."

What is It?—A Short Chapter in its History.

In reply to numerous inquiries, "What is this Credit Mobilier?" we will endeavor to present as briefly as possible a synopsis of its history.

The original "Credit Mobilier" was an organization founded by some of the unscrupulous adherents of the late Napoleon III., for the purpose of making loans on personal as well as real estate. Some of this "movable" property (mobilier) was railroad and commercial enterprises, often in the first stages of existence. There would be the stock of a new enterprise, and the stock of the Credit Mobilier which lent its credit, in the market at the same time. It was credit built upon credit, and built about the wildest era of stock gambling France has ever known.

After this, was patterned the American Credit Mobilier, which had its stock issued on top of a railroad stock; and the exact distinction between the indebtedness and ownership of the railroad and of the Credit Mobilier was in some respects rather a matter of form than of fact. The Credit Mobilier of America bought a loose charter that had been issued to but not used by another company in Pennsylvania. Its stockholders were also the stockholders of the Union Pacific railroad. That railroad company was endowed by act of Congress with twenty alternate sections of land per mile, and had Government loans of $16,000 per mile for about two hundred miles; thence $32,000 per mile through the Alkali Desert, about 600 miles, and thence in the Rocky Mountains, $48,000 per mile. The railroad company issued stock to the extent of about $10,000,000. This stock was received by stockholders on their payment of 5 per cent. of its face. When the Credit Mobilier came on the scene all the assets of the Union Pacific were turned over to the new company in consideration of full paid shares of the new company's stock and its agreement to build the road. The Government meanwhile had allowed its claim for its loan of bonds to become a second instead of a first mortgage, and permitting the Union Pacific road to issue first mortgage bonds, which took precedence as a lien on road. The Government lien thus became almost worthless, as the new mortgage which took precedence amounted to all the value of the road. The proceeds of this extraordinary transaction went to swell the profits of the Credit Mobilier, which had nothing to pay out except for the mere cost of construction. This also explains why some of the dividends of the company were paid in Union Pacific bonds. As a result of these processes, the bonded debts of the railroad exceeded its cost by at least $40,000,000.

It is very easy to see that under these circumstances the stock of the Credit Mobilier was a very handsome investment, provided it could be purchased at par. Here was wherein Oakes Ames was such a profitable friend to Congressmen and Senators. He let them in, as he phrases it, on the ground floor. They got their stock at par, and the dividends which were ready to be paid were more than enough to pay for the stock. This is what is called in Wall street parlance making one hand wash the other. The actual value of the stock thus sold at $100 a share would have been to anybody out of the circle of Oakes Ames' friends not purchasable for less than $300 or $400. But there is a film of decency thrown over the transaction by Mr. Ames, in charging several months' interest upon the stock at the time it was sold to the members of Congress. This interest had accrued while he was holding it to see where it could be placed to the best advantage.

The more recent legislation which Ames' transactions with members of Congress had reference to may be stated in a few words. Secretary Boutwell insisted that half the earnings of the road in carrying mails and troops for the Government should be applied to the payment of interest on the loans that the Government had made to the road. The legislation obtained overruled the Secretary and enabled the road to postpone payment of interest until the bonds fell due—some thirty years hence. To sum up, it may be briefly stated that the Union Pacific and Credit Mobilier together got the proceeds of liberal United States land grants, of donations, of communities near the road, and the entire subsidy of Government bonds, as a clear profit. The proceeds of the mortgage bonds, which displace the Government lien, were sufficient to have built the road. To the original stockholders in the Union Pacific, the profit was something almost incredible. A share bought for $5 subscription became $100 Credit Mobilier, which paid, as we have seen in the evidence concerning the legislators who received it, dividends that amounted to at least treble its nominal value. It is of course evident that all legislation which favored the Union Pacific railroad swelled the profits of the legislators who became stockholders in the Credit Mobilier. The awkwardness of this position was vastly increased by the thin disguise of purchase being torn away, under which the profit-bearing stock had been really the gift of Oakes Ames. The denial of the facts converted the transactions into a criminal act.—Cincinnati Chronicle.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE COMPARED.—From the Boston Post's report of the joint session of the Senate and House to count the electoral vote: "The instant comparison between the personnel of the two houses which followed was greatly in favor of the Senate, the members of which body will average about the medium height and are almost robust in physical development, while the number of bald heads lend an air of dignity to the average Senator that does not belong to the average Representative. The opportunity of seeing such a joint meeting of the two houses occurs but twice in each four years, when, as on the occasion of to-day, the Senate visits the House, and at the inauguration of the President, when both bodies assemble to witness that imposing ceremony. The scene was therefore doubly attractive on account of its grave importance as well as its novelty."

A THIEF was lately caught breaking into a song. He had already got through the first two bars when a policeman came up and hit him with a stave.

Foreign.

THE Russian Ambassador at Paris has only twenty-five servants to wait upon him.

THE London papers testify that spirit rappings were heard at the ceremony of Kate Fox's marriage with Mr. Jenckens.

NEARLY one-fifth of the population of Berlin is composed of paupers regularly inscribed on the public charity list.

ELEVEN new Hungarian banks, it is reported, are to be formed under Government concession, with a capital of $38,000,000.

QUEEN ISABELLA, of Spain, is said to look younger and healthier since she left the country which she governed so miserably. She enjoys Paris and its amusements with undisguised relish.

SINCE the civil-service examinations were introduced into England, giving every one a chance to obtain a position under Government, fully 60 per cent. of the entire appointment, have been taken by Irishmen.

A SPANISH GENTLEMAN frequents the Paris boulevard in thin alpaca clothes and straw hat. He is earning a bet of 50,000 francs to dress that way all winter. He is lucky not to have undertaken it here.

A JAPANESE loan for $10,000,000, just brought out on the London market, has proved a decided success. The subscriptions amounted to five times the amount called for, and the loan is now quoted at 3½ per cent. premium.

THE Princess of Wales sets the fashion of great simplicity in her boys' toilets—her fair, pretty little princes are always costumed with the neatness and quietness which are inseparable from elegance and taste. A bright-colored bow at their necks is the nearest approach to ornament their dresses ever add to their simple toilets for any public appearance.

M. PAUL BERT, the French physiologist, has succeeded in making an artificial pair of Siamese twins by joining two young white rats. He cut away a strip of skin from each, sewed the two together by the edges of the wounds, and nature united them by the healing process. They were not amiable toward each other, therefore he killed both by poisoning one.

THE St. Petersburg Globe says: "Those who believe that the Marchioness de Caux (Adelina Patti) is wealthy, are greatly mistaken. Nearly her whole fortune has been swallowed up by the creditors of her husband, who, when he married the lady, represented himself as a very wealthy man, but who afterward turned out to be little better than a beggar."

A Strange Story of Two Female Misers.

If there is such a thing as "gilded poverty," an exemplification of it was strikingly manifested in Camden, N. J., during the past week. From infancy to the ripe old age of 80 years, two twin sisters, named Grace and Charity Kaighn, have resided in that city. They owned in their own right property said to be worth at least one hundred thousand dollars in very eligible locations, and were possessed of other property of value. Yet these two females (they never married) lived together in almost perfect seclusion, in the most eccentric manner. Their house on Kahn's avenue was always kept closed, and no one admitted except such as came to aid them in their business transactions, and they were few. Their apartments were kept almost as gloomy as prison dungeons, and day after day, week after week, month after month, and year after year, they groped about in the darkness of their own created prison, denying themselves even the comforts and necessaries of life. For many years this was their way of living, and those who knew them best believed that at any time they might be found dead in their house from self-denial and neglect. Some time last summer they purchased a fine new dwelling-house on Market street, above Fourth, and moved into it early in the fall. What articles of furniture they had were set in the parlor, but were never put in their proper places. From that time up to Thursday week they lived in their old way, without comforts or anything that would contribute to comfort. From the Thursday alluded to, nothing had been seen of them, and no noise was made in the house to indicate that they were alive. This created suspicion that something was wrong, and officer Heffinger was instructed to force an entrance. This was accomplished, when he found, to his horror, the most sickening sight he ever met with. The room was bare of furniture, dark and dirty; no fire had been in the stove for three days, and there, on a settee, with nothing over her but an old ragged and dirty quilt, lay Grace Kaighn, cold and stiff in death. Her sister, Charity, was found in a corner of a room, almost doubled up and in a perishing condition. She was immediately taken care of, and under the direction of Dr. Armstrong, the coroner, she is doing well. She did not know that Grace was dead. On a table near by was a loaf of bread and some butter which had not been touched. The coroner took charge of the body, and had it appropriately disposed of. He found some thirteen dollars on the person of deceased, and took possession of such papers and valuables as were found until rightful parties to them appear. Among the papers are several tax bills for real estate, one of which calls for $600, which, at the rate of taxation, $2.30 on the $100, would be for an assessed property of $27,000. This was for one square of ground, facing Broadway, between Line and Pine streets. They owned large amounts of real estate in other parts of Camden. Notwithstanding all this, they were in the most abject state of exposure and destitution.—Germantown (Pa.) Telegraph.

JOHN W. YOUNG, Brigham's most enterprising son, has taken his pick out of his three wives, divorced himself from two, settled annuities upon them, and is soon going to Philadelphia with his last wife, a most accomplished lady, to live there and attend to his father's railroad business, in happiness with the young lady, who was born there, and who is now his sole wife.

CHICAGO had $528,000 worth of fires in 1872.

AUBURN COURIER

T. C. MAYS, Publisher.

The "Dead Secret" and the Dead Colfax.

On Tuesday, Mr. Oakes Ames again appeared before the Poland committee with memory refreshed by his famous memorandum book. The mystery which has surrounded that invisible memorandum book, and which Ames contrived to keep up till the last moments, was revealed, when the book was produced, by showing that Ames' motive for withholding it was to keep private some other matters which it contained. The entries in the book were found to corroborate Ames' testimony as to the moneys paid to the Congressional bribe-takers on account of Credit Mobilier stock in nearly every particular. With respect to the virtuous Colfax, it disclosed a new fact, showing that in addition to the $1,200 which Ames paid him on the 20th of June, 1868, the immaculate Vice-President received another dividend in January, 1869, of the amount of $1,500 in Union Pacific railway bonds. This cumulative proof of Colfax's guilt shows that instead of omitting to state all that could be construed in Colfax's favor Ames had not stated the whole truth against him. This new proof of Colfax's guilt appears to have acted as the last feather, by completely dispelling the hopes of those over-generous souls who had still professed to think that "Schuyler would get out of it."

Then came Schuyler's long promised "vindication." It consisted in a speech, an hour long, in which he told the touching story of his journey in this vale of sin, from the time when he was "born of poor, but honest parents," down to that "happiest moment of his life" when he got the nomination for Vice-President. The story included many tender and affectionate details; exhibited the narrowness of the Colfax family revenues; gave a little picture of their domestic habits and customs; told how the "pride of the family" journeyed across the continent with Deacon Bross, and how he told the story of his perilous wayfarings in a "lecture" to Young Men's Christian associations; exhibited a balance sheet of receipts and expenses on account of that amazing literary performance, and so forth. But where did Schuyler get that $1,200 in currency which he deposited in Jay Cooke's bank forty-eight hours after receiving the check for $1,200 from Oakes Ames? Though he was not perfectly confident, ten days ago, that he did not receive that or any sum of money in the month of June, 1868, from any source,—so confident that he swore upon the holy evangelists in these exact words: "Now I could not have $1,200 added to my income without remembering it very positively,"—yet now he remembers that he did receive some very considerable additions to his income which, ten days ago, he could not have received because he could not remember receiving them! He received $200 from his stepfather, Matthews, on account of a loan he had made that desirable relative. He can't remember the date when he received it, but thinks it must have been some time in the first three weeks of June, 1868. Then, one day, "as nearly as I can fix the date, about the middle of June," something very unusual happened which brought an addition of $1,000 to his income, which addition, ten days ago, he could not remember, and which he "could not have received without remembering it very positively." It is a singular story to be so utterly erased from the memory of a man with a narrow income, and who had just been nominated for Vice-President. The story as told in the words of the man from whose memory, ten days ago, it was wholly absent, is as follows:

"I was opening my letter mail at the breakfast table, in accordance with my usual custom, and found an envelope within another envelope postmarked New York. On opening the inner envelope, I found it contained a letter written by Gov. W. Nesbitt, congratulating me most cordially and warmly on my nomination for the Vice-Presidency, and saying that the writer desired me to use confidentially the remittance inclosed to aid me in the heavy expenses of the canvass, but wished it kept secret, as neither his family nor any one would ever know it unless I told them. Inclosed in this was a greenback, or a national bank note, for $1,000. It was gratifying as it was liberal. Holding up the letter and the bill, I called the attention of all my family to it, and then read them the letter. The fact of sending so large a bill by mail was commented upon, and the magnitude of the gift was discussed, when Matthews remarked that it came in good time for either he or I, referring to the appeal of Connor, Chairman of the Indiana Republican Committee, for money to aid in the arrangement for the canvass, already in active progress. The bill was passed around from hand to hand and examined.

Father-in-law Matthews also remembered this novel addition of $1,000 to Schuyler's income, and all the little minute circumstances—except the date of its receipt. Schuyler (says stepfather Matthews) held up the letter with the $1,000 and said: "A thousand dollars from a gentleman almost a stranger to me!" Then the mother spoke unto her son and said: "Read the letter, Schuyler." But the writer of that mysterious missive, the peculiar Nesbitt, had enjoined upon Schuyler not to disclose the contents thereof, but to keep the matter a profound secret, "as," says Schuyler, "neither his family nor any one would ever know unless I told them." Nevertheless, the secret which the singular Nesbitt had kept from his own family, and which he enjoined Schuyler to keep from all the rest of the world, this "dead secret" Schuyler unhesitatingly proceeded to reveal to his stepfather, his half-sister, his mother, and possibly divers' servants of the breakfast table, who, having eyes, could see that interesting $1,000 bank note, and ears could hear the letter which Schuyler proceeded to read. Nor did Schuyler either immediately forgot the remarkable circumstance, nor pay much regard to the peculiar Nesbitt's injunction of secrecy, for he offered to prove to Mrs. Schuyler that the matter was talked about on their subsequent "journey across the continent." Can it be that Deacon Bross was also taken in as a partner of the "dead secret?"

Now here is a very suspicious co-relation of circumstances. Nesbitt, the man to whom the invention of the "dead secret" is imparted, is himself dead. Did he keep that mysterious gift of a thousand-dollar greenback to Schuyler a secret from all the members of his family? Did he say nothing about it to his cashier? Did he cause it to be charged vaguely to "expense account," under a wrong date, and in a disguised manner? Did he take particular pains to exclude all clue to the fact from every soul but himself? Did he do all these strange things in order that, after he should depart from this world of rascality, and the recipient of his bounty, who was almost a stranger to him," should be caught in the act of corruption and bribe-taking, that forgetful recipient should call back to his treacherous memory the story in its minutest details—except the date—and notify his enemies that the defunct Nesbitt had carefully provided that all evidence of the truth or falsehood of the story, instead of a true one, were a clumsily devised fiction. It is most strange and unbelievable that, after the surprise occasioned by the receipt of a $1,000 bank note from a man who was "almost a stranger to him," who added to the strangeness of his proceeding the injunction of the utmost secrecy, and made it look still more strange by the voluntary information that he had kept it a secret even from his family; and after the incontinent violation of the injunction of secrecy by advertising the fact and reading the letter to his family, and after talking about it on his journey with the good Deacon Bross "across the continent;" it is not only strange but utterly incredible that the whole marvelous occurrence, in general and in detail, after exciting the Colfax mind for the space of two or three months, should then pass totally out of the Colfax memory, insomuch that the Colfax tongue should swear upon the holy evangelists that the man Colfax received no such addition to his income in the month of June, 1868, and would not have received it without remembering it very positively. It is, indeed, quite as strange as that the Colfax memory should be unable to recall the receipt of a Credit Mobilier dividend of $1,200 on the 20th of June, 1868, and a second Credit Mobilier dividend in January, 1869!

So far as it purports to show that the $1,200 in currency which Colfax deposited in Jay Cooke's bank on the 22d of June was not the same $1,200 which was paid by the Sergeant-at-Arms on the 21st of June, upon Oakes Ames' check delivered to Schuyler Colfax on the 20th of June, this romantic yarn is the weakest and silliest invention that the fallen angel of South Bend has yet tried his hand at. What if the story of the "dead secret" of the singular Nesbitt and his gift of $1,000 to aid the Vice-Presidential candidate in corrupting the election in Indiana be true? The story avoids any attempt to be specific as to dates, though marvelously so as to details of no possible importance. The domestic drama of the "dead secret" may have transpired before or after the receipt by Schuyler of his first Credit Mobilier dividedd. And he may have put the mysterious $1,000 bank not in his deposit of $1,300 in July, or he may have transmitted it in a draft to his friend Connor, who was calling for money to help the "cause" of the angelic Schuyler in Indiana. Schuyler has utterly failed to put in a particle of evidence discrediting or even tending to discredit the very positive evidence of his guilt, which was before sufficient to convict him before any honest jury, is rendered still more absolutely conclusive by the discovery that he received a second Credit Mobilier dividend six months after he received the dividend of $1,200.

Colfax, adieu! You whom professional politicians have pointed to as an exemplar of all the virtues; you whom some weak-minded people have deemed an angel, and some sentimental idolators have exalted to the highest niche in the pantheon of modern heathenism; you, sir, have turned out to be a bribe-taker, a perjurer, and a scoundrel. Vale. —Chicago Times.

Severe, but True.

This is the New York World's opinion of a recently-punctured humbug:

"In himself, Mr. Colfax is nothing. A more illustrious embodiment of zero never strutted his brief day in our politics. A smaller bit of bladder was never blown into so big a ball. The memory of Mezzofanti if surcharged with the ins and outs of our public history for the last quarter of a century could not exhume from its remotest labyrinth a single thing this dish of skim-milk has done. No great speech, no sharp saying, no noted bill, no policy, even of a day, ever emanated from Mr. Colfax's tongue or brain."

Peculiar People.

Mr. Brown begins to light his fire according to the almanac instead of the thermometer.

Mr. Jones dare not praise a picture until he knows who painted it.

Mr. Robinson once journeyed to Jerusalem, and can not meet you for five minutes without saying he has done so.

Mr. Fluker never plays a game of billiards with a friend without alleging that he has not touched a cue for upwards of a twelve-month.

Mr. Growler never misses any chance, when the other party is in power, of proclaiming his opinion of the decadence of the republic.

Mr. Tonkins can't enjoy a puppet show because he won't restrain himself from looking at the wires.

Mrs. Fussie keeps an album, pets a pup dog and collects old postage stamps.

Mr. Grabb is always ready to borrow a cigar of you, but never volunteers to lend you one.

Miss Simperton can't travel half a dozen miles without a lady's maid and half a dozen bandboxes.

Mr. Hurry hires a cab to take him to an omnibus.

Mr. Moneybags aspires to be a school trustee, although he calls intelligence "reliable," and peculiar "peeoeliar."

Miss Dawdleton can crochet, knit and tat, but except in great emergencies cannot sew a button on.

The United Presbyterian Church of Edinburgh, Scotland, excommunicated a member and an elder who entertained conscientious scruples against partaking of intoxicating wine at the communion table.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Canada Thistles.

A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer sends to that journal his experience in exterminating Canada thistles. He says:

In some sections of the New England States the thistle grows in all parts of the fields and pastures where a thistle seed can possibly germinate, and a piece of ground can only be tilled a few years at one time before it has to be seeded down to kill the thistles. Not that seeding down will kill them, but by having the land in grass, it gives opportunity to cut the thistles at the right time, which is after the stalk has fully matured, and the circulation of sap ceases, and before the seeds mature. When cut at this time, they need no application of benzine, carbolic acid, salt, or other "doctor stuff," and I would sooner undertake to clear ten acres of land of well developed Canada thistles than six acres of cockle burrs.

Now, a few words about the nature and habits of the thistle. It has a vigorous root that is very tenacious of life and that penetrates to a great depth, sometimes as much as five or six feet, if the subsoil be of loose nature. Now, if a single plant be allowed to grow and mature unmolested there will be no more plants grow from the same root, but if they be cut off while in vigorous growth they will shoot up again, whether they are cut off at the top of the ground or below, so long as an inch of the root is left, unless it be poisoned or pickled to death. This tendency of plants to shoot up after being cut before maturing may be seen in wheat or other grain, by cutting it down before it blossoms, and to undertake to eradicate the Canada thistle by preventing its coming to maturity is as hopeless a task as rolling the stone of Sisphus. The "down East" plan (and some valuable plans come from down East) is to enrich the land till it will raise a thistle big enough to hitch a horse to; then seed down, and mow when they are nearly out of blossom—the nearer the better—and hardly a thistle can be found after the second year. Now this same treatment will no doubt kill the "pesky thistle" in Illinois or anywhere else, and they need not be a source of alarm and terror when properly treated.

Bargains with Hired Men.

A correspondent of the Canada Farmer writes: The great difficulty with all farm help is in the "chores." He considers that if he works well and faithfully during working hours, he ought not to be asked to do chores evenings, mornings and Sunday. Now all necessary trouble of this kind is readily avoided by making a clear agreement with hiring—embracing all that is required of the man to do, and if he does not like to under these circumstances, he can leave it alone. There is no compulsion to accept any employer's service when such terms as are beforehand stated are disagreeable to the man. Many years since, when engaged in some engineering jobs, I had the hiring and control of great bodies of men, some of them the roughest characters. But I always managed to agree with them and always avoided disputes, my aim being to be strictly just, and above all things to have a perfectly clear agreement in the first instance, and consequently no one ever grumbled or complained. One agreement I always made with every one—that if he got drunk or misbehaved, and thereby required some punishment, I was at liberty to sav to him that he should knock off work for a day or two, and if he boarded, he charged for his board. All agreed to this readily, and and it acted as a salutary check on drunkenness, fighting and quarreling.

Crop Estimates.

A correspondent of the Western Farmer speaks as follows of the idea of the Agricultural Department deriving its crop reports from travelers on railroad trains: "The man who collects correct as well as general information, while traveling, is the man who keeps his ears as well as his eyes open. And a traveler will often learn more of the true state and condition of the crops in a section by conversing a very brief time thereon with some of the most observing and intelligent of that section, than he could by simply riding days through said section. It is not always the farmer with which he needs to talk to get the most reliable information, but more often will he get it from some of the country merchants or grain buyers, or agricultural implement dealers. It would seem the height of folly for the Agricultural Department to undertake to procure its information on which to base its estimates in any other way than through the actual settlers and residents."

Curing Hams.

Charles Joseph furnishes the Maryland Agricultural Society the following recipe:

Two and a half pounds of saltpeter, dried and finely powdered, one-half bushel of Liverpool salt, three pounds of brown sugar, and one-half gallon of molasses. Mix in a vessel, rub the meat with the same, and pack with skin down.

The above is the amount required for one thousand pounds of pork. After being in salt three to four weeks, take out, wash the pieces clean, dry them, and hang for smoking. Three weeks is sufficient to cure them thoroughly—by fire of hickory wood. When smoked, take down and bag, or pack away in dry chaff or cut straw. Examine occasionally, and if found at all damp, renew the packing with dry material.

We consider this recipe a good one, but we would use more salt for the quantity of hay.

Of Interest to Farmers, Gardeners, Etc.

The amendment to the postal laws, whereby seeds, bulbs, roots and scions are classed the same as printed matter for transmission through the mails, ought to be made known as widely as possible. By this amendment all these things will be sent through the mails for one cent for each half ounce of weight, but the weight of each package is limited to four pounds. This law affords an unusual opportunity to farmers and others to supply themselves with all sorts of rare seeds, plants, etc., and we hope to hear our readers have availed themselves of it. The nurserymen, horticulturists and seedmen will be glad to have this law passed, and more so to find that its passage will be appreciated by those for whose benefit it was intended.

Rose-Bushes.

Insects of various kinds mutilate and destroy the leaves of rose-bushes and other garden shrubs. A member of the Illinois State Horticultural Society, at the last session, stated that a strong tea made from quassia bark and sprinkled on the leaves would effectually drive them away. No statement was made as to the frequence of the application, but this can be determined by careful experiment. Rose hedges are coming into use as screens and can be made very beautiful. Strong growers and profuse bloomers are used, and when desirable to have the hedge of a certain height this can be done by using trellises.

To Hull Corn.

Take one quart of strong lye, prepared by pouring warm water upon a peck or more of ashes; add two quarts of boiling water to it, and put in the corn. Let it boil until the hulls begin to start, which you can determine by taking out a few kernels and washing them in cold water. Skim out all the corn; rinse in two or three waters; put it into cold water, and let it boil up; turn off that water, so as to extract all the lye; fill up with boiling water, and cook for four hours slowly; add salt to your taste; let it boil half hour or more, and serve. It must cook a great while to be palatable.

Value of Leaves.

Some gardeners and agricultural writers lay much stress on the value of forest leaves as a fertilizer. Dr. Nichols, of the Boston Journal of Chemistry, says that reckoning good stable manure at $8 a cord, a cord of dried leaves (about one hundred bushels he makes it) is worth about 50 cents. They are of some value as an absorbent in stables, but less so than straw, as they "lack its ready character, and decompose far more slowly." This will doubtless surprise some readers, but it is probably correct.

Knots on Plum Trees.

A correspondent of the Farmers' Club, New York, says that for removing knots from plum trees, he takes a paint-brush, dips it in spirits of turpentine, and thoroughly saturates the knot, being careful not to touch the tree except in the diseased parts. The turpentine kills the excrescence, and the tree puts out healthy branches below. He burns all branches of diseased trees which he has removed in pruning.

The Cheap Postage Bill.

The lower house of Congress has passed the Cheap Postage bill reported not long ago from the Postoffice Committee. The bill reduces letter postage to two cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof, declares magazine and newspaper manuscripts to belong to the third class of mailable matter, fixes the postage on daily newspapers at fifteen cents per quarter, and requires prepayment of postage on all printed matter, or mailable matter, of the second class, except on weekly newspapers within the counties where they are printed or published, which will pass through the mails free, as heretofore. As it originally came from the committee, the bill restricted the newspaper franking privilege to "weekly newspapers with the respective counties where the same are actually and wholly printed and published." The words "actually and wholly" which would seem to have been inserted for the purpose of discriminating against those weeklies which are printed partly in the cities by "auxiliary" establishments, and partly at the place of publication, were very properly stricken out. Country publishers who print their newspapers "actually and wholly," in their own offices have a right to their own opinion of "country insides," or "country outsides," of course, but Congress has no right to force their opinion down other people's throats. If people choose to subscribe and pay for papers printed on the auxiliary plan, they have a perfect right to do so, and publishers have a perfect right to supply the demand for papers of this description. It is not for Congress to inquire of publishers where they have their printing done. They may have it done in their garrets, or in their cellars, or they may pay others for doing it a thousand miles away, if they please. Congress has nothing to do with the business.—Chicago Times.

Our Chicago contemporary takes a correct and sensible view of this matter. He might have gone a step further, however, and added that it was a bit of impertinence, to say the least, on the part of certain members of Congress to attempt to defile our national statute books with such a manifestly unjust piece of class legislation—a piece of legislation more in keeping with the barbarism of the dark ages than with the liberal and enlightened sentiment of the present century. It is a matter with which Congress nor any other legislative body has, no sort of concern, and in meddling with which they are stepping wholly beyond the pale of their legal prerogative. If Congress possesses the legal right to dictate to the publisher the mode, manner and place for the execution of the mechanical work of his paper, it possesses an equal right to enact that he shall use straw paper instead of rag paper; that he shall use large type instead of small type; that he shall use a bad quality of ink instead of a good quality; that he shall use a hand press instead of a steam press; and altogether, that he shall furnish his patrons with an inferior paper, instead of a good, readable sheet. For, in reality, the outrageous discrimination attempted would have amounted to this, and nothing less.

Wooden Railroads.

The wooden railroads in the vicinity of Quebec are attracting considerable attention. It appears that there are now 100 miles in operation. The gauge is 4 feet 8½ inches. The running time is 16 miles per hour, but trains have been run at the rate of 35 miles per hour. The rails are made of maple, 4x7 inches, set up edgewise, and notched into the cross-ties four inches deep, and held by two wedges down in the notch on the outside of the rail. The ties are eight inches thick, and laid 20 inches apart. The cars have four wheels, and some of the engines weigh 50 tons. In frosty weather the driving wheels have less adhesion than on metal rails, but no considerable difficulty is experienced from this cause. The rails will last from two to five years, according to the quality of the timber and the amount of traffic. The cost of the road is from $4,000 to $7,000 per mile. They seem to be very well adapted for light traffic, and as soon as the business of the lines requires it, metal rails may be substituted for wood, without any change in the equipments.

An American is going to blow the cataracts out of the Nile and make it navigable for ducks clear up to Ujiji.

A Strange Story.

The Amherst Student contains a letter from Prof. J. H. Seelye, dated Allahabad, India, Nov. 25, 1872, detailing a strange fact which came under his observation in his recent travels. The Professor's story recalls the tradition in regard to the infancy of Romulus and Remus, and suggests that Darwin's theory of the descent of man may be superseded by another, taking the ground that the lower creation is man's descendant rather than his ancestor. The letter is as follows:

Not far from Agra, in Northern India, is a mission station in the Church Missionary Society, connected with which is an orphanage with several hundred children, now under the efficient care of the Rev. E. G. Erhardt. The region around is infested with wolves, by which, every year, numbers of children are carried off and devoured. But in two instances, at least, instead of being killed and eaten, the children have been kept alive and nourished with, if not by, these beasts. Whether the story of Romulus and Remus be a myth or not, this is an actual reality, for the children themselves have been captured from among the wolves and brought to the orphanage above mentioned. They were both boys, and apparently of some seven or eight years of age when taken. They were found at different times, the last one in March of the present year. Some hunters, smoking wolves out of a cave, were startled when the wolves appeared by the appearance among them of a creature looking strangely human, but running rapidly on all fours, like the wolves, though not so rapidly as they. He was caught with difficulty, and there was no mistaking that he was a child of human parentage, but with the habits and actions and appetites of a wild beast. The hunters brought him to the orphanage, where he was received and cared for. Though his physical form and features were sufficient to show that he was a Hindoo child, there were no other indications about him of anything human. In all other respects, in the language of Mr. Erhardt, "a perfect animal." He had no speech but a whine. He would wear no clothes, tearing from him everything of the sort, whenever put on. He would eat nothing but raw flesh, and when he drank he lapped the water with his tongue. Left to himself he would hide in some dark spot during the day, from which he would come out at night, and prowl about the inclosure, picking up bones if any were to be found, and ravenously gnawing them. It at first seemed impossible for him to walk erect, but after much difficulty he was taught to do so, and also to use a fork and spoon, and to drink like a human being. Though treated with the utmost care and with great patience and kindness by the Christian hands and hearts which received him, he pined away and died, after he had been in the orphanage a little over four months. In all this time he could not be made to utter a word; he was never seen to smile nor show any signs of joy or shame or gratitude. But Mr. Erhardt, who gave me this account, assured me his face looked more intelligent than the average of Hindoo children, and that his color and features indicated that his parentage must have been in a family of high caste.

The other boy I myself saw a few days since at the orphanage, where he was brought about six years ago, having been then captured much as was the first mentioned boy, and having shown precisely the same habits as belonged to him. He has not yet spoken a word, but has exchanged the whine, which was at first his only utterance, for sounds of pleasure and apparently also of gratitude. He no longer prefers raw flesh for food, but eats bread and fruit with ravenous avidity. He walks erect, but with a strangely awkward gait, throwing out his hands with every step. His hands are perfectly formed, but he uses them awkwardly. A piece of bread tossed to him from a little distance, which he was eager to get, he could not catch, but let it fall clumsily to the ground. He wears clothes, to which he was at first averse as the other boy. His forehead is low, but his face would hardly be called dull, and certainly not idiotic. His eyes have a wild and restless, but not an inquiring look. His jaws are not protruding, and his teeth are well formed and thoroughly human. On his left cheek are scars bearing plainly the marks of teeth, where he must have been fearfully bitten. He has been taught to do some kinds of work, but not faithfully. He seems to have lost all desire to escape; he mingles freely with the other children, among whom he has favorites. When the boy first mentioned was brought to the orphanage, this one was made to understand that he must teach the other how to eat and drink and walk, and much of the improvement in the younger one, in these respects, seemed due to the other one. The inference from these extraordinary instances is strangely at variance with many affirmations now current. It does not point in the least to man's derivation from the lower creation, but exactly to the reverse. If we only look accurately and think closely we shall find much more evidence, both in nature and in history, that the lower creation is man's descendant rather than his ancestor.

A Japanese Fair.—The city of Hiogo, in Japan, is second in size in that country, and contains about 2,000,000 of inhabitants. Up to within a few months ago no Europeans or Americans were permitted to enter this city, but at last the Mikado issued a decree opening the city to the world, and now Hiogo, like the rest of Japan, is making wonderful strides toward our civilization. Soon after the decree was issued, the Government decided upon holding a grand industrial fair and exposition. At first it was intended that only articles of Japanese manufacture should be placed on exhibition, but, after consulting with the highest officials, it was decided to send an invitation to other regions of the world to send articles, but, in consequence of the delay in arriving at this conclusion, it is probable that only the Pacific coast States will be represented at the Hiogo fair.

Capt. Danebrog, of the Belgian General Staff, has written a pamphlet showing that in the event of a war between France and Germany, Belgium will be the battle-field, unless her system of frontier defense be strengthened.

Bill Arp on a Bust-le.

See here, Mark Antony—if I was you I wouldn't take on so about the fashuns. They don't bother me. It's none of your business what the women put on or put off, so they behave themselves and look just as purty as they can. They are a heap better than you or me, whether they behave or not. I wouldn't give one woman for several men, no time—would you? Now, see him smile and pat that off foot. If women want to wear bussels, let 'em wear 'em. I thought that pancers was the best because they stuck out sideways and wasn't in the way of leanin back when they sat down, but they know which is the best side to stick out on, and its nobody's business but their's. They may wear anything they want to, bustles, and hoops and hangovers, and convexes and collapses, and whimadiddles and stickouts, comedowns and anything else, so there is a woman hid away somewhere inside of it all. It's all sham, that rubber bussel; there ain't no substance nor backbone in it. I've seen 'em flat and seen 'em blowed up. There ain't no harm in them, but I never see one on a woman that I don't want to hit it just hard enough to make it pop. I golly! wouldn't she jump high and holler? But I'm not a going to do it, no, sir; I've too much respect for woman.

Their bussels don't hurt nobody, and I do despise to see a man always picking at woman's close. If they dident wear something to disguise 'em the men would quit business when they come about. Purty women always did wear something to skeer the men away. It's been so forever. During the war I seed one who jest dressed as natural as life without any paddin or stuffin, and when she cum along the boys jest laid down and rolled over and hollered. They wernt fit for business for a week. But I couldent bear to see 'em go with their faces all tied up like they do in Turkey. That would mighty nigh kill me. If I can look into their blessed countenances I can put up with their fore riggin and hind riggin and top riggin and all. And a good, sweet, purty face speaks for all the balance of the craft. I wouldn't marry nary girl on the earth till I see her face, and not then if she dident suit me. If the eyes, nose and mouth are all right, nature is an endorser for all the balance. Paint ain't nothing—shape is everything.

They can't paint a shape nor a glance of the eye. You may paint a house ever so white, but that don't signify what's inside of it. But when you see bright roses and posies and blossoms in the front yard and over the door, and clean, clear winder glass a shining, you may bet your life on the balance. You needent worry about the bussel nor the back. Women have been doing that way ever since old Solomon wrote about 'em. If they do lean a little as they go, it's all right. They can straighten up when it is necessary. No spinal disease about that. Thems the very sort what can lift two bushels of meal without crackin a bone. Its only a passing fashun—and will last till something else comes along. Nature made 'em that way, and you can't change it. The more you abuse their bussels, the more they'll stick 'em at you—so let 'em alone, I say. They are the same about fashuns, and the last one would put 'em on if they had their own way and plenty of money. I wish I was jest rich enuf to give every lady in the land a string of diamonds and a hat full of pearls. Good gracious! how quick that Methodist dissiplin would be busted on the jewelry business. Well I do like to see 'em look purty, and so far as I am concerned, if ribbons and flowers and flounces and furs will help to do it, its all right. Some of the birds are dressed up mighty fine, and I reckon their pride aint much of a sin after all. But understand me, Mark, I don't hanker after bussels, though they do say it makes the nicest little shelf for the arm to rest on in the world, when a feller is dancing around with his gal. That's all right, provided the feller aint a dancing with my gal. If he is, why he may take her and keep her, that's all.

Bill Arp.

Automatic Telegraphy.

A New York dispatch says: Mr. D. H. Craig announces that a new system of automatic telegraphy, on which he has been engaged for several years, is finished and in practical operation. By this system, it is claimed that it is entirely feasible to telegraph and receive in clear, distinct characters fifteen hundred words per minute between Washington and New York, and that by the use of a certain kind of automatic repeater, messages can be sent any number of thousand miles at the rate of six hundred works per minute. The matter to be sent by this new system is prepared by means of perforating machines, the use of which can easily be learned by any person of ordinary intelligence in ten days' time. These perforating machines can turn out the messages ready for automatic transmission at the rate of from 100 to 150 words a minute.

New Field of Labor for Women.

The Prussian Government has set the example of opening new fields of labor to women by permitting their employment in the railway lines of the State. In case the women employed belong to the families of railway officials, the latter are to be held responsible; but unmarried women or widows may be employed on their own responsibility. The work which they are to do is ticket-selling, receipting for baggage, and operating the telegraph. The rate of wages is fixed at from fifteen thalers a month up to the minimum of the earnings of male officials of the same class. This, of course, is a practical recognition of a distinction between the values of male and female employes to the detriment of the latter; but it is a movement in the right direction. Prices will be eventually regulated according to supply and demand.

The presence of mind of some men is most remarkable. Now there is that man who dined at an Atlanta hotel, recently. He mistook the horseradish for some other toothsome dish, and plunged into it with an avidity cheerful to behold. After having appropriated a spoonful to his own use, he suddenly paused, and seemed to be deliberating profoundly upon some subject or other. Then he gave a snort, and remarked, in a sort of intense manner: "Blaze, d—n you." Few men would have had the presence of mind to make that speech.

Two Valid Objections.

The South Bend Union, edited by a lawyer of sound judgmend points out two provisions in the new temperance bill, that are manifestly unjust, and would not be enforced if enacted.—These, according to that newspaper, are:

First the requirements that the applicant shall obtain the signatures of a majority of the voters of his precinct would in most cases simply amount to prohibitory law, and would result in the general selling of liquor without license, by irresponsible parties as is the case now, under the prohibitary system in Michigan. Second the attempt to hold the latter of the building responsible, in danages for the personal violation of the law by his lesse, and also liable for the damages, resulting from the acts of other parties who may have drank liquor in his house, is at once contrary to the principle of justice, and to the long established rules of law. The attempt will fail if tried, and we hope the law will not be weighted down with these worse than useless provisions.

The Chicago Tribune says: "More Pomeroyism in Alabamy! Mr. Grant's Postmaster in Mobile, a person of the name of Moulton, is now discovered to have purchased the office for the sum of $6,000, "placed where it would do the most good," in the hands of Congressmen and others, having the ears of the President, and influence with Senators. And worse still, the $6,000 was raised be the virtuous Moulton, by hypothecating $10,000 worth of postage stamps—Moulton being at that time in posession of the office. The compensation of the Postmaster at Mobile is limited by law to $4,000 a year yet such are the conveniences for official stealing by federal office-holders in the "reconstructed" states that this patriotic Republican party rogue could afford to pay $6,000 for the appointment. He is one of the interesting pets of the interesting Senator Spencer who is a compacriot of Pomeroy, Harlan, Caldwell and Patterson, in his mode of getting office. A question upon which public curiosity is getting somewhat excited is this: How many Republican party "leaders" and "representative men," and "states men" are there left, of whom it may be said, they are probably free from bribery, theft, purjury, or some other form of crime.

Down Stairs Society on the Half Shell.

[AFTER THE WASHINGTON STYLE]

We present below a few society notes fresh from the Capitol, and pen of an impecuniour reporter, whose good clothes not having arrived the same time he did, necessitated his mingling with the skim-milk, rather than the creme de la creme, of Washington society.

Mr. Alex H. will receive in jail for the next thirty days owing to his lack of judgement in entering a hen-roost that contained watch dogs.

Miss Bella R. will not appear in society again, until the character of the cutaneous eruption on her lovely countenanse are fully determined.

During the absence of Rear Admiral B——'s family from the city of his accomplished scullions, the Misses Snickerfritz will give nightly kitchen sories to their large circle of friends.

Miss Cathloe Spelter and Jacob Eye skeyspiel will be married next week, or sooner, if the police can lay their hands on the recaltricant Jacob long enough to bring him to the scratch.—No cards allowed.

Miss Emma B., who has been suffering with a fish bone in her throat for the last several weeks, has so far recovered as to tend the charming mackeral lunches furnished by Mrs. K. every Monday.

Mrs. Blissful, wife of the first assistant in the blue ruin jerker in the——saleon, will not receive this week, owing to an incident in the family, she having swallowed her knife while eating pie at Mrs. H——s' levee and soiree sandwich.

The Hon. Billiam Rusty who recently resigned the position of secretary, in the interior of a ten cent slam shop, on "H" street, contemplates a water trip early in the spring, on the canal and will spend the summer in Hoboken N. J.

The Gentleman who picked up a pair of ladies' upper teeth, at the reception of speaker B——, last Friday evening, is requested to leave them at No——Penn Avenue, as he is known no questions will be asked by the looser—until she gets her teeth in once more.

Our reporter returns thanks to the charming Mrs. B., and her charming daughter for allowing him to stand behind the dining room door, and catch a little gossip, and afterward giving him lief to clean off the lunch table after the reception.

The large and elegant Smithers mansion on S street, was last evening the scene of a very brilliant entertainment, at which a large and very select company were present, who would have enjoyed themselves very well until daylight, if one of the guests had not picked a quarrel with a life size bronze of Sir Walter Scott because the latter would not take off his hat.

The Price of Type.]

Messrs. Geo. P. Rowel & Co., announce that they have in their warehouse in New York, an assortment of type from the most celebrated foundaries in the world. That of Figgins, London England, which they will sell at 20 per cent discount from the American scale, when ordered in fonts of 100 bounds and upwards. They also offer to import large fonts on special orders at a greater discount from the American scale, and profess to be able to fill the largest order in eight weeks from date of its receipt in New York. They supply sorts in large or small quantities, from their large stock on hand in New York, at the American scale rates. They assert that if the present duty on type should be removed the price of the article, both at home and foreign manufacture, will immediately fall 40 per cent lower than the present scale. Messrs. Jeo. P. Rowel & Co, are known as conducting the largest advertising business ever secured by one house, and are also extensive dealers in printing material. They are compelled to import foreign goods, because American founders governed by a corporation or ring, keep the price vastly too high, and at the same time make it an exception to every other species of merchandise, by recognizing no wholesale prices; the same amount is charged per pound to the purchaser of five thousand pounds as would be paid by him who wants 50.

A Philadelphia editor perpetrated the following the other day and as it is the first approach to a humorous article that has appeared in the papers of that city for ninety years, the unfortunate man lost more than half of his subscribers before the close of the week.

"We owe our thanks to Judge Kelley for the latest patent office reports. We already have sixteen hundred of these interesting volumes in our little library, but they have been read and re-read so many times that we know every page of them by heart. This volume came opportunely and gratefully on Christmas morning, and that evening we gathered our little family around the fire and read it through to them. The affecting tale of 'Improvements in Monkey Wrenches,' seemed to touch every heart, and when we came to the climax, of the little story about "Reversible Pieboards," there was not a dry eye between the front door and the stable. During the reading of the piteous narrative entitled "Gum Washers for Carriage Axles," the whole family gave expression to boisterous emotion, and the hired girl was so excited that she lost her presence of mind, and went around to her mother's inadvertently with six pounds of sugar, and a bucket full of flour, and returned home at midnight intoxicated. We can never sufficiently thank Judge Kelley for the innocent enjoyment thus furnished us. The memory of that happy evening will linger on our minds much longer than that hired girl ever lingers, when she lights upon a lot of substance which she thinks will suit the constitution of her aged parent.

The State Legislature.

Nothing of importance has been accomplished by the Legislature during the last week. The temperance bill passed the House, with some amendments, but whether it will pass the Senate is uncertain.

The divorce bill is quietly hidden away, in the recess of some committee room.

The judiciary reform bill has developed a great loby position from the Common Pleas Judges and their friends, who don't want to be legislated out of office.

The proposition to compel railroads to charge uniform rates hang fires and there seems to be a general stagnation in Legislative business. Some people are so uncharitable as to intimate that all the "hard work" of the Legislature was all accomplished when their own salary was raised, and that now they are taking it easy on "$8 per day, and roast beef."

We believe however the bill to correct the nuisance of professional jurors has passed both Houses, and the prospects looks fair for some beneficial legislation to be accomplished yet, before the expiration of another term

The senate concurrent resolutions in regard to sending specimens of Indiana mineral and agricultural products to Vienna, Exposition were concurred in by the House.

The bill to repeal the act for the protection of fish was indefinitely postponed

The whole afternoon of last Thursday was spent to change the time of holding courts in the Second District and that all senators who are absent, with or without leave, except in case of sickness, shall forfeit their per diem while absent, and to limit the time for speeches to five minutes hearafter.—The first two propositions were lost the act was carried.

THE

New York Store!

s Un til Fteb: .

ROOT & Co.,

Will offer the entire balanceof their large Wholesale and Retail Stock of

DRY GOODS!

—AT A—

Great Reduction 1

In Price.

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

EXAMINE!

Reduced Prices
On balance of fine Furs.
Reduced Prices
On balance of our Cloaks
Reduced Prices
On Winter shawls and Scarfs
Reduced Prices
On black and colored dress silks
Reduced Prices
On rich winter dress goods
Reduced Prices
On medium price dress goods.
Reduced Prices
On Scotch plaid dress goods
Reduced Prices
On hoods, Nubias and scarfs
Reduced Prices
On Blankets and flannels
Reduced Prices
On winter hosiery and underwear
Reduced Prices
On fine woolen SKIRTS

Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,
Reduced prices until Feb. 1st,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

Now is the time for close buyers to take advantage of the situation, and

Secure a Bargain!

ROOT & CO's

Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE. IND.

Pianos AND ORGANS

WATCHES and JEWELRY!

Silver and Plated Ware,

Spectacles and gold pens.
Table and Pocket Cutlery,
Solid Gold, Enameled & plated

JEWELRY

Fancy Toilet Sets,,
Opera guard & vest chains,

—AT—

ABRIGHT and SHEPHERD'S!

Also a full line of toys for

THE HOLIDAYS!

CLOCKS

Of every style, Violin, Guitar & Bass Viol Strings,

Piano, Organ,

and all kinds of Instruction Books!

Watches & Clocks,

Abright & Shepherd

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE, ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

etaied AT Wholesale Price s

For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

PIONEER

STROE!

HARDWARE!

FOR EVERYBODY.

Reapers & Mowers

FOR EVERYBODY!

PLOWS

FOR EVERYBODY!

STOVES

FOR EVERYBODY!

Building Material for Everybody!

Go to

JOHN L. DAVIS,

NI THE BRICK BLOCK.

Examiner's Notice.

EXAMINATIONS will be held regularly from August 15, 1870, as follows:

AT WATERLOO.

In the High School Building, on the LAST SATURDAY of each month throughout the year.

AT AUBURN.

The FIRST SATURDAY of September, October November, March, April, and May. Examinations to commence at 10'clock a. m. Teachers must come prepared for exmination in all the branches required by law, as no special License can be given Satisfactory evidence of goodmoral character required in all cases. Trustees should see that Tachers do not commence their school without license.

J. A. BARNS, Exam'r

McDOUGAL'S

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

Beyond the Mississippi.

Thousands have already gone, and thousands more are turning their eyes towards new homes in the fertile West. To those going to Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route, via St. Louis over the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which runs its fine Day Coaches and Pullman Sleepers from St. Louis to principal points in the West, without change. We believe that the Missouri Pacific Railroad has the best track and the finest and safest equipment of any line west of the Missippi, and its connections with roads further West are prompt and reliable. The Texas connection of this road is now completed and passengers are offered a first class, all rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. via Sedalia, or over the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. via Vinita. For maps time tables, information as to rates, &c., we refer our readers to S. H. Thompson, Eastern Passenger Agent, Columbus, Ohio, or E. A. Ford, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

Emigration Turning.

Cheap Farms in South-west Missouri.

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers 1,200 000 acres of land in Central and South-west Missouri, at from $3 to $12 per acre, on seven years time, with free transportation from St. Louis to all Climate, soil, timber, mineral wealth, schools, churches and law-abiding society invite emigrants from all points to this land of fruits and flowers. For particulars address A. Tuck, Land Commissioner, St. Louis, Mo.

DRY GOODS

GO. DeWALD & CO.

WHEN LOOKING FOR BARGAINS

—IN—

Dry Goods or Notions,

CALL AT THE STORE OF

Geo. DeWald & Co..

No. 107 Columbia St., Ft, WYNE,

Where can be found a large assortment of

STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS

which will be sold LOW for cash.

ASK FOR THE "HATTIE" CORSET

The best thing in the market, is made glove fitting, and of the best material, and in order to introduce, we are offering

ONE DOLLAR

THIS IS A BARGAIN!!

WISHART

PINE TREE!

Tar Cordial,

NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY

FOR

Throat and Lungs.

☞ ☞ ☞

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lungs diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the States actually benefited and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.

NOTICE

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

GREAT American Dyspepsia PILLS.

—AND—

Worm Sugar Drops!

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of cheap and impure articles.

HENRY R. WISHART
Proprietor.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Dr. Q. C. Wishart's office Parlors are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for consultation by Dr. Wm. T. Magee. With him are associated two consulting physicians of acknowledged ability. This opportunity is not offered by any other institution in the city.

All letters must be addressed to

☞ ☞ ☞ ☞

L. Q. C. Wishart, M.D

No. 232 N. SECOND STREET.

PHILADELPHIA.

Best Thing in the West

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R-

Lands

THREE MILLION ACRES

Situated in and near the Arkansas Valley, the Finest Portion of Kansas!

Eleven years' Credit, Seven per Cent, Interest. 22½ per cent. reduction to setlers who improve.

A FREE PASS TO BUYERS.

THE FACTS about this Grant are—Low Prices, Long Credit, and a Rebate to settlers of nearly one fourth; a Rich Soil and Splendid Climate; short and mild Winters; early planting, and no wintering of stock; plenty of Rainfall, and just at the right season: Coal, Stone and Brich on the line; Cheap Rates on Lumber, Coal, &c.; no lands owned by Speculators; Homestead and Pre-emptions now abundant; a first-class Railroad on the line of a great Through Route; Products will pay for Land and Improvements.

It is the best opportunity ever offered to the public, through the recent completion of the Road. For Circulars and general information, address

A. E. TOUZALIN, Manager Land Dep't.
TOPEKA, KAN

THE ECONOMICAL MUTUAL!

LIFE

Insurance Company,

OF

Providence, Rhode Island!

Offers inducements to those contemplating Insurance upon their lives, presented by no other Institution doing business in the State. It is practically a

Home Company!

Inasmuch as the

ENTRE NET RECEIPTS!

Of Indiana are loaned within the limits of the State thereby aiding in the development of every sound enterprise.

The principal office of the Indiana Department is located in

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Where application for Loans, Agencies and Insurance will receive prompt attention.

Hon. ROBERT LOWRY, Pres.
Hon. Wm. B. WALTER, Sec.
L. C. LOUGHLIN, Gen'l Agt.
Sept. 5, '72.

J. FLEDDERMAN

No 27, East Main Street,

FORT WAYNE IND

as the largest and finest stock of

CLOTHS,

Coatings, Cheviots, and

CASSIMERES!

IN FORT WAYNE. The finest line of

Made up Clothing!

ever shown in Fort Wayne

Youths' and Children's Clothing!

Furnishing Goods, etc

Merchant Tailoring

In all the late styles properly attended to [illegible]

ORGANS.

—o—

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is prepared to furnish Organs at prices that defy competition, I make the

ESTEY and PACKARD ORGAN

a specialty, having secured the exclusive control of the sale of these two Organs, in DeKalb county. Satisfaction guaranteed both in price and instruments.

Parties desirous of purchasing Organs will find greatly to their advantage to give me a call before ordering elsewhere.

For the present and until farther notice can be found at Godorn's Gallery.

GEO. H. HOFFMAN.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 28, 1872.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER

DOORS, BLINDS

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Ballusters and Brackets

North of Canal West of Gas House,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Frank Streby

SHOEMAKER,

Auburn, Indiana.

Having just opened a shop on Jackson Street opposite Swinefords hotel, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public to all work in his line.—Call and see.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMORATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 3. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, March 6, 1873. No. 10.

Auburn Courier;

Published Every Thursday By

THOMAS C. MAYS

Editor and Proprietor.

Office on Seventh Street, Opposite the Court House.

TERMS:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 00
Three Months	50

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	1m.	3m.	6m.	1 y.
One Square	2 50	5 00	7 00	12 00
¼ Column	6 00	12 00	18 00	30 00
½ Column	10 00	18 00	30 00	50 00
1 Column	15 00	30 00	50 00	100 00

Local Notices 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each insertion thereafter. Business Crad 6 dollars.

Business Cards.

J. J. LITTLEFIELD, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon, Office over Case's Store, Auburn, Indiana.

PENFIELD & MOODY

Attorneys at Law, Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

G. W. GORDON,

Photographic Artist, Office opposite Court House: Auburn, Ind.

Br. D. B. Roether, M. D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, New Era, Indiana, office at his residence.

Dr. J. B. Casebeer.

Physician and Surgeon, Auburn, Indiana, Office, first door to the right, Union Hall, over Hare's shoe store.

JAMES E. ROSE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana.

LOUIS NEWBERGER,

Attorney at Law, Case's Block, 34 East Berry St., Fort Wayne, Ind. Will practice in Allen and adjoining counties.

J. W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public. Auburn, Ind. Office in the Court House.

Woodhull & Croxton

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Angola, Indiana. Practice in Steuben and DeKalb Counties.

A. F. PINCHIN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and Notary Public, Butler, DeKalb co., Ind. Insurance and Real Estate business promptly attended to.

D. E. MASON, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON, Sedan, Ind. I am giving special attention to the treatment of Asthma, Nasal Catarrh, chronic and acute Sore Throat and Ulcers.

HENRY C. PETERSON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, and Notary Public. Office in the Court House, Auburn, Indiana.

LENT'S HOTEL.

WATERLOO. J. W. HEBOUER, Proprietor. This house has been refitted, having fine Sample rooms for Agents at all times.

AMERICAN HOUSE,

FORT WAYNE, R. L. SCHNEIDERS, Prop. 124, 125 and 126 Columbia street. Good sample rooms on first floor.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. R. G. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description. Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

GEO. W. LOAG. J. D. BROWN.

LOAG & BROWN

DENTISTS.

Over the Palace of Fashion,

Keyse eBlock,

STEEL RAIL! DOUBLE TRACK

BALTIMORE & OHIO R. R.

Is the only route by which holders of through tickets to N. Y. and Boston are enabled to visit the cities of

BALTIMORE, PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK & BOSTON.

At the cost of a ticket to N. Y. or Boston only, with the privilege of visiting WASHINGTON CITY FREE. Is the only route from the west to Washington city, with a omnibus transfer through Baltimore. The only line running magnificient day cars, and Pullman's Palace Drawing-Room sleeping coaches, from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Columbus, to Baltimore and Washington, without change. Tickets for sale at all ticket offices in the South and West.

L. M. COLE, Gen'l Ticket Agent,

SIDNEY B. JONES, Gen'l Pass. Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE TO

Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington,

And all Points South and South-west.

CHICAGO TIME.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	mail	Acc	Exp
Louisville	10 45p.m		10 45
Cincinnati	8 50
Indianoplis	6 00		10 30
Fort Wayne, leave	11 54a.m		9 25
Auburn	10 47		8 29
Waterloo	10 33		8 15
Pleasant Lake	10 05		7 47
Angola	9 53		7 35
Fremont	9 32		6 55
Reading	8 55		6 18
Jonesville	8 25	1 30pm	5 50
Hanover	7 54	1 00	4 40
Jackson Arr	7 14	12 22

GOING NORTH.

	Express	Acc	Mail
Detroit	6 25 a.m	6 45p.m	3 35
Grand Rapids	9 47	9 15	10 50
Saginaw	4 25 p.m	9 43	5 45
Lansing
Jackson	11 30 a.m	3 40 am	9 10
Hanover	10 50	3 02	8 39
Jonesville	10 18	2 30	8 02
Reading	9 46		7 32
Fremont	9 08		6 53
Angola	8 50		6 03
Pleasant	8 38		6 52
Waterloo	8 13		5 37
Auburn	8 00		5 22
Ft. Wayne Arr	7 05		4 25p.m

Wm. A. ERNST. Sup.

J. B. FOLEY, Gen. Ticket Ag't.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 23 1872 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX	MAIL	PAC. EX	NIGHT EX
Pittsburg	1,45 A. M	7,10 A. M	9,10 A. M	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,52 "	8,20 "	10,25 "	2,40 "
Alliance	4,15 "	11,45 "	1,30 P. M	5,28 "
Orrville	6,01 "	1,45 P. M	3,07 "	7,06 "
Mansfield	8,55 "	4,22 "	5,09 "	9,11 "
Crestline ar	9,20 "	4,52 "	5,40 "	9,40 "
Crestline lv	9,40 "	5,00 A. M	6,00 "	9,50 "
Forest	11,05 "	6,10 "	7,55 "	11,15 "
Lima	12,08 "	9,05 "	9,15 "	12,17 A. M
Ft Wayne	2,40 P. M	11,50 "	11,05 A. M	2,45 "
Plymouth	4,45 "	2,35 P. M	2,45 "	5,01 "
Chicago	7,50 "	6,20 "	6,50 "	8,20 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL	FAST EX	PAC. E.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,15 A. M	9,20 A. M	5,35 P. M	9,20 P. M
Plymouth	9,15 "	12,02 P. M	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	3,25 "
Lima	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Forest	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crestline ar	6,35 "	6,30 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crestline lv	11,30 A. M	6,50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mansfield	12,05 P. M	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Orrville	2,13 "	9,20 "	[illegible]	8,02 "
Alliance	4,20 "	11,00 "	[illegible]	1,10 P. M
Rochester	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pittsburg	8,10 "	2,20 "	11,45 A. M.	[illegible]

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Detroit, Hillsdale and Indiana, AND DETROIT, EEL RIVER & ILLINOIS RAIL ROAD.

ON and after July 25th, 1872. trains will run as follows:

Westward.

Stations.	Express.	Mail.	Mixed
Detroit	5 40p.m	7 00a.m	12 45 p.m
Ipsilanti	7 25	8 35	4 30 a.m
Bankers	10 20	11 38	[illegible]
Angola	11 26	12 43	4 45
Summit	11 45	1 25	5 10
Waterloo	11 59	1 40	5 40
Auburn	12 15a.m	1 52	11 15
Denver	3 15	5 00
Indianapolis	7 30	10 15

Eastward.

Indianapolis	3 00 p.m	5 00 a.m
Denver	12 30 a.m	9 25	12 15 p.m
Auburn	4 15	12 38 p.m	6 20
Waterloo	4 29	12 50	6 13
Summit	4 43	1 08	6 40
Angola	5 45	1 45	7 10
Bankers	7 08	2 52	5 00 a.m
Ipsilanti	10 20	6 00	10 30
Detroit	11 30	7 00

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Sunday, Nov. 12, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Butler	1:44 p m.	x 1:10 a m.	2:05 p m
Waterloo	2:00 "	2:25 "	2:15 "
Sedan	2:09 "	x 2:34 "	2:45 "
Corunna	2:15 "	x 2:39 "	2:51 "

GOING EAST.

Corunna	2:40 a.m	x11:54 p m	1:40 p m
Sedan	2:45 "	x11:30 "	1:16 "
Waterloo	2:54 "	11:48 "	1:26 "
Butler	3:05 "	x12:08 a m	1:44 "

Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cin. R. R

THE following is the running time of the above road, in effect Dec. 3rd 1871

Going North.

	Mail	Ind. Ex.
Cincinnati Lve.	7 00 a.m
Connersville	10 00
Indianapolis	10 40	3 35 p m
Muncie	12 36 p.m	6 45
Hartfordcity	1 26	7 36
Bluffton	2 41	8 31
Fort Wayne	4 0[illegible]	9 45

Going South

Fort Wayne Lve	12 33 p.m	5 10 a m
Bluffton	1 35	6 19
Hartford City	2 40	7 20
Muncie	3 30	8 10
Indianapolis	6 25	10 45
Connersville	5 25
Cincinnati Ar.	8 50

W. W. WEH[illegible]NGTON, Sept.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

F. D. RYN Pro

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, &c.

together with a number of first-class livery horses respectfully, solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use my best endeavors to give general satisfaction.

BAKER BROS.

PROPRIETORS OF Auburn Bakery!

AND

EATING HOUSE

Fresh baked Pies, Cakes, etc., always on hand. Good lunches served at all hours.

BAKER BROS.

THE

EAGLE MILLS,

AUBURN, IND.

Having effected new arrangements for the accommodation of the public, we are now prepared to meet all demands made upon us in the way of

CUSTOM WORK!

We shall endeavor to give satisfaction in all cases. All grists attended to promptly.

Mill Feed

kept constantly on hand. Highest market price paid for

WHEAT!

THOMAS & ELSON

MR. G. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA,

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers and sell them such goods as they may need.

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business

Sutermeister,

Becker & Bond,

ACHITETS

BUILDING

CONTRACTORS,

AND DEALERS IN

Building Stone

AMERICAN AND

ITALIAN MARBLE

GRANITE.

TOOMBSTONES,

MONUMENTS,

MANTELS,

GRATES, &C.,

Corner Main and Fulton Streets,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHELF

HardwareE,

NAILS, GLASS & PUTTY.

QUEENSWARE!

Willow-ware, Glass-ware,

Choice Groceries & Provisions

AT

MARTIN & SONS,

Opposite Public Square, Auburn, Ind.

Some mischievous wags one night pulled down a tanner's sign and put it over a lawyer's door; in the morning it read: All kinds of turning and twisting done here.

See here, mister, said an Irish lad of seven summers, who was driven up a tree by a dog. If you don't take that dog away, I'll eat up all your apples.

Hobson, they tell me you've taken your boy away from the National School; why did you? 'Cause the master ain't fit to teach 'un, sir. Oh! I've heard he's a very good master Hobson. Well, all I know is, he wanted to teach my boy to spell taters with a 'p'.

Paddy, whats your belief? said a gentleman to an Irish guide, anxious to discover what his religion was. Shure, yer honor, I'm of my landlady's be'ief. What's that, pat? Why, I owe her five half year's rent, and believes that I'll never pay it—and so do I.

A little boy named George Fisher, in Columbus, met with a serious accident on Tuesday morning. While ripping the seam of a carpet with a large sharp pointed knife, it slipped the point entering his eye, entirely destrying the sight.

A shoemaker named Will Nell, living at St. Omer, Decatur county, committed suicide last Monday by taking arsenic, procurred by some unknow means. It is said that family difficulties have for some time made him despondent, but such a termination was unlooked for.

Dead beats of all kind are detestable says an exchange, but the whisky dead beat, who hangs around saloons for the purpose of being treated—or filling themselves at the expense of others—is several degrees lower in the scale of humanity than any tribe of monkey ever yet discovered.

We understand, says the Laporte Argus, that the M. S. Co have definitely determined to double track their route from Elkhart to Chicago, next summer, and further states that track master Pool has been ordered to commence laying the additional rails from Chicago east as soon as the weather will permit.

An exchange says a Hartford editor is uncomfortable! He alsoe.

A country subscriber writes that he is just recovering from small pox and will be on in a few days to renew his subscription. We hope he won't mind a little thing like that. We will send the paper and wait for the money. We ain't of that avaricious kind of people who will grab for money as if for very life. There's no earthly reason for the coming on; we will wait.

Scientific Facts.

Those substances which are the best radiators are also the best absorbers of heat.

When substances feel neither hot nor cold they are of the same temprature as our bodies.

Woolen fabrics are bad conductors of heat because there is a considerable amount of air occupying the spaces of the texture.

The radiation of heat is a motion of the particles, in a series of rays, diverging in every direction from a heated body.

Dense substances are the best conductors of heat, because the heat more readily travels from particle to particle until it prevades the mass.

Snow keeps the earth warm because it is a bad conductor, and prevents the frosty air from depriving the earth of its warmth.

A fine looking elderly gentleman walked into a book store in St. Paul, and after introducing himself as a 'legislator, sir,' proceeded to say that as he would have a great many vacant evenings during the winter he desired to improve the time in literary research and he thought perhaps that he might make special terms for books, by bestowing all his patronage on than establishment. After looking over the worcks of Dickens, Walter Scot, Macauley, etc he finally selected that highly intellectual publication of Beadle's "Bill Bidded the Trapper," price, one dime.

Rufus thus addressed his bottle:

'Tis very strange that you and I,
Together cannot pull,
For you are full when I am dry
And dry when I am full.

Sir Walter Scott was the first man who encouraged the finding of Livingstone.—He wrote "On, Stanly, on band! Stanly went as soon as he could.

A Republican editor of this city says: "I confess-aw I do, that Mr. Colfax's position is not quite clear-aw in the Credit Mobilier investigation but I feel quite confident-aw, that he will come out of the trial unscathed. His record-aw, has been one of so much purity and christain statesman, that it is impossible-aw, you know, that there's Gim Brooks of New York, is a d—d theif and villain. All Ames says about Brooks is true, but everything Ames says about Colfax is so queer.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

Drinking.

No man ever became a drunkard, lived a drunkard's life, died a drunkard's and filled a drunkard's grave, as a matter of free choice. No one ever became an excessive drinker, who did not begin the habit of being a moderate, a very moderate drinker. If it were the habit of all not to take the first step, and thus become a moderate drinker, the horrors and woe, the destitution and crime, which results from this monster evil intemperance would cease. Wives and children and friends and communities would not mourn over loved ones, thus dishonored and lost. But it is the habit of drinking, becoming the law of their being and of their daily life, the lack of resisting power resulting from this terrible thraldom, the fever of habitual temptation the appetite, which causes that yearly death march of sixty thousand of our people to the saddest of all deaths, and the saddest of all graves. Followed as mourners by half a million of worse than widowed wives, and worse than orphan childred.

If the people of Indiana are not now all deciples of temperance, and if intoxicating drinks are not forever banished from the State, it will not be the fault of the late law which has been passed. A more stringent law has never been enacted in any State. It fairly bristles with pains and penalties, not only against the seller but against the drinker. It requires considerable skill and acumen to square these total abstinence legal measures by the Constitution and the ordinary principles of law, as judicially applied. It will undoubtedly open a wide field for [illegible] our Adair Law in this State. The legal fraternity must derive a rich harvest from these so-called temperance measures. It marks a new era in the west—the adoption of such legislation although it has long been in effect in New England. One of the important practical points would be to see if the people of the States that have long had these laws are any more sober than those who have not had them. According to reports of officials in New England, King Alcohol despite all the paper pallets that have been hurled against him, is as firmly intrenched as ever.—Cin. Enquirer.

Good.

The proprietor of a tanyard adjacent to a certain town in Virginia, concluded to build a stand, or sort of store, on one the Main streets, for the purpose of vending his leather, buying raw hides, and the like. After completing his building, he began to consider what sort of a sign it would be best to put up for the purpose of attracting attention to his new establishment; and for days and weeks he was sorely puzzled on this subject. Several devices were one after the other adopted and, on farther consideration, rejected.

At last a happy idea struck him. He bored an auger hole through the door post and stuck a calf's tail into it, with the bushy end flaunting out. After while he noticed a gravelooking personage standing near the door, with his spectacles, gazing intently on the sign. And there he continued to stand, dumbly absorbed, gazing and gazing, until the curiosity of the hide dealer was greatly excited in turn.

He steppep out and addressed the individual:

Good morning, said he.

Morning, said the other, without moving his eyes from the sign.

You want to buy leather? said the storekeeper.

No.

Do you want to sell hides?

No.

Perhaps you are a farmer.

No.

A merchant, maybe.

No.

Are you a doctor?

No.

What are you then?

I'm a philosopher. I have been standing her for an hour, trying to see if I could ascertain how that calf got through that auger hole!

The weather shows appearances of getting warm.

How a Husband Kept His Word.

A melancholy case of suicide occurred yesterday, in Jersey City about noon. Henry Ford, a pattern maker, residing at 103 Newark avenue, came home as his wife says, feeling rather unwell. He had been, for some weeks subjected to spells of mental depression, and gave utterance on more than one occasion to the determination to shuffle off the mortal coil. This time he said to his wife: "I am going up stairs to shoot myself." She could not believe the man was in earnest,—but he kept his word. She heard the report of a pistol, and at once summoned Justice Allen, who does business near that place. When they entered the room, they saw Ford stretched out with a new five barrelled revolver in his right hand. Mr. Allen wrenched it from him with some difficulty. Medical assistance was procured, and an examination showed that a bullet had entered the roof of the mouth and lodged in the brain. The unfortunate man was living up to a late hour last evening, but recovery is impossible.—New York Herald Tlst.

An exchange says "that a poor man in Washington, was arrested and shut up the other day for stealing a soup bone worth fifteen cents, to keep his family from starving." In the first place this man had no right to be poor; in the second place, he had no right to multiply and replenish. To prevent the one, he should not have come into the world, and to have made the other an impossibility, he should have procured a reeipe from some of the non-producing families of New England. But since this man was on earth, and poor, and compelled to steal a soup bone, to keep his family from starving, it is a disgrace to American intelligence, that he was not posted. As an auxilery well remarks: "Why, in the name of the recent great Republican triumph, didn't he send to South Bend, and procure an affidavit, reciting that he had received that soup bone by mail, from a distinguished philanthropist, now a cold corpse. By this method of procedure he could have vindicated himself triumphantly, and been classified as a Christain statesman.

The Punch.

Flies are holding rehearsals.

Mr. Bass, the great English brewey is to be nighted. He has made many people so.

The lenten season is approaching and, people are hurrying to get their wickedness all in.

The man who wrote to the State Board of Agriculture, to ascertain what was best to plant in wet ground, was favorobly impressed with the answer "Leeks."

An absent-minded mother on Monday, tied a bed quilt she had just washed to a rocker in front of the stove, and pinned her baby to the clothesline.

An Essex street boy made a very handsome snow man about seven feet high, on Saturday, and robed it with his mother's sixty-dollar Paisley shawl. He suffers the most pain when he sits.

Somebody of a statistical turn is puzzled to account for the great surplus of births over deaths in 1872. We suppose the reason is that it is cheaper, for a man can be born much cheaper than he can be buried, and a penny saved, is a penny earned.

A Pittsburg man has invented a new tombstone. It is of iron cast in the right shape, with groves or wests for marble table's. They can be manufactured at a price that will give the poorest of us a chance of two or three tomb s ones apiece.

It was a good thing that Barnum's menagerie went to ashes. The other similar institutions should go the same way. Humanity has long enough been shocked by the wilted specimens of animals—the store of beasts—that have so long traversed the country, with their angles decayed teeth, sunken eyes, and blinking tails. An old fashioned hair trunk and a paint brush tail and a brass eye would put the whole to ignominious flight.

An exchange thus hapily describes the man that don't advertise.

"Talk about a woman without a baby a man without a wife, a ship without a rudder. What is the lack of either of these individuals, and things to that of a man without an advertisement? He is a hopeless case, a 'goner' in community. Talk of being successful in business. You might as well talk of ascending to the moon on a greased bean pole. People point at him and say: "Poor Cassius has a hungry look." It may, however, be consoling for him to reflect, that when he dies he will be advertised and gratuitously at that.

A SPIRITUAL SONG.

FROM THE GERMAN OF NOVALIS—BY GEORGE MACDONALD.

Earth's consolation, why so slow?
Thy inn is ready long ago;
Each lifts to thee his hungering eyes,
And open to thy blessing lies.

O Father, pour it forth with might;
Out of thine arms, oh! yield him quite;
Innocence only, love, sweet shame,
Have kept him that he never came.

Oh! hurry him into our arms,
That he of thine may yet breathe warm;
Thick vapors around the infant wrap,
And lower him into our lap.

In rivers cool send him to us;
In flames let him grow tremulous;
In air and oil, in sound and dew,
Resistless pass earth's framework through.

So shall the holy fight be fought,
So came the rage of hell to naught;
And, ever blooming, round her feet
The ancient Paradise we greet.

Earth rouses, breaks in bud and song;
Full of the Spirit, all things long
To clasp with love the Savior guest,
And offer him the mother's breast.

The winter fails. A year new-born
Clasps now the manger's altar-horn;
'Tis the first year of a new earth
Which this child claims in right of birth.

Our eyes they see the Savior well,
Yet in them doth the Savior dwell;
With flowers his head is wreathed about,
From which himself looks gracious out.

He is the star; he is the sun;
Life's well that evermore will run;
From herb and stone, light, sea's expanse,
Glimmers his childish countenance.

In every act his childish zest,
His ardent love will never rest;
He nestles, with unconscious art,
Divinely fast to every heart.

To us a God, to himself a child,
He loves us all, self-undefiled;
Becomes our drink, becomes our food—
His dearest thanks, to love the good.

Our misery grows yet more and more;
A gloomy grief afflicts us sore;
Keep him no longer, Father, thus
He will come home again with us.

—Scribner's for March.

A ROBBER'S MAGNANIMITY.

It is said the devil is not as black as he is painted, and the same might apply to John A. Murrill, the great Western land pirate. At the time he figured conspicuously along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, steamboating was comparatively in its infancy, and so sparsely was the country settled that the red man still retained his foothold, although his absolute sway was over. To the traveler Murrill was a terror, but to the squatters for many miles around his cave he was rather a friend than otherwise, for he had never been known to harm any of them, and he had often lent them his aid in time of trouble. Especially had he befriended them from outrages by the savages, and he was not slow to avenge any wrong inflicted upon them by the red man. Murrill had been idle for some time. It seemed as if he had a presentiment of evil hanging over him, and he had grown listless, and even melancholy. His men ventured to whisper among themselves that their captain was becoming indolent, and some of them declared that he had received a vast quantity of gold which he had concealed, and that at the first opportunity he intended to ship to some distant point, and leave them and his former occupation forever.

All summer the captain had talked of incursions, but they had been delayed from time to time, and nothing had been accomplished. The stock of provisions had become so far exhausted that the robbers were now compelled to subsist principally on game. They became discontented and some of them openly grumbled; but a single frown of the chief was sufficient to impose silence.

All day the men had been lolling leisurely about, and as night came on they hugged the fire closely, and ever and anon they cast anxious glances over the river, as if expecting some important event. Even the captain appeared uneasy, and he strode up and down, sometimes pausing, and then continuing his walk at a more rapid rate.

Suddenly a man on a horse appeared in sight, and at the same time the shrill blast of a trumpet was heard. Instantly the men were upon their feet, and when the rider came up he was surrounded in an instant, and a dozen questions propounded in the same breath. To one and all he made the answer:

"The steamer will not come further down than Louisville, but she is a rich prize if we can only capture her. Her cargo is an assorted one, and it will not be removed until snow falls, so that it can be taken across to Nashville in sleds, unless a warm spell should come on; then she will come down the river and up the Cumberland."

"There won't be any warm spell this season," suggested one of the robbers. "In a week the Ohio will be frozen up tighter than a drum-head, and the Cumberland is closed now. We must seize her where she lies."

"Aye, aye!" was the response from fifty throats. Without heeding these words, Murrill asked:

"How is the water on the falls at Louisville?"

"Hardly enough to get her over, but there has been rain above—the river is rising—and there will be plenty by the time we get there."

"Are they on the lookout for me?" asked Murrill.

"Yes; and what is still worse, I was recognized."

"The devil!"

"Yes, I went on board the boat, and in looking around I saw a pair of sharp eyes fixed upon me, and I knew I had seen that face before. I walked carelessly out on the levee, when I heard this chap say that I was one of Murrill's men, and then the captain cautioned him to keep quiet until he could secure my arrest. But in a few moments after I was astride my nag, and then I knew I was safe. But I knew they were on the lookout for you; for, before I was recognized, I heard one of the boat hands say that he hoped Murrill would come up, for he wanted the pleasure of hanging him."

A fierce frown passed over the face of the chief, and turning sharply around he exclaimed:

"Men, get ready to move, for we will be off in an hour. We'll have that boat or perish in the attempt to capture her."

A wild cheer burst from the throats of the robbers, and then they set about making preparations for the adventure; and before midnight fifty armed and resolute men were on their way toward Louisville, bent upon plunder and bloodshed.

During the day Murrill himself, in disguise, visited the city and the boat he had resolved to capture. On his return his eyes flashed fire, and he exclaimed:

"Men, some of our bodies will be floating in the Ohio before to-morrow morning if we attempt this job. To succeed we may be compelled to fight a terrible battle. What say you? Shall we go forward?"

"What is the especial danger?" inquired one.

"Just this. After it was discovered that one of my spies had been on board the boat, extra precautions have been taken to guard against an attack by us. Regular picket lines have been thrown out, both up and down the river on this side, and watch-fires built and guards stationed upon the other side; and all the hands on the boat are heavily armed, and a military company is held in readiness to turn out at a moment's warning. I don't know that I am right, but I think some of their scouts have already reported the fact that we were on our way up the river. What say you? Shall we attempt the job with such chances against us?"

The chief was surrounded by a set of men who were physically brave, many of whom absolutely preferred such adventure as was pregnant with danger. So with one voice they exclaimed:

"We'll have that steamer or die?"

"Enough," replied Murrill; "you have decided in accordance with my own feelings. We will have that boat or perish in the attempt to capture her. But there is one thing greatly in our favor."

"What is that?"

"There is to be a grand ball in the cabin of the steamer to-night, so the military will not be as vigilant as usual, on account of the large crowd which will be present; and our approach will not be so marked, as large numbers will probably be going back and forth from the city to the levee. And now for my instructions."

"Let us have them."

"Forty of our men must strike back into the country for a mile or two, and so the pickets will be avoided. Ten of that number must pass above the city, reach the river, and then make their way slowly down, neck deep in the water. Select the best swimmers for this duty, as the art will probably be a useful one. The remaining thirty will pass through the city in squads of not more than three, and so down to the levee by different routes, and all ready to center at the boat at exactly 12 o'clock. I, with the remaining ten men, will go up the river, avoiding the guard by keeping well into the water. Now, remember; just as the clock strikes twelve let every man make a rush, and let every man be at his post. We must have no sluggards."

"We shall be ready."

"I myself will spring to the wheel, with two assistants. Some of you cut the ropes, and let the craft drift out into the stream. Others must fire up as quickly as possible, and by the time we are over the falls we can set the engine in motion."

"Well planned, captain."

"One thing more, and to this order I want you to give special heed."

"What is it."

"We certainly shall have some fighting to do, but use your weapons only when actually compelled to do so, and spare the women. If any man among you harms one of the ladies and I learn the fact, he dies the death of a dog. After we pass the falls, and get up steam, we will land all those we capture, both men and women, and let them make their way home as best they can."

"We shall remember, captain."

"Well, be off now. It is dark enough to advance with safety."

The forty men started to carry out their instructions, while Murrill commenced his advance up the river, and just as the clock struck twelve he and his men arrived under the stern of the steamer, and it was evident their proximity was not suspected, for not the slightest note of alarm had been sounded. There were sounds of revely above. The sweet strains of music arose upon the air, and occasionally a laugh would peal out from those all unconscious of the fact that grim death was hovering around them, and that before the sun would rise their sun of life would go down forever. Murrill was becoming impatient, for the next hour seemed to drag slowly along. He swam around to the prow of the craft, and after waiting there for a few moments his ten men came up—they were at least half an hour ahead of time. After a time the first stroke of the distant church clock was heard—it was striking twelve—and twenty men, like huge monsters, crept out from the dark waters and stood for an instant upon the levee. Then, with lightning speed, they darted on board the steamer, and ran into the cabin. In an instant all was confusion. Wild shrieks burst from female throats, and strong men shouted the alarm. Many of the women fainted, and not a few of those whom nature gave the form of heroes sprang for shore or into the water, thoroughly panic-stricken. But there were those on board who were not easily intimidated, and they began the life and death struggle. Drawing their pistols, they fought coolly but determinedly; and for a time the conflict seemed to favor them. The weapons of the twenty robbers were useless, for the powder had become saturated with water, but they fought like demons with their knives. But more than half their number had fallen, either dead, or very badly wounded.

The alarm had been sounded, and the tramp of the military could be heard rapidly approaching. Where were the other thirty men? If they had failed or been captured then all was lost. But no. The boat began to move out into the river, and twenty more robbers rushed into the cabin. Using the pistols freeley, the work of blood was soon completed. The cabin was red with blood, and all around were men dead or dying, while the terror stricken women crouched in agony, either in the state-rooms or in some corner over the bleeding form of some loved one.

Murrill himself had entered the wheel-house, and others had commenced their work at the furnace. And downward the boat drifted toward the falls. Without having the wheels in motion to propel her, it was impossible to manage the craft and keep her head down the stream, for, as she approached nearer and nearer the falls, it became evident that she would go over sideways, and, if so, there would be the greatest danger, unless she should happen to be exactly in the channel, of which the chief was not certain. But the crisis was at hand. Behind her a hundred boats had shot out upon the river in pursuit; around her the mad rapids were boiling, seething and roaring, and just below was the descent, known as the falls, over which she must plunge. She trembled, heaved and was going down, when there came a crash like the bursting of a thousand thunders, mingled with the most awful shrieks—the ship had struck a sunken rock, and there she hung for a moment, while the mad waters rushed over her decks. Then she broke, and it was evident she was going down, a total wreck. And, to add to the horror, a cry of fire was raised, and it soon became evident that nothing could save the steamer from total destruction.

It now became every man to look out for himself, and Murrill leaped into the water. It was with considerable difficulty that he reached the shore, which he did at length, in an exhausted state. Then he seated himself for a few moments, and waited the regathering of his band. But he was not safe at that point, and with only five of the robbers, who had come to the shore, he took his way back to his cave. Weary, sick and bruised, he could scarcely drag his way along, and his men were really in a worse condition than himself. The consequence was that an unusual length of time was consumed in reaching the cavern. When he did arrive there his appearance was greeted with cheers by those who had arrived before him. They were not entirely disheartened, as their chief lived, for one of the robbers had brought in news that he was among the slain.

Murrill gazed sadly around him—he had less than thirty men left—the others, no doubt, had perished. But with one exception this number seemed to welcome his return. The exception was a man named Kit Blanchard. He frowned fiercely, remained apart from the rest, and seemed uneasy. Murrill noticed this, but still he gave it little thought.

It was not long after this that the chief entered his cavern. He had not proceeded far, when his attention was attracted by a groan. He approached the spot from whence the sound proceeded, and there he found a young and lovely girl, bound hand and foot, in such a manner that he was unables to move. He questioned her and heard her story.

She was on the steamer when it went over the falls. Her lover was with her, and he had succeeded in getting her ashore. Scarcely had they landed when her lover was struck down dead at her side by a robber, and she was seized and brought thither. The robber was entirely alone, with the exception of herself, during the whole journey. He told her that Murrill had been killed, that he was to be captain now, and she should be forced to become his wife. The chief removed the cords which bound her, and led her to the entrance of the cave. He bade her wait a moment, and then he assembled his band. He saw that one of them was pale and trembling. He called the girl forward, and requested her to single out her captor. She pointed to Kit Blanchard. In an instant the report of a pistol rang out; it was fired by Murrill, and Kit Blanchard fell dead. The young lady was restored to her friends. It was this adventure and defeat that so weakened the robber band that they were soon after scattered, and the chief himself captured. His fate is a matter of history.

Credit Mobilier.

The following anecdote has been reproduced to illustrate why the majority in Congress take no action against the corruption exhibited by the Credit Mobilier investigation:

Mr. Lincoln had been retained as counsel for a fellow accused of stealing six fine hogs. The trial came on, and the witnesses for the State proved the theft beyond all question, and identified Mr. Lincoln's client as the thief. When the testimony had closed, Mr. Lincoln turned to the thief and said: "I see no ground for any defense in this case, sir. If the witnesses are to be believed, you are guilty, and I cannot make anything else out of it!"

"Never mind my guilt," said the confiding client. "Jes' get up and abuse them witnesses like the devil, and spread yourself on general principles."

Mr. Lincoln done as he was told. The jury retired, and in less than half an hour, much to the surprise of Court and counsel, returned a verdict of "not guilty!"

"I don't understand this," said Mr. Lincoln, turning to his client as he spoke; "these fellows must have misunderstood."

"Not a d—d bit of it," answered the sagacious client with a knowing wink. "You see, 'Squire, every one of them ere fellers had a piece o' them hogs!"

HARAKIRI IN JAPAN.—Suicide appears to be going out of fashion in Japan, notwithstanding the Parliament three years ago refused to prohibit the practice, only three members out of two hundred and nine voting in favor of the proposition. When a member of the two sworded class, or Samurai, commits a crime, a message is sent that he is permitted to kill himself by disemboweling, which custom is called the harakiri or seppuku. It seems that the practice was considered so honorable that many men committed it without waiting the imperial permission, and this was considered highly improper. One member, in defending the practice, said:

"The commission of the seppuku is owing to a natural sense of shame being deeply rooted in the heart. It is a national custom founded on what is due to the national sense of justice and to Japan as a nation."

Another declared: "By death the criminal barely restores himself to his position as a human being. If he lives, he is a scoundrel; but if he dies, he for the first time manifests a sense of shame. To prohibit the seppuku would be to close the public path of honor, and throw open the private path of scoundrelism."

A third asserted that so far from being prohibited the seppuku should be encouraged, by this means a sense of shame fostered, and the custom be made famous throughout the world as an example of devotion to principle.

THE epitaphs of Dakota papers are most pathetic. Jim Barrett had been shoveling snow, from which he caught a bad cold which turned into a fever. The fever settled Jim's mundane affairs, and a local paper says most affectingly in his obituary, "He won't have to shovel snow in the country he has gone to."

ANNA DICKINSON'S RIDE.

How the Fair Lecturer Entered Newark on the Back of a Railroad Conductor.

Anna E. Dickinson was engaged to lecture before the people in Newark, last Wednesday evening, at the opera-house, which engagement she fulfilled to the satisfaction of all who heard her; but of the manner of her getting to her audience very few even now know. Let us relate it, as it is rather funny. Miss Dickinson was a passenger from this city in the 7:10 train, of which O. A. Crane is "the gentlemanly" conductor, intending to alight at the Market street depot, but for some unexplained reason she was taken to South Broad street, some distance beyond. When Mr. Crane's train stopped at this station he found that the only way he could get Miss Dickinson over the swamp which lies between the tracks and the street on which was a horse-car, was to take her on his back and wade through the mud and quagmire, in some places knee deep, to dry land. Miss D. saw there was no help for it, and covering her face with her vail to hide her blushes, put her arms around Mr. C.'s neck, which doubtless for him was not an altogether unpleasant operation, and left the rest to fate. When half way through the swamp of dangers, the conductor called lustily to the driver of the horse-car, which was about to start, to "hold on;" but the Jehu was dull of hearing, and so the louder the conductor yelled the more energetically the driver whipped into a run his "jaded steeds." Suddenly the passengers in the street-car rushed to the rear platform, and believing the man in the swamp was making an effort to kill "some helpless one," translating his cries of "hold on" into those of "bloody murder," caused a suspension of operations on the part of the gentleman who was "steering the equines" until a rescue could be made. Just at this critical juncture the conductor was seen to gradually sink to his waist in the swamp, with the lovely burden still clinging to him. Finally, after the usual confusion, and ordering, and chin music generally, Anna was helped to terra firma and a seat in the horse vehicle uninjured in person or costume, and subsequently, with the assistance of a "block and tackle," the unfortunate Crane was conducted to his train, from which he swore he'd never go again for any one, not even for Miss Dickinson. Anna never looked prettier, smiled sweeter, or delivered her thoughts in a more musical tone, than she did last Wednesday night—and it was noticed that all through the lecture her eyes fairly laughed at the recollection of the funny manner in which she was landed in Newark.—Newark Journal.

King Ferdinand's Yankee Wife.

It is not generally known that one of the Queens of Europe at the present time is an American lady of decidedly humble descent. She is the wife of King Ferdinand of Portugal, who, finding the duties of his office uncongenial to his retiring tastes, abdicated a few years ago, and, making during a trip to Paris the acquaintance of a very good looking actress, offered her in 1869 his heart and hand, which she joyfully accepted. They were married with considerable pomp at Lisbon, and the actress, although she is no reigning Queen, is treated by her royal relatives with all the respect due to her husband's exalted rank, and she is addressed as "my sister" by Queen Maria Pia, the daughter of Victor Emanuel, and as "Her Majesty" by her attendants and servants.

King Ferdinand's wife was born in 1840, in Boston, where her father was a poor German shoemaker, and she has many acquaintances in New York. Her name previous to her marriage was Eliza Hensler. She attended the public schools of her native city until she was 14 years of age. She was then a beautiful, rosy cheeked girl, with large, blue eyes, and a wealth of golden ringlets. Moreover, she possessed a very fine voice, and an operatic manager, who heard her sing at a school examination, prevailed upon her old father to let him send her to a renowned music teacher and have her prepared for the stage. The old man joyfully consented. Young Eliza proved a very excellent pupil, and two years afterward she made her debut in this city at the Academy of Music, in Arditi's opera, "The Spy." Although Mme. Lagrange sang in the same piece, Miss Hensler achieved a decided success, and was engaged for the season. Her brother, or cousin, who had enabled her to appear at the Academy of Music, was at that time leader of the chorus, and remained in that position for several years afterward. In 1858 Miss Hensler returned to Boston, and appeared there on the stage with decided success. She then went to Paris to study her profession more thoroughly under Auber and Thomas, and sang repeatedly at the Grand Opera, without, however, meeting with much encouragement. She was glad to accept an engagement at the royal opera at Lisbon, where she sang for several years, and became a great favorite of the public. It was there already, perhaps, that King Ferninand became acquainted with and enamored of her; but the King's first wife was then alive, and it was not until after her death that he made advances to Miss Eliza Hensler, who had meanwhile returned to Paris, where she made a somewhat precarious living by giving music lessons, a severe cold having impaired the beauty and strength of her voice.

Her royal husband is said to be exceedingly fond of his Boston wife. They have two children, and their happiness is much commented upon in Lisbon, where it is well known that the present King does not live on the best terms with his high-born Italian consort.—New York Sun.

IMMENSE MOUNTAINS.—Mr. Edward Whymper, the well-known mountaineer, who first ascended the Matterhorn, devoted last summer to a scientific exploration of the west coast of Greenland, north of the Arctic Circle, in the vicinity of Disco Island. He found that the loftiest mountains of Greenland proper are two thousand feet higher than has heretofore been supposed. He ascended about seven thousand feet in height. The atmosphere in these regions is marvelously clear. Writing of his ascent of Hare Island, eighteen hundred feet high, he says: "From the summit, at midnight, I distinctly recognized the mountain called Sanderson's Hope, near Upernavik, which was distant from me one hhndred and forty miles!"

The True Story of the First Telegram.

The bill met with neither sneers nor opposition in the Senate, but the business of that house went on with discouraging slowness. At twilight on the last evening of the session (March 3, 1843) there were 119 bills before it. As it seemed impossible for it to be reached in regular course before the hour of adjournment should arrive, the Professor, who had anxiously watched the tardy movements of business all day from the gallery of the Senate Chamber, went with a sad heart to his hotel and prepared to leave for New York at an early hour the next morning. While at breakfast, a servant informed him that a young lady desired to see him in the parlor.

There he met Miss Annie Ellsworth, then a young school girl—the daughter of his intimate friend, Hon. Henry L. Ellsworth, the first Commissioner of Patents—who said, as she extended her hand to him: "I have come to congratulate you."

"Upon what?" inquired the Professor.

"Upon the passage of your bill," she replied.

"Impossible! Its fate was sealed at dusk last evening. You must be mistaken."

"Not at all," she responded. "Father sent me to tell you that your bill was passed. He remained until the session closed, and yours was the last bill but one acted upon, and it was passed just five minutes before the adjournment; and I am glad to be the first one to tell you. Mother says, too, that you must come home with me to breakfast."

The invitation was readily accepted, and the joy in the household was unbounded. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth had fully believed in the project, and the former, in his confidence in it and in his warm friendship for Prof. Morse, had spent all the closing hours of the session in the Senate Chamber, doing what he could to help the bill along, and giving it all the influence of his high personal and political position.

Grasping the hand of his young friend, the Professor thanked her again and again for bearing him such pleasant tidings, and assured her that she should send over the wires the first message, as her reward. The matter was talked over in the family, and Mrs. Ellsworth suggested a message which Prof. Morse referred to the daughter for her approval; and this was the one which was subsequently sent.

A little more than a year after that time, the line between Washington and Baltimore was completed. Prof. Morse was in the former city, and Mr. Alfred Vail, his assistant, in the latter; the first in the chamber of the Supreme Court, the last in the Mount Clare depot, when the circuit being perfect, Prof. Morse sent to Miss Ellsworth for her message, and it came:

"What God hath wrought!"

It was sent in triplicate in the dot-and-line language of the instrument to Baltimore, and was the first message ever transmitted by a recording telegraph.

The story of this first message has been often told with many exaggerations. It has roamed about Europe with various romantic material attached to it, originating mainly in the French imagination, and has started up anew from time to time in our own country under fresh forms, but the above story is simply and literally true. An inventor in despair receives the news of his unexpected success from his friend's daughter, and he makes her a promise which he keeps, and thus links her name with his own, and with an invention which becomes one of the controlling instruments of civilization for all time.—Scribner's for March.

A False Friend.

"You may say what you darn please," said Bill Muggins, speaking of a deceased comrade, "Jake was a good boy, he was, and a great hunter," continued Bill; "but he was the meanest man that ever breathed in the State; and he played one of the sharpest tricks you ever heard of, and I'll tell you how it was. I was out shootin' with him one morning. I tell you the duck was plenty; and other game we despised so long as we could see duck. Jake he was too mean to blaze away unless he could shoot two or three at a shot. Jake was blowin' me up wastin' shot and powder so; but I didn't care—I blazed away. Well, somehow or other, while fussin' around the boat, my powder-flask fell overboard in about sixteen feet of water, which was as clear as gin, and I could see the flask lay at the bottom. Jake being a good swimmer, also a diver, he said he'd fetch her up, and in a minit he was in. Well, I waited quite a considerable time for him to come up; then I looked over the side for Jake. Good Jerusalem! there sot Jake on a pile of oyster-shells pourin' the powder out of my flask into his'n. Wasn't that mean?"

A LUDICROUS INCIDENT.—Talking about heels, rather a ludicrous incident connected therewith occurred at the Illinois reception the other night. The ball room floor at Willard's was newly waxed, and badly done at that, so that the fair ladies and gallant beaux found their feet sticking to the floor. While the weaker were held fast, the stronger and more energetic produced a noise like unto shooting-crackers, as they moved about or attempted to dance. This got to be such a nuisance that the proprietor was called in, and active measures taken to remedy the trouble. Meal from the kitchen was procured and sprinkled over the floor. Young ladies had to be lifted bodily out of their tracks, in some instances leaving their heels on the floor, while others were pried up with pokers, uttering little shrieks as if it hurt. Several enterprising Illinois beaux went to Milburn's and purchased pieces of chalk, which they rubbed on the soles of the young ladies' shoes. It presented a beautiful picture to see an Illinois gentleman with his knees stuck fast to the floor while he whitened the soles of his love, she balanced most gracefully on one foot and smiling audibly to the tickling process. One maiden lady of a certain age went into hysterics, and from that into a hack. She has not been heard of since.—Washington Capital.

EMPLOYING cheap Chinese labor is not the best thing in the world for the interests of the manufacturers of San Francisco. No sooner do they learn the art of making the things, principally boots and shoes, and cigars, so far, than they turn and set up for themselves, selling at much lower rates. They make nearly all the cigars in San Francisco now.

PRIMITIVE PROVERBS PREPARED FOR PRECOCIOUS PUPILS.

DEDICATED TO THE EDUCATIONAL BOARD.

Observe yon plumed biped fine!
To effect his captivation,
Deposit particles saline
Upon his termination.

Cryptogamous concretion never grows
On mineral fragments that decline repose.

While self-inspection it neglects,
Nor its own foul condition sees,
The kettle to the pot objects
Its sordid superficies.

Decortications of the golden grain
Are set to allure the aged fowl, in vain.

Teach not a parent's mother to extract
The embryo juices of an egg by suction;
That good old lady can the feat enact
Quite irrespective of your kind instruction.

Pecuniary agencies have force
To stimulate to speed the female horse.

The earliest winged songster soonest sees,
And first appropriates, the annelides.

With soap, and brush, and flannel, you tickle,
In vain, the Ethiopic cuticle.

Bear not to yon famed city upon the Tyne
The carbonaceous product of the mine.

The mendicant once from his indigence freed,
And mounted aloft on the generous steed,
Down the precipice soon will infallibly go,
And conclude his career in the regions below.

It is permitted to the feline race
To contemplate even a regal face.

—Punch.

Humorous.

BOOK-KEEPERS and chickens have to scratch for a living.

OUT in Nevada, where lynch law is supreme and its execution a frequent indulgence, they call it "performances by the string band."

"I'D rather not take a horn with you," said the loafer to the mad bull; but the bull insisted on treating him to two, and the loafer got quite high.

IN a discussion as to the number of dog days in a year, among a company of children, one little child exclaimed: "It's no use trying to find out how many days there are, because every dog has his day."

A PINE BLUFF (Ark.) sexton advertises in the village paper that he is to be found at his office at all times of the day, and "all persons making application for burial must first register their names or be subject to a fine."

IT is declared by an Indiana editor, who "can't stand it any longer," that the only difference between the entrance to a barn and a lounger around newspaper offices is, that the first is a barn door and the latter a darn' bore.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE clergyman, who was asked his price by a young man whom he had just married, replied that the law gave him $2. The youth promptly handed out fifty cents, remarking: "Well, that will make up $2.50 for you."

"MRS. JENKS," said a little red-headed girl, with a pug nose and bare feet, "mother says you will obleege her by lendin' her a stick of wood, fill this cruet with vinegar, puttin' a little soft-soap in this pan, and please not let your turkey-gobblers roost on our fence."

A SEWING circle was quickly broken up at Gardiner, Me., the other day, by the innocent remark of a lady present: "I always had a great desire to know how a case of small-pox looked, so I called on a sick lady this afternoon, just before coming to the circle."

KATE STANTON, in her lecture on "The Loves of Great Men," asserts that planets revolve around the sun by the influence of love, like a child revolves about its parent. When the writer was a boy he used to revolve around his parents a good deal, and may have been incited thereto by love, but to an unprejudiced observer it looked powerfully like a trunk-strap.—Danbury News.

A FARMER in Kentucky recently made a bet that he could husk eighty bushels of corn in a day, but before he finished the job he ascertained that the man with whom he had made the bet was making arrangements to elope with his wife. He abandoned the job, lost the bet, but frustrated the designs of the guilty couple to their a-maize-ment.

"WHAT do you call that?" indignantly asked a customer at a cheap restaurant, pointing at an object that had been discovered in his plate of hash. "Wrist-band with sleeve button attached, sir," said the waiter briskly. "Well, do you consider that a proper thing for a man to find in his hash?" asked the customer, in wrath. "Good heavens, sir!" cried the waiter, "would you expect to find a ten dollar silk umbrella in a fifteen cent plate of hash?"

A Feathered Mouse—Curious Freak of Nature.

There is on exhibition at the St. Louis Fair Museum, on Fifth and Olive, a remarkable natural curiosity. It is a dried mouse, with long, white, glossy feathers projecting from its body. There is no reason to suspect any deception in the case. The dead mouse had been cut out of a bed-tick, it being too hard a substance for the occupier of the bed to rest on. It was then found that the feathers had taken root in the animal's body and given rise to a crop of feathers. It is well known that the hair continues to grow on the bodies of dead persons some time after their demise, but whether this case bears any analogy to such circumstance is not decided. The curiosity is in charge of Prof. Tracey, at the Fair Museum, and he has placed it in a small glass case. It was carefully inspected by a number of gentlemen yesterday, and afforded a theme for much curious speculation.

Mr. Glass, the gentleman who found the animal and took it to the museum, has given with it a certificate to the following effect:

"The feathered mouse which I have this day deposited in the St. Louis Fair Museum, southeast corner of Fifth and Olive, was taken this morning from a feather bed which was made twelve years ago, and has not been opened since. There was no hole in the ticking until one was cut to take out this specimen of a desiccated or mummified mouse. While the feathers that seem to have taken root in the body of the dead mouse are bright and glossy, all the other feathers in the bed are dead and dull in appearance. Who will account for this phenomenon? N. GLASS."—St. Louis Republican.

THE total amount of land granted by Congress to railroads since the year 1850 is 176,889,720 acres, worth $442,090,000.

Foreign.

THE Khedive paid $30,000 just for the laces on his daughter's trousseau.

SELECTIONS from Mr. Greeley's correspondence, edited by Whitelaw Reid, are to be published.

THE value of agricultural produce imported into England during 1872 amounted to $450,000,000, of which nearly one-half was grain of various kinds.

PRESIDENT THIERS refuses to accept the Emperor's hospitalities for his stay in Vienna while attending the Exhibition. He has hired the palace Leitenbuger, and will there abide with the French Commission.

MR. NATHAN, Assistant Surgeon of the Royal Naval Hospital at Haslar, England, reports 1,572 cases of disease of the heart admitted into that hospital in a year, and states that from the yearly entries for the last ten years heart disease appears to be on the increase in the royal naval service.

A CALCULATION has been made showing that if the conversions of the clergymen of the Established Church in England to the Catholics continue to increase in the same ratio as of late years, by the end of this century all the clergy of the Anglican Church will have become Roman Catholics.

CADIZ, Spain, a city of 133,000 inhabitants, must be a slow place. The greater part of the water used there is procured from the springs of La Piedad, being brought by rail and by sea from Puerto Santa Maria in large barrels. This water is sold to the water-carriers at an average rate of about $3 per cubic meter, and retailed by them at an average of 2½ cents per gallon.

AT Krupp's establishment in Essen, Germany, although very rigorously closed to visitors, a recent French paper says that 17,051 workmen are employed, of whom 8,000 are engaged in making steel alone, and the wages paid are £48,000 a month. There are consumed 600 tons of coal daily by 75 steam engines in the works. The anvil of the largest of 35 steam hammers weighs 200 tons. The casting of a steel gun of 20 tons weight requires but ten minutes, by 800 men, who are immediately after allowed two hours rest, because of the extreme heat to which they are necessarily exposed.

Valley of Death.

For a time the Upas tree of the Island of Java was the wonder of the age. Its fearfully poisonous character was represented to be positive death to animal and vegetable life within the sphere of its influence. Science has corrected the idea of the existence of that death-dealing tree, by asserting that poisonous emanation from the ground caused death. That one tree was enabled by its peculiar organic properties to resist the destructive agency of gases that killed everything else.

Another valley of death is described by travelers in Java quite equal to the Upas territory. Death is the certain penalty of entering beyond the line of demarcation between vegetation and the sterile plain where desolation reigns in triumph. Mr. London, an English savant, experimented with dogs and fowls forced over the line, and thus confirms the representation of the natives, who say that skeletons are bleaching there, giving the idea of a Golgotha unparalleled for horror. Animals, accidentally entering it in their flight from enemies, and men, ignorant of the mephitic vapors that perpetually come to the surface, fall almost instantly by inhaling them. A dog fastened to a pole was forced over the line and died very quickly. In ten seconds the poor creature tumbled over. Fowls carried there, on being thrown over into the barren basin, were completely dead in a minute and a half. It is probable the region is volcanic, and that sulphur is the poisonous agent.

Western Justice.

The telegraph mentioned some time ago an attempt to burn the little town of Arrow Rock, Missouri. The fires were a mercantile venture. Being liquor dealers, the incendiaries wished to destroy all competition; so the town was set on fire at such places as would be most likely to insure the destruction of obnoxious saloons. The men engaged were the landlords of a tavern outside of the limits of the town, named Coiner, Swimey and Elder. Coiner was first arrested. He was bound, but struggled desperately, and at one time tore the rope from his hands and the bandage off his eyes, but was brought to terms by a grip on his throat that brought him to his knees. The effect was to extort a full confession. Swimey was then captured and marched to the ice-bound river. An open place was cut through the ice. He was thrown in three times and three times drawn out, still refusing to confess. By way of variety, Elder, a negro, was strung up and lowered three times. He, too, was, as a paper expresses it, "as stubborn as a mule." Then these two worthies were confronted with Coiner, who had acknowledged all, and the "three glared at each other like wild animals." Coiner and Elder were then sent to jail. Swimey still remained. Silently the spectators drew lots, and five men separated from the crowd, took Swimey in their midst, and departed. At dawn he was found hanging in the woods—dead.—New York Times.

What Came of a Railroad Accident.

In the year 1854 a terrible railroad accident occurred at a junction of the Illinois Central and Michigan Southern railroad, near Chicago, 40 persons being killed. The Illinois Legislature, then in session, took the matter up, and passed a law requiring the stopping of all trains at that and similar places. A sharp Chicagoan, seeing a chance for a speculation, concluded it would be a good thing to invest there, and he did so, paying $30 per acre for one entire section, and $7 per acre for half of an adjoining section. The land, to-day, is worth from $2,000 to $5,000 per acre, and Cornell, for so the place is called, has grown to be one of the most valuable of suburban villages of Chicago. The improvements proposed for the present year embrace a block of brick stores, over a hundred dwellings, and one or two factories. And all this from a railroad accident.

OF the $110,000,000 invested in the coal business in the United States, Pennsylvania's share is $67,000,000.

Investment Bonds.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company now has in full operation, with daily trains, 531 miles of road. A distance of nearly 200 miles more is constructed. The Minnesota Division, immediately upon its completion, entered upon a satisfactory business, including local traffic and the large carrying-trade of the Northwestern British Settlements and the Hudson Bay Company. The recently completed section of sixty-five miles, on the Pacific Coast, at once commands a profitable business between Puget Sound and the Columbia River, heretofore done by coastwise steamers. On the opening of spring, with more than 500 miles of Road in regular operation, the Company will control the extensive and productive trade of the Upper Missouri, much of Montana and the Northwest. The earnings of the Road for 1873 will be large.

Arrangements for pushing construction vigorously the present year are progressing satisfactorily.

Of the nearly Ten Million acres of land accruing to the Company in connection with the portion of Road now virtually constructed, some Two Million acres, of excellent average quality, are in market and their sale and settlement progressing. The average price thus far realized is $5.66 per acre—which is at the rate of more than $100,000 per mile of road for the whole grant.

The Company has already begun the process of redeeming and canceling its First Mortgage Gold Bonds, as they are now being received at 1.10 in payment and exchange for the Company's lands.

With these accomplished results and most favorable prospects, the Company is now selling its First Mortgage 7-30 Bonds for the purpose of completing its line of Road. We recommend them as a well secured and unusually profitable investment. They have the following elements of strength and safety: They are a First Mortgage on the Road, its Right of Way, Telegraph lines, Equipments and Franchises, and a first lien on its Net Earnings. In addition to this usually sufficient security there is pledged for the payment of principal and interest, a Land Grant of 12,800 acres per mile of road through the States, and 25,600 through the Territories. The rate of interest (seven and three-tenths per cent. gold) is equal now to about 8¼ currency. Gold checks for the semi-annual interest on the Registered Bonds are mailed to the Postoffice address of the owner.

All marketable securities are received in exchange on most favorable terms. For sale by Banks and Bankers generally.

JAY COOKE & Co.,
Financial Agents Northern P. R. R. Co.

What is Intemperance?

At last we are to have a recognized authority as to what constitutes the "intemperate use of intoxicating liquors or drugs. It has been a mooted question in society, among physicians, and in the courts for many generations. But now Congress proposes that the final standard shall be affixed by the Secretary of War. The House has passed a bill declaring that no officer of the army addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicating drinks shall be entitled to promotion, and consequently the Secretary of War will have to decide the question. We may then have an army standard of just how much liquor may be consumed without reaching the intemperate degree. Whether fortunately or unfortunately, it is probable that the standard will be an extremely liberal one. Mr. Roberts, of New York, made a suggestion that the bill should include members of Congress, but it was not received—whether because the army standard would still be too illiberal for Congressional guidance, or for some other reason, was not stated.—Exchange.

A NEW EPOCH IN MEDICAL HISTORY.—"Reason and chance," says Pliny, "led to the discovery of the virtues of medicinal herbs." In these modern days, research and experiment have perfected the work that reason and accident began. DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the latest result of botanical investigation and pharmaceutical science. This extraordinary medicine, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients culled from the soil of our Pacific territory, is pronounced a remedy for every disease—not organic—of the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the respiratory system, the kidneys, the muscles, and the other organs which make up the machinery of life. All who have witnessed its effect are in favor of its universal adoption as the safest and most reliable tonic known. Free from the taint of alcohol, it is nevertheless a stimulant, though not a dangerous excitant. One thing is certain—no curative heretofore introduced to the public through the press has ever obtained, in so short a time, the celebrity of DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, or been supported by such unimpeachable testimony. From that testimony it is evident that this preparation is a specific for Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Intermittent and Bilious Remittent Fevers, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Rheumatism, Gout, and all disturbances of the secretive and excretive functions.—[Com.

PAPER CAPS.—Every man who works in the house at any trade and needs a cap on the head to protect the hair from dirt, should wear a cap instead of a cloth hat or cap. The latter so heats the head as to injure the scalp, and in multitudes of cases causes baldness. The Scientific American says that a very large percentage of the operatives in factories are bald-headed. A paper cap protects the head, and is cool and light.

APOPLEXY is the cheapest, easiest and most painless way of making an exit from the stage of life.

THERE is no excuse for poor Biscuits, Rolls, Bread, Griddle Cakes, Muffins, Waffles, &c., when Dooley's Yeast Powder is used. Grocers sell it.—[Com.

PILLS which contain antimony, quinine and calomel should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.—[Com.

FLORIDA gets its name from Pasquas de Flores, or "Feast of the flowers."

FOR Bronchial, Asthmatic and Pulmonary Complaints "Brown's Bronchial Troches" manifest remarkable curative properties.—Com.]

A [illegible] CLIMATE, FINE SOIL, cheap lands on long credit, with every advantage to actual settlers, is found in the Upper Arkansas valley, where the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad is selling its land. Inquire of A. T. and S. F. R. R. Land Department, Topeka, Kansas.—[Com.

THE WEEKLY SUN.
Only $1 a Year. 8 Pages.

THE BEST FAMILY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST AGRICULTURAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST POLITICAL PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. Independent and Faithful. Against Public Plunder. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST NEWSPAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

HAS ALL THE NEWS.—The Weekly New York Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST STORY PAPER.—The Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST FASHION REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST MARKET REPORTS in the Weekly N.Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST CATTLE REPORTS in the Weekly N. Y. Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

THE BEST PAPER in Every Respect.—The Weekly N.Y.Sun. 8 pages. $1 a year. Send your Dollar.

Address THE SUN, New York City.

THE use of pearl powders, etc., for whitening the Complexion, fills up the pores of the skin and gives rise to unsightly eruptions. "The Queen's Toilet" removes their ill effects and produces the desired result—without injury!—[Com.

YOUNG man, if you want to make an impression on your sweetheart, wear either the Elmwood or Warwick Collar.—[Com.

SUICIDE COMMITTED, as the result of an inactive state of liver and stomach, producing headache, obtuse intellect, dullness, despondency, dementia, and finally insanity, is no uncommon occurrence. All of these disagreeable symptoms and bad feelings are most certainly dispelled by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It revitalizes and builds up the whole system. A little book on chronic diseases sent free. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. 628

MORE than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefited by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.—[Com.

CHAPPED HANDS, face, rough skin, pimples, ringworm, salt-rheum, and other cutaneous affections cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & Co., New York. Be certain to get the Juniper Tar Soap, made by us, as there are many imitations made with common tar which are worthless.—[Com.

A CARPENTER writes to the AMERICAN BUILDER as follows: "I struck out for myself last year and cleared nearly $3,000, using the plans and details in your magazine, which were better than an architect. Count me a subscriber for life." Our subscribers can get the BUILDER on trial, four months, by inclosing $1 to Chas. D. Lakey, Publisher, 23 Murray st., New York.—[Com.

The Judgment of the Public.

Doctors disagree. Each school of medicine has its own theories, and as these theories differ widely, it is clear that few, if any of them, can be right. But if medical men cannot agree upon any theory or system of practice, the public find no difficulty in agreeing as to notorious matters of fact. For instance, they have observed for many years that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters uniformly cure dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, biliousness, nervous debility, and many other diseases which the prescriptions of the pharmacopœia do not and cannot cure; and they know therefore that there can be no mistake about it. On this point they are firm and positive. They take their stand on incontrovertible facts, and they state to one another verbally, and sometimes by letter, what they know about relieving and preventing sickness with the standard vegetable tonic and alterative of America.

Here, then, the invalid has a guarantee of value that can be relied upon, viz.: the sober judgment of the public. After twenty years of observation and reflection, the American people pronounce Hostetter's Bitters the best invigorating and regulating medicine at their command, and give evidence of the faith that is in them by purchasing more of it than of any other advertised medicine manufactured on this continent. A large number of physicians, too, however much they may differ on other points in therapeutics, admit the extraordinary merits of the Bitters as a tonic and alterative, and recommend it as a preventive of malarious diseases, and as a remedy in intermittent and remittent fevers.

THE LUNGS ARE STRAINED AND RACKED by a persistent Cough, the general strength wasted, and an incurable complaint established thereby. Dr. Jayne's Expectorant is an effective remedy for Coughs and Colds, and exerts a beneficial effect on the Pulmonary and Bronchial Organs.

The Markets.

NEW YORK.
BEEVES—Choice	12 @	13½
Common	9½@	10½
HOGS—Dressed	5½@	6½
COTTON—Middling Upland	20½@	..
FLOUR—Superfine Western	6 00 @	6 75
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee	1 67 @	1 72
CORN	64 @	66½
OATS	53½@	56½
PORK—Mess	14 75 @	14 87½
LARD	8½@	8¾
CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice	5 75 @	6 00
Good	5 25 @	5 75
Medium	4 25 @	5 00
Common	3 00 @	3 75
Inferior	1 75 @	2 25
HOGS	4 25 @	4 65
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	8 00 @	10 50
Red Winter Extra	7 00 @	8 00
WHEAT—No. 1 Spring	1 30½@	1 31½
No. 2 Spring	1 21½@	1 22
No. 3 Spring	1 09½@	1 10½
CORN—No. 2	31 @	31½
OATS—No. 2	26 @	26½
RYE—No. 2	64½@	65½
BARLEY—No. 2	71½@	73½
BUTTER—Choice Dairy	27 @	30
EGGS—Fresh	21 @	23
PORK—Mess	12 85 @	12 90
LARD	7 58 @	7 60
ST. LOUIS.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	1 38 @	..
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	31 @	33
OATS—No. 2	27 @	28½
RYE	72 @	73
PORK—Mess	13 50 @	14 00
HOGS	4 50 @	4 90
CATTLE	3 50 @	4 00
CINCINNATI.
FLOUR	7 90 @	8 25
WHEAT	1 73 @	1 75
CORN	39½@	40
RYE	82 @	..
OATS	30 @	38
PORK—Mess	13 25 @	13 50
LARD	7¾@	8
HOGS	4 65 @	5 00
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 1	1 29 @	..
No. 2	1 23 @	..
CORN—No. 2	32½@	..
OATS—No. 2	26½@	..
RYE—No. 1	69 @	..
BARLEY—No. 2	74 @	..
CLEVELAND.
WHEAT—No. 1	1 69 @	1 76
No. 2	1 64 @	1 65
CORN	45 @	48
OATS	40 @	..
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 1 Red	1 71 @	..
No. 2 Red	1 65½@	1 67½
CORN	39 @	40
OATS	36 @	..

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.
Soldiers enlisted between May 4th and August 6th, 1861, for three years, and never received bounty, can now obtain it; also those who failed to apply for the additional bounty. Address, with stamp, B. F. BROWN & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

KANSAS.
KANSAS Coal and Farming Land in Osage county owned and for sale by J. M. Wetherell, Osage City.

MUSEUM OF WONDERS & Curiosities. Sent FREE. Central Book Co., Garrettsville, O.

Building Felt (no tar) for outside work and inside instead of plaster. Felt carpetings, &c. Send 2 stamps for circular & samples. C. J. Fay, Camden, N. J.

Employment, $100 per week; agents & others to sell a new article; indispensable to merchants & m'fr's. Address with stamp R. B. Smith & Co, 85 Liberty St. N.Y.

5000 AGENTS WANTED. Samples sent free by mail. Two new articles, salable as flour. Address N. H. WHITE, Newark, N. J.

NORTHWEST MISSOURI.—Rich soil, mild climate, fine fruit, quiet population and cheap lands. For description and prices, address, with stamp, C. G. COMSTOCK, Albany, Gentry Co., Mo. Iowa and Kansas lands to trade for N. W. Mo. lands.

CLAIMS IN EUROPE
Promptly collected by J. F. FRUEAUFF, Attorney at Law, Columbia, Pa.

[Established 1830.]
SAWS
WELCH & GRIFFITHS,
Manufacturers of Saws.
SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.
EVERY SAW WARRANTED.
FILES, BELTING & MACHINERY.
LIBERAL DISCOUNTS.
Price Lists and Circulars free.
WELCH & GRIFFITHS
Boston, Mass., & Detroit, Mich.

USE the Reisinger Sash Lock and Support to FASTEN YOUR WINDOWS!
No spring to break, no cutting of sash; cheap, durable, very easily applied; holds sash at any place desired, and a self-fastener when the sash is down. Send stamp for circular. Circular and six copper-bronzed locks sent to any address in the U. S., post-paid, on receipt of 50 cts. Liberal inducements to the trade. Agents wanted. Address Reisinger Sash Lock Co., No. 418 Market st., Harrisburg, Pa. [For illustration of this cheapest and best lock, see Wood's Household Magazine, N. Y. Independent, etc., etc.]

"TEMPUS FUGIT." 1872 is most gone, and the old original "STAR SPANGLED BANNER" enters upon its eleventh year with 1873. For TEN years we have told you of its merits. If you have passed it by for ten years, NOW, then, is just the time. It is the same size as the "N. Y. Ledger," a large, 40 column paper, illustrated, overflowing with charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit and Humor, and lastly its great specialty, The Rogues' Corner, in which the "Tricks and Traps of America," Rogues, Rascals and Swindlers are exposed. PRANG.—A superb Prang, 16-color chromo, "A Bouquet of Autumn Leaves," worth one dollar and fifty cents, is given FREE, and the "Banner" a whole year for only one dollar. It is no humbug lithograph, and it is sent at once with first paper. The "Banner" will save you money, and it has no word to offend the most fastidious. One dollar secures it and chromo. Our offer is "satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded." We refer to "N. Y. Tribune," "Wood's Magazine," Ditson & Co., all the great "News Co.'s" and newspapers. Only one dollar for elegant chromo and paper a year. Specimens 6 cents. Agents wanted; complete outfit free. Address (as for past ten years) Star Spangled Banner, Hinsdale, N. H.

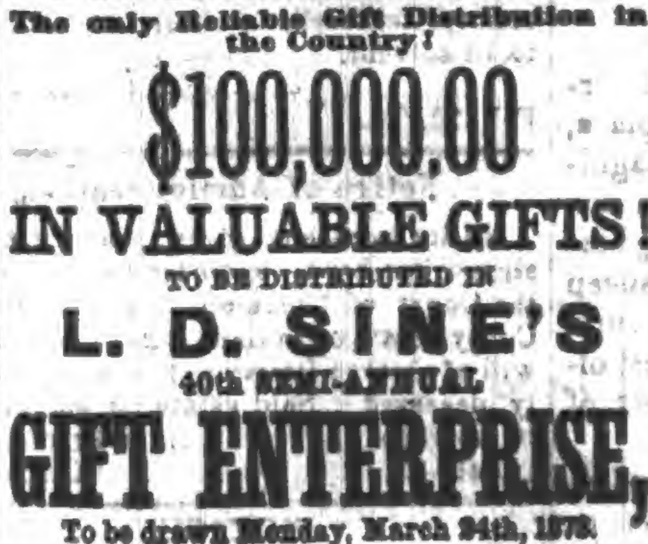
KELLOGG.
Parties bearing the above name will be interested to learn that a work is now in preparation giving the genealogy of the family in this country from the middle of the 17th century to the present time. All interested will confer a favor by communicating with the publisher, RUFUS B. KELLOGG, Oakland, California, who will send, to any address, circulars containing the early history of the family, with outline of the information desired.

THROW PHYSIC TO THE DOGS
GIVEN AWAY—the above Original and elegant Cromo—Size, 9 by 12 inches, worth $10, to every purchaser of Dr. Foote's wonderful work, "PLAIN HOME TALK." No competition—the most taking Combination ever offered. Agents are meeting with unparalleled success. Books and Cromos ready and delivered together. Send $2.50 for Prospectus and Cromo framed—a complete outfit. Send early to secure territory. Full table of Contents and Terms sent on application. Address The UNION PUBLISHING CO., Chicago. Every Cromo completely mounted.

Vick's Floral Guide for 1873.
The GUIDE is published QUARTERLY. 25 cents pays for the year, which is not half the cost. Those who afterwards send money to the amount of One Dollar or more for Seeds may also order 25 cents worth extra—the price paid for the GUIDE.
The First Number is beautiful, giving plans for making Rural Homes, Dining Table Decorations, Window Gardens, &c., and a mass of information invaluable to the lover of flowers.—130 pages, on fine tinted paper, some 500 Engravings, and a superb Colored Plate and Chromo Cover.—The First Edition of 200,000 just printed in English and German.
JAMES VICK,
Rochester, New York.

$1,000 REWARD
For any case of Blind, Bleeding, Itching or Ulcerated Piles that DE BING'S PILE REMEDY fails to cure. It is prepared expressly to cure the Piles and nothing else. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.00.

$5 to $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments or all the time than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.



GIFT ENTERPRISE
The only Reliable Gift Distribution in the Country!
$100,000.00
IN VALUABLE GIFTS!
TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN
L. D. SINE'S
40th SEMI-ANNUAL
GIFT ENTERPRISE,
To be drawn Monday, March 24th, 1873.
One Grand Capital Prize, $10,000 in Gold
One Prize $5,000 in Silver!
Five Prizes $1,000 } GREENBACKS!
Five Prizes $500
Ten Prizes $100
Two Family Carriages and Matched Horses with Silver-mounted Harness, worth $1,500 each! Two Buggies, Horses, &c., worth $600 each! Two Fine-toned Rosewood Pianos, worth $500 each! Ten Family Sewing Machines, worth $100 each! 1,500 Gold and Silver Lever Hunting Watches, worth from $20 to $300 each! Gold Chains, Silverware, Jewelry, &c., &c.
Whole number Gifts 10,000. Tickets limited to 50,000. Agents wanted to sell Tickets, to whom Liberal Premiums will be paid.
Single Tickets, $2; Six Tickets, $10; Twelve Tickets, $20; Twenty-five Tickets, $40.
Circulars containing a full list of prizes, a description of the manner of drawing, and other information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one ordering them. All letters must be addressed to
MAIN OFFICE, L. D. SINE, Box 86,
101 W. 5th-st. CINCINNATI, O.

$75,000 IN CASH FOR $1.
OMAHA LOTTERY
To erect the Nebraska State Orphan Asylum. To be drawn in Public, March 31st, 1873. Tickets $1 Each, or Six for $5. Tickets sent by Express, C.O.D., if desired. 1 Cash Prize, $75,000; 1 Cash Prize, $25,000; 1 Cash Prize, $15,000. For balance of Prizes send for Circular. Indorsed by his Excellency Gov. W. H. James and the best business men of the State. AGENTS WANTED. Address J. M. PATTEE, Manager, Omaha, Nebraska.

R. R. R.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
Cures the Worst Pains
IN FROM
ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES.
NOT ONE HOUR,
AFTER READING THIS ADVERTISEMENT,
Need any one Suffer with Pain.
Radway's Ready Relief is a Cure for every Pain.
IT WAS THE FIRST AND IS THE ONLY PAIN REMEDY
that instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays Inflammations, and cures Congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels, or other glands or organs, by one application.
IN FROM ONE TO TWENTY MINUTES,
no matter how violent or excruciating the pain the RHEUMATIC, Bed-ridden, Infirm, Crippled, Nervous, Neuralgic, or prostrated with disease may suffer,
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF
WILL AFFORD INSTANT EASE.
Inflammation of the Kidneys,
Inflammation of the Bladder,
Inflammation of the Bowels,
Congestion of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, Difficult Breathing,
Palpitation of the Heart,
Hysterics, Croup, Diphtheria,
Catarrh, Influenza,
Headache, Toothache,
Neuralgia, Rheumatism,
Cold Chills, Ague Chills.
The application of the READY RELIEF to the part or parts where the pain or difficulty exists will afford ease and comfort.
Twenty drops in half a tumbler of water will in a few moments cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic, Wind in the Bowels, and all Internal Pains.
Travelers should always carry a bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy or Bitters as a stimulant.
FEVER AND AGUE.
FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in this world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other Malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow, and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS) so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.
Fifty Cents per Bottle.

HEALTH. BEAUTY.
STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.
DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT
Has made the most astonishing Cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the Body undergoes, under the influence of this truly Wonderful Medicine, that Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.
Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.
If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.
Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for Kidney and Bladder Complaints,
Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick-dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.
Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by RADWAY'S RESOLVENT.
PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

DR. RADWAY'S
Perfect Purgative and Regulating Pills,
perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. RADWAY'S PILLS, for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious, Typhus and Typhoid Fevers, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely Vegetable, containing no mercury, minerals, or deleterious drugs.
☞ Observe the following symptoms resulting from disorders of the Digestive Organs:
Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness of the Blood in the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust of Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructation, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs, and sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh. A few doses of RADWAY'S PILLS will free the system from all the above named disorders. Price 25 cents per Box. Sold by Druggists.
READ "FALSE AND TRUE." Send one letter stamp to RADWAY & CO., No. 32 Warren St., N. Y. Information worth thousands will be sent you.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.
The January No. contains $4.00 worth of Songs and Piano Pieces, (32 pages). Price 30 cts., or $3.00 a Year. Two back numbers, our own selection, 50 cts. Four for 80 cts. Address J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, N. Y.

$200 A MONTH SALARY to Agents, male and female. Address with stamp, Bridal Needle Co., 713 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

GREATEST CURIOSITY in the world. Useful and instructive. 10,000 selling weekly. Price 50 cents. No humbug. Address GEORGE A. HEARD & Co., Boston, Mass.

Great Medical Book & Secrets for Ladies & Gents. Sent free for 2 Stamps. Address Dr. Bonaparte & Co., Cincinnati, O.

$72.00 EACH WEEK—AGENTS WANTED. Business legitimate. Particulars free. J. WORTH, St. Louis, Mo. Box 2481.

$10 to $20 per day. Agents wanted everywhere. Particulars free. A. H. BLAIR & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

PROCTER & GAMBLE'S MOTTLED GERMAN SOAP is made from the best materials, and will not waste. Sold at price of ordinary Soap. Grocers have it.
Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, and Cincinnati Jobbers, Wholesale Agents.

Largest Organ Establishment in the World
7 Extensive Factories.
J. ESTEY & COMPANY
Brattleboro, Vt., U. S. A.
THE CELEBRATED
ESTEY COTTAGE ORGANS.
The latest and best improvements. Everything that is new and novel. The leading improvements in Organs were introduced first in this establishment.
Established 1846.
Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

O. S.—2781.

Dr. A. H. SMITH'S
CELEBRATED
Old Style Bitters!
The Best Tonic and Health Giver of the Age—The Famous Blood Purifier and Invigorator.
A Decided Improvement upon any Medicine ever Presented to the World!
PURELY VEGETABLE.
Having been thoroughly and well tried the proprietors have no hesitancy in saying that no preparation has ever given such universal satisfaction as the OLD STYLE BITTERS. All who have used them once will take no other. They are pleasant to the taste and contain more Medicinal properties than any other Bitters made. For Dyspepsia of all kinds and for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Jaundice, and all kindred diseases, we defy the world to produce a preparation equal to this. For Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, and Fever and Ague, the Old Style Bitters are unrivalled. They are especially adapted for Females, and contain nothing that is in the least injurious to the weakest physical frame. They will build up and invigorate the weak and debilitated. The Ladies cannot find a Tonic superior to Old Style Bitters. Let all the afflicted give them a fair trial.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
UNION MEDICINE CO., SOLE PROPRIETORS.
VAN SCHAACK, STEVENSON & REID, Chicago, Ill., MEYER BROS. & CO., St. Louis, Mo., McKESSON & ROBBINS, New York, WHOLESALE AGENTS.

10,000 PRAIRIE FARMS,
16 hours from Chicago—with no change of cars—all in the
"MIDDLE REGION of WESTERN IOWA."
A rich, well-drained prairie soil of natural meadow and plow land, evenly distributed; pure running water abundant; climate unsurpassed (fever and ague being unknown). Compact bodies of land to be had to any desirable extent.
1,700,000 ACRES OF RAILROAD LANDS,
Free from mortgage, granted to build, and all adjacent to, the Iowa lines of the Chicago and Northwestern, Illinois Central and S. C. & P. Railways, for sale in tracts to suit purchasers, by the IOWA RAILROAD LAND CO. Lands of the best quality, and near stations only cost from $7 to $10 per acre, the more distant $4 to $6, on time, with 6 per cent. interest.
Agents at Railroad Stations are provided with plats, prices and teams to show lands, free to purchasers. Land Exploring Tickets, receivable for land purchased, can be had at the Chicago Branch Office, 65 S. Canal st.; at the Railroad Offices in Clinton and Dubuque; and at our main office as below. Land buyers should call or send and obtain a guide. It costs nothing, and gives descriptions, locations, prices, terms, and all needful information. County maps, showing lands for sale, also sent free. Call on or address
JOHN B. CALHOUN,
Land Commissioner, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

CHILDREN TEETHING
MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!
Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.
This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS IN THOUSANDS OF CASES.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will also instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.
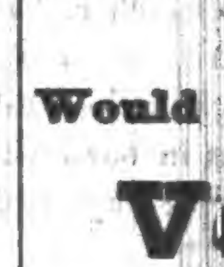
We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether arising from teething or any other cause.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and
Relief and Health to Your Infants.
Be sure and call for
"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"
Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.
Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER

Everyone Speaks Favorably.
EAST MARSHFIELD, Aug. 31, 1870.
MR. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have been troubled with canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I tried your VEGETINE. After taking a few doses, I found it relieved the faintness of the stomach that always accompanies canker humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and everyone speaks favorably of its good effect.
Yours truly, F. S. SHERMAN.

Would Not be Without
Vegetine
FOR TEN TIMES ITS COST!
The great benefit I have received from the use of Dr. Cumming's VEGETINE induces me to give my testimony in its favor. I believe it to be not only of great value for restoring the health, but a preventive of diseases peculiar to the spring and summer seasons.
I would not be without it for ten times its cost.
EDWIN TILDEN,
Attorney, and General Agent for Massachusetts of the Craftsmen's Life Assurance Company, No. 39 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.
Prepared by H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.
Price $1.25. Sold by all Druggists.



THEA-NECTAR
IS A
PURE BLACK TEA
with the Green Tea flavor, warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., No. 191 Fulton st., and 2 & 4 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

"AMERICAN SAWS."
BEST IN THE WORLD.
MOVABLE-TOOTHED CIRCULARS
PERFORATED CROSS CUTS.
Send for Pamphlet to
AMERICAN SAW CO., NEW YORK.

DR. WHITTIER, 617 St. Charles Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.
Longest engaged, and most successful physician of the age. Consultation or pamphlet free. Call or write. Just published for the benefit of young men who suffer from Nervousness, Debility, &c., a treatise of 36 pages for 2 stamps; a book 260 pages, illustrated, for 50 cents.

C. N. U. No. 8.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS, please say you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The Auburn Courier

Thursday, March 6th, 1873

The bill increasing the salary of the President and other officers has passed. Economy, you know.

The Democrats of Connecticut have nominated Charles R. Ingersoll for Governor.

The committee appointed to investigate Senator Pomeroy's case, report in favor of Pomeroy. Senator Thurman, one of the committee does not endorse it. Now what is the use of an investigation committee, where all the majority are rogues.

Butler asked a difficult conundrum. He wanted to know if the House was going into the purgation and purification business, where they would stop. That wat a hard saying, but we can't blame Ben for asking it.

Misfortunes never come singly. The residence of Schuyler Colfax, was entered on Saturday, and $4,000 in bonds therefrom. The dispatch don't say what kind of bonds they were, but everybody knows what kind of bonds he deals it.

Whatever may be said of Mr. Alexander H. Stephens' political opinion, it cannot be denied that when he takes his seat in the next House of Representatives, he will be the ablest man in it. The House needs a reinforcement in brains.

The Plymouth Democrat says that the Hon, James B. Ryan retired from the office of Treasurer of State, after accounting for the disbursement of $6,000,000 of the funds of the State, without misplacing a penny. We are glad to hear so good a report from the retireing Treasurer.

Gov. Hendricks has signed the Temperance bill. This is right and proper since a failure to sign it would not prevent its becoming a law. After a certain number of days, a bill passed by the Legislature of Indiana, becomes a law, with or without the signature of the Governor. There is no effective veto power in the executive head of the State.

Fifteen or sixteen years ago John Sherman came to Washington with no visible fortune, and was supposed to be worth $20,000, at the utmost in Mansfield Ohio. He is to-day estimated to be a millionaire four times over, and to have an income of nearly $150,000. He had great facilities from his connection, with the financial committees, and from his peculiar friendship with Jay, Cooke & Co., which dates back to their mutual poverty.—And it is clear that he did not neglect these oppurtunities. No wonder that seats in the Senate are sought at such high prices when they bring such marvelous returns.

There is much said about English predecedents in regard to the rights of legislative bodies to expel members Well, there is one thing that our British kinsman may congratulate themselves upon, and that is that the number of 'precedents' in the last hundred years here members of Parliament has been detected in corrupt practices is very small. this 'precedent' of public men being honest which England has set, we would be wise to follow in this country. We ought at least to be politically as virtuous in our republic as they are, under the corrupt monarchy of Great Britain.

In the hight of his eulogy, upon that pure patriot and statesman, Oakes Ames, whom the naughty newspapers have so terribly vilified, Ben Butler said that "the Press was a 'damnable engine of slander and libel.'" He (Butler) "thanked Heaven that he was a man that God had made, and not whom the newspapers made." We consider that a great compliment to the Press at the expense of the Creacor If the newspapers had made Butler he would have made a better man than he now is. He may rest assured on that.

Haldenan, the Democrat from Pennsylvania, who insists on displaying his drunken antics in the House, is a son-in-law to Simon Cameron. When he has no other innocent amusement, he drives his wife off for a week to board with her venerable father.—Chicago Post.

A man who is compelled to bear the relationship of son-in-law to Simon Cameron, ought to be allowed a few harmless privileges.

The chronic [illegible] righteous Louisville [illegible] Journal, talks after the manner of men in this way of the [illegible]: It does make us miserable to see how Christian statesmanship has gone by the board. We never loved Colfax, but we thought him all complacence and grace. We despised Pomeroy, but respected his spirituality. Patterson Garfield, Dawes and Kelley were the models and miracles of virtue, probity and diligence, which was held up in a thousand schools before a million of children.—Credit Mobiler comes lumbering along and presto, the scene shifts, the screen falls, and behold our idols! It is as Artemus Ward's friend said of his ruined household, a loving wife and six doting babies burned to death and uninsured "Simply to ridiculous."

The Chicago Times' special correspondent, relates that when "Oakes Ames' name was called upon the censure vote, every eye in the House was upon him, but the old man did not seem dazed at all, but sat behind a fresh bequet which Mrs. Gen. Sherman had sent him, and seemed to enjoy the scene more than on previous days. Of course he did not vote on the resolution, nor on the one to censure Brooks, but the latter, when his name was called upon, the censure of Ames shouted out "no." He sat with a roll-call, and checked every vote in his favor, and when it was all over he brightened up and conversed freely.—He walked down the aisle to where Ames was sitting, and the two with the whole house and its crowds watching them, chatted away. Then Brooks went over to where Rainey the colored member from South Carolina was sitting, and said to him:—'Rainey I have been an enemy to your race all my life, but I came to thank you for your vote for me to-day.—Henceforth I am a friend to your race and your friend.

While the Louisiana debate was at its hight, at half-past ten o'clock, the Senate was ascounded, by the presentation of the report of the Senate Credit Mobiler Committee recommending the expulsion of Senator Patterson of New Hampshire. If the Senators had heard that the bottom had fallen out of the Capitol, they Could not have exhibited more surprise. Senator Morton was in the midst of his closing and most forcible speech, denouncing the McEnery government. Suddenly all interest in his remarks seemed to cease and the Senators gathered around the chamber in knots of two or three, and discussed the report with unconcealed astonishment. Senator Patterson was sitting in Senator Hamlin's seat, just back of his own, when the resolution was read, and seemed struck with paralysis. His head dropped on his breast and he sank back into his seat, conscious of the terrible disgrace that was brought upon him. Senator Howe who was sitting beside him, soon engaged him in conversation, but the unfortunate Senator did not lift his head for a long time so that his face could be seen from the galleries, Logan also showed an extraordinary interest in the result, and engaged in earnest conversation with Senator Hamlin. After a few moments Patterson took his seat, and having procured the manuscript copy of the report, slowly perused it.

The developments of fraud and corruption, which are daily taking place, fairly bewilder one with their magnitude and iniquity. Congressmen are purchased by the wholesale. Legislatures are bought and sold like "sheep in the shambles." Judges are found to be bribe takers, and the highest officials are found to be acceptors of "gifts."

Amidst all this carnival of vice, so far, but one prominent Democrat or Liberal has been implicated. All the rest are Radicals, and the Radical party has allied itself with its prominent members in this corruption. It has presistently attempted to whitewash, cover up and conceal the frauds, and when public sentiment has at last driven it to an investigation, it has invariably stifled and suppressed the truth, as long as possible. Take for instance the case of the Kansas bribery. It is now demonstrated without doubt, that Caldwell obtained his election by bribery, but the fact was just as patent a year ago, as it is now. At that time, the Legislature of Kansas investigated the case, the bribery proven, and the proofs sent to Washington: the witnesses went there to testify, and stood ready to prove the same facts which they now have done. But the matter was 'referred to a committee' of which Mr. Morton was chairman, and there, as it was intended, the investigation was suppressed and choked off until after election. So it was with all the other fraud that has come to light to astound the people with their universality and magnitude. They all existed prior to the late election, and ought to have been exposed and their actors punished. But by the party machinery and party chicanery, they were all covered up and smoothed over, until after election. They were denounced as "campaign charges, and political lies" and the people were assured that everything was being conducted with the highest regard to the interests of the country.

Had they been so exposed—had the people then known what they now know—had this boiling seething cauldron of corruption been opened to their view as it now is, the Radical party would have been swept from power by a whirlwind of popular indignation.—Will the people go on putting their trust in these men, and in this party, which has so shamefully abused their confidence.

V. A. BEARD

DEALER IN

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS

Queensware,
Crockery,
Wooden-ware,
Lamp Chimneys,
Notions, etc

Quick Sales and Small Profits.

Call and examine before you make your purchases.

FRESH GOODS

Always on hand.

Main street, north of Court House.

Executors' Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas, the undersigned Executor of the estate of Jacob Maurer will offer for sale at auction, on the premises on the following described land. The north half of the north west quarter of section thirty-four, 34, east in the county of DeKalb and State of Indiana or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the debts against said estate, not less than 40 acres.

SATURDAY, APRIL 5th, 1873,

Terms—One third cash the residue in equal payment at twelve and eighteen months, notes at interest, waiving benefit of appraisement laws and secured by mortgage on the premises. Sale to begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

GEORGE BARNEY, Ex'r.

NOTICE.

State of Indiana, DeKalb County, Sct:

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1873.

Peter H. Brandon versus
Jacob Brandon } Complaint No. 49.

Now comes the plaintiff, by Morris & Withers, his attorneys and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, Jacob Brandon, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is, therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August a. d. 1873, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will heard and determined in his absence.

Witness, my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 3d day of March, 1873.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

INDIANA Conservatory of Music,

BURGESS' BLOCK,

Corner of Main and Court Sts., Fort Wayne, Ind.

J. C. BARTLETT, Sec'y.

REFERENCES.—Hon F P Randall, Dr B S Woodworth, H Burgess, Hon P Hoagland, Dr B S Brown, A S Evans, Hon C E Gorham, Dr Th Heuchling, Chas Hanna, Chas McCulloch, M Sweetzer, A Oppenheimer, H C Hartman, C L Hill, Fred Nirdlinger, Rev S Wagenhals, J G Williams, J B McDonald, Chas D Bond, John Gilbert, S J Beeler, Rev A Marine, M Graff, John Hayden, Rev J B Fairbanks, W L Carnahan.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

Piano and Organ.

Prof S N Morse—From Conservatory of Music Berlin.

Prof Albert Joost—Pupil of the celebrated Pianist Tivenel.

Prof Wm A Hodgdon—Late Director of Music in the Public Schools of St. Louis, Mo., and Ft Wayne

Vocal Culture, Singing and Music Theory.

Prof Wm Hodgdon, Prof J C Bartlett—Tenor Vocalist, Graduate of New England Conservatory of Music, Pupil of Dr. H R Streeter, Boston, Mass.

Send for Circulars.

P. O. BOX 1860. March 6, 1863.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the estate of Isaac Hornberger, late of DeKalb county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Feb. 22, 1873. JAMES E. ROSE.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Executor of the estate of Jacob Hectenwalt, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Feb. 20, '73. JOHN GRUBB, Ex'r.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana executor of the will of George Drawley, late of said county, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

Feb. 27. L. D. BRITTEN, Executor.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, the undersigned Administrator of the estate of Walter Burton, deceased, will offer for sale at auction on the premises, the

22nd DAY OF MARCH, 1873,

the following described premises to-wit: The south-west fourth and the north half of south-east fourth of the south-east quarter of section thirty in township thirty-four, north of range fourteen, east in DeKalb county Indiana. Terms, one third cash and the residue in equal payments at twelve and eighteen months, with notes at interest and without relief from valuation or appraisement law with good freehold sureties. Sale to commence at two o'clock p. m. on said day.

Feb. 20, '73. JAMES E. COSPER, Adm'r.

Administrators' Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the DeKalb County Court of Common Pleas, the undersigned administrator and administratrix of the estate of Samuel Weaver, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, in said county on Saturday, the 22d day of March, 1873, an equal undivided two-thirds of the following described lands: The east half of the north-east quarter, and the north-west quarter of the north-east quarter of section 2, in township 33, north of range 12 east, containing 120 acres of land. Also twenty acres in the north-east corner of the south-west quarter of section 25, in township 34, north of range 12 east. All in DeKalb county, State of Indiana.

Terms of sale 1-3 cash in hand, 1-3 in 12 months and 1-3 in 18 months, purchaser giving his notes with interest, waiving valuation and appraisement laws, with good freehold surety.

Feb. 12, 1873. JACOB C. TRUMP, CATHARINE WEAVER. } Adm'rs.

THE

New York Store!

No. 90, Columbia Street,

Establish'd 13 Years

Now Opening

100 packages of Domestic Cotton Goods, including all the well know brands of

Bleeched & Brown

Sheeting and shirting muslins, new spring prints and chintzes shirting prints, percales and Cambries, etc.

FAMILY LINENS.

A large superior stock of pure Irish bosom linens, sheetings and pillow linens, Table damasks, napkins, and doylies towels, and Towlings, etc., etc., etc.

At very Low Prices.

Our Celebrated

Perinot Kid Glove

1, 2, and 4 Buttons.

A new assortment in street and party colors just opened

ROOT & Co.'s

Popular Dry Goods House, the New York Store, 90 Columbia-st.

FORT WAYNE, IND.

BOOZER AND BLATNER

Soth-west cor. Wayne and Marion sts.

Waterloo, Ind.

Have now opened for the

FALL & WINTER

TRADE

those Fashionable styles of

Dress Goods

Such as

Arcola Cloth, Queen's Own,
Brittanna " Brocades,
Balerno " Silk Stripes,
Turko, " Corded Maca

Also

Ottoman Scarfs

And

SHAWLS in Endless Variety!

Brown and Bleached

Cotton Flanels

CARPETS & VANDYKES

Boots & Shoes.

And the latest styles of

HATS and CAPS.

We buy all kind of Produce for Cash or Trade to suit the customer.

BOOZER & BLATTNER

FORT WAYNE Fruit House!

AND

GREAT TEA DEPOT.

SUGARS—GREAT REDUCTION!

Since New York's great reductions have taken place in sugars. We now sell Sugars lower than they have been sold since 1860. All kinds 1 cent lower.

Crushed and Powdered	12½ cents
Granulated	12½ "
Coffee A	11½ "
Coffee B	11¼ "
Choice New Orleans	10 "
Good Cuba Brown	9 "

Coffee.

The great talk is, "Coffee is higher—gone up 5 cents." This is not the case with us. We purchase large lots before the advance, and will continue to sell at old prices. Got 200 bags on hand.

Best Golden Rio 25 cents. Good Rio 22 cents. Best Roasted 27 cents. Old Government Java 28 cents.

Teas.

So with Teas. There has been a great effort to force up prices, but it has not succeeded. We still hold on to our reduction of 15c per lb, and will continue to do so. Our tea-trade is the wonder of this part of the country. We now sell as many chests a day as other houses do pounds. Our only secret is, we purchase 200 and 300 chests at a time. direct of the importer, and retail it direct to the consumer, thereby saving the profit of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant, which is at least 10 to 15 cents.

Young Hyson 30, 60, 80, $1, best 1 10. Gunpowder 50, 80 best 1 00. Imperial 50, 80, best 1 10. Oolong 40, 60, best 90. Japan 40, 60, best 95. English Breakfast 60, 80, best 95.

DRIED and CANED FRUITS.

Dried Peaches per pound	6c
Turkish Prunes	11c
French Prunes	7c
Canned Tomatoes	12½
Canned Blackberries	20c
Green Gage	30c
Damsons	20c
Apples	5 and 8c
Green Corn	23c

NUTS—ALL KINDS.

Brazils and pea cans per pound	15c
Filberts and English Walnuts	15 and 25c
Roasted pea nuts	7c

TOBACCOS.

Best Navy black	50c
Good Smoking	25, 35, and 40c
Best Fine Cut	90c
Second quality	50c

CANDIES, &c.

Stick Candy per lb.	20c, by box,	15c
Fancy Candy "	25c "	20c
Chocolate and cream,	30 and	35c

RAISINS and CURRANTS

We purchased a thousand boxes No 1 Layer Raisins before the advance and now offer them at 12½c per lb or 2 50 per box of 25 lbs. This is equal to 10c per lb and the lowest they have ever been sold in this market.

We also purchased a large lot of Zante currants This fruit is considered low at 15c; we now offer the best at 10

WINES and LIQUORS

New whisky per gallon	90c
1 year old Bourbon	1 25
2 year old Bourbon	1 40 and 1 75
Old '76, for medical use	3 00
California Port Wine	1 50 and 2 00
California Sherry Wine	1 50 and 2 00
California Chuscatel Wine	1 50 and 2 00
California Angelica Wine	1 50 and 2 00
Brandy	1 50, 2 50 and 4 00
Blackberry Wine	1 50

For medical purposes our best goods can't be beat.

SYRUPS and MOLASSES.

Sugar loaf drips, per gallon	1 00
Silver drips	85
White drips	75
Extra golden	50
Cuban Molasses	35
New Orleans choice	80c and 1 00

FRESH OYSTERS.

Reduced 10c per can—now 30 and 40c. Frying 50c.

25 cents on the dollar saved at the

Fruit House!

The Correct SUN Time

For Ft. Wayne, as shown by Transit in the Jewelry Store of

GEO. J. E. MAYER & F. VOIROL,

No. 29 East Main street Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Churches
Courts
City Offices County "
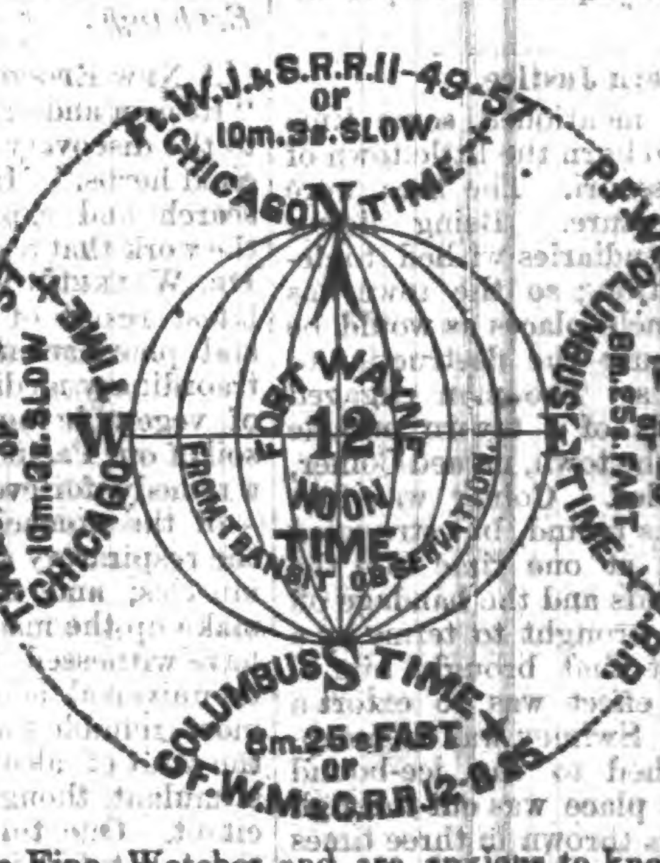
Public Schools
Post Office
Street Cars
Hotels
Railroads
Business Houses



F.W.J.&S.R.R. 11-49-57 or 10m.3s.SLOW
CHICAGO TIME
N
P.F.W.&C.R.R. 12-8-25 or 8m.25s.FAST
COLUMBUS TIME
E
W
T.W.&W.R.R. 11-49-57 or 10m.3s.SLOW
CHICAGO TIME
FORT WAYNE 12 NOON TIME
FROM TRANSIT OBSERVATION
S
COLUMBUS TIME
8m.25s.FAST or G.F.W.M.&C.R.R. 12-8-25

Will all use Meredian Time as ascertained by the Transit of this firm. Solar, Lunar & Stellar observations taken every noon and night.

Those who have Fine Watches and are anxious to know and see how accurately they run, can do so by calling at our Store. It will afford us pleasure to set and regulate all watches accurately and gratuitously.

Davenport & Co.,

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines,

CHEMICALS.

TOILET & FANCY ARTICLES

Perfumery, Soaps,
Brushes, Patent Medicines
School and Blank Books.
Slates, Writing Paper
Envelopes,

Wall and Window Paper,

Tinted, Guilt and Embossed Paper, Oiled, slate and Linen

Window Shades!

and all kind of Shade Fixtures.

PURE WINES and LIQUORS,

for Medical Purposes.

Prescriptions Carefull Compounded.

F. E. DAVENPORT & CO.,
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind'a

Attention Creation!

Another Rebellion

IN

Boots, Shoes and Real Estate.

The undersigned offers for sale the following Real Estate and personal Property to-wit

The middle ⅓ of lot 66 old plat of Auburn, with store building. Also lot No. 9, with dwelling house, wood-house, cistern, well, etc. and lot No. 20, both in Ralston's addition.

I also will sell from Feb. 1st to April 1st as much of my stock as I can at 10 per cent above cost. During the month of April I will sell at COST, as I am going to leave this country I would notify all who are indebted to me to settle and pay up, as I will be forced to collect by law.

Sale of Household Furniture, etc., will be made known in time. No public sale of Boots & Shoes.

Now is the time to save money. $5000 worth of stock offered at cost. Sure nobody needs to go bare-footed with such an opportunity. Invitation given to all.

Respectfully Yours,
JOHN OTTO.

Auburn, January 27, '73—3m.

The Auburn Courier
OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Best cigars at Beard's.

Take your county paper.

Fresh lot of tea at Beard's.

March came in very cold.

The wheeling is quite rough.

Go to Beard's for a scrober.

The saloon business is "blad-o-u-i."

The Dance Club will meet Friday next.

The dance club in in a promising condition just now.

Davenport & Co., have the best 5 cent cigars in town.

Another term of school will commence in a week or so.

There is some talk of locating the Saginaw shops at Waterloo.

We have not seen a boy on the street this week—barefooted.

A grand time is expected next Tuesday, at the Old Folks' Hop.

Thermometer 10 degrees below Zero last Thursday morning.

Railroad meeting at the Court House this Wednesday evening.

Napoleon, Ohio, is to vote $50,000 to aid the New York & Chicago Air Line.

The Whitley "Commercial" has went back on the quarto form.

Now is the time to get a picture of yourself, while Gordon is reducing prices.

There has been several cases of scarlet fever in this county.

The singing class under Prof. Bennett contemplates giving a concert week after next.

Two new pianos have been set up in Auburn within a few days. It is a good sign.

We have several poetical productions to insert as soon as we can find the room for them.

A train ran off the track on the Air Line road, near Kendallville, last Sunday afternoon.

They have had sleighing at Elkhart for sixteen weeks without interruption and still good yet.

Burglars entered the safe of Mr. Stiefle, at Angola last Sunday night, and got several hundred dollars.

Auburn can boast of one of the best colts in the country, a four year old, sired by Tom Hunter. He can make his mile in 2:45.

The slight of hand performance last Saturday night was largely attended.—Prof. Hansley don't amount to much any way you take him.

The Defiance Democrat says that Col. Wm. Sawyer, over 70 years of age, and Eckelberger, aged 60, both of St. Mary's were married last week.

Our friend Cowles, at the Lent House, Waterloo, is pleasing his numerous guests by the admirable manner in which he is running that hotel. It is now first class.

Quail have been trapped and cooped in Kosciusko County so that they can be set at liberty in the spring in order to keep them from becoming entirely extinct in that country. A number died during the late cold snap.

If we ever eat maple sugar or molasses it is in the spring of the year when it is fresh, or at any other season of the year, if we can get it.—Whitley Com.

As long as the present weather lasts there'll be little chance to get a fresh bit.

Last Wednesday was Ash-Wednesday, and now comes the Lenten season—where in all who have loved "the unto dissipation, will take forty days to crucify the flesh, restore their nerves, and repair their digestion.

Our neighbor of the "Press" dont go much on Colfax's vindication. It thinks it is too thin. The story of those gifts from Nesbitt is more than it can juggle down its throat. And its a pretty bitter pill that the "Press" can't swallow.

The new temperance law will help Laporte in one respect—it will render a number of old wooden rookeries (fit for nothing but bottles and bed bugs) worthless. And perhaps the landlords will tear down now and improve.—Laporte Herald.

Capt. Chas. H. Jones, agent of the Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio, gave us a call last Wednesday. Charley is doing a good thing for country and his employers, in this capacity, and is meeting with unbounded success wherever he goes.—And he deserves it.

The old saying that if March comes in like a lion she will go out like a lamb and vice versa, is hardly to be depended upon this year because the ground hog sign was a failure, in not going far enough. If the above theory is correct the lamb will come out at the end—of the month.

Jonny Wood is now canvassing for subscriptions to an excellent work entitled, The Wonders of the World, bound in three different styles. It will be found very interesting and every family should have a copy.

The half finished condition of the new brick has become an eyesore. It more nearly resembles a ruin than what it is ultimately to be, the best building in the county. A little snap and energy would have prevented all this last fall.

The last Steuben "Republican" had just five lines of local matter. Angola must be a dull place according to the Republican. We, however, know of a condition of things to the contrary, and the dullness all exists within the sacred precincts of the above newspaper office.

A great revival in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Marshall is in progress.—Thus far about 270 accessions to the membership of the church have been made, and it is the intention to hold meetings until every sinner in Marshall is converted.—Whitley Com.

Root & Co., of Fort Wayne, in to-day's issue with a new advertisement. Their Great Dry Goods House does an immense business. They always keep in stock goods and sell them cheap, and then let the people know what they have by advertising the same.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Fort Wayne is publishing an excellent paper, called "The Vindicator, the first number of which has been received. It is a master effort of workmanship and contains excellent reading matter on various topics. We trust it will meet with every encouragement.

First Class.—About as tidy and neat a hotel as we have stopped at for some time is the Clifton House, at Elkhart, Ind. The obliging clerk, Geo. W. Green, Esq., presides with a grace and affability agreeably in contrast with the snobs usually infesting these institutions. We heartily recommend the Clifton to all.

Those who want a good advertising medium have a rare chance offered in the next Premium List, soon to be issued, of the North-east Indiana Agricultural Society at Waterloo. About 5,000 copies will be printed and judiciously distributed. For terms apply to Baxter & Kennedy, Press office, Waterloo.

Hon. Robert Brackenridge, of Fort Wayne, one of oldest and most prominent lawyers of the State died last Thursday. His ability as a lawyer was never questioned, and he reaped a large and remunerative business therefrom. He was the counsel of such old settlers as Samuel Hannah, W. G. & G. W. Ewing, Hugh McCulloch and several railroad corporations. His funeral took place on last Sunday at 2 p. m.

Horses Stolen.—Two bay mares were stolen from a Mr. Strickland, of Steuben county, last week, and A. S. Leas started after the rascals with all haste. At Bucyrus he telegraphed that he had secured one of the thieves, and expected to catch the others by that Tuesday evening. We are glad to know that Gus is after them, for he has the pluck and nerve to bring the chase to a successful issue. He deserves great credit for the energy shown in the pursuit.

Now that the sugar season is at hand perhaps a hint as to the proper way of tapping will not be out of place. The right way, says one who has had experience, is to bore the trees on the sunny side, two feet or more above the earth, with an auger not over one inch in diameter, and at first not over one half of an inch in the wood, with a slant upward.—This hole may be deepened or increased in diameter after the surface becomes so dry that the flow of sap is checked.

A moke named Tom Mayes, not having any other person convenient, whipped a woman of the same color in the upper part of the city on Saturday night. Tom will probably be sorry for this before he dies.—N. A. Ledger.

Remarks are in order from the Auburn Courier.—Plymouth Democrat.

We don't go much on names with an e in it. Browne, for instance. But as Washington and Clay have their namesakes among the dark denizens, we'll take the matter philosophically.

While at Elkhart last week we visited the "Observer" office, a new paper under the management of Ed. & Emma Molloy. We were gratified to learn of its success, and see our old friends again, though unfortunately now on the wrong track. The "Observer seems to be largely appreciated by the citizens of that county.

The "Union" is doing a good business and Bro. Sweet, so child like and bland, seems to have the confidence of the people. His advertising patronage is large and the whole office seems to be running as smoothly as clock work. H. Coe, formerly publisher in this county, is connected with this office, and is the same good natured, dissipated fellow that he always was and doubtless ever will be unless the new liquor law comes to his relief, and we hope it will.

The "Review," now published daily by Messrs. Chase & Kent, is a sprightly little paper, with lots of business snap and enterprise and has become a regular pet of the people, and what is more astonishing is that it pays. They have a handsome office and are deserving of their success.

Build up your own town and spend your money at home. The best way in the to kill a town is whine about hard times, deprecate the the value of property, discourage investments in your own place and when you get a little cash and want to do a big trade carry it off to some other town because you fancy you can get better bargains than from your home merchants who have been obliged to sell to you on a credit of from six months to six years.

In a brief visit to Warsaw last Saturday we visited the fine office of the "Indianian" and found things running as cheerily as usual. We chatted with Hossler, but missed the light of Reub's countenance. We'll drop him a note a day or two in advance next time, so that we behold him once more.

Frank Zimmerman was on hand at the "Union" office, up to his ears in business and looking as happy as a big sun bonnet. We are glad to say that Warsaw contains two first-class papers, both ably managed, and worthy the support of all.

Marriages.—The following marriage licenses were issued by the Clerk since the first of January.

Peter Teatch and Artemissa Olds.
J. F. Harter and Eliza Schoup.
John Cook and Mary Metzfield.
O. P. Waterman and Elizabeth Oberlin.
A. L. Gray and E. J. Meyer.
J. W. Dills and Mary Olds.
Daal Lower and Emily Grogg
W F Everett and B A McClellan
Nelson Turteson and Susan Baker
S J Clark and Elizabeth Tenick
John Hoffelder and Francis Miller
John H Deihl and Phebe J Spitz
Geo Daily and D Tryon
Wm Jones and Amanda Cole
Alfred Shoup and Jane Scott
Henry Calkins and Parmeta Cronk
R H Grogg Anna Davis
Henry Murray and Maggie Langley
W. W Dewitt and Marietta Bowen
C L Fitch and O L Harrod
Henry Smith ank Harriet Smith
S F Dennis and C S McClellan
E Wyatt and M E Hilderbrand
Silas Franks and Alice Huntsman
Owen Fishea and Anna Corbin
Perry Bressler and M J Willard.
John McCrum and Agnes ——
James W Clark and M A Rafuer
J E Tarlton and E Fountaine
H Dawson and Nancy Lebner
Gabril Strouse anp Rosa Stiefel
W H Wyatt and G Bailey
J F Kline and Minnie Britton

Corunna Items.

This little town was doing a lively business on last Saturday. In fact more than one would believe were you not there to see for yourself.

Codgswell & Co., were very busy selling dry goods and groceries.

Jas. R. Grammy, is making the hotel business "get up and dust."

There is be a cotillion party at the town hall next Friday. Prepare for a storm.

Mr. McCormick, formerly of this place, has a good patronage in the boot & shoe business.

The Lutherans contemplate erecting a new church, in the spring, on the south side of the railroad.

Mike Bolland, operater at that place, is giving good satisfaction to the Air Line road. With one arm in the grave he's a bad boy to tackle.

The protracted effort at the M. E. church has not met with very good success as yet. However, they are laboring hard to gain a good result.

The majority of the people are against intemperance, and a lively effort, in this direction, was manifested before the new law came into effect.

The school commenced again on last Monday. It is now conducted under the management of Mr. Vanauken and Miss Orr, who will no doubt give satisfaction to that people.

Mr. Irwin, a singing teacher, is to give another concert at the church, in the space of a couple weeks. This Prof. gave one of his entertainments at that place last fall and excused the failure by frequently coughing. However, most of the class gave satisfaction to all present, and we doubt not but that they will this time, although his musical talent is not as good as before.

A Progressive Institution.—The Mt. Union College, located at Mt Union, O. near Alliance, is perhaps the most flourishing of all educational institutions in that State. The attendance is very large and so extensive has been the demand that large improvements and additions are being made, and will be made in the future to accommodate all. All persons contemplating a collegiate course will find greater facilities at this place than another. One superior advantage is given from the fact that those who depend upon teaching to defray expenses, can teach fall, winter and spring terms, and attend the regular terms of this college at the same time. Our friends in this section cannot do better than to give it their earnest consideration. For catalogue and particulars, address,

O. N. Hartshorn, Prest.
Alliance, Ohio.

As a diaphoretic, deobstruent, alterative, diuretic solvent and tonic, there is no medicine yet discovered so reliable as Smolander's Buchu. Kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, diabetes, gravel, female complaints, and all maladies of the urino-genital organs, are removed or counteracted by its agency.

Butler Correspondence.

Editor Courier—

Died of disease of the kidneys, John Warner, on the 22 ult. His burial was conducted by the F. & A. Masons of which the deceased was a worthy member. His remains were interred on Sunday last.

We are raising E. R. R. R. stock here lively.

The Deciples are having a protracted effort here at the Lutheran church and are having good success in adding members to their organization. For evidence of their faith and zeal they cut the ice on Sunday and baptized five. To be baptised as cold a day as Sunday, Feb 16, goes to show that they mean business.—There is four more to be baptised to-morrow at 10 o'clock. How is this for high.

The business of the last week has been very good and our streets have been crowded with teams going to and fro, taking advantage of our competition, seeing where they can get the best bargains. We have opposition in almost every branch of business, which has the desired effect of bringing goods down within the reach of everyone. If you want good goods and get them cheap, buy at Butler where you can get them at cost. Our merchants are bound to sell cheap, and no wonder, because there has been two Jewish weddings in town this winter, and it makes things lively, of course, and has a tendency to make business. The latter wedding took place Sunday last at the residence of Simon Stiefle, of this place. The bride was Miss Rosa Stefle, and the bridegroom Mr. G. Strouse, formerly of Ligonier. About 11 o'clock the streets were crowded with pedestrians rushing to the scene of action. At 11½ the omnibus, from Waterloo drawn by four bay horses was seen at a distance, wending its way to Stefle's. At 12 o'clock the company had gathered and Mr. S.'s house was filled to overflowing. They then made arragements for having a good old time, and I tell you they had it. At 1 o'clock they were married; then came the wine and dinner, the wine was ahead because it was in and out and all over. Among the Gentiles we saw a machine man, from Steuben county who had so much toat in s ushed in his boots as he walked. There had been some frozen potatoes thrown out which the Gentile thought were oysters, and tried to eat them, but could not gather up any soup, so he got disgusted and made a break for the house, taking a picket off the fence to pick the oysters out of his teeth, and the last we saw of him he had a hold of the door step trying to get it into the house, and singing: "How tedious and tastless the hours." But with all his ups and downs we hear this morning that he still lives.

The next thing that came under our observation was the expansion and contraction of the brick walls and the roof of Mr. S.'s house at times seemed as though the pressure from the inside was so great that the walls would crumble to the earth, but we see this morning they are still standing, but the roof is leaking and walls are damaged. M. S. says, "dot makes nothing out." They had a jolly time and the happy pair are alive and doing well. May happiness fill their pathway through life.

We noticed our dray unloading a nice piano at the residence of Dr. Barnett.—We understand it is a birth-day present, presented by the Doctor to his better half. Don't we wish we was a woman and our birthday would come often, if we could get such a present.

We understand that Mr. Sanders is going to move part of his stave factory about forty miles below Fort Wayne, for the purpose of manufacturing staves.

The Deciples' meeting is still progressing here, and the M. E. church is holding evening meetings. May victory crown their efforts.

The farmers all complain of the wheat crop looking so well. If we have a good crop of wheat we know of a gushing young man who intends starting a peanut stand in Waterloo. Let him gush, as we have plenty of opposition in every branch of business. We are looking every day for some one to start an opposition post office. If such should be the case we can compete with our neighboring town and sell two postage stamps for five cents.

If you want a good garden next spring without working it, introduce an Italion queen into it early.

If you want good milkers get the thoroughbred Italion queen.

We have perfected arrangements with the Superintendent of the L. S. R. R. to make this a flag station for the hand car. How is this for influence.

Our Odd Fellows' and Masons' Loges are adding scores of members to their orders since Stoddard was here lecturing against secret societies. Come back Stoddard, it makes us feel good to think that you was instrumental in this good work.

Last Saturday Diehl and Hase had a fearful fox chase, resulting in the fox coming out ahead.

E. Strouse and Bill Brown are making arrangements to trade horses every day in the week. Heretofore they have skipped Sundays, but will make it lively now.

Uno.

Members of the medical profession speak very highly of and regularly prescribe Smolander's Buchu as an exterminator of kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, diabetes, gravel, female irregularities, chronic maladies of the urino-genital organs and uterine complaints, either in married or single errors of youth and prostration of the nerve structure. This fine preparation combats with and conquers the above diseases.

Delegate Meeting, I. O. O. F.

